Anent Football That Drew Fire

Men Officiating at Game Between Omaha and Wayne Exasperate Local Players.

In regard to the football game between the Wayne State Teachers College and the Omaha University at this place recently resulting in published criticism from President Wettstone of the latter institution, the following explanations have been made public.

From President U. S. Conn.

If one were to judge by newspaper accounts which have come to us relative to the Wayne-Omaha football game, he might be led to conclude that it was a contest conducted in a very unsportsmanlike manner. To us, however, there was nothing unusual about the game. The teams were about of equal weight and with very few exceptions the players conducted themselves in a very gentlemanly manner. Some very vigorous razzing and "bawling out" of the Wayne players was indulged in by one or two sympathizers with the Omaha team. This caused some of the Wayne contingent to retort in just as ungentlemanly language as was used toward the Wayne players by the Omaha representatives. Such tactics never win a game and are usually to the discredit of everyone who indulges in sarcastic and ungentlemanly remarks.

I personally pose as no expert judge of football, but I hope to obtain the opinion of the man who officiated at the game. All of these men are ex-university players and have had a great deal of experience in coaching and refereeing. They are the ones who are expected to see that the players observe the rules and I am disposed to be guided by their opinion of the manner in which this contest was put on rather than by the remarks of those who are manifestly prejudiced in the matter.

U. S. Conn. Norfolk, Nebraska.

Mr. U. S. Conn. Wayne, Nebraska.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of the 31st will state that Mr. Wettstone's action and attitude as regards the Wayne-Omaha football game was a surprise to me.

The Omaha captain made complaint in the first quarter that Wayne was roughing and slugging. I told him such was not the case of anyone making a tackle and running interference for I would have seen it but that I would watch carefully which I did. I also told Mr. Green, the umpire, and Mr. Mau, the headlinesman, whom I know to be very honest and capable officials, of the complaint. I talked with Mr. Green several times during the last of the game and he said things were going O. K.

I have worked several games with Mr. Green and I know that he will not permit anything but clean football. I will put anyone out of a game in a second if I see him kicking or slugging and I am not blind. I am sure that the same goes for Mr. Green and Mr. Mau.

I did penalize Wayne a lot. Wayne lost two or three touchdowns on penalties but only two were for unnecessary roughness; if I remember correctly one was for pushing after the whistle had blown and one for tackling after the whistle had not blown. I penalized Wayne for ungentlemanly conduct and I also penalized Omaha for exactly the same thing word for word. One of the Omaha boys would sing the blues every time he was tackled.

I know there was no reason for complaint as I was never over two yards from the ball on any scrimmage and could clearly see everything that happened. I believe, Mr. Conn, there must be some bad feeling between Omaha and Wayne left over from last year's football game at Omaha.

As regards my football experience, I am forty years old, have played high school and college games, have coached four different high school teams, have acted as referee in about twenty games a year for the past fifteen years, 300 games mostly for colleges.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) E. H. King.
From the Umpire.

The following letter has been received from Mr. Reece H. Greene, coach at Central High School, Sioux City, relative to the Wayne-Omaha football game:

"As I officiated as umpire in the Wayne-Omaha game I should have my opinion. It was just an ordinary football game, with the usual number of penalties. Once again a Wayne man was penalized fifteen yards for piling up. But this happens at least once in almost every football game played and is usually due to the excitement of the contest.

"Football is a rough game as everyone knows, and to the untrained football eye 'well-coached legal use of the hands' by defensive players would seem to be unnecessary roughness, but most persons, especially coaches of football, know that it is necessary football technique.

"I have coached and officiated football for the last five years and before this played in high school and college. It is my opinion that Dr. Wettstone should have no complaint regarding the game as it was just a hard fought football encounter."

Finds No Fault.

Wayne, Neb., Nov. 7, 1927.

Mr. U. S. Conn, President. Wayne State Teachers College, Wayne, Nebraska.

Dear Mr. Conn:

In reply to your letter concerning the Omaha University football game with Wayne on Friday, Oct. 28 I wish to state that in my opinion it was no different from the usual football game.

I failed to see any kicking as charged by Dr. Wettstone. The one time when Wayne piled up, after a man was down, they were given fifteen yards penalty. Another time when they were made a forty-yard run for a touchdown they were penalized fifteen yards for swearing, thus taking away the six points.

For the past three years I have been a member of the University of Iowa football squad and saw games from the field and from the sidelines and can say without reservation that the Wayne-Omaha

Keeping Ourselves Clean.
Omaha Bee-News: Winter is knocking at the door. It is bringing with it the threat of colds, a nuisance which is too common and which is all the worse because it can largely be avoided.

The Cleanliness Institute of New York, founded recently by the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers, is spending a half million dollars during the coming year to educate the public to the advantages of keeping clean.

Soap does work wonders, and if soap can reduce the number of American colds this year, more power to its use. It is a fine thing to go, not only into court, but everywhere, with clean hands.

True health is cleanliness inside and out. Let fresh air cleanse your lungs, exercise purify your blood, clean thinking prolong your life and plenty of warm, soapy water shine up the exterior. These are good rules.

Marriage and Divorce.
Norfolk Daily News: A menace to family life in this country will be seen by many in the trend away from marriage and toward divorce shown in compilations made by the department of commerce for the years 1925 and 1926. In the former year the number of marriages per thousand of population was 10.30; in the following two years the number was 10.24. In 1925 the number of divorces was 1.52 per thousand and in 1926 1.54.

The disturbing thing about these figures is not the amount of increase in the number of divorces, nor decrease in the number of marriages. It is the tendency away from contented domestic life indicated by the comparisons, that will give food for thought to students of present conditions. If these trends continue, eventually they will present a serious problem.

As a matter of fact the figures themselves offer nothing new. They are merely the concrete evidence of tendencies that have been recognized as existing for several years. Students of American life have noted and discussed them.

Out of this discussion have come two extreme views. The conservative reaction is toward a more stringent divorce code. Make it more difficult to get a legal separation and the evil will be lessened, say the conservatives. Liberalize your marriage and divorce laws, demand that you do, and you will remedy the real disease, which is a marital unhappiness.

Between these two extremes will be found the large majority of the American people, who recognize that the cure is not to be found in law. Legislation can never make happy domestic life. It is all but powerless to change the conditions that bring wrangling couples into divorce court.

The divorce evil is rooted in defects of character and temperament. The only thing that can reach it is a changed attitude toward the responsibilities that come with marriage. This factor is so personal that all talk of legislating it out of or into the souls of men and women is futile. The remedy is not one for the state.
