San-ford of Allentawn, Pa., lecturer and writer. Dr. Sanford has done much work in vocational guidance in schools of the coun-try, coming there chiefly to address students of the Wayne State Teachers college. Sixty-seven percent of the questionnaires given to 60,000 students brought out the fact, Dr. Sanford stated, that parents do not wish children to follow the vocations in which they themselv-es are engued. Pauline Heller, 12-year-old girl, Pierce, who was seriously injured while skating near her home, is slowly improving, it was reported by attendants of the Norfolk hos-pital to which she was taken. While skating, Pauline attempted to glide astride a short post that protruded above the ice. Failing to clear the post, she sustained an injury that caused a hemorrhage. For a time it was feared that she would not recover.

Showing ventilation system in our Happy chick brooder house, with Celo Glass scratch shed.

All of these buildings are made with lock joints which make them wind tight, a fea-ture no other company is manufacturing. They are all built in our modern, up-to-date shop from selected materials by competent workmen. When you buy from us you are taking no chances on either material or workmanship.

All houses are built in sections which make them simple and easy to set up. It will pay you to drive many miles to see these buildings and the way they are made. Prices are very reasonable. In fact, we can sell you these houses much cheaper than you can send for them and save you the freight Come in and see us before you buy. We will be pleased to show you.
