GATHERING CORN HELPED BY FROST CONTESTS URGED

The first killing frost swept over this country Monday night, and it was welcomed by corn huskers. It has made their work easier, and has speeded up results. Corn husking contests are now in order, and finals in the state match will be held in Cumming county early in November. It is proposed that with Wayne county's big crop and good huskers, a preliminary contest should be held here, and huskers interested in such local event are asked to report at Frank Gamble's store in the near future. Wayne county should not be left out. While the average corn yield over the state is estimated at only twenty-six bushels per acre, the crop in this county runs from forty to eighty bushels. Paul Dahlkoetter of Pilger, Suffers Severe Scalp Wounds—Car Is Wrecked.

Lester Piere, 24, of Stanton, was killed instantly and Paul Dahlkoetter, 27, of Pilger, sustaining severe injury Sunday evening at 6:45 when the car in which they were riding collided with a freight train on the highway four and one-half miles east of Norfolk. Piere was mangled beyond recognition. Dahlkoetter received deep cuts about the head. It is thought the wounds are not serious. The young men were driving from the west when their coupe struck the train, which was going west. The automobile hit the forty-fourth car on the freight. The young men were not aware that a train was crossing the highway. The collision was in the center of the train and the impact was not great enough that the men in the engine or caboose noticed it. Piere was thrown beneath the moving train and his body was mangled by the wheels. The coupe was a complete wreck. The engine was torn from the chassis, and the body was badly broken. Lester Piere is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Piere who live northeast of Stanton. The injured man is a son of Mrs. Mary Dahlkoetter of Pilger.

NEAR CHAOS HAS RULED WORK ROOM DURING THE WEEK

The Herald's mechanical department has been in a state bordering on chaos during the past week preliminary to installing a new press. The concrete floor has been disassembled, and a big, yawning pit awaits reception of the improvement. Accordingly, the labor of issuing today's newspaper has gone forward in the presence of unusual hindrances, and thus to avoid delay the edition has been reduced to twelve pages, making necessary a vigorous boiling-down process and omission of the customary volume. It is hoped that improved press facilities and thus quicker and better service will justify the present upheaval, confusion, annoyance and expense. Out of the chaos promises to come in a few weeks a greatly improved plant which prospect keeps courage from dropping below zero.

Wayne Appraised As Good Town In Which To Rustle

An old fellow, accompanied by a young lad, both strangers, ambling along Main street, perhaps just arrived to find corn picking jobs, was overheard saying: "This is a darned good town, kid, but you do have to rustle." The qualifying phrase is quite as important as the chief statement. Rustling makes a town good, and it is good for people to rustle. We have seen towns where enough inhabitants just kill time, with no ambition and no objective, to prevent progress. The fellow who does not want to do them, idling away time, dreamily watching the procession go by, hoping for nothing beyond passing amusement and a hand-to-mouth existence, stifles community spirit and hinders development. Enough individuals of that type will not only block growth but make a town shrink. We are glad Wayne impresses the stranger as a live and progressive point where people work hard and play hard, take pride in improvement and are not satisfied with mediocrity.

THE KNOT-HOLE. No. 20 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, Oct. 24, 1929. Vol. 1. An eminent doctor says the way to keep young is to live with young people. May we suggest that the way to grow gray is to keep up with them. Nights are getting longer again. But we seem to have just the same amount of trouble getting our eight hours of sleep. They are thicker, wider, clearer and better than you can find anywhere. They last longer, too. The new Giese house is going up rapidly. It should make a very cozy home for Mr. and Mrs. Giese. Mr. Foster has the contract. D'y remember way back when Grandma returned from the lakes suburnt only on her face and hands? "So you're lost, little man? Why didn't you hang on to your mother's skirts?" Youngster "Couldn't reach it." Free kindling with a ton or more of our coal. If you prefer to buy your coal elsewhere, we will gladly sell you the kindling. Cleaner and better than cobs, costs no more. They are here. The new fastener for the American Banner steel post. Goes completely around the post. Fastens the wire securely. Can't slip up or down nor sideways. Nothing else like it. Free with Banner posts. "Willie," whispered his mother in church, "how many times do I have to tell you one must keep one's eyes closed during the prayer?" "Well, mother," replied Willie, "how do you know I don't?" We hope nobody walks away with your gate on Hallowe'en. But if they do, we know where you can get a dandy. See us for slat corn cribbing. Price $5.00. Our white pine rough boards for crib floors are just the thing. We unloaded another car of them this week. Carhart Lumber Co. Wayne, Neb. "EVERYTHING TO BUILD ANYTHING WITH" no later time or opportunity to do so. During the conflict many foolish things were done, and arbitrary interference with the course of scholarship was one of them during the World war.

Washington correspondence announces that Senator Geo. W. Norris will be a candidate to succeed himself next year. Senator Norris openly bolted the republican national ticket last year, and previously he opposed the Coolidge administration and now he is equally out of accord with the Hoover administration. He is not in harmony with the men and measures endorsed by popular vote at the polls last November. Still he proposes to employ the republican label to serve his convenience in running for office. Marrying purely for money is not less consistent. If he could find a party with which he could bring himself into agreement on one or two points, he would appear to better advantage by enrolling under its banner. We appreciate his value to the public service as a knacker and obstructionist, but we would like to see him ascend a trifle in the scale of consistency.

FIFTY YEARS

Thomas A. Edison at 82 was the center of a memorable celebration in honor of his invention of the electric lamp fifty years ago. The president and other notables gathered at Dearborn, Mich., to signalize the anniversary and pay due respect to the great inventor. As an appropriate climax to the series of events at Dearborn, one of the latest achievements of science brought from far-away Berlin, the voice of Albert Einstein, distinguished scientist. The president's address was a fitting tribute to the science and a recognition of the service done society by many ways contrived to harness and use electricity. In speaking of Mr. Edison's contribution to mankind, the president called attention to the fact that by his own genius and effort he "rose from modest beginnings to membership among the leaders of men." The president stressed the fact that more and more opportunities beckon to all who may take heed and respond. "Our civilization is much like a garden," said the president. "It is to be prized by the quality of its blooms. In degree as we fertilize its soil with liberty, as we maintain diligence in cultivation and guardianship against destructive forces, do we then produce those blossoms, the fragrance of whose lives stimulate endeavor, give to us the courage to renewed effort and confidence of the future."

"The most surprising experience I've had since I've been driving a car —"

"I have always realized that there was some slight difference in gasolines," said a motorist recently. "But I didn't know there was a difference you could tell the moment you stepped on the accelerator—until I tried Red Crown Ethyl! When a motor full of carbon starts like a Jack Rabbit, purrs along with an entirely new feel and absolutely can't be made to knock on the hills—there's something in paying a few pennies more for a gasoline!"

3 to 1 Favorite

In 1928 Nebraska motorists bought three gallons of Red Crown Gasoline for every gallon of the next most popular brand. A preference based on the satisfactory year 'round performance of this always-reliable, balanced gasoline.

Weighed 94; Gained 17 Lbs.

"When I started taking Sargon, I only weighed 94 pounds but now I weigh 111—an actual gain of 17 pounds in a few weeks' time."

MRS. CHARLES JOHNSON

"I suffered from stomach and liver trouble for over 10 years. I'd have heart burn and gas pains after nearly every meal and was subject to frequent bilious attacks and headaches. Constipation was chronic with me and I became badly run down. I was told that I needed an operation but a friend of mine suggested that I first give Sargon a trial. "I am simply delighted with the results. I don't know when I've had such a good appetite and I never suffer from gas pains or indigestion any more. Sargon got my liver straightened out too and I haven't had a headache or bilious attack since my second bottle. Sargon pills completely overcame my constipation and I feel better in every way than in years. "My husband has started on Sargon now, also my little girl and I've written to my mother about it. We are all enthusiastic over this splendid medicine." Mrs. Charles Johnson, 345 Willow Ave., Council Bluffs, Felber's Pharmacy, Wayne, agents. Try a Wayne Herald Want Ad.

Here's a WAGON for You... the McCormick-Deering Weber. DID you ever notice how a Weber wagon "chuckles" when it is loaded? That means it is light draft. After the gear parts are trussed and equipped, in building, they are accurately gauged for pitch and gather—the two features accounting for Weber light draft. The axles are hickory; each end is cut for its respective skein. Weber quality wagon materials assure durability. It is a wagon that will last a long time and give low hauling costs. The exclusive patented swivel reach coupling and fifth wheel multiply the built-in-service of Weber gears. The price is right; ask us. We have the size to meet your requirements.
