Famous Melodrama Comes To Crystal

One of the most dramatic incidents in "Michael Strogoff," the Universal-Film de France picture of Jules Verne's famous melodrama, which comes to the Crystal theatre August 5 and 6 is that in which the hero and the heavy are engaged in a violent struggle, in the course of which they hurl themselves from the gallery of a library down to the floor, a distance reached by stairs of thirty steps. They continue the struggle on the ground until the hero succeeds in freeing himself, when he dashes once more to the top of the stairs, closely pursued by the villain, and the two are locked again in mortal combat. When the actors emerged from the fight their clothing was in rags, and they had the appearance of being badly hurt, but fortunately the gods are on the side of cinema actors and the two emerged with no very serious injury. While filming was in progress, Director Tourjansky used all sorts of music—harp, violin, even the drum—according to the mood he wished the actors to express.

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 10 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, Aug. 4, 1927. Vol. 1

Good machinery costs money for building, days. It's too valuable to be left out in the weather all winter. You can build a good machine shed, ample for your needs, for a very reasonable sum. Can you afford NOT to build one?

When Postmaster Berry takes his vacation and comes back, we suppose you could say that he is back at the old stamping grounds.

Here in our office we have some beautiful illustrated plans for homes—any type, any size desired. You can spend many enjoyable hours studying these books and getting ideas for YOUR home. Come in and see us.

Here in Wayne we have our Kiwanis Club, our Country Club, and other civic clubs; and now it is suggested that we form a new club, merging them all into one big unit. Same to be known as the Cuss and Spit Club. Applications may be filed with the editor of The Knot-Hole. Who'll be the first?

Coleman Cookers

They Make Their Own Gas

That the Coleman Lamp Co. has always lead in the manufacture of High-Class Gasoline Lamps, Lanterns, Camp Stoves, etc., is recognized and every good merchant carries and recommends them. For a number of years they have recognized the need of and have been perfecting a Gasoline Cook Stove worthy to be sold under their name and we now invite you to a demonstration of the new Coleman Cook Stove. In the making of this stove, price was not considered as they recognized that a Kitchen stove must stand hard and continuous service and they refused to sacrifice quality for price.

Look for these Points of Superiority in a Coleman:

- (1) A Better Frame and better appearance.
- (2) A Better and Stronger Tank (100 per cent stronger).
- (3) A Better and more easily operated Filler Plug.
- (4) A Better and Larger Pump.
- (5) One-third More Heat.
- (6) Better Quality of Material and Heavier Burners. (A Mechanic will appreciate this.)
- (7) A Better Generator.
- (8) A simpler and more convenient method of starting the stove. No hunting around for an alcohol bottle only to find it empty and broken.
- (9) A stove that will not smoke, no matter how high it is turned or how much water you boil over it.
- (10) Coleman Service, unexcelled by that of any other concern. A Distributor in every large city.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: The seasonal lull in some lines has about run its course, the upward trend coming a little earlier than it did in former years when midsummer usually meant a temporary decline in activity. Henceforth, practically all lines are expected to show increasing strength. By early autumn the business pendulum is confidently expected to swing vigorously, various improved conditions exerting their influence upon it.

Freight car loadings are picking up again. For the week ending July 16 the total was 1,016,782, which was a decrease from the same period of last year of 59,590 cars. However, it must be remembered that last year there was no coal strike in progress, a fact that will explain the discrepancy. Coal loading for the week ending July 16 showed a decrease from the same period of last year of 313,041 cars, so it may be seen that a gain actually has been made with reference to general shipments.

There may be a surprise for most persons in the statement given out from New York that for the first six months of this year building construction was 2 per cent above that for the same period in 1926. The total is impressive, running to $3,500,000,000. It had been believed that building activity was below that of the last few years. The impression was natural, since it was known that industrial building, so active throughout the country since the war, had about completed its program. But building construction this year has been in a different direction, running strongly to new public structures, including educational, religious, governmental and civic enterprises. Commercial building also has been unexpectedly active.

Great interest is manifested in reports of activity in the automotive world. The country expects a gigantic battle for supremacy between the Fords and General Motors, and such a struggle now seems to be inevitable. A rumored combine of the United States Steel corporation, General Motors, and the Duponts controlling capital aggregating some $4,000,000,000 is seen as threatening the Fords with a competition such as they have never experienced. But the Fords, possessing enormous capital and the added advantage of a close corporation, are given a chance to stay in the fight to the finish, demanding their share of sales and profits.

Crops are doing well in the corn and wheat belts. Iowa corn is in excellent condition, and the small grain harvest over a wide area is creating some agreeable surprises.

A man is advertising that he can teach anybody to play the harmonica in a few minutes. It amounts to a national disaster if it's true.—Nashville Banner.

Another commentary on the trend of the times is that if you want a reading lamp you have to ask for a bridge lamp.—Ohio State Journal.

Norfolk Pioneer Died On Saturday

Mrs. G. B. Salter, resident of Norfolk for thirty-three years, died last Saturday at the age of 88 years. Funeral service was held Monday. Deceased was born in Ottawa, Canada. Had she lived until August 26 she and Mr. Salter could have celebrated their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary. Besides her husband, Mrs. Salter is survived by three sons, Dr. P. H. Salter, prominent Norfolk physician; El H. Salter, Chicago, who was in Norfolk at the time of his mother's death, and Dr. Frank G. Salter, well-known Pierce physician. Clarence Salter, another son, who lived in Norfolk, passed away in 1922. Congressman in Paris. Dr. A. L. Birby in Lincoln Journal; Congressman Howard is going to Paris next month as a delegate to the interparliamentary union, whatever that is, and we hope it will give him a broader vision concerning things international, and lessen the inclination he has sometimes shown to be a jingo with other jingoes, and stand for that "100 percent Americanism" that makes a real American laugh. Incidentally he might do that bit of collecting from the French which he faithfully promised to do when first elected to congress. If the man who seeks political preferment knows what ought to be done and then fails to do ahead and do it, his constituents have license to throw him overboard. In the case of Congressman Howard the voters of the Third district have been tolerant almost to the point of martyrdom, yet have been moved by his general manners, and friendly attitude toward everything and everybody to return him to the place that no one man has filled much more acceptably than any other. If once in France, and among the French, Howard fails to impress our sister republic that her financial obligation to America is a valid one, and should be paid in full, we shall despair of ever seeing a dollar of it, and shall move happily toward almost the same as though France didn't owe us anything at all. Osmond Shop Sold. Osmond, Neb., July 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiemers have sold a half interest in their barber shop and beauty parlor to Mr. McCulley. The other half was sold to Mr. Hille in the spring. Mrs. Wiemers was Osmond's first woman barber, and she and her husband had built up a good business while there. They will reside in Lincoln where Mr. Wiemers is employed by a tire company. The West Virginia Legislature has authorized the appointment of a poet laureate at a salary of $900 a year, and we have a suspicion it made the remuneration low so that he wouldn't feel in conscience bound to write very much. —Philadelphia Inquirer. IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Stagnant secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Safeguarding Chickens

Hartington Herald: We know of at least one man in Hartington whose chicken house will never be robbed at night. The name is not divulged, but suffice it to say that this ingenious man, who is a carpenter, has invented a thief-proof door to his poultry house which we would defy anybody to enter. It is a very simple contrivance when you understand it, but a nocturnal prowler would hammer his fists in vain to open it. This chicken owner has used his brains to good advantage and the fine flock of birds which he has raised this summer are perfectly safe. One doesn't hear so much about chicken stealing nowadays as one did a few months ago. The petty crime wave is dying out in consequence of the drastic measures adopted to suppress it and poultry raisers haven't as much cause for worry as they did. The stiff sentences handed out to the contemptible chicken thief, when caught, coupled with extra vigilance on the part of owners, have had their effect, and flocks are more secure now than they have been for some time. However, due precautions should still be taken to safeguard the poultry house against invaders. Waiting for Each Other. Hartington Herald: Editor Huse of the Wayne Herald infers from recent utterances in this column that the editor is about to take a vacation. Yes, we expect to take one about the same time that Mr. Huse takes his. Notice To Creditors. The State of Nebraska ss. Wayne County. In the County Court, in the matter of the estate of Henry W. Hollman, deceased. To the creditors of said estate: You are hereby notified, that I will sit at the County Court Room in Wayne, in said County, on the 19th day of August, and on the 19th day of November, 1927 at 10 o'clock a. m., each day to receive and examine all claims against said Estate, with a view to their adjustment, and allowance. The time limited for the presentation of claims against said Estate is three months from the 19th day of August, 1927, and the time limited for payment of debts is one year from said 19th day of August, 1927. McCORMICK-DEERING WEBER WAGONS. McCormick-Deering Weber farm wagons which we sell, have been used on American farms for over eighty years. They are built in various sizes, and with equipment to meet the local requirements in all sections of the country. However, there is but one grade of Weber wagons—the best—the first and highest grade. If the farmer is shown that the Weber wagon, by reason of the use of the highest grade materials, backed by an organization of wagon makers whose only object is to make the best wagons, and still further reinforced by the patented swivel reach coupling and the patented malleable iron fifth wheel, is really the good wagon we claim for it, he will have no other. The Weber is also a light draft wagon, which means that it is an easily-drawn wagon, free from undue friction. Every axle on a Weber wagon is accurately gauged for pitch and gather. This is the scientific part of the construction of a wagon and its life depends more upon this one feature than upon anything else, outside of the grade and quality of the materials used. McCormick-Deering Spreaders. A light draft and easy pulling machine, with six speeds to the conveyor. It will be noted that the box is braced to prevent the side from spreading. Two Sizes and Two Types. The McCormick-Deering is primarily a tight bottom or drag conveyor or manure spreader and this type is the one almost universally used. However, it also can be supplied with an open bottom and with a full slatted apron conveyor. Both types are made in two sizes. Under ordinary conditions the No. 1, made for two horses, will carry from fifty to sixty bushels, and the No. 2, made for three horses, will carry from sixty-five to seventy-five bushels, when loaded to a height of twenty-six inches. The box can be loaded to the top of the arch, thirty-four inches high. The seat is hinged and can be folded over in front of the box when loading. Locating the Breaks Part Of the Test Board Man's Job. Constant Vigilance Is Required to Keep the Telephone Lines in Condition to Give Continuous Service to the Public. Life would be a bed of roses for the telephone plant men, if telephone lines never got out of order. But many things may happen to a telephone circuit along which the electric current travels in the transmission of speech. Continuous uninterrupted service is maintained only by constant vigilance. It's the wire chief and his assistants at the testboard, whose special job it is to test the lines constantly and when breaks occur, to locate them as quickly as possible with the least possible interruption to the service. It may be that, many miles from the central office, far out in the country, a tree has been blown against an open wire line and short-circuited or broken some of the wires. With the apparatus at his command, the testboard man locates the break so near to the actual spot that no time is lost by the repair crew in getting to the scene and restoring the circuit. Or something may happen to an aerial cable; a minute hole in the cable sheath not visible from the ground, may cause the delicate telephone circuits to go dead. The testboard man, with the improved testing apparatus now at his command, is able to locate the trouble within a single cable length. The constant testing of transmission apparatus, both inside and outside the terminal room of the central office, and the prompt restoration of service whenever breaks occur, make it possible to give continuous, dependable service as free from interruptions as skill and science and human endeavor can make it.

He still likes the shoe business and sends us many ideas of the new styles for Fall and where to buy them. So you can expect to find real New York styles in our shoe department this season.

THIS AD IS ABOUT OUR STORE—NOT ABOUT US

Some of this sounds like a recital of the personal affairs of our family but it is not intended as such. We have mentioned their activities solely because we thought it was a good way to tell you how much we are doing to bring the new goods and new styles to you. Our store has some unusual advantages as a trading place. We take this means of bringing them to your attention.
