Fewer People in Automobile or Other Accidents During Last Two-Week Period.

Collisions in Lead

Many Children are Fatally Hurt by Darting Out From Behind Parked Cars.

Accident statistics for Nebraska compiled by the Nebraska Press association and the rehabilitation division of the state department of vocational education, for the two-week period ending September 10, 1929:

No. Accidents	Dth.	Inj.	Cast's	Total
Motor acci.	151	18	185	203
Pub. acci.	33	7	29	36
Emp. agri.	18	1	17	18
Emp. ind.	8	2	12	14
Home	31	2	31	33

Total 241 30 274 304
Of the 274 injured persons, 15 were permanently disabled.

The total number of accidents for the past two weeks decreased 51 below those for previous period. Motor vehicles dropped 26; agricultural employment, 13 and department of vocational education, 9. Home accidents and other public accidents held their own.

Three outstanding causes of motor vehicle accidents during this period were: Collision 25 percent, skids in loose gravel 17 percent, and struck pedestrian 10 percent. Following closely were speed, reckless driving and ditched by passing car.

More than half of the pedestrians struck were children darting out from behind parked cars. There were six railroad crossing accidents which caused three deaths and three injuries. It doesn't pay to try to beat the train. Driving at high speed around blind turns and intersections contributed heavily to injuries. Why will people drive high speed cars when they cannot see ahead to stop?

The following table of motor vehicle accident causes gives cumulative totals over a sixteen-week period. What do they indicate about the need for a state-wide safety program?

General summary of motor vehicle accidents for sixteen weeks:	Acci.	Dths.	Inj.

Let Contracts On Roads Soon

Bids on Several Gravel Projects in Northeast Nebraska Will Be Considered.

The state highway department at Lincoln will let contracts for several gravel projects in northeast Nebraska Thursday, September 26, one of these being surfacing for the Wayne-Wakefield highway which is now being graded. Earth work on the highway is progressing nicely and the bridge and culvert work are following close behind.

Grading operations are under way on the Norfolk-Hoskins highway. When the earth work on this project, which lies from Norfolk to the corner five miles north, is finished, a three-inch coat of gravel will be laid. This has already been contracted for.

The board is to act on bids for an additional four miles of pavement on the meridian highway south of Norfolk at the September 26 letting.

Eight maintenance gravel contracts will be let at the meeting. One of these is the Wayne county sector of the Wayne-Laurel highway. This includes eight miles. Others are the following: Albion-Genoa road, Boone county, 3 miles; Albion-Petersburg road, Boone county, 2.5 miles; Norfolk-Wausa road, highway 81, Pierce county, 6.7 miles; Homer-Dakota City, Dakota county, 4.6 miles; South Sioux City-Allen road, Dakota county, 2 miles; Allentown road, Dixon county, 10.8 miles; and Wausa-Crofton road, Knox county, 10.5 miles.

Graveling started last week south of Elgin. All of the highway between Madison and Meadow Grove has been given an additional coat of gravel this fall.

Work of changing the course of the Northfork river at the Norfolk county club, making it run west of the north First street road, is scheduled to begin soon.

Placing of snow fences on highways is starting.

Market Report.

Furnished by Steele, Siman & Co., Sioux City Stock Yards.

Weakness characterized the trade on cattle and sheep this week while strength was added to hog prices. Receipts were heavy in the aggregate at leading centers in the cattle and sheep departments and more moderate in the hog division.

Local cattle receipts were the heaviest of the season on the initial session of the week with the arrival of nearly 14,000 head.

Most of the run came from west of the Missouri river with a small showing of native material. The percentage of natives was the heaviest after Monday.

Best steers and yearlings were very draggy on the first two days of the week and around 25 to 50c was taken off last week's price list. Falling off in quality and light shipping demand caused packers to be indifferent buyers and they showed no mercy.

Bulk of the supply cashed at $12.50 to 14.50 with a few real good grades above $15.00 and plain shortfeds down to $11.50 and under. It would have been hard to get over $16.00 for any cattle had that class been offered.

Cornfed cows and heifers were scarce and the market here closed to a steady basis. A few heifers sold at $11.50 to 13.50 with choice light weights quoted above $14. A few cows sold at $9.00 to 10.50 with koshers above $11.00.

The grass butcher stock market was quoted steady to a quarter lower with low grades holding a firm basis. Some of the grass heifers cashed at $8.50 to 10.00 and bulk of the cows sold at $7.00 to 8.25 with a few up around $8.00 and down to $6.50 and under. Bulk of the cutters and low cutters sold at $5.50 to 6.25 with old shells down to $5.

Bulls carried a strong undertone with bulk of the medium grades selling at $7.75 to 8.50. A few beef grades ranged above $9.00 and plain thin grades under $7.00. Veals strengthened with the practical top at $14.50 and the extreme crest at $15.00 to independents.

Stockers and feeders arrived in large numbers but demands were fairly broad and the market held to a steady to quarter lower basis with plain grades off most, following the trend of recent weeks. Inquiry from the country broadened somewhat to take care of the increase in incoming supplies.

Bulk of the cattle brought $9 to 11.00 with some heavy weights at the latter figure and some light weights to $11.75 with calves higher. No choice cattle were offered to bring better than $12.00. Some common lots ranged down to $8.00 and inferior bunches down to $7.00. Feeding cows sold at $6.00 to 7.50 and heifers on up to $10.75.

The hog market advanced 15 to 25c on the initial session of the week and carried a strong undertone on the following day. Falling off in receipts accounted for the advance.

On the second session, the top was $10.25. Bulk of the good light to medium weights sold at $10.00 to $10.25, strong weights, $9.75 to 10.00, heaves, $9.50 to 9.75; mixed lots, $9.10 to 9.50; smooth light sows, $9.00 to $10; bulk of the regulation medium to heavy packers, $8.50 to 8.85; stags, around $8.50; choice light pigs to a countryman, $10.50.

The hog market may continue to bolster up if receipts stay down but it is hard to tell because prices took a slump a short time ago when receipts were light. Prices have advanced ed 25 to 50c since the middle of last week.

Lamb took a 25 to 50c decline and ewes held steady. The top on lambs was around $12.75 on the second day and ewes were quoted from $5.00 down. Feeding lambs held steady with choice rangers at $13.00. Mixed feeding and breeding ewes sold at $4.10 to 5.00.

Preparing the Way of the Lord, Mal. 3:1-12. MALACHI, though it stands in our Bible as the last book of the Old Testament, probably comes from a time earlier than certain other portions of the Old Testament. It is doubtful whether it should be dated before the time of Ezra and his reform, about 458 B. C., or a few years later between the time of Ezra's arrival at Jerusalem and the coming of Nehemiah. The name of the writer of the prophecy is lost, for Malachi means "my messenger," and the translators of the Septuagint, the ancient Greek translation of the Hebrew Scriptures, give the title of the book as "His Messenger." A Source of Inspiration. The word of John the Baptist as a forerunner of Christ has emphasized the place of the message and the need of preparation for the coming of the Lord. Possibly a great part of John's inspiration for his task may have come from this vivid description of the messenger in the Book of Malachi and in the emphasis there placed upon the preparation of the way. The beauty of the description of the coming of the Lord here given is equalled only by the beauty of the spiritual ideal set forth. The coming of the Lord is a time of discrimination and judgment, when all that is pure shall be revealed and all impurities shall be purged; as a refiner purges base metals with fire or as with soap his garments, so shall the coming Lord be to sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and it is significant that the purification begins with the sons of Levi, the ministers of religion, who thus purified, as refined gold and silver, shall offer unto Jehovah offerings of righteousness. This day of purification will not be one of mere ritualistic hope but a day rather of purification in righteousness and truth. This Lord who is to come abhors all evil—sorcery, adultery, and false swearing. His age will be an age of social righteousness and justice, with splendid morality and spiritual vision. All that the Lord represents stands opposed to the oppression of the worker, and of the widow and fatherless. The day of the Lord is to be a day of the common people in which the rights and needs of every man are recognized.

Says It Saved Her Operation. "Without a doubt, Sargon saved me from an operation and the way it benefited me was simply marvelous. My trouble seemed to have started with my gall bladder. At regular intervals I'd have such severe headaches I'd have to go to bed until they were over. A stinging, burning pain in my right side bothered me almost constantly. My nervous system broke down completely. I had an unpleasant taste in my mouth and it was covered with acid blisters. I was told I'd never improve until I had my gall bladder removed—but I decided to try Sargon first. "It's hard to believe, but I haven't had a headache since my second bottle of Sargon. The pain in my side left me, my nerves quieted and I began to sleep better. The blisters disappeared and now I just feel stronger and better in every way. Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the best laxative I ever saw, they act so naturally. Sargon helped me so much I am giving it to my little ten-year-old daughter and I am delighted at the improvement she is already showing."—Mrs. G. W. Hupp, 3508 S. 20th St., Omaha. Leaders In Agriculture To Meet With Road Men For Farm Relief Through Surfaced Market Roads

National Convention Will Discuss Extension of Country's Paved Highway System with Low-Cost Surfacing. FARM organization officials and others nationally prominent in advocating farm relief, as well as officials speaking for the motoring public, will meet October 23 to November 1 at the West Baden Hotel, West Baden Springs, Ind., to devise plans for speeding up improvement of the nation's highway system as a measure of farm relief and the alleviation of traffic congestion on trunk-line highways near great centers of population. Paving of the farm-to-market roads with low-cost surfaces will be the keynote of the conference. The convention, known as the Eighth Annual Asphalt Paving Conference, will be held under the auspices of The Asphalt Association, New York, and The Asphalt Association of the United States and Canada. Among the speakers at the conference will be Samuel H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who speaks on "Farm-to-Market Roads—A Great National Necessity"; E. W. Crum, Washington, D. C., director, Highway Advisory Board, National Research Council, whose subject will be "Research as a Factor in the Low-Cost Asphalt Problem"; John J. Brown, director, Indiana Highway Commission; A. E. Hinkle, maintenance engineer, Indiana Highway Department, and many others. Numerous government, state and county highway officials of the United States and Canada will discuss the latest methods evolved for the construction of low-cost, dustless pavements on the secondary, tributary and farm-to-market highways. Leaders in the automobile industry and officials of national automobile associations will discuss plans for paving the back-country roads so as to relieve traffic congestion on the main highways, especially on holidays and week-ends. Farm organization officials declared the deplorable condition of the farm-to-market roads, which a majority of farmers must use in getting to and from their farms to paved highways, has become a serious matter. Without discounting the value of the highways connecting the cities, they said, it is high time an effective movement were started for paving these roads. While the farmers of the United States are paying 3 percent of the taxes for state and local highways, less than 3 percent of the farms are reached by paved roads. Today, approximately 5,000,000 farmers are still living on muddy, rutty, dusty roads and there are still, in the United States, 2,484,822 miles of unpaved highways. Of the 3,650,000 miles of highways in the country, only 137,000 miles have high-type surfaces such as asphalt, brick and concrete. Economists declare that if all the 24,000,000 automobiles in service today were placed on the paved roads at one time, each car would have only 13.7 yards in which to operate. The 40,000 miles of new roads annually constructed are not much more than sufficient to provide parking space for the annual increase in new motor cars and trucks. Paving and landing-field treatment with asphalt at airports will come in for extensive discussion at the West Baden meeting by airport engineers and aviation officials, led by Chief Engineer R. H. Simpson, who directed the paving at Port Columbus, Ohio, said to possess the last word in airport runways and landing fields. An elaborate program of entertainment will include, as features, a special "county fair" evening, banquet, dance, bridge-tes, for ladies and a golf tournament on the final day. Automobile tours and airplane flights are planned. Government and state highway engineers, farm and motor association officials are expected to attend to the number of two thousand or more. Several delegates will fly to the meeting from Chicago and New York, and plans are being made for the presence of the individuals themselves or of companies with which they are connected.

Soft, Feminine Lines New Styles Seek Can Be Obtained by Free Use of Lace

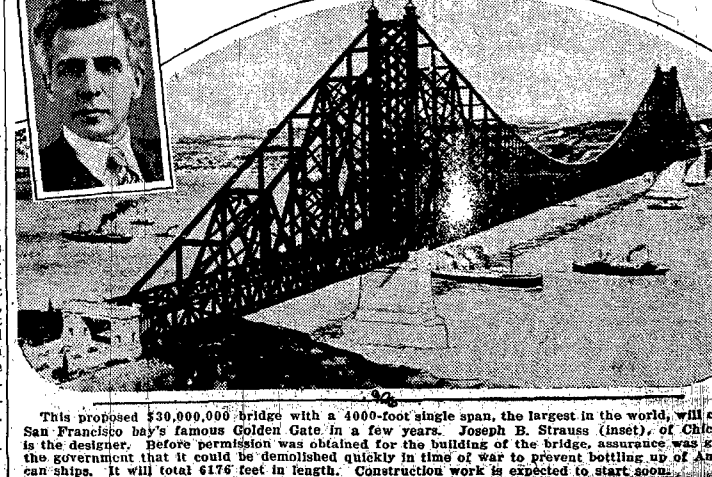

BY HARRIET LACE will be very important in the new styles. This is quite logical. For all the new modes stress the soft, feminine lines. And what is more feminine or softer in its effect than lace? Bits of old heirloom lace will have their day this winter. An old rich gold velvet, for instance, will be given just the right touch if a bit of valuable lace fills in the deep neckline and softens the wrists. Royal blue satin is softened by a bit of rich ecru lace. Soft pink makes twice as entrancing an evening gown as a lace yoke is used or lace insets ornament the bodice and skirt. Lingerie makes much of lace. The newest bit of underwear is the petticoat, missing these many years since the straight line silhouette became fashionable. New petticoats are mere trifles of chiffon, fine crepes and lace used in diagonal, circular or flounce trimmings. Slips and envelope chemise sets use lace abundantly and most of the new nighties have some lace touch. Even hats are endorsing lace. The very newest headgear is the restaurant turban and black cre lace is the smartest fabric from which one of these can be made. THE new use of lace on frocks, however, is the most noticeable one this season. From the sports frock that may take a lace stitch in its sweater blouse to the most formal evening gown, lace is important. One especially charming dinner gown, the kind of frock indispensable in even a meager wardrobe, is a black velvet one trimmed with a deep flounce of heavy cream colored lace. The frock itself is cut on semi-princess lines, emphasizing the higher waistline by the placement of soft, crushing details at approximately normal placing. This lace flounce is placed to give a longer backline, and drops abruptly at the sides, suggesting a train. This work must be started previous to October 15th, 1929 and be completed by December 1st, 1929. The right is reserved to waive all technicalities and reject any or all bids. Department of Public Works, R. L. Cochran, State Engineer. George Kohlmeyer, County Clerk, Dixon County. Charles W. Reynolds, County Clerk, Wayne County. S513. Notice of Hearing. In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. In the matter of the Estate of Abraham L. Evans, Deceased. The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, vs. To all persons interested in said Estate: You, each and all, are hereby notified that Harry L. Evans has filed a petition in said court alleging that Abraham L. Evans departed this life intestate on or about the 23rd day of August, 1929, and praying that Edward Huwaldt be appointed administrator of said Estate; Hearing will be had on said petition before me at the county court room in Wayne, Nebraska on the 20th day of September, 1929, at 10 o'clock A. M. (Seal). J. M. CHERRY, County Judge. Davis & Welch, attorneys. S513.

These two creations show the prominent part lace plays in the new styles for fall.

Many a bridal gown this fall will stress the new reign of lace. Of course, lace veils are ever lovely. But the intricate use of lace into the gown itself is the new point of fashion. A very charming and very new bridal gown for October is one that has its entire waist and sleeves made of lace and its full, draped skirt of heavy satin. The lace bodice fits snugly, the neck is modestly rounded and the sleeves long and tight. The bodice ends over the skirt, like a little poplin making a charming thing of that theme. This bodice buttons up the back, in quite a quaint manner, by little lace buttons and tiny loops. The skirt is quite uneven in its lower edge and is longer on both sides than in the back.

About Nebraska and Nebraskans

Will M. Maupin. James McGary of Ravenna and his sister, Mrs. Virginia Gibson of Gibbon, may rightfully lay claim to being the oldest pair of twins in Nebraska. Recently they celebrated their 83d birthday anniversary at the Gibson home in Gibbon. Mr. McGary located in Ravenna the year the village was organized, and his sister located in Gibbon with her family earlier. A set of false teeth may lead to the discovery of the identity of a driver who ran his car into the legs Thursday afternoon when he was showing his hogs at the Wayne county fair. One of the animals grabbed him with his tusk, tipping him over and cutting the limb. Several stitches were required to close the wound. Try a Wayne Herald Want Ad.

Hand Bag Taken At Fair Grounds. A hand bag containing $30 in money, keys and other valuable articles, belonging to Miss Crystal Dragon, was taken Thursday evening at the Wayne county fair grounds grandstand. Officials are searching for the guilty party. Miss Dragon was sitting in a booth at the grandstand operating the machine furnishing music for the motion picture which was shown. Thinking the booth was all enclosed, Miss Dragon laid the hand bag down on the floor. While the band was playing a selection she stood up and turned around. She missed her bag afterward. When it was noticed that the pocketbook was gone, a search was made. It was found that there was an opening in the booth accessible from the back of the grandstand. A hooked wire was laid beside the opening. It was thought the person taking the bag had used this in reaching for it. The bag was of tannish gray leather and was of the long arm style. Miss Dragon had planned to leave the bag at home Thursday evening but she was in a hurry to reach the grounds, and forgot to do so. Natural Color Film Coming To Theatre. "On With the Show," Warner brothers' first 100 percent natural color, talking, singing, dancing Vitaphone picture will be shown at the Gay theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, September 23, 24 and 25. "On With the Show," beside the glamour of back stage life—it is a play within a play—combines a tender heart story, with the fantasy that is in the extravaganza which the stranded company of players are determined to put on, despite the fact that the "ghost" refuses to walk. Gorgeous costumes and settings are seen in their own brilliant coloring, and the settings make the plays all but living. Beside the great cast, "On With the Show" has a chorus of dazzling beauties, numbering over one hundred. One of the interesting things about this story is the fact that it is the first play of Humphrey Pearson, who went to Hollywood for his health, casually flung his brain-child into the Warner Bros. lot—to find himself a fortnight later—with a job as a special writer for them, and with "On With the Show" in production. Robert Lord did the screen adaptation. The cast includes Betty Compson, Arthur Lake, Sally O'Neill, Joe E. Brown, Louise Fazenda, Ethel Waters, William Bakewell, Fairbanks Twins, Sam Hardy, Wheeler Oakman, Lee Moran, Otto Hoffman, Harry Gribbon, Purnell B. Pratt, Josephine Houston, Henry Fink, Thomas Jefferson and Tom O'Brien. Alan Crossland directed.

Man Has Leg Cut By Hog Thursday. Gus E. Paulsen of Carroll, had a deep gash cut in one of his legs Thursday afternoon when he was showing his hogs at the Wayne county fair. Ever Hear of Forney county, Nebraska? There was such a county in territorial days, for it was hooked up with Pierce county for legislative representation purposes at the first legislative election held. But it disappeared between that date and the date of electing the second territorial legislature. The first Fourth of July celebration on Nebraska soil was at Bellevue in 1854. There was a dinner, of course, and 24 toasts and responses. They sat down to dinner at 12 m. in those days, and presumably the diners on this particular dinner managed to get home before midnight, if they remained to hear all the responses. One toast was "Nebraska, the Future Keystone of the Federal Arch," and with it went the following verse: "Come out to the West; no longer remain In the land where old Mammon doth reign. O, come to Nebraska, the haven of rest. Where the poor and the needy shall ne'er be oppressed. Its soil it is rich, and our prairies so wide; The larchstrings of our cabins always hang outside. A right hearty welcome the stranger will find, For the sons of Nebraska are social and kind." The name of the author has been, unfortunately, lost. The metre may limp a little, but it will be admitted that the sentiment is worthy. There may be those who sigh for the "good old days" of partisan politics. To such we commend the following: In the second election held in Nebraska Territory for delegates in congress, the North Platte candidate was Bird B. Chapman, and the South Platte candidate was Hiram Bennett. Bennett was championed by Sterling J. Morton. Chapman was declared elected. After word came back to the territory that Chapman had been denied a seat in congress, whereupon Morton gave voice to the following in the Nebraska City News of May 17, 1856: "We are rejoiced over the fact—in short we are specially and exquisitely rejoiced—that the great big-a-boob of administration influence failed to frighten away the facts in the case which with a thousand tongues related the baseness, the corruption and the injustice of the miserable beings who filched from Bennett the certificate of election." Then Morton wrote the following epitaph for Chapman: "Embalmed with soft soap, gilded in brass, encased in the cotton-wood coffin of public charity, rest now his rotten remains, and ever anon a popular ridicule shall giggle his requiem while common sense shall point to the spot as inhabited by one whom she knew not." The humor of it was that the report was untrue, for Chapman was seated and served, only to be defeated for re-election by Judge Fenner Ferguson. But the Platte river remained a political dividing line for many years. In fact, it has not entirely ceased to be such even to this day. Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Foutz of Central City recently celebrated

Nebraska, The Golden

By Helen Morgan.

This essay by Miss Morgan of Lincoln was awarded first place in the Essay Contest sponsored by Geo. Jackson, Secretary of the Nebraska State Fair, for 4-H boys and girls of Nebraska. Miss Morgan's essay contains historic, geographic and economic information of unusual value, besides being a well written statement of Nebraska's claim to recognition as one of the richest states of the union.

Coronado was a Spaniard with a Spanish love for gold, so when an old monk told him remarkable tales of seven cities fabulous in their wealth of silver and gold, he set out with a great band of soldiers. But he was disappointed for the cities were not rich but poor. However, he was led farther and farther by tales of the land of Quivera, where the poorest ate and drank from golden vessels, where there were herds that furnished food, clothing, and shelter, and where the very sands of the river were gold.

After two long years Coronado arrived at Quivera, but there was neither gold nor silver and the river banks were but ordinary sand. But the soil was rich and black and even in his disappointment Coronado noticed this and said that here all the products of Spain would flourish. The buffalo herds lived up to their reputation for the Quiverians ate their flesh and used their skins for both clothing and tents. Poor Coronado could not see the resources of the country into which he had strayed. The soil that would grow the products of Spain is the rich Loess soil of Southern Nebraska.

Coronado did not know that the land where he was standing was to become the granary of the world. He did not know that the river valleys were to bring forth a gold of their own more valuable even than Coronado's dreamed-of river sands. The soil of Nebraska is chiefly responsible for its great wealth of five and a half billion dollars or an average of four thousand dollars per capita. Seven-elevenths of the total area of Nebraska is the rich, black Loess soil.

The sand hills and high plains regions make up the rest. The Loess region is richer than the other two though they offer advantages of their own. Every element necessary to plant life is found plentifully in Loess soil and it will last if crops are properly rotated. The soil of Nebraska is very deep. In two-thirds of the state there is a sub-soil capable of holding from one to three-fourths to two and one-fourth inches of water per foot. This subsoil is as rich as the surface soil except for a lower per cent. of humus and is sometimes from fifty to one hundred feet deep. Such large areas of this kind are not found in any other state.

The climate of Nebraska is warm temperate and is agreeable and healthful. The mean temperature for the state is about forty-eight degrees. The rainfall averages twenty-four inches. The eastern portion gets thirty inches, while the western gets only seventeen inches. The growing season is about one hundred sixty days in the southwest and one hundred thirty days in the northwest.

The soil and climate of Nebraska are adapted to its most valuable crop. About eight million acres are planted to corn each year. This crop is grown in all part of the state. The yield is heavier in the southeastern portion for the soil is richer, the rainfall greater, and the growing season longer. A seed has been evolved which is adapted to the shorter growing period of the northwest. The average yield of corn is twenty-five bushels, though a field in Dawson county averaged one hundred bushels. In nineteen hundred twenty-seven Nebraska ranked second in corn though she is generally third. However, Nebraska's corn is first in quality.

Wheat is Nebraska's second crop in value. About three million acres are put to wheat each year. The average yield per acre for the whole state is seventeen bushels though it is sometimes treble that amount. Nebraska ranks third in production of winter wheat. Her wheat is second to none in quality. The most prolific winter wheat section in the world is in Nebraska.

Hay is a very important source of Nebraska's wealth. In all hay, wild and planted, Nebraska is second in the United States. In alfalfa, the most important hay are now the second in size in the United States, started as a feeding station, its object being to buy eastern corn and western cattle. Now there is no division between the West and the East, for grain is being raised more and more in the former and stock is gaining a foothold in the latter. Each is being helped by this new system for there is more and better livestock than before.

The sharper distinction now is between the farmer and the manufacturer. But the spirit of unity still prevails for the farmer realizes that the home manufacturer can give him the greatest value for his produce and the manufacturer realizes that he can make a less expensive article if he gets raw material nearby.

The annual output of Nebraska's factories, according to Dr. Conrad's "Nebraska Resources," is one-half billion dollars. But this vast sum is not as important as the unity which exists between the farmer and the manufacturer. It seems that whenever and wherever sufficient need arises factories spring up. The seven sugar beet factories of western Nebraska, the packing houses and macaroni plant of Omaha are examples of this. The many mills all over the state and the enormous plant at Bridgeport show how small local needs are cared for. Some factories do not use raw materials but supply the farmers' needs. Such are the implement, pump, engine, truck, auto body, and aeroplane factories. The very fine clay beds of the state are made into building material.

Progress seems to be the watchword of the citizens of Nebraska. Nebraska always does her best. A factory is built to take care of local needs. It is furnished with the best up-to-date equipment. And frequently without any such definite aim it turns out to be one of the world's best. The Omaha Smelters were started to give employment to her citizens and it is now one of the largest smelters in the world. The Biscuit Company was to use Nebraska's wheat and it is now the largest cracker factory west of Chicago. The Broom factory at Deshler is the largest in the country. Our toilet preparations are so excellent as to be in Fifth Avenue shops and our incubators are sold from Hong Kong to Cape Town.

Since Nebraska is largely an agricultural state her greatest progress is along agricultural lines. The dry farming method which has been adopted in western Nebraska has easily doubled the yield. It has also made crops more certain. Seed varieties have been evolved that are adapted to the varied growing seasons, climate, and rainfall of the entire state. Improved methods of feeding, care and breeding have made all Nebraska livestock first in quality in the world. Nebraska is outstanding in her development of seed potatoes. Her progress in butter making is marked. Over a period of thirty-five years the increase has been thirteen hundred per cent. Nebraska's poultry has progressed along with her other industries and in the present poultry problem, that of turkey investigation, Nebraska has one of the leading experiment stations.

Nebraska's greatest progress agriculturally can not be measured materially, for it consists in the education of her present and future farmers. The Agricultural College and the Extension Service of the University of Nebraska are the principal agents of this work. The research of the Agricultural College has helped greatly in putting Nebraska young as she is, in the front ranks of the states. One department of the Extension work, 4-H Clubs, has enabled boys and girls to produce exhibits which compete favorably with those of professional experts.

Without unity there can be no progress. But without law and without equality before the law, there can be neither unity nor progress. Nebraska's wonderful progress in itself shows how the spirit of the state motto, "Equality Before the Law," has been both the letter and spirit of civic life.

Nebraska's progress is a prophecy of her future. If the progress of the next fifty years equals that of the last fifty, Nebraska will be a great state indeed. And there is every indication that her future progress will be even greater than the past.

This state has many resources which have only been touched and many others only partially developed. Popcorn on a small area at Ord made $45 an acre. Possibilities of popcorn raising and of fur farming are examples of overlooked opportunities, as are also fruit and vegetable raising. Minerals, except potash, have not been exported. The new cement factory at Louisville seems a step in this direction. Two years was spent in looking over the middle west for the best location for "the most unique and extraordinary cement plant ever built." The Louisville limestone makes cement far above the government standard and there are sufficient deposits for production indefinitely. Little has been done with the fossil deposits, the best of which yet found are on the Cook ranch. Nebraska volcanic ash, a necessary ingredient of scouring powder, has been used but very little. Her resources for manufacturing have not been developed. This is true of the water power of the streams. However, Nebraska's greatest progress will probably continue to be in the greatest Nebraska industry, Agriculture.

Poor Coronado! If he could have seen the golden past, the golden present and most especially the golden future of Nebraska, he would have been added to the ranks of those who have worked together to make her a

Arrive Here After Touring The West

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Brodd arrived home Friday from a tour of the west. They were gone two and a half months. They visited in Utah, Wyoming, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

The Brodds went first to Salt Lake and enjoyed their visit at the city and the lake very much. They visited the Arthur Putzer family who used to live at Winside, at Twin Falls, Idaho, Mr. Brodd's sister at Spokane, Wash., and his cousins at Billings, Mont. and Powell, Wyo. They also spent some time in Yellowstone park.

The valley crops in the west and also the irrigated crops, the Brodds found to be wonderful. The west has been very dry this summer as a whole and crops have suffered accordingly. At Powell, Wyo., and at Twin Falls, fields of late beans and potatoes were damaged by the cold weather of the past two weeks.

At Casper, Wyo., eight inches of snow fell and more fell at Powell. While the Brodds were in Wyoming, a blizzard struck the region around Colly. Tourists were beginning to leave the region of mountains because of snow. The Brodds saw, however, a number of Indiana and Ohio cars still going into the parks.

Mr. and Mrs. Brodd camped along the way and found tourist parks to be very comfortable. Cabins are very convenient and everything seems to be arranged for the comfort of guests.

Girl Burned Has Relatives Here

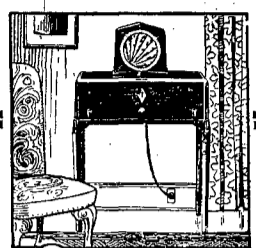

Miss Faith West of Farlin, Iowa, who with Tom Craig of Des Moines, was burned to death last Thursday in an airplane accident at Carroll, Iowa, was the daughter of a niece of C. W. Reynolds, Mrs. R. W. Ley, Mrs. H. B. Croven and Mrs. A. E. Gilderselev of Wayne, and Mrs. C. S. Beebe of Wakefield.

At the close of dedication of the new air field at Carroll, one of the passenger planes, in which the two young folks and another man were riding, crashed on the runway and caught fire.

Craig, who was flying the plane and taking passengers, was forced to land when his motor developed trouble. He landed on a hill a mile from the port, made repairs and started his motor to take off again. He failed to gain altitude and struck a pylon which had been erected for guidance of air racers. Many rushed to the plane but could not extricate the two who were burned beyond identification.

Miss West, a nurse at Carroll, was taking her first plane ride when the accident occurred.
