The rest of the animals, totaling 250 head, sold in groups of mostly five head in a lot and the average was 15 cents a pound, selling mostly between 14 cents and 15.5 cents a pound with several down to 13 cents a pound.

Swift & Co. bought eighty-eight calves, Armour & Co., eighty-three head, Cudahy Packing company, fifty-seven head, Wilson Packing company, twenty-seven head and Smith Brothers Packing company, four head.

FAVOR ATTENDING
GROWING SEASON
EXCEEDS RECORD

ONE who has observed weather conditions in this section since 1889, says they have not been so favorable for growing and maturing all kinds of crops as they have been this year. During the forty years mentioned the record shows the earliest killing frost to have struck here September 13, 1902, and the longest autumn without killing frost to have been realized in 1927 when it arrived on October 31. Unseasonable cold prevailed during a couple of weeks this month, but it barely touched the frost line and appreciable damage even to tender vegetation is reported. The hot weather of the past week has come along to dry the corn and put it in shape for husking which will start next month. Then the year's harvest will be finished—a happy climax to a year of exceptional crops of all kinds. We will go into winter quarters with both quantity and quality, and the state of mind should be considerably exalted. In addition, there is a conjecturable sign as interpreted by amateur prophets, that a mild, open winter is in prospect.

Meeting Is October 15.

Registration will be made by patrols, the patrol winning the greatest number of points in the tests winning the cup. The boys of each patrol will be numbered from one to eight, each being assigned a different test to work out. These assignments will be made only a few minutes prior to the actual work-out. This will give the boys incentive for being thorough in practicing all tests.

Honor of winning the cup will go to the troop to which the victorious patrol belongs.

FORWARD COURSE OF CLUB WORKER
IS STIMULATING

DR. William Hawkins who addressed the Kiwanis club Monday, has been at the head of the 4-H calf clubs of Wayne county for several years, and he deserves large credit for his progressive and successful leadership. He has gone ahead without burning red fire or calling out the band, and he has inspired increased interest and increased participation. Each succeeding year sees more boys in the club work, and Dr. Hawkins commends them for their selection and development of fine stock. In his talk he mentioned the favorable comparison of Wayne county's exhibits at the Sioux City stock show with those chosen from pure bred animals and pampered for display purposes. He mentioned as eminently deserving the winning of third place by a Wayne county boy's animal among groups representing different states. Dr. Hawkins expressed appreciation for the lively and helpful interest of D. H. Cunningham and others, and called attention to the fact that the Wayne business district was recognized as more strongly back of the Wayne county club in the Sioux City exhibition and sale than any other town represented. In directing Wayne county boys along constructive lines, Dr. Hawkins' efforts are most praiseworthy. An advantage to healthy development is the leader's heart interest which is inspirational and stimulating.

Community Backing Of Club Workers
Is Complimented By Sioux City Firm

Dr. W. M. Hawkins Explains Backing Club Progress Made in Wayne County.

"The business men of Wayne certainly stood behind their calf club in fine shape. In fact it was the only town that purchased calves from their home clubs. We also wish to say that Dr. Hawkins and his associates should come in for their share of the praise as they worked very hard for the success of the club."

The above statement, written by J. A. Brooks of the Walsh commission company of Sioux City, following the sale last Thursday of baby beeves in the interstate show there, compliments a local community spirit which has backed the club work of young folks since its start.

Club work in Wayne county began about ten years ago when the Carroll Community club backed a calf club. This group continued a couple years. In 1923, the first year of the Wayne county fair, a calf club was started by Wayne under the direction of Dr. W. M. Hawkins. A pig club was organized here the same year. The Carroll and Wayne clubs had twentyone head of calves at the fair in the fall of 1923.

Winside and Hoskins clubs organized in 1923 also, the former under leadership of Frank Wilson and the latter under Arthur Behmer. The Carroll club dropped the work and members who wished to continue, joined one of the other groups. In 1924 the county clubs had eleven calves at the fair. The number grew to fifteen in 1925.

In 1926 the Winside club had eight members and eleven calves; the Hoskins club, nine members and nine calves; and the Wayne club, sixteen members and twentytwo calves. The fiftytwo calves were shown at the fair. The number was about the same in 1927, and increased to fiftyseven in 1928.

A great increase was noted the past year in club work, there being ninetyfive calves in the three groups. In the sale at Sioux City Thursday the beeves brought a total of $15,299.96 to the boys and girls owning them. The amounts for each club were as follows: Hoskins club, sixteen calves, $2,386.86; Wayne, fortyfive calves, $6,360.04; and Winside, thirtythree calves, $4,553.06.

Explanation of the club work was given by Dr. Hawkins before the Kiwanians Monday following their noonday luncheon at Hotel Stratton. He told of the growth of the work and expressed appreciation of the backing given by local dealers of a few of the calves, raises the price received by all members. Dr. Hawkins showed.

In the calf club work, Dr. Hawkins explained, the boys and girls select their own stock. They do not take purebred animals, and they do not pamper their beeves in their feeding or care. The aim of the Wayne county clubs is to give the young folks experience which can prove practical in later life.

AERIAL MONSTER
SUCKS SUBSTANCE
HINDERS GROWTH

IMAGINE a huge dirigible balloon with a trailing funnel—a monster trough—revolving and dipping like the business projection of a tornado. This balloon sails out from metropolitan headquarters and soars over the country. It finds rich farming communities and thriving towns, all independent and self engaged in making a living and trying to save for a rainy day. In the balloon are seated fat, bandy-legged gentlemen who, with smoke curling from imported cigars, admire the passing landscape and chuckle over its possibilities. They see rural communities that depend on the same resources, benefit by the same improvements and share in the same enjoyments. They see exchange of congratulations, commingling of tears, and manifestation of sympathetic and helpful neighborliness. The great spiral monster, borne aloft by the balloon, sucks richest substance from community life and bears it away to build up foreign institutions and contribute to the insatiable avarice of people who are interested in no one but themselves. These people pay nothing toward schools and churches, give nothing to local charity, never act as pallbearers or extend the hand of fellowship. We have in mind the foreign catalogue house. It absorbs the vitality of a community as far as possible on the plea of price which, however, gives no advantage over that provided by local dealers. It draws substance needed for local growth and stability, and passes on in glee and without compunction, leaving in its wake depleted strength for local development. Inspect Wayne stocks and try Wayne service, stay with your friends and keep out of the maw of foreign institutions that do not know you and care nothing about you.

Church Festival
Draws Big Crowd

Many Attend Mission Meeting and Hear Indian Speak on Sunday.

The mission festival held Sunday at the community house under auspices of the Grace Lutheran church in Wayne was attended by crowds all day. Rev. E. Gust of Fremont, and Rev. H. Kettler of Sioux City, spoke in the morning and afternoon. Sam Miller, Indian from Gresham, Wis., spoke in the evening. The women served dinner and luncheon.

Mr. Miller, who is one of the last of the Mohican chiefs, appeared in full regalia. He told of the Indians being deprived of their homes by whites, and also stated that his people had denied the gospel and other privileges of civilization of the whites. Mr. Miller stated that the Indians are pictured on the warpath, whereas they are peace loving most of the time. Mr. Miller asked that his people be given the advantages of white civilization.

Rev. H. Hopmann is pastor of the church sponsoring the programs.

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 16 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, Sept. 26, 1929. Vol. 4

We're just like every body else. When we go into a store and have to wait for somebody to wait on us, we get fidgety and mad. And we're seldom in a very big hurry, either.

We have just been informed by a friend of this making any, two doctors in Chillicothe, Mo., are named Dye and Berry. Don't go to Chillicothe for your health.

Last week was a very busy time for us. Our own truck together with three others were on the jump day after day trying to keep up with the coal orders that came pouring in. Then there were loads and loads of lumber going in every direction. The what we see though. Keep com-

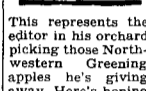

You Yukon hard coal enthusiasts will be glad to know that we've another car load just in. If you've never used Yukon Hard Coal you've a real treat in store for you this winter. The price is $16.50. Try it. Lest you forget, we arise to remind you that the cash price of 26-in. American fencing is 38c.

Carl is busy making feed bunks. Can you let us have your order a little ahead of the time you want it so that we can have a chance to get it ready by the date your cattle come in? Carl is mighty fast with the saw and hammer but it takes time to build several feed bunks.

We know a fellow who always calls down Sunday morning to know where he can find a clean shirt.

"Did you make these biscuits, my dear?" "Yes, darling." "Well, I would prefer that you do not make any more." "Why not, dear?" "Because, a angel, you're too light for such heavy work."

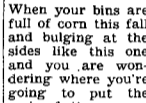

This represents the editor in his orchard picking those Northwestern Greening apples he's giving away. Here's hoping he has better luck than Frank Griffith did picking cherries.

A Wayne housewife of our acquaintance has a brand new fruit cupboard this winter. How would some of the rest of you ladies like that? We've the lumber.

How much of the feed do your pigs get when you feed em this way? One of our Utility self-feeders saves it all. Come in and see.

A customer asked us why we are giving away kindling with each order for more. That is a natural and pertinent question. We are doing it to introduce this new form of kindling. Each package has a money value of 30c. Knowing that many would be rather skeptical of its value, we thought best to give it away for a time so that all might have a chance to prove its worth. Eventually we shall sell it at 30c per package.

A lot of the rural school districts are laying in their winter supply of Hot Lump Coal. Is your school supplied yet?

Ill nature is probably due to physical defects and a consequent disorder of the nervous system. Any one chronically so ought to have himself fixed by a competent authority.

Contemplation of babies springing into childhood and childhood into maturity right before one's dimming eyes conveys the painful suggestion of multiplying years and approaching old age.

We seldom hear of cases of vandalism, but when we do, we are reminded of the dark ages. Malignant destruction of another's property reflects a state of mind altogether in conflict with modern ideas of civilization.

We think a hog would feel more like living and dying in fulfillment of its mission in the world if it could be arranged, to reduce the difference between its value on the hoof and its cost over the block. We suspect that fat steers feel the same way.

The motorist who struck and killed Rev. Geo. B. Donner of Tilden on the highway east of Fremont while the latter was fixing a tire, is charged with driving while drunk, and it is reported he will plead guilty to the charge. There are plenty of crazy drivers to imperil lives without adding firewater to increase the danger.

Enforcing the law requiring motorists to secure permits with revocation to follow if lack of fitness is shown, may tend to put the brakes on wild driving, but to this regulation might well be added the requirement of each to furnish an adequate bond to insure responsibility. This would further discourage careless indifference.

Senator Howell of Nebraska, charged lack of enforcement of the prohibition law in the District of Columbia, and President Hoover has asked for specific proof. The president explains that it is the intention to make the city of Washington a model of law enforcement. The senator replies that he is unable to give names and dates and thinks it is unfair to be asked to do so. Anyway, the result is likely to be a tightening of enforcement in the capitol city.

It has been suggested that provision ought to be made to teach the American language to people coming here from foreign countries to make their homes. Some larger centers have night schools at which instruction is given

AS TO FIGHTING.

Bertrand Russell, English philosopher, says in effect that war is due to the human passion to fight. Referring to the world war, he says at first most people who stayed at home, enjoyed the conflict. As people wish to fight, they convince themselves that it is the proper thing to do. Attention is called to the emotions of love and fear inherent in life, but with advancing civilization, fear is losing ground and is no longer necessary. People have become more friendly and cooperative, with less poverty which fact enables greater devotion to constructive arts. The author insists that the world will not be safe until nations are led into the same friendly relationships that exist between individuals within a nation. Hatred which prompts and fans the flames of war, is pointed out as due to bad digestion or to improper educational influences in youth. The author encourages the belief that men and women are becoming less violent. He hints at an approaching Utopia—an ideal state in which, with universal plenty, brains and brawn will be devoted to wholesome and constructive endeavor—not hateful and destructive, but magnanimous and peaceful. "Given these improvements in human beings and, an international government," the author concludes, "the world might become stable and yet civilized, whereas, with our present psychology and political organization, every increase in scientific knowledge brings the destruction of civilization nearer."

without interfering with daily work. If enough people from abroad are coming to Wayne county to justify a school, some plan might well be worked out to establish one here. Learning the language sharpens the understanding of American customs and ideals, and the result is better for all concerned.

The lid is being put on gambling in Omaha and Lincoln in response to orders from Attorney General Sorenson who proposes to enforce the anti-betting law. Horse races are specified, to the discomfiture of racing centers. The official ban on betting on horse races naturally includes betting on other things. Some time ago the attorney general warned owners of the state to cut out all kinds of lottery schemes. He believes that one law should be enforced as well as another, and that if a law is not worth enforcing it ought to be repealed.

"Is My Daughter Safe at College?" is the caption of a recent magazine article which reports a more encouraging condition than some have believed. Comparatively few drink liquor, and the number is growing steadily less. Evils are magnified, and a search for facts usually reveals but a small fraction of the trouble reported. The author's conclusion is that a girl taught the difference between right and wrong in the home and thus well grounded in sound principles has nothing to fear when she enters college.

Of greatest possible importance to the general public are the advertisements which appear in the Herald each week, and every reader, even in far outlying territory, should read them carefully, and then board the family car, motor here and take advantage of the buying, opportunities offered. Advertising fills more than half of this week's sixteen pages, and each advertisement is backed by highest conscience and an earnest desire to give best values at minimum prices. Compare values advertised in larger centers and see if you are not serving your advantage by coming here. Advertisements in the Herald are not cold storage or warmed over products. They are the pulsations of a live business district, and the information they convey is a part of the service of the business institutions of the district—institutions that are anxious to serve and serve well all the time.

Business.

Stoux City Journal: As more definite reports of crop estimates throughout the corn belt are received the encouragement to Iowa farmers increases. Illinois corn has been damaged by drought more than $12,500,000. Iowa leads the union with an estimated yield of 422,379,000 bushels. Iowa corn suffered considerable damage from the hot dry winds of August, but it happens that the crop in this state is far better than is seen anywhere else. Indiana and Ohio corn yields are low. Nebraska's harvest has been estimated at 100,000,000 bushels below the expectancy around August 1.

Iowans, as a result, will cash in on their good corn crop. It is a foregone conclusion that corn will command better prices as a result of the short crop in the middle west. Iowa farmers will be in better financial condition than if a perfect growing and maturing season had come. Corn and hogs, the leading Iowa products, will tell the story of Iowa's prosperity in the next few months.

Business generally is good. August established new records in activity in various lines. Freight car loadings throughout the month were unusually heavy, and they are keeping up so far this month. The loadings for the week ending September 7, despite the fact that Labor day was included, topped the million mark by 17,072. This was a decrease from the preceding week of 143,138 cars but it was an increase over the same week last year of 25,687 and over the same week in 1927 of 27,273.

General merchandising is reported to have increased throughout the country. Fall weather has stimulated trade considerably with a notable increase in buying power. There is plenty of money in circulation. Fewer spotted conditions are reported. Meanwhile building goes on with a surprising momentum notwithstanding the fact that for years construction plans have been remarkably heavy.

In industry there is a cheerful outlook. Manufacturing interests are looking ahead to increasing prosperity and are making plans accordingly. There is no appreciable expansion, but the main thing is that the industrial momentum is showing no decline. The employment situation as the last quarter approaches is satisfactory. Everything indicates good fall and winter business.

Fined For Fishing With Hands At Lyons

Lyons, Neb.—It cost L. L. Shumway, Lyons, $14 to learn that the law requiring that fish be caught with a hook has a literal meaning. While vacationing near Columbus, Neb., last summer, Shumway caught a good sized fish with his hands. Until this week he had forgotten about the incident, although the return he had proudly related details of the catch to friends.

A game warden appeared in town this week with the information that Shumway had violated the game law. "I hate to do this," said he, "but the law demands it." Shumway admitted that he had captured the fish with his hands and paid a $14 fine.

EDISON.
In a letter to the World-Herald Thos. A. Egan, professor of psychology and sociology in Creighton university, Omaha, denies that he thinks Edison is a "boob" in discussing things outside of physical science as he was reported as saying in the course of a talk before his class recently. Mr. Egan explained that he wished to caution students against "accepting the dicta of the makers outside of their cultivated field." We are glad the educator prevented an unfavorable interpretation of his remarks. Edison is great enough in one line without tempting consideration in all lines. Many specialists appear stupid and helpless outside of fields to which they are accustomed, and the higher one has risen in a particular avenue of service, the less fitness he is likely to manifest for other things. We doubt if Emerson could have followed a straight line in saving a board or could have driven a nail without wrecking the nail or his finger. It would be rare to find a great author who could figure interest on money or make a business deal with any semblance of wisdom. People don't do everything exceptionally well, and if one does one thing well enough to merit distinction, he cannot be expected to shine in other fields. Edison has contributed more to physical science than any one in the world's history, and any one who knows a little of many things or who does fairly well in many lines, fades into insignificance by comparison.

The Curse of Gold.

Omaha World-Herald: Once there was a man who had been told that riches inevitably bring worry, strife and woe. Having known about a railroad president who had been painfully injured in a train wreck and having heard more or less indirectly of a multi-millionaire oil man who had gotten into trouble with the government, the man decided that the best way to be happy and contented in this mysterious world is to remain poor. So he told his wife what he had made up his mind to do about it and she called him a catfish with considerable feeling, after which the subject was dropped.

The years rolled along. The man stayed poor. He stayed poor, but aside from taxes, car trouble, rent, mortgages, jobs, painful misunderstandings with his fellows, sickness, debt, deaths among close relatives and friends, politics, religion, etc., he was comparatively free from troubles of any kind. His house burned down one day, it is true, but this might not have been so had had not the insurance lapsed the day before, and each year found him a bit more deeply involved in those multifarious little worries that seem to go with life, but aside from these things and a couple or three thousand others that we have not enumerated, the man was practically his own boss and utterly unhampered by obstacles.

One day when he was pretty well along in years he met a friend of his boyhood who had made millions. The poor rich devil looked a bit pale and wan and finally came right out and admitted, "I been having quite a lot of worry over the market," he said. "Stocks are sagging, I bet I lose a million or more on one deal I pulled last week. I'm about all in," he said. "This is what money does for a fellow," he said. "Now you," he said, "you are free from these cares. Sometimes," he said, "I wish I had been wise enough just to stay poor. Now look at me. I got to take a cruise around the world to get back my pep. I just ordered my yacht brought round to the pier five minutes ago. I got to cruise for maybe a year to get my pep back," he said.

And the poor man left him there. The poor man really had to leave him there. The poor man was hurrying to the bank to keep an important engagement with the loans department.

Christmas.
Omaha World-Herald: The Soviet authorities have abolished Christmas, and that we suppose is what is known as taking candy from the baby. Perhaps they can abolish Christmas in Russia just by saying it is abolished and ordering everybody to contribute that day's work to the community chest. We'd like to see it abolished here. What we mean to say is that we'd just like to see somebody try it. What the younger generation would do to him is frightful to contemplate and he wouldn't get much help from the elder generation either. Our boys and girls may be no less sophisticated, but they are still strong for their Santa Claus. And they have practically 100 per cent co-operation from their fathers and mothers.

Christmas—the spirit of Christmas—is participated in, we believe, by more people than any other holiday of the year. It comes nearer answering the purpose of a national holiday than any other, the Fourth of July not even excepted. The excesses of the Fourth have made that day one to be dreaded rather than rejoiced in by many. And it is a day which seems to bring into strong contrast the bitter differences between the militarist and the pacifist.

But Christmas doesn't provoke conflict. It seems to draw us to a closer brotherhood. And if it is attended by some excesses, after all they are harmless excesses, excesses of generosity for the most part and nobody suffers from them. Electricity has very nearly put an end to the small danger that used to attend the lighting of Christmas tree candles.

Primarily a religious holy day Christmas has burst the bounds of ecclesiastical monopoly. Its message of peace and good will have too strong an appeal to be kept wholly within the church. Its customary greeting of good cheer is everybody's property. So that Christmas is almost or quite as dear to the great body of the unchurched, whether they be merely the indifferent or the actively agnostic, as it is to those who gather on Christmas morn to participate in the service of the nativity.

It is impossible to foresee the disappearance of Christmas from American soil even if there were no other reason for its continuance we should have to have it as a safety for our materialism.

Worth Your Consideration.

We have been in the monument business at Wayne for twelve years. During that time we have grown from a one-man shop to a manufacturing plant. We have erected many beautiful monuments in the cemeteries of Nebraska. And, we believe, we have made many friends throughout the state.

Today we have one of the largest and most complete stocks of monuments ever on display anywhere in the state.

A Special Discount

will be made on all orders for fall delivery. This is in order to clear the house for shipments of granite which are due to arrive early in the winter.

This is worth your consideration and should not be overlooked. In fact our prices are better now than they have ever been in our twelve years of business. This is due to our large volume of business, the saving in freight charges and the fact that we finish our work from the rough right here in our home plant.

If you are planning to erect a monument come in early and make your selection and take advantage of this special discount. Wayne Monument Works, Wayne, Neb. C. O. Mitchell, Proprietor. s261

Women Walk Far In Carrying Water

Lincoln, Neb.—Whoever carries water into the house on Nebraska farms walk about 42 miles per year in getting it there according to information gathered in a survey conducted by the agricultural college home economics department. This means about three and one-half miles of extra walking per month for the farm women who do most of the water carrying.

In about one quarter of the households studied, the homemaker carried all the water for house use. The women helped carry it in more than one-half of the farm homes.

Weeds Protect Young Trees In Winter

Lincoln, Neb.—Young trees, shrubs, and small fruits should be left alone now so they will harbor for winter. Weeds may be allowed to grow up around them to help check the rapid growth of late summer shoots. Later in the fall if the season is dry, the roots may be soaked and the trees and shrubs put into the winter with "wet feet." This watering should not be done, however, until seasonal growth has ceased. Winter killing is often due to drying out of the roots rather than extremely cold weather. Mulching with straw or leaves will help conserve the moisture, the only precaution being to leave the mulch out an inch or so from the tree trunk to keep mice from working in the mulch and eating the bark.

Error Results In Flood Of Pennies

Neigh, Neb., Sept. 20—Some time ago H. G. Maybury of the Neigh Lumber Grain and Coal company conceived an advertising scheme which required the use of pennies of the 1929 date. He had the Security State bank of this city order 500 of them from the federal reserve bank. The order was made by letter and the bank retained a copy of the same.

A few days ago the pennies arrived but instead of the 500 ordered there were five big sacks of them weighing a total of 350 pounds, containing 50,000 of the pennies and the postage bill was $8.

County Fair Dates.

Hartington Herald: Inclement weather during the early part of September this year suggests that county fairs in northeast Nebraska should be held either earlier or later in the season. Any week in August would have been ideal for a fair and the probability is that there will be plenty of suitable weather in October. Unfortunately, most of the county fairs in northeast Nebraska have encountered bad weather this fall. During the week of the Cedar county fair, it rained almost incessantly and, while it didn't rain the following week, the weather was so chilly that the fairs in Knox and Wayne counties were held under difficulties. Early September in this climate is frequently a period of storm and fair associations might find it advantageous to hold their annual shows either in the latter part of August or the early part of October.

retary Shoemaker, the attitude and aims and purposes of the federal farm board were clearly defined.

"The policy of the Federal Farm Board is briefly to promote effective merchandising of agricultural products through farmer-owned and farmer-controlled associations." Mr. Stone goes on to say that it is necessary for the board to exercise caution and care to move in the right direction when it decides questions of policy. He gave assurance that all members of the farm board are in the fullest sympathy with efforts to better the farmer's economic condition through co-operation. Some of the objectives of the farm board as described by Mr. Stone are:

"The strengthening and expansion of existing co-operatives through assistance in developing sound managerial and financing policies. In this way, unorganized farmers, it is hoped, will be afforded a practical demonstration of what can be done through united effort.

"To bring about the co-operation of co-operatives in various commodity groups, thus effecting merchandising economies, the net result of which would be to give the farmer a better return for his commodity without consequent injury to the consumer.

"The assistance of growers in unorganized areas in developing sound plans and procedure for co-operative organizations.

"The assistance of co-operatives in developing better business relationships with manufacturers, mills, and other users of farm commodities.

"The assistance of the department of agriculture, state agricultural colleges, the extension service and other state and federal agencies in developing an effective educational program in co-operative marketing, thus informing not only the farmer-producer but the city-consumer of benefits both are expected to enjoy from more efficient merchandising of the products of the farm."

Ahern's Have A Style Advantage in Ready-to-Wear

We are buying new Coats and Dresses continually because our special sales which we are now putting on in forty other towns require hundreds of garments more than we would need for our Wayne store alone.

All the new purchases are shipped to Wayne first and our home customers get first choice of the newest styles brought out in the East each week.

No City store can show you more fashionable ready to wear in the moderately priced range than you can choose from right here at home.

This special advantage is yours in price, too, as well as style. Handling ready to wear in this way, with no risk of carry-over, permits us to make lower than usual prices. Our Coats at $15, $18, $24 and up to $59 are priced much below usual.

Many New Pupils

Good Reference Magazines Added to Library—Football Games Arranged for Fall.

Assembly Notes.

J. E. Brittain and J. H. Kemp gave some very interesting and instructive lectures to the high school assembly last Thursday and Friday in observance of constitution week. The former addressed the pupils on good citizenship; Mr. Brittain stressed the fact that the American constitution is the oldest in existence. He contrasted the English cabinet system of government with the American government. The speaker expressed a hope that he had succeeded in enlivening the students' curiosity to the extent that they would wish to know more about the constitution.

Mr. Kemp, in his discussion on good citizenship, made the statement that respect for the constitution and all it embraces, and cooperation of citizens are the two greatest fundamentals toward building up good citizenship. The speaker answered the question, "Why have constitution week?" with the assertion that it is a helpful thing for the citizen to be reminded of all the constitution stands for.

Pupils filled out enrollment cards, stating their respective subjects and the periods and rooms in which each is taken. These cards will be kept on file in the office and used for reference.

Twenty new pupils enrolled in high school this year. They are: Marvin Thompson, Mae Beckenhauer, Viola Hatch, Herbert Perry, Donald Jamborg, Catherine Berry, Ruth Herrick, Jeanne Wright, Elaine Yocum, Lucille Wright, Donald Whitman, Cohetta Hahlbeck, Allan Sandahl, Ervin Shields, John Von Seggern, Darlene Bomar, Dorothy Carlson, Elaine Gildersleeve, Vivian Sandahl, Bernice Spittgerber.

New equipment has been purchased for the entire team. The dressing room has been enlarged with ample room for every player. A bulletin board has been placed in the dressing room at the disposal of Coach R. K. Holder in explaining plays.

The first game will be at Hartington Friday, September 27.

Supt. H. R. Best worked out for a short time with the team one night last week.

The schedule for 1929 follows: September 27, Hartington, there; October 4, Randolph, here; October 11, open; October 18, open; October 25, Ponca, there; October 30, Stanton, here; November 8, South Sioux City, there; November 15, Laurel, there; and November 22, Wakefield, here.

Do You Know---

In your back you've got a crick,
It hurts—you can't do a lick,
And you're sure its rheu-ma-tick.
You can't tell by such a sign,
Perhaps it's something out of line,
And you need to adjust your spine.

"The Gamblers," Drama, At The Gay

Though many are familiar with the spehthing activity that is the external life of the stock market, the region behind the closed doors of private offices is a land of mystery.

What are the secrets behind the rise or fall of a certain stock? Whence comes the money with which to carry on the extensive manipulations of "the Street"? How much chance has the small operator, or the depositor in the great savings institutions which abound in the financial district? Who are the "sure-thing" operators? These questions are dramatically answered in "The Gamblers," the famous Charles Klein play which has reached the screen as the latest Warner Bros. special production, which appears at the Gay theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, September 29 and 30, and October 1.

The all-star cast of "The Gamblers" includes H. B. Warner, Lois Wilson, Frank Robards, George Fawcett, Jason Campeau, Johnny Arthur, Pauline Garon and Charles Sellon. It was directed by Michael Curtiz.

Cuming Residents In Car Accident

West Point, Republican: Two persons were severely injured and three others escaped with bruises when two automobiles came together at an intersection on the road six miles south of Dodge on Sunday evening. The injured are John Meister, of this county, who suffered a fractured leg, and Miss Mary Burger of Snyder vicinity, who sustained a neck injury and possible internal injuries. Both were taken to Snyder for medical attention.

Joe Dieckemper and Elizabeth Burger, riding in the car with Meister and Mary Burger, sustained slight injuries. Carl L. Claussen, a farmer south of Howells, who was riding alone in the other car, escaped without injury.

The coupe driven by Meister in which the four were persons rode was traveling south when the Claussen car came from the west. The impact of the collision upset the Meister car. Claussen's car remained upright and he stopped and assisted in taking the injured to Snyder.

Series Of Automobile Wrecks Near Neligh

Neligh, Neb., Sept. 20—Several automobile accidents have happened in this vicinity during the past week. The most serious occurred when a man named Wolfe, a tourist passing through from Michigan, went into the ditch at what is known as the Staples corner, west of town, on highway No. 8, the scene of numerous accidents. He was going too fast to make the turn and as a result his auto was badly wrecked. He was not seriously injured.

A car belonging to C. E. Kenney of Elgin smashed a wheel and had a fender crumpled when another car ran into it. Cecil Snodgrass bent the axle on his car when he collided with another car at the Henry Wilson corner.

A tourist car, in which DeForest Bridge, H. Frady and Helen Frady were riding, went into the ditch after striking loose gravel near the Kester place just west of town. The car was badly smashed and Miss Frady suffered a gash on one leg, which required several stitches to close, and young Bridge also received a cut on his leg.

A big sedan belonging to Judge Reed of Madison and another Madison county car collided last night on the highway between Neligh and Oakdale. Confusion due to blinding lights was the cause. The Reed car went into the ditch and was considerably damaged.

They turn into money much forage so often allowed to go to waste, enable you to rotate stock and hogs over different fields and maintain fertility. Live stock as well as hogs salvage much grain left in the field. Temporary fences can be quickly erected on Red Top Steel Posts. With a Red Top Driver these drive easily through hardest soil at the rate of 200 to 300 a day. And after using them for temporary fences they can be withdrawn and used in your permanent fence line—makes your fence post dollar do double duty. THE New BUICK unrivalled for smooth, sure, silent operation in any weather . . .

To Buick, pioneer of four-wheel brakes, now falls the distinction of another major achievement in this same vital field: the development and introduction of Buick Controlled Servo Enclosed Brakes—the most effective four-wheel braking system ever devised for any automobile! Buick's new brakes are of the highly efficient internal-expanding type. They are fully enclosed—fully protected against dust, dirt and water—and thus assure maximum braking effectiveness under all weather conditions. They represent the highest development of the self-energizing principle, which makes the car's own motion provide part of the braking effort. They reveal unmatched responsiveness to the slightest pedal pressure. And they are so perfectly controlled that "grabbing" is entirely unknown! When you apply these brakes, you obtain the most positive, as well as the smoothest and most silent action you have ever experienced in any automobile! Drive the new Buick! Test not only its matchless new brakes but its brilliant all-round performance, riding comfort and driving ease—all of which combine to establish the new Buick as the greatest value ever offered in the fine car field!

Is Wonderful Says Farmer

"I often think about the money and suffering I would have saved if I had known about the Sargon treatment when my health first began to fail.

"I have certainly had my share of suffering from rheumatism. The pain was so bad at times it looked like I couldn't stand it. About a year ago, my stomach got all out of order, too, and had spells used to keep me from my work for days at a time. I was so weak and run down that the least little exertion would completely exhaust me. I was also badly constipated.

"Before I had finished the first bottle of Sargon I felt like a different man. I kept right on and got better every day. Now I have a fine appetite, eat anything I want and never have the slightest bit of stomach trouble. Even the rheumatic pain is gone entirely.

"I feel better and stronger than I have in years and just can't say too much for this wonderful treatment."—R. M. Ellyson, retired farmer, 3401 "A" Street, Lincoln, Neb. Feiber's Pharmacy, Wayne, Agents.
