Storm Damages Crop In Spots

Two Areas Near Wayne Are Struck by Hail, Wind and Water Friday Afternoon.

Corn May Recover

Small Grain Is Heaviest Loss—Many Trees, Windows and Sheds Are Broken.

Wind, hail and torrents of water accompanied storms which visited this section about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, considerable damage resulting to property and crops in sections northeast of Wayne. Though the damage is in spots, it appears that two storm clouds met near Wakefield, one working north of Wayne and cutting a swath in a southeasterly direction and the other starting southwest of Wakefield and working northeast. The storm damage continues east of Wakefield and reaches within a few miles of Emerson. Farmers who have lived in this section for forty years say they have not before seen such masses of water flowing over fields and roads. Hail, stones were not larger than walnuts but were driven by a hard wind and pounded everything in sight. The wind twisted about and performed in some places as though it were related to a tornado.

The damaged area begins about two miles north and one mile west of Wayne and the south edge seems to follow the highway between Wakefield and Wayne. The north edge lies about four miles north. The area runs between Wayne and Emerson. The storm from the south did damage in spots, moving from about ten miles southwest of Wakefield northeast to join the other storm at Wakefield.

Think Corn Will Grow. Though considerable loss is sustained, farmers think that most of the corn will make a crop. It will come from the root, it is thought. Men are busy breaking the earth crust over it so it can grow. The small grain, which was of especially fine stand this season, is the greatest loss. In some places this was beaten into the ground and nothing will be realized. This is the case on the farm of Mrs. Maggie Miller, Axel Linn and Albin Peterson who live about four miles south of Concord. In other fields the grain seems twisted and it is thought this can be cut and a small yield will be realized. In other fields the heads are broken off the grain. Some farmers are plowing such fields under and planting corn which can be used for fodder if it does not mature. Others are turning cattle into grain fields.

Rainfall Is Heavy. Clouds which brought the damaging storms to this vicinity came up quickly following a sultry period in the afternoon Friday. Rain in the area amounted to about 3.5 inches, it is estimated, and this fell in fifteen minutes. The gauge at Wakefield, where the fall was less than half what it was north of Concord, showed 1.7 inches in the short period of time. Higher ways appeared like rivers, water being as high as the running board of cars on the gravelled road north of Wakefield. Debris on fences along the Wayne-Wakefield highway shows that the water reached to the top of these. Water rushed in torrents through the fields and into valleys, carrying soil and depositing it about a foot deep on highways and in ditches.

Some Buildings Damaged. Buildings and bridges were damaged in places. A number of sheds were blown down and pieces of timber were seen flying through the air. Trees were broken and a few uprooted and they were also scattered about by the wind. Leaves were knocked from trees and looked about as numerous as hailstones being carried by the wind. Windows were broken where they were not screened.

Escapes Serious Injury. Lloyd Hugelman of Wakefield, who was at home alone when the storm broke and who was getting chickens on the William Hugelman place under shelter narrowly escaped serious injury when a flying timber struck him near one of his hips. He was knocked to the ground and lay there a few minutes before he had strength to crawl to the house. When he did get inside he called a doctor who said that had the timber struck him in the stomach it might have proved fatal.

Garage Blown Down. A garage on the W. J. Johnson farm northeast of Wakefield was blown to pieces and only a few of the timbers were seen after.

ACCIDENT REPORT ISSUES WARNING TO WILD DRIVERS

THE report of the number of automobile accidents in the state during a two-week period—the second in a series issued by Ole Buck, secretary of the Nebraska Press association—shows startling results from careless motoring. The second report does not make an encouraging comparison with the first one. If people included in late automobile wrecks, read the first report, they did not heed it. The next report will doubtless include some who know the dangers of the road, but who think they will escape. A motorist must not only watch his own driving, but keep eyes on fellow drivers who are approaching or passing. The dangerous speeder is often one who has plenty of time, nowhere in particular to go and nothing to do when he gets there. He tries to satisfy a craving for excitement by stepping on the gas and charging over the road at top speed, and then mayhap come the undertaker, the hearse, the new-made grave and usual flowers.

Wed Yesterday At Wakefield

Miss Roenna Utemark Becomes Bride of Lawrence Brock of Leigh at Church.

Miss Roenna Utemark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Utemark of northeast of Wakefield, became the bride of Mr. Lawrence Brock of Leigh, Wednesday afternoon at the Salem Lutheran church in Wakefield, Rev. J. A. Martin performing the ceremony in the presence of 300 guests. Wedding dinner was served afterward in the church parlors. After a few days' trip, Mr. and Mrs. Brock will go to Madison to make their home where Mr. Brock has bought a drug store.

Ferns were the decorations in the church auditorium for the wedding ceremony. Miss Florence Ekerhot played organ numbers at 5 o'clock when the guests gathered. Miss Myrtle Carlson sang "All for You," accompanied on the organ by Miss Ekerhot. Miss Viola Asche played a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Edna Jenny. H. Chris Nelson, accompanied by Miss Viola Asche, sang "I Love You Truly." Miss Ekerhot led the bridegroom's wedding march as the bridegroom entered the church. She played "Romance A" during the wedding ceremony and Mendelssohn's recessional afterward.

Miss Utemark was accompanied by Mrs. Clara Anderson of Wakefield, as matron of honor and Miss Helen Brock of Leigh, as bridesmaid. John Harris and Trafford Wurdeman of Leigh, attended Mr. Brock. Flowers were strewn in the pathway of the bride as she entered the church.

Following the ceremony guests adjourned to the church parlors where the following program was presented during the serving of dinner: Piano selections during congratulations, Miss Frances Wredey, remarks by toastmaster, Rev. Martin, "To the Bride and Bridegroom," William Shadbolt, vocal number, Miss Florence Hal-lin, "To the Bride as a Pal," Miss Lillian Brock, piano selection, Miss Bernice Shadbolt, "To the Bridegroom," John Mooley; vocal solo, Mrs. J. A. Martin; and closing remarks, Rev. Mr. Kaiser of Leigh.

Pink, yellow and green, the bride's chosen colors, were carried out in the church parlors. Light globes were decorated with the colors to represent flowers. Pillars in the church were wrapped in twisted festoons of the colors. Tall tapers in the colors were tied with tulle. Members of the bridal party were seated together at a large table for the dinner. Others were served buffet dinner.

Mrs. Brock is an only child in the Utemark family. She is a graduate of the Wakefield high school and the Wayne State Teachers College. She has spent the past year at home. Mr. Brock's parents live in Leigh. He is a graduate of the pharmacy college in the University of Nebraska. He will go into business in Madison next week.

Couple Wed Here At M. E. Parsonage

Mr. Donald W. Dwigans of Orchard, and Miss Mae C. Fenner of Lynch, were married at noon Monday, June 24, at the M. E. parsonage here with Rev. W. W. Whitman in charge of the ceremony. Miss Bernice Dwigans, student at the college here and sister of the bridegroom, was present for the wedding.

Homecoming Is Observed Here

Wayne State Teachers College Alumni Have Annual Reunion Program Friday.

Good Attendance

Dr. J. T. House and Miss Edith Beechel, Former Instructors, Are Among Guests.

Alumni of the Wayne State Teachers College gathered here Friday for their annual reunion. About 200 were present for the chapel program, noon luncheon and evening banquet and dance. Prof. C. R. Chinn presided. Dr. U. S. Conn welcomed the guests in his cordial manner. Prof. E. J. Hunter welcomed the class of 1919, it being their tenth anniversary.

Following registration in the morning, program in chapel was held at 10. Dr. J. T. House of Montgomery, W. Va., spoke on the subject, "Science and Religion," urging unprejudiced search for truth.

Miss Edith Beechel of Athens, Ohio, former faculty member here, spoke. She urged young folks to plan their education with a defined goal so that the gain for the individual and the public might be greater. To illustrate she told of a Scotchman who bought a ticket on a railroad train from one station to the next. When questioned why he did not buy it to the destination he replied that the doctor told him he had heart trouble and he might die before he completed the trip. Miss Beechel said the Scotchman reminds one of many who plan their education in the same way, instead of arranging a definite course to pursue.

Miss Beechel has, since leaving Wayne, secured her doctor's degree from Columbia university in New York. Last summer, after receiving her degree, she toured Europe. She is second in authority now in the education department of the university at Athens.

Dies In Norfolk This Wednesday

Harry Martin, Manager at Fairacres Farm Over Year, Succumbs After Operation.

Harry Martin, manager and herdsman at Fairacres farm west of Wayne for sixteen months, died Wednesday morning at 9:20 in a hospital from an abscess on the brain. He went to the hospital five weeks ago for an operation for mastoid trouble and had been with his sister at David City, Neb., the past two weeks. He felt better Sunday and returned to the farm. D. S. Wightman took him to Norfolk to the hospital again Tuesday and he died before he gained strength to stand another operation.

Deceased was 85 years old. He had been herdsman at Fairacres farm since February, 1928.

Mr. Martin leaves his father who lives at David City, also one sister, Mrs. Raymond Piers, of the same place. Mr. and Mrs. Piers came to Norfolk Wednesday to make arrangements for the funeral which will be held in David City.

Mother Wayne Lady Dies In Thurston

Mrs. Donald Fitch's mother, Mrs. Smith of Thurston, died Monday evening at her home. Funeral services were held Wednesday at Thurston and the Fitch family went to attend. Deceased leaves her husband and six children.

SUFFICIENT RAIN PRESENTS CHANCE OF HAIL DAMAGE

IF WE have a season of drought, crops wither and are short. If we have sufficient moisture, we run the chance of damage by hail, wind or water. During a wet season, we are liable to suffer in some sections by an ugly twist of the elements. Friday night's hail storm left in its wake north-east of Wayne mutilated corn and small grain. It is said small grain within the path of the hail is generally beyond recovery, and that some of it will be plowed for planting to corn or other crops, while other fields will be used for pasture. How much damage is done to corn in the stricken area remains to be seen. As we are informed, insurance on growing corn is not payable in the event of being struck if the stalks have not developed the second joint, it being assumed that injury is not sufficient to prevent full recovery. However, time will be required to determine the amount of permanent damage to the corn. In regard to insurance, it would seem only reasonable to await results and pay in accordance with actual damage regardless of the number of joints appearing in the stalk prior to the calamity.

Kiwanis Picnic Finishes Year

Members of Wayne Club and Families Entertain Band at Country Club Monday.

Play For Program

Local Men Go To Winner Thursday to Help Promote Interest in Organization.

A picnic dinner for Wayne Kiwanians and their families at the Country club Monday evening concluded activities of the club for this summer. The members had dinner in groups with the Wayne band as guests. The band furnished musical selections afterward. Zero hour was observed. In this hour Kiwanians of all the world were to pause for one minute of absolute quiet.

Play Is Presented. Following the noonday luncheon at Hotel Stratton Monday, the closing program of the year was given by Henry Ley, Harry Ellis Fisher and Miss Mary Alice Leff. They presented a one-act play, "The Cure," which was enjoyed by the men. The group led by Dr. R. W. Casper and R. B. Judson won in the attendance contest.

C. M. Craven is this week attending the convention of Kiwanis International in Milwaukee, Wis., and his wife leaving for that place Monday. They plan to be home next Monday.

Wayne Kiwanians met with Wisner men Thursday evening to consider organizing a club there. William Beckenhauer, J. H. Kemp, T. S. Hook, F. L. Blair and R. H. White went from Wayne and the first two named spoke on "Kiwanian Ideals" following a luncheon. Wisner business and professional men are interested in the organization and plan to have a field worker visit them in regard to starting a chapter.

Truck Is Damaged In Collision Here

A truck belonging to Henry Foltz was damaged considerably and some fruit was lost Friday morning at 3 o'clock when a freight train and the truck collided at the Main street crossing in Wayne. Mr. Foltz and another man were coming from Omaha with 7,000 pounds of fruit. The train was switching a car of stock on the track near the stock yards. The engine moved west across Main street on the siding near the Madsen sheds and Mr. Foltz came from the south when the collision resulted. Mr. Foltz saw the train when he was about six feet from it but it was so close that the best he could do was to hurry across the track. The engine caught the truck and bent the frame and broke the rack somewhat. Some of the fruit was damaged. The truck and fruit were insured so no loss results.

Ensemble Gives Program Tuesday

The Tianon Ensemble, company of six men, appeared in a program of classical music Tuesday evening at the Wayne State Teachers College. The instruments played were the cello, bass violin, three violins and piano.

Members of the college faculty and their families have a picnic this Thursday evening at the Country club. Prof. K. N. Parke, Miss Ruth Pearson, Mrs. R. E. Smith and Miss Nellie Behm comprise the committee in charge. Miss Martha Markyart and Joyce Kubler, voice pupils of Miss Ardath Conn, and Miss Edna Seowald, piano, pupil of Mrs. Dorothy Giesler, presented numbers in chapel Wednesday morning.

Gives Address To Alumni Here

Dr. J. T. House of Montgomery, W. Va., Speaks Friday on Science and Religion.

Urges Research

States That Independent Thinking Will Discover Truth to Improve World.

"The spirit of science is religion," stated Dr. J. T. House of Montgomery, W. Va., in an address to alumni of the Wayne State Teachers College at their annual reunion last Friday. Religion, he explained, is a natural product of human experience. "It appears in the course of human activities and that is all we know of it," Dr. House asserted. Science is the most definite, unprejudiced search for truth known. Therefore, this is religion.

One of the chief menaces in the public school system, Dr. House stated, is the failure to develop an unprejudiced search for truth. Theo. Dreiser's book, "American Tragedy," calls attention to the ideals that are growing up in public schools, the ideals that picture success for a young man as getting money and a girl. These notions appear in vocational education also. Dr. House thinks "The independent and unprejudiced search for truth is lost sight of."

Independent Thinking. The place to teach independent thinking is in the grades and high school, Dr. House explained, for there students' minds are plastic. By the time they reach college their opinions are quite definitely fixed.

One college professor, whom Dr. House quoted, testifies that Dr. House quoted, testifies that the true picture of Elmer Gantry is a study of life and that that is the reason the public is angry at the book. Gantry displays superficial religion and education and the integrity of the world does not catch him. Dr. House stated that there would not be the Elmer Gantry type of people if the world depended on unprejudiced search for truth rather than upon emotionalism in religion, and this search for truth is science.

Need Method Not Facts. The general opinion of teaching is that it is the process of telling students facts. This is not teaching at all, Dr. House said. The teacher should train pupils in method, leading them to discover facts for themselves. Having the method of research the pupil is able to follow where science leads.

Dr. House told of a college in which a strict orthodox professor was hired to instruct classes in the bible. One of the students questioned statements in the book and the teacher dismissed him from school. This Dr. House judged was wrong. The bible, he believes, should be approached as any other early literature. Statements which late experience of the world justifies should be considered sound. Professors, ministers and others, he asserted, can encourage a research attitude that will lead thinkers to discover new truths and thus enlarge the realm of learning.

In facing the problem of socialism in teaching, Dr. House would present all views of it, all arguments for and against, allowing students to reason out the solution. Capitalism in America, bolshevism in Russia, fascism in Italy, despotism in earlier days, all may be necessary, Dr. House stated, to develop the unprejudiced, scientific attitude. They are experiments from which important discoveries may be made.

Former Instructor Here.

Dr. House, who formerly headed the English department at the college here, teaches in a state college in Montgomery. He has similar work and devotes considerable time to editing a magazine, Modern American Literature. The school in Montgomery has an enrollment of about 700. The city, which is located in a river valley surrounded by mountains, has a population of about 6,000. Gas and coal, also dairying, furnish industry for the people. Climate is temperate and rather damp all year.

Dr. House and his wife like the east and both are well. Mrs. House is regaining strength rapidly after an operation but was not able to come west for a visit at this time. Miss Mary House is teaching in New York City after having completed advanced training at Columbia university there.

Dr. House arrived in Wayne Thursday to be a special guest at the college reunion, and he left for his home Sunday afternoon.

Genealogy Books Given To Library

The Wayne public library now has nine volumes of genealogical books, the gift of the Wayne D. A. chapter. Mrs. L. C. Gildersleeve, genealogical chairman, previously secured four books. Four volumes of the Hudson-Mohawk-Keaney series and another volume, "Ancestral Heads," by Holmes, have been added the past week. These are accessible to the public now.

Will Celebrate Fourth of July At Kay Amusement Park in Wayne

Plan Vaudeville, Wayn Band Music, Baseball, Fireworks, Dance and Contests.

Vaudeville numbers, baseball, bathing beauty contest, band music, dancing and fireworks will feature the Fourth of July celebration at the Kay Amusement park here next Thursday. The American Legion and Lorenz Kay, owner of the park, are sponsoring the program.

Stary & Stary, sensational cyclists, will appear in comedy and trick bicycle riding. The Hamiltons will show balancing, juggling and acrobatic feats. They are America's foremost gymnasts. Foxy, wonder dog, performs in many stunts. Each will appear three times on the Fourth. The Hamiltons will also do clowning about the grounds all day.

The Wayne band will furnish concerts throughout the day. A bathing beauty contest opens at 1 o'clock at the swimming pool and a silver cup will be awarded in this contest in swimming, foot races, and climbing a greasy pole will be conducted for cash prizes.

The Kary-All Stars of Sioux City meet Pilsner in baseball in the afternoon. There will also be a morning game.

Vernon McDonald's orchestra plays for dancing in the Colonial pavilion in the afternoon and evening.

Large fireworks display will be shown the evening of the Fourth. The company putting on the display at the Wayne county fair last fall has this in charge.

Attend Institute Of Epworth League

Mrs. W. W. Whitman, Miss Charlene Brown, Miss Elaine Gildersleeve and Miss Lucille Wright are in attendance at the annual session of the Norfolk District Epworth League institute being held at Neligh June 24 to 30. Mrs. Whitman leads the morning lesson on the "Glory of Missions" each day. Rev. Whitman will lead the Epworth League devotional service at 7 o'clock Monday evening. Included in the list of special speakers are: Chancellor J. B. Schrock of Lincoln, Dr. C. G. Goman of Norfolk, Rev. W. W. Whitman of Wayne, Rev. H. A. Taylor, Rev. E. W. Reed, Rev. W. H. Jackson and Rev. L. V. Hassell.

Tax Assessment Records Finished

Commissioners met Tuesday as a board of equalization for the final hearing of complaints on property assessments. None were on file so the assessments will stand as recorded. County Assessor William Assenheimer has been advised by the state tax commissioner to enforce the law on intangibles. Taxpayers who have not yet filed these are asked to see Mr. Assenheimer at once.

REPORTED GRAVEL TO WAKEFIELD IS DULY CONFIRMED

IN a talk over long-distance telephone with State Engineer Cochran Tuesday, the editor of the Herald received confirmation of the report published in Ponca and Wakefield newspapers last week that the highway between Wayne and Wakefield would be graveled this year. Asked as to grading the road, the engineer said the little grading necessary would of course be done. It is understood the road will run mostly along the county line, both Wayne and Dixon counties being interested. Graveling of this highway before winter will serve the convenience of Wakefield and Wayne and people between and around the two points. In regard to the Wayne-Winside highway, Mr. Cochran expressed uncertainty about the time when the contract for grading would be let. It was understood the work would be provided for at the time of the last award of contracts, but this was not done, and no assurance is given that it will be done at the next letting. Suggesting that this county had not had its share of road improvements, Mr. Cochran said the expensive grading between Hoskins and Winside had absorbed our funds and left us without anything due. However, the increased gasoline tax is working every day, and manifestly it should not be long before we will have funds to our credit. Mr. Cochran seemed to appreciate the need of more road improvements in this county and expressed an intention to see that they are measured out to us as rapidly as possible.

Marry In Wayne Last Thursday

Miss Freda C. Schrupf Becomes the Bride of Howard W. Townsend of Lincoln.

Miss Freda C. Schrupf of Wayne, and Mr. Howard W. Townsend of Lincoln, were married Thursday afternoon, June 20, at 4 o'clock at the bride's home, Rev. L. F. Early Resident Of County Dies

Mrs. Fred Bichel Passes Away at Home in Wayne Saturday at Age of 71 Years.

Rites On Tuesday

Funeral Services Are Conducted at Home and at Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Fred Bichel, resident of Wayne county for forty-six years, passed away at her home in Wayne Saturday, June 22, after several weeks' illness. She had suffered a stroke of apoplexy June 10 and another last Thursday and she did not rally from effects of these. She was aged 71 years, 2 months and 20 days. Funeral services were conducted at the home Tuesday afternoon at 1:45 and at the Evangelical Lutheran church at 2 with Rev. H. A. Teckhaus in charge. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Bichel's maiden name was Miss Bertha Chrestin. She was born April 2, 1858, at Sulfeld, Becklenburg, Germany. She was baptized and confirmed in the Evangelical Lutheran church there. She remained a devoted church member throughout her life and exemplified her Christianity in her home each day. She was active in the Ladies' Aid for many years.

Deceased came to this country in 1880, locating at Mineola, Ia. There she was married November 11, 1881, to Friedrich Wilhelm Bichel. Nine children were born to this union, one dying in infancy. Mr. Bichel died December 1, 1926.

The Bichel family came to Wayne county in 1883 and moved to a farm near LaPorte, southeast of Wayne. There they made their home until September, 1923, when they moved into Wayne.

Deceased leaves the following children: Mrs. Henry Kay, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. Bernhard Meyer, Ernest Bichel, Albert Bichel and Karl Bichel, all of Wayne. Mrs. Grover Larsen of Sidney, and Adolph Bichel of Wakefield. There are twenty grandchildren, two nephews and two nieces. One brother of Mrs. Bichel survives and lives in Germany.

Those who were here from a distance for the funeral Tuesday were: Mr. and Mrs. Grover Larsen and two sons of Sidney, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller of Mineola, Iowa, C. H. W. Bussie, Miss Catherine and Ted Bussie and Mrs. Warren of Decatur. Mrs. Larsen had been here two weeks with her mother and Mr. Larsen came later. All of the relatives and a host of friends from the Wakefield and Wayne vicinities were here.

Pallbearers were Charles Thomsen and D. H. Kay of Wakefield, August Kay, John Geewe, Herman Sund, Theo. Larsen, Charles Mau and Henry Baker.

One half of the women don't know how the other half manage to dress so well on their husband's incomes.

Get set to celebrate with the American Legion in Wayne.

A great deal has been written and said about people who talk too much, but there are also a large number who hear too much, most of which is untrue.

In these seasons is a good time to fix up that old hay rack. We can help. We have the lumber. We also have the carpenter right here to build a new one for you. Don't wait till the day you need it. Others may do the same. Give us your order now. We will have the rack ready for you when you need it.

There's no reason in the world why you can't have a barn like this. Drop in here for estimates. We can furnish all the materials.

"How does that new cigarette lighter work?" "Beautifully, it only takes one match to light it now."

Give your car a home of its own—like this one. A small amount of money will build this garage.

GOD'S TRUE PROPHETS

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 30. God's True Prophets. Review of the lessons on the Prophets and Kings of Judah's Decline. Devotional reading: Matt. 20:20-22; 25-28.

EVERY student of history is aware of great eras in which some vital interest in the souls of men came to powerful and unusual expression. One speaks, for instance, of the Shakespearean age, of the Renaissance of the Augustan age, of the age of Pericles, and in various other ways unusual epochs in human life and expression are marked off with distinction.

Among the greatest of such epochs was the prophetic era in the life of Israel and that era attained its height in the period that we have been studying in the course of these lessons. It was a period in which the interest and message of the prophet reached into a world of men and nations which were particularly with these events as they affected the life of the little community in Palestine of which these prophets were a part.

life of a small people, but that their prophecies strike at the very root of human ambition and tragedy. Here is a vast and glorious idealism that lifts the souls of men into interests and ambitions that are eternal in their scope and nature. They still express for the world, persistent in its military rivalries, the ideal of peace and righteousness and truth.

In its blowing operation, the town whistle hangs on long enough so that if one has started and doesn't stop, he is reasonably certain to arrive on time.

It would seem that a python worth $10,000, as reported, ought to have enough sense to safeguard its innards against over-eating. But it appears that such a high class python in Indiana ate twenty chickens at one meal and then died of indigestion.

Speakers before the annual convention of the Iowa Bankers' association at Des Moines this week made a plea for better management of farms and banks in the interest of healthy prosperity. Consolidation of banks was urged, fewer in number believed to contribute to greater strength.

The habit of spreading evil gossip is reported to have been started by the monkeys in early settlement of the jungles of Africa. It seems monkeys were afraid of lions and tigers, and to retaliate for threats of violence, they would flee to the limbs of trees, and while swinging by their tails, they would exchange ugly and damaging stories about their superiors.

A report comes from Washington suggesting probability of the appointment of former Governor McKelvie as a member of the federal farm board which is to administer funds provided by late legislation for farm relief. As a publisher of the Nebraska farmer, Mr. McKelvie is closely identified with farming interests of the middle west, and he is practical as well as progressive. His influence would be found squarely back of any feasible plan looking to the welfare of agriculture.

An authority on mental diseases pointed out in the course of a speech before the National Probation association in San Francisco that children who fall down in mental tests, are often unfairly labeled. He indicated that sometimes a so-called psychiatrist does serious injustice to a child in order to cover his own lack of ability. It is doubtless true that often youths who slip below normal in mental examinations, later rise higher in conspicuous achievement than their precocious companions.

The vacation period is at hand and will continue more or less actively until September 1. Some SHALLOW. While often people go to the city for a change or come to the country for relief from noise and bustle, few from either are so lacking in culture that they are disposed to stick their noses high into the air in the presence of the other. When a gust of superheat wafts in from the city and manifests appalling nausea over a rural community's quietude and monotony, he advertises himself as egotistical and superficial. As member of the social order in a big city he is of course a nonentity, known only as a plague—the eleventh—to those on whose time he intrudes or whose patience he outrages. As a matter of fact, most people in metropolitan centers have vision and understanding, and they make just appraisal of the country. Their lots happen to be cast in the city, and they stay there, not forgetting, however, that rural districts have always contributed a liberal share to the world's constructive brains. Conspicuous figures in American commerce, industry, science and letters came largely from American farms, and seldom did they leave rural environments willingly, even though necessary to do so in order to expand and develop unusual talents. Great populous centers and country communities have distinct advantages, usually well understood by most citizens of both. The fellow who laments the disparagement of the other, will not cause an appreciable splash in either.

have gone, others returning, still others to go. Lakeside and mountain resorts invite travelers; out for sight-seeing and recreation. Jiggers and mosquitoes have sharpened their bills, and have organized escorts of fireflies equipped with new lanterns, to facilitate night work, results making forceful contribution to recollection of the summer's joys.

A magazine story explains how a man and wife with five children live on $22.80 per week. Both are weavers in a South Carolina factory, the man receiving $12.85 per week and the woman $9.95 per week. Besides her factory labor which starts at 7 in the morning and ends at 6 in the afternoon, the wife does the household work, cooking, sewing, cleaning and looking after the children. What, if anything, the husband does in addition to his factory work, the report does not indicate.

An author says education is to teach one how to make a living and also how to live, and he adds that for 500 years in America the former has been stressed to the sacrifice of the latter. He suggests that schools and colleges should speed up the latter—teach spiritual values, inculcate wholesome principles of fellowship and lead to the employment of material wealth as means to an end—not the end. Money is essential, but it should be made obedient to high purposes.

Thomas J. Majors of Peru, conspicuous in republican politics of Nebraska for many years, has just observed his eighty-eighth birthday. He came from Iowa to Nebraska in 1859. In the early days he served as a member of the state legislature, and he served one term as lieutenant governor. He was instrumental in the founding of the first state normal school in 1867, being the one at Peru, and he was made a member of the state normal board when it was first organized, and he is still a member, at this time president. His active participation in public affairs doubtless accounts in considerable measure for his longevity and good health. He predicts he will live to be 100, and people of the state hope his prophecy comes true.

"Save the boys! That is a slogan which should appeal to everybody," says Dr. A. L. Bixby in Lincoln Journal. "The hope of civilization rests in the youth of this land, and of all lands. We have a national probation society that has for its object giving young offenders a chance to make good outside of detention institutions where liberty is lost and self respect sometimes hopelessly disfigured. Under prevailing conditions, the probation plan seems the wisest way out, but there is yet a better plan—one for the prevention rather than cure of youthful delinquency. At the inspiring laymen's convalesce in Grand Island a few years ago, the eloquent Pat Neff of Texas declared the trinity of saving forces necessary to a perfect civilization were 'the school, the church, and the cote house.' Only native modesty restrained us from offering an amendment to make the trinity of saving forces, 'the home, the school and the church,' everything else. That boy or girl will never go wrong whose home is what it ought to be, and the reverse of that is almost certain."

Storm Damages Crops In Spots (Continued from Page One.) The storm. A new car inside the garage was left unharmed. The windmill at the place was wrecked. Horses belonging to the Johnsons were lost in the storm and one wandered up the creek and was found the next day northwest of Wakefield. Hailstones were reported a foot deep where they were washed into valleys. Some were still lying on the ground the following morning at the Borg place northwest of Wakefield.

Vegetable Gardens Hurt.

The vegetable gardens of Ira Lyman, just north of Wakefield, were almost a total loss. Mr. Lyman who depends on his gardens for his living, had large tomato plants and other vegetables mowed down by the hail and covered with mud. Many people in the entire territory lost garden stuffs. Cherries and grapes were stripped from trees and vines. A cupalo on the A. Backstrom barn just west of Wakefield, was blown off.

Wind Strikes Giese Farm.

A shed and windmill on the farm occupied by George Giese of southeast of Wayne, was blown into pieces. Trees were badly twisted also. The storm seems to have dipped down on this place and then gone by jumps toward Wakefield.

Several bridges were badly washed by the high waters. One on the highway three miles west of Wakefield, is in dangerous condition.

Starts North of Wayne.

Frank Griffith, Ed. Grier, Frank Larson, Albert Watson, Shirley Sprague, Albert Paulsen, Cliff Penn and their neighbors in the area first damaged by the storm, filed suit for a four-mile strip in the section. Here the small grain is damaged considerably. Mr. Larson has turned cattle into his field, and Mr. Penn is plowing his corn. Worst Area Near Concord. Mrs. Maggie Miller, Axel Linn and Albin Peterson seem to be the heaviest losers in the territory. Their fields of grain are pounded into the ground, until they appear like a smooth surface. Leaves are ripped off the corn

SNAP UP. Improved roads and improved means of travel make it more necessary than ever for towns to stir themselves in behalf of growth. It is not backward-looking, but forward-looking. Wayne has several things in its favor. It is in the center of a rich territory, and it has made a substantial start. Its early settlers showed lively interest in education, and the result is the growing state school. This adds important momentum to an otherwise fortunate point. Attracted by convincing prospects, progressive and forward-looking individuals have made up the personnel of the business district from the beginning. The fact is reflected in the steady extension of the trade territory and in the deserved increase in the business volume. But it is important not to allow feeling of assurance to cause relaxation of effort. Each individual and each responsible for the future of the town must quicken his pace and thus accomplish more for himself and indirectly more for the community. Every improvement strengthens and helps Wayne. Every extra punch given to private business is an aid to the life and progress of the whole town. It is vital to the future to speed up and put more energy and determination into public movements and private affairs.

and in places the stalks can't be seen. These farmers think though that the corn may start from the roots. They are breaking the hard surface of the ground caused by the beating rain, and giving the corn a good chance to begin again. W. H. and W. A. Meyer had considerable damage also.

Tree Falls on Lines. A large tree over the telephone lines two and one-half miles west of Wakefield, cut off toll service for a few hours between Wayne and that point.

Chickens Are Killed. A brooder was blown down and 200 chickens were killed at Mrs. Maggie Miller's place. Rain in a small amount visited Wayne, Laurel and Dixon. It reached north of Allen also but did not damage crops in that vicinity.

Twister Near Stanton. A storm which assumed proportions of a small twister visited Stanton and Pilger the same evening. Starting at the Charles Chace place in Stanton the wind tore trees off and knocked down chimneys and small buildings east through Stanton. The storm went east to Pilger and did damage to buildings and trees. A piece of rubber roofing was forced into the wall of the J. G. Wagner house at Pilger. A heavy rain fell.

Decay of the Teeth And the Remedy

There are a few certainties in this world. One of them is that a small decay will become a large one and that a tooth will be finally lost as a result. Another is that good dentistry can save the tooth to a good old age, if the dentist is given the opportunity to find and fill this small cavity before it becomes a large one. Even then there is hope that it may be saved by a skillful dentist.

COOL FUEL

—FOR—

HOT Days

As the Weather grows
Warmer, Your Enthusiasm for SKELGAS grows

Skelgas is natural gas, purified and concentrated. Its clear, clean blue flame gives intense heat. It gives that full intense heat the instant you light a burner. That is why Skelgas is the cool fuel for hot days. Its heat is not diffused throughout the kitchen. It is centered upon the cooking utensils. You do not wait for a fire to get started or wait more than a few minutes for exact oven temperatures. Skelgas is not a device for carbide, gasoline or kerosene. There is nothing in your kitchen but your spotless gas range connected with a cylinder of Skelgas that stands in a steel cabinet—with a second cylinder in reserve—outside the house. A single cylinder contains enough Skelgas to do the cooking for an average family for many weeks. That is because Skelgas is compressed in its cylinders until it is five times as concentrated as city gas. Skelgas is from the Texas "Panhandle" where, it is estimated, the supply of gas will last for fifty to one hundred years.

Listed as Standard by Underwriters' Laboratories.

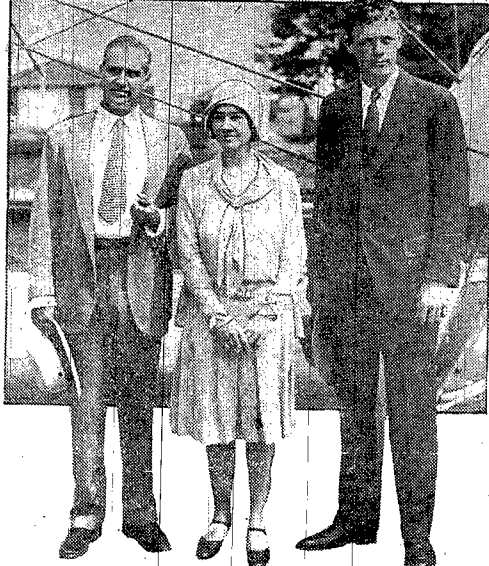

With the range many women select, a Skelgas installation costs only $142.50, with a year to pay. What modern convenience offers so much for the money?

W. Va., the following: Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, Donald Miller of Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brittain and Miss Faye Brittain.

Entertain On Friday.
Miss Evelyn Mellor and Miss Margaret Fenske entertained twenty young women Friday evening at bridge at the home of Mrs. R. E. K. Mellor. Miss Mary-an Ndakes and Miss Betty Kate received prizes. The hostesses served luncheon at the close of the evening.

Bible Study Circle.
Members of the Bible Study Circle were entertained in the Mrs. J. W. Ziegler home Tuesday. All members took part in the review lesson. Miss Elizabeth Lawler of Alta, Iowa, guest in the Dr. W. B. Vail home, was a visitor. The circle meets next with Mrs. Chas. Simpson.

Young People's Class.
The Young People's Bible Study class met Friday evening at the E. B. Young home. Mrs. L. W. Kratavil led the lesson from the first chapter of Genesis. William Benschoff sang a solo, "God Will Not Forget," and played his own accompaniment on the harp. The class continues the study in Genesis this Friday at the Young home.

School of Instruction.
Mrs. Mary Farnham of Loup City, district supervisor for the O. E. S., was in Wayne Wednesday, conducting school of instruction for officers in the afternoon and inspecting work of the chapter in the evening. She was guest of honor at a dinner last evening at Hotel Stratton. Refreshments were served after the evening meeting by a committee.

At Hotel Stratton.
Miss Abigail Manning entertained the following at 1 o'clock luncheon at Hotel Stratton Monday in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. H. Manning of Ashton, Idaho, who was her guest the past week-end: Mrs. Manning, Mrs. Heman Taylor of Plainville, Mrs. I. H. Britell, Miss Nettie Craven, Miss Harriet Fortner, Miss Mary Mason, Miss Effie Wallace and Miss Mary Ellen Wallace.

Scout Troop Meeting.
Boy scouts of troop One met Wednesday evening last week at the college and planned to go to Camp Gifford, near Omaha, July 22 to 29 for an outing. All boys of the troop will attend. The young folks have $90 toward expenses of the trip and need $125 so they held a candy sale last Saturday to help raise the fund. The second issue of Beaver Slat, a little paper one of the patrols is publishing, was distributed.

For Bride-To-Be.
Miss Florence and Miss Faye Beckenhauer entertained twelve friends Tuesday afternoon from 2 o'clock until 5 at a handkerchief shower complimentary to Miss Elmor Rennie, bride of the near future. The afternoon was spent at progressive bunco. Miss Genevieve Wright and Miss Margaret Whitman winning prizes. The handkerchief gifts were presented Miss Rennie in a basket tied with her chosen colors of orchid and yellow, the handle holding a doll dressed as a bride. Bud vases filled with roses were centerpieces for the tables. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, punch and mints were served. Baskets of cut flowers were decorations about the home.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.
Members of the W. C. T. U. met Friday with Mrs. L. W. McNatt. The following musical program was enjoyed: Piano solos, "Mirabel Blair," vocal solos, "In The Garden of My Heart" and "Sweet as Any White Child," Gretchen Teckhaus accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. L. Ringer; piano solo, "Flower Song," Lucille Surber; piano solos, "Cupid's Dance" and "Eidelweiss Glide Waltz," Verona McNatt; and piano solo, "Chinese Coolie," Betty Blair. Baker, Mrs. Clifford Penn, Mrs. Fred Beckman, Mrs. Clark Banister, Miss Mabel Lundahl and Mrs. Harry McIntosh, the last named of Milwaukee. Mrs. McIntosh was assisted by Mrs. John Beckman and Mrs. Harry McIntosh. The afternoon was spent in making a quilt after which a two-course luncheon was served. Mrs. H. L. Neely and Mrs. W. A. K. Neely entertain next.

Poultry Club Meeting.
The Peppy Pilgrim Poultry club of near Carroll met with Irene and Edith Sals at the Albert Sals home northwest of Wayne last Thursday evening. The lesson on summer management of growing chickens was studied and discussed under the leadership of Mrs. John Gettman. Feed records kept by each member were examined by the leader. Plans were made for an all-day meeting Wednesday of this week at the John Gettman home. Mr. Claybaugh, state poultry club leader, was present. The hostesses served luncheon after the meeting Thursday.

Entertains Saturday.
Mrs. S. A. Lutgen entertained Saturday at a 1 o'clock bridge luncheon for teachers of the college. Miss Edith Beechel of Athens, Ohio, was a guest from a distance. The color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the luncheon and in table decorations of white candles tied with bows of yellow tulle, baskets of yellow and white daisies and placecards. Fortunes formed a part of the afternoon's diversion. Mrs. Lloyd Hitchcock of Springfield, Mo., formerly Miss Edith Marshall, won high score in the bridge games and received a basket doorstop in yellow and other pastel shades as a prize.

For Elmor Rennie.
Miss Frances Cherry entertained Friday at a two-course 1 o'clock luncheon complimenting Miss Elmor Rennie who is to be married soon. A musical selection, "The Wedding of the Painted Doll," was dedicated to the guest of honor by an Omaha radio station upon the arrival of the guests. Orchid and yellow, chosen colors of the bride-to-be, were carried out in flowers and other decorations for the four tables. Garden flowers were attractively arranged about the home. Guests drew pictures of the guest of honor, Miss Elsie Kingston receiving a bouquet of flowers for drawing the best likeness. A mock wedding was also diversion for the afternoon. A miscellaneous gift shower followed, the presents being taken to the bride-to-be in a covered wagon of yellow and orchid. Dolls presented Miss Rennie were also dressed in her colors. Be Particular With Your Silks

Because of the numerous kinds of silk materials manufactured today and the many dyes and prints used, it is necessary that the cleaner "know his silks." And this we do. We understand the ways to treat various silk fabrics to remove the soiled spots and yet not injure the fibre or the color. Cleaning of silks is a specialty with us and we guarantee a perfect job each time.
