Mary Pickford To Come To Crystal $40,000 a minute! No, that isn't the long-distance telephone rate from here to Mars—it's the cost of just one sequence in "My Best Girl," Mary Pickford's new comedy-romance which shows at the Crystal theatre here May 27 and 28. The sequence is enacted in a huge set representing a section of a downtown business district. The set occupies two city blocks, and it kept between two and four hundred workmen busy for a month in erecting the four and five story buildings and laying the street-car tracks and the paving. Although the cost of the set itself, the salaries of the cast and of the twelve hundred electricians and extra people used, totaled in the neighborhood of $120,000, the scenes take only a few minutes on the screen, which makes it probably the most expensive sequence per minute ever made. While the set is a faithful copy of a business section, complete from street-cars to traffic signals, the realism of the scenes was enhanced by several unscheduled traffic jams during the filming, which, as Miss Pickford said, "made everything look just natural." "My Best Girl" is a story of the 5-and-10-cent stores, with the star in one of her famous "ginger-ham roles" as a little stock girl. It is said to be the funniest picture she has ever produced, and critics are acclaiming it generally as the best film of her career. Some Finish Corn Planting. Bloomfield, Neb., May 17.—Corn planting is well under way in this vicinity, some farmers having already finished. The soil is in the best shape it has been in for a number of years, and prospects are bright for a good crop. Oat fields are up in good shape and the stand is an excellent one, some say. Pastures still are very short but in many localities showers have given the grass a good start. Bloomfield Soon to Gravel. Bloomfield, Neb., May 17.—Following the circulation of graveling petitions, signatures of property owners to the number of over 80 per cent having been obtained, the Bloomfield city council will proceed at once to line things up for letting the contract. It will be let by bid and notice of the letting will be published. Backers of the move were greatly surprised at the ease with which the required number of signatures were secured, for active opposition had been expected.

Address Touching Farm Conditions

The following address was delivered over the radio by Prof. B. H. Hibbard of the University of Wisconsin as one of the three talks on farm relief, broadcast by the Voters' Service League...

For over a hundred years the government has used its influence in restricting competition in the interest of the manufacturer.

On the contrary, the influence of the government has been used to create more, not less, competition in agriculture.

Both manufacturer and farmer in the face of the disastrous decline in prices in 1920, asked for higher import duties, and got them.

tangible trouble is caused by a production too great for the market of the world to absorb at a satisfactory price.

Surplus Not the Only Problem. The McNary-Haugen friends emphasize the influence of the agricultural surplus, and the wide gap between the level of industrial and agricultural prices.

We will now notice the provisions of the present bill under two main headings: First, the equalization fee; second, the stabilization proposal.

This brings us to the second consideration, the stabilization proposal. In the present bill provision is made for stabilizing the prices through the encouragement and support of a plan of withholding produce from the market for some period of time.

The best feature of the bill is that providing for the withdrawal of governmental support whenever farmers fail to follow the advice of the board respecting the control of output.

Furthermore, the McNary-Haugen bill would increase the costs of production to a very large number of farmers, such as dairymen, truckers, and fruit growers, without much prospect of increasing their income.

What Can Be Done? First, we can and should start on a moderate downward revision of tariff duties.

Second, if we want to try direct government aid without starting on a downward revision of the tariff on manufactures, the export bounty plan or tariff debenture, is worthy of consideration.

Fourth, no doubt the greatest increase in prosperity within reach of the farmer as an individual is to be achieved through more business-like methods of management.

interest, depreciation and weeds will continue, and will ruin him.

Fifth, our tax system is archaic and outrageous. It is a real item in the farmer's trouble.

Sixth, we should stop public subsidy in the nature of aid in expanding acreages. It has been taken for granted during the past century that all potential farm land of America should be farmed at once.

Our cut-over land should be growing another crop of timber; our dry land should be used for grazing cattle and sheep, and much of the wet land should be used as game refuges.
