Wind And Hail Loss In County

Storms Passing Through Wayne County Monday Cause Damage to Crops.

Most Will Revive

Many Window Glasses Are Broken by Large Hail Stones—Some Other Losses.

Hail and wind, accompanying a good rain, Tuesday evening, did considerable damage to crops and property in a strip from one to about four miles wide, extending from the southwestern to the northeastern part of Wayne county. Rainfall in northeast Nebraska varied from one-half to an inch and was most helpful. Corn and oats in the area mentioned are considerably damaged though only a few farmers suffered entire loss. Many window lights were broken. Wind caused some damage to a few buildings and broke many trees. It is estimated that about half the property carry insurance on the losses. Two storms visited most of the area; the first moving from the southwest to the northeast at about 7 in the evening. The second came from the west and moved eastward about 8:30.

Heavy Loss at Hoskins.

Most serious loss in Wayne county occurred near Hoskins. Starting from a point west of Pierce the storm cloud came toward Hoskins. Beginning at a point about five miles north of Hoskins and extending to a point about nine miles north of there lies a strip of land in which hail was heavy. Hail stones as large as chicken eggs fell in large numbers and many of the size of goose eggs were seen, it is reported. No hail fell in Hoskins.

Evar Anderson, Gus Anderson, Henry Anderson, Albert Boje and Charles Linn are farmers near Hoskins whose corn and grain are a total loss. Their corn was chopped off at the ground. The small grain is pounded down and scarcely anything can be realized from it. Linn, Isom, Luther Anderson and William Koepke, also in the Hoskins territory, have lost about half of their crops. Corn on most of the other farms will yield part of a crop.

Corn which had tasseled out and was stripped will not do as well as that which is a little later. The later corn has chance to grow and make up part of the damage. From ripe small grain less will be realized than from later. It is thought some of that will straighten up and will produce part of a crop.

Strikes North of Winside.

The storm struck hardest near Winside at 8 o'clock, the strip in which damage occurred running north of town from the southwest to northeast. P. C. Jensen and Anton Petersen suffered heavy losses. Considerable corn was riddled and the small grain was laid flat in places. Hail extended only a mile south of Winside.

A Good Rain in Carroll.

A small amount of hail accompanied it. The severe storm area was south of Carroll, leaves of corn being riddled in streaks and some grain being laid down. The storm area seems to have narrowed to about three miles.

George Roe, T. J. Thomas, E. D. Morris, Rudolph Burmeister, Frank Griffith, Ward Williams, J. M. Petersen, E. W. Davis, Mark Swihart, Henry Petersen, Evan Jones, Jr., John Getman, R. H. Roberts and Frank Lorenz are among those having loss in this vicinity.

Some Damage Near Wayne.

The storm area near Wayne seems to extend from the southwest to the northeast. Considerable damage is also reported northwest from the second storm which visited this vicinity. The damaged area is about three miles wide west of town and narrows as it goes east. Hail seems to have followed between the creek just south of Wayne and the two miles north of town in this immediate vicinity. Hail riddled the corn, some entire fields being damaged and others being injured just in spots. It is thought much of the corn will produce a good crop though the leaves are damaged. Small grain is down in the territory also.

William Mellor, W. C. Shulteis, Walter Ulrich, J. T. Bressler, Jr., A. T. Claycomb, Walter L. Taylor, W. E. VonSeggern, Will Roe, Gerson Alvin, John Beckman, G. W. Albert, Claude Bailey, Levi Gies, John Paulsen, John Martin, Chris Gravelholt, Ray Redue, Jacob Keeg and Mike Bonart are among those who suffered losses.

Mr. Albert and Mr. Alvin had just completed the last cultivation of their corn about an hour before the storm struck.

Mr. Albert is confident that the corn will be able to regain its growth and produce a good crop.

Small Twister Here.

AGGREGATE BANK DEPOSITS EXCEED FOUR MILLIONS

As will be noted by statements published this week, four appearing in today's Herald, deposits in the six banks in Wayne county aggregate $4,089,657.76, and it is believed a very conservative estimate to say that fully eighty percent of the total belongs to the farmers of Wayne county. This is a small county in area, with a population around 10,000, and with its more than four millions in cash on hand, saying nothing of bonds and other cash equivalents, its financial stability is appreciated as most healthy and reassuring. Any who may think Wayne county farmers are drifting toward the rocks or are not able to paddle their own canoes, will do well to consider the fact that the bulk of the available money and other securities is their property, always subject to their demands.

Young Couple Wed In West

Ralph Hickman Marries Miss Catherine Eaton at Los Angeles, Calif., in June.

Mr. Ralph Hickman, son of Mrs. Estelle Hickman of Los Angeles, Calif., and Miss Catherine Eaton, daughter of Dr. Howard D. After a trip to San Diego and Coronado Beach the young couple will make their home in Los Angeles.

The wedding was an unusually pretty one, the space in front of the organ being decorated with ferns and roses. The bride wore traveling attire, a tan georgette ensemble. She carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Marian Eaton, sister of the bride, presided at the pip organ. Miss Gertrude Eaton, another sister, was maid of honor. She wore blue georgette and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Lawrence Hickman attended his brother as best man.

Boys Also Hurt

Accident Occurs When Driver Falls Asleep a Moment Friday Morning Near Wakefield.

Plunging over a six-foot embankment five miles north of Wakefield about 4 o'clock Friday morning when the driver of their automobile fell asleep for a moment, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bones of Waterbury, sustained serious injury to their backs, and their sons, John and Calvin, suffered minor injuries. Mrs. Bones' back is broken at the base of the neck and she is paralyzed from the injury to her feet. Her condition is critical but there is some hope for her recovery. Mr. Bones sustained a fracture of the lower part of the back bone and had several ribs broken. He is improving nicely. John Bones, 20, who was driving, sustained a fractured right wrist and had severe bruises on one leg. Calvin, Bones, 2, had a deep gash on the lower part of his scalp, the wound requiring four stitches to close. He also had one leg bruised. The Ford touring car in which the family was riding had the top and glass broken. A passerby picked up the members of the family and took them to Wakefield for first aid shortly after the accident. A Wakefield ambulance was called and conveyed the four to the Wayne hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Bones and two sons had been in Wayne several days at the R. B. Kingston home with Mr. Bones' mother, Mrs. Sarah Bones, who passed away Thursday evening. They had been under considerable strain and had lost much sleep so that all of them were very tired when they started home early Friday.

Miss Glennie Bacon Writes Of Chicago

Miss Glennie Bacon, teacher in the Wayne city school who is attending the University of Chicago this summer, writes from there July 8 as follows:

"The hall in which we stay here houses 360 girls and is just like a hotel. Floors and halls are carpeted and there is elevator and maid service. We leave keys at the desk when we leave. The building is just a block and a half from my classes so is very convenient.

"My work is enjoyable though there is a lot of it to do. Instructors often ask us to read a whole book.

"Besides doing our school work, which we enjoy much, my sister and I are trying to see Chicago. We have visited the Field museum, Chicago Temple, three settlement houses, several theatres, the children's detention home, juvenile court, several large churches and a number of parks. We go back and forth from the Loop, the business district, by ourselves and do not get lost now. We live just two blocks from the lake and go there often.

"Miss Conklyn and Miss Stephens of Wayne are here and we see them each day. Miss Conklyn is in two of my classes and we usually eat luncheon with Miss Stephens. Miss Potras is here too but she is out at Evanston taking kindergarten course. She will be here six weeks. Miss Mielenz and Miss Behm will be here in the same hall with us the second six weeks.

"It has been terribly hot here. The morning paper said that Nebraska was the hottest place in the United States last Saturday, but it seemed just as hot here as Nebraska ever could be."

Elderly Sisters Enjoy Visit Here

Three sisters who are enjoying a visit together at the Mrs. Bertha Hood home in Wayne are Mrs. Mary Wadsworth of Wayne, Mrs. Anna Van Buskirk of Kingsley, Iowa, and Mrs. Hattie Loughery of Shoshone, Idaho. Mrs. Wadsworth, the eldest of the group is 80 and the other two are past 75. Mrs. Wadsworth and Mrs. Loughery had not visited each other for forty years. Mrs. Van Buskirk was here last winter, and she came Monday to join the reunion. Mrs. Wadsworth has lived in Wayne for forty years.

Feature Article Appears In Paper

Russell T. Prescott of Lincoln, teacher of English in the state university, has published in last Saturday's Omaha World-Herald a feature article regarding the school and especially the mathematics department. Mr. Prescott has had several articles accepted as features for the city paper.

OSCAR RINEHART SOUTH OF WAYNE IS AN OPTIMIST

Oscar Rinehart is one of the successful and happily situated agriculturists south of Wayne, and a talk with him convinces one that farmers are not so unfortunate as politicians would often lead us to believe. Mr. Rinehart lives seven and one-half miles south of Wayne where he occupies a modern home built during the inflation period following the World War. He says he did not run the risk of speculating while values were running feverishly high, but that he put surplus cash into his home, and now he has it. Mr. Rinehart came to Wayne county with his father thirty years ago, and he rented his land and quit farming four years ago. His father lives just across the road from his place, and his son lives just north. A daughter lives on a farm near Winside. He does not believe in amassing a big estate suddenly to be descended on heirs. He believes in helping children to help themselves, teaching them to work and to save what they earn and what falls to them in the course of events. The gentle rains of past weeks have soaked into the ground and have done great good. Mr. Rinehart thinks the agricultural prospect for the year is encouraging, and that profits in farming under present conditions will compare favorably with those in other lines of endeavor, adding that the so-called relief proposed by the late McNary-Haugen bill would be a burden rather than a help. He characterizes it as political bunk.

Beckenbauer Is Winner In Golf

Many Good Rounds Have Been Played on the Wayne Course Within Past Week.

Shooting an eighty with a handicap of twelve for a net score of sixty-eight, William Beckenhauer won the week-end golf event at the Wayne country club, and received the pair of golf hose given by the Golden Rule store. D. H. Larson was second with a seventy handicap. Prof. W. C. Hunter and F. S. Morgan tied for low gross score with seventy-eight strokes.

Norfolk will hold an invitation golf tournament July 22 to 25 and a number from Wayne plan to attend.

Another handicap medal play is planned for this week-end.

Several good rounds of golf have been played on the Wayne course the past ten days. Fred Dale has two rounds at different times in thirty-five. A number of thirty-six rounds were played. F. S. Morgan tied the eighteen-hole course record of seventy-two with two rounds of thirty-six each on July 4, playing each hole in par or better.

The golf course is now in the best shape it has been this season.

Legion Auxiliary Sells Many Poppies

Indianapolis, Ind.—Approximately 7,000,000 Memorial day poppies made by disabled veterans of the world war in government hospitals and convalescent workshops were sold by the American Legion Auxiliary this year. This is nearly 2,000,000 more veteran-made poppies than were sold by the Auxiliary last year. It is estimated that the American public paid an average of twelve and one-half cents each for the poppies, indicating a total of $875,000 received by the Auxiliary for its welfare work among the disabled and the families of the dead and disabled.

Mrs. Boyce Attends Funeral of Sister

Mrs. C. J. Boyce went to Norfolk Sunday to attend the funeral services held that day for her sister, Mrs. W. B. Donaldson, who passed away at her home there Friday, July 6, aged almost seventy years. Deceased leaves her husband and two daughters, Miss Geneva and Miss Blanche Donaldson, of Norfolk.

Sees Much On Trip In East

Rev. William Kearns Visits New York and Washington, Going to Places of Interest.

Traffic Problem

Several Means Are Being Worked Out For Relieving Congestion of Travel.

In his recent five-week visit in the east Rev. William Kearns of Wayne noted that crop conditions do not compare favorably with those of Nebraska and other middle western states; he found New York, being a state of wooded hills and stony soil, does not specialize in the crops raised in the middle west. Dairy-crops being used chiefly for feed. Much grain stuff is also raised. Rev. Kearns found that crops there are backward this season because of a cool, wet spring.

Do Much Building.

The metropolis is especially busy this season, Rev. Kearns states. Not many people seem to be without jobs. New York is doing a vast amount of building to solve the problem of congested traffic. Many good homes in the heart of New York are being removed, especially in the Bronx district, to be replaced by apartment houses. A home housing one family is replaced by an apartment housing from 700 to 1,000 families.

Enlarge Subway System.

Huge subway and bridges are also under construction to relieve congestion. As the apartments are constructed there is a congestion of traffic, so the subways are planned for the same purpose. Most people travel to work in an hour in the morning. To enable them to reach their destinations quickly, travel is planned on elevated trains, surface cars and subway trains. Those who have to be at work early can not make as good time by driving cars as by riding these trains.

Subways, which are being extended in the city, are gaining popular use. There are four tracks in the subway—two for express trains and two for locals. The express trains run about sixty miles an hour and stop only at stations about three miles apart. One can thus make faster time on these. The locals stop at stations about eight blocks apart. In the express one can go the entire length of the city in less than an hour. Each train contains about ten cars, pulled by electricity. They run at intervals of a half minute during the busy time.

An interesting point Rev. Kearns noted about subways is that contract for their construction specifies that they shall be built without interference to water, light, gas, telephone or fire service. The huge tunnels for the subways are built under heavy buildings and monuments, fulfilling this contract in every detail. Another thing that makes this remarkable is that New York is built on rock and excavation for such work is by blasting rather than by digging.

Elevated Trains Used.

Elevated trains are used much for traffic also. They carry about ten cars each and run express and locals also. Their time schedule is about the same as in the subways. New York also has 29,000 taxis. Traffic laws are strictly enforced. Rev. Kearns states that one must have sharp eyes and clear head to drive in the congested part of the city. Many individuals who are not in a hurry use taxicabs in the city. Only forms of transportation not used by many people going to their work in the city.

Tubes Under Rivers.

Tubes beneath the rivers are being built also to relieve traffic congestion. Rev. Kearns explains One six feet under the Hudson is used for trains. Another is being built for automobiles. Four suspension bridges span the East river. A new bridge is being built over the Hudson near the heart of the city. This will add traffic from Brooklyn. On each bridge are six lines of traffic, the outside ones being ones for trucks and the inside ones for automobiles. A good rate of speed is maintained by drivers, but having a strict.

An hour's ride will take one from the forty-story buildings in the heart of the city to the suburban homes and the wooded hills. Vast amounts of money are spent for the magnificent homes on the outskirts of the city. As traffic conditions improve, Rev. Kearns states, more people are building in these districts.

West Point Military Academy Visited By Rev. Kearns.

He was visited by Rev. Kearns. The grounds on the banks of the Hudson are beautiful. Most of the buildings are constructed from stone quarried nearby. About 1,200 young men are in training at the academy.

While in New York Rev. Kearns visited his boyhood friend, James H. Insurance man, who lived in Greely county, Neb., in the eighties.

Have Many Parks.

New York people have access to many forms of recreation, Rev. Kearns noted, and they are great spenders. Bronx and Central parks give recreation to thousands each day. Cony Island, the great amusement center, had 750,000 people there one day when Rev. Kearns visited the place. Boating on the river is also a favorite means of recreation.

One of the main reasons Rev. Kearns went to New York was to attend the consecration of Bishop Joseph Rumei, now of the Omaha diocese. This took place at St. Patrick cathedral May 29. The building, which is about twenty years old, was filled to capacity, about 3,000 attending. Six hundred priests were present.

Visits Washington, D. C.

Rev. Kearns visited Washington, D. C., enroute to New York. He saw both houses of congress in session. He went to the hall of fame where men and women of prominence appear in statues. None are there from Nebraska. He saw Lindbergh's plane which hangs over the door in the Smithsonian building. He also visited the White House and other places of interest.

Coming home, Rev. Kearns stopped in Chicago. He saw Mrs. Margaret Pryor Moore who formerly lived in Wayne.

Groups of Students Are Shown Through New Dormitory—Other School News.

First six-week term of the Wayne State Teachers College summer Session closed Friday evening, and the second opens next Monday. About seventy-five new students will register for the second term. Prof. E. J. Hunter conducted groups of students through the new dormitory Wednesday afternoon. About 200 went through the building in three groups. They were also shown the kitchen in the cafeteria. The roof is now being placed on the new dormitory.

Work of repairing windows broken in the Monday storm is being done. About 1,000 glasses had to be ordered.

Lloyd Rohrk of Chicago, who has been visiting in Hoskins, was here Tuesday.

Lodge Installs Officers Here

Sigurd Jensen.

Rebekahs had planned to install officers the same evening but on account of the storm the officer was unable to be present from Winside and the installation was postponed.

Appropriation Is Made By Council

The Wayne city council, at a regular meeting Tuesday evening, passed an ordinance making the annual appropriation for all city purposes at $146,800. This sum includes the following: Light, $55,000; general fund, $12,500; sewer fund, $1,200; parks, $2,500; streets and alleys, $6,500; library, $3,000; interest and sinking fund, $17,000; fire department, $2,000; water works, $13,000; maintaining highways to city, $1,200; and music, $2,400.

to many forms of recreation, Rev. Kearns noted, and they are great spenders. Bronx and Central parks give recreation to thousands each day. Cony Island, the great amusement center, had 750,000 people there one day when Rev. Kearns visited the place. Boating on the river is also a favorite means of recreation.

One of the main reasons Rev. Kearns went to New York was to attend the consecration of Bishop Joseph Rumei, now of the Omaha diocese. This took place at St. Patrick cathedral May 29. The building, which is about twenty years old, was filled to capacity, about 3,000 attending. Six hundred priests were present.

Visits Washington, D. C.

Rev. Kearns visited Washington, D. C., enroute to New York. He saw both houses of congress in session. He went to the hall of fame where men and women of prominence appear in statues. None are there from Nebraska. He saw Lindbergh's plane which hangs over the door in the Smithsonian building. He also visited the White House and other places of interest.

Coming home, Rev. Kearns stopped in Chicago. He saw Mrs. Margaret Pryor Moore who formerly lived in Wayne.

UNWELCOME HAIL HITS OTHERWISE IDEAL PROSPECT

FOR growing crops, the weather would have been about criticism had for an ugly hail storm which accompanied a fall of rain Monday night. The hail is said to have fallen within a path four miles wide at Hoskins and decreased to about a mile wide here, again widening at and beyond Wakefield. It is believed damaged corn, not in tassel, will largely recover, and that small grain, not too far advanced, will yet yield well. Aside from the path which suffered from hail, crops have, under the stimulus of moisture and hot weather, made wonderful growth during the week. We need plenty of rain and heat, but we would like to have the hail industry suspended until after crops have been gathered in the fall.

Will Improve Property Here

J. E. Fulmer May Build Two Structures and Remodel One on Main Street.

The former A. C. Bohner rooming house property on south Main street, owned since last fall by Mr. Studley of Long Beach, Calif., and occupied by the William Thies family, has been purchased by J. E. Fulmer of Long Beach, who is in Wayne now planning new buildings and improvement on the location. Two new buildings and remodeling the house will probably comprise the plans.

The lot bought by Mr. Fulmer is 155 by 114 feet. On the east part of the plot he plans to construct a fireproof face brick and tile building facing the north, this to be occupied by the O. E. Haas paint and fender shop. The structure will cost about $3,500 and work will start soon. A barn on the lot has been removed from the site for this building.

Mr. Fulmer's plans are not yet definite regarding the rest of the improvements. He may build another fireproof building on the corner of the lot. He will probably leave the residence on the south part of the site and modernize it.

Mr. Fulmer is here to arrange the improvements. He is a guest in the home of his niece, Mrs. O. B. Haas.

Former Nurses Here Win High Honors

Miss Mae Smeltzer of Pierson, Iowa, and Miss Olga Tvedt of Kearney, former student nurses at the Wayne hospital and also former students at the Wayne State Teachers College, graduated in June from the nurses' training school at Mt. Sinai hospital in Chicago, with high honors. Miss Smeltzer won the year's scholarship to Columbia university given each year to the girl ranking highest as the best student nurse in class work, general duty and as least all-around nurse. Miss Tvedt won honorable mention as a very capable student nurse. The winning of the scholarship by Miss Smeltzer makes the second time highest honors have gone to a former student nurse of the Wayne hospital, Miss Emma Arnold of Lyons, having received a like honor in the Mt. Sinai hospital graduating class of 1925. Miss Lillian Rohrborg of Osmond, also a former student nurse at the Wayne hospital, won honors from the Mt. Sinai hospital as the most popular nurse of the class of 1926.

House Destroyed By Fire In Altona

Fire which is thought to have been started by a defective chimney destroyed the William Koehn house in Altona, occupied by the Heine Schlake family, about 9 o'clock Thursday evening. The loss is estimated at about $1,000 and insurance covers about $500 of the amount.

A hot fire had been used in the kitchen stove on Thursday and it is thought sparks got through the chimney and started the blaze.

Mrs. Schlake heard a crackling noise several times but thought it was from the firecrackers which the children were shooting in the yard. When the fire was discovered it had gained considerable headway and it was impossible to save the building. Most of the furniture was saved.

HADDORFF PIANOS

The career of the Haddorff pianos is by many in the art-world regarded as phenomenal. These famous instruments compass every form and attainment, in-cluding the Artistic Grands, Re-producing Pianos, Grand Repro-ducing Players, Player-pianos and uprights—every phase of high-grade piano manufacture, and the name of Haddorff is always the symbol of musical attainment.

The attainment of power in a piano's name is a matter of such complexity of elements that to de-scribe the way to that result in words is almost impossible. Haddorff pianos have so long stood as representatives of fine achieve-ment in pianos, that to refer to the evenness of tone, the respon-siveness of action, and the charm of expression possible to the per-former, would be to repeat that with which the piano world is al-ready familiar. Haddorff pianos are recognized as models of piano artistry. They are instruments whose working out have been, as is always the case with ambitious instruments, gradual and progres-sive through the years. The Had-dorff scale is so finely shaded, and its tonal results so graduated, that there is no ear so acute as to detect where the dividing lines occur. And that is one of the triumphs of the scale draughtsman's work. It is the work of a master acousti-cian whose entire life has been de-voted to piano development and the finest attainment of inborn skill and experience has found cul-mination in the instruments that bear his name. Mr. C. A. Had-dorff designed and created the first Haddorff piano. He is still the active and very fertile head of the factories of the Haddorff Pi-ano Co., at Rockford, Ill. The Haddorff sounding board is sci-en-tifically constructed with a view to obtaining the greatest respon-sive without in the least inter-fering with the clarity of tone and quality of tone-power. Had-dorff pianos are the results of the best materials so carefully treat-ed and adjusted and so finely finish-in external and internal details that there is only reason for ap-proval by the most critical. And this applies also to durability, sav-ing to these instruments every-thing that the discriminating piano lover must demand, and in-suring for the instrument itself the progressive career to which it was originally dedicated. Haddorff pianos have attained an immor-tal place in the world of art, and they are everywhere recognized for the influence they exert in musical life and in the business attainments of their representa-tives.

Scientists have figured that the earth could support a population five times its present size. It is calculated that while North America now has a population of 145,000,000, it could support an increase of 800,000,000. Thus, overpopulation and congestion seem a long way off.

We notice the livestock report speaks of old cows as old shells, emphasizing the comparatively low price which they were worth on the market, and the buoyantly refer to choice weasels as commanding big figures. This is a cold and unsentimental way to refer to an elderly cow whose years have been devoted to faithful service.

The Geneva Signal says the English house of commons has rejected the revised prayer book for the second time on account of faulty form and ceremony. It conformed to doctrine, but its appearance was against it. Nothing is said about the spirit of prayer, but the English think it must be strong in style to carry proper weight.

The small grain harvest has started in southern Nebraska, and first shipments of the crop have reached the Omaha market. The crop is reported satisfactory in both quantity and quality, and the result will put into circulation a lot of well deserved cash. The north part of the state will realize on its crops a little later in the season.

While both party platforms pledge enforcement of the prohibition amendment, it is pointed out in a review appearing in the Literary Digest that the two candidates are in conflict on the subject, virtually making it an issue. Hoover is quoted as saying that he is against repeal of the prohibition amendment and is in favor of vigorous and sincere enforcement. On the other hand, Smith expresses belief in the need of fundamental changes in the provision for national prohibition, convinced that it is "entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass of our people."

OLD DAYS, NAY.

Editor of the Rear Seat in the Sioux City Journal seems to yearn for the old days when people walked or rode behind horses or in street cars, and when they got to know each other better and liked each other better. As pointed out by the writer, a hundred-mile trip in the early days was the event of a lifetime, and people loafed on neighbors' porches and had a good time. But close friendships were possible with comparatively few. People were then more provincial. They are now more cosmopolitan. They know more people now, if not any so well as formerly. A review of the rural correspondence in the Herald or other country newspaper reveals innumerable social contacts made possible by improved means of transportation and good roads. Wayne shows more animation during any hour of any day than it did during the busiest Saturdays in the early period when people came here within a radius of five miles. Now every life country town is the scene of visiting throngs every Saturday night when they drive in from distances up to twenty-five or thirty miles to combine business with pleasure. We think acquaintance has been wonderfully extended, and as a consequence people are broader and better informed, and life should be richer and more enjoyable. We would not want conditions restored as they were thirty or forty years ago, and we do not believe the Rear Seat editor would, on due reflection. We would like to try our luck as a young man with the increased advantages of the present day. With habits of health guarded and habits of industry applied, a young man ought to be able to go far in training and achievement. We would not give a picayune to repeat the journey through old conditions, but we would give much to renew youth to the extent of being able to take advantage of multiplied and multiplying facilities and opportunities.

Thus, both have stated their positions clearly, and in effect invite voters to consider it in making choice between them.

In order the more successfully to compete with metropolitan centers, merchants in the smaller towns must be up on their toes, show the world what they have to offer and be ready to serve. Price comparisons will usually prove advantage in trading in the home town where overhead is not so great, but where stocks are kept up and assortments are sufficient to meet all requirements or desires. But home merchants must do what the big city stores do—let the people know, and then be on the job to give the service.

Our suspicion that Mark Murray would marshal his Pender Times in support of Al. Smith and everything said and done at Houston has been confirmed. Mark sees good in every delinquency of his party and bad in every virtue of the opposing party. In politics he operates what President Wilson would call a single-track mind. While Mark thinks the war is too old to discuss, he attributes its causes and burdens to powerful republicans who were not in power. But he prefers to consider farm relief which may or may not have the revolving fee, but which must have the correct party label. The average farmer who could buy all the earthly possessions of the average politician or editor with spare poultry money, must look on with amusement.

Edgar Howard, democratic candidate to succeed himself in congress, points out as an intentional affront to a farming community the government's order to discontinue a broadcasting station at LeMars, Iowa, August 1. As a matter of fact, several hundred broadcasting stations have been instructed to quit August 1, because too many of little or no consequence encumber the air and impair the efficiency of stations that have something worthwhile to communicate. If it can be shown that the LeMars station is giving service that a more powerful station in a larger center could not give, it will doubtless be made an exception in the group slated to be discontinued. Congressman Howard virtually charges the LeMars incident to unfriendliness on the part of President Coolidge, and if the station is not reinstated, he is apparently ready to charge responsibility to Candidate Hoover, all of which reeks with inconsistency.

We have always lived in farming communities and our sympathies and interests are closely interwoven with them. Most of the people who take this newspaper are glad to pay for it, are farmers. Nowhere in the world can be found people of finer character or higher citizenship than those on farms of this great middle west. Therefore, we resent the suggestion that they are becoming prone to quit August 1, because they are better off as a class in all respects than most city dwellers. The editor of Farm Life, whose business is to understand agricultural conditions, speaking at Detroit, made this reference in defense of the standing of the farm business: "Agriculture has been drearily pictured as a scene of murk and hopelessness. As a matter of fact the modern farm today would be an agricultural heaven to grand-dad. Contrast the bare drudgery of twenty years ago with the modern sort, lighted and brightened by power, machinery, radios, automobiles and other things."

Congressman Edgar Howard notes, an unusual spirit of independence among newspaper writers as the present political campaign opens. He mentions a Texas editor who has bolted the democratic ticket on account of a feeling that its nominee, Al. Smith, would not enforce prohibition, and the congressman offers reproof on the as-

ARTIFICIAL AID.
 C. C. Charles, late of the Ponda Journal, formerly of Winster and Elger and for a brief time of Wayne, is reported to have located in Sioux City where he proposes to put on the market a patented physical culture device which will exercise 800 muscles in the human body within a period of one minute. We'd say that is going strong for an artificial muscle awakener. According to an authority there are 103 principal muscles in the body, and according to another authority there are altogether 459 muscles thus far discovered. This new machine will not only exercise all known muscles, but arouse a lot of little ones hitherto unknown. (The only time we thought we were exercising our full complement of muscles was forty years ago when we borrowed a preacher's horse to ride and promised not to go faster than a trot.) This new machine will do away with both work and play as means to arouse muscles and to keep them from dying. Plowing, hoeing, mowing, lawns, pitching hay, handling coal, any kind of physical effort will excite the muscles and make them healthy. But these things constitute work and require energy and will power. Golfing, boating, swimming and other recreative sports also contribute to strong muscles, but these necessitate exercise of motive power with a friendly mental attitude. The machine develops muscles without consulting ambition or energy or state of mind, and wrestles with all of them simultaneously. It does not treat a big muscle better than a little one. It is democratic and impartial. All one needs to do is to make the connection and then just sit and listen to the birds. Concordantly, Charles ought to figure out a machine that would develop cells without study of thinking. Then when we can get food from the air and fuel from the sun, we may just look on and wait for Gabriel to blow his horn.

Africa Missionary Speaks In Wayne

E. N. Nelson, missionary in East Africa who has been in Oakland on Furlough, spoke at the E. B. Young home here Wednesday afternoon and at the Baptist church in the evening, telling of the work he and his wife have been doing among the natives of Africa. Mr. Nelson started his work there when he was 42 years old and stayed eight years. He and his wife came here to recuperate their health and plan to return to Africa in the fall. They spent this spring in the Denver bible institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson's field in Africa is near Lake Victoria, sixty miles from any town. They conduct services and Sunday school, there being about 150 in the latter. They are the only white people in the district. While in this country their work is being carried on by natives.

Supplies for the settlement are carried from the city which is sixty miles distant. Mr. Nelson makes the trip by bicycle. Natives walk, carrying supplies on their heads. The trip requires crossing a river over which there is no bridge. Grain and garden stuffs are raised and the rest of the food is imported.

White ants are troublesome pests. Furniture which stands still must have the legs placed in cans. Chairs and other articles which are moved often are not bothered. Mr. Nelson showed a bible which had been in a box on the lawn over night and during that time the ants had bored holes in the book.

Mr. Nelson showed articles the natives had made. Among these were shields, one of buffalo hide and one of carved wood. He showed the ornaments which the natives hang heavily on their ankles. They are made of giraffe hair around which is wound copper wire.

Wind And Hail Loss In County

Smith farm about seven miles west of Wayne and a windmill at the Christen Hansen farm adjoining was lifted up and pushed through the walls of a barn.

Rainfall from the two storms Monday evening amounted to .95 of an inch according to the State Bank of Wayne gauge.

Two-thirds of the apples are off of the trees at the Walter L. Taylor place north of town. Mr. Taylor's garden stuff is badly damaged also. Many other farmers also suffered such losses. A number of chickens were killed, some having been struck by hail and some having smothered from crowding together. Many birds were knocked from nests and killed.

Lightning killed two cows at the Harry Walker farm.

West sides of buildings in Wayne and vicinity had many glasses broken. About 1,000 small panes were broken in the State Normal buildings. The greenhouse had about 1,000 broken at the buildings in the north part of town. Hail did not damage any glass at the south greenhouse. Eleven windowlights were broken in the high school building. Several houses and stores had glasses broken. Many telephone poles in the country were down and lines were out of order for a day or two. Some trees were blown down and many branches were torn off.

Travelers in automobiles sought shelter wherever possible. It is reported that the storm halted many cars on the Hoekins road and some slid into ditches. Hailstones broke tops of machines and bruised the occupants.

Widens East of Wakefield.

The storm seems to have passed northeast of Wayne toward Wakefield, the strip of damaged property widening on the east side of Wakefield and toward Emerson. Hailstones are reported to have been as large as chicken eggs at Wakefield. Some, it is said, bounced ten feet high after striking the sidewalks. A number of broke holes in tops of cars. Many windows were broken in that vicinity also.

Corn leaves are riddled in the strip near Wakefield, though it is thought most of the crop will produce a good yield. Small grain is down but much of this will revive, it is thought.

Charles Levene, Neph Swaggerty, Joe Dahlgren, J. H. Montgomery, Wallace Ring, Peter Miller, Swan Nelson, Elmer Swanson, Axel Tullberg, Carl Swanson, Peter Froyd, Alvin Frederickson, Dewey Frederickson, G. E. Packard, T. C. Jensen, Neil McJorkindale, Lenus Ring, Oscar Johnson, Evald Holmes, Elmer Felt, John Goshorn, Emil Anderson, Holtorf brothers and Will Driskell are among those having losses.

Emerson and Nacora are said to have had a larger amount of loss. The storm did not extend to Ponca or to Sioux City, there having been no rain there.

Rainfall in Wakefield amounted to .65 of an inch. Rain extended only four miles north of Wakefield. A good shower fell south of town several miles but no damage is reported from hail.

The roof of a hog house was taken off at the Driskell farm. Wind broke trees there and at many other places.

No Damage at Altona.

Altona and vicinity received a good rain. A few hailstones fell there but they were small and no damage was done.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

IF THE OLD SAYING THAT "THE TEAMS THAT LEAD THEIR LEAGUES ON JULY 4 MEET IN THE WORLD SERIES" HOLDS GOOD IT'S ALL OVER

BY PHILIP MARTIN

ONE of the most generally accepted theories of baseball is the one which says that the two clubs leading the major leagues on July Fourth will meet in the world series in the fall.

This theory is one which holds with few exceptions and those exceptions are cases like the winning of the pennant by the Boston Braves in 1914. So, now that the Fourth has come and gone, we can all bet and wait for the annual classic in the fall which will present the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals as the opposing teams.

The belief that these two teams will meet in the world series is not an entirely new one with your correspondent. Practically every orthodox fan of any importance picked the Yankees to win in the American League, and many were the ones who thought the Cards were the stuff in the National League. And with our July-Fourth theory to substantiate our pre-season guess, we are more certain than ever that the Yanks are in and the Cards will be their opponents.

It is almost an impossibility to prevent the Yanks from stretching under the wire. They're so far ahead of the other clubs that the race is more or less for places in the first division. Of course, Babe Ruth can break a many were the ones who thought the Cards were the stuff in the National League. And with our July-Fourth theory to substantiate our pre-season guess, we are more certain than ever that the Yanks are in and the Cards will be their opponents.

The Yanks are in and that's all there is to it.

THE case of the St. Louis Cards is a bit different. They're traveling along nicely at this time.

thanks to the inspired play of the veteran Maranville and the nice hitting of Bottomley, Donath, Rietger, Holm and the others and the nice pitching of Hal Haines, Alexander, Rhem and Sherdel, but the other clubs are not entirely out of it.

The New York Giants have their good moments and their bad moments, but their good moments are greater than their bad ones. The Reds claim they are not out of it, and the Dodgers and the Cubs are not talking about next year yet.

Will a rival club beat the Cards out? We doubt it.

To eliminate the unlikely clubs in this possibility, the Braves and the Phillies certainly won't. And we doubt if Donie Bush can get his Buccaneers in hand.

The Dodgers—well, too much of a this-and-that club to expect more of them than what they're doing now.

The Cubs—500 ball is about their speed.

The Reds—looked good for a few weeks and will bear watching a bit longer.

The Giants—the Roush trouble didn't help their cause any, and they don't look as powerful as the Cards. Ott's a good ball player. Pitching could be improved.

SOMEHOW or other, we can't work up very much enthusiasm about the chances of any club except the Cards. They have the batting punch, the pitching strength and the fight to win and we think they will. If they don't we haven't the least idea which team will. Any of them might.

Summer's "Little Frocks" Grow Frilly

BROWN IS NEWEST COLOR TO FIND ITSELF TO DAINTY PATTERNS—HATS ARE NOT SO LARGE AFTER ALL—STRAWS AND FELTS COMPETE

BY HARRIET
THE "little frocks" of midsummer grow frilly, rippling, and bow-knotted, according to the latest dictates of fashion.

An all-around fullness is one of the newest features that promise greater stress as the summer progresses. And a fuller hip-line is noticed on many.

So far as materials go, prints and plain colors divide honors. The newest prints are those that have a dark background with lively figures printed thereon in cheerful color.

And, in mentioning color, one should stress the new uses to which brown is being put. The authenticity of this once hardy color for delicate, dressy frocks is remarkable.

Mellum-Frocks Hats Best
Hats show a wider-brim treatment for the street type. But this does not mean that tremendously big hat that spring forecast, but summer falls to produce except for the most dressy of occasions. The new hat is the medium one, with a crown that rounds to fit the head and a brim that really could give purpose, it called upon for that purpose.

Straws and felts still compete for favor. The way the modern woman clings to her felt hats is a commentary on the insistence on comfort she makes today. For the felt hat, though warmer, is the easiest in many ways. It is so durable, so able to emerge fresh and becoming after one has sat on it in the auto, or dropped it on the floor of the country club porch!

Women returning from abroad with elaborate wardrobes and women stay-at-homes who are known for their good taste in dress are making much of the "little frock" this summer. This is the type of dress that is primarily excellent for the street but equally good if one decides to lunch or go to a matinee and desires to look smart.

Figured and Plain Frocks
I show today two new types of "little frocks." One figured, one plain, the former worn by Miss Beatrix Blackwell (right), the other by Miss Marie Kearney (left), both society girls of New York.

The figured dress establishes the double-knit as the newest contribution to changing style. Double ruffles of the raspberry-shaded crepe with sprigs of cream and green flowers, circle the skirt four times, march twice up and down the left side of the waist and edge the top of the cuffs.

This frock has a modestly rounded neck and a natural waistline, marked by a stitched, tailored belt of self material. This is the type of new "little frock" that will give ideas to the girl sewing her own college wardrobe, the business girl clever with her needle, or mother, who must plan all her daughter's fall clothes.

Secondly, but equally smart, is a sandalwood brown satin, with cream inserts of pipated chiffon. Its skirt is tightly fitted over the hips, flaring with fluted inserts all around, like godets. The waist is bloused slightly over in wide, tight belt-line. The long sleeves tie smartly with effeminate bows, at the wrists.

Topping this "little frock" is a dark brown ballbanet that illustrates the wider brim for the street hat and the way the new ones tuck or fold their way to chic.

Public Address On Convention

A. R. Davis Speaks at Program Sponsored by the Wayne Woman's Club Friday.

A. R. Davis, delegate from Nebraska to the republican national convention in Kansas City, addressed a public gathering at the Community house Friday evening, sponsored by the Wayne Woman's club.

F. S. Berry, another delegate to the convention, was to have spoken also but was out of town and could not be present.

Delegates to the national convention are, Mr. Davis explained, men and women who have taken interest and specialized in some particular line of politics.

Delegates and visitors at the Kansas City meeting numbered about 11,000. Each delegate was allowed two extra tickets for his friends, and each alternate received one ticket.

Population of the states determined the number given.

Amplifiers in all parts of the huge hall made hearing easy, the speaker stated. Thousands crowded on the outside of the building also to hear the convention proceedings and Mr. Davis said that these people outside, being farther from the amplifiers, could hear better than those inside.

Nebraska had 175 delegates and guests at the convention.

In contrasting the convention of 1920 in Chicago with the one in Kansas City, Mr. Davis noted the absence of such statesmen as the late Chauncey DePew and Joe Cannon. He also noted that, while special trains took delegates to the 1920 meeting, each person made his own choice of reaching Kansas City.

Though the Nebraska delegates were divided into two schools of thought, the speaker stated that each group was pledged to its candidate though all knew at the start that Hoover would be nominated for president. Mr. Hoover had a solid backing.

Congestion experienced in Chicago during the 1920 convention was not noticed in Kansas City. Mr. Davis stated that he had a comfortable hotel room for $7 a day while in Chicago in 1920 he and another man shared a room which cost $40 a day.

Mr. Davis urged women to use their right to vote to gain desired legislation. This campaign will be one of the most active in history and he urged all to study and vote.

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis introduced the speaker Friday evening.

Seven Injured In Accident At Homer

Homer, Neb., July 6.—Six women and a small boy, most of them of Pender, Neb., suffered cuts and bruises when the automobile in which they were riding home from Sioux City after a shopping trip skidded in loose gravel and overturned seven miles north of Homer, this afternoon.

The women are Miss Georgia Brich, Miss Alice Brich and Miss Abbie Brich, of near Pender; Mrs. Fred W. Brich and her son, of Chicago; and Mrs. B. M. Long and her daughter, Beatrice, of Pender. None of them was seriously injured.

William Brown, driver for the Interstate Bus company, on his way from Omaha to Sioux City, stopped at the scene of the accident and picked up the victims. He took them to Dakota City, Neb., and they returned to Pender in another bus. The car was driven by Mrs. Fred Brich, who with her husband and son, has been visiting at the home of her father-in-law, John Brich, near Pender.

The automobile in which the women and the boy were riding was a large sedan. Although the top was damaged when the car overturned, the occupants were not pinned beneath it, but some of them were painfully bruised. They were attended by a Pender physician.

Census Discloses Interesting Facts

In the Wayne city school census, compiled recently by Mrs. D. J. Cavanaugh, the number of residents was found to be 2,309. This does not include college students. Only two residents are not citizens, and only three are unable to read or write. Two children are foreign born, one being a son of C. E. Wilson who was born in the Virgin Islands and the other being the daughter of Rev. A. C. Downing who was born in England. The largest family has nine children of school age.

Californians Are Here For A Visit

A. L. Tucker of Pasadena, Calif., who with his wife arrived Friday for a visit with relatives and friends, has unlimited faith in the middle west. The incomes received from farmers and other business interests here enable a great many people to spend a portion of their time in California, Mr. Tucker says.

Mr. Tucker especially commends women in business both in California and in other points visited on his way to Nebraska. Increasing numbers of women are assuming business obligations solely on their own resources and are succeeding. Among others mentioned by Mr. Tucker is Mrs. Jennie Robbins, formerly of Wayne, who is conducting a tearoom in Alhambra, Calif. Mrs. Robbins, with her daughter, finds much delight in meeting both old friends and new at The Blue Room.

Mr. Tucker states that crop conditions throughout the journey from California are very satisfactory. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker stopped in Boise, Idaho, enroute here to visit their daughter, Mrs. Craig Coffin. They are visiting two other daughters, Mrs. H. J. Felber and Mrs. H. B. Jones, here.

The Fighting Age

York Republican: An editorial by Dr. Glenn Frank directs attention to a fact that is worthy of note. It illustrates the view that the fighting age is moving upward in the scale of age.

We remember that Napoleon was a youth when he arrived at the place of world power. Lafayette, who came to assist Washington in the war of the revolution, was a boy in the twenties. The fighting of the world in those days and in days long before was done by the youths of the twenty and less.

Passing down the history of the United States a few decades we note that another great war is being fought. The men in the ranks are mere boys, but the generalia are full grown men. Grant was thirtyone, Sherman fortyone, Sheridan thirty, Lee fiftyfive, Jackson thirtyseven, Bragg forty-six. The passing years since the revolutionary days had added almost a score of the years of a man's full stature.

Once again the scene shifts and the world war brings forward a new set of generals. And note their ages: Pershing fiftysix,

Wayne City Library Receives New Books

A number of new books have been accessioned at the city library. "Forever Free" by Monore Willis Morrow, is a novel of Abraham Lincoln in which the hero is Lincoln himself. The story shows the man as torn between duty and patriotism and human tenderness against a background of domestic life and social intrigue, with Mary Lincoln and the beautiful, Miss Ford, Confederate spy, taking active parts. "The Bridge of San Luis Rey" Pulitzer prize novel, is by Thornton Wilder and is a search for an answer to the riddle of the universe. Five people are hurled to their death in the collapse of a bridge and Brother Juniper, a Franciscan monk, searches into the lives of the victims for a revelation of God's intention in casting them at that moment into eternity. "A Mirror of Witches" by Esther Forbes, has a unique theme. A child is picked up by an English skipper in Brittany after its parents have been burned as witches. The child is adopted by the skipper and taken to Salem in the new world. Through the memory of her parents' tragedy she comes to think herself a witch as she grows older. struction in the village after the war. "Meat," a novel by Wilbur Daniel Steele, tells of the struggles for life self-lived of the children of New England parents, who lay down the laws of "Thou Shalt Not." Robert W. Chambers gives the story of Count Frontenac in the vivid story of "The Sun Hawk." It follows the shifting of the Count's struggles from the courts and battlefields of Europe to Quebec and the impenetrable forests and great rivers of New France. "Pluck," by Basil King, seeks to answer the question "Should a woman ever sell herself?" "Kit Carson, The Happy Warrior of the Old West," by Stanley Vestal, tells much of the wanderings of this famous early frontiersman. "Disraeli" is by Andre Maurois and tells the remarkable tale of the life of a man who realizes every dream he had as a boy. "Under the Rainbow Sky," by Alice Ross Colver, is the story of a charming, thoughtless heiress who is made to realize her duty to society through the strength and character of a "man of the people." "Michael Strogoff," by Jules Verne, tells the story of the series of escapes made by the captain of a corps of secret couriers to the czar of Russia after the report of an invasion of Siberia by Mongol and Tartar troops. "A Popular Guide To Radio," by B. Francis Dashiell, is the story of the origin, development, operation of radio and of the principles underlying it, for the non-technical reader. "The Living Constitution," by Howard Lee McBain, "Economic History of the United States" by Harold Underwood Faulkner, and "Economic Institutions" by Willard L. Thorp, are included in the "The World Today Bookshelf." "Translation of the Holy Bible" is by Dr. James Moffatt and in this, the whole bible has been retranslated. About Nebraska and Nebraskans

Will M. Maupin.

Answers to last week's questions: 1.—The goldenrod, by act of the legislature of 1895.

Nebraska is growing old. On June 29 Alliance celebrated the 40th anniversary of the entry of the Burlington into that now thriving city.

Several Nebraska newspapers have recently declared that no great political party had ever held its convention in Nebraska.

There are elderly politicians in Nebraska who will insist that the people's independent party was great. At least it kept two old parties guessing.

The first national convention held west of the Mississippi river was the republican national convention of 1856, which nominated McKinley.

Daily newspapers recently printed the portrait of New Jersey veteran of the Civil War, who is 91 years old, and said he was probably the oldest survivor of that struggle.

Gothenburg and Cozad, and all the territory in between, is preparing for a big celebration on July 13. It will celebrate the building of the Thirty-Mile Irrigation canal, which was financed by the farmers owning the land under the canal.

How to proceed to select a republican candidate for congress in the Fourth district is puzzling the legal fraternity.

The questions usually propounded in this letter are omitted this week. They will be resumed at an early date.

Captain H. R. Davis of the California Historical Society is in Nebraska, mapping out the old western trails and endeavoring to enlist support for a repetition of the famous trek of 1849 and the few years later.

Fort Kearney, Fort McPherson, Fort Hartsuff and Fort Mitchell were Nebraska frontier posts in those days.

The only celebration of that great trek that is held in Nebraska is at Gering. There every year "Oregon Trail Days," is celebrated in a fitting manner.

A Remedy for War? Lincoln Journalist, President Daniel L. Hatch, of Boston University, told the National Education association at Minneapolis, that education should produce intelligent patriotism and pave the way for avoiding war.

In fact, education, in the case of weak willed individuals may actually work harm. They learn of things about which they had no previous knowledge. They are told of the final results of such acts, but succumb to the temptation because they wish to realize the temporary enjoyment which their new knowledge has made available to them.

In the case of war, we may be educated to realize its horrors, its tremendous cost, all its ill effects, but if hatreds persist wars will continue. Hatred is an emotion and is not greatly affected by education.

It is generally admitted, that a mere stunt, the flight of a plane across the Atlantic, did more toward creating good will between nations than the preaching of decades. Acts appeal to our emotions. The nomination of Hughes by Sweden to the World Court was an act which demonstrated friendship toward us.

Three New Bridges. Lincoln, Neb., July 5.—The state department of public works today announced bids on the construction of three bridges will be received July 25.

By virtue of an Order of Sale, to me directed, issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, upon a decree rendered therein, at the April, 1926, term thereof, in an action pending in said court wherein the City of Wayne in the State of Nebraska was plaintiff and Alta E. Rodgers and Lee M. Rodgers were defendants, I will, on the 6th day of August, 1928, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the door of the office of the Clerk of said Court, in the court house in Wayne, in said county, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to wit: The North Half of Lot Fifteen (15) in Block Four (4) of the Original Town of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, to satisfy the aforesaid decree, the amount due thereon being $798.85 with interest and costs and accruing costs.

REPORT OF THE CONDITION OF THE HOSKINS STATE BANK of Hoskins, Charter No. 584, in the State of Nebraska, at the close of business June 30, 1928.

Early Copies Of Two Papers

John R. Morris of Carroll, Has First Issues of Carroll and Sholes Publications.

John R. Morris of west of Carroll, brought to the Herald office earliest copies of the Sholes and Carroll papers, which are the longest published. The Carroll Quill is dated January 15, 1897, and is a four-page issue with sheets six by eight inches.

The first page of the Carroll paper copy mentioned is devoted to ways the paper can serve the community. The slogan, "Live and Let Live," is printed at the top. Advertisements were entered for the following: Edwards and Bradford lumber company; John P. White being manager; R. D. Merrill, dealer in shelf and heavy hardware and farm machinery; Minnie Will, proprietor of the city meat market; Carroll hotel, Vet. Carlin being proprietor; A. C. VanHorn, fire insurance agent; Boston chop house in Randolph; F. A. Berry, lawyer; J. H. Belden, tonsorial parlor; and Ed. Zeilke, billiard hall.

According to the Sioux City Journal a beet sugar factory will be established in Wayne and it is thought thousands of acres of beets will be raised in this section.

W. L. Rose of Genoa, is visiting in Randolph.

F. Coleman of near Randolph, shipped cattle.

C. D. Conklin and brother, Rollin, returned to Carroll after a visit in Greeley, Neb.

Turner & Brenner elevator at Carroll bought eighty loads of corn one day and ninety the next.

T. E. Evans marketed ten loads of hogs in Carroll.

Markets are: Wheat, 60c; oats, 10c; corn, 10c; hogs, $2.60.

Rev. John Merrill of Carroll, went to Hiawatha, Kan.

Elias Hines of Wayne, is welding the hammer in the Thomas Shorts blacksmith shop at Carroll.

Items from the Sholes paper of 1905 are as follows: Harry Howarth is building a new residence in Sholes.

W. W. Black is building an addition to his residence.

A. G. Carlson bought new blacksmith tools for his shop at Sholes.

Frank George who is working for H. W. Burnham, had a wheel on his wagon break when he was forty feet from the elevator with grain.

Nels Howarth sold his interest in the Sholes dry line.

Benny Hall, brakeman on the Bloomfield line, had his back wrenched in an accident.

W. F. Lawson has moved from Craig and has moved onto the Fenwick farm.

Methodist church at Sholes elected the following officers: Trustees, F. W. Schroeder, J. L. Beaton, Alex Neal, C. O. Sellon, John Samuelson, and H. W. Burnham; stewards, F. W. Schroeder, C. R. Hoar, Alex Neal; Sunday school superintendent, John Samuelson; class leader, W. J. Harter; reading steward, Mrs. F. W. Schroeder. The pastor's salary was fixed at $200 a year.

An article on sheep raising, read by John R. Morris before the Carroll Farmers Institute Feb. 25, 1905, is published. In part the article says that sheep are valuable on the farm for they eat 570 of the 600 grasses and weeds in the northwest. They keep weeds down on the farms; Fat sheep produce the best wool and the best meat. Citizenship Theme N. E. A. Convention

"Education for citizenship" was the keynote of the sixtieth annual convention of the National Education Association in Minneapolis July 1 to 6. The national slogan used was, "Democracy is something deeper than liberty; it is responsibility." Fifteen thousand and instructors from all states of the union and from Alaska, the Philippines, Hawaii, and the Hawaiian Islands were present. Hawaiian delegates spent $10,000 to make the trip and brought gifts from the school children of the islands. Mrs. Allis Pollard and Miss Olive Huse of the Wayne high school faculty, and Mrs. Clara Helmyun of the Wayne State Teachers College were among those in attendance. The hall in which the meetings were held was large enough to hold more than the 15,000 who gathered for the convention. Amplifiers were used in the hall. The building was one which was constructed last year.

Theodore Christianson, governor of Minnesota, stated in his address that America is made in the schoolroom.

Florence M. Hale, in an address on rural education, stated that pupils in the country should have the same advantages as those in town. She stated that the present school is bringing this about.

They called her a soulless "gold-digger" but...

Do you remember the sensational breach of promise suit, a few years ago, by a humble flower-girl against her young millionaire lover and his wealthy mother? At the trial many ugly charges were hurled at the girl. She was called a "gold-digger," a blackmailer, a shameless creature who loved only money and the luxury money could buy.

But when, in a voice broken by sobs, she told her pitiful story, men hardened to sorrow wiped their eyes furively—women in the court-room wept aloud.

Then came that dramatic and unlooked-for conclusion. An unexpected witness was called to the stand—and in ten words hurled into the tense silence of the crowded court-room a bombshell that reverberated to the ends of the earth.

Most people were stunned by the unexpected outcome of the trial. Even today few suspect the true history of events behind that tremendous drama of intrigue, suffering and deathless love.

But now the entire story has been told by the girl who was the central figure in that amazing drama. Told in words that will bring tears to your eyes—tears of joy, of sorrow, of understanding and sympathy.

Landau Coupe, $1045 - Body by Fisher

The Family Budget

The family budget and ours are alike in one particular—outgo must not exceed income if success is to be attained.

Telephone revenues must be sufficient to meet all expenses, such as taxes and wages. They also must provide a fair return on the value of the property.

Otherwise, reliable service cannot be provided to the public and additional money cannot be obtained from investors to expand the business to meet the increasing demands for service.

Your telephone needs can be met satisfactorily only when the telephone income is sufficient.

McCormick - Deering BINDERS

Is Your Binder Ready For Harvest?

McCormick-Deering grain binders have long enjoyed a world-wide reputation for substantial construction and ability to stand up and do accurate work year after year. Now you can buy in one machine the best features of both the McCormick and Deering, with the addition of many new improvements.

The McCormick-Deering grain binder is substantially built and light running. The improvements which enable it to cut grain so successfully and tie bundles with such consistent accuracy, also include features which facilitate adjustments when they are necessary.

Binding Twine

We have just received a new stock of McCormick-Deering binding twine which is uniformly high grade. This twine is so protected in its manufacture that there is no waste of time or twine when you get into the field. It unwinds freely without snarling or tangling, and it serves convenience and economy. It is guaranteed for length, strength and weight. It has been treated against destruction by insects. Let us know your needs and we will see that you are supplied.

McCormick-Deering Tractor Binder

The McCormick-Deering Tractor Binder is the latest development in grain harvesting equipment—a practical, wide-cut binder designed especially for use with McCormick-Deering tractors. This binder which has a ten-foot cut, has been improved and developed in actual use for a number of years and will meet the varying field and grain conditions demanded of a machine of this kind.

Views Conditions On Trip To East

John D. Jones and sons, John and Mauldin, of Randolph, arrived home Sunday, from a two weeks' trip to Pittsburgh, Penna., where Mr. Jones went to get his daughter, Marion, who had made her home with an aunt, Mrs. George Huey, the past three years. The three took a northern route going, crossing the Mississippi river at Dubuque, Iowa, and then going to Chicago, northern Indiana and to Canton, Ohio, and then east to Pennsylvania. They went to Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, Ind., St. Louis, Mo., and Kansas City in returning. The trip each way required four days. Crops are poor in places along the route, Mr. Jones says, due to too much rain. Some land is not being farmed at all on this account. Through the northern wheat regions the crops were damaged by winter kill. From the corner of Kansas to a few miles south of Wayne was the land with the best crops he found. Mr. Jones saw but one Nebraska car on the journey after crossing the Mississippi. He also noted the large number of people along the highways wandering from one place to another in search of work which is scarce. Hundreds are seeking jobs in the east. Mr. Jones is a brother-in-law of Mrs. C. H. Morris of Carroll.

Mission School Is Interesting Place

Miss Clara Linn, who came home a couple of weeks ago from Pharr, Texas, to spend the summer in the M. S. Linn home, has conducted the interesting experience of teaching in a mission boarding school for Mexican girls at Pharr. About 100 are in the institution, about one-third coming from Mexico and the rest coming from the nearby vicinity. Some are sent by missionary funds from various churches of the country and some are sent by their parents.

Mexican people are anxious for their girls to become Americanized. After the young folks come to this country to study they long to stay here, Miss Linn says. Girls of all ages are in the school, studying English, arithmetic and such subjects, and also learning sewing, music, cooking and such domestic arts. The school this year received the prayer book money sent by missionary societies and this is being used to build bungalows. One matron and eight girls live in each house, the girls doing their own cleaning, laundry mending, etc. One dining room serves all girls. The girls are thus taught to be good American women citizens.

A woman superintendent of the school and eight teachers assist. The instructors have their car and home. They are treated royally, Miss Linn states. The school has its own gardens which provide vegetables throughout the year and their own citrus grove.

Miss Linn had opportunity to go into Mexico before coming home for the summer. She visited Monterey which she found to be a beautiful city with an ideal climate. She also went to Tampana which is very warm and at which place the large oil fields are located. Oil is used in train engines, in the homes and in fact for everything, Miss Linn found. Though coal is plentiful there, oil is preferred. Homes are of adobe. The thick walls make them cool. Windows are barred, and old custom. Floors are of tile. Many servants supply all needs of the homes and their guests. The Mexicans are wonderfully courteous and hospitable to their guests, Miss Linn found.

When Miss Linn came home prospects were bright for a bumper cotton crop in the south, though a rot was doing some damage to the stalks. Cotton is the big crop near Pharr, just as corn is the important one here.
