Save All But the "Sweat."
Nebraska Farmer: A survey of what is being done to eliminate some of the wastes of agriculture is soon to be launched by the Agricultural Service of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. This investigation is expected also to disclose some of the problems that are encountered in these waste-prevention activities.

This proposed survey is based on the theory that the wealth produced by the farms of the country is not confined solely to the staple crops. Corn cobs, corn stalks, straw, oat hulls and possibly other products incidental to the raising of food crops have a value and by-products manufactured from them might expand the farm income materially if some way can be found to bring these materials together in sufficient quantity to make it economically practicable to use them for industrial purposes.

Anent the foregoing, consider what the scientific utilization of by-products has done for the giant packing industry. It is a matter of common knowledge that the profits of the packers are derived from the sale of by-products made from what were formerly considered waste materials.

In fact, the packing industry owes its very existence to its ability to "save all but the sweat." It is only logical then to expect that the farmer may "some day" "save all but the sweat." And we venture to say when that day arrives the per-spiratory side of farming will be less noticeable and profits more in evidence.

Wakefield Students Place Three Who Will Enter Sub-District Contest Here.

Wayne students ranked highest in two sections and placed in each of the other sections of the high school elimination declamatory contest held at Belden last Friday evening. Wakefield students placed in three of the sections. A new plan is being worked out this year, that of naming two highest in each group and not saying which is first or second. The two enter the sub-district contest April 6, and the winners of the sub-district enter the district contest in Wayne on April 20.

Dick Fanske and Harriet Craven will represent Wayne at the sub-district contest April 6, having received highest rank in extemporaneous and dramatic classes, respectively. Alice Miner, Alfred Larson and Florence Miner represent Wakefield in the sub-district contest, having ranked highest in humorous, extemporaneous and oratorical classes, respectively.

In the extemporaneous speaking class, three schools took part, Laurel, Wayne and Wakefield. Dick Fanske of Wayne, and Alfred Larson of Wakefield, took first and both enter the sub-district meet.

In the oratorical class, nine schools were entered and Randolph and Ponca took highest honors. Newell Pollard represented Wayne and received third place. The judge stated that the decision between the three was difficult. Robert Nuernberger represented Wakefield in this class, and Gerald Hicks represented Carroll.

Eight took part in the dramatic group, and Harriet Craven of Wayne, and Florence Miner of Wakefield, ranked highest. Both enter the sub-district contest. Viola Thomas represented Carroll in this class.

Nine took part in the humorous contest. Alice Larson of Wakefield, and the Laurel student taking highest honors. Maxine Rhoades represented Wayne in this group and was given fourth place. Her work was highly commended by the judge. Mabel Owens represented Carroll in this group.

Six elimination contests were conducted in the district last Friday, these being at Belden, Wisner, Homer, Newman Grove, O'Neill and Bloomfield. The towns competing at Belden were: Belden, Laurel, Hartington, West Coleridge, Wayne, Wakefield, Ponca, Carroll and Randolph. Sub-district contests are planned at Wayne and Norfolk for April 6, and the district meet will be in Wayne on April 20.

Mrs. Virgil Gerkin of Sioux City, acted as judge at Belden. The extemporaneous and oratorical groups were given in the afternoon. Dick Fanske and Newell Pollard were accompanied there for these by Mrs. Allis N. Pollard and Miss Mary Yabroff. The dramatic and humorous contests were in the evening, and Harriet Craven and Maxine Rhoades were accompanied there by H. B. Craven. B. B. Pollard and Bernard Pollard also went to Belden for the evening program.

Wayne People To Attend Meeting

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen and F. S. Berry Take Part in District Program at Madison.

(By Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis.) Annual district convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs will be held in Madison this Thursday and Friday, March 29 and 30. Mrs. S. A. Lutgen and Fred S. Berry of Wayne, are among the speakers on the program. Mrs. R. A. McEachen and Mrs. E. W. Huse are delegates from the Wayne Club, and Mrs. F. S. Berry and Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis are alternates.

Elected Fifth Time.

Mrs. E. W. Huse who was re-elected president of the Wayne Woman's club this spring, is beginning her fifth term in this office. She served in the capacity of president from 1921 to 1923, and from 1926 to 1928. She was president of the Inter-County Federation of Women's clubs in 1923.

Has Served District.

Mrs. Clyde Oman was president of the Inter-County federation of clubs in 1924. She served as treasurer of the Third district of the state federation from 1925 to 1927.

Was State Chairman.

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis served as state chairman of Civil Service Reform from 1917 to 1919. The Minerva club of Wayne belonged to the state federation at that time, and Mrs. A. E. Sheldon of Lincoln was state president. Mrs. Lewis was first president of the Wayne Woman's club, serving from 1919 to 1921. She also served as chairman of music in the Third district from 1925 to 1927.

Mrs. Lutgen, author of the state federation song, "Nebraska, My Native Land," is third district chairman of music from 1927 to 1929. She has written poems and short stories. Two stories which have just been accepted by the Presbyterian Advance, magazine published in Nashville, Tenn., are "From Darkness to Light" and "Modern Pharisee." The former appears in the Easter number of March 29, and the other is to appear later.

In the March issue of The Club Woman an outline of Mrs. Lutgen's work is submitted by her, upon request, as follows:

"In all I have had some twenty short stories published; perhaps forty short poems; several one-act plays; two serials—one of which, 'Penny Pictures,' will soon be put into book form; and besides 'Nebraska, My Native Land,' Mr. Beery and I have another song offering, 'Straying,' which will soon be on the market; and still another, a rustic ballad, 'When Turtle Doves Are Cooing in the Lane,' has been set to music by Lynn Robertson and is now being considered by publishers.

"Then two years ago I tried a new venture—that of pageant writing. A three-part historical pageant, 'Wayne County,' was presented at the county fair under my personal direction and so successful was it that last fall I wrote and directed another, 'Nebraska, Dream of the Pioneer.'"

"This pageant was presented at the Wayne county fair, September 28 to October 1, 1927. According to the prologue, it reviews 'a few of the highlights in the history of Nebraska; the exploration and settlement of this great commonwealth, the trying ordeal of territorial development, the early days of statehood, and Nebraska's part in national affairs.' Finally Nebraska is crowned 'queen of the golden west, and the great gifts she has for the world are displayed.

"An undertaking of this kind is a distinct contribution to the life of a community in preserving early history and leading to an appreciation of present resources and achievements."

A more wintry variety of weather was turned on early in the week, and March's unusual record for mildness is being somewhat disturbed at this time.

The Custer County Chief at Broken Bow has moved into its new, modern building. Broken Bow is a live, progressive town, and the Chief keeps at the front in all respects.

This is an age of specializing. This week the field of disease is specializing in the measles, and it has got so many of the children down and out that some schools have had to close from want of attendance.

The oil scandal is being stirred up again for campaign purposes, and the effort to discredit leaders of the two major parties on charges of receiving campaign money from oil-tainted funds is going on to the enlightenment of the public and to the shame of American politics.

Richardson county's oldest citizen, S. A. Wilkins, aged 98, advises: "Be truthful, industrious and honest if you desire to attain longevity." Contrariwise, if one wants to make life short and useless, let him lie to cover short-comings, do only enough to get by, and in doing that, be so dishonest that he will be despised by himself as well as by everybody else. The old man in Richardson county undoubtedly expresses some of the things that help lengthen and enrich one's years.

The ruling of the secretary of state that opposing groups of candidates for delegates to the republican national convention shall be so mixed that no average voter can separate them in casting his ballot may be according to precedent or some established whim, but it is not in accordance with the purpose of the primary to secure fair and intelligent expression on a question before the people. We are confident

BANKING.

Banking is little understood by people on the outside, and yet it is more vital to a community's life and prosperity than any other one commercial artery. Bank failures over the state, often causing big losses and always disturbing, have given rise to a demand for strengthened banking systems. We are sure that enforced banking, free from possibility of failure, would be hailed by the discerning farmer as more important to the prosperity and welfare of rural communities than any of the so-called farm relief plans hitherto proposed. Right now the state guaranty fund which, operated under a state law, has served well the purpose of making good the losses of failed state banks, has liabilities in excess of assets of about $8,000,000. In order to relieve communities suffering from state bank failures, a meeting was held in Lincoln recently to organize for the purpose of submitting a proposed constitutional amendment that would lend the state's credit for the guaranty of receivers' certificates. The purpose is to insure prompt payment of money to depositors, sale of failed bank property, and stop the cost of operating closed banks. Secretary Van E. Peterson of the guaranty fund commission, is quoted as being opposed to the proposed amendment, though in favor of the guaranty system, adding that the plan does not solve the problem nor remove the trouble. Then it would seem up to Mr. Peterson to offer a better plan if he has one tucked away in his head. More care in granting permits to start banks is demanded, with closer and more certain examination of all existing banks. Absolute confidence is needed with insurance against banking disasters that cause losses and otherwise bedevil unsuspecting communities. Sound banks and prosperous communities are made to suffer by reason of the downfall of mismanaged or weak and useless banks. Let bankers and statesmen join hands in figuring out a way to improve, and more completely fortify, banking systems.

that both groups would prefer an opportunity for voters to register their wishes understandingly. As it is, selecting names from the two groups will be largely guess work.

Governor McMullen is quoted as saying that unless the McHenry-Hansen bill or something similar to it is passed by the republican party, a new party will be formed, the inference being that he would be at the forming. This is a disquieting note. Suppose the old party, unable to pass the bill, should want to run McMullen for vice president, how could it consistently offer him the place if he were found giving aid and comfort to a new party organization? Suppose the old party, unable to heed the demand, wanted to thrust additional honors on the governor, how could he consistently accept?

The names of A. R. Davis and Fred S. Berry, well known Wayne lawyers, appear on the republican primary ballot as candidates for delegates to the republican national convention. While they have been chosen by separate groups, they will be pledged to carry out the popular wishes of the people as expressed at the primary, and after having done so, both may be depended on to exercise sound judgment in the choice of party standard bearers. Mr. Davis appears as delegate at large, and Mr. Berry appears as delegate from the Third congressional district. A vote for each of them would be an idea of supporting two worthy and leading Wayne citizens.

An editorial from the Ord Quizz on "canned" editorials, reprinted in today's Herald, offers as proof that we don't know a "canned" editorial when we see it, the fact that we frequently reproduce editorials from the Omaha Bee-News. We think the editor of the Quizz is talking through his cranial plumage in a most uncertain fashion, but we can't prove it without the testimony of the Omaha Bee-News. We will appoint Bill Maupin to speak for the Bee-News. But we have no criticism for an editor who uses "canned" editorials, believing, as he must, that they serve his purpose, but that they seem preposterous to enter them in a contest in which originality is deemed an essential.

Wayne county has a candidate for state office in the person of Harry E. Siman, well known Winside lawyer, who is in the race for the republican nomination for attorney general. Mr. Siman has practiced law in Wayne county for thirty years, and he is recognized as a lawyer of high rank. He served four years as county attorney, and one term as state senator. His ability and experience eminently qualify him for the office of attorney general, and we would like to see him sweep on to victory. This part of the state seldom runs for state offices, and it would seem to be Wayne county's turn to capture one.

A grandmother writing for a March magazine defends the youths of today against frequent criticisms that are carelessly flung about by their elders. She says young people of her day did not know so much as those of this period. The boys and girls of her age learned at school mechanically, and devoted much spare time to social frivolity. Ignorance kept them in dangerous prudery. They went through the forms of religious worship, but they had less understanding of practical religion than do the youths of today. She says the boys and girls at this time are strong for high ideals, and she believes that in their increased liberty they will "pause at temperance and intelligent self-restraint such as the mid-Victorian age never had." And she may be right.

We feel insignificant when we think of the worlds and systems of worlds that occupy space and that make the earth seem but a speck in comparison, but on the contrary, we swell with a good deal of importance when our attention is called to the billions of invisible microorganisms that live in the ground beneath us. An authority in the Popular Science Monthly says forty thousand of these little fellows could march abreast through the eye of a needle. Half that number would seem to many for comfortable traveling. But the authority says these tiny inhabitants of the soil are absolutely necessary to all vegetable and animal life. Without them no crops would grow, no vegetation could exist, and the earth would become as lifeless and barren as a croquet ball. These microorganisms seem to be of different kinds or nationalities and are correctly designated by scientists who seem to be intimately acquainted with them singly and collectively, often speaking of them familiarly by their first and second names. We are told that these invisible creatures work and eat and quarrel and carry on wars and otherwise deport themselves about the same as the rest of us who appear as larger and more conspicuous forms of life.

We'd laugh if Senator Borah would now get out a questionnaire propounding a few specific queries on the primary responsibility for the oil scandals and present it to all the favorite sons, including ours of course.—Ohio State Journal.

THE PRESIDENCY. In notifying republicans of Wyoming that he will not allow his name to be used in connection with the nomination to succeed himself, President Coolidge has repeated for the fifth time the firm stand which he took last summer, and there is no likelihood that he can be persuaded to yield to any influences that may be brought to bear. Among avowed republican candidates, Secretary Hoover is now easily in the lead. It is reported that he is at this time sure of 401 delegates out of a total of 1,089, at least 545 being required to win. A combination against him could keep him outside the goal and persist until the convention forces would unite on some other candidate or on a dark horse. A stray vote taken recently among students at the University of Nebraska showed Hoover far in the lead with more votes cast for Hughes than would be expected in view of the fact that he is not a candidate. But Hughes ranks high as a statesman, and many people would like to support him for the presidency. In the democratic group, Al Smith shows greatest strength at this time, but if he does not win on an early ballot he may have to surrender to a candidate who is now less promising. In that event, the democratic party could make no mistake by coming to Nebraska and bestowing the nomination on G. M. Hitchcock who is no small potato in the realm of statesmanship.

Herbert Perry Is Named Basketball Captain of Wayne High School Squad

Eight Receive Letters in Athletics—Participate in Declamatory and Debate.

Herbert Perry was elected basketball captain for the coming year at the Wayne high school, Friday, March 16, when boys of the squad met at the Coach C. T. Mau home for a waffle supper. Perry is a letter man, who had played three years of basketball and three years of football. He will probably receive eight letters by the time he completes his athletic career in the school for he will play in both basketball and football again next year.

All basketball boys of the Wayne squad were entertained at supper in the Mau home. William Ahrens, captain of this year's team, led the scoring the past season, making 54 points. Fred Davis was second, and Walter Sund was third. These three and Herbert Perry, Kelly Peterson, Doc Surber, Fred Dowling and Lawrence Wamberg received letters this year. Ahrens and Wamberg are the only ones of this group who will not return next year. Gene Beaman, Paul Peterson, Maxwell Hendrickson and Walter Bressler, members of the second squad the past year, are good prospects for next season. The team will thus have a good start in basketball next year.

Coach C. T. Mau has been giving boys of the school work-outs in track events. So far most of the work has been in calisthenics and gymnastics. Two meets with other schools will probably be scheduled, and the Wayne men will enter the district meet at the State Normal in May. Doc Surber and Walter Sund are working with weights. Paul Peterson, Fred Davis, Fred Dowling and Kelly Peterson have been working on distances and vaulting. Max Hendrickson is the most likely sprint prospect. Herbert Perry may also enter this event.

Attend Declamatory. Harriet Craven, Maxine Rhoades, Dick Fanske and Newell Pollard, winners in the four divisions of the high school declamatory contest here, took part in an elimination contest at Belden Friday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Allis N. Pollard and Miss Mary Yaffroff. The elimination contest winners come to Wayne for a sub-district contest April 6, and the winners of sub-district contest compete here for district titles.

Debate at Meadow Grove. The debating teams went to Meadow Grove Friday, the negative to meet the team there. Jeanette Lewis, Manley Wilson and Dorothy Davis comprised the Wayne group debating. Irol Whitmore and Rhea Schmiedekamp also went. Marie Finn and Maxine Rhoades, other Wayne debaters, were unable to go Friday evening. P. W. Maynard accompanied the students.

Bloomfield Debating. Wayne comes here this today. Wayne will take the affirmative in the state question regarding child labor.

Contestants to Norfolk. District commercial contest will be held in Norfolk Saturday, March 31, and students from the Wayne school plan to attend. Dorothy Davis, Maxine Rhoades, Kathryn Lou Davis and Ellen Finn will probably participate in typing. Esther Thies and Fern Wamberg will take part in shorthand tests. Hope Hoskinson and Marie Finn may also enter this. Miss Dorothy Cooley will accompany the students to Norfolk.

Other High School News. Six-week examinations will be started this Thursday and continue until next Thursday, tests in subjects in one period being given each day. This will close the second six weeks of the second semester, leaving just six weeks more of school. Jeanette Lewis played the assembly march last week.

Seniors, Supt. T. S. Hook and Miss Marie Mielenz attended the funeral of Mrs. James Finn Friday. Marie and Ellen Finn are students in the high school. Peter Henkel, janitor, was ill with the flu and unable to attend to his duties three days last week. One of his sons took charge for him.

Eighth Grade. Eighth grade students have been studying the use of the library and how books are catalogued. They will visit the city library this week to learn shelving of books.

Seventh Grade. Covers for picture booklets were started last Friday in the seventh grade.

Sixth Grade. The art class is making free-hand cutting of landscapes in black and white.

The B class had a true-false test in history.

The A class had a history test covering the church in the middle ages and the crusades. Speed and comprehension tests were given in reading last week.

Grades Are Closed. The fifth grade was closed from Wednesday until Friday of last week in an effort to curb the illness with gripe and measles which is prevalent in school. The third grade was closed Thursday and Friday. The fourth grade was closed most of last week. The plan of closing a single room for a few days is being tried rather than the plan of closing the entire school. It has been the plan to close when less than half of the pupils are present.

Second Grade. Wayne McMaster, Chester Jensen, Catherine Young, Marjorie Hook, Donald Sund and Russell Fox were absent last week with the measles.

Booklets are being finished before students start work for next fall's fair exhibits. Kenneth Claussen left school. His parents moved to Wisner.

First Grade. Pupils have drawn and colored free-hand pictures of bluebirds and robins.

The class studied poetry of Robert Louis Stevenson, and pictures of Bonheur and Reynolds. Harold Burton left school. He moved to Laurel with his parents.

Gordon Burton of the third grade, Iola Burton of the fifth grade, and Sylva Burton of the sixth grade also left.

Kindergarten. Mrs. R. L. Larson visited the kindergarten last Thursday. Wayne Claussen moved to Wisner last week so he left school. Kenneth and Kermit Claussen of the upper grades, also left school to go to Wisner.

General Notes. All grade rooms have new flag holders in order that the flag may be properly displayed each day in these.

Grade pupils are practicing for the operetta to be given Music week.

Accession Books At City Library

A number of new books have been accessioned at the Wayne city library this week. Three are the Literary Guild books, "Black Majesty," by John W. Vandercook, tells of the life of a man, Christophe, who has been remembered chiefly by his enemies and by the cruel and silly tales they have told about him. The story is based on historical facts.

Another of these books is "Tristram," by Edwin Arlington Robinson. This is a poem, simple, passionate and direct. It is filled with human nature and embodies a famous love story. "Edwin Arlington Robinson," by Mark VanDorn, gives a sketch of the poet's life and career, giving some of his poems also.

Two books which have been given to the library are "Best Short Stories of 1925 and the Yearbook of the American Short Story," edited by Ed. J. Brien, and "Lights 'Up," a novel by Grace S. Richmond, which tells of a girl who thinks she has missed happiness by staying home but who finds she has not.

A number of junior books have been included in the new list. One is "The Little Red Pony" by Roy J. Snell. This tells of adventures in the country. "Favorite Bible Stories, Old and New," retold by Gertrude Krotzer.

"Rosy-Face Twins," by Caroline Silver June, is a book of adventure, giving many health suggestions to young folks.

"Fifty Famous Sky Stories," by Caroline Silver June, is a child's book of astronomy.

"The Gingerbread Man" is by Laura Rountree Smith. This is the story so many children have enjoyed.

"Tiddly Winks Primer" is by Laura Rountree Smith. These little Tiddly Wink people are cousins of the popular brownies and have arrived in childland to stay.

"Happy Easter Stories" is a group of varied tales especially suitable for Easter.

"Fifty Indian Legends," by Caroline Silver June, gives Indian tales which are instructive.

"Young Folks' Uncle Tom's Cabin," by Grace Duffie Boylan, is an easy edition of this American classic.

"The Circus Boys," by Frank Gordon Oliver, tells of how a group of boys manage a circus and earn a college career.

"Little Men and Women Stories," by Caroline Sherwin Bailey, gives stories which appeal to boys and girls.

"The Wonderful Tree and Golden Day Stories," by Caroline Sherwin Bailey, contains stories suitable for Easter, Christmas and other special days of the year.

Crusade For Christ To Start On Easter

Easter morning, April 8, 1928, states Mrs. Ivor Morris of Carroll, will witness the inauguration of a crusade with Christ in which several million young people of America are expected to share. Practically every important youth group of the protestant denominations is allied in this first united young people's movement within the Christian churches.

It is predicted that 4,000,000 or more young people will attend the Easter sunrise prayer meetings which will be held in several thousand cities and villages throughout North America and in which the crusade will have its first popular acceptance. Mrs. Morris is district president of the societies sponsoring the crusade.

The crusade ideals for a youth movement devoted to evangelism, world peace and Christian citizenship developed within the Christian Endeavor societies and unions following the international convention of this young people's organization in Cleveland last summer. The convention was attended by 17,000 young people, representing a constituency of 80,000 young people's societies in the churches of North America. The movement is expected to spread to other lands, for Christian Endeavor is a world-wide movement, having members in 100 countries and in churches of eighty denominations. Particularly important to this international affiliation of youth, therefore, is the objective of world peace and brotherhood. It is expected, however, that in the spirit of the Easter season and the Pentecostal period that follows, the first emphasis will be on youth evangelism, including such goals as church attendance, study of the life of Christ and of the bible, and preparation for membership in and usefulness to the church. Christian citizenship will be given proper attention, particularly in view of the national election this fall. Young people will study citizenship questions and will discuss issues of good government. Law observance and enforcement as practical patriotism will be emphasized. Those qualified as voters will be urged to participate in primaries and in elections.

Religious leaders of the nation have watched the development of this crusade with great interest. The suggestions having been made in Cleveland convention by Rev. Daniel A. Poling, D. D., president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, there was a period of waiting to determine if the young people of the churches were ready for hearty participation in such an enterprise. The suggestions bore fruit in the request of hundreds of societies and discussion groups for further information as to the manner of enlisting in the crusade and carrying its ideals into action. Twenty-five denominations gave their approval and worked out their own young people's program in harmony with it.

Tenth-Grade To Present A Play

Eighth Grade Cooking Class Prepares and Served Dinner—Other School News.

The tenth grade of the Wayne State Teachers College training school will present a class play, "Mother Carey's Chickens," Friday, March 30. Mrs. Maude Smith has been directing the play. Several from the dramatic class as well as the tenth grade students have parts in the play.

Wilbur Porterfield, talented art student of the tenth grade, is helping to make the scenery for the play. He also painted a portrait which is to be used in this play.

Girls of the eighth grade cooking class served an appetizing dinner Tuesday, March 20. Guests were: Mrs. Whorlow, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Ahern, Miss Woodworth, Mrs. Johnson, Miss Conklin, Miss Scott, Miss Rutherford, Mrs. Teed and Miss Nelson. The girls have been studying cooking since the beginning of the second semester. Everything served was made by the girls themselves. The first course consisted of a fruit cocktail. The second course consisted of breaded pork chops, mashed potatoes, creamed corn, vegetable salad, apple chutney, bread and butter and coffee.

For their last course the girls served vanilla ice cream and cake. Miss Lettie Scott, supervisor in the junior high school, went to Omaha Friday afternoon, March 23, to see her sister who underwent an operation in a hospital there.

Biggest Canoe Race In "Rose-Marie" Film

The greatest canoe race ever filmed in motion pictures has been produced in "Rose-Marie," the film version of the famous musical play, which is coming soon to the Crystal theatre this Friday and Saturday.

More than 250 birchbark canoes, shipped from Canada to California, were used in the filming of an early sequence representing the return of the trappers to the fur-trading post following a winter's work in the Canadian north woods. The first man to arrive was acclaimed the hero of the old trapping days and was given the "key to the city."

Joan Crawford and James Murray have the principal romantic roles of "Rose-Marie," which was produced by Lucien Hubbard for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Important Announcement to every owner of a Model T Ford

ON MAY 25, 1927, when Henry Ford first announced his plans for making a new car, he announced also that he would continue to make parts for the Model T Ford. He said:

"The Model T Ford car was a pioneer. It blazed the way for the motor industry and started the movement for good roads everywhere. It broke down the barriers of distance in rural sections, brought people in these sections closer together, and placed education within the reach of everyone. We are still proud of the Model T Ford. If we were not, we would not have continued to make it so long."

For twenty years, the Model T Ford led the automobile industry and it still serves more people than any other automobile. Over one-third of all the automobiles in use today are Model T Fords—an indication of the sturdy worth of the car and its value to people in all walks of life the world over.

The Ford Motor Company will continue to make replacement parts for these cars "until the last Model T is off the road." That is a part of Ford service. That is what Henry Ford meant when he said: "We believe that when a man buys one of our cars we should keep it running for him as long as we can and at the lowest up-keep cost."

Because of this policy a considerable part of the Ford manufacturing plants is given over to the making of parts for the Model T Ford. These replacement parts are made of the same material and in the same way as those from which your car was originally assembled.

Make it a point, therefore, to see the nearest Ford dealer and have him look over your Model T Ford. You may find that a very small expenditure will enable you to get thousands of miles of additional service, and at the same time protect the money you have invested in your car.

Develops Amazing Power from Low-Grade Fuels

Hart-Parr 18-36's, sold as three-four-plow tractors, proved their amazing power by pulling seven 14-inch plows in high gear at Salina, Kansas; at Wray, Colorado; at Floyd, Iowa; at Menno, South Dakota, and many other places. They proved that the power was there; so that a Hart-Parr can do its rated work without overloading—thus guaranteeing long life and good service. And this power was developed from cheap, low-grade fuel, costing on the average from 8 to 10 cents a gallon. The Hart-Parr is the one tractor that develops tremendous power from cheap, low-grade fuels. Hart-Parrs are now equipped with 3 speeds ahead, and are made for small, medium, and large farms. Ask for a demonstration on your own farm.

These Facts Mean More Profit on Farmall Farms!

Under average soil conditions the Farmall will plow from 7 to 10 acres a day, which is as much as three men can do with nine mules or horses.

One man with a Farmall can cultivate 15 to 25 acres a day, doing the work of two or three men and six to eight horses.

The Farmall when equipped with mower attachment will cut 20 to 25 acres a day.

The Farmall and tractor binder can cut 30 to 35 acres of grain a day.

For pulling the corn binder or corn picker, the Farmall saves both time and labor.

Ask us to show you this tractor and the modern tools that work with it. Demonstrations can be arranged on your own farm if desired. No obligation.
