Reciprocal. Hartington Herald: Commenting in friendly spirit on the intention of this newspaper to install another linotype in the near future and on the progress which it has made in the past, the Wayne Herald says: "Competitors will have to suffer by contrast until a law is passed hobbling and checking excessive enterprise and surpassing service."

That very neatly expresses the way we feel about the estimable Wayne Herald. We feel that we might achieve something really worth while if that great newspaper were not always so far in the lead. As far as equipment is concerned, installation of another linotype would make the two plants compare quite favorably, for both papers are printed on the same kind of a press, but alas and alack! now comes the rumor that Editor Huse is planning to install a bigger and faster newspaper press, which would leave us in the rear again.

However, we are not actually worrying any over the remarkable achievements of the Wayne Herald. On the contrary, we glory in the progress of that splendid newspaper and hope it may continue to progress and spur others on by its own unflagging ambition. Like The Herald, it is pursuing a flying goal and no sooner is one objective attained than it moves forward to take another.

The office cynic says he felt instantly relieved this morning, when reading over the proposed new tariff bill in full detail, to find unmanufactured lava on the free list.—Detroit News.

Denies Injunctions To Power Company

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Neigh, Neb., June 13.—At a hearing in chambers at Stanton yesterday Judge Clinton Chase declined to issue a temporary injunction asked by the Interstate Power company against the Neigh Electric Light company, and dissolved the restraining order issued June 4, after an ex parte hearing.

The Neigh Electric Light company recently completed its new electric light plant containing a Diesel engine of 600 horse power and is said to have signed agreements with a large majority of electricity users of the city. The Interstate company sought to enjoin the defendant company from inducing its contract users to change to the new service.

Judge Chase decided that the Interstate company was not entitled to a temporary injunction.

one who arises in the morning with nothing in particular to do but to figure out ways to pass time, faces a dreary prospect. We'd stay in the harness—any kind of a harness—until time to receive a harp.

August Biermann, farmer southeast of here, submits a quantity of golden honey as proof of the way he turns dandelions to advantage. Instead of visiting a dairy here, prompted by vengeance on the yellow blossoms, he parks a colony of bees in the neighborhood, and the result is a wealth of honey that looks like a new twenty-dollar gold piece and that tastes as well as it looks. If Editor Stone of the Hartington Herald, can stand being stung as invariably and serenely as we can from day to day, we would suggest that he install an army of high-powered bees, inviting special attention to the dandelion crop.

A recent magazine article quotes Dr. Harry Allen Overstreet, head of the department of philosophy, college of the City of New York on the subject of "poise" which was under discussion. Dr. Overstreet said four qualities should be developed to insure poise: confidence, a just appraisal of oneself, a sense of mastery and magnanimity. Four qualities important to get rid of: "far, exaggerated ego, lack of training and antagonistic emotions." The educator believes one should think enough of himself to inspire courage, but not enough to exceed justification and to outrage the feelings of acquaintances. To assault opinions in conflict with one's own, without a principle at stake, shows destructive lack of poise, as the author would have readers understand.

J. D. Pancake of Greeley, Colo., who is secretary of the Mountain States Beet Growers Marketing Association, stopped in Wayne this week in the course of a trip over Nebraska in the interest of beet sugar. He says the Great Western Sugar Company produces 10,000,000 bags of sugar each year, and that Nebraska consumes about one-third of a million bags. The ambition of the company, as pointed out by Mr. Pancake, is to increase consumption of beet sugar in Colorado and neighboring states and thus save long freight hauls. Manifestly one way to help producers is to aid in reducing cost of moving products. As to the quality of beet sugar, Mr. Pancake quotes from Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the United States department of agriculture, who says: "The beet sugar when refined is identical with refined cane sugar."

Tariff Revision. While members of congress are demanding extreme measures in tariff revision, the Hoover administration is steering a middle course. Mr. Hoover has asked for revision with reference to both agriculture and industry. Immediately two groups aligned themselves in favor of extreme measures. The Bohia resolution, for example, which was defeated in the senate, sought to confine tariff revision to agriculture, whereas a house measure devotes itself almost wholly to industry.

It must be apparent to anyone disposed to be fair in the matter that neither extreme would meet the need. Mr. Hoover emphasized in his campaign speeches that the tariff could be used to protect agriculture in an effort to equalize it with other businesses. He also called attention to the fact that rates on some manufactured products ought to be raised in order that home industry might be safeguarded.

If the Hoover plan for tariff revision were adhered to by congress, rates might be changed in a way that would aid agriculture without injury to industry and would help the manufacturer without damage to the farmer.

Even though one is abundantly provided for, it is a sad plight to have no accustomed task and no pressing responsibility. The one who has more work than he can do from day to day is less burdened than the one for whom time hangs heavily and monotonously—the one who has no duty to perform, no details to work out, no obligations to discharge. The STARTS WELL. In a current magazine Forster President Calvin Coolidge gives a glimpse of his boyhood days on his father's New England farm, and draws the conclusion that if he were starting life over—if he were choosing the environment best suited for wholesome and vigorous development, he would choose the country. He explains how events on the farm came along in certain and orderly procession. Laying in supplies of wood in winter was followed by gathering the maple syrup, repairing fences, planting and cultivating crops, shearing sheep and caring for the herds and flocks. Most of the work of the farm was done by the aid of oxen. The fourth of July, one circus and the county fair in the fall were outstanding attractions of the year, and they were looked forward to with happy expectancy. Four conveniences were offered during his youth, and prevailing equalities, with no ground for any one to feel superior, lent an atmosphere of healthy democracy. Plenty of work, moderately indulged recreation and good influences gave the foundation on which was reared a human structure of presidential size.

Obviously, that would be an ideal arrangement. It would serve to provide an economic balance such as does not exist now in American business. The danger, however, of going too far in either direction is a tendency that results from overzealousness on the part of members of congress eager to intercede in behalf of their constituents. So one perceives the industrialist arrayed against the agricultural west and vice versa.

The house tariff bill went too far in the interest of industry and not far enough as an aid to agriculture. It is important here to note that President Hoover was not in sympathy with the house measure because of this feature. It did not adhere to his plan of tariff revision for the reason that it ignored many things on the agricultural side and acceded to industrial demands in too great degree.

The trouble with congress is that sectionalism is permitted to intrude and disturb or prevent common sense consideration of the proposition from all sides. The industrialists emphasize the need of high rates for protection of manufacturers; on the other hand the Bohia resolution demanded that revision be had in the interest of agriculture alone. Congress could, if it would, look at the thing in a broad way as does Mr. Hoover. National issues demand a countrywide understanding of the requirements.

Farming. York Republican: If we get the signal right there is gathering indignation against those who have engaged in the political pastime of "running down" the farmer.

It does not take much gray matter to deduce that with all his oppressors the farmer is the most independent citizen in the economic world. Why dress him in rags? Why make him a craven kneeling at the feet of political gods to beg a little favor from his overlords? Why hold him up to view as a simple-minded fellow who loses money every year, works without recreation or pleasure, and in the end come down to abject failure and want? Why call him a peasant and give him a character he does not possess?

If you view the signs of the times carefully you may come to the conclusion that soon farming will be about the most independent vocation in the world. The very fact that makes it hard to "organize" the farmers, numbers, may be the salvation of the class. A farmer with good land under his feet, a smiling sky over head and courage in his soul will become the envied citizen of the country. He is no poverty-stricken individual without hope or happiness. With head up, and face front he can set the world an example in rewarded industry.

Who is it that composes the great markets of America? Why, the farmers. They buy the radios, the automobiles, the power washing machines, the lighting systems, the vacuum cleaners, the electric milking machines, the tractors, all with money earned from supplying the rest of the world with food and clothing.

The delights of rural life was once the chief theme of poets and painters. Then for a while we lost the happy farmer while we looked at a new pattern of human happiness. He was the city dweller living in a modern home with every convenience for his comfort. Now we are finding that this new candidate for happiness is neither independent nor content. He is looking into the future with deep forebodings and seeing a greater bondage to commercialism and greed. Out in the fields under the arching blue he is taking the measure of the man, much misunderstood and cruelly maligned, who is destined to be, as he long has been, the master of his own destiny, the most independent citizen of the world.

Enrollment Here Shows Increase

A number of students entered the Wayne State Teachers College for the summer term Monday, the group being Sioux City teachers who finished their work last Friday and came here for the two weeks of school.

Barre Hill, contralto soloist of Chicago, gave a recital Monday evening at the college.

Faculty of the school entertained students at a reception Thursday evening in the administration building. After students had passed down the receiving line, meeting the faculty, a program was presented in the auditorium. Prof. K. N. Parke presided. Miss Edna Sewald played a piano solo; Maurice Wright a saxophone solo; and Joyce Kuhler gave a vocal solo. Pres. U. S. Conn spoke. Punch and wafers were served.

Mrs. Wilhelmin Hanna, music instructor in Woodrow Wilson school in Sioux City, is taking practice teaching in voice training this summer and has charge of the work in the training school.

Wayne Minister Is Synod Officer

Rev. H. A. Teckhaus Is Elected Secretary At Evangelical Lutheran Convention.

Rev. H. A. Teckhaus was elected secretary of the German Evangelical Lutheran Synod at the convention held in Columbus last week. Rev. F. C. Schult of Hastings, president; Rev. Mr. Harder of Omaha, vice president; and Rev. Mr. Hopy of Wakeness, Kan., treasurer. Sixty-five pastors and twenty delegates from thirty-nine congregations in Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado attended the convention which was held from Thursday until Sunday in Trinity church there.

Besides Rev. Teckhaus of Wayne, Mrs. Henry Miller, Miss Margaret and Miss Alma Vollers and Miss Sophie Damme represented Wayne at the Luther League meeting which was held Tuesday and Wednesday last week in Columbus. Rev. Mr. Welchert of Emerson, Rev. Mr. Kupfer of Pender, and Rev. Mr. Koenig of Wisner, were other pastors of this vicinity who were present.

Rev. Teckhaus opened the Lutheran League convention with devotionals. He urged members to be watchful, illustrating the need of watchfulness by a description of the capture of Troy by the Athenians. Dr. F. C. Schult of Hastings gave one of the addresses for the young people. He showed that heritage has given the present generation advantages to do greater work. Young people today are loyal, ready to work and have more means with which to serve now than formerly. The League unifies the efforts in accomplishing things to be done.

In an address before the synod convention, Rev. R. W. Otterbein of Chicago, outlined the three essentials of life as faith in knowing God's work must go forward, correct living as found in Christian principles and prayer which is the greatest force God has given. In another address the speaker said, "The family altar is a great blessing to the church. If everything else were dropped it would still be great."

Rev. Teckhaus had charge of opening the meeting Thursday.

Proposals for merging the Lutheran educational institutions in this territory were presented by Dr. H. F. Martin, president of Midland college at Fremont. No definite action was taken and the matter will be considered at the next convention. The educational committee plans to observe the four hundredth anniversary of Augsburg by raising funds for institutions.

The convention closed Sunday with an address by Rev. M. Schroeder of Bloomfield.

The German Evangelical Lutheran synod is made up of ninety-nine congregations, with eighty-four pastors. These churches are located in Colorado, Kansas, Texas, Iowa, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Missouri and Nebraska, making up a part of the United Lutheran church, with a membership of 1,321,000. This United Lutheran church is one of the twenty-one bodies which make up the total world membership of over 81,000,000 persons, the largest protestant church in the world.

Are Improving Highways Here

Commissioners keep the graders busy all the time possible through the season. Their aim is to make every section a good highway in order that farmers living far from main roads may have good roads. Blade grading is done first and elevator grading follows. This year the rain has not permitted the work to proceed as fast as last year.

Wayne-Winside Grading. Grading of the Winside-Wayne highway, preparatory to graveling, is planned for this season, according to a statement of the state engineer to Mr. Erxleben. It was also stated that possibly the road between Wayne and Wakefield would be so graded this summer. Neither job has been contracted to date and neither is scheduled for the July letting. It is not likely that gravel will be placed on No. 35 for a year or two. The grade will be prepared first.

An inch of gravel will be added on the state highway south of Wayne.

Grade West on Seventh. Commissioners Erxleben and Koch are having the road west of Wayne on Seventh street, graded west so as to provide a highway connecting Winside and Carroll with Wayne in case the other roads are in bad condition. Mr. Erxleben has had this road graded from Wayne west for six miles, to the end of his district. Mr. Koch has joined this with one mile of grading and plans to grade the second mile west. This will when completed connect with the highway between Winside and Carroll.

From Gas Tax Fund. Wayne county will receive about $20,000 this year from the extra gasoline tax, one cent of which goes to the county. Payments on this are made each month. For April Wayne county received $1,900 and for May, $1,600. The sum goes into the county road fund and is used for improvement of all county roads. Reduction of car and truck licenses, which will be made the coming year, will lessen the road fund about $8,000. By the new arrangement the county will thus gain about $12,000.

No Damage From Rain. The heavy rains of Sunday and Monday did not damage roads and bridges of Wayne county to amount to anything. Mr. Erxleben drove over many sections which he thought might have been damaged. He found no bridges hurt and the approaches and grades only slightly washed in a few places. This shows that the Wayne county roads and bridges are given best of care.

Market Report.

Furnished by Steele, Siman & Co., Sioux City Stock Yards.

Sioux City Stock Yards.—Better grades of cattle strengthened while plainer types dragged along on a weaker basis, this week. Hogs moved upward to near the highest level of the season. Little change was noted in the sheep department.

Cattle receipts were normal around the market circuit and rather light here on the first two days of the week. Heavy rains in this vicinity cut down receipts to some extent.

Runs were made up largely of beef steers and yearlings and quality was better than usual. Butcher stock supplies were light and stockers were scarce. A few westerners are starting to come but it will be some time yet before the regular movement begins.

Demands were broad from all sources for well finished steers and yearlings with the former receiving the preference. Strength ruled the trade on the good and choice kinds while plainer grades were discriminated against and some weakness was noted.

The market reached new high levels for the season. A top of $15.25 was paid for a load of 1257-pounds and some a little lighter cashed at $15.10. Choice bullocks weighing close to 1,600 pounds sold up to $15. A number of sales of all weights ranged at $14.50@15 with the big bulk of the run at $13.25@14.50. Plainer types ranged down to $12 and commons down to $11.

The butcher stock market held a basis practically even with the close of last week. Receipts were light but demands were not active. Better grades went mostly to order buyers and some of the plain and grassy grades were taken by packers at a discount.

Heifers sold mostly from $13.50 down with a few at $14.25. Bulk of the beef cows turned at $9@11 with choice kinds and koshers at $11.25@12.25 and plain lots down to $8 and under. Cutters and low cutters ranged at $6@7.75.

The bull market held a steady basis. Bulk of the medium bolognas sold at $9@9.50 with weighty grades to $9.75 and heavy beef bulls to $9.75. Butcher grades ranged upward to $11.50 and yearlings to $12.50.

Veals advanced a half-dollar. The extreme grade reached $15, the highest price of the season, and

Traveler Is Fined In County Court

C. H. Meyers, traveler in this section, was fined $50 and costs of $4.50 Saturday in Wayne county court on charges of selling goods contrary to the pure food laws. Action against Meyers was brought by V. H. McChesney, deputy food inspector. It was charged that the defendant was selling boxes of candy containing prizes and that he was selling boxes which did not contain the amount of candy printed on the outside label, both of which are contrary to law. The court found him guilty and imposed a fine of $25 on each count. The fines and costs were paid.

RELIEF BILL. The farm relief bill, freed from the objectionable debenture plan, has passed both houses of congress and has been signed by the president. It is referred to as making a constructive start in legislative help to agriculture and "the most important measure ever passed by congress to aid a single industry." The purpose is to regulate marketing and thus stabilize prices. A board appointed by the president will have ample funds to use in cooperating with farm organizations to prevent the glutting of markets and the fall of prices. The president will select as members of the board men who are experienced in the work of farm organizations and of cooperative marketing with one having special understanding of business and another an expert in matters of finance. The psychological effect will at once react to the benefit of agriculture however long may be the time required to set the law into operation and make it function properly. It is apparent that whatever can be done will be done to establish equality of value between products of the farm and factory, but no federal aid for any line of human endeavor can reduce the necessity of effort and sound management as means to expected success. As to the prospects for agriculture and its different auxiliary branches, they never appeared more reassuring.

Crop Prospects Good In Section

Norfolk News, June 14: Early oats in this section are starting to head, and indications are the har- vest will begin about the Fourth of July. Prospects for a high yield in oats are excellent at this time.
Rye, prospects for which are also excellent, is starting to head in Madison and adjoining coun- ties. Wheat, of which there is a small acreage, continues to look excellent and is growing rapidly at this time.
The outlook for a corn yield better than the one of 1928 con- tinues to be excellent. The replanting caused by cutworms and poor seed has been finished. The two hot days of this week brought about a noticeable change in corn fields. With adequate moisture in the ground, the pros- pects for a full corn crib in north- east Nebraska next fall are above average at this time.

Tractors are being used in some fields to cultivate the grain. On a few farms one large tractor is being used to cultivate four rows of corn at a time, this method greatly reducing the amount of labor necessary.

Farmers this week are complet- ing the cutting of the first stand of alfalfa, which is much heavier than the first one of 1928. The difference in the two stands is due to the difference in spring weather of the two years, last year's lack of moisture in early spring retarding the growth of legumes.

Your Pigs Need Minerals

Feeding MoorMan's Hog Minerals to your spring pigs pays you a big return on the investment. There is no period in the hog's life when mineral feeding is so important as the growing period. The modern method of finishing hogs in 6 or 7 months instead of 10 or 12, makes it absolutely necessary to give growing pigs plenty of minerals. Even a good ration and good pasture will not supply enough minerals to develop big frames quickly enough.

"This year, from the sows fed MoorMan's Hog Minerals we farrowed on the average of 8 pigs per sow from 12 sows and did not lose one weak or small pig. We have lost only 4 pigs out of the entire number. The pigs are now 5 weeks old and they certainly are a husky bunch—not a single case of 'bull nose' or sore mouth in the whole lot—something we have never escaped before. The sows gain through the farrowing period in excellent shape."
"I'll say MoorMan's Hog Minerals certainly gives back a return of $2.00 for every dollar invested, together with a lot of satisfaction in raising good hogs that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents."
Roy H. Granander, Revillo, S. Dakota.

"I find MoorMan's Hog Minerals the best balanced and most complete that I have ever used. It is not only good as a general condi- tioner, blood purifier, bowel regulator, and bone builder, but it also serves as a preventive for most all diseases in hogs."
J. D. Wilson, White Lake, S. Dakota.

"Al Stuart, of Newhall, Iowa, feeder of the Grand Champion Barrow at the 1927 Interna- tional Stock Show, says:
"I give a great deal of the credit for my success to MoorMan's Hog Minerals. It helps greatly in keeping them in prize-winning con- dition all the time. As a quality mineral feed, I recommend MoorMan's Hog Minerals very highly."
"I am highly pleased with MoorMan's Hog Minerals and the service of the company who makes it. My feeder says the time to build a hog is from mating time on. Therefore, he says MoorMan's Hog Minerals before the sows continue."
E. A. Morris, Lebanon, Indiana.

MoorMan's
Hog Minerals gives you best results because it is a COMPLETE mineral feed containing ALL the minerals your pigs need. MoorMan's Hog Minerals builds larger and stronger bones—helps prevent worms—properly regulates the bowels—and packs more pork inside the same hide. If you want quicker growth, faster gains, and more profit from your spring pigs, give them free access to MoorMan's Hog Minerals every day. Call

Sketch Of Former Wayne Man Given

The Portland, Ore., Telegram of June 10, contained the following sketch of Elmer R. Lundberg who left Wayne twenty years ago, and who will be remembered by many people hereabouts: "Cowboy, drug store clerk, printer's devil, soldier, lecturer and school teacher—all these things combined to make a Portland veteran a first-class lawyer. Elmer Randau Lundberg was born in Paxton, Ill., June 10, 1878. When two weeks old, the parents moved to Chicago, where his father joined the police force. The parent served throughout the Civil war in the Union armies. The boy began attending Chicago schools, but in 1888 the family moved to a farm in Wayne county, Nebraska. A year of farming, and the "old folks" moved into the town of Wayne, but Elmer went to a large cattle ranch and, although a youngster, rode the range with old boys and for several years was a regular two-gun cowpuncher. In the winter the lad attended school in Wayne. He did not graduate from high school, going to a normal school that was established in Wayne. Getting tired of roundups, the youth clerked in a drug store, but soon had the position of printer's devil on the Wayne Herald at 75 cents a week.

In 1896, Mr. Lundberg began teaching district school at $35 a month. Then the Spanish-American war came. This teacher is a Viking, and the son of a hard fighting soldier. One Wednesday afternoon he told his pupils a new teacher would be on hand the next morning. That night he rode a freight train into Lincoln, and the next day enlisted in company F, 1st Nebraska infantry. The regiment was sent to the Philippines.

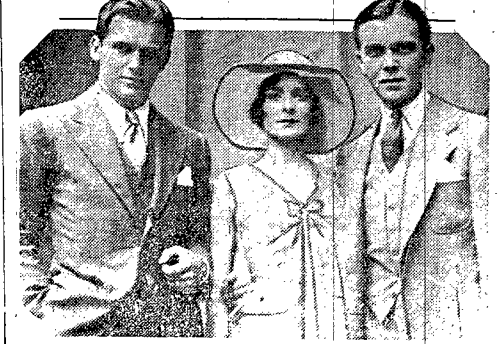

"Elmer saw lots of fun and plenty of fighting on the islands. Returning home in 1899, he spent some time lecturing on how 'The Cornhuskers Won the War.' He earned enough by these lectures to take the law course in the University of Nebraska. The veteran graduated in 1902.

On June 9, 1903, the attorney married Miss Eva Blanche Shuttles, who he met at the Nebraska Normal school. "In August, 1908, the Lundbergs arrived in Portland to stay. Elmer sold meats for a year or two, then borrowed an Oregon code and telephone directory, and opened a law office here. It has never been closed since. "Mr. Lundberg, who was a bugler with the 1st Nebraska volunteers, joined Scout Young camp, United Spanish War Veterans. He is a past commander of it and also a past department commander. He has made a specialty of pension litigation, and has obtained pensions for hundreds of Spanish war comrades as well as for veterans of other wars." Try a Wayne Herald Want Ad.

On Honeymoon, Yet Doug Works

It's a wonder Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who only a few days ago changed her name from Joan Crawford, doesn't take young Doug to task. You see, they were married in New York recently and are now honeymooning in the east—but young Doug insists on doing a little work. That is, he is leaving for a game hunt, right, start, what, how prima donna act in "The Sign of the Cross," which will be his next movie production. Fairbanks is pictured at the left, with his lovely wife in the center.

Painful FEET

To appreciate how needless it is to suffer from your feet, step into our store this week—Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week—and you will be given a convincing demonstration of real relief. Corns, calluses, bunions, crooked or overlapping toes, weak or broken-down arches, weak or swollen ankles, tender heels, odoriferous or perspiring feet—for ALL these foot troubles there is a Dr. Scholl's Applied or Remedy guaranteed to correct it.

Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week

June 22nd to 29th

Shoe Man Says Our Feet Should Not Bother Us

How much unnecessary pain does the average person suffer? If this question were asked a physician he would probably say the amount was very great, because many people accept many of their aches and discomforts as a matter of course. They take no measure to prevent or relieve them. Certainly this is true of the feet, according to Mr. Hubert Fleer of the Daylight Store, Winside, Neb., who declared today almost all of the suffering that most people endure because of corns, bunions, calluses, fallen arches, weak ankles, hot perspiring feet, pains in the legs can be quickly eliminated through the use of Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Appliances and Remedies and correctly fitted shoes. He also declared that to obtain complete foot comfort shoes need not be ugly, so-called comfort footwear, but any style a person may choose to purchase. Mr. Hubert Fleer is a trained Foot Comfort Expert and uses the methods of Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the well known foot authority. All during the week, beginning Saturday, June 22, which is Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week, he is going to give free demonstrations to which all who have foot troubles are invited to attend. He then explained that there is a Dr. Scholl Remedy or Appliance for every form of foot trouble. The fitting of these appliances, he said, is always made by a trained Practitioner who is especially trained along these lines. Foot Comfort Week, he said, offered a splendid opportunity for any one, whether they had any foot trouble or not, to come in and find out just how good their feet were. There was no obligation to buy anything, he said, simply to good chance for one to provide himself or herself with good "Foot Insurance."

Crops In Excellent Shape Near Winside

Rainfall in the vicinity of Winside has not been evenly distributed this season. The locality south of town has not received the amount of rain which fell to the north and west. The eastern portion has received more than the southern but not so much as the north and west. The localities receiving the largest amount of rainfall are a little slower in cultivating and in getting into the hay fields.

Almost all of the farmers in this vicinity have finished cultivating for the first time and have started crossing. Corn is in excellent condition. The oats crop will be exceptional if rust is not started by too much rain. With plenty of sunshine and not too much moisture the danger of rust will be greatly lessened. The first of the week found a large number of farmers putting up the first cutting of alfalfa, the stand being very good.

The frost which at first gave evidence of damaging the fruit crop, did little harm. Cherries have started to turn and the crop will be plentiful. Apples and small fruit are in good condition. Strawberries are ripening and the fruit is of excellent quality.

HOLSTEIN MILK

For Infant Feeding

Among the outstanding qualifications which make milk from Holstein herds especially valuable for infant, children and invalid feeding are:

Moderate fat content, ranging from 3.25 to 3.75 per cent.

This moderate fat content, being present in minute globules, closely resembles the fat emulsion and the fat content found in Mother's milk.

In his book, "Antinutrition," Dr. J. H. Kellogg, Medical Director of the Battle Creek, Mich., Sanitarium, says:

"It seems to be generally well settled among those who have had considerable experience in milk feeding that an excess of fat is decidedly injurious, lessening digestibility and encouraging intestinal putrefaction. Holstein milk contains a liberal supply of sugar, and the smaller amount of fat is a decided advantage."

If you are experiencing any difficulty in feeding your baby, consult your physician and try Holstein milk.

Early Resident Is Eighty-Two

Mrs. Rebecca Sneath of Wakefield, resident of Wakefield for fifty-seven years, was 82 years old last Thursday, and Daughters of Union Veterans of Wakefield went to her home to remember the occasion. Following a business session, the following Flag day program was given: Song, "America," all; prayer; Mrs. Catherine Ditt; reading, "My Flag and Your Flag," Mrs. Olive Leonard; reading, "When the Boys in Blue Are Gone," Mrs. Frances Hypse; reading, "Our Country," Miss Faith Kimbell; song, "When the Boys in Blue Are Gone," Mrs. Oscar Ramsey and Miss Helen Hugelmann; reading, "Naming of Old Glory," Mrs. A. L. Nuernberger; presentation of framed motto to Mrs. Sneath, Mrs. Mary Terwilliger; "Etiquette of the Flag," Miss Anna Young; and flag salute, all. Mrs. Sneath also received a cake in patriotic colors and several bouquets of cut flowers.

Thirty-three members of the Daughters of Union Veterans and five guests, Mrs. M. E. Driskell, Mrs. Frank Bressler, Mrs. Ernest Bahde, Mrs. Ben Chase and Miss Helen Hugelmann, were present. Two-course luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Sneath, whose maiden name was Miss Rebecca Bressler, was born in Pennsylvania. She was married there to Robert Sneath and the couple came to Iowa. After spending two years there, they moved to a homestead twelve miles southeast of Wakefield in the fall of 1872. For a time Mr. and Mrs. Sneath lived on the John Bressler homestead a few miles to the northwest when they were constructing their dugout on the place. A few years later they built a frame house on the homestead and this is still used.

The Sneaths traded in West Point, the closest point, when they first came here. When Wisner was started they obtained supplies there. Mr. Sneath often walked to Wisner, a distance of twelve miles, to carry home a sack of flour. The trip required a day.

The Long and Short of It. "I was wondering about long meetings. Our minister ran overtime at church today five minutes. He preached twenty-eight minutes, and that made one hour and five minutes service, which is too much, so some people say. And if our preacher doesn't watch out, they'll be handing him his hat and asking him what's his hurry, because one hour and five minutes in church is such an outrageous long time! I was wondering how folks stood it to sit three hours at a card party or other entertainment. People seem to want to get their money's worth. Well, perhaps that's why they want only an hour at church. That's all they've paid for; I never thought of that."

HABIT OF THANKFULNESS

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 23. The Habit of Thankfulness. Psalm 108:1-13.

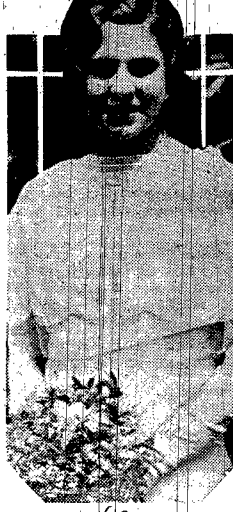

THE fact that our lesson is taken from the Psalms illustrates how ancient is the habit of thankfulness. Thankfulness is a natural experience in the life of man just as perhaps fear and resentment may be natural responses to the incidents and environments of life. A beautiful day, the glow of warmth and sunshine, a refreshing or needful rain in time of drouth, some happy discovery that enriches one's life—all these things bring a natural disposition to thank someone. It may be nothing more than a vague sense of gratitude to the powers that be, but it is an expression of man's optimism which is likely to be the dominant characteristic of man except in times when the woes of life assail him very acutely. Has a Definite Aim Intelligent thanksgiving that springs from the heart as an expression of devout religious feeling differs from this natural spirit of thanksgiving only in the fact that it is dominated by intelligence and is definite in its direction. A mere glow of gratitude toward vague powers that affect one's life is something very much less than the response of a thoughtful and intelligent personality toward some higher personality or spirit. This was the nature of the thankfulness expressed in the psalms, which were the great lyrical poems or hymns of the Hebrew race. The writers of these psalms were conscious of the fact that they were living in a spiritual universe. The powers of nature around them were personified, but only because they found in these powers the expression of a great creative spirit. There is, of course, here in our lesson the germ of this idea that God is a father of loving kindness toward His children, who regards them with pity and with love, whose chiding and anger are redemptive forces, and whose plans toward His children are all full of mercy and grace. The very phrases of this lesson are beautiful, and no consideration or teaching of it will be adequate that fails to take into account the beauty of its figures. More than most lessons it needs consideration sentence by sentence to bring out the full richness of its meaning. There is something rhythmically beautiful in the psalm as a whole, and it is necessary as we read it to remember that it was a poem written to be sung or chanted. It would be well as we read and consider it if we could attune our souls to the voices of angelic choirs chanting this as the praise of God, and in praise of the right attitude of the human heart. The Soul Must Respond Thankfulness is really a condition of all truly great living. It means responsiveness of soul, and where there is no responsiveness of the soul to higher things there can be little enrichment of the soul. The man who feels that life has nothing for him, whose attitude is one of cynicism and resentment, of grumbling about his fate, and of general ill-will toward the universe, inevitably cramps and narrows his world. He has only the narrow vision of a man of a soul and disgruntled soul, that has no room to grow and that ultimately becomes even the more embittered by the narrowness which it has created for itself. The spirit of thankfulness is something that must be cultivated and one of the best means of its cultivation is communion with thankful spirits who have been great and inspired in their expressions of praise. It would be interesting in connection with this ancient hymn of thankfulness to consider some of the other great expressions of thankfulness that are recorded in the Scriptures and in the broader records of human history in literature.

Golden Rule Store Newsboy

BE HERE FRIDAY MORNING. THE ECONOMY EVENT OF THE YEAR

From Friday, June 21, to Saturday, June 29 In All Brown-Ekberg Co. Stores-It Is--

Golden Rule Week

IT FIRST occurred three years ago. And while it is staged but once a season, it lingers in our thoughts constantly and that is the reason it becomes of more importance each succeeding year. Friday, June 21, ushers in the third annual "Golden Rule Week" which will be fittingly observed in all our stores with a gala array of reasonable money-saving values.

WE REALIZE that the general public has been "sated" so thoroughly and so often, that they have become rather indifferent to the usual promotions with which they are daily greeted. But here is an event that IS DIFFERENT!—it abounds with human interest—it represents the crowning achievement of a year's hard work—it is dramatically representative, in a merchandise way of the name it carries—a true "Golden Rule Week."

ALL THROUGH the year, each day is pointed to this event. Weeks of effort are spent to formulate values far beyond your fondest expectations. From our manufacturers we demand concessions on standard quality merchandise that seems to them startling in proportion to their true worth, and they are! But the willingness with which these manufacturers co-operate can best be attested by the offerings that "Golden Rule Week" brings to you. They are startling! They are revolutionary in many instances! They demand quick action, because re-buys cannot be made under any circumstances whereby the merchandise can again be sold at these low prices.

OUR BUYERS have recently returned from the markets, bringing with them hundreds of dollars worth of new, fresh merchandise. Articles that the warm weather season demands. Articles that are needed every day in the home. Things for every member of the family.

YOU WILL notice that this month's issue of the "Newsboy" has been entirely devoted to "Golden Rule Week." Most every feature has been eliminated with the exception of the Want Ads in order to give space to the great list of bargains and special priced items which it has taken so long under the most trying of conditions to gather for this great week of selling in all the Brown-Ekberg Golden Rule stores.

OF COURSE, there must be a reason for "Golden Rule Week." Merchants don't devote the fruits of a year's work to one week of selling on a practically non-profit basis, just for the fun of doing business. No! This is a "Thank You" event to you for the patronage of the other weeks during the year, and the only way we can really show our appreciation is by this means. Then, by doing more business and by selling for less on a very meagre margin of profit we can make new friends and customers; thus, "Golden Rule Week" serves a double purpose.

OUR REGULAR patrons are urged to come and share in this feast of bargains. Those who are not acquainted with our stores, are just as strongly urged to come and get acquainted—noting the qualities—the low prices and the services we have to offer, and ask us to prove our statement that we will not be knowingly undersold. Don't delay! Be here for the opening day! Make your selection before these fine values have been picked over.

See Our Windows Thursday ---Note the Many Savings "Golden Rule Week" Brings You! The Brown Ekberg Co. THE GOLDEN RULE STORE WAYNE, NEB.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

THE BUM STEER

A Misguided Friend.

Lincoln, Journal: One of the favorite poses of Congressman Edgar Howard of the Third Nebraska district is that of a friend of the farmer, whom he always pictures as oppressed and downtrodden. A few days ago he introduced a resolution directing the interstate commerce commission on wheat to the same proportionate level as are the export rates on iron and steel. Immediately he was acclaimed by an admiring Nebraska editor as an exemplar of the square deal in the matter of export rates. This editor demanded to know why iron and steel were thus favored above wheat, and answered his own question by stating in effect that it was because the administration cared nothing for the farmer. He added that if Mr. Howard did nothing more than right this wrong, he would have well served the farmers of Nebraska.

Hotel At Neligh Sold To Healers

C. D. Stratton, brother of E. O. Stratton of Wayne, sold the Commodore hotel at Neligh to J. Perry Philben. The Philben heirs wish a hotel to accommodate their patients and so purchased this one. They plan new plumbing and a new heating plant. It is said that cars from seven states and thirty-two Nebraska counties visited the healers one day last week.

Gardenias and White Wood-Violets Lend Fetching Effect to the June Bride

BY HARRIET

LACE and gardenias and white wood-violets achieve a charming effect for the June brides. To be sure, your June bride usually has pictured in her mind the wedding costume she will wear. It is only natural that this dream costume should exist in her mind, but there is a striking distinctiveness about these costumes worn by Fay Wray and Clara Bow, movie stars, which may be very helpful. Miss Wray achieves her bridal beauty from a costume of lace and gardenias. A subtle Spanish effect is obtained from the treatment of veil and gown.

Skirt Drapes in Front The neckline is covered by a wide band of silver lace and pearls, and cascades over the shoulders into a graceful double train.

The large skirt drapes upward at the front and, in doing so, reveals a facing of silver cloth. White slippers and a single strand of pearls are the only accessories needed to complete the creation. These two costumes may furnish the June bride with many little hints which she may find of immense value in preparing her costume for the wedding.

Mr. Howard had his way this is what would happen: The export steel rate from St. Louis via New Orleans is 32 percent below the domestic rate. The present domestic wheat rate is 28.5 cents. If it were reduced 32 percent, the Howard rate would be 19.38 cents. The actual rate at present is 12.5 cents, and before the cut secured by Hoover in May it was 18 cents. The export steel rate from Buffalo to New York is 20 percent below the domestic rate. If that percentage were applied to the domestic wheat rate, the Howard-made rate would be 16.54 cents, where it now is 11.84 cents, and was before the late reduction 15.17 cents.

Mr. Howard wants the interior point rates similarly reduced. Export rates are not given shipments of iron and steel or wheat or cotton from interior points because there is no export movement from them. He would be asking that a vain thing be done, since export rates apply only from those points where exportable surpluses accumulate.

Oklahoma City Carpenter Can't See But He Builds Houses and Garages

IF you were blind, you probably never would consider building a house all by yourself. But that is what W. H. Waggoner, 63 years old and unable to see, has done in Oklahoma City, Okla. Every nail that was driven, every board that was sawed, every detail of work on the house was done alone by Waggoner.

The house, a small one that has caused unusual interest because it was built by a blind man, was finished in 29 days. It is complete in every respect.

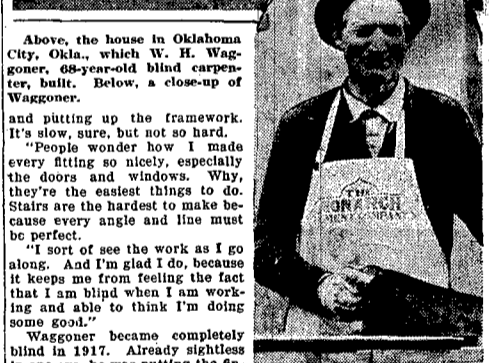

Ever since he was 12 years old, Waggoner has been a carpenter. And today, even though he is not as agile as he was formerly and cannot see, he is a good carpenter. One becomes convinced of this while watching him drive a nail as straight as any man possibly can or saw a board as true as if it were done by a machine.

Because from work he is able to enjoy keener use of his other senses, Waggoner always keeps busy. His house completed, he immediately started on a double garage for his daughter.

"Most men would be idle at my age," he says, "even if they enjoyed good eyeght. That is, if they had money. But I love to work and feel funny when I'm house. That's why I built the house."

"I didn't have any plans when I started at it. I had to tear down an old place to get the material, but I took that house apart and do believe there wasn't $2 worth of material wasted in the process."

"When I got ready to build, I figured out every detail in my mind and then started to work with my square, measuring distances, driving stakes to go by."

Waggoner became completely blind in 1917. Already sightless in one eye, he was putting the finishing touches on a house he was building when he lost sight in his one remaining eye. The ironical touch to the accident was that he was struck in the eye by a nail driven in the building.

MARTIN HAS A HUNCH THAT HERR MAX SCHMELING MAY BE JOLTED IN HIS FIGHT WITH PAULINO UZZUDUN

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THE idea that Max Schmeling possibly may be sent out for a nap when he bumps into that bold, bad Basqueman, Paulino Uzzudun, when the two meet the latter part of the month, doesn't seem to have occurred to most of the experts.

With Schmeling's victory over Johnny Risko as the most recent cause of the German's fighting qualities, many people seem to have forgotten that Herr Max lost to several not very impressive boloneyes only as recently as in 1928. Among these is listed the name of Gypsy Daniels, of whom you may never have heard and still be pretty well posted.

It is pointed out in some quarters that Herr Max looks and fights like a second Dempsey, but then press agents have had quainter dreams than that. He certainly looks a little like the Old Man Mauler, facially, but whether or not he packs the sock that William did remains to be observed.

PAULINO, on the other hand, is expert at the very things Max doesn't like, among these being a vicious style of infighting. In his workouts, Schmeling has been most unimpressive in close quarters. That is where Paulino gets in his best kicks, and they are rib-crashing bolts.

Paulino has had more experience with formidable men, his record of 24 knockouts including ones over Harry Wills and Phil Scott. He also gained impressive victories over Von Forst and others.

Herr Max Schmeling, above, German heavyweight sensation, and Paulino Uzzudun, below, the most important heavyweight bout on the pugilistic calendar.

When nine university crews lined up June 24 for the prize race of the season at Foughkeepsie, it looks as though only a tidal wave, cyclone or a couple of logs floating the wrong way in the Hudson will keep the California crew out of a victory.

Columbia is expected to furnish most of the opposition. The Columbia crew has scored many impressive victories this year.

AFTER running up nine straight victories, George Uhlo seems to have fallen off, weakening so badly in his eleventh game as to give the Boston Red Sox victory.

Uhlo started off the season last year in fine fashion, too, turning back seven clubs, only to fall down completely when the hot weather set in. This was one of the reasons why Cleveland traded the big fellow to Detroit for Holloway and Tavenor.

Holloway got off to a bad start in Cleveland, but has been snapping out of it recently, while Tavenor has been playing a neat game at short for Peckinpaugh.

NEW factors are bobbing up in the major league races. The Yankees, even without Ruth, seem to have recovered from their recent disastrous slump and the Cleveland team has been playing with a better balance. In the other circuit, McGraw's Giants, which got away to a very poor start, have lately shown the mark of McGraw power.

Many Chicago fans think the Cubs are not playing the brand of ball of which they are capable. From this point, the Pirates look like a serious contender for flag honors.

Keep the icebox FULL! save money

By maintaining a cold ice-box you keep your eatables fresh and wholesome. Ice costs less than replacing spoiled foods.

Farmers should take advantage of our ice-dock service. For little cost you may keep supplied with pure ice and effect a big saving on foods. When you are in town, drive up to our dock and let us load on a piece of ice.

You Get 20% More Twine in a Ball of RED TOP

There's an extra 100 feet in every pound—4800 more feet in every bale as compared with standard! Enough extra twine to bind 4 more acres of grain. Try some of this new twine and see for yourself—it runs even and stronger than any standard twine because of its better fiber.

RED TOP offers the biggest value and the greatest economy of any twine on the market.

100 lbs. RED TOP (600 ft. per lb.) equals 60,000 ft.
120 lbs. standard (500 ft. per lb.) equals 60,000 ft.

All Plymouth Twine is treated with Insect Repellent!
