Douglas Fairbanks at Crystal Theatre

With the news that Douglas Fairbanks' latest screen offering, "The Black Pirate," will be the feature attraction at the Crystal Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, this week, comes the added word that this picture is entirely in color and ranks as one of the most elaborate cinema spectacles of the year.

Fairbanks is as usual the romantic adventurer achieving no end of thrills through his hazardous, always intrinsically, and frequently amusing "stunts." His ingenuity and athletic prowess are big factors in his struggle to win a captured dunsard from a shipload of blood-thirsty pirates. This situation forms the drama of the play as well as the backbone of the story.

As was the case with the highly popular "Robin Hood" and "The Thief of Bagdad," the story of "The Black Pirate" is an original from the pen of Elton Thomas. It was adapted to the screen by Jack Cunningham, scenarist for "Don Q." "The Black Pirate" and many other noteworthy pictures. Direction is by Albert Parker, who has directed several Fairbanks' features.

Never before in his career, in the opinion of critics, has the star appeared in a photoplay vehicle that has given him such splendid opportunity for historic and interest commingling art. The fact that the picture is in color has made possible splendid attractions and a bevy of interesting incidents.

"The Black Pirate" comes heralded as presenting everything for general audience entertainment—high adventure, gripping romance, gripping melodrama and mystifying intrigue.

Scientists tell us that products produced by the mites which dwell in the moth larvae that damages the the material distasteful to the moth larvae. They have the power to crawl and seek untreated material. To kill moths, their eggs and larvae use Fly-Tox. Get Fly-Tox from your retailer, always in bottles with blue label.

ten join the group and that each keep chickens. Divisions for feeding and care of poultry are sent by the extension bureau.

the states there are only three bridges
the Sioux City, Omaha and Nebraska which the free bridges might be financed.

State Engineer W.-H. Tilley of Norfolk, after inspecting the highway from South Sioux City to O'Neill stated that the road is in good condition for graveling. The graveling be-ins now. This road is being graded and rerouted to eliminate railroad crossing.

Henry Barstead of Pierce, has his heart on the right side of his body

This peculiarity was discussed last week by the doctors of Pierce, Anteo-lope, Madison and Stanton counties meeting in Pierce. Mr. Barstead, who is 35 years old, did not know of the arrangement of these organs until he was examined for service in the army a few years ago. Because of this peculiarity he was not allowed to go overseas. Mr. Barstead is healthy and is able to do the work on his farm.

Hi-Y's to Give Program November 2 to Raise Funds for Banqueting Guests

Older Boys' Conference Meets in Wayne School - Girls High School News of the Week

A program will be put on by the Hi-Y boys the evening of November 2 for the purpose of raising money to finance the opening banquet for the Wayne November 27, 28 and 29. The greater part of the program will be given by the boys themselves. About 250 boys will come to the convention.

Office Notes. A new flag with standard has been ordered for the High School. All flags have been ordered for all grade rooms that do not have any. Two new typewriting tables have been received for the commercial department. Report cards for the first six weeks were issued last Tuesday.

Assembly Notes. That students must do all written work with pen and ink and not fold their papers was the first item of the teachers at the teachers' meeting held October 11.

Because the instructors can not take care of all the papers, the students are to be given by other teachers, a new ruling has been made: Beginning Tuesday, no students may get help from any instructor other than the teacher of the subject.

The students were addressed Monday morning by Mr. High, superintendent of the state Anti-Saloon League. Although he talked but five minutes he made a wonderful impression on all who heard him. He stressed the fact that America is the nation toward which all the nations look for guidance, and that if America were strong and firm on prohibition, within a few decades all nations would adopt the same policy.

The speaker was followed Monday by a forty-minute dialogue given by W. J. Duddy and Mr. Owen who are employed by the anti-Saloon League. In the dialogue the men debated and discussed the problem of prohibition. They left such information that would be of interest to all citizens.

Bertha Wochler is playing the assembly march this week. Bernard Pollard will play the march next week.

The high school had perfect attendance Friday and Tuesday mornings October 8 and 12.

The students held a yell rally last Thursday. The convocation period was postponed until 3:30 to 4:45 because. Each student received a sheet of school songs which were taught to the students by Homer Sagen on Monday. About eighty pupils from Wayne high school attended the Randolph game last Friday.

Fifth Grade. The B class is having a contest in addition. The boys and girls each have a different side. The boys are ahead. The contest closes this week. Joy Granquist was absent Monday on account of illness. Irwin Soll was also absent.

Sixth Grade. The English classes are making booklets. These booklets contain their English work, such as stories and letters.

The girls won by ten points in the six-week spelling contest between the boys and girls.

Sixth English classes are beginning to study nouns and other parts of speech.

Frank Philbitt has been absent for more than a week on account of illness.

Seventh Grade. The A class is finishing up booklets on the British Isles. The booklets contain maps, pictures and stories of the British Isles. Dean Hughes was absent two days last week.

Eighth Grade. A musical appreciation lesson was given by Miss Black last Friday afternoon. Miss Black played a number of selections on the Victrola, told of the composers of the selections and told the stories that led to the composing of some of the selections.

The physiology B class is studying the respiratory system. Edgar Soderstrom has been absent from school two days on account of illness.

Each week two eighth grade students are appointed to gather the news items in their room and to report to the reporters from the class in news writing. Frank Claycomb and Victoria Jones have been responsible for the news this week.

Frank E. Claycomb who visited the Armour packing house in Sioux City, October 4, wrote the following article: "Armour Packing House."

"When we first went into the packing house, we went to the top of the building in an elevator.

"When we reached the top of the building, the hides were cured. The odor in this room was strong and we could not stand it in there.

"The next thing we saw was the department where the cattle were killed. A blow on the head from a man across in this room and the floor takes the cattle that are killed onto a place where their throats are cut.

"There are government inspectors to examine the cattle. We saw a cow that had T. B. The inspector said that it was the worst that they had ever seen.

"Then we went to the hog dressing department. The government inspectors are also examining all parts of the hogs.

"We were in the department where they cut the hogs into different pieces. They cure the hog feet in large round barrels. They are soaked in brine.

"We were also in a room in which they keep their meat.

"It is 18 degrees below zero all the time in this room. The meat was hanging in rows in this room.

"The sausage room has large mixers in which sausage is made.

"Then a man fits the casing over the faucet and turns the faucet on and puts the sausage in the casings.

"The sausage and wieners are hung in rows in the smoking room. They are white before they are smoked."

—Frank E. Claycomb.

Ninth Grade. The algebra class is working on graph problems.

The English class is studying punctuation.

Tenth Grade. The ancient history class is studying the orient.

The biology class has the first laboratory period Thursday morning. Each member of the class selected a complete plant, studied it and made a drawing. New biology notebooks have been received this week.

Eleventh Grade. The algebra III class is beginning work on graphs.

Miscellaneous. The bookkeeping class is now working on unit two, the cash book and ledger.

The six-week test in bookkeeping covers the financial statements.

The typewriting class had its first speed test last Friday and started to use the capital letters and shift keys.

The public speaking class is to memorize the three and one-half page poem, "The Revenge," by Alfred Tennyson.

Dramatic. The Wayne dramatic club is preparing to have a party on the evening of October 23 to welcome the new members of the club.

The new members are: Spill Louis, Mary Jane Johnson, Harriet Craven, Marjorie Jey, Gertrude Taylor, Hope Hoskinson, Ardyle Gilderleece, Margaret Hanko, Katherine Kemp and Maxine Rhodes.

The dramatic club is the new largest organization in the high school, besides the classes. It is an active group.

Music. The girls are learning a new song, "Oh! I Have Sighed to Rest Me," from "Il Trovatore," written by Verdi.

The seventh grade in art is making health posters.

The fifth grade in art is making paper cuttings of haying and harvesting.

The fourth grade in art is making paper cuttings of birds.

The third grade in art is making paper cuttings of the alphabet.

Debate Notes. The question, "Resolved: That the present Congress should adopt in substance the principles of the Curtis-Kend Bill, constitutionally waived," has now been definitely stated. Frederick Berry spoke on the plan of the bill Wednesday. Louise Rickabaugh talked on the work of the delators. Bibliographies and abstracts have been ordered from the state department.

United States History Notes. Study of the New England colonial period has been completed. Study of the middle colonies will be taken up next.

Cooperation should be the aim on the part of those using reference books in treating a fairly.

Kindergarten Notes. Halloween pumpkins, cats, and witches are being made by the kindergartners.

Mrs. Henry Haehmeler and Mrs. John Rehder were visitors this week. The modern farm which Bernard Pollard made and had at the fair was given to the kindergarten. This farm includes a house, garage, barn, hoghouse, chicken house and silo. The children enjoy it very much. It shows very nicely on their sand-table.

First Grade Notes. Posters, representing ships, were made for Columbus day.

Robert Baker and Chester Jensen were absent on account of sickness.

Visitors last week were Mrs. V. B. Rhoads and Mrs. Hazel Phiseman.

A birthday cake containing candles is used as a device by the arithmetic class in increasing their interest in combinations.

Second Grade Notes. The second grade has had perfect attendance the last three weeks.

Columbus day, October 12, was observed by making posters and having stories about the discovery of America.

A study and a collection of Nebraska seeds is being made. This is one of the fair exhibits for next year. The seeds are placed in bottles and mounted on cardboard.

In language the pupils are telling of their experiences during the fair. They are corrected in the way they tell their experiences and the way they stand.

Lee Porter was absent because of sickness.

Athletic Notes. Friday, October 22, the football team will meet Pflug at Pflug. Last year's game ended a scoreless tie and both teams are out to make up for what they lacked last year.

Herbert Welch, last year's captain of the football team at William and Mary's college, in Virginia, took charge of the line Tuesday night at practice. He coached them on the best stance for defense and offense playing, on the use of the hands for the best results, on the defense, and on the use of the shoulder and body on offensive play. Speed and fight were his objects and the line is in much better condition.

Although there were only thirteen men eligible for the Newcastle game, they put forth every effort to get themselves in the best condition possible for the contest. They have been practicing shoulder and hip block and tackling on the dummy which coach Paul Peterson has made, and blocking them in some way as fast as he can set them up.

The new formation given the backfield before the Randolph game is cutting the defensive line lots of yards by a continuous movement. It gives the whole backfield. Light signal practice was held Thursday for last instructions on week points.

Fourteen photos and one of them are 8 by 10 with each $3.50 or over Christmas stings made before November 15. Craven Studio. 0144

The busy weeks—preliminary Christmas—has been distinguished and plans for the annual holiday festivities will soon be in order.

The single Golden Rule would be a sound and popular platform for candidates to stand on, and it would be quite as acceptable and refreshing in politics as in business or social relations.

The grandeur of the Nebraska sunset in October is intensifying beyond the skill of the artist to paint. We feel ourselves here with Florida and California people might come here to share in the enjoyment.

Thought an admirer of the late W. J. Bryan, the editor of the "Farmer Journal" comes out sharply against Charley Bryan's candidacy for governor. The Journal thinks Charley is too much affected by politics and is not doing a very good job of it.

Henry Ford advises people to practice economy and not saddle on themselves burdens of debt they cannot comfortably pay. He thinks one should not take on more obligations than cannot be met without pain and anguish.

If you can't buy it in Wayne, it is likely you need it, and the throngs of people who come to the "four" week, and who have adopted Wayne as their home town, would have concluded that they can supply all their wants here as cheaply as any place in the world.

An Omaha florist is charged with going out to a graveyard and gathering up all the currying knives he had sold to relatives of the deceased. He explained that the deceased was dead and could not appreciate flowers, and he thought by his faithful collection and dead when the flowers were bought.

The new building just completed on the State Teachers College campus at comparatively moderate cost is a monument to the persevering pluck and energy of President U. S. Coy, aided by his faithful architect, Prof. E. J. Huntmer. The group of steadily buildings on the hill gives credit to President Coy's foresight, looking to the future of the institution and of his ability and courage as a builder.

By working last night, the Herald has avoided a repetition of what happened last week—the omission of a page was made on account of a lack of space. The Herald had all the news and advertising its usual sixteen pages would hold yesterday morning and additional pages were necessary if the demand for space were to be measurably met. It would help us to decide on the number of pages we want if advertisers would make known their wishes early in the week.

According to reports, European nations are becoming harmonious on one point—to bring pressure to bear on the United States to reduce war indemnities—due to the fact that the United States refuses to believe in the failure of America to curtail its demands would obstruct peace and progress.

EXAMINATIONS.

The first examinations over at school, and the report cards distributed, some pupils are disappointed and many anxious mothers visited teachers to find out why their children do not rank higher. The result is usually a simple matter of interest of parents and of the efforts of pupils. Teachers are seldom to blame for the failure of children to receive high grades. Often student does not apply himself, having other things to think about, and he does not settle down to earnest work until he is lashed by poor returns on an examination. It surprises and shocks the average student to get poor grades. They never had any such things of surprise when we went to school. We would have been surprised if we had not received a poor grade, but alas, it never happened. Surprises are valuable in bringing teachers and parents into closer understanding of the students, prompting helpful cooperation. Children like to have their folks take an interest in their work. It encourages them to put more steam into their work.

perly in the old world. European nations ask for reduction in what they owe us and in the same breath ask for more money. If we don't pay, they will get mad at each other and fight again, and then they say we will be responsible.

We read of a woman who died as a result of following a rigid rule of eating. She ate only what she and the team want to be fat. Such has become a habit. If one wheezes under a surplus of adipose tissue he does not get used to it. The wind whistles around and whistling through his ribs. Let us eat sensibly of wholesome food and let nature take its course.

Willis E. Reed of Madison, former attorney general of Nebraska, who sees in Wayne Tuesday in the interest of his candidacy for congress in this district, as a LaFollette independent, announces that he is in favor of reducing freight rates on farm products and lowering the tariff on manufactured goods which the farmer has to buy. He believes rearranging the tariff would be a help downward will tend materially in the direction of equalizing costs of things that are to be sold and things to be sold. His opponents in the congressional race are Edgar Howard, Democrat and present incumbent, and E. J. Nease, Republican, and leading citizen of Tekamah, whose candidacy is gaining strength as he extends his acquaintance over the district.

The race for the governorship between Charles Bryan and Edgar Howard is now on. Bryan is a growing warmer as election nears. Both candidates express their belief in the present government and the law, but they do not agree as to the accomplishments of their respective administrations. An unbiased view of the present Governor's record in administration is one that has been constructive and efficient as well as many things that have been done. There is no pressing demand for Charley Bryan to leave his comfortable berth in Florida and come up here to run for governorship. If the voters will act the part of wisdom by casting their ballots in such a way that nothing will hinder him from seeking himself in Florida as he feels disposed to do so after election.

Cedar-Knox R. N. A. Elect. Crofton, Neb., Oct. 19.—The annual convention of the Royal Neighbors of America was held here and attended by more than 160 members of the various organizations in Cedar and Knox counties and new officers were elected. The officers elected were: President, Mrs. Mary Chatterman; Vice-President, Mrs. M. C. Bloomfield; Secretary, Mrs. J. Swanson of Wauson; Treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Hartman; Chaplain, Miss Ruth Morley of Belden; flag-bearer; and Mrs. E. H. Huntmer of Belden. The meeting was followed by a program. The Hartington lodge put on the initiation degree, 34 members being present. The meeting was held at Bloomfield.

WOMEN.

Fancy the old-fashioned lady of the household sitting before the flaming fireplace or next to the warm stove knitting or sewing. Fancy the man of the household perched nearby, reading and imperiously issuing opinions. Note how the lady's most appropriate expression is a frown by poking the fire and brushing aside the ashes. No matter how utterly "punk," it is logical, may have been his deductions, she accepted them as final and the conclusions of supreme wisdom. Perfect harmony of opinion prevailed. The modern lady of the household does her full share of reading. She does her own thinking, and she forms and expresses her own opinions. She is no longer a clinging vine. She is as logical as the forms and satellite. She has a separate entity, and she is making man strive himself to keep up with her analysis and judgment. Harmony is not disturbed, and mutual respect is stimulated.

It was badly mangled. The boy's thumb was almost severed from his hand, but several stitches were taken and it is thought that amputation will not be necessary.

They are to be seen in the skyscraper that about on every hand; in the steel-rails spanning the continent; in the great bridges that arch the streams; in the giant ships that sail the seven seas; in the great engines that turn the wheels of commerce; in fact, in everything that works for ultimate good—the common sense. Of course, some men of more than average ability planned, but without the average man to do the essential building, to carry the loads and labor in the sweat of their faces, those things could never have been accomplished.

It is the average man who is the backbone of trade and commerce, of home building and city building and nation building. He is the man who cheerfully accepts each day's task as it comes, and performs it to the best of his ability. Men of giant intellect are needed to plan, but without the average man to follow those plans, toiling in all kinds of weather, doing each task as it comes to him, to do what avail would be the plans?

The average man needs no monument of bronze or marble, no engraved tablet, to herald his virtues to the world. He has been erecting monuments to himself ever since time began. Monuments in the hearts of his loved ones; monuments in happy memories of his citizenship, in a stronger country. He has built for himself an enduring fame.

H. E. Whitger sold his grocery store in Pierce to A. and M. Chasen of Redfield, S. D.

The use of Wrigley's chewing gum after every meal takes care of this important item of personal hygiene in a delightful, refreshing way—by cleaning the teeth of food particles and by helping the digestion. The result is a sweet breath that is a credit to one's self and consideration for others—but marks of refinement.

Economy in Building At Teachers College

Wayne Herald: It may be of interest to the readers of the Herald to know something of the details in erecting the new training school of the State Teachers College. By estimating a few items of minor importance it is possible at this time to give at the cost of the building which is $109,212.00. Instead of letting a general contract as was the case in the former building operations on the campus, material and labor were paid for as the work progressed.

Local dealers on competitive bids furnished materials to the amount of $28,525.60. Contracts totaling $40,000.00 were let for furnishing materials for the terrazzo floors, the marble work, the cut stone, the sheet metal work, ventilation system, the reinforcing steel and the mill work. On part of this there was also included the installation. The total labor bill was $30,555.73; this was for the most local jobs. The remaining items were bought on the spot market for the reason that most of them were of a special nature and competitive bids were impossible. This includes special roofing material, radiation, hardware, and a number of miscellaneous items.

When the plans were originally made the estimated cost of the building was put at $135,000 if built on general contract. Many features have been secured in the building which would not have been possible had it been let on general contract under fixed specifications. To follow the plan used in the walls, as they are built entirely of solid brick. A great deal of credit for the success of the building is due Prof. E. J. Hentzner who was not only the architect but also the superintendent of construction. For fifteen months he was relieved of all class work and devoted his entire time to the building. Without doubt it is the best finished and the best constructed building on the state college campus.

The citizens of Wayne and friends of the school are invited to visit the building and see what has been done with the taxpayers' money. One hundred thousand dollars were set aside by the legislature for building purposes at this institution. It was known by the State Normal Board when the plans were drawn that this would not be sufficient, but it was thought that other funds would have to be drawn upon in order to complete the building. As indicated above the expense over the appropriation was but $9,212.00.

If other state buildings were erected as well and as cheaply as this one there would be little occasion for hesitance to complain of extravagance. To erect a building in this manner calls for a great amount of extra work and supervision upon the part of the authorities. The result, however, is ample justification for the experiment.

The Improved Air Duct Increases Heating Efficiency 30%

The improved air duct is that large extra heavy 6-inch corrugated cast iron pipe which draws air from the outside right over the fire where it is intensely heated, and forced out at the top.

The improved air duct makes it possible for the improved Washington Home Furnace to heat 30 per cent more space with the same amount of fuel, or heat the same space with 30 per cent less fuel. If the improved air duct is removed from the new improved Washington Home Furnace, it will be necessary to burn 30 per cent more fuel to produce the same amount of heat. This means at least 30 per cent saving in fuel.

There are only three furnaces made with an air duct—the Washington and two others. We consider the improved air duct of the new improved Washington Home Furnace to be absolutely the best air duct made. The tests we have made lead us to this conclusion. The new Improved Washington Home Furnace will cost you less than other furnaces fitted with an air duct.

Why buy a furnace that is made without an air duct, when you can buy the new improved Washington Home Furnace for the same or less money than others ask for the ordinary furnace?

With the ordinary heating stove, about 70 per cent of the possible heat from the coal goes up the chimney and is wasted.

On account of the improved air duct in the Washington Home Furnace, the genuine Washington Home Furnace utilizes 75 per cent to 85 per cent of the possible heat from the fuel.
