U. S. Conn Speaks to Teachers On Taxation

Norfolk, Neb., Nov. 4.—A larger unit of taxation as a means of making available more money for education of children was recommended to the Third district, Nebraska, State Teachers association, at the sixth annual convention here tonight by U. S. Conn, president of the Wayne State Teachers college.

"While we offer the educational advantages to every child in this country, there is a vast difference in the real instruction offered," Mr. Conn said. "This difference is to be found in the training of the teachers and in the financial support."

There are sections of the United States where the local assessed valuation of the property back of each child is but little over $2,000," he explained. "But in more favored sections the assessed valuation of the property is $15,000. If the rate of taxation is made the same in all parts of the country, evidently the children in one section will have several times as much money available for their education than would be available for children in the less favored sections."

"Teachers in certain parts of the country rank low in scholarship," the speaker also declared. "A child who is so unfortunate as to have meager financial support and a poor teacher as well is seriously handicapped."

While a remedy which I recommend for this is a larger unit for taxation in order to change such a condition," Mr. Conn concluded, "making fewer officers and supervision over more extended scope of territory. The sooner we come to realize that an education for all the people is our safeguard, that education is not a local affair, but a national affair, the better it will be for the nation as a whole."

Mrs. Lauretta Smith Passes Away In Iowa

Describes Trips On Tour in West

Edith Hulse Wrightman Describes Experiences of Westinghouse in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Wrightman who have been on a long and interesting tour of the West, visiting and sightseeing in California with headquarters in Long Beach, are planning to leave for Wayne the last of the week. Their trip was described by Mrs. Wrightman, nee Miss Edith Hulse, as follows:

Leaving Wayne Saturday morning, October 23, we arrived in Long Beach the following Monday afternoon and were met by Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Wrightman and Miss Suzanne. We have a lovely apartment a few blocks from the Dr. Wrightman home and just across the street from Bert Browning's.

"We went to San Pedro to see the battleships and to watch the foreign ships unload. We reached there just as a big storm was inland and another land left. I didn't know there were so many Japs in the world. It was curious and interesting to watch ships coming in and going out. Those landing from the boat bought ice cream, candy and such food just as soon as they were off the ship. Everyone here tells how beautiful California is, in the first conversation with him. This is a beautiful state but we say the Royal Netherlands and tell how fine Wayne country is.

"We went to Catalina Island, and first noticed that the island was to be by train. From Catalina we took the glass-bottom boat to see the sea gardens which are so pretty. I had a very good lunch at another other trip of interest at the island was to seal rock, where there is the largest colony of seals in existence. In our car we saw the Seal Rock, Lake Arrowhead. The body of water seems to be on the top of a mountain. On the hills sloping up from the lake are pine and other natural woods. There is a little settlement here and all of the buildings are old English design. They are so beautiful and so comfortable. The altitude is so high that one feels fine here. Some of the roads leading to the lake have 'hairpin' turns and one experiences some real thrills in driving up. We stopped at the Mission Inn coming here. One could spend days here and not see all of the unique things. The grade was so steep the last part of the trip that the changes in altitude affected our ears somewhat.

"We rented horses at the lake and rode on some of the mountain drives. The horses are used to the precipitous and get close to them are not used to them and needless to say was afraid. The owner of the horses took us to a beautiful place where riding horse instead of the live one. We took a motor boat trip around the lake and visited—'Little settlement built by motion picture people. The Fox company is taking the picture, 'Sun Rise,' now. A street car was brought up here by truck to be used in one of the scenes.

"One drive at the lake, called the 'rim of the world' drive, is well named. One certainly feels as though he were on the edge of things, being able to look thousands of feet down into the canyon and in the distance to see motion picture mountains. I never saw such an expanse of space. As we were looking at the scenery a fog came in covering everything. This seemed to be looking into space. The fog blew over the tops of the trees just like smoke. Some Virginia people were just returning from a trip through Washington, Oregon, and California and they like this lake the best of all. They also say the road grade is the steepest. Leaving Lake Arrowhead, we took a road from which we could see the Mojave desert on one side and the fertile San Bernardino valley on the other. The elevation was 6,120 feet.

"For our trip to San Diego, we decided to try the hot air balloon. It was so large that it was very comfortable, though it did weave back and forth somewhat. We visited parks and many interesting sights. We next went to Tia Juana so that we could step on Mexican soil. All that there is there is a street crowded with unkempt Mexicans. We felt more comfortable after leaving for San Diego. On a bus ride from San Diego to Long Beach, we saw the house where Romona was supposed to have been married. We also passed Wind cave at La Jolla, the old Spanish mission at San Juan Capistrano and other historic places.

"One of our interesting trips was through the motion picture studios at Hollywood. Donald's cousin knows a famous writer who showed us around. First we watched the making of the play, 'Love Thrills,' in which Tom Moore, Bryant Washburn and Laura LaPlante are stars. We shook hands with Washburn and were just at arm's distance from the others. One of the bystanders asked if we were Laura LaPlante. I don't see how such a mistake could be made though the actress has the same coloring and is about the same size. One thing that surprised me most is that all actresses are much smaller than they appear on the screen. We watched an elderly man put make-up on his face. He first used a liquid which is white when dry. Then he put on coloring to bring out the features. It is not interesting to watch the process of taking a picture long because such a small portion is filmed at a time and this is repeated again and again. The main thing we saw was a scene of Tom Moore walking up to a curtain between double parlor doors and changing his expression from serious to smiling. Often the actors are called on duty at 8:30 in the morning and do not act until 11 p. m., but they have to be right on duty when wanted. It took four hours for the filming of one scene of Laura LaPlante. We also saw 'McFadden's Flair,' a New York street picture in the making. Charles Murray and Chester Conklin were taking part in this comedy. Murray was taken many times coming out of the set. An intelligent dog was setting but was so sensitive that he had to leave. We had luncheon with the stars in the club. We saw a number of children, a fat little duck, a little dude and others. The importance those children felt was very noticeable.

"Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Chase and sons, Burton and Frank, invited us to go with them to the formal opening of the Pacific Coast Club, October 28. Ten were in our party. The building is wonderful, an old English structure with massive fireplaces. The main floor is on the second floor. From the eighth floor veranda we watched the ocean and nearby buildings. There is a sun deck on the ocean side. Five or six dining rooms were in use for the opening. Each club member had a table for his party. Lavender and yellow were carried out in the table bouquets. Each of the six members of the dinner was something unusual. The waiters wore white gloves for serving. Dancing followed in the ball room. By some electrical arrangement, felt and paper hats, streamers, confetti, etc., were let fall from the ceiling. The program was similar to an orpheum. Orchestras, Spanish dancers and singers, Hawaiian singers and guitar players, a negro singer and actors took part.

"We have visited the San Gabriel valley, the patch, alligator and lion farms and will go back next week from November 6 to 8. Then as soon as we see the relative again and get our possessions packed we will board the train for Wayne. We plan that we start from Long Beach either November 10 or 12."

Wayne Educators Are Chosen For Officers

Norfolk, Nov. 6. G. S. Shively superintendent of the Plainville schools and a progressive leader in the field of education in Nebraska, was chosen president of the Nebraska State Teachers' association of the Third district, winning by a plurality of 22 votes.

Other candidates for the presidency were C. E. Botzenfield, Long Pine, and H. H. Linn, West Point. Miss Emma Schworer of Hartington, was elected vice president, winning over E. H. Sahr, O'Neill, and E. N. Sewett, South Sioux City. E. E. Alder, superintendent of Pierce schools, defeated B. V. Keister, Neligh, and E. P. Hodapp, Emerson, for secretary of the association. E. E. Melvin, Wayne State Teachers' college, won the treasurer's race, defeating W. B. Money, Crofton, and E. C. Britt, Bancroft.

The following persons were elected to the delegate assembly: W. E. Fluke, Stanton; Miss Myrtle Price, Albion; Pearl E. Sewell, Wayne; C. E. Mason, Elmer; Miss Mildred Kemp, Norfolk; Edith Marshall, Wayne; K. A. Hanson, Randolph; George A. Jones, Rosalie; A. F. Gulliver, Wayne; H. N. Rhodes, Osmond; W. F. Richardson, Ponca; Mrs. B. E. Trupp, Plainville; Glennie Bacon, Wayne; E. R. Rogers, Madison.

A referendum vote will be taken among the members of the teachers' association to determine where the 1927 meeting is to be held. Conclusions drawn from the referendum made by the leading educators of the district association are that the 1926 session which closed Friday evening was the most successful in the history of the organization.

Membership is Larger. More than 1,500 teachers and others connected with educational work are members of the district association, this number being the largest in the history. More than 400 persons are now members of the association.

All previous attendance records were smashed by the convention this year, the final registration being 860, that number being twenty-four more than the attendance last year.

Beauty of Autumn. Hartington Herald: Not many years have the people of this locality enjoyed more beautiful fall weather than they are enjoying this year. For the past month or more Indian summer has prevailed and it continues far beyond the usual date. As if to compensate for the weeks of hot, dry weather which were experienced in the early part of the summer, the autumn has been unusually fine and while there have been a few cold nights, the prevailing temperature has been mild. A sharp killing frost early in the fall, turned to color of the leaves and the season has, also, been marked by great scenic beauty. It is what might be truthfully called an ideal autumn and is a most soothing antidote to the fitful weather of the past summer. Even the clamor of a strenuous political campaign has failed to mar the charm of the season.

For Not Voting. York Herald: This newspaper has frequently expressed itself in favor of compulsory voting. We would have a state law that provides a mild tax for every voter, the tax to be annulled when he or she presents to the proper officer a certificate showing that he or she has voted. This view is often as it has been stated has been opposed by newspaper editors who are smarter and more experienced than this editor.

But we have not retreated. The stock argument in opposition is that we do not want a law that would compel uneducated and unprepared people to vote—it were better they did not vote at all. But if people were compelled to vote they would soon be impressed with their duty and responsibility and we would eventually attain higher citizen efficiency than we have now. It is a sad commentary on the business of citizenship that only half the voters vote. Logically, the unpartisan half should either be compelled to take a better interest in the affairs of government or be allowed to disfranchise themselves.

Such Is Fame. Sioux City Argus-Leader: Fame is fleeting. Last year, Bucky Harris was the manager of the world champion Washington Senators; this year he was the bridegroom of a wealthy society lady; and next year he will just be a ball player.

Circulates
Healthful
Warmth
Throughout the Home for the Usual Cost of Heating
One Room

THE IDEAL VECTO HEATER is a clean, compact, self-contained heating unit—a perfected, scientific application of nature's way of spreading warmth.

Instead of radiating intense heat for a short distance in one room only, the Vecto Heater accomplishes an even, comfortable warmth through every room. This it accomplishes by its extensive and scientifically designed heating surface.

Large volumes of air are continuously warmed at moderate temperatures. In accordance with the natural law of gravitation, the warmed air rises and circulates steadily throughout the home, bringing clean and healthful warmth to every nook and corner. The Ideal Vecto Heater thus actually warms and circulates the entire body of air in a home six to ten times each hour. Yet, because of its special, exclusive features of design, it consumes no more coal than is ordinarily used by old-fashioned heaters to warm one room. The Ideal Vecto Heater is absolutely the most advanced approach to the perfection of the Ideal-Arolo Heater that modern science has been able to develop without the actual use of radiators.

Heating Capacity. The Ideal Vecto Heater is designed primarily for smaller homes and other buildings. If your home does not exceed 3,000 cubic feet, you will find in the Vecto Heater an ideal answer to your heating needs. If it is smaller, remember that the Vecto Heater can be regulated to heat the lesser space. While if your home is over 3,000 cubic feet, two Vecto Heaters or an Ideal Arolo Heater with American radiators should be used.

When one begins to feel discontent with one's present position in life, he ought to take to his heels as a means of satisfying himself, and it is better off than he had supposed.

The weather turned cold this week, and people have been suddenly prompted to simulate fires and put on extra layers of clothing. Many farmers have enabled farmers to keep on with their corn picking, and in other respects has made the chilly elements more endurable.

A member of this office force has bought a young and beautiful parrot which will be given quarters in the new Herald building. It will be taught to say the right thing at the right time, and to give quotations against expending profanity, even advised not to say damn within a millidam of a tinker's dam-is meant.

A former Wayne resident, now living in a metropolitan center, said he could have been a millionaire and had a professional workmen, but he could not thereby save money and better satisfy himself in all respects to his own satisfaction. He would like to come here to trade, how can our people afford to go to the big city to trade? Of course they can't.

At the late election in Cumine county, the position of the West Point Republican in regard to the new building being erected in the county was upheld by the voters. Supervisor who opposed the Republican's position, and who had been swept out of office. The other newspaper of the town, whose editor was new on the job, lifted its voice in behalf of the building. Absentees are doubtless influenced more by an impulse to be against his competitor than by the facts and public interest involved.

The national home convention is in session in Omaha this week, and representatives of the city's idlers, traveling everywhere, ostensibly in search of work, but in fact careful to avoid work, are gathered together to discuss problems of the day. The delegates are reported to appear without patches on their clothes and with clean shaven faces. Absentees are doubtless influenced more by an impulse to be against his competitor than by the facts and public interest involved.

Will M. Maupin, representing the Omaha Bee, and other newspaper representatives who were traveling on a special car attached to Queen of the Royal Train, chief of the hope of persuading the distinguished individual to visit Nebraska metropolis, were forced to detach themselves from the train with courtesy through Wyoming. Before being separated from the train, Maupin secured a brief interview with the queen and a number of photographs of her and her party. Maupin thinks the queen is less snobbish than some of those

NARROW ESCAPES.
 When is an escape narrow? The general use of automobiles has multiplied narrow escapes, as it has also increased the number of deaths. Thousands of drivers miss passing cars by a hair's breadth. An occasional collision, and serious consequences sometimes result. An inch one way would send a car into a yawning creek bed. An inch the other way would send it into a waiting truck. Rounding a down-hill curve on a slippery road, a car is likely to keep on going round and round. If it does not, the escape is narrow. If it does slip, it is a narrow escape. If it does slip over, but no one is hurt, it is still a narrow escape. If a road goes from one to another, it is a narrow escape. If a road goes from one to another, it is a narrow escape. If a road goes from one to another, it is a narrow escape.

Seasonable Musings.
 (Dr. A. L. Bixby.)
 For Nebraska autumn weather let me put a modest line. It is lovely altogether—neither too hot, nor too cold, nor too rainy, nor too dry. Charming every rural scene, and the mornings when it freezes are quite few and far between. From the trees the leaves are dropping. Softly as the falling dew, And inside the corn is popping. For the visitors to chew. Oft to school that little rustic. With their buckets full of lunch, While at home the parents rustle. Up the grub to feed the bunch. Autumn is a busy season. In Nebraska every year. For the very season reason. Who's to blame for that? Oftentimes outside it's standing. On the stalk—and that's no fib. Who's to blame for that? On the covered bin and crib. In Nebraska, as it stands, Where the folks are segregated. In the town or on the farm. When it's mild, or when it freezes, It is about the same. Here, where every prospect pleases, And where only man is vile. But I make this sad confession—Words are feeble to convey, And I cannot give expression To just what I mean to say. There are glories past defining. In more language past defining. Be, as the sun is shining. On Nebraska in the fall. —I can't see today why the French 45's are not in the back on in Chicago. —Houston Press.

who accompany her and who would appear royalty and who, without apparent ground, have a strong inclination to feel stuck up.

The time is likely to come when we will see the same emphasis to means of keeping students well and strong. Faulty diet and faulty dress, irregular hours of sleep and poorly ventilated sleeping quarters tend to break down health. It seems that each individual is stocked with an assortment of disease germs and that germs will be taken to town as can't make a fairly successful attack. If one becomes weak through improper eating habits, and through lack of rest and get busy. Their life work is to assault one whose power of defense has become enfeebled. The idea is to furnish them with the best of the best, and the way to do it is to develop correct habits of living. The secret, in behalf of health, lies more to develop stronger and more alert minds for the acquisition of knowledge. And health and learning go hand in hand in promoting good citizenship.

SOUTH OF HERE.
 RETURNING FROM A TRIP to Grand Island last week, we stopped for a brief visit at Aurora and spent a night at the McCloud hotel and York. Around Grand Island and Aurora, the corn picking has been done, a failure this year. In the vicinity of York, the yield is somewhat better. A man at Aurora who has been in the corn business for many years told us that his corn farmers realized twenty bushels of corn to the acre, a yield considered short and comparatively poor for the season. It is probable they would feel very fortunate. At Aurora we visited the town's two excellent newspapers, the Republican and the Herald.

Aurora's business district has more good buildings than Wayne's, whereas Aurora is the more progressive. Wayne's homes are uniformly better than those usually found in towns of this size. But manifestly we should not rest on our laurels. We need our business district and, make it comport with the balance of the town and the surrounding country.

Our business district needs here is a new hotel building. The McCloud hotel at York was built by the people of the community who subscribed stock. It cost $100,000, and it was most substantially and attractively built. Wayne could doubtless do better with less expensive structure, and it could provide one if people would loosen their purse strings and shell out for stock in the new building.

 In this land of the brave and free, You do as you darn-please; I'll not know to royalty, Nor croak the words of ease. Before a king or queen, begob, Or any other royal mob. But there is One I have in mind I'll bow to, just the same; He came to bless all human kind, And died because of his name. And he is He who should be here, He had'n't where to lay his head. So stuff go all the pomp and show And vain pretense, as such; Rulers of bankrupt states below, Fail to impress me much. Deign not to be honored, praised, be, Will never make a hit with me.

QUEENS.
 Queen Maria Rumania, is receiving a great deal of attention during her tour of this country, and an royal, curious, are unendingly sent her and are getting scarce in Europe, serious interest is naturally developed. A queen's duties are not only to preside over banquets and strolling character, and every day in every community you may meet women who tally with the queen's duties. We have here so many who could qualify as queens that we are not interested in the foreign market. We are doing our part in the country that ancestry is not often fouled out and dusted off by criticism above the merits of mind. Genuine worth is what counts here and it is the measure for popular respect. Therefore, we are not interested in the foreign market so strongly as does the poorest American girl if she is original in her character and character and full of worthy ambition. If we were in the habit of going to Europe, we would have our heads on the ground half the time.

Market Report

Furnished by Steele, Siman & Co., Sioux City Stock Yards.

Sioux City Stock Yards, Nov. 10.—The western cattle liquidation decreased sufficiently last week to permit beyond all question of doubt that the susceptible food has passed into history. Nevertheless the opening runs of this week carried a marked increase over last but the expansion is due almost entirely to a final movement on the part of ranchers to clean up their herds and prepare for the winter.

The 11 leading markets of the country reported approximately 105,350 head of live stock for the first week; an increase of $1,750 head, as compared to the incoming movement over the same days last week.

Good to extra quality yearlings did not move out of the firm position occupied by the close-out last week. Sales again ranged from $11 up, with the $15 top of last week repeated on Tuesday of this week for a full consignment of prime 900 pounders.

While slow the cattle selling from $10 to $11 appear steady. In that spread are to be found really good short fat cows and the very cream of the weighty heaves. To get up to $11 the heaves cannot average much over 1,300 pounds, regardless of how good the quality and finish. For 1,500 pounders a price of $10.50 is the extreme outside.

Light warmed up killing steers—of 30 to 60 days feuling selling unevenly from $8 to $10, with $9.50 to $10 spread fetching a pretty good class of weighty heaves.

Plain fat grass killing steers sell ground $6, with fair to good kinds from $6.50 to $7.50. Occasionally buyers make an offside jump and take on a load of hard fat grasses to as high as $8, but not often.

Price with the better quality of the market is improving gradually. Prices are around 25 cents higher in the last few days, with fair to good grass beef cows from $5 to $6 and tops to $6.25 and over. A rather heavy class of grass heifers sell from $6.25 up, with a really good, clean young kind around $7.—A top of $7.50 is still possible for fancy light grass heifers.

More of the short fed heifers are coming and according to weight, quality and finish they are selling from $5 to $10.50, with the better figure catching a very good kind.

Canners form $3.25 to $3.75 and cutters from $3.75 to $4.25 look steady for the week, as do veals. Selected calves to outsiders earn $10, but the big packer deadline is $9.50.

Stock yearlings and calves are coming in for a continued broad demand at strong prices. Top has reached $8.50 on both styles, with good kinds fetching the price of $7.50 up. Fair kinds from $6.75 up and only a usable decent type to be had around $6. However, the cleanup season is showing more of the plain stuff to sell down to $5.50 and under.

Big fleshy heavy hogs are a back number, with $7.50 about the outside top. Really good kinds figure around $7, with a decent class possible not far from $6.

Heifer steers—clean topping beefs—$7.00 and $7.25, with regulation choice heifers topping at $6.75. A spread of $5.25 to $6.25 covers most of the business on fair to good kinds. Fair to good regulation fed cows a $4.25 to $4.50 sale, with light heifers kinds to $4.75 and only good mouthed canners under $4.

Packers trying to put hogs down for the coming winter packing season. Success has attended their drive to lower butchers and lights, but some have held up well.—Best butchers are now worth but little over .812, with good hogs and desirable veal selling from $11 to as high as $13.50.

Packers want to discount lamb values and do so, but every time the market hits the desired low level, the very lightness of the delivery makes a replacement of the decline follow. Current tops on fat lambs, both western and native are between $13.50 and $13.75, or little different. Western feeding lambs have consistently sold steady from $13.25 down, while light handy killing ewes from $6.50 down, also look steady.

General Motors Build New Factory For Pontiac.

Announcement has been made by Oakland Motor Car company, division of General Motors that progress is rapidly being made in the construction of a new factory at Pontiac, Michigan, for Pontiac automobiles. The new factory will cost approximately over ten million dollars. Plans are made for the opening of this great factory on January first when production will reach a thousand cars per day for Pontiac alone. The exceptional growth of Pontiac has passed all former records and as "General Motors own" it is certain to increase gradually.

In popularity even more rapidly from now on.

L. A. Zavits of the Kidder Motor Co. stated last week that a number of possibilities for the Pontiac deal in Wayne were being considered and that although a new dealer will possibly not be appointed before January first, it is very evident from the interest shown that the Oakland Eastern line will be well-represented in Wayne.

Mrs. A. L. Swan spent Friday in Sioux City.

The Department of Agriculture reports a surprising boom in the production of cigars, selling for five cents or less. Yet it was only to be expected with twenty aspirants this fall for every offer.—Detroit News.

We see by the paper that vaudeville will soon celebrate its hundredth birthday. It is said that many of the original jokes and hundreds of their children and grandchildren will attend the celebration.—Chicago Daily News.

Delectable Autumn At City Library

A number of new books have been accessioned at the Wayne city library this week. The collection includes poetry, drama, children's books, and novels for adults.

In the poetry collection is Burton Stevenson's "Home Book of Verse." Others are "Marrinons," by Sir Walter Scott, "Idylls of the King," by Alfred Tennyson, and "Complete Poetical Works of Oliver Wendell Holmes."

"The Admiral Crichton," by J. M. Barrie, is one of the plays. Another book is "The Best Play Ever," and "The School for Scandal" are in another volume.

Among the juggle books are "Barley, Fishman, Fitcher," "The Wonder Clock," by Howard Pyle, "Gulliver's Travels," by Jonathan Swift, and "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," by Mark Twain.

"Main Traveled Roads," by Hamlin Garland, is one of the adult collection and covers actual experiences of a young boy's life of forty years in the west, beginning in 1887. This is the first attempt in bringing Mr. Garland's works together in one unit.

"The Count of Monte Cristo," in two volumes, is by Alexandre Dumas. This is one of the great romantic novels and with "The Three Musketeers," by the same author, it stands as a masterpiece of the writer.

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is an always popular story by John Fox, jr. "The Alhambra" is by Washington Irving.

"The Time of Man," by Elizabeth Madox Roberts, describes the humble lives and scenes in Kentucky. It shows the lives of prominent authors as the best book of the past month.

"Outwitting Old Age," by Dr. Carl Bamus, makes available the vast advance of our understanding of the causes and prevention of old age, which, according to science, is largely avoidable.

"Lazarus' Job," by Hugh Walpole, is a romance of the cathedral city of Rochester. Loves, hopes and conflicts are told.

"Hildegard," by Kathleen Norris, tells of a wistful girl who lives with dreams. She rises from ugly poverty to a life of influence.

"The New Deaconess" contains stories by Mackenzie, Lawrence, Keith, Badger, Harvey, Jamieson, Keble, West and Noble.

"The Incredibility of Father Brown" by G. H. Chesterton, tells of a keen-eyed priest who, by his experience in playing the part of a Sherlock Holmes.

"The Chinese Parrot," or "The House of the Seven Keys to Baldpate" This is a mystery story filled with humor. It is located in the California desert but contains glimpses of San Francisco and Hollywood.

The Way to Success. A. Albion Weekly News: No man is defeated until he has been beaten down to defeat. Abraham Lincoln, was badly beaten in a race for the state legislature. He entered business and again failed, spending something like seven years paying off the debts of a worthless partner. He ran for congress and again was badly defeated.

Early Days In Two Counties

Early Days From the Wayne Herald for December 1926:

Mrs. Murphy, mother of Mrs. John Davis of Winslow, died.

George Lins of Kansas, is visiting in the Price home at Winslow.

Adam Nythorberger is holding a sale of Shorthorn cattle in December.

M. Peterson of Crofton, bought the steam land at Wayne.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lute died north-east of Wayne at the age of 70 years.

Ed. E. Beck of Carroll, went to Chicago to visit.

Miss Eva Alter returned to Grand Island to attend school after a visit here.

V. A. Senter's mother and sister of Hancock, were here for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kingston of Stanton, visited their daughter, Mrs. E. J. Beck, at Winslow.

Mrs. Charles Ungor of New York, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Dinna in Winslow.

Rehmer, Sr., of Hoskins, visited his daughter, Mrs. Henry Frevert near Wayne.

Prof. File returned from Crawford, where he spoke at the teachers' meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sneath moved to the Indian territory, where they bought a farm.

Miss Mirtle Grien and Frank Cople were married in San Francisco.

December 1926:

A daughter was born November 27, 1905, to Mr. and Mrs. George Burdette south of Wayne.

Miss Queen Mellor returned to her school work at Bellevue, Neb., after a visit with home folks here.

Mrs. Mary Mack and Jack Longacker were issued a marriage license by Judge Hunter on December 1, 1905.

Mr. H. H. Moses died November 26, 1908, here. Beside her husband, she leaves two sons, E. E. Moses and E. H. Moses.

D. C. Main visited his parents and brother-in-law at Junction, Iowa.

Ed Knippels, editor of the Concord World for a year, turned the paper back to its owner, Clyde Ecker, and left that town.

Frank Bronzynski's team ran away when frightened by boys skating west of Winslow. Mr. Bronzynski had his face cut somewhat in the accident.

E. H. Sherwood who has been manager of the Boyd hotel, is planning to leave. Ellis Gorton, who owns the building, may take charge of the work.

Frederick Chilcott, son of J. J. Chilcott, of Leslie precinct, is thought to be the champion boy corn husker of this section. He husked 169 bushels in 8 hours and 50 minutes. This is thirty-four ears a minute.

Early Days From the Ponca Journal for December 18, 1926:

The citizens and members of the Alliance at Iowa have recently donated part of the state's 120,000 bushels of corn 14 bushels of wheat and 500 pounds of flour. If other localities throughout the state contribute their share, the Iowa, the distress in western Nebraska would soon come to an end.

News comes from the seat of the Indians that the killing of Chief Sitting Bull was killed last week, and that perhaps his death will have a tendency to settle the trouble with the Indians.

The markets: Hogs, shipping $3 to $3.25; wheat, 75c; corn, 39c; eggs, 97c; fat, $1.16; fat, $1.50; hides, green, $2.50; fat cows, $1.50 to $2.00; steers, $2.50 to $3.00; butter, No. 1 dairy, packed, 15c to 18c; fresh eggs, case count, 15c; chickens, 3 1/2 lbs; geese, net pound, 3 1/2; turkeys, per pound, 3 1/2.

From present appearances, Christmas and New Years will, in weather, be more like the Fourth of July than anything else. People will eat their turkeys with open doors and windows and enjoying the genial warmth of sunshine. Men will go around in their shirt sleeves, and women, with fans, will get red in the face trying to keep cool. Ice cream will be in great demand, the fear being that the weather will be too hot. In all, the weather Santa Claus, instead of bringing him a town with a slough and roinders, will have to ride on a wagon, or else walk, and instead of sporting in a fur coat, will, for comfort, wear only a lined duster, and a very thin one at that. Such will probably be the way Christmas and New Year's days will be if the present warm weather holds out. Yet this is a country of surprises, and perhaps before Christmas and New Year's the cold will come sufficiently strong to freeze a man's breath solid as it leaves his mouth. Perhaps a blizzard or some other diabolical invention of the elements will be turned loose on us, and as we shiver and shake, we shall remember only as a dream, the betsy-me-we now enjoy.

Culled from Herald's Exchanges for Week

J. H. Krie sold his dairy business in Laurel to Leonard H. Evers.

Harry McNamara of Wiener, bought a horse store in Seward.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lukens of Bloomfield, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last week.

J. K. Kinder of Madison, will give the Armistice day address at Hartington.

John Eck of Hartington, was quite seriously hurt when he fell from a horse.

J. K. Ryner, and Miss Violet Blomquist of Weasa, were married November 1.

Corn in the vicinity of Newman Grove is yielding from thirty to forty bushels per acre.

Math Kuhl of Randolph, had one of his legs amputated last week as a result of blood poisoning.

Mr. and Mrs. William Willers of Pilger, who spent the summer in Germany, have arrived home.

Harrington Herald: A university politician has declared that the expression, "It's easy to select the best washer" has been made correct by usage. This no doubt will be welcome news to many people who persist in the use of that expression, but it is incorrect just the same no matter what the universities say about it.

Soft Corn.—Corn is being husked everywhere in the north part of Holt county.

Considerable soft corn is found but in most instances the kernels are well developed and only lack the finishing of the cob to make it good corn.

Much of the corn in many fields is well ripened and appears not to be injured for seed by the early hard froze.

A large percentage of the early ripened corn is being fed to fattening stock, as many farmers feared to erub it for winter on account of soft corn.

Several fields are yielding an average of thirty to forty bushels to the acre.

Record Corn Husker.—West Point, Neb., Nov. 8.—Rudy Radtke held a record for corn shucking in Cuming county this season. He jerked out 120 bushels in a little more than eight hours, scooping the three loads of corn himself.

Starting to pick at 7:30 in the morning on the Paul Brockman farm southwest of here, he kept at it until 5:45 in the afternoon, with one hour off at noon.

Rudy says he won't try to break his record unless someone else in the county does.

John Koehler averaged 100 bushels a day last week for A. W. Love.

R. A. Parsley was in Omaha Tuesday on business.

West Point Man Is Killed In Accident

Norfolk Daily News, Nov. 8. Rain on the windshield of his automobile caused the fatal injury of Mont Perkins of West Point Sunday afternoon, when his head struck a large truck belonging to the Norfolk Transfer and Storage company, as the two machines were passing each other on a highway south of West Point.

When his visitor became obscured by the water on the windshield, Mr. Perkins leaned out of the side of the car so that he might look around the end of the windshield, evidently either became confused or was unable to gauge the distance between his car and the truck. His head struck the truck with great force. The two cars, however, did not collide.

Lester Hoagland who was in charge of the truck, immediately employed an automobile and took the injured man to the West Point hospital where he died shortly afterward.

Mrs. Perkins, who was in the car with her husband, is said to have exonerated the driver of the truck. The car tracks are said to show that just as the two cars were about to pass and Union of which Mr. and Mrs. Perkins were members, and their friends assisted the serving of dinner. This estimable couple will be greatly missed in this community. Mrs. Perkins will remain with her parents for some time.

Perkins' car veered toward the truck. The truck was on its side of the road. All possible aid was rendered by Mr. Hoagland and the transfer company after the accident.

Besides his widow, Mr. Perkins leaves three children.

THERE is more to the coal business than merely to send a ton of coal and collect the money. The coal dealer who knows his business is posted on the relative heating values of the coals he handles. He knows what each particular kind of coal should do under various conditions of draft, furnace and management. Merely because one kind of coal will do for your neighbor who may have a particularly good draft, is no reason why it will do for you. If your draft is poor you would require entirely different coal. That is the reason we handle different kinds of coal—to fit the varying conditions of furnace, draft, etc. Tell us your coal troubles and we believe we can solve them for you.

Below we give a list of the coals we stock together with the price.

Business. Sioux City Journal: The elections are over and the results are known but no one considers that business is in the least affected. As a matter of fact the congressional elections did not create a ripple on the surface.

There were changes made, just as forecast, and new names and faces are now before the public eye, but the country is as usual. No doubt it will.

A prospect of a political maneuver that could effect business has been offered by Representative Madden, of Illinois, chairman of the house appropriations committee, who insists that congressional checks and income taxes.

He suggests this could be done in an amount running from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 and supports his statement by the claim that there will be a treasury surplus of $250,000,000.

Another reduction in the income tax would help business immeasurably, but it is not a certainty that congress will act on the Madden suggestion. The administration has insisted further efforts to reduce taxation, and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has advised against it.

House democrats are insisting that it be done. The close division in the senate might operate to threaten the administration policy on the question, but the republicans have a safe majority in the house and could check a move of this kind if they desired.

Income tax reductions have encouraged big business only. Wage earners are not affected now in large numbers, the revision last winter having increased the rate on the points that made millions immune.

With $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 more lopped off the income tax in the higher brackets, big business would have the opportunity for further enlargement, although it is now a question whether conditions would justify a vigorous movement in that direction when so much already has been accomplished in expansion.

October business was up to expectations in nearly all lines. The program was finished, as was promised early in the month, with few developments that brought disappointment.

This was due, naturally, in large part to the momentum gained during the summer and the previous month, so there was nothing surprising on this score. The chief interest now is in what November and December may do to complete the year, which on the whole has been remarkably successful from a business standpoint.

In view of expectations by the mercantile trade for a quiet holiday business, the year is likely to finish operations without any perceptible slowing down in general trade.

Big business is now looking ahead into 1927. It is satisfied the present momentum will carry through into the new year, but it is wondering just how far it will go. There has been a little nervousness in the east over the possibility that the near prosperity has been reached and passed and that a slackness may be experienced during the winter. That, of course, is perhaps a little more pessimistic than the conditions warrant, but in some business circles it may be characterized by another name, lengthenedness.

At the present time general conditions are good. Employment is satisfactory.
