

Annual Picnic In California

Wayne County People Hold a Reunion in Long Beach Park on Saturday, March 2

Miss Laura Lyons of Long Beach, Calif., writes March 2 about Long Beach and the Wayne picnic as follows:

"At the close of a beautiful day I will write my home neighbors a line. "It was my great pleasure to read the articles Dr. A. L. Bixby wrote from here for the Lincoln Journal and which you copied. He states the facts so tersely, but entertainingly. I, too, was a visitor on the "Galway" in the Wellington harbor as it was about to leave for Honolulu. Three friends were departing. We were privileged to wander around the front until 15 minutes before its departure. The dining room was very neatly arranged. We jokingly wondered though if the chairs would tip or the tables "dance" when they reached mid-ocean. I noticed a good-sized party of "porkers" and also many crates of southern California fruits. It was most interesting to watch the baggage brought from the wharf in a big sling by a crane which was manipulated by one man. There were a dozen fellows ready to grab it after it was lowered and the big net was "craned" out ready for another load. Many automobiles were taken to the island and I saw them loaded in similar manner twice a month on Saturday at noon and reaches its destination about the same time a week later. The guests all gathered on the upper deck and threw serpentine for all to catch. The way orders along the side of the ship as it embarked, made a pretty sight. The orchestra played and sang "farewell" to them.

War On Gasoline

"A big gasoline war is now in progress in this state. It is selling as low as nine and one-half cents. A great many of the small stations had to close. According to the papers, this price cut is reaching as far north as San Francisco. There are so many accidents here, especially in the congested districts. Not long ago my father was attending a public sale when an attorney stepped in and handed him and some other persons notice to appear in regard to one they had seen.

"We heard the presidential inauguration very plainly here over the national radio hook-up. Father went to Lincoln park where hundreds heard it over a radio installed in the public library. Too bad it rained in Washington! We decided we should suggest the inauguration be in Long Beach to there might be ideal weather.

Wayne County Picnic

"The Wayne county picnic was held at Bixby park here Saturday and I counted 122 names on the register. The weather was ideal and the tables were laden with delicious viands. No program was rendered. Frank Pittinger called the meeting to order and officers were elected as follows: W. E. Howard of Pomona, president; and Mrs. Howard, secretary. They take the place of Mr. and Mrs. Pittinger. The little group with whom I ate included Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brown, Mrs. Alice Lay, Mrs. G. W. Fortner, Mr. and Mrs. G. Fortner and Rev. and Mrs. Charles Welden and son, Robert. Bert Brown had charge of the register. "Older residents of Wayne will recall that Rev. Charles Welden brought his bride to Wayne while he was preaching in the old Baptist church there. He suffered a breakdown in health several years ago and has not preached since. He lives in Hollywood. "J. C. Forbes attended. He looks very well. "J. J. Gildersleeve doesn't appear a day older than he did when I saw him in Wayne four years ago. Mrs. Fortner who is here from Wayne for the winter, looks younger than a few years ago. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hurlbert are well also Mrs. E. E. Berry. "Charlotte Larison Jensen and son reported Mr. and Mrs. John Larison as being in Florida this winter.

"I was so glad to have a visit with Mrs. R. E. Mellor for she knew my mother as a girl in Mills county, Iowa, and they later met at Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Grothe of Pomona, F. E. Moses, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and Walden Ebbler were in attendance from Pasadena. Ella Piepenstock Miller of Long Beach, and her mother from Ocean Park, also E. Piepenstock of Los Angeles, were present. Mrs. Henry Brune and Junior and Barbara Mae were present from Monrovia.

"Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Cherry of Pasadena, were among the first to greet me as I entered the picnic grounds. Mrs. Zoe Millard, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Alter, Eva Alter Han and daughter, Helen Jean, Mrs. Elizabeth Braunger and Mrs. T. L. Carroll of Los Angeles, were visitors.

"Miss Williams Clayton of San Pedro, was a former Carroll resident who was present. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bohner and son, Ralph, were the only Van Nuys persons present who formerly lived in Wayne.

"Mrs. May Chace Miller, Mrs. Charles McLeod, Mrs. Amanda Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chace, Burton Chace, Nathan Chace, LeRoy Ley and family, Mrs. Elvira Miller, E. L. Lewis, Gus Hanson, Mrs. Hattie Pittinger, Mrs. Sigworth, Mrs. Mary Olds, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Wightman, Miss Suzanne Wightman, Gus Piepenstock, H. C. Lyons and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Panabaker were present.

"Mrs. S. E. Auker, Mrs. A. R. Davis and daughter, Miss Kathryn Lutz also Mrs. F. Wilson who were recent arrivals from Wayne, met old friends. Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Newton and Dick Newton of Corona, Ellsworth Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Shaw of Wilmar, Miss L. W. Carter, Lucretia Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goldie and Mrs. Eva Davies from Wilmington, attended.

"Josephine and Edith Carter, H. Griggs, Miss Iris Griggs and Mrs. Healy Gill of Los Angeles, were listed. B. H. McEachen of Huntington Park, Katherine Pittinger of Arcadia, Mrs. E. W. Gunther of Omaha, Mrs. Ann Johnson, Robert of Rosemead, Kathleen Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ydop of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Barr of Tilden, Mrs. W. S. Crouch, Mrs. A. B. Bickels of Gothenburg, Neb., Mrs. Thomas E. Jensen, Mrs. Eva M. Ledbetter, Mrs. H. M. Baraldi of Inglewood, Mrs. Mary Olds and Miss Elizabeth Olds of Omaha, were among guests. Miss Olds attended the N. N. C. at Wayne when the late Pres. J. M. Pile headed the school.

"Others present were: Florence Williams Tanner, Mrs. Nettie Williams and Mrs. H. S. Strickland of Fullerton, Calif., Maud Grothe Davis of Reseda, Mr. and Mrs. William Soenneken, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gossard, Mrs. Ellis Miner, Mrs. W. O. Hanssen of Los Angeles, L. D. Goudy and wife of Compton, Myrtle Newton Dessery of Santa Ana, Wayne C. Howard and Dorothy Needham Marsh of Compton, M. C. Jensen, Evelyn and Walter and F. Parker of Long Beach.

"Mrs. Frank Parker who has been ill a long time, is able to be about again. Her daughter, Florence Parker Jensen, is recovering from an operation. The two were unable to attend the picnic. E. W. Cullen and wife, formerly of Winside, were unable to be present. Mr. Cullen is able to be about his home with the aid of crutches now. His little grandson is not well.

"The above list of those at the picnic is as nearly complete as I was able to give from the register, and I hope none were omitted."

Tells Of Visit In Long Island

Ernest Vogel, who arrived home March 2 from Hollis, Long Island, where he had visited his sister, Mrs. Pauline Maltour, since September, is glad to get back to Nebraska. The east is interesting but the congestion in New York is disagreeable. He found Hollis is a suburb of New York and one can reach the city in about an hour on the elevated railroad or subway.

Congestion is the biggest problem in New York. Fine buildings of fifteen to twenty stories are being razed to be replaced by buildings which will rise forty to sixty stories. Ground space is too valuable to allow low buildings on it.

Traffic to and from the city is also congested. Elevated streets and subways are being considered for automobile traffic.

New York has many good theatres Mr. Vogel found. One is able to see and hear good plays and musical groups but tickets are high, single admissions being $4 and $6.

Prices on everything seem high in the east. Mr. Vogel states: Clothing is the most reasonable. Enroute home Mr. Vogel stopped in Washington, D. C., Chicago, Detroit, Grand Rapids, New Castle and Milwaukee. He has returned to his piano business here. He went east for benefit of his health and he feels much improved.

Program and Box Social

A program and box supper will be held in district 29, 4 miles south of 3 1-2 west of Wayne, Friday, March 15. Everyone is invited. Alpha Laughtenbaugh, teacher, m14tlp

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 41 Wayne, Neb., Thursday, March 14, 1929. Vol. 2

If it isn't the mud, it's the confounded wind.

A Chicago woman stabbed her husband recently in order to keep him at home. Better hide this item before your wife sees it!

"Grab Bag" methods of buying coal are out of date—and mighty costly.

We extracted a smile from this one yesterday: A soldier threw a lighted cigarette on the parade grounds and the sergeant bawled him out as only a hard-boiled sergeant can. That evening the soldier was into mess. "What made you late?" asked the sergeant. "I went down to the river to spit," replied the soldier.

There's nothing about a farm that is so inconvenient as an old broken down gate. And there's nothing so convenient as an Iowa. It's a humdinger.

A young lady went into the First National bank the other day to make a deposit. Linn McClure looked at the deposit slip and says, "Did you foot it up?" "No," she replied, "I rode up with father."

We're having numerous calls for American fence this spring. People around Wayne are fencing their farms hog tight. The experience of last fall, with so much of the corn lying on the ground, has prompted many a good farmer to sharpen his pencil and figure out that a hog tight fence would not only pay eight per cent on the investment, but would also pay the cost of the fence in a very few years.

Have you ever known a barkey named Rastus? And have you ever heard an Irishman say "Begorrah?" Neither have we.

Are you equipped to raise poultry profitably? Fifty per cent of your success lies in the equipment. We have some good poultry houses here at our office for your inspection and information.

From what little experience we've had in editing The Knot-Hole, we've concluded that a good newspaper is one that prints the news on the other fellow but suppresses it on you. Isn't that right?

When the doggoned times get hard, Turn your eye to the poultry yard.

Your sack of coal is ready for you. No dirt or dust from carrying it in your car. Same price as from the bins.

We just opened Sears, Roebuck's new catalog to page 928 and note that they quote trap-chain shingles at $2.66 per bundle, which is $3.20 per square, f. o. b. Kansas City. This shingle weighs 200 pounds per square and the freight to Wayne is $1.45 per square. The total cost delivered in Wayne would therefore be $6.75 per square for a shingle weighing 200 pounds. We sell you our 12 1/2-inch shingle, weighing 220 pounds per square for only $6.00. You get 20 pounds more weight and 2 1/2 inches greater width from us for 75c less money. We know it will pay any customer to get our prices before making a purchase of building material.

Mark's Opinion.

Mark Murray in Pender Times: The Wayne Herald thinks Al Smith hurt himself by talking over the radio during the campaign. We think not. Al Smith was no other democrat ever had a ghost of a show in the late campaign. The principal issue turned out to be intolerance. It had to be met and while Smith lost, the fight he made will bear good fruit—not personally to him—but to the world. For one thing, the vote showed there were over 15,000,000 tolerant voters—those that voted for Smith. Then you can pretty easily estimate there were 1,000,000 of 10,000,000 and many more tolerant republicans. I think you were one of them Huses who didn't vote for Smith because they allowed either party loyalty or other issues to influence them to vote for Hoover. To our mind on a direct issue we believe the United States is tolerant—in all the word signifies, in not a far distant day—I may not see it, the question of a man or woman's religion will not be a vital issue anywhere in America—either in North Carolina or Lincoln—and Smith can be credited with having done his bit to bring this condition about. We appreciate some of our friends may question whether all the Smith votes were "tolerant" voters. For the sake of argument we'll cut off a million or two Smith votes and then have a good lead. Mr. Edison's friends have always been distrust by his taste for bill-melting cigars. Now we know where he got the idea that weeds contain rubber.—The New Yorker. On February 22 we will have our garden day. We will celebrate this for three days. The reason for celebrating these days is to show that we have raised some crops from our gardens.

Last Christmas vacation I went to our coconut plantation to visit the coconuts. We have many carabous and pigs in the barrio. For five days I live there.

Our favorite games are running relay, volley ball and night indoor baseball. We are playing these in school every time. There are many other games.

The most important occupations of people here are farming, hat-weaving, hunting and fishing. The farmers here raise rice, corn, camotes, sugarcane and coconuts.

WASHDAYS are now WASH-HOURS on the FARM

The many advantages that a Maytag has over other washers are all advantages that farm homes will appreciate—advantages that are available to any farm home because the Maytag gives you your choice of power—gasoline or electricity.

What farm wife would not appreciate saving the better part of a day once each week? The Maytag does the average farm washing in an hour or two. What farm wife would not appreciate the economy of the life-lasting cast-aluminum tub; the saving in clothes by the gentle water washing action of the gy-rator; the saving in time and labor effected by the new Roller Water-Remover that wrings everything evenly dry and spares the buttons. write or phone

only the MAYTAG has the Gasoline Multi-Motor. This modern, high-grade engine is made for the Maytag by The Maytag Company—the world's largest producers of single-cylinder gasoline engines.

It is a simple, sturdy, smooth-running, reliable power plant. A thrust of the pedal starts it. It is so compact that it is interchangeable with the electric motor by removing only four bolts.

Field days can be made longer when emergencies arise —the tractor does not tire and chore time is eliminated. Triple-Power Tractor The McCormick-Deering tractor combines all farm power units in one, whether it is drawbar, belt or power take-off work; thus one power unit does all the work. ## Golden Wedding Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Blake, Early Settlers of Wayne County, Observe Anniversary.

Came Years Ago

Couple Is Honored by Family Reunion at Home in Holt County on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Blake of Chambers, Neb., pioneers of Wayne county, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday and they had a family reunion at their home with forty-two present.

Mrs. Blake, whose maiden name was Miss Carrie Miner, came from Illinois with the first group of settlers who moved to this county about sixty years ago. She located with her folks on a homestead south of Wakefield, now the John Harrison farm. Mr. Blake came with the Barto family to a homestead near LaPorte.

The farmers' wives are busy planning for the arrival of baby chicks. Many have found a brooder house and a brooder more satisfactory method of raising them than the time-honored one of running them with hens. Several hundred chicks can be obtained at one time and all started together. This method not only saves work but gets the chicks well started before hot weather. Several new brooder houses are being ordered for the chick season.

A Few Tips on the Easter Problem

MILADY HAS WIDE CHOICE OF CORRECT COSTUMES THIS SEASON—SUITS AND ENSEMBLES ARE EQUALLY GOOD—PRINTS OR PLAIN COLORS

BY HARRIET

THE Easter outfit is bound to be uppermost in women's minds very shortly now. Not that the Easter outfit is the all-important thing it used to be. But, even now, Easter still means a fashion parade. And where is the woman so lacking in vanity that she does not care to be included among the season's best dressed?

This year there are to be many choices. If a woman looks nice in a suit, by all means she should buy one for Easter, for it is a spring of suits.

But, if you must wear your Easter outfit for many occasions, as most women must, think twice before getting a short jacket suit. An ensemble may be a much better choice. Remember that the long coat comes in mighty handy for a topcoat for other frocks. If it happens to be a good neutral color, such as gray or tan, it can link up with several different and inexpensive frocks and give the appearance of several different costurnes.

Prints are Good

If a suit is chosen, a printed suit is a good choice if you have other things in your wardrobe. If not, plain color is preferable, for you can wear plain colors indefinitely without tiring.

For ensemble, the plain coat with a printed frock is almost the best choice. For it gives variety, is colorful, feminine and likely as not, dressier than a plain colored frock under a plain coat.

A very charming spring suit is a peasant printed, shown at the left, a blue background with a fine print in three shades of soft pink on it. The skirt is accordion pleated, giving the flowered print the effect of being an irregular stripe. The sleeves are blue and the long-sleeved jacket are of the (plain figured material).

Goods Can Be Varied

With this a little pink flower and streamer of silk are fastened at the point of the V-neck. A little pink turban has a banding of fine pink silk flowers to give an original touch.

Another, a fable version of the

Jacket suit would be plain wool crepe or rep or even plain colored silk for the skirt and jacket with printed silk for the blouse.

For the girl who must be more or less practical in the choice of her Easter outfit, a good choice would be the brown and red-figured silk (right, above).

One of this type has its frock made with irregular hem dipping on both sides, with its flaring sleeves and plain necktie bound in brown. The tan crepe coat lined with the silk is cut with loose sleeves, and with a scarf collar that is decorative and can be tied in a bow under the chin.

With this informal but nevertheless dressy frock this ensemble becomes suitable for afternoon affairs of all kinds. Put the coat over a rep or silk frock of tailored lines and it is an eminently correct wrap.

Blue, tan and gray are the three best colors to choose when one must be careful of money and make all spring clothes stretch their smart selves over much territory and be for many occasions.

Wayne. m1411 Market Report. Furnished by Steele, Siman & Co., Sioux City Stock Yards. Sioux City Stock Yards, March 14.—Live stock markets carried a good undertone again this week. Little change was noted in the cattle market but hogs moved up sharply and lambs regained a steady basis after a lower opening. The 11 leading markets of the country received 91,600 cattle the first two days of the week, 13,700 more than week ago. Local supplies increased a trifle. The cattle market was a little slow to get underway on the initial session as buyers tried for weakness but they came through with firm prices for the general run. Steady to strong prices ruled again on the second day with good light weight showing the best undertone in all divisions. Outsiders were on the market for some of the yearling steers and pickers seemed to have a place for all available supplies. A top of $13.75 was paid for two or three loads, equaling the highest price of the season and since the middle of January. A number of sales were made on down to $12.25 with the bulk from that figure down to $11, some of the plain warmups ranging down to $10 and under. Medium weight steers sold up to $13.35 with bulk of the medium and heavy grades downward from $12.25. Choice yearlings would beat $14.00 by a comfortable margin. Yearling heifers were in broad demand and the market strengthened at once. A top of $12 was paid for a few loads and one load of 900-pounders made the price. Bulk of the supply cashed at $10.50@11.25. The cow market was a little slower but prices held close to steady. Koster animals brought $10@10.50 with bulk of the butcher cows at $8@9.25 and plain lots, down to $7. Canners and cutters sold largely at $5.75@6.75. The bull market held a steady basis with bulk of the sausage grades at $8.50@9. Veals commanded firm prices. Bulk of the light weights sold at $13@14. Stockers and feeders moved freely at fully steady prices. Inquiry from the country was fairly good and dealers were correspondingly good buyers. Choice light fleshy steers topped at $12.50. Bulk of the desirable grades sold at $11@11.50 with plainer grades down to $10 and under. Feeding cows were quoted downward from $8 and heifers on up to $10.50. Hog receipts amounted to 163,000 at the 11 leading markets on the first two days of the week, 48,700 less than the same days last week and 120,300 short of the like period a year ago. Lightness of receipts and broad demands from shippers forced values again to the highest level of the season after a severe decline the latter part of last week. Packers tried to hold back but they were forced to follow the upward trend for the few hogs that they bought. The market advanced 35 to 50c on Monday and another quarter was added on the second session. The extreme top reached $11.45, the highest price since September. Bulk of the butchers and lights sold at $11.15@11.40. Common light hogs ranged under $11. Sows brought $10.35@10.50. Pigs reached a new peak at $10.50. The 11 leading markets received 107,000 sheep on Monday and Tuesday, 16,700 more than a week ago. The increase came on Monday and the market declined a quarter. However, this was recovered on second session and lambs topped at $17, again the highest price since June. Ewes advanced a quarter to top at $9.85, also a new season's crest. Students Return After Revolting Hartington, Neb., March 12.—Seventy-five high school pupils who went on strike Friday afternoon and burned an effigy of Superintendent-elect Ralph G. Brooks of Cedar Rapids, Neb., on the school campus, were back at their desks yesterday, somewhat abashed after their "revolt." The "strike" was in protest against an injustice which the pupils felt was being done a number of teachers who were not rehired under a new school system that Brooks plans to install next fall. After parading the town and emphasizing their protest with school yells, the students desisted at the request of several of the teachers. Whether they will be punished has not been decided. Myrtle N. Scoville, present superintendent, stated. Marriage and Divorce. Lincoln Journal: Kansas City has discovered that one divorce is granted in that city for every two marriages, an unusual record even in a time when divorces have become common. Last year homes were divided that involved the care of more than a thousand children. Such statistics bring home to thinkers the fact that serious home problems are to be faced and that the welfare of the country depends greatly on what is done to smooth out the way that now seems to be rough going for the newly married. The conclusion of those who have gone over Kansas City statistics is that it must be made more difficult for people to get married and more difficult for married people to get divorces. His friends and former customers are sending him congratulations, for with this additional scientific knowledge they know they will receive even greater and more satisfactory services.

Mr. Fleer when asked about his stay in Chicago, highly praised the Dr. Wm. M. Scholl organization. He stated that the course is so complete, he invites all his friends who have foot troubles or ailments to drop in and see him at the Daylight store, for he assures them that no matter what ailment or trouble they may have of their feet—he will give them relief. He further stated that already many of his former customers have been helped, and are greatly pleased with results.

Mrs. Ralph Prince will give a book review of one of the recent novels, "The One Increasing Purpose," a novel with a real message.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: Advances in the hog market have brought prices to the highest level in several months. Chicago quotations reaching $12 with buyers competing in tight bidding for the available supply. The advance in a single day ran from 25 cents to 40, and while the short supply had some effects on prices, it now appears that other markets present a similar situation. South Omaha had a top of $11.50 and there was a light receipt of medium quality hogs.

A South Omaha commission man predicted that if the supply runs along as it is running now, which he believes likely, the price for choice hogs before the middle of the summer will go to $15 or better. According to his observation after many years of experience, the quality in hogs begins to taper off about the middle of April, but this year the change is coming more than a month earlier.

Hog price, of course, is just another way of interpreting prices for corn. Corn cannot fail to go along with hogs in the market quotations. If hogs go on to $15 it will mean that corn will command a handsome price as a direct result. Obviously the hog supply, particularly as to quality, is shorter than usual.

Generally, business is fair to good with spotted conditions in some lines reported, which was to be expected. General trade is holding up well, weather considered. Winter has not yet departed, the cooler temperatures affecting activity in various sections of the country and in many lines.

Freight car loadings for the week ending February 23 showed a decrease of 50,714 cars from the preceding week, due in part to the fact that the holiday of Washington's birthday fell in that period. The total for the week was 307,337 cars, which was a gain over the same week last year of 37,920. Miscellaneous freight made an excellent showing. The total for the week was 325,224, a gain over the same week last year of 16,248 and over the corresponding week in 1927 of 17,721.

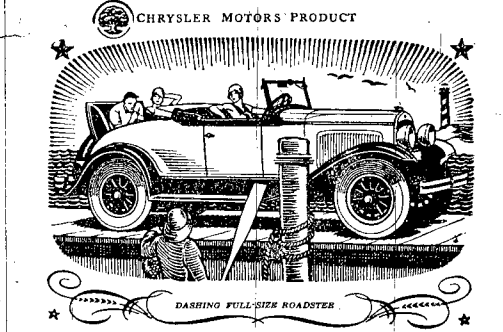

The expectation is that spring activity this year will be above normal, coming at an earlier date than usual. Industry is in excellent condition with unemployment showing only slight changes. The prospect of farm relief legislation being passed in the extra session of congress is generally encouraging throughout the middle west and west.

TOBEY AND TYKE

BY REDNER

About Nebraska and Nebraskans

Will M. Maupis.

The ruins of old Fort Kearney have been preserved by enterprising and patriotic citizens of Buffalo and Kearney counties, and given to the state as a state park. The original Fort Kearney was located at Nebraska City in 1847, but a year later the army was taken away and bestowed upon the new Fort Kearney in what is now Kearney county. No other frontier military post was more intimately associated with the development of the West. It was there that all the trails from the southwest connected with the Oregon Trail, over which countless thousands trooped to Oregon and to the gold fields of California. Scattered all about that famous old trail were the bones of hundreds of travelers and of thousands of oxen, mules and horses.

Fort Kearney became the chief headquarters of the army when the Indian war broke in 1854. The First Nebraska Cavalry mustered in the south and not yet mustered out, was assigned to this station. Two commissioned officers who served with the First Nebraska, both in the Civil War and later, in the Indian war, are still living, Lieut. Col. Thomas J. Majors, and his brother, Capt. Wilton Majors. They live in Peru.

A mile or two west of Fort Kearney known as "Dobeytown" sprang up. It was a tough spot, peopled by gamblers, outcasts of both sexes and deserters from both armies. Secession sentiment predominated, chiefly because the deserters were "agin the gov'ment." Gen. W. T. Sherman visited Fort Kearney during the Indian war, and while riding through the place he was hissed. He never forgot the insult, and in 1871 issued an order abandoning Fort Kearney.

The only remaining evidence of Fort Kearney today are traces of the old earthworks thrown up around the old parade ground. Repeated plowing has almost obliterated these. William O. Dungan owned and farmed the site of the fort for a number of years, and he left a plat showing where the various buildings of the old military post stood. It is the desire of the association that purchased the old grounds that original buildings be duplicated as nearly as possible.

It is hardly true to say that the old earthworks are the only remaining evidences of Fort Kearney, for there are a few old cottonwoods still left of the many planted in that far-off day before Nebraska became a state. Time and ruthless hands have destroyed many of them, but a few giants still stand, brooding over the troublous times that happily will never come again.

Members of the legislature are not subject to arrest save for treason, felony or breach of the peace, and when arrested are entitled to trial by a jury of their peers. But a minority of the members convicted a newspaper reporter and barred him from the house of representatives without giving him a hearing. A member, E. Preston Bailey of Carleton, asserted that Leo J. Ryan, representing the Omaha World-Herald, assaulted him. Ryan denies the charge, and in this he is supported by an Associated Press reporter, who says Bailey was the aggressor and that Ryan merely ducked and did not attempt a return blow.

The fracas did not occur in the house chamber. This, it is believed, the first time such summary action has ever been taken in this state.

Hand-to-hand encounters are not unknown in the house chamber, however. Many years ago a member assaulted, or tried to assault, Edward Rosewater. During the session of 1891 William Shoemaker, a member from Douglas, said something that incensed W. H. Taylor of Cass, more familiarly known as "Crackneck" Taylor. Shoemaker was standing at the desk when he made the remark, and Taylor rushed forward and took an unhealthy swing, turning Shoemaker around. Before another blow could be struck a house clerk separated the belligerents.

Ordering reporters out of state offices, or refusing them ordinary courtesies, is not, however, uncommon. It may not be generally known, but it is a fact that all books and records kept by state officials are open to all, regardless of age, sex, color or previous condition of servitude during the usual office hours. This is provided by law, a fact that some state officials have overlooked. Many years ago Gov. Thayer issued an order that this writer, then representing an Omaha paper, should not be allowed access to the records in his office, or given any information whatever. The writer called daily at the executive office and was curtly and coldly turned down. Then a legal friend dug up the law and kindly prepared to bring a suit in mandamus compelling the governor to give the reporter access to the gubernatorial records. Evidently Gov. Thayer was tipped off, for before the papers could be filed the reporter was notified that the ban had been lifted.

Dynamite Blast Kills Four Men

Scribner, Neb., March 8.—Four men were killed and more than thirty were injured last night when twelve cases of dynamite exploded in a burning barn as volunteer firemen were fighting the blaze.

The dead: Gus Pittack, assistant postmaster.

Guy E. Clark, barber. Fred Ribble, auto mechanic. Fred Felgner, owner of a grain store.

The blast occurred on the farm of County Commissioner Carl Hollander. Dynamite was stored in Hollander's barn to be in readiness for ice blasting at bridges during the spring thaw.

Buildings Blown Away. More than 100 persons had gone to the fire. They were watching firemen when the barn was blown to bits by a terrific blast that carried away all five of the farm buildings. Mangled and unconscious men were found carried seventy-five feet away. Two of the injured are not expected to live. They are W. F. Strube, garage owner, and Arthur Schoeneck, truck driver. Twenty-one persons, the seriously hurt, were in the Scribner general hospital. Doctors and nurses came from Dodge, North Bend, Fremont and Omaha.

Throughout the night, doctors and nurses worked while the town people, stunned by the tragedy, waited around the hospital for news of the injured. The less seriously injured were sent to their homes.

Blast at 11:18 p. m.

The explosion occurred at 11:18 p. m. John E. Steil, who was struck by the hail of debris, found that his watch stopped at that time. Some objects had struck it hard enough to crush it. He believes this may have saved his life.

William Harder, one of the fire-fighters, gave an interesting account of the tragedy.

"I heard the fire alarm and though I'm not a fireman I went along. I was about fifteen feet from the barn when it exploded. I can't tell just what happened. I was working a chemical machine and had just pulled up my coat around my neck to keep the sparks out when something happened. I didn't feel much for a little time, and then found myself about sixty feet from the building. I was cut up and bruised some. Only the barn had been burning before. When I came to all buildings were wrecked and burning. There were a lot of people screaming for help. I got up and started to help carry the others away. I knew them, but I couldn't recognize some of them, they were so badly mangled up. I carried Gus Pittack (one of those killed) and Art Schoeneck (not expected to live) back away.

"There were a couple of hundred people around then, and they tried to fight the fire in the farm buildings. It was no use. They all burned down. There was a shallow hole in the ground where the little barn had stood."

West Point Feels Blast.

Force of the explosion was felt at West Point, fifteen miles north. The fire started from an unknown cause in the barn on the outskirts of town, where County Supervisor Hollander had stored the dynamite, which was to be used in blasting ice on the Elkhorn river near here.

Firemen approaching the place were told by a spectator that there was no danger of explosion as there were no caps with the dynamite. Hardly had this assurance been given before a tremendous blast rocked the countryside for twenty miles around.

Men were blown 150 feet by the blast. Feltner was killed outright and the three others died shortly afterward.

Scribner, Neb., March 8.—Two more deaths late today raised the toll of lives lost in last night's dynamite explosion here to six. Fifty persons were injured.

William F. Strube, 34, garage owner, and Arthur Schoeneck, 25, truck driver, are the latest to die from injuries.

It Took Charlie Thomsen 20 Years to Be Happy With a $30,000,000 Fortune

FOR most of us the possession of $30,000,000 would go a long way toward solving the problem of how to be happy. At least, we think it would. Of course, there is the old adage that "money doesn't bring happiness," but sometimes we are inclined to believe that maybe money doesn't, but how about the things that money can buy?

Charlie Thomsen of Seattle, Wash., has lived a story which proves how burdensome a vast amount of money—$30,000,000 to be exact—can be. Charlie is the son of Moritz Thomsen, Pacific Northwest (financier) lumberman and mill king. The last 20 years of his life have been spent trying to make people forget that he is the heir to his father's vast fortune.

Started Worrying Early The $30,000,000 began to bother him early in life. He found, as a boy in school, that people didn't think of him as Charlie Thomsen, as they thought of other boys as "Skinny" Watters or "Freckles" Jackson, but only as the awesome heir of $30,000,000.

The thing began to get on his nerves. At 14 he ran away to sea, incognito, in an effort to find out if he was capable of standing on his own feet. Then, he returned. Still the chorus of "My dears, he's worth $30,000,000," imagined, greeted him everywhere.

Charlie decided to run away again. This time to the most isolated parts of Alaska. Again he returned. Again he was the heir to an enormous fortune, and not just "Charlie Thomsen."

Then to Mexico. Finally, he decided to take a southern trip, since the northern one had failed of its purpose, and he went to Mexico. Anywhere, to escape the feeling that it was his money alone in which people were interested. The third and last time he returned he found that plenty of positions were open to him in various industrial concerns—because he was the heir. He didn't want to be the heir. He wanted to be Charlie Thomsen. Then dropping temporarily, the name which had made him the envy of so many people, but which was a source of unhappiness to him, he got a job. It wasn't much of a job, but at least he got it without feeling that it was his money which had obtained it for him. It was a job working up in a factory. Then he worked up. And today, Charlie Thomsen, as Thomsen.
