LOCAL CITIZEN SEES GRUESOME SLUM DISTRICT

ORDINARILY when one visits a metropolitan city he does not go to police stations, the jails or slum districts. He parks himself in fashionable centers and comes in contact with only the best people. Fred L. Blair who accompanied the sheriff to Omaha last week to identify goods that had been stolen from his store, had an unusual experience. He saw criminals, delinquents and down-and-outers. He saw slaves to drugs and alcoholic poisons, and those who, hopelessly diseased, were waiting the end of the tragedy of their lives. He saw young men, often well groomed, who had chosen lives of crime to escape work and responsibility. An officer told him that an error in criminal procedure, tending to multiply crimes, is the parole system. The criminally inclined individual who is not averse to having the stigma of a felon fastened to him, to the penalty in the belief that he can in a short time secure a parole.

Mason Honored By Lodge Here

John T. Bressler Receives Pin
Friday for Membership of Fifty Years in Order.

Grand Lodge Gift

A. R. Davis, Grand Master of
State, Presents Gift and Speaks of Early Days.

One of the highest honors in the Masonic lodge was bestowed upon John T. Bressler Friday when Masons and Eastern Star members met at the lodge hall in observance of his fifty years of service in the order. A pin, significant of this record, was given to Mr. Bressler. About 100 were present for the occasion.

Dr. C. T. Ingham presided Friday evening, stating that the lodges had gathered to honor Mr. Bressler and to present to him the pin, an award from the grand lodge. Dr. Ingham then turned the meeting over to John T. Bressler, jr., present master of the lodge, who introduced Grand Master A. R. Davis. It was significant that Mr. Bressler should have the honor of presenting, through the grand master, the fifty-year badge, the first to be granted in Wayne county, to his father.

Mr. Davis spoke of "Reminiscences in Masonry," recalling the many changes which have taken place in the past fifty years. Met on the prairies, went long distances to attend lodge meetings after long days of work. Modes of life, social standards, ideas of education have changed. More particularly, he stated, have moral standards been altered. In response to a request from the chapter master, Mr. Bressler told of his early experiences in the Masonic lodge. When he was living on a homestead in Leslie precinct he had the desire to join the lodge. He went to West Point, the nearest chapter, and took his degrees. The trip of twenty-five miles required one day each way. Later, after LaPorte was established, a number of the men organized a Masonic chapter there. Often members walked six to nine miles after a hard day's work to attend lodge session. After the railroad was built to Wakefield and Wayne, the LaPorte lodge was moved to Wakefield. Mr. Bressler located in Wayne and he and a few other men organized chapter No. 120 of Wayne.

Mr. Bressler is a thirty-third degree Mason and has held most of the offices in the order. The fifty-year pin is an honor which Mr. Bressler deserves for his long period of service.

A mixed quartet, including Mr. T. T. Jones, Mrs. A. R. Davis, H. A. Welch and F. E. Gamble, sang selections. A social time closed the evening and Masons served luncheon.

PIONEERS SUFFER SEVERE GRIND TO RESPOND TO DUTY

A pioneer's recital of how he drove many miles to join a lodge and how he repeated the trip at regular intervals to attend meetings of the organization, reminds us of hardships and inconveniences to which the first settlers became accustomed. When duty called a pioneer to a certain place, he was there. He traveled long distances over deep paths and often through deep snow to fill an engagement. He spared neither time nor effort to go to the bedside of a sick neighbor, or to aid some one in want and distress, or to attend the last rites for a departed friend. Habitations were widely separated and travel was slow and tedious, but the pioneer was interested in his few neighbors and did not count the cost required to do a generous deed. First settlers developed endurance, and they are remembered and esteemed for their courage and fine qualities of soul.

Addresses Club On Trip Abroad

Carl H. Peterson of Norfolk, Tells of Welcome Accorded Legion in France.

Pay High Tribute

Greatest Possible Honors Are Bestowed by Country on Visitors from America.

Carl H. Peterson, secretary of the Norfolk Kiwanis club, addressed Wayne members Monday following the noonday luncheon, his subject being "The Second A. E. F." Mr. Peterson, Legion member, attended the national convention in Paris in September, and explained to the local men the hospitality and respect of the French people and other Europeans.

Legion men were discouraged and criticized before going to Paris for the convention because it was asserted that France disliked this country. It was also considered unwise diplomacy. On the contrary, Mr. Peterson stated, Americans were welcomed with sincere hospitality. Rest accommodations were furnished and the neat leather booklet passport admitted the men to the best at every point on the trip. Of a possible three million who are eligible to the Legion, 22,000 made the journey to Paris. The supposed hatred, worked up by moneyed interests, does not exist.

The expedition visited five countries in Europe, and received an elaborate welcome everywhere. The men found Paris different from provincial France. Paris is metropolitan, representing all nationalities and varied interests. The rest of France is of rural population. Hospitality is pronounced in the city as well as in the villages. Mr. Peterson pictured an elderly man who brought two grandchildren to see the American soldiers, telling the children that he wanted them to see the greatest soldiers and the finest men in the world. This attitude is typical.

The president and others who are well along in years did not leave the men after one or two meetings but in France stayed with the group throughout the convention. They made an effort to see that each had a good time.

The highest tribute to be paid visitors by the French people is to allow them to go through the east and west entrance of the Arch of Triumph. This arch, built by Napoleon, is about 500 feet tall and stands in the center of Paris. It has two driveways, one going north and south and the other east and west. In 1871, when France was defeated in war by Germany, chains were hung at the entrance. None passed through until after the Armistice was signed in 1918. The arch has since been used on special occasions, and the highest tribute is paid a group when routed through the east and west entrance. The Legion parade which continued five hours was so honored.

Writer Speaks To Wayne Club

Will M. Maupin of Omaha, Bee-

bers and Guests Tuesday.

Booster For State Urges Restoration of Former Home Life—Importance of Cheerfulness.

Will M. Maupin, prominent Nebraska writer, delighted an audience of 135 Wayne people in an address Tuesday evening at the Baptist church, the Professional and Business Women's club sponsoring the program and dinner for members and invited guests. Mr. Maupin's "Sunny Side Up" in the Omaha Bee-News is read with much interest by many each day.

Mr. Maupin is a whole-hearted Nebraska booster. He has lived here forty-three years and has watched the vast prairie develop into the most fertile farms and has seen huge industrial plants spring up and grow until now the state's production is among the leading ones in the country. Placing Nebraska products of one year in freight cars Mr. Maupin stated, a train containing them would reach from St. Petersburg, in Russia, across Europe, the Atlantic ocean, across the country and about 5,000 miles to the Pacific ocean. The eggs laid by hens of Nebraska in one year would reach around the world three times and have 8,000 miles of eggs toward the fourth time. This state is producing far in excess of consumption. Mr. Maupin stated, and the possibilities are not yet realized.

In speaking of the dividing line between youth and old age, Mr. Maupin stated that people are young as long as they can see visions. One is old when he dreams dreams of the past. One person may be old at 30 and another young at 80. Mr. Maupin urged all to see visions, strive for a goal and remain young.

Scattering sunshine, always remaining cheerful, is Mr. Maupin's advice for all who wish to remain young and healthy. Happiness is one of the best cures, he asserted.

The American home of yesterday, stated Mr. Maupin, is vanishing. He urged restoration of home life of former years as a means of building a stronger nation. He pictured his early home in a Missouri log house, the family gathered each evening about the hearth and the reading of the bible each night before all retired. Parents must teach reverence and love in the family circle, he stated, and not leave all to the schools and churches. Young folks are better than ever today, Mr. Maupin believes, and he urged parents to make the home the center of their interests.

Mr. Maupin read some of his poems at the conclusion of his address, which was interspersed with much wit.

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 32 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, Jan. 12, 1928. Vol. 1

Well, how many of your New Year's resolutions remain intact? "Through idleness of hands the house droppeth thru." There is many a business that is being swamped by little leaks. There is too little regard amongst employees for the passing minutes. People who would shudder at the thought of stealing money seem to have little compunction about pilfering time. The part of an auto that causes most accidents than any other is the nut that holds the steering wheel. Cold weather improves the draft, as the difference between chimney temperature and outdoor temperature is greater. We found this one this morning: A section foreman sent in the following report to his superintendent. "Dear Sir: The horse that No. 6 killed yesterday was a mule and ain't dead yet. Yours truly." A young lady of our acquaintance was carrying a pie home from the Johnson bakery yesterday. As she started across the street at Fred Blair's, an auto honked. The pie was a total loss. When two furnaces or stoves are connected to the same chimney opening either draft affects both stoves or furnaces. Did you read that profanation agents in Norfolk had confiscated a lot of mince meat? It had too much brandy in it. Come to think about it, we've needed whenever we eat six or seven pieces of mince pie we always feel sort o' groggy. We are very proud of the roof we sold Barrett Wright on his new garage building. Are there any crossword puzzle fans present? If so, can you give us an English word of four letters ending with "eny"? This is purely a mental test and it's no fair writing. When the coal "won't burn" find out what is the matter with the draft. Ed. Roggenbach is just moving into the new bungalow we sold him last fall. That's going to be mighty comfortable, Ed.

One Of Greatest Romances Filmed

One of the greatest desert romances ever filmed, "The Garden of Allah," a Rex Ingram production from Metro-Goldwyn of Robert Hichens' famous novel comes to the Crystal theatre Friday and Saturday. Filmed in the sand and wastes of the Sahara, the locality in which the story takes place, it has authentic reality. It tells the tale of a Trappist monk's love for an English girl, of his marriage to her, and of his subsequent return to the monastery after three months spent with her on the desert. Alice Terry in the role of Donini, the girl who sends her lover back to the rigid seclusion of his cell even though she is passionately in love with him at the time; has the greatest opportunity of her career. She is supported by Ivan Petrovich, a Serbian leading man new to American audiences, and a cast of continental players. Petrovich will doubtless become the new screen favorite on the strength of his portrayal of the monk who is torn between love for a woman and faith to his trust. "The Garden of Allah" is a haunting romance filled with passion, heart-break and thrilling adventure.

Highway Program For Year Planned

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 5.—The highway program for this year contemplates the expenditure of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 for new road construction and completion of contracts awarded last year. Roy Cochran, state engineer, declared. This will be about the same amount as last year. The state department of public works also expects to try several treatments on gravel surfacing, he said. The oil method and Calcium chloride, a salt which draws moisture from the air and is said to keep the highway moist, will be tried. After seven years, a new chess champion has been crowned, but no movie contract has been offered him.—Detroit News.

The total weight of milk from this cow in 30 days was 1,624 pounds. For the first 19 days she gave her weight, 1,050 pounds, in milk.

Chiropractic Is Advancing. Chiropractic has grown because it is founded upon correct principles. Thirty-two years have proved its worth in relieving sickness and suffering. It has many true boosters due to the results it has gained. Chiropractic will continue to grow because it is gaining a position in which it can fill even a greater field of usefulness. This is due to the fact that chiropractors are learning better methods of applying its principles. The two fundamental principles on which the greatest gain has been made are (1) in locating the vertebrae needing adjustments and (2) in developing more effective ways in giving the adjustments. In locating the right place to adjust, the Neurocalometer has been a big step forward. It is the greatest-aid possible to the chiropractor. It is a means of increasing his efficiency; which means that more people are being restored to health. Improvements in giving spinal adjustments are being made which increase their effectiveness. Such improvements were not considered necessary before the coming of the Neurocalometer. The chiropractor had not means of checking his results which he can now do with this instrument. Better adjustment is another step forward of no little importance. It is over the nerves that the power within the body travels. It is this power that operates every organ, gland, muscle or cell of the body; and it is through the same power that nature cures disease and rebuilds the diseased parts. Pressure on the nerves prevents this power from reaching each part as it is needed. The guard at the gate is weakened. Disease enters and gains a foothold. The person becomes sick. Spinal adjustments reverse the process. The nerve pressure is removed, nature's power again circulates freely to each part, the weakened condition is strengthened and the disease is overcome. The patient recovers. It is nature that effects the cure and in many cases she does it without the aid of adjustments. Then it is that none are needed, but in the majority of cases she is unable to accomplish her ends. Here it is that spinal adjustments are necessary. They are then her greatest aid. For a patient to get well the nerve pressure must be removed. The chiropractor who does this the most efficiently is the one who keeps informed on the best methods of adjusting and he it is that uses the best aids, such as the Neurocalometer in locating the right places to adjust. The people's confidence is increased in him, for they know that such a chiropractor can be relied upon to accomplish the best results possible. Chiropractors of this type are making a bigger and better brand of Chiropractic. It is advancing through their efforts. PALMER SCHOOL GRADUATES. CONSULTATION FREE. NEUROCALOMETER SERVICE. Union services will be held next Sunday at the church given above. Preaching at 1 p. m. Theme, Nehemiah, the Builder of the Holy City. The evening service will begin at 7 p. m. when the writer will speak on A Short Prayer With a Deep Meaning. Man is willing to forgive, but is not willing to forget. Manly nature will pay back and break even. So it would help us considerably when repeating the Lord's prayer to ask ourselves if we do forgive and forget. If not, we have no earthly claim to ask God's forgiveness, for our prayer is really for something from fellowmen. "And forgive our debts, as we forgive our debtors." Matthew 6:12.

Baptist Church.

(Rev. M. G. Jones, Pastor.)
Sunday school at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. Theme, Nehemiah, the Builder of the Holy City. There is an old saying, "That you can drive a horse to the trough, but you cannot force him to drink." Nehemiah, no doubt, was aware of something similar for he did not try to drive people and force them to work, but rather as a wise man with a prayerful heart and unflinching faith, he most earnestly said, "Come and let us build up the wall of Jerusalem." And when the pronoun "we" instead of "I" is more prominent, then cooperation, understanding and perseverance will be in evidence, difficulties will be penetrated, walls rebuilt and Zion will overflow with milk and honey.

Attends Meeting Of Bird Society

Miss Molly Vlasnik Goes to National Convention in Nashville At Holidays.

Miss Molly Vlasnik of the Wayne city school faculty, attended in Nashville, Tenn., December 30 to January 1 the annual convention of the Wilson Ornithological Club, national organization of which she is a member. The American Association for the Advancement of Science was also in convention at Nashville at the same time and Miss Vlasnik attended sessions of this program. The Tennessee Ornithological society acted as host to the convention.

The Wilson association was organized a number of years ago and is named for Alexander Wilson. The purpose is to advance the study of and interest in the life of birds. The organization is a national one and has membership from middle and western states. About fifty were present at this year's convention.

Miss Vlasnik was the only one present from Nebraska. Meetings of the body were held in Searritt and Peabody colleges. Field trips also were an important part of the convention.

Fifty specimens of birds were seen by members of the society. Among them were the hermit thrush, cardinal, bluebird, mockingbird, several varieties of woodpeckers, and owls. Field trips were taken and the habits and nests and the birds themselves were studied. Motion pictures of birds in various parts of the country were also shown.

Miss Mary Bailey, nature teacher in the Sioux City schools, spoke at the meeting on "Bird Study in the Public Schools." T. C. Stephens of Morningside college, Sioux City, showed slides of an automobile nature study trip taken by students last summer through the northwest. Miss Vlasnik was one of the party taking the trip. Slides of the journey were shown. The closing day of the convention was spent in field trips to Idlewild Wood on the Stones River. Beautiful grounds of the homes of Dr. Mayfield, Dr. Vaughn and Dr. Galtier were visited. The group was taken to Andrew Jackson's home and the Smokey mountains near Nashville, also.

Miss Vlasnik attended several sessions of the American association for Advancement of Science also. One of the best lectures she heard in this group was given by Dr. F. R. Moulton of Chicago, in which the speaker compared civilization in the times previous to scientific discovery with the present. He showed that the development of science has caused great changes in the life of people.

The Wilson club meets next year in Ann Arbor, Mich. The science group meets in New York next year.

Register Shows Many Graduates

Over 200 Finished Wayne State College as Compared with Three in First Year.

The Alumni Register, annual publication giving names and location of graduates and faculty members of the Wayne State Teachers College, now being printed, shows that 1,535 have been graduated from the two-year and four-year courses at the school since the institution was bought by the state in 1910. The first class was graduated in 1911 and included three students. In the 1927 class 184 completed the two-year course and twenty-six completed the four-year course. Addresses of all graduates excepting eighty-two are listed in the register. Twenty-one of the students have died. 120 also completed the four-year course.

A majority of the graduates follow teaching as their chosen work, there being 724 in this field. There are 538 in other professions. This latter group is comprised of the following: Those engaged in business or profession other than teaching, 134; those engaged in homemaking, 274; those staying at home, 60; and those attending school, 119.

Alumni are located in thirty-three states, in Washington, D. C., the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, British East Africa, China and India. The largest number in one state is 883, in Nebraska. Iowa has the second largest number which is 103. Other states range from one in California, Florida, down to one, in Arkansas, Kentucky, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, Utah and Virginia. Two are in the Philippines and two in Porto Rico and one in each of the other distant places.

ing the humanities and achievements of California, is a literary masterpiece. One thing that impressed us favorably in connection with the edition is the fact that no crime news appeared on the first page. The story of the notoriously sensational Hickman case appeared on an inside page of the third section. This policy is in striking and refreshing contrast to that of some other Pacific coast publications.

It was on January 12, 1888—thirty-nine years ago today—that a terrific blizzard tore down from the northwest and caught teachers and children in their school houses. Much suffering and some deaths resulted. Sweep of the prairies was little broken by buildings or trees, and the storm was charged with all the snow and icy wind that it would hold. It came without warning, and it stayed long enough to establish a record for ferocity unequalled before or since. Improved means of finding out weather prospects and broadcasting any probable turn of the elements, enable people now to look out for themselves and their livestock in advance.

The editor of the Albion News who was a member of the last state legislature, answers inquirers by saying he will not be a candidate again this year. He admits that a political bee stung him two years ago, but that he recovered without ill effects and that his ambition lies in the direction of improving his newspaper rather than in holding public office. The man who is managing a newspaper or any other business, has his hands full without adding a lot of official duties. And one may perform more valuable public service in a carefully handled newspaper than in any other public office within reach. We think the editor of the News has reached a wise decision.

The heavy hand of winter that clamped down on this country in December has been lifted to the great relief of people who have no coal mines to operate, and who like cold weather in reasonable moderation. The proportion of frigid elements already dealt out justifies the hope that the worst is over in the way of severe cold.

The author of the Rear Seat in the Sioux City Journal thinks it is "affected prudery" to call a leg a limb. When avalanches of thinly clad extremities sweep along avenues and boulevards, he thinks it is just as polite to refer to them as legs as to look at them. Prudery may well be manifested in many ways without avoiding correct use of the word legs.

"General" Jacob S. Coxey who led Coxey's army of unemployed to Washington in 1894, spoke in Omaha this week. He is quoted as saying conditions are worse than they were when he led his army to Washington thirty-four years ago. But Coxey always held and cultivated alarmist notions. He has developed a faculty for seeing clouds in a clear sky. By his pronounced radicalism he negates any reasonable suggestions he may have to offer.

In the last year, three of our valued exchanges have tried the experiment of running semi-weeklies and gone back to weeklies. We have never heard of a semi-weekly that satisfied any particular demand. If a field is not big enough for a daily, a newspaper will do well to remain a weekly. People who urge a publisher to start a doubtful semi-weekly or struggling daily, and thus destroy a sound weekly, are permitting their voices to pound the air without the promptings of either information or reason.

The Fairbury News calls attention to the changed attitude of business towards presidential years. In the old days when a presidential campaign approached it was a signal for business to slow down. People became excited over issues and fearful of results. Now a presidential campaign makes no more impression on business or values than do the footprints of a katydid on a concrete slab. The coming election exerts no influence on markets or contemplated improvements, and the year is anticipated as one of increased rather than retarded activities.

The first of the week we received a copy of the annual review edition of the Los Angeles Times. It is a mammoth newspaper, replete with pictures and stories of Pacific coast development. Its leading editorial touch-

IN PRESIDENCY.

If Governor A.L. Smith whose hat is in the ring for the democratic presidential nomination, would be nominated and elected, he would be the first Catholic to become chief executive of the nation. Of twenty-nine presidents, eighteen were church members and the others were non-communicants, though church attendants. Of the eighteen communicants, five were Episcopalians, five Presbyterians, three Unitarians, one Disciple of Christ, one Dutch Reformed, one Baptist, one Methodist and one Congregationalist. President Coolidge became a church member after he entered the White House. Abraham Lincoln never joined a church, though he has been referred to as "one of the greatest spiritual leaders America has produced." Lincoln attended church and was a practical Christian. Andrew Jackson neglected to join the church until he was 70 years old. It is commendable to become a member of the church of one's choice and attend religious services regularly, but of greatest importance is to thread one's course with Christian principles and practice in daily life the spirit of the Golden Rule.

ROBERT C. MOORE INCORPORATED

THE COMMUNITY STORES CO. YOUR PANTRY GROCERY STORE

Former Morgan Toggery Bldg., First Door South of Palace Cafe. M. DeGallez, Manager.

A WOOLWORTH STATEMENT.—It is reported that Frank W. Woolworth, founder of the Woolworth 5c and 10c Stores, told a prominent advertising man that he would never be satisfied until he established one of his stores along side the great Marshall Field Department Store in Chicago. He is said to have said that he would get more business in this way, and so would the Marshall Field Store. He said, "We are competitors; yet, working against each other in the same locality, we would create so much additional trade that each of us would be better off than he would be if the other were not there."

A GOOD GOING BUSINESS A COMMUNITY ASSET.—A thorough going business institution never did any community any harm—but in fact always does much good. The Robert C. Moore Stores are up-to-date, thorough going, progressive stores, and are an asset to any community in which they may be located. They do not injure the business conditions of the town, but on the other hand, help build up the trade territory by assisting in bringing more people to the town to trade.

A CERTAIN BANK'S ADVERTISING.—Just last week, in one of our towns, one of the Banks ran a splendid advertisement. It is so good that we desire to pass it along. This particular advertisement was apparently directed at young married couples, and is as follows:

"WE RESOLVE, To budget our household expenses during this New Year, and make a determined effort to SAVE something for a Home of our own! And that neither of us will do any needless spending until we've achieved, that more toothy while goal!"

SAVE MONEY ON GROCERIES.—Groceries are bought almost daily and the Grocery bill runs to a big amount in the course of time. THE ROBERT C. MOORE STORES Groceries at a lower average price. If then, you really want to save money during 1928, make yourself a regular patron of our store where in the course of time you will SAVE a good many dollars on your Grocery buying.
