County Pioneer Dies On Friday

Mrs. Mary E. Hunter, One of First Group to Settle Here on Homestead, Passes.

Service Is Held

Funeral Rites Conducted at Wakefield Methodist Church Monday Afternoon.

One of the small group of first settlers in Wayne county, Mrs. Mary E. Hunter, passed away at her home in Wakefield last Friday afternoon, May 3, after an illness with bronchitis and heart trouble, aged almost 91 years. Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at the Methodist church in Wakefield with the pastor, Rev. W. T. Taylor, in charge. Interment was made in Wakefield cemetery.

Mrs. Hunter's maiden name was Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Agler. She was born June 10, 1838, near Williamsport, Lycoming county, Pa. She moved with her parents to Lee county, Illinois, in 1849, and she was married there to Cyrus E. Hunter on February 23, 1860. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, with two daughters and three sons, were one of the five families who came to a homestead in this section of the state in 1869. The family moved into Wakefield in 1884 and had resided there since. Mr. Hunter died January 25, 1913.

Deceased was the mother of fourteen children, nine of whom survive. They are: Miss Ethel Hunter, B. Guy Hunter and Mrs. C. H. Merritt of Wakefield; J. E. Hunter of Green Forest, Ark.; Mrs. F. J. Hoyder of Wynot, C. C. Hunter of Chicago, J. L. Hunter of Coleridge, Mrs. P. H. Fritchhoff of Omaha, and Mrs. A. N. Hunter of Two Harbors, Mich. L. E. Hunter, another son, died a couple of years ago. Two sons died in infancy. All of the children excepting J. E. Hunter of Arkansas, attended the funeral and he was unable to come because of being critically ill.

Besides her children, Mrs. Hunter leaves sixteen grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Martha Merriman of Wayne, and one brother, B. J. Agler of Thornton, Iowa.

Came West in 1869
The Hunters and four other families came from Paw Paw, Ill., in the fall of 1869, settling their homesteads near the present site of Wayne, and some farm implements as far as Sioux City, the nearest railroad point. The group had a few cows, horses and oxen, some pigs, chickens, wagons and plows. After leaving the train the journey to the homesteads in this part of the state was made by covered wagon.

The claims were southeast of the present site of Wayne, though no settlements were closer than Dakota City, and the land was only rolling prairie, unbroken and covered with tall grass. There were no trees. The first settlers staked out the land, started to break the prairie and began small frame or sod houses and dugouts on their land so as to retain title. They then went to spend the winter at Dakota City, where more protection and supplies were available.

In the spring of 1870 this first group of pioneers returned to their land to do more improving and to plant crops. The Hunters built a sod house on farm which is now about one and one-half miles west of the site of Wakefield. The same summer they erected a frame shanty on their claim and moved to it after a few months. In the spring of 1870 another group from Illinois, fifteen families, came to this section to take claims and from then on the settlement grew.

Claim Joined LaPorte
The Hunter homestead adjoined the site of old LaPorte, Wayne county's first town, on the west. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter worked together, every member of the family cheerfully doing his share. Mrs. Hunter developed a calm, steadfast and cheerful disposition which inspired her many friends through her life. Often after a long day's work Mrs. Hunter would walk seven miles to Logan creek, near the site of Wakefield, to drive home the cows.

FARM RELIEF IS QUESTION UNDER FIRE IN SENATE

THE struggle in congress over proposed farm relief seems to be between those who want the debenture plan and those who do not want it. The president is against it on the ground that it would amount to a subsidy and would harm rather than help agriculture. Those who want debenture as a panacea may favor it because the administration is against it, or possibly they may think they know more about its possibilities than the president. Anyway, the battle between the two forces continues with indications that the administration will win. In support of President Hoover's knowledge of the vicissitudes and needs of agriculture it is pointed out that for nine years he has owned a 1,200-acre farm in California, directed by an expert, employing 200 helpers during rush periods and thus far operated at somewhat of a loss. But the farm is said to be making headway toward reasonable profit, practicing diversification and wrestling with the usual problems incident to production and marketing. Pending decision in Washington and supplemental to anything that may happen there, we would like to see introduction of warmer weather.

Property Deal In Court Here

Case Charging Edwin A. Marshall of Stanton, With Misrepresentation Is Heard.

Edwin A. Marshall of Stanton, charged with misrepresentation in a property deal, was brought into Wayne county court Monday for preliminary hearing and was bound over to the district court with bond fixed at $1,000, which was furnished.

Marshall, according to the charges made by Herman Ogden, sold the latter a business block in Stanton in November, 1928, for $14,000 and stated that the building was owned by Ben J. Parr of Norfolk, that two doctors rented it for $50 a month, that the property included plumbing fixtures and furnace that belonged to the building, that the property was of actual market value of $14,000, and that the property was clear of all liens and encumbrances. Ogden asserts that he gave a business block, store and stock of merchandise in Sholes as part payment and took the Stanton property subject to a mortgage of $900.

Ogden states in his charges that Marshall converted the property in Sholes to his own use. He also alleges that Parr did not own the Stanton property; that the building did not include fixtures; that the doctors renting the property did not pay $50 a month rent and that taxes and mortgages against the property amounted to $1,000.

Pastor Installed Near Here Sunday

Rev. W. A. Gerdes was installed by Rev. H. Hopmann of Wayne, Sunday morning as pastor of St. Paul Lutheran church at LaPorte and the St. John Lutheran church in Wakefield. Rev. and Mrs. Gerdes and two children have moved to the parsonage at LaPorte from Wilmot, N. D. The congregations held a get-together in the afternoon to become acquainted with the new pastor, family, and the women served luncheon.

Rev. H. L. Bornemann, former pastor, moved to Columbus a few months ago.

ways had enough to eat. Each helped the other.
Traded at Dakota City.
Early settlers traded at Dakota City, the nearest point, and a trip there by team was a long journey. One made the trip for the settlement and brought provisions for a long period. The Hunter children recall that their parents always made a point to get to town some time in the fall before Christmas and bring something for them. Community Christmas festivities and Fourth of July celebrations were not elaborate but were eventful occasions in the lives of the group.

Explains Plan In Dairy Work

M. L. Flack of University Extension Service, Addresses Group in Wayne Friday.

Films Are Shown

Speaker Has Slides on Industry in England, Scotland, Holland and Islands.

With the aim of making dairying more profitable by having fewer and better cows, M. L. Flack, director of field service and dairy development at the state university in Lincoln, addressed a group of people from Wayne and vicinity here at the city hall Friday evening. The dairy development plan in which Mr. Flack works is encouraging farmers to keep only high producing cows which bring returns. Testing takes the guess work out of dairying. The plan which is being promoted is that of having twenty-six dairy men cooperate in hiring an experienced man to test their herds. His work is to spend one day each month with each herd and keep records of the cows, culling out the low producers and building up the better cows. Such a service costs about $75 a month, and the tester is allowed $15 a month traveling expense and his board and room are furnished as he stays at each home one day. The plan has been considered by herd owners in this and nearby counties and the idea is gaining favor. No definite action was taken at the meeting last week, however, on it later the matter will again be considered.

Graduate Class At City School

Forty-one Students Will Finish the Wayne Institution on Friday Evening, May 24.

Feeding, Breeding, Weeding.
The A. B. C.'s of dairying are feeding, breeding and weeding. The dairy man, as well as other business men, is interested in the economic side of the industry. Feed, production and income are determined by one who is testing cows. He is able, with these facts in mind, to cull out the low and unprofitable producers and feed the remainder of his herd according to known production.

Dr. Woods, a former Nebraskan and now director of scientific work for the United States Department of Agriculture, states that the average production of all cows of the United States is about 4,500 pounds of milk a year, with more than one-third of the 21,000,000 producing at a loss. Cows in the testing association herds averaged 7,410 pounds of milk and 293 pounds of butterfat in 1927. Dr. Woods maintains that if all the dairy cows produced as much as those on test, the country could dispose of one-third of the cows and still maintain the present supply of dairy products and have a great saving in labor.

Industry Is Large.
Dairying is a huge industry. As a single industry dairying is the largest in the United States. It outranks the automobile industry which has a three and one-half billion dollar valuation. The dairy income amounts to more than one-fourth of the agricultural income of the nation. The need is for higher producers, thus increasing dairy returns by lowering costs.

Compares Production.
Mr. Flack showed that one breaks even on a 100-pound producing cow. He makes a small amount on a cow producing 200 pounds, and a 300-pound producer is profitable. But 500-pound cows can be developed and they are still more profitable. Some testing associations which started the work about five years ago now have cows which produce averages of 500 pounds. North Platte and some other associations have cows producing as high as 800 pounds of milk.

Visit Dairy Islands.
Guernsey island, which is about four by seven miles in size, is heavily populated and farming is carried on very carefully. Pastures grow grass about three feet tall and to make this last as feed for the entire year cows are tied and allowed to eat just certain amounts each day. Cows often live to be 22 years old here and there are good producers. The visitors saw one cow 22 years old that had produced twenty calves and still was making a remarkable record in dairying. People in these islands do not burn their cows up with corn, the speaker stated. The grass feed prolongs their lives. The Guernsey cows are many of them shipped to this country for sale. One bull was sold in California for $1,500.

Jersey island is larger than the Guernsey island but it also is heavily populated. The Jersey cattle originated here and they too have a big market in the United States. They also have markets in South America, Africa, Canada and Australia.
All of the countries visited lack the beef cattle so numerous in the United States. And while each country there is developing one type of dairy cattle mainly, the United States is now receiving all types and pushing the industry to great importance.

WALTER SAVIDGE OPENS IN WAYNE TO LARGE CROWD

WALTER Savidge is opening his twentieth season as head of the Savidge Amusement Company in Wayne this week, and he is starting off with the usual crowds and usual promise of success. In the beginning, Savidge, with a few trained dogs, was the whole show. He was resourceful and versatile. He sold tickets, directed patrons to seats and then entered the ring as performer. With each succeeding year he grew and expanded. Now he has one of the largest organizations of the kind in the country, conscientious effort having been rewarded by mounting success. After his season closes in the fall, he begins plans for the next year, and during winter he combs the country for new attractions. He makes selection of people to handle different posts, and when the opening date arrives, assignments are complete and everybody is ready for work. The perfected organization, following months of careful preparation, is in full swing here this week. The dramatic performance in the big tent is a central attraction, and plays and players have been chosen with care, reflecting the sound judgment of Mr. Savidge. As he starts on his season's round, his home town wishes him the large success which he deserves.

Executive Board Of Scouts Meets

R. R. Larson Represents Wayne at District Gathering in Omaha to Plan Year.

The executive board of the Boy Scouts of America for the Nebraska district met in Omaha Tuesday and made plans for the year. R. R. Larson of Wayne, represented the Wayne area. When the area work was started a year ago there were fourteen registered troops in the fifty-five counties in the district. Now there are seventy-five troops under the area plan. Omaha has 1,400 boy scouts and the other troops have 1,600. The area work costs $43,000 a year for operation, and the past year Omaha has stood $32,000 of this, troops out in the state paying only $11,000. Wayne paid $162.

Considering the increase in the scout movement and the good being done, the council considers the area plan to be cheap, and the movement will be pushed even harder the coming year. It is hoped to have 150 troops in the district next year.

SIREN OPERATED BY ELECTRICITY NOW IN SERVICE

A new siren to call people from labor to refreshment and to sound alarm in case of fire has been installed on trial and if it proves satisfactory, as seems likely, it will be retained. Steam is necessary to blow the old whistle, and with operation of an oil engine, no steam is available. A little steam is kept up during frosty weather to heat buildings dependent on it, but the cost is considerable to get up enough steam to blow sound over town, and so a new kind has been erected in the city hall yard, and it is operated by electricity from the city power plant. The new whistle sounds a trifle rough on an occasion bearing no emergency other than an invitation to begin or quit work, but we will soon grow accustomed to its sharpness and wonder how we got along without it. When a fire breaks out and quick action is needed, the sound, pitched high with variations, rises like the agonizing wail of a perishing soul, and it is therefore very effective.

Belden Farmer Hurt By Tractor

Belden, Neb., May 3.—Lloyd Fish, a farmer living north of Belden, narrowly escaped from death Monday afternoon, when his glove caught in the lug of a tractor, pulling him beneath the wheel, which passed over his head. Mr. Fish had jumped from the tractor to adjust a part of the machinery, and in trying to regain the seat of the moving machine, was caught and pulled under the wheel. He says that the softness of the ground, was the only thing that saved his life, for the pressure of the wheel pushed his head into the soil. He suffered a scalp wound and several severe gashes on his face and throat. Mr. Fish had presence of mind to stagger to his feet and shut off the power. Men in a nearby field came to his assistance. Mr. Fish has been a resident near Belden for a number of years.

Sustain Injuries When Cars Crash

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mills of Wayne, sustained injuries Sunday evening at about 10:30 when the Ford coupe in which they were coming from Columbus to Norfolk was struck by a Chevrolet driven by Ira Alloway of Clarkson, on the highway six miles south of Norfolk. The small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mills who was with them escaped injury.
Mrs. Mills sustained bruises about the head and Mr. Mills had his shoulders injured. Mr. Alloway sustained a cut on his nose and bruising.
Bright lights from a car which was coming out of Norfolk are said to have caused the collision. The Chevrolet which was behind the coupe crashed into the rear of the car as the other two cars passed. Mr. Alloway said that because of being blinded by the headlights of the approaching car, he thought that the coupe had stopped and in trying to pass it, struck the rear end. Both cars were badly damaged.
Mr. Mills is the new manager for the Robert C. Moore Stores company here and was driving the coupe belonging to Lawrence Littrell of Allen, the latter also employed in the Moore store here.

Why... we recommend POLARINE

STANDARD Oil Company of Nebraska has just one string to its bow—the confidence of Nebraskans. To earn and maintain their good will and patronage by convenient, statewide service and the sale of top quality petroleum products at fair prices is the constant aim of the company.

Improvements in refining and a better understanding of the properties of different crude oils have enabled this Nebraska institution to offer in Polarine a motor oil that is unsurpassed. It is made from a splendid quality of Wyoming crude and is graded to suit motor operation in Nebraska with its wide temperature variations.

Its relatively low price is not a clear index of its quality. Because Polarine is a western product it carries no premium to cover long transportation and high marketing costs. We recommend this superior quality of oil without qualification because we know it gives the utmost in lubrication and protection.

- 1—Flows freely and lubricates safely in cold weather.
- 2—Holds its body when heavy load heats up the motor.
- 3—Retains oiliness—gives long service.
- 4—Deposits far less carbon in the motor than almost any other oil you can buy at any price.

MARTIN PICKS DETROIT TIGERS TO BEAT YANKEES IN 1929—BROWNS AND ATHLETICS ROUND OUT HIS FIRST DIVISION SCHEDULE

BY PHILIP MARTIN

IT may appear somewhat out of order to name any club other than the New York Yankees as the pennant winner in the American League this summer, but realizing this fact, it is this writer's opinion that the Yankees won't win and the Detroit Tigers will.

Naming the Tigers on one's ticket is contrary to the expert prediction of Babe Ruth, who usually is right, the Wall Street betting odds, and the great majority. But it isn't a crime to have a private opinion, even though the opinion may not be far from the mark.

It is this writer's honest belief that the clubs will finish in this order in the American League: Tigers, first; Yankees, second; Browns, third; Athletics, fourth; Senators, fifth; Indians, sixth; White Sox, seventh; and Red Sox eighth.

THAT leaves the Tigers and the Yankees for first and second place, and the Tigers have been picked to win.

The Tigers have Bucky Harris as manager this season and he alone makes it a better club by far than it was in 1928. They have a great young outfield in Stone, Rice, and Johnson. Rice is the veteran of the trio. Each possesses every attribute of greatness.

Harris always has been a wizard at getting the best results possible from pitchers and it wouldn't be surprising to see those old Tiger pitchers and the new ones—Ditt, Prudhomme, Yde and Barnes—doing splendid work. Especially Mr. Uhl!

In every department, the Tigers are greatly improved. And if the New York Yankees are not to be picked, one must name the Tigers. And you can't convince this writer that any other club has a better chance to win than the Tigers.

THE Yankees should run a good second, in this writer's opinion, although it wouldn't be surprising to see them win.

It is a great ball club and it has Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. It has some great pitchers, capable infielders and smart management. Reserves are abundant for every spot except catching, which also happens, as in recent years, to be the weakest department on the club.

The Babe, however, isn't expected to scarp opposing pitchers to death this season. And those sore arms may get sore again. The infield situation may not work out so well and there's no telling if the pitchers will be as good as they always have been.

Another reason given often in going against the Yankees is the fact that they are going to be in a tough race this year and the question often asked is—"Can they stand up in a tough race?" We wonder!

"This is the way to get the biggest value for your fence post dollar"

"When you choose Red Top you are certain you have chosen the best steel fence post. Your judgment is supported by the year after year purchases of such hard and critical buyers as the leading railroads, the United States Government and thousands of practical and successful farmers who insist upon plus values, and having found it will not change."

There is no element of risk or speculation in using the Red Top for all fence post needs. It is guaranteed. Come in and let us show you the Red Top points of superiority. They are important to you. Tough, springy rail steel gives durability. The baked on aluminum finish is rust-resisting. The reinforcing rib gives extra sturdiness. The Red Top hand fastener holds the fence securely in its vice-like grip. One man applies it. And the anchor plate is triangular shaped for ease in driving and to anchor the post firmly—fence cannot be rooted up or ridden down.

One man with a Red Top One Man Driver can easily drive 200 to 300 a day and align them perfectly.

Rock Island No. 122 Two-Row Cultivator—Pivot Axle

The Rock Island No. 122 is a most sensible two-row cultivator, because it is so simple, does the work with so little effort on part of operator, is light weight, light draft and strong. It can be used as a wheel guide cultivator, as a combined wheel guide and gang shift cultivator, or locked rigid for transporting.

The gangs are coupled directly to the two shift bars—no double arch is required. Cultivator gangs can be coupled so that by operating the right-hand central lever "to or from the row adjustment" is obtained without stopping the team—the right way a cultivator should operate where double-row planters or listers have been used.

When working in crops planted by single-row planters or listers, where it is necessary to widen or narrow distance between the rows, the gangs can be coupled so that by operating the same lever you can shift them and easily follow uneven rows.

Entire weight of cultivator and operator is carried on a two-ball pivot—one under each axle.

Independent depth levers and a main lever for each pair of gangs—it is easy to handle this cultivator.

City vs. Country Town.
York Republican: George Thomson, a student in the Nebraska school of journalism, who spent a trial week in the office of the Seaward Independent, wrote at the conclusion of his week of close contact with a country newspaper an editorial which sets forth some truths in a very concise manner. He wrote:
"The big city is an attractive place. It has a greater variety of necessities and luxuries from which the buyer may choose than the small town can offer. It has the latest shows and the newest fashions first. The streets are paved and one never gets stuck with his car or gets his trousers cuffed muddy. The big city is a wonderful place."

Here's How One Man Can Do Two Men's Work Faster, Cleaner Cultivating
McCormick-Deering 2-Row Cultivators Cut Cultivating Costs in Two, and Do Clean, Speedy Work in Half the Usual Time.

The McCormick-Deering Two-row cultivates two rows in one operation. It cuts in half the time you spend in the field, and releases you for other profitable work that is always waiting. It doubles your effectiveness because it enables you to do the work of two men in one cultivation. It is the implement you need if you want to do your cultivating in a hurry between rains.

This fine McCormick-Deering is also an easy implement to operate. You can dodge corn stalks and hills with the ease of a single-row machine because the gangs shift in pairs, and because it embodies an ingenious pivoting and locking arrangement that lessens the monotony of the work and makes operation very simple.

You don't need a large acreage of corn to justify the purchase of a McCormick-Deering two-row cultivator. About the most expensive item on a farm nowadays is labor. One man on a McCormick-Deering two-row will do as much work as two men with single-row cultivators. If you hire help, a two-row will cut your cultivating costs in two. If you do the work yourself, you can get it done in just one-half the time and you will be able to get your cultivating out of the way for other work which is sure to be crowding it.

Fidelity in Difficulties

OUR study of fidelity in the face of difficulties takes us back to the early ministry of Jeremiah, one of the greatest prophets of Israel, whose work was in the middle of the sixth century before Christ.

Unlike some of the other prophets who were called to the prophetic office from secular tasks, Jeremiah was of a priestly family. Like other prophets, he did not seek the prophetic office, but rather felt his unworthiness for it, and responded to the call only under the impulse of conviction of God.

Here in our lesson he is represented as in dialogue with God concerning the prophetic work. He feels his weakness and assures the Lord that he knows not how to speak, that he is a child. The religious philosophy that has upheld men who felt their weakness in great tasks and crucial responsibilities is expressed, as Paul was to express of himself, in the clear response that Jeremiah represents as coming from God to his own soul.

"Say not, I am a child; for to whomsoever I shall send thee thou shalt go, and whatsoever I shall command thee thou shalt speak." Along with this assurance came a deep conviction that God had put words into his mouth, and that he had, through his spiritual experience, a message to the nations. "I have this day set thee over the nations and over the kingdoms, to pluck up and to break down and to destroy and to overthrow, to build and to plant."

The man who develops such a consciousness as that is as much in a place of danger as that of privilege and responsibility. Even spiritual power has its dangers, and the very fact that through spiritual strength men attain to a certain prestige and authority over their fellows, puts upon them new temptations. Do not such temptations and the yielding to them explain the degradation

MOTHERS' DAY

"If I were hanged on the highest hill
I know whose love would follow me still . . .
Mother o' Mine . . ."

SOMEWHERE in all of us there is a soft spot reserved for Mother. One day a year we like to reserve to do homage to that wonderful little woman who guided our first faltering footsteps, who endured our childhood peccadillos and who today perhaps is wistfully wishing that she might receive just a bit of attention from those to whom she gave EVERYTHING. Let us make it a big day for Mother. Let us show her that she still has "adorers at her shrine."

What the Postman Brings to Mother

Down the street in a little white house lives a little white haired woman—small in stature, but large in her Faith in God and Man. All alone she lives, busy as a bee in her little hive of industry and as independent as any bee, now entertaining a few of her old cronies of the neighborhood, or "going over to help Mrs. Brown." Happy, brave and contented, even though she lost John last year, the last of her boys.

"Not quite alone, though," she once confided, "as long as I hear from the Northwestern Mutual every month with my regular check that John had sent to me, as just another token of his loving kindness."

We will send Her a check every month of her life (for whatever amount you decide) by means of a Northwestern Mutual "Income Contract." Remember, there is only one thing that's worse than "a home without a mother" and that's "a mother without a home." Ask for Figures on the "Income Contract."

ports from the country at large indicate increased activity in practically all lines of business. There is a steady expansion in industry and an accompanying increase in production. Obviously the market situation justifies this progress. It has been known since the first of the year that the buying power everywhere was steadily becoming stronger. Goods are in demand and in larger volume than was the case last year and the year before. New enterprises are announced over a large area. There is no lack of capital for legitimate undertakings. Business failures have decreased in number, a fact that no doubt inspires confidence in the expansion movements that have come since the beginning of spring. An encouraging thing in this connection is seen in the changed conditions in the middle west region. Business activity is stronger than for many years. Building programs in the middle west are surprisingly progressive. Industry, of course, is following the center of the population westward, which accounts for an increase in manufacturing activity in the valley region. This renewal of activity in the middle west is due in part to the recovery agriculture has made in the last year. The situation is much better than it was a year ago and because of the operation of economic laws. The farm buying power is stronger and this is reflected in increased movements of goods from manufacturer to consumer. The freight car loadings for the week ending April 20 tell the story of the spring upturn. The million mark has been passed for the first time this year. It has come early, the total going to 1,004,156 cars. This was an increase of 32,426 cars over the preceding week and one of 58,867 over the same week last year. It is also an increase over the same week in 1927 of 53,611 cars. Miscellaneous freight loadings made a heavy gain. The total for the week was 412,314, an increase over the same week last year of 27,453 and over the same week in 1927 of 38,905. This means, of course, heavier shipments of general merchandise, and, in turn, that indicates a quicker retail trade. Farm relief legislation is looked upon as practically an assured fact. The special session of congress will offer a tangible solution of the problem despite the fact that there is a controversy over the export debenture plan. Beyond a doubt business in the farming regions is better because of this hope and belief.
