Appreciation.
Editor of the Herald: The Christmas season is presumably the time for expressing our appreciation for benefits received.
I am thinking of a service which we all receive as a matter of course—a service which seems to me to reach a very high standard of efficiency in Wayne, namely the U. S. postal service.
If all the post office employees here, I doubt if any have more strenuous and exacting work than do the city carriers. Would it not be fine if the people would show on Christmas day their appreciation of the carrier service? I think I shall try to do so, in a small way at least.
The carriers will make one delivery on Christmas day, I believe.
J. G. W. Lewis.

MEMBER NEBRASKA PRESS ASSOCIATION 1926

This paper is represented for general circulation by the Nebraska Press Association.

Two big things before congress are the reduction and farm relief, and the returned time in trying to solve each problem.

We think Wayne was one of the first towns in Nebraska to have a series of pre-Christmas festivities, but the custom has spread until it is now followed by many towns in all parts of the state.

The cold grip fastened on this section of the world was released by the end of the week and so far the week the elements have been more friendly, for which everybody is profoundly thankful.

Men who have been patching along with old neckties and who have been running close to shore on handkerchiefs and socks, anticipating Christmas, are encouraged by the thought that the day of realization will soon be here.

Vice President Dawes has come out in opposition to the direct primary and his position has drawn fire from Senator Hiram Johnson who defends the system as an improvement over the old-time convention. Use of small fortunes to secure the nomination of candidates has given rise to renewed agitation against the primary.

Up to the time of going to press, the volume of out-going Christmas packages has fallen below normal, though an unusual rush is expected during the few days remaining before the holiday. People should speed up mailing packages and avoid the delay likely to follow as a consequence of inevitable congestion of the mails during the final rush.

Most people will welcome Thrift week especially those who foot the bills. Thrift has been January 18 and 23, and different organizations are taking it in hand to secure widespread observance. We think we will be ready for Thrift week long before it gets here, and we believe it could be extended beyond a week without causing people any hardship.

Reestablishment of the Herald in new quarters is under way and will be accomplished within a short time. In a few weeks we will have an opening and will invite everybody from everywhere to inspect the building and equipment and see what we are trying to do in the direction of larger and better service. In the meantime people will be welcome to

FOR STATE PARKS

Northwest Nebraska will have at least two candidates for state parks—Crystal lake, near South Sioux City, and Bigley's ravine, near Ponca, and the legislature will be asked to designate and define them according to the laws and customs of the commonwealth. Crystal lake, situated in Dakota county, is a cut-off from the Missouri river, and it is so closely related to its source that it looks very much like it. Gathering up handfuls of water, and letting it filter through one's fingers, only the imagination of a Dante could be persuaded to believe it had not been manipulated. Nature put some scattering countenances and a few other less conspicuous varieties along its banks, and they furnish considerable shade, plenty of it on cloudy days. Bigley's ravine is a deep gulch whose wide mouth is skirted by the same river that feeds Crystal lake. Bigley's ravine, amidst of rock rise high enough so that a tourist, scaling them on a clear day, may see three states with one sweep of the eye. Crystal lake lacks the animation possessed by its parent. The Missouri is plenty of action, and Bigley's would not take any part in a beauty show, it is not less beautiful for that languid and shallow effluence. Bigley's ravine is extensively wooded with varieties that missed Crystal lake. The skeleton of a plesiosaurus and the bones of a stegosaurus were once unearthed in the ravine, showing that prehistoric creatures thought so well of the place that they remained until the time came to give up their ghosts. We are inclined to favor two state parks, but if fate decrees that there shall be only one, would vote for the natural hodgepodge in Bigley's ravine.

the new headquarters, whether they come to see or to do business. The Herald puts its faith in the Wayne territory and dedicates itself to the development of the city and surrounding country.

CHRISTMAS.

Commemoration of the nativity and life of the Nazarene is too often expressed in mere perfunctory giving. It is the measure of love back of the gift that really counts. It is the spirit of the occasion rather than the material value of a gift that exalts the individual and makes him a better member of society. The Man of Galilee was kindly, gentle, generous and noble. If we imbibed but a fraction of the influence which he exercised in behalf of unselfish living, we would fortify ourselves against tendencies that make for misery. What we give let us give ungrudgingly. What we think, let us think in a spirit of charity. Let us be sure that our thoughts and deeds lighten the burdens of one another and reflect as far as humanly possible the high standard established by the founder of Christianity.

Troop Two Has Meeting.
Boy scouts of troop Two met in the Methodist parlors Wednesday of last week for a business session. Afterwards the boys played basketball at the high school.

Troop One Meets Today.
Boy scouts of troop One meet this evening at the State Normal. The meeting to have been held last week was cancelled because most of the boys played in the basketball game between the training school and mid-gets of the high school. The former won with a score of 10 to 0.

For Miss Louise Sprague.
Mrs. G. A. Wade and Mrs. Walter S. Bressler entertained a group of friends December 19 at the former's home complimentary to Miss Louise Sprague—whom marriage to George Spangler of Stanton, takes place this month. A social time was enjoyed and Miss Sprague received many gifts. The hostess served luncheon.

St. Paul Lutheran Aid.
Twenty members and seven guests of the St. Paul Lutheran aid society were entertained last Thursday by Mrs. William Thies and Mrs. Joe Baker at the former's home. The women voted to send a box of cookies to Tabitha home in Lincoln for Christmas and these were packed Tuesday at the parsonage. The rest of the time was spent socially. The next regular meeting has been deferred because of the coming of the holiday time. The time and place will be announced later.

Wayne Man Against Boosting Salaries

C. H. Hendrickson, county attorney-elect for Wayne county, responded to a suggestion for an effort to increase salaries with the following letter which appeared in the World-Herald of December 15:

Wayne, Neb., Dec. 15.—Mr. Henry J. Beal, County Attorney, Omaha, Neb., Dear Sir: I have your letter of December 8 relative to lobbying with the legislature for the purpose of securing an increase of salary for county attorneys. I am unalterably opposed to any increase in the salaries of county attorneys or any other public officer at this time. I would be more inclined to favor a bill that would reduce the salaries of all public officials. We have been going on for years with an orgy of spending public money to the extent that taxes have become almost unbearable, and there is no telling what the end is going to be.

I have observed conditions in Nebraska and elsewhere for a good many years and I have never known an office to go without an incumbent for want of salary and usually there is a great scramble for public office. I knew what the salary was when I filed for the office and had I been offered with it I should not have filed. And, if, during my tenure of office, I feel that the salary is inadequate I will have the great privilege of resigning, in the event I know of several other lawyers in the county that would be ready, able and willing to step into my shoes.

As a legislator for the purpose of a measure pending before congress to increase the salaries of federal judges—I am also unalterably opposed to that. Any time that the judges feel that they are underpaid they have the privilege of resigning from office, and I am sure that the government will experience no difficulty in filling the office with good men. However, there will be no resignations at that score.

In conclusion permit me to say that this is a time when we should say to our county board and to our office force that the strictest economy in the expenditure of public money should be practiced.

C. H. HENDRICKSON.

Randolph Carrier Has Unusual Record

Randolph, Neb., Dec. 15.—W. E. Casteel is the only man now carrying rural mail out of the Randolph post-office of the five men who began the work with him on July 16, 1903. For 23 years Mr. Casteel has continuously served his route, which is 39 miles long, and has 101 patrons. Counting out Sunday, holidays and vacations, Mr. Casteel has actually traveled 207,975 miles for the period of his service.

Had he traveled around the world instead of on his route, No. 2, Mr. Casteel would have circled the globe eight and one-third times. In his more than 23 years as rural carrier, Mr. Casteel has worn out six or seven horsedrawn vehicles and 10 horses. On good roads an automobile is now used, but horses are kept for the bad roads.

Mr. Casteel was born in Henry county, Iowa, 53 years ago, and came to Nebraska when 9 years old, and his parents settling on a farm in Pierce county in March, 1852. For 44 years Mr. Casteel has lived continuously within about 20 miles of Randolph. As a boy he lived on a claim east of Creighton, to which his parents moved on Christmas day, 1882.

Coming to Randolph in 1892 as a school teacher in the West Randolph district, when the rural routes were established here, in 1903, Mr. Casteel took the examination and was appointed.

Mr. and Mrs. Casteel have two sons and three daughters. The four children are graduates of the Randolph high school and each one has had college or university training. The youngest daughter is in the eighth grade. John Casteel, candidate for a Rhodes scholarship and student of Wesleyan university at Lincoln, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Casteel.

Some Notes of Interest in the Week's Progress of the Wayne Public Schools Different Grades Engaged in Work Appropriate to the Christmas Holidays.

Kindergarten Notes. Children are making jointed toys out of paste board.

First Grade. The first graders are making wares for Christmas gifts. They are painting and coloring and are designing them with gold dust.

Second Grade. The pupils of the second grade are making presents for the family; toys for the children, buttons for daddy, and scarves for mother.

Third Grade. The vegetable race that was conducted in the third grade room has ended. The Ford won the 400 mile track first by the Buick only three miles behind. The Buicks will entertain the Fords at a party some time in the near future.

Fourth Grade. The pupils are making match scrapers, hot dish holders, and portfolios for Christmas presents.

Fifth Grade. The pupils are making match scrapers, hot dish holders, and portfolios for Christmas presents.

Sixth Grade. The A and B classes in language are writing original Christmas stories. The classes voted on the stories and the four best ones are to be read to the third, fourth, fifth and seventh grades.

Seventh Grade. Pupils of the seventh grade will entertain their parents at a Christmas program and Christmas tree next Wednesday afternoon.

Eighth Grade. The classes in language are making Christmas booklets which contain original stories and poetry.

Ninth Grade. The European history class is studying the Crusades and the Medieval church at its height.

Junior Class. The economics class has completed the unit on "Taxation" and is starting the unit on "Distribution of Private Property" and "Socialism".

You'd think the ladies down there would soon break up the revolution if they're all that size.

College Wins in Basketball Game

Contest With Western Union Requires Extra Period of Play for Decision.

Wayne State Teachers College defeated Western Union college basketball team from LeMars, Iowa, last Thursday evening. The score stood 38 to 36 after five minutes of extra play. This game was not one of the regular schedule but was an extra one played before the season opens. When time was called at the end of the fourth quarter, the score stood 34 to 34. In the extra period Eric Wendt, captain of the Wayne team, made two field goals and Rockwood of Western Union made one. This brought the score 38 to 36.

Wendt and Rockwood were the outstanding scorers in the game. They were well matched.

Wayne's next game will be January 5 with Yankton college at Yankton.

River Navigation. Lincoln Journal. Major General Jadin, chief of the army engineers, does not feel that the government will be justified in spending $40,000,000 in attempting to open the Missouri river from Kansas City to Sioux City. He would spend $20,000,000 in "stabilizing the banks" of the river between Kansas City and Omaha if the land owners along the way would add $4,000,000.

As for making a channel for navigation, the experiments now in progress below Kansas City will determine whether the scheme is feasible. A wait is therefore recommended. It will not require a long trial to show what can be done with the control of the stream.

Some uncertain factors as to the commercial features of river navigation can also be given a test on the lower river before millions are invested in a pure experiment. This report has already been hotly attacked as unfair and prejudiced.

putting a great public enterprise into politics, just where it cannot afford to be. The government will not be justified in spending money any project not endorsed by competent engineers. The proper way for the proponents of river navigation to proceed now is to show that the chief engineer is wrong. Nothing can be gained by demanding that congress should act in defiance of the advice of the experts.

A peculiarity of twelve monthly installment payments is that they seem to come about three days apart and continue for about seven years.—Ohio State Journal.

While pushing a corn trough the lever trough Mr. Melcher's hand on which he was wearing a glove, came in contact with the grinding apparatus, his arm being pulled into the churning mechanism where it was mangled. Men nearby stopped the machine and Mr. Melcher was taken to a hospital where the member was amputated.

"You Can't Win"
 Omaha Bee: If the two Harding brothers back the cards of the Inspector Daugherty's famous sign, they might be pursuing their trade today. Fishing boys poor returns at this season of the year, and Dave Harding and his brother felt the need of money. So sorely did they yearn for cash, they turned to bank robbery. A carefully laid plot was duly carried out, and today they are in custody. A raid on the bank, a flight across the country, escape on the ice over the river, and a twenty-five mile auto ride to Omaha, to land in the hands of a reputation committee composed of well armed officers of the law. Never did a romantic enterprise terminate more suddenly.

 Wakefield Republican: One of the most optimistic and successful farmers during 1886 was the occasion of the festivities on Christmas eve at the Christian church instead of decorating a tree, the presents were fastened to a ship, and the whole vessel was completely covered from the poop and forecords to the top of the main royal mast, the apex of which was decorated with the stars and stripes. Neatly every one got a present, and care was taken by the management that not one of the children were missed. The house was filled to an extent that there was scarcely standing room left, and all were highly satisfied with the manner the affair was conducted.

Is One of Earliest Pioneers in Section

Ponca, Neb., Dec. 18.—Perhaps Mrs. Helena E. Stough, 83-year-old pioneer of Ponca, has witnessed more of the history of Dixon county in the making than any other woman in the county, for she has lived in Ponca for the greater part of 68 years.
As a girl of 10, Mrs. Stough came to America from Germany with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ernest, on a sailing vessel in 1858. She and her parents landed at New Orleans and took a steamboat up the Mississippi and Missouri rivers to Sioux City, which then was but a frontier village. The party was met there by Mrs. Adam Smith and her husband, who had settled here in 1856, being the first white settlers in Dixon county. Mrs. Smith was an older sister of Mrs. Stough's and the party traveled to Ponca in a covered wagon drawn by oxen.
The year 1858 was a memorable one for Dixon county. In August of that year, shortly after her arrival here, Mrs. Stough witnessed the first visitation of grasshoppers. They came by the millions and ate the growing crops in garden and field. At that time such a misfortune was little short of disaster for the struggling pioneers and foreshadowed hungry days and hard times. That winter many a good man could have been purchased for a dollar. The main difficulty was in obtaining the dollar.
In November of that year the county was organized and could boast less than 300 persons. On the second Monday of the next month an election in the county was held. There were only four polling places in the county and each place intended it should be the county seat. On election day the polls were opened at Ponca, Galena, Ionia and North Bend. The latter villages were located on the Missouri river bottom in the northwestern part of the county, and are only memories now, having been swallowed by the greedy river years ago.
The election was a lively affair and Ponca won by a small majority. In size it was the largest town, having eight buildings and five families.
Mrs. Stough was married in 1860 to Dr. Solomon B. Stough, the man who surveyed and laid out the northwest site of Ponca and was one of the county's first dozen settlers. For years Dr. Stough had a leading part in county affairs. He was its first surveyor and also its first doctor. He built and operated the first sawmill in Ponca and donated the lumber for the first Lutheran church building here.
Mrs. Stough shared the settler's anxiety over the Indian scare in 1862, when the fierce Sioux went on warpath. She felt the pinch of the drought of 1864, saw the relentless grasshoppers come again and for the last time in 1874, '75 and '76. She knows the honors of early day Blen-
