children thieves. It can be done, but it may become so valuable that farmers must learn how to protect them after the manner in which store keepers protect their goods.

Good locks and alarm devices will stop a good deal of the chicken stealing. The principal danger is when all members of the family leave home, especially at night. Organization can do what locks and alarms are not able to do.

Former Wayne Man's Summer Home Hurt

D. C. Patterson whose summer home at Okoboji was damaged by storm, according to the following report, was an early settler of Wayne, and is a son-in-law of Mrs. W. O. Gamble of this place.

Lake Okoboji, Ia., Oct. 2.—Survey of damage wrought by the storm which late Saturday night swept this region disclosed that the "white house," summer home of D. C. Patterson of Omaha, is intact except for the ornate porch, which was wrecked. The house, modeled after the White house in Washington, is situated on a prominent bluff exposed to the elements. However, the summer cottage of Dr. J. A. Henske of Omaha, nearby, was not damaged.

The Methodist-Episcopal-summer camp, several cottages and farm buildings were destroyed by the storm. Much live stock was reported killed in the storm area.

The new Methodist tabernacle and boys' club house were included in the buildings wrecked at Lake Okoboji. The Methodist encampment is operated by the Northwest Iowa conference and attracts hundreds of visitors each summer.

Early Days In Two Counties

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for November 1, 1909:

E. B. Littell of Flores, visited his son, A. E. Littell.

J. M. McClure of Page, bought the Methodist church at Wayne.

P. A. Johnson and family left for McHenry, N. D., on business.

Mrs. Isaac Isaacs of Carroll, is visiting Ohio and Pennsylvania.

J. M. Corbit stepped on a rusty nail and injured one of his feet.

Young people had a Halloween party at the Harry Fisher home.

A. Grothe was called to Grand Island by the death of his mother.

The new Presbyterian parsonage is to be built by S. Relyea for $5,000.

A group of children had a party at the home of Hester and Esther McNeal.

John Shannon and Robert Pritchard shipped cattle from Carroll to Omaha.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ed. Mitchell left for New York where they will remain for some time.

Don Cavanaugh of Winslow, returned from Omaha where he had spent several days.

Harry Prescott bought four cows in the S. L. Tidrick sale at Winslow and will start in the dairy business.

Charles Kolberg, Charles Schlegel, Columbus Munson and J. W. Bartlett left for South Dakota on business.

Miss Lundberg who spent the summer with a railroad surveying party on the Oregon Short Line, returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stowe of Warren, Ill., returned home after a visit with the latter's brother, S. B. Stowe.

His Majesty A-Hunting Goes

In the picture, His Majesty King George of England is seen setting forth after a few grouse. His mount seems a bit heavy for the sport, but in grouse hunting they set patience, rather than pep, is the requirement.

In this city. On Sunday last, Messrs. Jones, Ware and Mellon went out to Ionia to investigate and dig into the subterranean wonders there being. In the neighborhood of Ionia they found a ravine, and, piloted by Mr. Elliott, they found in that ravine several remarkable caverns. They dug out one of these to the depth of fifteen or twenty feet, and night coming on farther exploration was deferred to another day. These holes were dug perhaps to a very great depth. What it was for is a mystery and must remain so until more extensive investigation is made. They might have been possibly the work of the mound builders who lived here ten or fifteen thousand years ago. All events it will be well to make a thorough investigation and perhaps these holes lead into the immense caverns which are said to exist in this country. Perhaps great deposits of gold or other minerals are to be made. Who can tell?

Hog Calling. The hog caller has been one of the stellar attractions at all county and state fairs in Nebraska this year. Hog calling is a new calling, so to speak, but it has had a wonderful vogue this season and its successful caller has stepped suddenly into the limelight. And we can see great possibilities along this line. It does not require any violent exertion or strenuous activity to sustain the time when hog calling will be taught as a special branch in our agricultural schools and when a "daddy" will be concerned upon students for proficiency in the course. Of how much practical value this will be in calling hogs to their dinner on the farm is hard to say, but as the hog becomes more highly developed by breeding, it may be that a special course in hog calling may be required to keep pace with its development. The time may come when a hog caller will have to measure up to a certain standard as in volume, technique, expression and personal appearance before he can hope to get an audience.

The Job of Being a Father. Sioux City Journal: President Glenn Frank, from his high tower in the Journal, recently has been discussing interestingly the subject of fatherhood. He has been coming out being a father is merely a temporary task, that it should be so regarded by fathers, and that should be repeated every four or five years. The fact that too often fathers do not give up when their term of office as father is over. It is not possible to agree wholly with Dr. Frank that being a father is a temporary task. To a certain extent and as to certain responsibilities, it is a temporary task, but in other directions the job of being a father is never finished. One can agree that the father should not be too dictatorial over his children for the term of their natural lives; that he should not seek to enforce control of them after they have reached the age of dependence and arrived at maturity. Certainly there are statutes of limitation that operate against parental authority. The time comes in the life of every son and daughter when they should be permitted to stand freely on their own feet. At the time comes when they should be expected and required to so stand. It is hardly within the rights of a father to insist upon doing for his child, or to insist upon it. It is his job to train them to think for themselves; if they find themselves unable to do their own thinking after they have arrived at the years of discretion, responsibility for the failure is the father's. A good deal of friction, not a little unhelpful Cedar county, held their first all-county meeting here in the auditorium. Miss Mary Ellen Brown, state leader of women's club work from the extension department of the agricultural college in Lincoln, was host for the day.

The aim of the meeting was to induce the rural clubs to take up the study club work of the college. A country organization was effected in which these officers were elected: Mrs. E. E. Brown, chairman; Mrs. Quay Dorney, vice chairman, and Miss Isabel O'Halloran, secretary-treasurer.

A program consisting of numbers contributed by the various clubs was given. An indoor picnic dinner at noon in the dining rooms of the auditorium was served. This was the first meeting of rural women ever held in Cedar county.

The Greatest Hindrance. Albion News: An Albion minister struck directly at one of the greatest hindrances to the spiritual life of the church when he asked in the course of his Sunday morning address (there might not be at least one meeting of the official body of the church when something else might be discussed besides finances. The fault does not lie with the church officials but with the church membership. When church members cease figuring how little they can give to the church and begin figuring how much they can give the financial program will have been solved, the church will be able to devote its attention to the thing for which it exists—the promotion of Christ's kingdom.

Mrs. John Gabrielson of Duluth, Minn., left for her new home last Thursday after a week's visit here with her nephew, Antonio Olson.

Dixie county Masons will meet in Ponca October 19.

AFTER EVERY MEAL

Brothead

It is to the coal fields as the "Oak" is to the forest—it is the King of Ash, clean in heat units, lowest in highest in preparation, it stands first in durability as a "Purcure" coal.

On account of the extreme purity of this coal the few reasonable suggestions might be the means of saving you money.

REMEMBER—Keep the fire hood open. A thin fire lets in too much cold air, and most of the heat goes up the chimney.

Keep your fuel bed reasonably compact, and remember Brothead is high in heat units and holds fire a long time; therefore, keep the fire under restraint. Check the draft; do not leave the dampers on the furnace open at center year fire, and thereby conserve your heat and make your coal last longer.

A steady glowing fire (not a full blaze) is the fire that gives the most heat and requires the least coal.

Do Not Stir the Fire With Your Spoon

Keep a good bed of ashes and shake the grate only when absolutely necessary, as fire burns more freely if the grate is kept too clean. Keep your smoke pipe damper closed off as much as possible at all times.

If you will adhere to these few simple rules, we are sure you will be as enthusiastic about Brothead as we are. You will have plenty of heat, but few ashes to carry, a clean cellar and no fuel bed.

If you experience any difficulty, kindly phone us, as an obligation does not cease until the last shovelful is burned.

Wakefield plays at Laurel this Friday. Teachers of the local school, under the supervision of W. S. Jackman, are giving out a course study. They have courses from other schools to use as patterns. The journalism class, organized this year under the instruction of Miss Clara A. Johnson, is writing school notes this year. The Victrola has been bought for use in the music training. Freshmen met with Maxine Johnson Friday evening. Swedish Mission Church. (Rev. John G. Nilson, Pastor.) Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning worship and communion service at 11. Evening service at 7:30. Tuesday, teachers' meeting at 8. Wednesday the Ladies' Aid society will convene in the parlors of the church at 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Helgren, M. Stacker, and Mrs. Swan Nelson as hostesses. Saturday, pastors' class meets at 2 o'clock. Salem Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. A. Martin, Pastor.) Swedish services at 10 a. m. English service, 11:30 a. m. Sunday school, 10:45 a. m. Dr. F. A. High, superintendent of the anti-Saloon League, will speak in our church Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, all the churches participating. There will be no evening services in Salem. Thursday afternoon the Ladies' Aid will meet in the church parlors. The Mesdames C. John Anderson, Ed Carlson and Walter Fredrickson will entertain. October 11-13 the pastor will attend mission meetings at Bristol and Anoka. First Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Stephen E. Yemm, Pastor.) Thank you for your services; the word came back "Thank you for yours." Here you have the true spirit of service, to give and to get. Sunday morning the sermon will be "I Am A Debtor." We are all debtors whether we acknowledge it or not. The afternoon there will be a union service at the Lutheran church. Dr. F. A. High, superintendent of the anti-Saloon League of the state of Nebraska, will be the speaker. The evening service at the churches will be postponed so that we may have a large attendance at the union service and also that those who wish can attend the evening service to be held at Wayne. Dr. High will tell you of this service and of the one to be held on Monday. The Whatsoever society will meet at the church parlors Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Taniel Hyspe and Mrs. Ralph Riley will entertain. The Missionary society will meet Tuesday afternoon, October 12, at the home of Mrs. J. H. Montgomery. The pastor left Monday for spreed which meets at Lincoln and will be home Friday. Methodist Church. (Rev. F. Farmer, Pastor.) Last Sunday was Rally-day and although the weather was threatening the real spirit of rally was manifested and a splendid crowd greeted us promptly at 10 a. m. The church attendance also was a little unusual. Services at the usual hour next Sunday morning. But there will be no church services in the evening. We hope that as many as can will attend the services at Wayne in connection with the county convention of the anti-Saloon League. Ladies' Aid society meets this week at the church. Mrs. Geo. Rhodes is hostess, assisted by Mrs. Chian, Mrs. Gene Bartow, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Farmer. The Home Guards meet Friday evening with Mrs. Miller. The Choir rehearses promptly at 7 p. m. on Friday. Have you contributed your dollar bill for the support of a church paper to be published by the pastor? The board of stewards makes the Elgin, Neb., Oct. 4.—August Beutler, a prominent farmer living five miles north of Elgin, was very seriously injured when his horse fell with him. Mr. Beutler was cutting out catch in his pasture about two miles from his home, being alone at the time. His wife became uneasy about him and went to see what was the trouble and found him pinned under his horse unconscious. There was a gash in his head where the hoof of the horse had apparently struck him. It is impossible to present as yet just how badly he is injured. He has been unconscious ever since the accident, except for a few minutes early Saturday.

The E-B Newton Wagon Proved by 70 Years of Performance

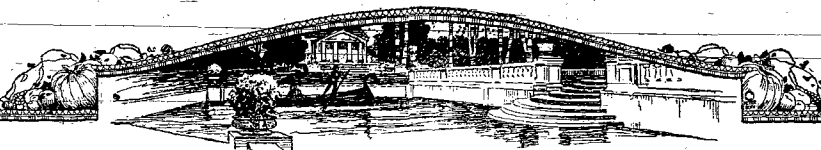

All new wagons look alike with their fresh coats of paint, but it is what is under the paint that counts. Long service has proved the worth of the E-B Newton wagon. We recently received a letter from Mr. Bernard Allen of Kingman, Indiana, in which he says: "I consider the Newton Wagon the best made and have two of them, one of which has been out twenty years and is yet in good running order." THE WHEELS Newton Wheels track accurately on plumb spokes, which makes light draft; the dish is correct; the rims are centered on the hubs; and the tension is even all-around—that is, the load is carried on all spokes. THE GEARS One of the noticeable features of Newton Wagon construction is the thorough ironing and clipping of the gears. THE AXLES The axles, turned from the finest grade of selected hickory, are materially strengthened and prevented from springing, by a truss rod. THE SKINS Newton skins are seamless, perfectly round, and take more wood stock in the bell than most other makes, thus obtaining greater strength and longer service. THE BOX The box has reinforced bottom over the bolsters; heavy side braces; strap irons which extend full length of top of box and turn down at the ends; forged collar rods; and steel angle grain clips, making it grain tight. Robt. Schug's HIGH STYLE--THE WIZARD Poland China - - Sale - - COLERIDGE, NEBRASKA Wednesday, October 13, 1926 Schug Polands Are Always An Asset Robt. A. Schug is practically the oldest active breeder of Polands in Nebraska today. There has not been a season in the past twenty-five years that the Schug herd was not taken into consideration when high class Polands were being rated. It is a record made possible by breeding a type that pleased Robt. Schug, regardless of all fads and fancies. You will find this offering the Schug type of Big, Smooth, Heavy Boned Poland Chinas. HIGH STYLE AND THE WIZARD—Mr. Schug has featured The Wizard and Mrs. Beutler the past three seasons. This fact alone is enough to speak for their value as breeding boars. They are boars that will tip the scales "At any time over the 1000 lb. mark" and they are big, smooth and mellow. The High Style-The Wizard cross either way is a proven one. They are backed by generations of good blood. OTHER BLOOD IS ATTRACTIVE—Five choice boars by Nebraska Pathfinder are top notchers, a little by Another George boy, out of the top sow of the year, being a triple yearling son of the Answer, a choice senior boar by the Wizard. Other blood is included. Many individuals among the boars of High Style and The Wizard. ONE OF SCHUG'S BEST OFFERINGS—Breeders who have attended the Schug sales in the past are going to find this offering just a little more desirable than any he has brought out in recent years. There are boars for the breeders and boars for the farmer. Don't miss the sale. Robt. A. Schug, Coleridge, Neb. H. S. DUNCAN and ED. TROMBLE, Auctioneers First National Bank, Coleridge, Clerk Hook Big Fish Near Florida Florida had a hurricane but it was mild compared to the sensation Jerry Robinson (left) and Hildred Hill had when they hooked these 180-pound tarpon on Daytona Beach.
