American Legion To Elect Officers

The American Legion met in regular session last evening. Officers will soon be elected and a committee was named Wednesday to make the nominations.

SUGGESTED THAT REPRESENTATIVES OF TOWNS CONFER

It has been suggested that representatives of towns benefited by road building in this county ought to get together and harmonize any differences that may exist. Pulling in opposite directions will only hinder and delay improvements, and keep us longer in the mud and longer out of accord with the needs of the time. Different farming communities of the county ought to be carefully considered and their convenience served as far as possible. Opposing easy travel to the county seat and chief town only militates against advantages deserved by farming communities of the county. Wayne is interested in road improvements to every town and every rural settlement in the territory. Manifestly every hard-surfaced highway hereabouts benefits every community in the county. Selfish pulling against any planned improvement is certain to operate as a boomerang and retard the forward movement. The suggestion for representatives of different communities to get together and talk things over would seem to be the logical way to an understanding and to hasten enlarged benefits.

Airplane Contest Winners Named

In the Wayne Herald's airplane contest conducted last week, Walter L. Gehrke of Winside, and Ray Apler, Jr. of Wakefield, have been named by the judges as the winners of first and second places. Many other entries submitted ranked high and made selection difficult. Each of the two named may have his choice of an airplane ride or $2.50 in cash, and the two are asked to notify the Herald of their wishes.

Likes Work at Agency. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bruce recently received word that their son, Earl, who went to Montana some time ago to be principal of the Indian schools on the reservation at Fort Peck, is nicely settled and likes his work very much. Mr. Bruce is supervisor of the schools and does no teaching. He states that nights there have been cold but that the days are very comfortable.

ADVANTAGES ARE TO BE FOUND IN TRADING AT HOME

PEOPLE who go to metropolitan centers to buy supplies in the hope of doing better than they could do at home are invariably disappointed. Many who go elsewhere to look, come back to satisfy needs from the ample stocks of local dealers. It is doubtful if one can save on anything bought in a big city. On the contrary, much may often be gained by going to stores like those in Wayne, inspecting qualities and comparing values. Overhead is less in Wayne and the saving is usually passed on to the public. With lowered operating cost and with stocks comparable with the best anywhere offered, no economy is practiced in journeying elsewhere to trade. In addition, as often proved, no economy is found in finger-picking through a catalogue and picking out goods that are highly pictured and described, but that may be seen and bought more advantageously at home. Of these things people in Wayne's steadily extending trade territory are becoming more and more convinced, as witness multiplicitous evidences of activity in the local district.

Plains Arranged For Celebration

Wayne County Is Invited to Enter Contests Conducted by Diamond Jubilee.

Wayne county is invited to participate in the contests to be conducted during the Nebraska diamond jubilee celebration November 5, 6 and 7 in Omaha. Miss Pearl E. Sewell is county chairman and has received information about the contests.

The young citizens' contest, of which Chancellor E. A. Burnett of the University of Nebraska is chairman, is one of the features. The plan is to have each county select its outstanding boy and girl citizen between the ages of 18 and 21. The winners go to Omaha for the state contest, their expenses being paid by the jubilee committee.

The citizenship contest places a premium on intelligence and personality rather than on beauty and physical perfection alone. The contest is not limited to young people attending school. Judging will be based on intelligence, physical well being and personality as applied to social, civic, business or personal relations. The personality examinations will be based on written recommendations in part.

Chancellor Burnett has announced that the county contests will be held Friday and Saturday, October 25 and 26. Examinations will be mailed from the state superintendent at Lincoln to each county superintendent who will be in charge of the examinations in the respective counties. The examination will be conducted by a sub-committee in each county, consisting of superintendents and principals of schools, county physician, physical training director and one or two others.

Names of young people in Wayne county desiring to enter this contest should be sent at once to County Superintendent Pearl E. Sewell.

Pioneer Story Contest. Another feature of the diamond jubilee celebration is to be a contest for a true story of service rendered Nebraska by a pioneer. This contest is being conducted under a special committee of which Mrs. Bess Streeter Aldrich, Nebraska's famous writer, is chairman.

The pioneer story contest is open to all comers, old and young, and a simple straight-forward story told by anyone, if it possesses the real spirit of service rendered Nebraska by a pioneer, will be much more likely to win than a flowery article not so typical of early days.

CONCEDE PARKING TO VISITORS IS DEMAND OF TIME

LATELY newspapers in different towns of the state have been inviting merchants and their employees either to leave their automobiles at home or park them far enough away from the business district during Saturday nights and other rush periods the better to accommodate people who come from outside districts to trade. Streets in most towns were laid out during the days of horses and buggies and wagons and before automobiles were invented. Therefore, streets are too narrow to afford quarters for increasing numbers of cars. It is now too late to move and widen the streets, but it is possible for local people to keep their cars out of the business district and increase parking conveniences for visitors who find this a desirable market for the purchase of supplies.

Find Two Guilty In County Court

Man and His Daughter Are Given Fines and Sentence on Four Liquor Charges.

Lobby Jurgens and Blanche Jurgens of near Coleridge, were found guilty in Wayne county court October 11 on four counts, two for sales of liquor, one for transportation of liquor and one for being common bootleggers. Each was given a fine of $100 on each count and a sentence of sixty days in the county jail, making a fine of $800 for the two; both were to pay costs of the action, amounting to $107.25; and the new Buick sedan in their possession was declared a public nuisance and was ordered sold, the money to go into the state school fund.

Mr. Jurgens and his daughter, who gave her age as 19, were found by Sheriff A. W. Stephens Thursday night in their 1929 Buick near Winside. In the car were nine gallon jars of liquor. They also had in their possession two checks for sales of liquor.

In Wayne county court Friday the two were jointly found guilty on the four counts and were sentenced to the county jail. They appealed to the district court and were released on bond of $600, which was furnished. They will appear in November.

The Buick car is in the possession of officers and will be sold at auction.

Writes To Herald On Agency Life

Earl E. Bruce who is superintendent of Fort Peck agency at Poplar, Mont., writes of his work as follows:

"I find the work here much different from what I expected. It is more of the nature of a general manager with no classroom work at all.

"The reservation is about eighty by forty miles and has an Indian population of 2,500 with a school census, those from 6 to 18 years, of 723. The agency work is divided into four groups, lease, law and order, irrigation and education. I am in charge of the last named and have twenty employees under me. Besides the school itself, there are the girls' dormitory, boys' dormitory, dining hall with kitchen, laundry and bakery, warehouse, gymnasium, horse barn, dairy barn and many smaller buildings and houses used as quarters for employees. The hospital is only a stone's throw from our house, but it is not under my jurisdiction. Besides supervising the school work, I must see that all of the above named units work in harmony. The children must be fed and clothed as well as educated.

"The government, of course, furnishes everything, but it is still a difficult problem to anticipate the needs for a full year. We have only 135 in the boarding school here, but I must keep track of all of the 723 children of school age and send numerous reports on them. These students are scattered in some twenty or thirty reservation and non-reservation schools.

"We farm over a section of land; raise six or more hogs and maintain a dairy herd of about thirty head. You may gather something of the extent of the government's operations here from the fact that two cars of coal are used a week and other supplies are in proportion.

"Our home is completely furnished. We even receive ice, and a fireman tends the furnace for us. In short, everything is furnished except what we eat and wear. We receive twelve months' salary instead of nine; have a month's vacation on pay; and receive free medical and hospital care if needed."

Case Is Appealed To Supreme Court

Lincoln State Journal, Oct. 11.—The three children of Richard Ritze of Wayne county appealed to the supreme court Thursday from a finding that Stephen Auker was entitled to possession of the farm they hold, and to have cancelled the deed that they received from their father. The lower court said that this deed was for an insufficient consideration, and was part of a conspiracy to put land beyond the reach of Auker, who had an unsatisfied judgment for $31,227 against the elder Ritze. He had an execution issued on this judgment, and the land was sold thereunder. The children said that their father owed them a number of thousands of dollars for work and labor performed on the farm, and that this was a part of the consideration. They said they had borrowed $25,000 on the land, when deeded them, and paid this to their father. They say the district judge erred in holding that there was fraud in the transaction.

Attorney Appeals In Mortgage Case

Lincoln, Neb.—Arguments on the appeal of A. R. Oleson, Wisner attorney, were heard by the supreme court from a Thurston county district court decision that a mortgage of $10,000 held by him on land once owned by Bernard Praest, is second to one held by Ernest Questner for $25,000. Praest once was Oleson's client and the latter several years ago sued Questner to have his mortgage cancelled.

Judgment was given for Praest since Questner failed to defend himself, not having been notified of the time the case came to trial. Oleson then filed his mortgage for record and now claims that it holds precedence over the other.

Have you tried Dixie Kindling yet? It is economical to use. Saves bringing mice into the house, too.

that may be won in the open course, free from secret cunning, free from injustice to the innocent—a course approved and supported by the highest human values.

Farmers have started husking the greatest corn crop in the history of Wayne county. It is bigger and better than normal, the yield proving larger than most previous estimates. Some surprising reports of exceptional production may be expected. As the crop will be devoted largely to feeding live stock in this county, it will take some months to convert it into money. However, it furnishes a substantial basis for prosperity, being supplemented by other good crops and valuable rocks and herds.

An investigation discloses the fact that land sales in Wayne county from January 1, 1929, to October 15, 1929, were made at an average price of $140 an acre, whereas sales during the same time in 1925 brought an average of $126 an acre. Sales of 5,400 acres were made this year, representing a total value of $756,426. More acres—5,480—were sold in 1925, but the price was less, reducing the aggregate to $682,400. The facts indicate a healthy increase in prices, and with good crops and generally improved conditions, the demand for land will be further stimulated.

Box elder bugs, in large numbers, with no evidence of race suicide, come along during warm autumn days to contest with human bipeds certain rights and privileges of the earth. In all their travels, whether crossing a nose, circumnavigating an ear or scaling a cranial peak, Mr. and Mrs. Bug bring all their children of whom they have many, and they never hurry, never show anxiety as to camping conveniences and usually stay until driven on. What purposes they were created to serve, we do not know, but their minds may be occupied by the same unsolved problem in regard to us.

Speaking before a group of school principals in Omaha the first of the week, Dr. L. A. Pechstein, dean of the college of Cincinnati university, said the "youth problem" is due to the outwitting of parents by their sons and daughters. He said the latter are virtually organized, and when a child wants to do something, he employs persuasion by suggesting that other parents have offered no objection. The dean urges an organization of parents and an understanding of right and wrong tendencies. The report states: "He would have the parents pledge themselves not to permit a son or daughter to have an automobile before graduating from high school; to insist upon an accounting for expenditures from fixed weekly allowances; to permit attendance on but one dance or show over the week-end; to forbid presence at unescorted dances and on early morning auto drives; to agree to escort daughters occasionally from dances and parties; to agree to obtain from sons and daughters a reasonable amount of home work on studies during week-ends."

The cause of peace has been given wonderful impetus by the visit of Prime Minister MacDonald of England to the United States and his conference with the president and other administration leaders in this country. The prime minister's speech in New York, broadcast to England and to all parts of America, reflected high satisfaction over results of his visit, his better understanding of the motives and purposes of this government. He emphasized the need of moral disarmament as well as physical disarmament. He mentioned that while certain groups in his country suffered lack of employment through suspension of ship building, these same groups passed resolutions supporting disarmament as steps toward permanent peace. He pointed out that there was more risk of war in a ship building contest than in dependence on the pledge and honor of a fellow nation. He asked for popular support of the task engaging the minds of statesmen to insure closer understanding, friendly, solution of problems and freedom from the waste and ruin and tragedy of armed conflict.

TWO NEWSPAPERS

The Ponca Journal and Hartington Herald have just announced birthday anniversaries, the former 58 years old and the latter 47. It happens that the father of this editor started each publication, and we recall some of the early experiences of both. Ponca was a frontier village when the Journal was launched. The town had no railroad, and settlements were few and far between. The newspaper's equipment was poor, its circulation necessarily light and people advertised more to help the venture than to gain business. The Hartington Herald's original plant of meager proportions and little value, was dumped on the ground when the town started, and a crude shack was built over and around it. Both newspapers struggled through the years, meeting vicissitudes and overcoming many obstacles. Each has made the grade and survived the years. Each now rests on as solid a foundation as any business institution of its respective community, no longer sustained by a sort of charity, but supported, on a basis of mutually advantageous commercial relationships. Both newspapers have made greatest gain in strength during recent years, serving an increasing clientele and keeping step with a swiftly advancing age. Each fills an important niche, and each will continue to grow and prosper.

Business

Sioux City Journal: The government crop report increased the estimate of corn production 2 per cent above the expectation on September 1. This means that the yield has been put at 2,528,077,000 bushels for the entire country, a gain in a month of 72,077,000. In dollars it is somewhat difficult to express because of the speculation attending the prices that are to settle on corn later. But at this time it means a gain in round numbers of more than $70,000,000 for the country at large. Corn is now hovering close to $1.

Another Traffic Rule

Lincoln Journal: Massachusetts is trying a new scheme to aid in the control of traffic by signal lights. A line is painted fifty feet back from each light controlled intersection. When the amber light flashes cars which have crossed this line will continue through the intersection. Those which have not will continue to the intersection and there wait until the green light shows again. The amber light has been the means of endless confusion. The Christian Science Monitor relates an illustrative story. An untutored automobile driver, undergoing the customary oral examination for an operator's permit, was asked the meaning of the yellow traffic light.

"Well, now I don't just know," he replied. "Green means go, red means stop, I reckon yellow must mean 'back up.'"

The intention of the yellow light was to warn drivers that a change from green to red, or vice versa, was about to take place. After the novelty of the lights wore off drivers began to abuse this warning and drive through the yellow light just as they do the green. In many places the yellow light has been done away with entirely.

The Massachusetts scheme promises to remedy this condition. The drawback to the plan is that it adds further complications to already complicated traffic regulations and makes driving a more difficult task. The method by which the scheme was put in force does have merit, however. The state has undertaken this change and this phase of traffic regulation will be uniform throughout the state. People who drive in one city, Boston for instance, can drive with equal ease in Springfield. The diversity of traffic control systems in different cities of the country is one of the major irritations of motor touring.

Would Seek Job

Dr. A. L. Bixby: Coming up to Fremont this morning I noticed that Saunders county has a lot of good corn, in spite of what some far western papers said about our "usual failure." Only one man out in the field husking in spite of the drizzle. If I were in Lincoln, a recognized member of a small army of unemployed I would trek to Saunders county, if need be, and say to the fellow with a big field of corn, "here am I, take me."

My face would show it was no joke. I'd buckle in so strong. The farmer would remark, "B' gosh I'll keep you right along." I'd demonstrate just how it feels to do good work and have good meals.

In indolence I wouldn't browse. But at the eventide, I'd stop the hogs, and pail the cows. And do some chores beside. Until that farmer, I'll be bound, would be durned glad to have me 'round.

In dismal winter I would stop. Demanding cash returns; I'd say, "Just board and bed, old top. One's worth is what he earns." And think you he would answer "nix." No, he would say, "I'm for you." BIX.

Plea Of Guilty Entered In Court

Norfolk News, Oct. 16: The second trial of Theodore A. Anthony, former president of the failed First National Bank at Wausau, came to an abrupt close this morning when Anthony pleaded guilty in federal court here to three counts in two indictments, which had been combined for trial. Judge J. W. Woodrough, who was presiding at the trial, sentenced Anthony to pay a fine of $5,000. All other cases against Anthony and Claude M. Baird, former cashier of the bank, were dismissed by Assistant District Attorney Ambrose C. Epperson. This clears the federal court docket of the case against the two men growing out of the failure of the bank.

Three Counts Admitted

The three counts to which Anthony pleaded guilty were as follows:

1. False entry of a charge of $385 on the individual checking account of Mrs. August Nordstrom.
2. False entry of a credit of $3,285 given to depositor Emil Engdahl.
3. Misrepresentation of $3,180 by giving credit to Emil Engdahl, this charge being relative to the amount in count 2.

The three cases dismissed including one jointly charging Anthony and Baird with violation of the national banking act; another charging use of the mails to defraud, and a third charging violation of the national banking act.

After the plea of guilty was received, the jury was dismissed until next Monday at 2 o'clock. Former Jury Disagreed. About two years ago Anthony was placed on trial in federal court here but after a long trial the jury disagreed. Week before last Baird was found not guilty, in one of the cases against him, under an instructed verdict. Anthony's second case began yesterday afternoon, when the jury was impaneled and the first witness examined. Only identification witnesses had been heard when he offered to plead guilty to the three counts. The following jurors had been selected in the case: W. L. Butler of Ewing, farmer; Louis Inhelder of Pierce, automobile salesman; Claude Hargis of Niobrara, oil salesman; Thomas Hanrahan of Atkinson, farmer; Conrad Lindeman of Pierce, laborer; Alfin Tichy of Niobrara, mechanic; John Weeder of Lynch, farmer; James B. Jacob of Bassett, farmer; Orris Brink of Neligh, farmer; George Gabler of Winside, farmer; William Cooper of Chambers, rancher; William R. Martin of Enola, retired farmer.

Market Report.

Furnished by Steele, Siman & Co., Sioux City Stock Yards.

Sioux City Stock Yards: Some unevenness was noted in the trend of live stock markets this week. The cattle trade was active and prices moved to higher levels. Hogs carried a weak undertone and little change was recorded in the sheep department.

The 13 leading markets of the country received 176,500 cattle on the first two days of the week, 19,000 more than a week ago. Broad demands were evident in spite of the increase in supplies and prices tended upward.

Beef steers and yearlings were active and the market advanced about a quarter for the first two days. A top of $16.00 was paid for long yearlings, the highest price in several weeks. Several sales were made from $15.00 down to $14.00 with the bulk from that figure down to $12.50. Plain warmed up heaves ranged $12.00 to $11.00.

Corn fed cows and heifers were scarce and the market ruled stronger in line with the steer market. A part load of heifers that had been fed with some top-quality steers, sold at $14.50 and a few other sales ranged from $14.00 down to $12.00 and under. Occasional packages of dry lot cows brought $8.00 to $10.00.

Grass she stock ruled active and mostly a quarter higher. Heifers ranged downward from $9.40 and bulk of the cows sold at $6.50 to $7.75. Cannery and cutters also strengthened, selling largely at $5.25 to $6.25.

Veals took another 50c loss with the practical top at $13.00. Bulls carried strength. Bulk of the medium native sausage grades sold at $7.00 to $7.50 with a few heavy grades at $7.75.

Stockers and feeders ruled about even with the close of last week, strength being in evidence on the better grades and slowness on the plain kinds. Prospects point to a good sized shipment to the country during the week.

Most sales were made at $9.00 to $11.00. Unattractive kinds ranged down to $7.50 and under. A top of $12.40 was paid for choice light weight Nebraska feeders and $13.65 for choice mixed calves, the highest of the season. Heifers sold mostly at $8.50 to $9.50 and cows at $6.00 to $7.00.

The number of stockers and feeders shipped from leading markets into the corn belt fell off 20 percent this fall, compared with a year ago, and 13 percent compared with the five year average. The reduction was accounted for by the poorer prospects for the corn crop, lower level of fat cattle prices, less profitable results from recent feeding ventures, and absence of speculative activity in cattle, according to the Department of Agriculture.

The 13 main markets received 202,500 hogs Monday and Tuesday, 19,600 more than a week ago and 21,600 more than the like period a year ago. The increase in receipts and narrow shipping demands had a bearish effect on the market.

Prices were on the easy side on the initial session and weak to a little lower again on Tuesday, to a basis around 10 to 25 cents under the close of last week.

On Tuesday, the top was $9.40. Light and medium weight butchers sold from the top down to $9.00 with strong and heavy weights around $8.75 to $9.10. Most of the sows sold at $7.75 to $8.35 with a few at $8.40 and down to $7.50. Stags brought $7.25 to $7.75. Pigs topped at $10.00.

Sheep receipts footed up to 220,500 at the 13 principal markets on the first two days of the week, 10,600 more than the same days last week.

Prices remained practically steady on sheep and lambs. The lamb top was $13.00 and ewes sold downward from $5.00. Feeding lambs brought around $12.50 and feeding ewes, $4.00 to $5.00.

THE TARIFF.

Every president within our recollection has been at one time or another accused of autocratic tendencies. Such charge is now brought against President Hoover in connection with the much mooted tariff question. The president wishes to retain the flexible tariff clause which, following the recommendation of a tariff commission, permits him to raise or lower rates without action of congress. The opposing senator or representative, with one eye on the political barometer, feels that he is losing a precious prerogative and that too much power is vested in the executive. When congress attempts tariff revision, members engage in a long battle for sectional advantage. Strength of numbers often prevents fair compromises, and the result favors one part of the country above another. It is reasonable to suppose that a bulky body like congress, frequently specializing more in politics than high statesmanship, is believed less capable of an equal division of tariff benefits than an expert board acting in conjunction with the president. To save time and perhaps prevent unjustified sectional provision, authorized adjustments to meet immediate needs. Each political party has equal representation on the commission, and therefore no arbitrary party favoritism is possible. As between the exercise of power by such board or by congress, it is likely the people can trust the judgment of the former quite as well as that of the latter.

ROCKNE'S NOTRE DAME ELEVEN HAS ITS USUAL SCHEDULE OF SOME VERY, VERY TOUGH OPPONENTS

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THE football team that wins every game on its schedule this season will be powerful and lucky, and if it has played a few of the top-notch elevens it rightfully may claim to be a national championship. From all appearances of the schedules, the list of unbeaten teams among those who play championship schedules will be as thin as it was last fall, when most of them at one time or another were bumped off.

Any team that wins two-thirds of its games is moving at a fast pace. If you doubt it, just ask Coach Howard Jones, Pop Warner, Bob Zuppke, Knute Rockne, Chick Meacham, Bob Reger, Bill Alexander or Cliff Jones. They will tell you that it is next to impossible to key a team up early in October and keep it keyed until Thanksgiving Day. But if they aren't keyed, they also tell you, the team is likely to be dropped most any time by an opponent of unsuspected strength.

Early this fall football writers heralded the Notre Dame eleven as having prospects for a team of national championship caliber. Twenty-five experienced varsity players reported to Rockne, and six of those athletes had seen two years of service as regulars.

Much was written about Captain John Law, a speedy guard, only five feet nine inches tall and weighing 163 pounds. The writers predicted that Jack Elder, speedy halfback, who is a nationally known sprinter, would have a big year. They declared that Marty Brill, a sophomore halfback, would be a sensation in the backfield, and that big Tim Moyilan, center, and Larry "Moon" Mullins, fullback, would be hard men to deal with this season.

ELDER, the football writers say, has an excellent opportunity to gain All-America honors this fall. He has tremendous speed and uses it to advantage on the gridiron. The Notre Dame flier is five feet eight inches tall, weighs 165 pounds, and several times has negotiated the century in 9.5 seconds, the accepted world's record.

But look at the Notre Dame schedule before you boom the Irish

for national championship honors. If they win every game they certainly ought to be awarded the championship, besides all the Carnegie medals for bravery and heroism that can be manufactured. They have made a gallant start, 'tis true, but look what lies before them.

CARNEGIE TECH, a ranking eleven of the east, and Georgia Tech, the Golden Tornado of the south, play Knute Rockne's Ramblers. If the "Fighting Irish" get over those hurdles, they have an opportunity to regain their second wind when they meet Drake, although the Bulldogs were champions of the Missouri Valley Conference in 1923 and no set-up for the ordinary team. However, Notre Dame's team is said to be extraordinary and it is expected that they will dispose of the Drake outfit.

BUT then comes more grief for the Irish. They meet Southern California, Pacific coast and national champions of 1923, Northwestern University, another strong Western Conference eleven, and the Army.

Truly, Notre Dame this year is living up to its name of "The Ramblers." Not a game of their schedule is a home game. Only one, against Indiana, did they play in their home state. Two others are held at Soldier's Field, Chicago, while the remainder necessitate trips to such distant points as New York in the east and Atlanta in the south.

Parking Space.
York Republican: The traffic situation in towns and cities grows more and more acute as travel on highways increases and automobiles become the common property of more and more people. In eastern cities rentals for parking spaces are being considered. The country is not ready for that yet but it will become increasingly necessary for people to be taught not to be careless parking hogs and penalized when they do. Fortunately indeed are those western cities of Nebraska that were laid out after the automobile became of general use. They provided unusually wide streets and their traffic problems are still small. But in cities like York, platted when horses and buggies were the swiftest means of street travel, there is acute need of doing something to make street travel safer and parking spaces available to a greater number.

Prevents Accident By Heroic Work

Heroic work of Loren Agler of Wayne, bus driver on the Hartington-Wisner route, averted a serious accident Sunday of last week. Miss Anna Cordts of Cedar Falls, Iowa, who was going to Hartington to instruct in institute, and Miss Florence Ekeroth of Wakefield, who was going there to visit, were the only passengers. When going between Laurel and Coleridge, about four miles from the latter place, a car driven by Elmer Gillispie approached from the opposite direction. As the two were about to meet on a bridge a third car approached from behind the Gillispie machine at a fast speed, attempting to get over the bridge before the Gillispie car. Mr. Agler saw what would happen and quickly drove the bus down the embankment into the ditch and averted a collision. The speeding car which had so nearly caused an accident, flew by. Afterward Mr. Agler drove the bus out of the ditch and continued on his journey.

More Than Normal Corn Crop Reported

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 11—A corn crop bigger than normal instead of several million bushels short is now predicted by the state and federal division of agricultural statistics.

The monthly report issued today by A. E. Anderson places the yield at 221,000,000 bushels, a 15 percent increase over the 192,000,000 estimate for last month. Production per acre is 24.5 bushels as against the 21.3-bushel estimate on Sept. 1. The five-year average is 214 million bushels.

Corn is safe from injury by frost and will soon be ready for cribbing," the report reads. "Most of the counties in northeastern Nebraska have splendid yields. Apparently the ill effects of the August drought were partly offset by the reserve supply of subsoil moisture."

The mental attitude of local crop reports also had much to do with early season "bear" talk. Mr. Anderson believes it is hard to convince a man who sees his corn curling beneath a mid-summer sun that it has a chance of amounting to much later on.

The yield of oats, however, is well above the average, while tame hay, spring wheat, barley and potatoes are approximately the usual returns. Soil is in splendid condition for winter wheat in most counties and that crop generally is excellent.

On an average yield of 33.5 bushels, oats will produce 85,000,000 bushels against last year's crop of 79,000,000 and the five-year average of 69,000,000. Only in the two southern tiers of counties were the oat fields poor.

Barley is Better Than Usual. Barley, too, is far better than usual, expected to return 19,000,000 bushels compared with the 14,000,000 grown last year and the average of 8,000,000.

While Durum wheat averaged 15.2 bushels an acre, other spring wheats produced 14.5 bushels. Production on all wheat will approximate 55,000,000 bushels, compared with last year's 69,000,000 and the five-year average of 55,000,000.

The estimated potato production of 8,000,000 bushels is 2,000,000 greater than last year and almost 3,000,000 more than the average. The farm crop is better than expected except in southern counties, while western Nebraska has a fairly good crop.

Beet Yield is Heavier. The 93 percent condition of sugar beets foretells a production of 1,093,000 tons. Last year the yield was 1,021,000 and for the last five years it averaged 934,000.

Though rated at but 62 percent, apple orchards are bearing 868,000 bushels of fruit compared with 470,000 last year and the average of 646,000. The peach yield of 68,000 bushels is eight times that of last year, and the pear crop of 36,000 bushels is three times as great.

Condition reports on other minor crops are: Buckwheat 70 percent; sweet potatoes, 79; soy beans and cowpeas, 78; red clover seed 80; alfalfa seed, 86; millet and sudan yield, 2 tons; pasture 80 percent.

Notice of Settlement of Account. In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. Wayne State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of Albert R. Davis, deceased: On reading the petition of Edna Davis, executrix, praying a final settlement and allowance of her account filed in this court on the 8th day of October, 1929, and for distribution of the residue of said estate. It is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county, on the 25th day of October, 1929, at 10 o'clock a. m. to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all

Here's a WAGON for You
... the McCormick-Deering Weber

Did you ever notice how a Weber wagon "chuckles" when it is loaded? That means it is light draft. After the gear parts are trussed and equipped, in building, they are accurately gauged for pitch and gather—the two features accounting for Weber light draft.

The axles are hickory; each end is cut for its respective skein. Weber quality wagon materials assure durability. It is a wagon that will last a long time and give low hauling costs.

The exclusive patented swivel reach coupling and fifth wheel multiply the built-in-service of Weber gears. The price is right; ask us. We have the size to meet your requirements.

Sandwich Portable Steel Elevators

In buying a farm elevator, bear in mind that the machine has to do extraordinary heavy work—must withstand a tremendous strain—must work rapidly and smoothly, with light draft—must be adaptable to a wide range of cribbing conditions.

A cheap elevator won't save you any money, for it will quickly rattle and shake itself to pieces and be a constant bill of expense on account of break-downs and cost of repairs.

When you buy a Sandwich Farm Elevator you get an outfit that is going to stand by you for years and years.

It is built by one of the largest and oldest farm machinery concerns in the country, whose reputation for honesty in manufacture is of the very highest.

There's strength, durability and guaranteed satisfaction in every Sandwich Farm Elevator.

BY HARRIET

THE well-dressed woman simply must have one or two of those "little frocks" in her wardrobe this winter.

They may be divided into several types. There is the "sit-about" afternoon frock; the "above-the-table" luncheon frock; the "tea-time" frock in which one stands.

There is femininity in all of these little frocks this season. A sashia-colored flat crepe frock with full sleeves above the elbow, has tight cuffs, buttoned close clear to the elbow and then little bow tying on the elbow joint.

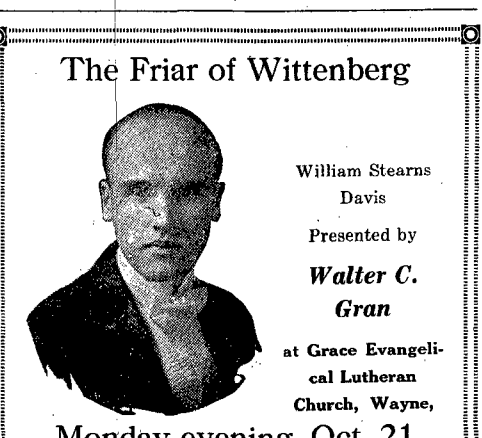

At a recent fashion show two of the most interesting little frocks sponsored popular colors. One was a bright red flat crepe.

made with that youthful double-breasted effect that looks so nice on the average medium-sized woman. It was a coat frock, really buttoning and tying shut, with the sash on one hip an actual factor in keeping the dress in place.

Accident Death List Leads War

Losses in Twentytwo Weeks Exceed Those in Like Period in Any Armed Conflict.

Accident statistics for Nebraska compiled by the Nebraska Press association and the rehabilitation division of the state department of vocational education, for the two-week period ending October 8, 1929:

No. Accidents	Total Deaths	Injured	Casualties

Total 313 41 270 311
Of the 270 persons injured, 166 were permanently disabled.

School accidents, mostly playground falls, resulted in eight injuries. Football was responsible for two others.

The hunting season has opened the past two weeks with two deaths, two permanent disabilities and eight serious injuries. Wonder if the Izaak Walton League cannot do something about preserving the hunters as well as the game.

Ten serious fires have occurred in the state in the last two weeks with losses running into several hundred thousand dollars.

A kitchen fire was started by kerosene poured from a can; a camp stove, possibly defective, was pumped up while lighted; a kerosene lamp was filled while lighted; two gasoline stoves were being generated and a snap lighter was filled with cleaning fluid. All of these are very simple operations duplicated daily in hundreds of homes but gasoline and even kerosene under certain conditions are more explosive than dynamite. These conditions prevailed. Seven women and children are dead and seven other persons are injured and disfigured.

If the women and homemakers of our state can learn from this casualty list, the need for great care in handling these terrific explosives, these people will not have died in vain.

For the past two weeks, President Hoover and Premier McDonald of England have been in close conference working toward the elimination of warfare and the preservation of our people from its devastations.

When the accident total of 387 deaths, 226 permanent disabilities and 2,338 injuries in twenty-two weeks in Nebraska exceeds the state's war losses for any like period for any war we ever had, wonder if public safety isn't worthy of a little governmental attention!

Western Union Winner In Game

Wayne State Teachers College Football To Meet Kearney In First Home Game.

Wayne State Teachers College football team met Western Union college at LeMars, Iowa, Saturday and Western Union won with a score of 13 to 6.

All three centers in the game were made in the second quarter. Western Union made the first, intercepting a pass on Wayne's 42-yard line and racing the balance of the field to goal. The try for point was successful.

Wayne scored next. The team returned a punt to Western Union's 45-yard line. By a series of plunges the ball was taken to the 30-yard line. Dennis took it from there to goal. The extra point was blocked.

Before the second quarter ended, Western Union made a second touchdown by a pass and a 75-yard run.

Dennis and Lindamood starred for Wayne. The first lineup included: Lindamood, Dodge, Cornish, McKinley, Richie, Langfeldt, Jensen, Anderson, Andrews, Dennis and Schwartz. Coach W. R. Hickman was accompanied to LeMars by about twenty men.

Kearney and Wayne meet here October 19 for the local team's first home game.

How Much Are These Goods Worth ?

You have seen illustrations such as these many times. The price is not always the same. Why? What is the right price? The fair price? Will you take time to come in and tell us what you think and why you think it?

How do you determine value in furniture? The only correct way is to investigate before buying. There are many things that determine the price of furniture — things that you should know when investing money in articles that go toward making up a permanent home.

You are buying, not for a month or a year, but for a period, that in many cases, extends over a good part of a life time. Then, of course, you want goods that are permanent.

That brings up the question of construction, workmanship, quality of materials. How much are these things worth to you as a buyer? Let us talk it over with you.

H. Hanson, who taught in the district in the early eighties; talk on standardization by County Superintendent Pearl Sewell, who taught there six years, and an address by Prof. A. V. Reed. A social time followed during which all had a chance to inspect the building which is modern in heating and lighting and certainly a credit to the men who labored so faithfully to secure it. This could easily be used as a community center where gatherings would be of benefit in civic and social affairs. An interesting feature of the evening was the presence of five former teachers of the school.

About Nebraska and Nebraskans

Will M. Maupin.

The Diamond Jubilee committee is looking for a team of oxen to draw one of the floats in the big parade. That should be easy, finding the team. But finding a man able to break the oxen to drive will be another matter. And after finding the man and breaking the oxen, where will he be found an oxbow? The tremendous development of the past 75 years is emphasized by this quest for an ox team. Three quarters of a century ago ox teams were as common as automobiles are now, in proportion to population. Then the sight of an automobile would have frightened men and women to death. Today the sight of an ox team would cause a lot of our youngsters to laugh themselves almost to death.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Boone of Heartwell recently celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. and Mrs. George B. Spindie celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary a few weeks ago. They have lived in Schuyler for 40 years.

When the state records showed that the Charles Eckert family of Fremont to be the largest family in Nebraska the news was published throughout the state. Then the corrections began coming in. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Feldhaacker of Cedar county showed up with one more than the Eckert family, and Cedar county people gave three rousing cheers. Then Colfax county, peeved by credit going to such small families, produced Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kurcera, after which Colfax county sat back and waited. The score then stood: Eckert family, father, mother and children, 18; Feldhaacker family, father, mother and children, 19; Kurcera family, father, mother and children, 19. The tie score stood until the little town of Linwood showed up with the Frank Vitmas family, Frank being the father of 19 children and the stepfather of four. If Frank doesn't hold the record, who does?

Older Nebraska newspaper men will remember Dan Macheer, who edited the Aurora Sun a number of years ago, and who was prominent in democratic party circles. Dan left Nebraska many years ago. Now his old friends will rejoice with him because his son, Harrison Macheer, has developed into a great cartoonist and is making good as a designer of magazine covers and art advertising. Young Macheer was born in Nebraska and educated in Nebraska schools. His artistic talent was shown at a very early age, and Dan and his wife sacrificed much to enable the boy to develop it. Now they are amply rewarded by his growing fame.

Manufacturers of cigars will probably not ask Mrs. Cornelia Weatherford of Omaha to write testimonials for them. She probably could not differentiate between brands in a blindfold test. She is 98 years old, and has been smoking a pipe since she was 15. "Smoking don't hurt a woman," she declares between puffs. But Mrs. Weatherford refers to pipe smoking, not cigarette smoking.

An Omaha policeman took three drinks of hooch and proceeded to pile up the apartment furniture in the middle of the floor. Then he played a fire extinguisher on the furniture, thinking it was on fire. Omaha hooch is known for its potency, but this is the first indication that it is hot enough to make the consumer think his furniture is ablaze.

Fenner Ferguson was the first chief justice of Nebraska. The first session of the court was held in March, 1855. The first day's business was devoted wholly to the admission of attorneys to practice in the courts of Nebraska Territory. Attorney General Estabrook, by virtue of his office a member of the court, made the motion which admitted 16 lawyers to practice. Among those who later gained great prominence in the state were Andrew J. Poppleton, who for years was general attorney of the Union Pacific, and Andrew J. Hanscom, after whom the beautiful park in Omaha was named.

The Nebraska Medical Society was organized in Omaha in 1856, with Dr. George L. Miller as president. Dr. Miller soon retired from the practice of medicine to engage in politics and the newspaper business. The firm of Miller & Richardson founded the Omaha Herald, which had a job printing establishment in connection. It became the leading democratic newspaper of the middle west, and Dr. Miller soon became the dominant figure in democratic political circles. The publication of the Omaha Herald was uninterrupted from the date of its founding until it was consolidated with the World in 1888.

When Marie Lau of Lincoln married Kwei Chen, a Chinese fellow student at the University of Nebraska, she was not the first Nebraska girl to wed a Chinaman. Many years ago there was a Chinese doctor in Omaha who married an American girl. She later divorced him and received a substantial sum as alimony. A number of American girls have wed Japanese in Nebraska.

The town in the eastern half of Nebraska that has not been offered an opportunity to get natural gas from Texas or Oklahoma is missing an opportunity for some publicity. Enough gas lines are projected in eastern Nebraska to fairly gridiron that section.

Waggoner, the Telluride, Colo. banker who made New York bankers look like the monkey section in the Bronx Zoo, is a native Nebraskan. He formerly resided near Grafton, and spent several days between the time he framed the Manhattan financiers and actually getting the money.

Charles G. Dawes is not the only big financier that Nebraska has furnished the east. Dan Wing, who was receiver of the Capitol National bank at Lincoln, is now president of the largest bank in Boston. And Walter Head of Omaha has gone to Chicago to become president of the largest state bank in the United States. You just can't keep 'em down.

Speaking of the Capitol National Bank—there have been numerous bank failures in Nebraska since that bank went floozy in 1891, and some of them involved a greater amount of money. But none ever created the political scandal that resulted from the collapse of that bank. When this bank failed reputations galore were ruined. That failure several years later brought about the conviction of a state treasurer for embezzlement, and compelled the withdrawal of a candidate from the republican state ticket.

Maupinions. Farm belief is the first real step towards farm relief.

Honestly now, would most children today be better if they were not so much like their parents were when they were children?

Improvement of the Missouri river should be easy, even if expensive. Almost any change in that erratic old stream would be an improvement.

The spectacle of a worth-while office seeking the man would be worth going many miles to see.

It is not enough that the professional reformer points the way; he should lead the way.

A Fremont man sued for a divorce on the ground that his wife was continually nagging him for money. When asked what she did with it he admitted that he had never given her any.

The driver's license law is being rigidly enforced—but so was the headlight law when it first went into operation.

A fool, a pint of hooch, a $10 bill and a secondhand flivver constitute a quartet that is a deadly menace to life and property.

If all the reckless auto drivers were placed end to end longitudinally and permanently, a lot of us would heave a sigh of relief that would cause a tidal wave on the far western shores of the Pacific.

About the first thing our new state department of publicity should do is to help Nebraska find herself.

Some of these days adventurous men will discover oil in Nebraska, and a lot of men who do not believe it now will be saying "I told you so." Next to the "They Sayers" the "I told you so-ers" constitute the world's greatest nuisance.

Dollars without sense are as dangerous as dynamite in the hands of a fool.

JOHN M. DUNCAN

"I was a farmer for sixty-four years of my life and there were mighty few mornings during that time that I didn't see the sunrise. But when I retired five years ago and decided to take things easy, my health began to fail.

"I blame all my troubles on constipation, brought on by lack of my usual outdoor exercise. I had to take laxatives almost every night. Then my stomach got all out of fix and nearly everything I ate disagreed with me. I was bilious, felt dull and no account, and just had to force myself to keep going.

"Four bottles of Sargon put my stomach in fine shape and the Sargon Soft Mass Pills got rid of my constipation, and biliousness entirely. I'm through taking laxatives now, but stay regulated just as good as when I was working twelve hours a day on the farm. I've got a hearty appetite, everything agrees with me perfectly and I'm so much stronger and better in every way, I feel like a new man."—John M. Duncan, 2109 S. 46th St., Omaha. Felter's Pharmacy, Wayne, Agents.

All these other extras come from the extra quart

THERE'S an extra quart of lubricant in every gallon of Quaker State Motor Oil. Put this oil into your crank case and you'll know.
 The extra quart results from the exclusive Quaker State process of super-refining. Ordinary commercial refining leaves in every gallon of oil, a quart of material that has little or no value in lubricating an automobile motor. Quaker State goes a step farther—takes out this quart of waste—and gives you four full quarts of lubricant in every gallon. An extra quart.
 And in addition, Quaker State is Refined from 100% pure Pennsylvania Grade Crude—whose superior quality makes it cost two to three times as much as the crudes from which most other oils are refined.
 Fill up with Quaker State—and your motor will tell you the whole story.

LOOKS LIKE ONLY DEMPSEY AND SCHMELING CAN PREVENT SHARKEY FROM BEING HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

BY PHILIP MARTIN
 MORE and more persistent are the demands today for Jack Dempsey to come back and clean up, or attempt to clean up, the present heavyweight situation.
 Since the hard right fist of Jack Sharkey crashed Tommy Loughran's heavyweight hopes into the canvas of Yankee Stadium recently, Dempsey has been offered nearly every kind of purse imaginable to fight again. Daily the mail of the idol of fistiana is flooded with requests to forsake the promoting game for one more fling in the fight ring.
 To all of this Jack merely shakes his head and smilingly refuses to discuss the proposals.
 "I'm busy as a promoter now," the former heavyweight champion insists. "I'm devoting all my time to boxing shows in Chicago."
STILL, those who are closely associated with the big fellow declare it appears as though the Minnassa Mauler is more likely to return to actual combat than at any time since he lost his second battle with Gene Tunney in Chicago. Dempsey's associates claim he is giving considerable thought on the quiet to the pile upon pile of telegrams and letters that clutter his mail each day.

JACK SHARKEY

With Dempsey out of the picture, Sharkey apparently is the choice of everyone for the heavyweight throne vacated by Tunney. The Boston sailor holds victories over most of the current heavyweights, at least the outstanding ones, and in spite of the fact that he is not a crowd pleaser, he appears to have the inside track to the goal.
 According to tentative plans, Sharkey will meet an opponent, as yet unnamed, at Miami this winter. The plans include a proposal to match Dempsey with the winner of the Miami scramble.
OTHER than Sharkey, the heavyweight roster includes only Phil Scott, the tall Britisher, Max Schmeling, the German pretzel bender, and a few lesser known boys, namely Tuffy Griffiths and Victoriano Campolo, the South American giant. Griffiths is regarded as a prospect, but needs much development. Slizing up the entire situation, it looks like there are only three men who might keep Sharkey from gaining the heavyweight crown.
 Gene Tunney, the retired king, undoubtedly could outbox the Bostonian, but his retirement has all the appearances of a lasting one. He has married into society and seems content to forget the troubles and cares of a fighter.
 Dempsey might appear in Sharkey's path to knock him out as he did once before in his comeback.
 The third is Max Schmeling, but since he is not in the good graces of the boxing "powers that be," it seems likely that the German has passed up his golden opportunity.
