Every year more people use photos for Christmas gifts. We are all alike, and just put off having these photos made just as long as we can, and as a result the photographer has too much to do in December.
In order to induce people to sit early, we will give 14 photos, one of which is an 8x10, with every order of $8.50 per dozen photos or over, made before Nov. 15.
You know the quality of our work, and we guarantee everything we do.
We color photos in oil and they are permanent.
Fourteen photos make 14 Christmas presents. Have them made early, and let the other fellow do the worrying about what they will give.
Your friends can buy anything you can give them, except your photograph.

Wayne Teachers Named Officers

Many From Here Take Part on District Program in Norfolk Last of Week.

A number of Wayne county teachers attended the Third district convention of the Nebraska State Teachers association in Norfolk last Thursday and Friday, and several took part on the program. The registration totaled 946.

Supt. E. V. Keister of Neligh, was chosen president for the coming year. Other officers are Supt. E. R. Rogers of Madison, vice president; Prof. K. N. Park of Wayne, secretary; and Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk, treasurer. Norfolk was chosen as the meeting place for the next year. Wayne, Albion and Neligh received votes.

Chairmen of the various sections were named as follows: Mrs. Mabel Holloway of Wayne, intermediate and grammar grade section; Mrs. Lillian Newburn of Madison, English section; Walter Albert of Wayne, science section; A. A. Kennedy of Elgin, social science section; John Weatherhog of Bloomfield, Parent-Teacher section.

Speaking on "An Old Challenge and a New Demand," G. W. Rosenloff, director of secondary education and teachers training in the state department of education, spoke of the challenge to the teacher of today in regard to moral discipline of the child. "Character education—moral training or citizenship—is the ultimate goal of all educational endeavor," he stated. Schools must provide practice in self-control, opportunity for self expression, initiative and individual responsibility and an occasion for perfecting those qualities that go to make up character and personality.

Social conditions, according to Mr. Rosenloff, are not what they should be. Laws are disobeyed and crime is more prevalent than it should be. Statistics show that the average age of criminals is lowering. Young folks today, he stated, as a whole are more wholesome and have clearer eyes than those of the past. Schools, homes, churches, in fact every agency in every community, should test itself to determine whether it is lending the proper influence.

Dr. Roy Smith of Minneapolis, showed the fallacies in many commonplace sayings in an address to teachers Thursday. Play is the work of childhood, he asserted, and the boy must learn to play fairly, take defeat gracefully, accept victory humbly and give the best to the task at hand. These are life. He must enter sports with eagerness and enthusiasm if he is later to enter life's tasks in the same spirit. Good sportmanship is as important as good scholarship.

The following were elected as delegates to represent the Third District at the delegates assembly at Lincoln the first week in December, in the order of the total votes cast for them: Dean H. H. Thanksgiving day will be here soon, and then will follow the pre-Christmas rush.

The Herald is speeding up somewhat this week to get out of the way of internal improvements now going on.

The Omaha Diamond Jubilee this week is giving the state the right kind of a send-off at this juncture in its history.

After a week's respite due to wet weather, corn picking was resumed Monday and it has been going forward under a full head of steam. Both quantity and quality of the crop are meeting highest expectations.

We are not sufficiently resourceful and versatile to do even passive newspaper work with a lot of other things on the string—doing chores incident to installing a new press and to training a group of Nebraska and Iowa editors.

In a neighboring town three able-bodied men were loafing in a place of business, having refused to accept six cents per bushel for husking corn, and in due time they asked the proprietor to buy dinner for them. This he refused to do with the advice to go to work at prevailing wages, suggesting that they would benefit by any increase in pay. Asking charity in view of the facts, does not make people feel very charitable.

Armistice day, next Monday, marks close of eleven years since the World War ceased, and these years have seen many ups and downs among nations of the world. Surviving the ordeal of reconstruction, nations have become more prosperous. Great progress has been made, and still greater progress is promised. It took too long and cost too much in blood and treasure to struggle out of the tragedy of war for people soon to forget it, and in remembering and lauding patriotic sacrifices during the conflict, people are stronger than ever for peaceful means in the settlement of disputes.

The World-Herald suggests that 4-H club boys and girls are finding effective ways to solve farm problems and furnish effective farm relief. That newspaper observes: "The clubs are answer to the question of how to keep the youth of the land on the farm. The way to do it, the clubs have found, is to show to the boys and girls the romance, the joy, of good farming, and the profits to be made. At the Ak-Sar-Ben live stock show this week, the appearance of the youngsters with their baby beaves is easily an outstanding feature. Alvin Jorgensen, with his Revolution 90th, brought what was undoubtedly one of the best animals of the middle west. These boys and girls have learned that farming is much more than drudgery. They are learning, through their 4-H club contests, that bad

WHERE TO LIVE.
 Some one has suggested that people should live where they like to live and do what they like to do. He advises that one who prefers the country should go there, whereas the fellow who is partial to the city, should park there. But it would seem impossible always for one to follow inclinations or arbitrarily say what he shall do or where he shall do it. If discontent prompts a change, bitter disappointment may follow. Realization often turns happy anticipation to regret. One from a rural community finds too much cold formality in the city, and he does not fit into any of the numerous social strata. He finds business cold-blooded and uninviting to the uninitiated. When the novelty wears off, the city man is appalled by the sameness of the country and yearns to get back into the milling throngs. A man may try to do the thing he wants to do, but he may do the wrong thing and pay dearly for the experience. No one locality has all advantages, and none has all disadvantages. The line of work for which he seems adapted in a city, small town or country, to whose surroundings he is accustomed, would seem advisable as a source of profit and peace of mind.

farming is drudgery without profit, but that good farming can be made to pay in cash and in enjoyment even under very difficult conditions."

Cafe Smoking.
 Sioux City, Iowa. The Nebraska W. C. T. U. has invoked the law of the state banning cigarette smoking in cafes. In Lincoln placards have been posted in public dining rooms, warning patrons that it is against the law to smoke cigarettes in such places. No doubt prosecutions will follow violations of the law, which for years has not been enforced in the state.

Whether the leaders of the movement considered the possibility of their action making matters worse instead of better is not known. Yet it is a foregone conclusion that in Nebraska dining rooms pipes and cigars will do their full duty. There is no inhibition of the heavier smoke. Only the cigarette is legally taboo.

On the other hand it may be that the movement against cigarette smoking in cafes and other public dining rooms was designed to precipitate general action against all forms of indulgence in tobacco in such places. It may be that there is a hope in the hearts and minds of the crusaders that with the cigarette banned and encouragement thus given to the pipe and the cigar an intolerable situation will force legislative action to cover all phases of tobacco smoking.

Business.
 Sioux City Journal: While the frenzy in Wall street over crashing stocks undeniably affected general trade and will continue to affect it until a sane level again is reached in the market, there is no reason for believing it will at any time be extensive. Buying power has been affected in a degree but only slightly so far as its potentiality is concerned. In other words general buying power approximately is as strong as it was but temporarily the demand may fall off somewhat.

Economists and financiers frequently have called attention in the last week to a fact that should have been well understood by the American people, which is that the basic foundations of business are sound. The industrial situation has not changed, even as to values of securities. The market prices in various lines may be utterly disregarded. The pendulum has been swinging irregularly, crazily. It indicated nothing as to true values, either at the top or at the bottom. There is a middle ground where true values for investments are to be found. This will be established in the near future.

Meanwhile business will go on as usual with Wall street left to its own devices to restore its market. No doubt the manipulators will see that this is done, for they will be eager for a resumption of trading, and they will go to extremes to restore confidence in the market's stability. First, however, they must create that stability, must establish it as a fact accomplished.

By way of showing that the fall has been good for general business activity freight car loadings for the week ending October 26 may be cited. The total was 1,185,610 cars. This was an increase of 22,375 cars over the corresponding week last year and of 56,455 over the same period in 1927.

There were gains in miscellaneous freight, merchandise in various carload lots, coal, forest products, ore and coke. Grain and grain products and live stock shipments showed a decline, so the gain cannot be traced to crop movement. Instead it was because of a strong demand for commodities in general trade. Miscellaneous freight, for example, gained 20,007 cars over the same week last year and 40,171 over the corresponding period in 1927. That means that general merchandise shipments have increased because of a strong demand reflecting an increased buying power.

Free Publicity.
 York Republican: Every newspaper editor knows the menace of free publicity. The demand for space for it grows even if the use of it doesn't. It used to be said in a joking way that if a dozen Americans got cast upon a desert island the first thing they would do would be to choose a chairman and perfect an organization. That's changed. Now they would first choose a publicity director and he would set up plans to get word abroad they were marooned and in need of a boat. Every great organization chooses a publicity man and his bossess think because he is sending out a tremendous amount of stuff he is doing a big work. But if they would check up to see how much of it is actually run they would be surprised at the little return on their big investment. A few Nebraska editors have adopted a policy and adhere to it pretty well that is likely to be the policy of all good newspapers, that if the publicity flood continues, their policy is to admit nothing to their papers that is not written by a member of their staff. There are a few exceptions. News stories from the Nebraska State Department of Publicity are accepted at face value. But all the stuff that rides in on the mails and blandly demands the editor's time and attention is stuff to start the morning fire. Self preservation and self respect have almost made it necessary for the average newspaper editor to learn one word in reply to the demand for newspaper space—a heroic and final "no."

A JUST ESTIMATE.
 E. N. Hurley, war chairman of the United States shipping board, talking in Omaha the first of the week, stressed the fact that farmers are the best customers of merchants and manufacturers. He pointed out that if the farmer prospers, the whole country prospers. Therefore, it is important for the farmer to raise big crops and receive good prices. Mr. Hurley said that from sixty to seventy per cent of all sales are made to the farmer, and thus when the farmer's buying power is reduced everybody suffers. Fact is that every branch of industry, agriculture and business is dependent on the prosperity of all other branches. When misfortune hits one line of endeavor it disturbs all others. Fortunately farming conditions are improving and the prospect encourages the belief that they will continue to grow better. An awakening to the importance of the farm industry should stimulate reciprocal relations.

Wayne People Back From Trip To West

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Miner arrived home Monday evening from an automobile trip to California, having traveled 5,200 miles in five weeks. They and their daughter, Mrs. Lorne Hunsley of Edinburg, Ill., left Wayne for the west the last of September. They took the Santa Fe route through New Mexico and Arizona out, and returned on the southern highway through El Paso, Texas. The trip out took seven days. They made better time coming back but stopped with Mr. Miner's brother, Dr. Miner, in Independence, Kan., and went to Illinois to take Mrs. Hunsley home so the return required more days.

The Miners found roads in good shape most of the way. In Arizona and other southern states they had to make detours on account of road and bridge work. They were so glad to get out of the barren sand regions that California appeared wonderfully attractive to them. The fine paved roads, the fruit orchards, the attractive homes and all looked fine. In contrast with Chicago, they liked the way homes in Los Angeles are located on larger plots of ground. The business district of the city has heavy traffic, but everything looks so clean and new. This, the Miners found, is due largely to the use of gas and oil instead of coal.

The Wayne people visited Ellis Miner and wife at Los Angeles and found them well and happy. They saw many other former Wayne folks, the McEachens, Coleman, Grothes, Hansens, Leys, Morgans and others. All are boosters for California, the Miners found.

In comparing costs in California and here, Mr. Miner found that some things are cheaper and some higher there. Beets, fruits and vegetables and clothing as a rule cost less there, and meat, eggs, milk and butter cost more.

The Miners found five inches of snow in El Paso, Texas, on their return trip and the cold was penetrating. They traveled in rain every day on the return but did not use chains on their car any of the way. After stopping in Kansas, they went to Illinois and spent a couple days before coming back to Wayne.

Appeals Case.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 6.—The Northwestern railroad company appealed to the supreme court Tuesday from a judgment for $1,500 obtained in Stanton county by Charles Luedeke, on a claim that the railroad blocked the crossing with a freight train so as to effectively prevent the fire department of Stanton from reaching his burning oil station. The company claimed that all that was done by the freight crew was to handle the train as to protect the cars from the blaze, which was located close to its tracks.

LOOKING BACK

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

ARMISTICE DAY

THE activity of our nation is suspended for a moment today in remembrance of the lull that suddenly fell over the crimson chaos of France eleven years ago. Surrounded by the sweet joys of peace, we meditate on the devotion to duty that swept away youth's right to live and broke the hearts of old age. May we humbly justify that devotion by a reverence for the ideals in which it originated.

In accord with the spirit of this reverential mood, we look back over the years and find deep satisfaction in the realization that our work has stood the test of time.

QUALITY so fine that half the world doesn't realize that Buick is priced so low!

It is an impressive fact that men and women are buying from two to five times as many new Buicks as any other car priced above $1200.

Moreover, during August and September, Buick monopolized its market to such a degree that it won 41% of the total sales of the 15 makes of cars in its price class.

And yet this marked preference for Buick would be still greater if all motorists realized that they can buy six of the fourteen luxurious Buick body types for less than $1300, f. o. b. factory.

In addition to these lower priced models, Buick offers eight other distinguished body types, representing the ultimate in luxury, and priced from $1465 to $1995, f. o. b. factory.

First Comedy Doll Is "Glad Rag Doll"

Dolores Costello, Warner Brothers' popular and pulchritudinous star, gets her first chance at a comedy role in her new picture, "The Glad Rag Doll," which will be the attraction at the Gay theatre for three days, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, November 10, 11 and 12.

Her first screen appearance was in a very dramatic part opposite John Barrymore in "The Sea Beast," and her subsequent roles up to and including the magnificent spectacle, "Noah's Ark," have been of a dramatic and emotional nature, in which she has steadily risen in popular estimation until she is one of the most successful and highly paid actresses on the screen today.

Then it was decided to give her a chance at comedy and she was assigned the stellar role in "The Glad Rag Doll," that of a Broadway musical comedy actress who invades the home of a wealthy and aristocratic family who oppose her marriage to the young son. Through a number of comedy situations she has all the cards in her own hand until she falls in love with the head of the family—the elder brother of the spendthrift youth, who has most bitterly opposed admitting her into the family and who procured her discharge from the show when she refused to give up his young brother.

The comedy turns to emotional drama near the close of the picture, but a happy ending is reached, with comedy again rearing its smiling countenance. It has been ably directed by the gifted Michael Curtiz. Harvey Gates wrote the story and C. Graham Baker adapted it to the screen. Chief in Miss Costello's support are Ralph Graves, Audrey Ferris, Claude Gillingwater, Maude Turner Gordon, Dale Fuller, Lee Moran, Douglas Gerrard, Tom Ricketts, Tom Kennedy, Louise Beaver and Andre Beranger.

1929 "Buffalo Hunt" Provides Thrill for Colorado Capitalist, Veteran of the West

SPENCER PENROSE, wealthy copper and gold magnate of Broadmoor, Colo., has enjoyed one thrill in 1929 that probably won't be the lot of any other sportsman on this continent.

Two years ago, Penrose obtained a herd of buffalo from Yellowstone National Park. It was this herd that figured in the buffalo hunt staged on his estate this year and which resulted in his kill.

The animal killed was cut out from the rest of the herd by cowhands, and, as it charged headlong at Penrose, it was shot. His high-powered rifle spurted a flame—and the animal dropped.

The drive was conducted on the slopes of the Cheyenne mountain, near his home, on a 100-acre buffalo run inhabited by the herd.

And the buffalo meat—well, it doesn't take two guesses to know what became of it!

With Penrose in the hunt were Horace K. Devereaux, Milt Strong, George Noel, and others—famous in the west.
