A genealogist has discovered that Secretary Mellor and Al.
Smith are blood relatives. We wonder if either or both will offer denial, or who will be first to show resentment.

A cold wave blew down from the north Tuesday night and sent the mercury scurrying towards the bulb. The change is accepted as an improvement over the unprecedentedly prolonged spell of cloudiness.

A young man is reported to have suicided in order to experience a new thrill—that of dying.
He might have had a new thrill by going to work, and a succession of new thrills by accomplishing more things and doing them better from day to day.

Wayne had been a live trade center during the past week and remaining days before Christmas promise to see still greater activity. By their big stocks and low prices Wayne stores have demonstrated increased drawing power, and the result is new and extended trade relationships.

Representative of Norfolk, Hoskins and Winside are reported to have met the first of the week and decided unanimously on a proposition to urge the cooperation of Wayne to urge the state engineer to gravel the Norfolk-Winside section of highway No. 25.
We would suggest that the request be amended to include the Winside-Wayne section.

John W. Carey in his Rear Seat, Sioux City Journal, makes clear and satisfactory differentiation between "character" and "reputation." A suit in court alleged damage to character. The Rear Seat editor points out that shafts of hate or envy may hurt reputation, but they cannot in-

GAMBLING

The United States government is undoubtedly the best in the world. It is more nearly just and impartial than any other. No state-manship in the world is of finer type. But it is human and often falls into ratiocination or error in judgment. There are, however, less manifest here than in other or less intelligent and less humane countries, our government is often harmfully inconsistent.

We now have in mind the subject of gambling. All forms of lottery gambling are carefully banned under federal authority, and no scheme, involving remotest chance, no matter how harmless, no matter how impossible of loss to any individual, is allowed to be announced through use of the United States mails. This prohibition was originally prompted by the evils of the Louisiana state lottery and was designed to keep people from taking unwise chances.

While not questioning the good intentions and often worthy results of the measure, unrestricted Wall street gambling is a devouring ogre in comparison. Chances taken in Wall street stocks not only invite financial ruin to participating individuals, but in case of collapse, as happened recently, all industry and business and market values everywhere in the country are more or less seriously affected. The often foolish and unwise apparent in application of the lottery law furnish sharp contrast with the peril lurking in Wall street gambling.

To be consistent to contribute elements of stability and to prevent future market tragedies it would seem the government could make its definition of gambling a more comprehensive regulation of Wall street.

As he explains:
"Character is what we are; reputation is what people think we are."

Farm sales in Wayne county thus far this season have been more largely patronized than those held in several previous years. Offerings have been in demand at good prices and indication that conditions are sound and prosperous and that confidence in the future is secured.

Senator Norris' judgment in oppositely opposing Hoover and supporting Smith on the eve of the national election will appear for consideration by Nebraska voters next year. Hoover carried the state by a big majority, and many people will have to reverse themselves if Norris should be able to win. A Norris victory would be an acknowledgment on the part of many people that they were wrong in voting for Hoover.

A pronounced brassness of the old-time Christmas celebration was luging in the favorite church all the family gifts for distribution from one big tree. Thus, some children received much, while others received little, and the tragedy of contrast was severe while it lasted, giving the Christmas spirit a solar plexus blow from which recovery was slow and painful to numerous youngsters. Absence of this way of doing in the name of a sainted occasion is proof of advancement in qualities of sense and ideas of propriety. Now and for many years bestowal of gifts in public places is carefully arranged and scrupulously impartial.

Clark McBride, Nebraska halfback, who retired from football following the game on Thanksgiving day, expressed to the Omaha World-Herald his conviction that the game as played on state universities, robs the player of educational opportunities, and gives him no time to prepare himself for life's activities. While the players contribute to box-office receipts and help pay for improvements on athletic fields, they get nothing in return, leaving the objective without gaining the objective for which they enrolled.
McBride now proposes to cut out football and turn over studying law and trying to acquire knowledge that will be of practical service to him. He says he counts as wasted the time he has devoted to football.

The Christ of Christmas

What sweet, happy memories cluster around the day we call "Christmas"? We think of our childhood when Christmas day meant mostly giving and getting gifts; of the family gatherings with loved ones; of the Christmas trees shimmering with tinsel and bright lights; of the music and mirth and happy children.
For it was Christmas, and gloom and grudge were left aside.
Somehow, it was different from any other day in the year, and there were warmth and cheer and happy thought for all.
But what of the Christ whose coming gave us Christmas day?
His baby eyes opened one night on a wonderful world which he himself has fashioned. He was born in a stable and cradled in a manger. Angels proclaimed his advent. The lowly shepherds heard the message and rejoiced.
The wise men heard and came to pay Him their homage. He came on a mission of love to the sons of men. He lived. He toiled. He bled. He died.

Centuries have come and gone.
Christmas days have come and gone, and today it is sad but true, the day has come to mean more to many people than the Christ whose birth it celebrates.
We would not take one whit from its cheer and gladness. We would, if we could, add to its joy a thousand-fold and speed its blessing to every human heart. But we would be glad if all could know the Christ of Christmas, the anointed Son of God, the Savior of the world. For shall call his name Jesus, and the angel to Mary: "For thou shalt save His people from their sins."

Will there be any touch of sorrow in the loving heart of Christ this Christmas day, because though He made the day possible —He Himself is not known, not recognized, not honored, not believed, not served? Would it not make Him glad, if in the midst of the festivities, we would think of Him and give Him some Christmas gift? "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Savior." What are we going to give Him in return? "Give me my son (my daughter) thine heart and let thine eyes observe my ways." Here is the answer.
"One soul saved is worth a world of gold."

And "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." Come, desire of nations come, fix in us Thy humble home.—H. A. Teckhaus.

cupied by F. C. Phillips, over the

CHRISTMAS

Christmas on December 25 supplanted the old pagan festival celebrating as of about that time the winter solstice which marked commencement of longer days. It is not certain whether Christ was born in December or in the spring —probably the latter—but the date was fixed to succeed a heathen custom.

However, the time of his nativity is not important. The life he led—the example of unselfish living which he established in the minds of men for all time—is of vital importance.
The story of the star which directed the shepherds, of the manger where the infant Nazarene lay, has been told and retold through the centuries.
It sounded advent of a new era in the world's religious thought. It lifted mankind out of the morass of brutal superstition to a plane of spiritual values. From Bethlehem to Bethesda and Calvary the Christ example left a spiritual blaze that has been an inspiration to one generation after another for 2,000 years.

The struggle away from cold materialism to the warmth of pure Christianity, separating imperishable truth from meaningless dogmas and Puritanicism proscriptions, has been slow but steady and sore.
Mental processes have responded gradually, though often feebly, to the spirit of the new birth, and while society still falters and stumbles in observing the principles exemplified by the Nazarene, we believe the world is growing permanently better in thought and action, and that the Golden Rule is held less and less as a mere precept; rather that it is gaining force in practice—making headway in knitting together mankind in a more helpful and cheerful brotherhood.

As spoken in the Talker's Sioux City Journal: The Rev.
Henry Darlington, of New York, in an address before the Episcopal Actors guild, pleaded that the talking picture producers make an effort to improve the quality of English as spoken on the screen. He saw the talkie as facing a responsibility, since because of the millions who hear it, the audible screen would be bound to set some kind of standard for the multitude.

Just here is a rather difficult question for producers to answer.
It would be whether the talking picture ought to reflect life as it actually is lived or as it ought to be. If the one it might be criticized as falling short, and if the other it would meet condemnation, perhaps, as going too far in the other direction. The legiti-mate stage has given the public what the vernacular calls the "broad a" for many years, but it remains to be seen whether the talkie could do it and still pack them in at the box office.

The Rev. Mr. Darlington may have made a good suggestion, but one that should be acted upon with reservations. There is just as much danger in the one direction as in the other. Still, it would be wonderful some time to hear a talkie in which the hero and the heroine did not stay "Okay, baby?" and "Oh, sure, okay."

Shot In Breast Boy Rides Home

Norfolk News, December 16: Riding his bicycle half a mile after he had been accidentally shot in the breast, the bullet from a .22 caliber rifle passing within an inch of his heart, was the feat of "iron nerve" accomplished Saturday afternoon by Lester Krueger, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Krueger of Pilger.

The accident happened while Lester and his friend, Robert Vogel, age 13, were shooting sparrows on the Vogel farm one-half mile west of Pilger. When the two boys were attempting to remove a shell which had become stuck in the chamber of the rifle the weapon was discharged, the bullet striking one of young Krueger's ribs and deflecting.

Notwithstanding the considerable pain he was suffering Lester mounted his wheel and rode half a mile to a filling station where a doctor was summoned. He was brought to a Norfolk hospital where he was reported to be improving Monday morning.

Both boys are freshmen in the Pilger high school. Vogel is the son of Mrs. Amelia Vogel.

Tuesday stated that Miss Ehlers' temperature was rising and doctors feared infection. She sustained a fractured skull in the accident and has been unconscious for about 150 hours.

Mrs. Jennie Lamberson, mother of C. A. Lamberson sustained severe bruises to her right limb and side Friday when she slipped on polished floor at the Lamberfirst feared that the right hip was dislocated or broken but examination proved that the injuries were bruising. Mrs. Lamberson is recovering satisfactorily now. She is 82 years old. Another son, C. J. Lamberson, and

Members Of Club Thrifty Workers

Walthill, Neb.—Four-H club youngsters in Thurston county produced farm products and live stock during the year just closed worth in excess of $12,000. While the value of these products is not used as a measuring stick for their achievements, the fact that they produced this quantity of live stock and other products can not be overlooked.

With many of the clubs, such as Room Improvement, Rope and a few others there is no way to place a money value on the achievements, in spite of the fact that excellent work was done.

Ask For Gravel On Federal Road

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 13.—Citing as their objective the laying of gravel by the state on federal highway No. 20 from Sioux City to Randolph, Neb., a delegation of citizens including county commissioners from Dakota, Dixon, Cedar and Pierce counties met here yesterday with State Engineer Roy Cochran.

Cochran informed the delegation that he could not promise that the graveling would be done immediately, because Dakota, Dixon and Cedar counties, those most affected, already have exhausted their share of the state road funds because of an expenditure of $340,000 for grading, culvert work and bridges on the Sioux City-Randolph highway.

He did say, however, that if the federal aid appropriation is increased for the county as a whole as is contemplated, by as much as it would make more funds available for Nebraska and would speed improvements on highway No. 20.

The delegation indicated that it will seek another conference with Cochran in Lincoln.

A signal flashes before a telephone operator... it's your call... to your choice of nearly 25,000,000 telephones... a bell rings, 10 blocks away, in a neighboring city, across the continent... or in Europe... someone takes down the receiver... the voice path is open—you start talking. This is the telephone service you require, the service we aim to provide at all times, to four-fifths of the world's telephones, quickly and at reasonable cost. To provide such service requires nation-wide coordination of methods and apparatus. This is made possible by the Bell System, a nation-wide telephone organization of which this Company is a part. This Company and the other companies of the Bell System require the services of more than 350,000 men and women so as to provide the best possible telephone service.
