J. T. Bressler, Jr., Becomes Banker

Bressler, Jr., was elected director and second vice president, and he will become actively employed in the institution. Other directors to remain the same and John T. Bressler, Jr., as follows: J. H. Ringland, cashier; L. E. McClure, assistant cashier.

John T. Bressler started a private bank at LaPorte fifty years ago and it was the antecedent of the First National bank of Wayne. RADICALISM NOW SUCCEEDED BY A HEALTHY PERIOD

In addressing the Wayne Women's club recently Prof. J. G. W. Lewis reviewed the history of European countries and of the United States since the war, and he predicted that ten years of radicalism would now be followed by a period of healthy conservatism. Immediately succeeding the world conflict came a year of inflation and a glut of prices. The hysteria prevailed, and those who were caught with purchases at extravagant figures were often crushed by the depression that followed. The collapse of values here was in mid contrast with the smash-up in Europe. Recovery which has been attended by ups and downs, has been slow, but as Prof. Lewis points out, stability has been well reestablished and now on a secure foundation, we have good reason to look for dependable values and steady development. Standards of living are uniformly higher than before the war, and therefore demands are greater. To meet new conditions requires larger earnings, and the chance to forge ahead and secure reserve sources for emergencies of extension of interests largely depends on one's willingness to train skills according to the existing economy as needed, and making receipts exceed expenses.

County of Wayne Leads In Nation

Amount of Insurance Written by One Company Exceeds One Million in Year

Wayne county production in 1929, according to records of the Northwestern Mutual life insurance company, was the largest of any county in the United States for the company. The sum of $1,000,000 in insurance has been written by District Agent J. H. Kemp and his associates for the period. Announcement of this record was made this week at the general meeting of agents of the Northwestern Mutual at Omaha, where J. H. Kemp and T. S. Hook of Wayne, Edward Hubbard of Carroll, and Guy Wilson of Wakefield, represented this section.

Mr. Kemp is permanent owner of the silver trophy cup offered in the Application-A-Week club. The year was divided into four periods of thirteen weeks each. Mr. Kemp led in number of applications for two periods, and is thus owner of the trophy. Herman Frickie of Omaha, and G. M. Guthery of Broken Bow, took honors the other periods. Mr. Hook of Wayne, has the honor of belonging to the Application-A-Week club for the three of the four periods he has been in the business.

The men went to Omaha Sunday to attend the insured meeting, returning Tuesday.

Kiwanis Ideals To Be Stressed

Club Program Of Education Is Explained By Trustee Here On Monday.

Extension Plans

President, Secretary and Trustee To Attend District Gathering in Norfolk.

Stressing the living of Kiwanis ideals and the extension of the club work, J. C. Nuss presented to Wayne Kiwanians Monday following their noonday luncheon at Hotel Stratton as aims of the organization the coming year. Mr. Nuss who is district trustee for the Wayne club, attended a meeting at Council Bluffs last Friday and brought home this report.

Ideals of Kiwanis International, which it is hoped each member will live to the letter the coming year, are as follows: To give human and spiritual values primacy; to live the Golden Rule daily; to promote higher social, business and professional standards; to develop a better citizenship by forming enduring friendships; to render altruistic service; to build better communities; and to help build sound public opinion which makes possible increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism and god will.

The other object to be stressed by Kiwanis clubs the coming year is extension, mainly the sponsoring of new clubs in centers that are large enough for them. Wayne has the past year done some of this work in Hastings, Randolph and Wisner.

Divisions of the district will hold meetings next Wednesday to get educational instructions from headquarters. District Trustee Nuss, President J. H. Kemp and Secretary T. S. Hook will represent the Wayne club at the meeting in Norfolk. The Omaha, Fremont, Norfolk, Wayne, Albion, Chadron and Lexington clubs are in this division.

Kiwanians made some plans on Monday for the program held Wednesday for farmers of the vicinity.

Damage Is Done By Blaze Here

Flame Break Out in W. A. Truman Building in Wayne on Thursday Morning.

Fire, which is thought to have started in a defective chimney, damaged the W. A. Truman building, occupied by the R. S. Jeffrey barber shop and the Wayne Cleaners, last Thursday morning about 8 o'clock. Neither firm suffered loss, but the building is in need of considerable repair.

Smoke, first seen by Mr. Rathburn, was pouring from between the ceiling of the barber shop and the floor of an upstairs room. Mr. Rathburn lived in the room over the shop.

C. C. Kilburn had time with the aid of others, to remove everything from his cleaning establishment. He placed his goods in the F. L. Blair building across the street from the Truman building. Mr. Blair plans to erect a fire-proof cleaning room at the back of the structure for his use. Mr. Jeffrey was able to get all of his barber shop fixtures out of the building before they were damaged. He stored his fixtures until he finds a place to reopen.

POSSIBILITY IN SHOWING GROWTH OF PLANT'S LIFE

BY means of new wrinkles in motion pictures which he invented, Dr. Arthur C. Pillsbury of the University of California, showed the growth of plants and flowers at the State Teachers' College here this week. He had taken pictures of the unfolding of a rose and of the growth of roots, and then he speeded up the photographic process so that the development was made easily discernible. The X-ray science is used, and the internal workings of a plant are revealed. By the same process it would seem that the growth of brains and muscles and of the different human organs congregated together for the convenience and welfare of man, could be detected and traced. The mechanism might be carried far enough to reveal one's thoughts if one happened to be thinking. This would be an advantage in uncovering crime plots and bringing criminals to justice. We would suggest to Dr. Pillsbury that he tackle brain cells. He would find great possibilities. Dead or empty cells might be determined, followed by a likely procedure to revive or refill them to the improvement of intelligence, the heightening of wisdom and the general advancement of the race.

State Champion Is County Man

August Biermann Is Honored For Exhibit Of Products In Lincoln Show.

Receives Trophy

Also Places Among the Leaders at International Exposition in Chicago.

Grand championship honors were received last week by August Biermann of Wayne county, on an exhibit of corn-products at the Organized Agriculture show in Lincoln. He received a silver trophy cup for the honor.

Mr. Biermann's display of corn took first in the senior class championship of the ten-year display and grand championship of the show. Besides receiving ribbon for each of these honors, Mr. Biermann was presented the trophy cup.

At the recent international exposition in Chicago, Mr. Biermann entered the same products exhibit which he had at Lincoln and he received a ribbon on it there.

Motion Pictures Of Nature Shown

California Lecturer Shows Films at Wayne College on Development of Life.

Presenting motion pictures of the unfolding of nature, Dr. Arthur C. Pillsbury, physicist and naturalist from the University of California at Berkeley, gave an interesting and instructive lecture at the Wayne State Teachers College Monday evening. By use of special photographic mechanism, which he invented, he has been able to record the unfolding of plants, the growth of cells and other developments in nature. These he magnifies and shows on a screen.

Dr. Pillsbury showed in a few minutes on the screen the entire life struggle of plants and flowers which may have taken months in occurrence. The camera he devised recorded the changes every fifteen minutes. Placed together and used in the motion picture machine, the films give the life record.

World Traveler Speaks To Men

Francis Flood Of Lincoln Tells Group Of His Tour Recently Taken.

Entertain Farmers

Wayne Kiwanians and Other Business Men Have Special Program At Gay Here.

When one compares farming conditions in this country with those in other parts of the world, asserted Francis Flood of Lincoln, world traveler and writer for the Nebraska Farmer, he realizes that this is an especially favored section. Mr. Flood spoke to farmers of this vicinity at the Gay theatre Wednesday afternoon at a program sponsored by Wayne business men and Kiwanians. The address and pictures followed luncheon at the St. Paul Lutheran church, the farmers being guests of the local men.

Advantages and luxuries which people of this country enjoy are the result of generations of progress, Mr. Flood asserted. The tractor, combine and other improvements in machinery used on farms, also the development of automobiles, radios and other things, are the result of a steady progress a desire to improve conditions. To insure a continued development, Mr. Flood stated, people today must adopt new methods and improvements.

On Motorcycle Tour.

In his travels around the world, Mr. Flood visited many countries. He told of conditions in those localities and showed pictures. He and his friend, Jim, left Lincoln for a round-the-world tour by motorcycle. They were gone a year and a half. They went to the Canary islands, across the desert of Africa, over India, then to Calcutta, up to Hong Kong and then to Honolulu and home. Mr. Flood plans a trip to South America this spring. He will leave in April and will visit Brazil, Argentina and other countries about the continent to learn about agricultural conditions. He plans to be away about four months.

Crossing the 2,000 miles of the Sahara desert of Africa on motorcycle, which Mr. Flood and his companion did, is an experience which others have not had. The men went from one French fort to another. Part of the time they were able to ride their cycles in the sand. Other times they had to be pulled by cattle, and at other times one rode a camel and the other the cycle.

The desert is almost too warm for white men, the speaker stated. A spinal pad is worn on the back to guard against rays of the sun, and the head is well shaded.

Primitive Conditions.

Conditions are primitive in Africa though there are missionaries who are teaching the natives religion and education. There are also agricultural experts who are showing them better methods of farming.

Farms in Africa look desolate. Houses are small mud shacks with grass roofs. Many use a short-handled hoe for tilling the ground. Others have been shown how to cut a plow-shaped piece from wood and this they have drawn by oxen. This is one of the improvements in their agriculture. To prepare grain, natives place the crop on the ground

Jury Session Of The District Court Is Held In Wayne County This Week

Julia Sullivan Franks Appeals to Supreme Court on Action Dismissed Here.

Jury session of district court has been held in Wayne county this week with Judge Charles H. Stewart of Norfolk, presiding. Court convened Monday and the jury met Tuesday and Wednesday to hear cases.

In the case of Julia Sullivan Franks vs. Jeremiah Horrigan, et al, the action was dismissed. In the suit Mrs. Franks claimed a share in the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Sullivan. Defendants filed a demurrer saying that the plaintiff's petition stated no cause for action. Defendants alleged that as Mrs. Franks was not legally adopted in the Sullivan family and as she had previously received $75,000 of the estate, she was not entitled to any of the remaining $160,000. About nine relatives and others are defendants in the action. Jeremiah Horrigan is a brother of the late Mrs. Sullivan. Mrs. Franks filed notice of appeal to the supreme court.

The case of George Hofeld vs. the railroad, a suit asking damages on a shipment of cattle, was heard before the jury Tuesday and plaintiff was given a verdict of $57.80. In a shipment of cattle to Omaha in May, 1928, one of the cows in the consignment belonging to Mr. Hofeld, had a broken leg on arriving in Omaha. It was pointed out that the railroad sold the animal to a commission firm for $65, about half of her value. Mr. Hofeld filed suit for damages.

The case of Walter Weber vs. The Transcontinental Oil company was heard before a jury Tuesday and Wednesday.

The suit filed by the Security State Bank of Wakefield vs. Carl Leonard will be heard next Monday. Defendant claims that original and renewal notes are both held against him, rather than just the renewals.

Hearing of the case of the Security State Bank of Wakefield vs. Eph Anderson, et al, suit against directors of the defunct bank, will be brought into district court later.

Robert Johnson was granted divorce, from Maurine Bald Johnson Tuesday in district court.

The case of C. H. Fisher vs. Walter Savidge, suit on mechanics lien, was heard before the jury Tuesday and Wednesday. When C. A. Schultz operated a produce station in one of the Savidge buildings on south Main street, he bought lumber valued at $200 from Mr. Fisher to use for an addition at the back of the building. Savidge took the addition off of the building after Schultz left it. Fisher is holding Savidge for the bill, and Savidge claims he is not liable as he did not authorize the purchase.

Harrison Miller, found guilty in district court several months ago on a charge of grand larceny, was located by the sheriff in Wagner, S. D., and is being held there temporarily. Sheriff A. W. Stephens will bring Mr. Miller here for sentence. Miller took iron and other property from the Chambers farm in the south part of Wayne county.

District winners took part Sunday evening in competition at St. Paul Methodist church in Lincoln. The winner represents the state at the national Anti-Saloon League convention, though all winners in various schools get their free trip to Detroit.

Merrill left Lincoln Tuesday on the Ak-Sar-Ben special with other students for Detroit. He returns the last of this week after the close of the national meeting.

PEOPLE REMEMBER GIANT BLIZZARD IN JANUARY, 1888

WINTER has become rather more outspoken and emphatic this week than usual doubtless in observance of the fortysecond anniversary of the worst blizzard within the memory of oldest inhabitants. It was on January 12, 1888, when the elements resolved themselves into a terrible combination of snow, wind and cold. The storm was particularly devilish in the way it caught teachers and pupils at their tasks. All morning the weather was ideal for January. Little if any fire was needed for comfort, and a bright sun shone from a cloudless sky. It was not until afternoon's duties had been started in school and elsewhere that the storm broke loose. The mercury dropped and a violent gale appeared from the northwest. Fine snow that fell was driven over prairie improvements by trees or other obstructions. Objects were obscured by the churning elements, and people only ventured into the storm as they were forced to do so. Many teachers performed acts of heroism in saving their charges, though some perished in the struggle. Present sheltered prairies and multiplied conveniences would make consequences such as accompanied the storm of 1888 now quite impossible. This week's reminder is gentle in comparison.

Farmers and townspeople get together in Wayne yesterday and were given information of mutual interest to all.

The demand for farm equipment and farm animals is unusually strong according to reports from sales.

The managing editor of the Minnesota Daily, publication of the University of Minnesota, died a hero of the institution by smoking in the college library and got what he deserved when the authorities suspended him for a year.

The passing of Charles A. Carlson, publisher of the Aurora Republican-Register, is a source of profound regret among newspaper men and other acquaintances over the state.

Legs which were made before automobiles for use in getting around are given a chance to develop during bad weather when they are more generally employed to serve their original purpose.

Edward W. Bok, distinguished as editor, author and philanthropist, began early and died early, considering present possibilities for longevity. He was made editor of the Ladies Home Journal at 25 and remained with it for thirty years.

EXTREMES Avoidance of extremes in all things is wholesome and advantageous. Whatever one does, the middle course will serve him best.

A LITTLE DAVID AND HIS GOLIATH! Avoidance of extremes in all things is wholesome and advantageous. Whatever one does, the middle course will serve him best. Often the poor man gives more than he can afford to keep up a false show and make the Joneses think he is a tidal wave of business and social importance.

ing advantage of opportunities. He was precocious and his sound sense, reflected in the columns of the Journal, contributed largely to the popularity and growth of that magazine.

New resolutions every day rather than just at the beginning of the year, would give renewed incentive to insurance and coverage. Opening the day with a determination to surpass the previous day's record to dig deeper into resourcefulness, improve production, give services more generously and unsparingly, and by helpful contacts make life richer and more useful would seem desirable.

From President Hoover's office comes a story of the burdens and trials of the chief executive who is sustained, however, by the assurance that a big majority wish his administration well. It is apparent that there are some who would from selfish motives, have the president fall in his task notwithstanding injury to the country.

With prospect of support from the federal farm board, a great increase in wheat acreage is reported, and the outlook prompts Samuel R. McKelvey, member of the board, to issue a warning that the present farm loan basis holds good only for the present crop. While we do not believe in reducing farm production, we think diversification and extension of markets are necessary to insure demand and take care of surplus.

Sioux City Journal: On showing alone, it is well too early to know what the new year is doing in business. It is the midwinter season, one that usually develops in a lull, almost all lines. The slackness following the holidays is a natural development. Not yet has industry resumed its planned production for the season. Inventories have not been completed, although the bulk of it has been finished. In addition at present there is a cold wave that has spread all over the country, penetrating far into the south. That discourages outside business activity, although it does influence a swifter movement in some lines such as apparel, fuel and food supplies.

The year just ended was one of enormous business activity. The freight car loadings reached the total of 52,789,789, which is the second highest on record. This was an average of more than 1,000,000 cars of revenue freight every week of the year. Yet a few years ago a weekly car loading that went to 1,000,000 cars was considered phenomenal.

In 1928 the record was made that still stands. That year freight car loadings numbered 53,098,819; This was .6 per cent above the total for 1929. Compared with 1928 the loadings last year increased 1,299,902 cars, which was a gain of 2.3 per cent. The 1929 loadings surpassed those of 1927 by 1,153,933 cars, which was an increase of 2.2 per cent. So in volume and value the

HOW TO GET ON. Eugene C. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, believes in doing any task better than the other fellow and doing more of it. He believes that a "healthy mind in a healthy body" and a policy of strictest integrity are prime essentials to success. Confidence is necessary, but it cannot be established without doing everything one agrees to do and doing it on time. Confidence cannot be reared on a basis of evasion or deceit. It rises triumphantly above closest scrutiny and is impervious to any attack. Mr. Grace advises caution in making promises, but stresses the importance of one hundred per cent fulfillment of every pledge. Another wise suggestion is not to waste time in recounting what one has done or what he could have done under other circumstances. He emphasizes the value of looking ahead and executing new plans. Reminiscences are doubtless good in moderation for amusement or comparison, but they should not be allowed to rob time and strength needed for worthwhile achievement. One sometimes figures that he has "arrived," secure in his position, having attained enough to feel safe and content. This self-satisfaction is given a solar plexus by Mr. Grace. He says no one really "arrives," until he checks out, and that any man who thinks he has "arrived," is slipping. He means that no one is secure and that no one should give up interest and suspend activity until he can hear the flutter of celestial wings.

Business transacted in 1929 as shown by the amount of goods shipped by rail closely approached that for 1928, the record year for rail hauls. Possibly, 1929 actually went ahead of 1928 in the amount of goods manufactured, sold and delivered. It must be remembered that in three years truck haulage has been greatly increased. The figures are not available but periodic reports have indicated there was a steady increase. The estimate that the difference of 309,030 cars standing between the loadings for 1926 and 1929 was more than made up by truck haulage. Nineteen twenty-nine went to a new record for new financing in this country. More than $13,000,000,000 was floated in offerings and private subscriptions.

Lincoln Journal. From the Journal files of twenty years ago: "Some of the measures introduced at the request of President Taft were given but scant courtesy by congress."

Observers of current events with short memories are prone to believe that the troubles of Mr. Hoover with the present congress suggestion. Rarely have the policies of the white house been entered into law in their entirety. Every president has had his controversies and it is not strange nor unusual even that Mr. Hoover has his troubles with lawmakers who were elected by the same voters who with some emphasis in their voting indicated what they then wanted done.

Voters like public men may sometimes change their minds but there is little in the present situation to indicate that they have changed their minds greatly since the last election. Adroit statesmen interpret in many ways what the voters said they wanted, but the big fact remains that Hoover policies, announced plainly in the campaign, were emphatically approved and that he has made no change in the policies then announced, and there is no reason to believe the voters have changed their minds. It is possible that some of the rancorous opponents of the president may hear disturbing news from their constituents on election day and that what the voters say finally may not be to their liking. The Hoover stand on relief for agriculture, on law enforcement and on the tariff that should be revised in the interest of agriculture, has not changed. The president is still insisting on these things. A rebuke at the polls for those who are standing in the way of getting what the country has indicated it wants should not come as a surprise. Regardless of argument and interjections of the situation, the final say is with the people who vote and what they want they should indicate at the polls. When they do that none should complain.

P. F. Winter, secretary; and G. P. Lierman, treasurer. The association comprises Wayne, Madison, Pierce and Stanton counties. The company has 1,840 policies and an insurance total of $8,745,386.

Former Student Admitted To Bar. H. Lee Wells, jr., with Harry S. Byrne and Company, Omaha, passed the state bar examination Tuesday, January 7, 1930, and was admitted to practice that afternoon by the supreme court. Mr. Wells recently filed for the state legislature from the Seventeenth district in Omaha. This is of local interest in view of the fact that he was graduated from the Wayne Normal in 1917, just prior to his entrance into the army.

Loss From Fire At Battle Creek. Fire thought to have been started by defective wiring destroyed the Valley bank, two groceries and offices at Battle Creek Tuesday afternoon, the loss being estimated at $30,000. Norfolk and Meadow Grove fire departments assisted in fighting the blaze which was under control Tuesday evening. The grocery stores belonged to W. F. Schaeffer and Ben Marshall, and the offices were those of a dentist, doctor and insurance man.

World Traveler Speaks To Men

(Continued from Page One) and drive cattle over it. This removes the holls. They then sift the grain in hand sieves to remove the chaff. Palm and rubber trees provide crops from which the natives realize. Labor is cheap in Africa. A camel and a native can be hired for a day at 25c, and the native provides food for himself and the animal. Men will work for 3c a day and feed themselves. One-third of the people there are slaves. Much of the freight and passenger travel is done by man power, the natives doing this work very cheaply. In one place the colored people built a bridge of rafts over a river for the traveler. Weave Cloth Used. Men and women in Africa wear clothes made from cloth which they weave. The cotton raised in that country is spun and woven into cloth of crude looms. Bark of trees is used for dyes.

Women in Africa spend much time in making pottery from mud baked in the sun. Such bowls are used for every purpose, washing, cooking, etc. The people eat only twice a day in order that they may be very hungry and eat a great deal. Women spend much time in arranging their hair. They braid it in many ways and they may be seen almost any time of day. Mr. Flood said, engaged in this pastime.

Women carry their children on their backs as they go about their work in the home or field. When twins are born to a family, one is usually fed to crocodiles in order that the other may grow and be strong. Many a native has several wives and many children, and he is master of the family. Treatment of Prisoners. Prisoners in Africa, according to the speaker, are forced to work. A long-term and a short-term are chained together and put out to work. If they run away the short-term must serve the sentence of the other. Mr. Flood told of running out of water and also of being without sufficient gasoline on the desert. Each time they were fortunate enough not to suffer from the lack. Water in the desert is dirty, dark and thick. Mr. Flood explained. It must be strained and boiled before using.

Many natives of Africa had not seen a motorcycle until the white men rode through the country. Gasoline was expensive, though the French government sold it to them at cost, which was $3.60 a gallon. The gas had to be brought by ship to the chancy, sent eleven days up the river to an inland post and then sent forty-five days across the desert to a fort where the men received it.

In the valley of the Nile the travelers found one of the most fertile and productive regions in the world. This little plain about 150 miles by 100 miles is irrigated by water from the Nile. Buckets are used to raise the water from the river and to turn it into the irrigation system.

To India and East. After leaving Africa the traveler went to the Red sea and then across India to Calcutta and then to Hong King. As the men wanted to save money and as it is not permitted a white man to ride on deck, Mr. Flood disguised as a Mohammedan, servant to his companion. First class passage was $110 and deck passage was $20. After three days of eating rice and fish cooked together and being housed with the Returns from the first complete census ever taken in the Catholic diocese of Omaha show that 90,850 members of that church reside in the diocesan boundaries, according to Monsignor James Stenson of Omaha, vicar general of the diocese. Tabulations of reports from the 140 parishes in the twenty-three counties within the diocese was completed Wednesday.

C. S. Mott, right above, multimillionaire vice president of the Union Industrial Bank of Flint, Mich., put up more than $3,500,000 of his personal funds to protect depositors after employees of the bank were charged with using and losing the bank's money on the stock market. Lives Sixty Years In Cuming County

Sixty years in Cuming county is the record of Mrs. Marie Schademman, West Point, who celebrated her nineteenth birthday recently.

Mrs. Schademman came from Prussia, Germany, in 1868, and lived in Fremont a short time before moving to West Point. There she was married to Mr. Schademman who was one of Cuming county's first settlers, having driven to northeast Nebraska from Illinois behind a yoke of oxen in 1857. The log cabin on the Schademman homestead six miles west of West Point is still standing, and Mrs. Schademman now lives on the home place. Other children are Julius, Henry and Martha.

The senior Mr. Schademman was driven from his place on Plum creek three times by Indians. He was also burned out three times. He took part in the engagement of the whites against the Indians in 1859, and served in the United States army until 1863.

Wanted to "Help Out" at Church; Now She Heads Cradle Roll of 186

SALISBURY, N. C., a city of less than 14,000 inhabitants, proudly boasts of the largest Sunday school cradle roll department in the world. It is at St. John's Lutheran Church.

Mrs. J. C. Dunham, guiding spirit behind the organization, has had only three years' experience in this type of religious work and assumed her task "just to help out in the Sunday school" when it had a mere handful of babies. Now she has 186 babies on her roll, all of whom are less than four years of age, and nine department officials, 12 teachers and four assistant teachers who help her in the Sunday morning work.

Mrs. Dunham didn't even think of her department as being anything out of the ordinary until she went to a Sunday school convention some time ago to find out something about how a cradle roll should be run.

Before the convention was over she found that she, who had come to sit at the feet of the more experienced, was making the main address of the period set aside for cradle roll discussion.

Like the old woman who lived in the shoe, Mrs. Dunham gathers her flock of nearly 200 tiny pupils about her every Sunday morning.

Her department takes up the greater portion of the lower floor of the church. There she has a central assembly room done in a cheerful blue and equipped with a piano, baby chairs, Bible scenes, blackboards and tables.

Planning this room are several smaller ones where the children are grouped according to age. They learn Bible stories and are taught to play, sing, draw and cut out pictures.

In the nursery are kiddie-coops, spotted white beds and swinging cradles. On the floor are long rows of pads where babies who are big enough sit perfectly contented in a very nice and comfortable environment, even as a day nursery for mothers who want to be in

A corner of the nursery in the cradle roll department of St. John's Lutheran church, Salisbury, N. C. This room is for the youngest children in the Sunday school, and it also serves as a day nursery so mothers can enjoy their classes or a sermon in another part of the building.

Adult Bible classes of at preaching services later.

For mothers who have very small children and who are not content to leave them in a special Bible class for mothers has been organized in connection with the cradle roll department. Here mothers sit with their babies in their laps while they hear the day's lesson.

Baptisms are conducted in the cradle roll department in the presence of parents and the other little children. Every infant and all of the children in the department who have reached the age of 5 are pro-noted to the beginners' department and ceremonies. Each child is given a certificate.

Mrs. Dunham says the greatest difficulty she has in her work is handling the mothers. One of her can't handle the children fine when they are brought to the door of the department and turned over to us. The biggest babies we come in contact with though are the mothers. A future development will have to be along the line of furnishing some form of entertainment to divert the mothers' attention for they are our more serious problem."

Salem Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. A. Martin, Pastor) The Ladies' Aid will meet this Thursday afternoon at 2:30. It will be necessary to meet a little later than usual because the funeral of John Baker will be held in our church at 1:30. The ladies will kindly come and remain until we can gather for the meeting.

Friday evening the Martha society will meet in the church parlors.

Market Report

Furnished by Steele, Sims & Co., Sioux City Stock Yards.

Bearishness ruled the stock markets on the first day of the week with declines extensive in some instances in all departments of the trade. However, a reversal was noted on the second session when a storm weather market prevailed. Cattle recovered Monday's weakness, hogs moved to the highest level in three months, while no improvement was noted in the sheep trade.

Thirteen leading markets of the country received 113,000 cattle on the first two days of the week, about the same as the like days last week. Local receipts showed a falling off. Beef steers and yearlings moved slowly at weak to lower prices on the opening trade, but good activity and strength ruled on the opening day. Snow storms and cold weather were reported throughout the middle of the trading light receipts the first of the week, bringing improvement in the market. Advances may be scored on later days of the week.

Yearlings continued in better demand than the weighty steers, as usual. Desirable grades of all weights sold at $13.00 to $14.00 this week and no choice kinds were included to bring $15.00 or better. Heavy bullocks topped at $13.75. Bulk of the run sold at $10.50 to 12.50 with plain weaned pups at less money.

Butcher stock eased off on the initial session along with steers, but prices strengthened Tuesday to a basis about even with the close of last week. Most of the heifers sold at $10.00 to $11.50 with a few higher and lower than this range. Bulk of the cows brought $7.00 to $8.00 with choice heavyducers above $10.00. A fewanners and cutters ranged at $5.00 to 6.00.

Bulls were in broad demand and prices were strong to a quarter higher. Majority of the medium sausage grades cashed at $8.00 to 8.50 with heavy beef bulls topping at $9.00. Veals carried a firm undertone with the best light weights at $13.00. Stockers and feeders were received in light numbers, but this was good for the trade as demands were rather narrow. Unfavorable weather conditions worked against the market. Desirable grades were scarce and prices ruled about steady while weakness was noted on the plain kinds.

Many sales were made at $10 to $11.00 with a few fleshy feeders at $11.25, yearlings at $11.70 and calves at $12.00. Feeding heifers topped at $10.25 and cows at $7.25.

Hog receipts totaled 24,000 at the 35 main markets on Monday and Tuesday, 62,000 short of the sum for the first two days last week and 91,000 less than the number received the corresponding period a year ago.

Trade opened lover on the initial session but closed active and steady. With light receipts on the second day and prospects of short runs, the rest of the week, the market bounded up sharply to the highest level since last fall. Prices on Tuesday were 55 to 50c higher than the close of last week.

Tops reached $9.75 with bulk of the desirable 180 to 250 pounders at $9.60 to 9.65 to all buyers. Stronger weights ranged down to $9.50 and under along with some of the less desirable finished butchers of other weights. Sows moved at $8.00 to 8.60 and stags at $7.00 to 7.75. Pigs advanced to top at $9.50.

Sheep receipts amounted to 119,000 at the 13 principal markets on the first two days, 8,000 less than the previous Monday and Tuesday.

In spite of the moderate receipts, lambs took a big decline of 25 to 50c and more. The top was $13.00 for choice light best-ewes and $12.75 for native. Ewes were quoted steady with the top at $6.75.

Highest Bridge in the World

Here's the site of the highest bridge in the world, which is to span the Royal Gorge in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado, more than 2000 feet—or nearly a fifth of a mile—above the Arkansas river that flows in the bed of the canyon. Engineers planned a suspension bridge supported by giant wire cables and wide enough for two autos to pass in the middle of the span.

About Nebraska and Nebraskans

Will M. Maupin.

Two cities in Nebraska are now served by street railways, Omaha and Lincoln. This is five fewer street railways than Nebraska boasted 40 years ago, and less.

Perhaps it would be better to say five fewer cities, for there was a time when Lincoln had two street railway systems and Hastings had two. Kearney may boast of being the first city in Nebraska to be served wholly by electric cars. But Omaha was the first to have electric cars, and indeed was the first city in the United States to be so equipped.

The first street car system in Nebraska was of course in Omaha, and its motive power was furnished by mules. Indeed, the old law or ordinance compelling the street railway systems of Omaha and Lincoln to pay for the paving between the rails is a relic of the old mule-power days. Lincoln was the first Nebraska town to seek other than mule power, and for a time a portion of the city was served by a line that actually used a coal burning locomotive.

But John Fitzgerald, who installed the snorting, smoking, erratic locomotives had to give them up for various reasons, the chief ones being that they caused too many runaways and ruined too many washings hung out to dry. It being too much to ask of mules that they haul cars up the steep hills, when the electric motor was really made serviceable the cable lines disappeared.

Kearney had several miles of electric street railway in 1890, and the line was operated for two or three years, two cars being in service. With the collapse of the boom, however, the service was abandoned and the rails taken up.

Lincoln relied on mule power, as late as 1893, and later had two electric street railway systems. They were finally merged.

A mule power line was operated in Red Cloud for several years. It kept in operation until the automobile became common. A stock joke in Red Cloud for many years went something like this: "Why did they build the depot so far from town?" "Because they wanted it close to the railroad."

The point of the joke, if any, was that it was a mile or more from the depot to uptown Red Cloud, and the mule power line was in its day a great convenience.

Much the same situation existed in Nebraska City, where a mule power line connected the Burlington depot with the business section. Hastings had two mule power lines as early as 1899. Together the two companies had about 14 miles of rails. Both companies went broke and service was abandoned in a few years. Fremont had a short mule power line for a year or two.

About 25 years ago a comparison projected an interurban electric line between Omaha, Lincoln and Beatrice, and the project was incorporated under that name. The right-of-way between Omaha and Lincoln was purchased and graded, and rails laid from Lincoln to University Place. Financial difficulties overtook the company and the line was never completed. The right-of-way between University Place and Omaha has reverted to the original owners. The automobile has put an end to the building of interurban electric lines, and the bus has practically put a stop to the extension of street railway service.

The dream of a north and south railroad across Nebraska has persisted for many years. As long ago as 1890 a meeting was held at the state house in Lincoln by men, most of them affiliated with the populist party, for the purpose of organizing a company to build a railroad from Winnipeg to the Gulf. One of the promoters was "Cyclone" Davis of Texas. Another was Senator Pfeffer of Kansas. About 100 delegates from the states to be traversed by the great north and south railroad were present. It is doubtful if the whole assembly could have raised $5,000. But the road was to be built by subscriptions from farmers who were determined to break the "railroad monopoly."

Only that one meeting was held in Nebraska, although several meetings were held in other states. After the Lincoln meeting was over one interested spectator remarked: "Well, all those fellows need to do is get the right-of-way and lay the rails. They've got enough wheels in their heads to provide the rolling stock."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pierson of Minden, Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Scott of Gering, and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Bennett of St. Edward were among those who celebrated their golden weddings within the past two or three weeks.

Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, 90, died at her home in Schuyler recently, where she had lived for 44 years. She was born in Pennsylvania, and before her marriage in 1869 served as postmistress at Water-side, Pa., by appointment of President Lincoln.

The county seat fight between Gandy and Stapleton has been decided in favor of Stapleton by the supreme court. Gaddy was the original county seat, but when the Union Pacific branch from Kearney to Galloway was extended to Stapleton it missed Gaddy by about a mile and a half. Once there Stapleton won in a county seat election, but the election was voided because it was shown that Stapleton had promised to erect a new court house at local expense. This time Stapleton avoided that mistake, stating that the old frame court-house at Gandy would be moved in case of victory.

Black Comes Into Its Own; Fashion Approves It—Now for Sports Wear

BY HARRIET

THE black, but not all black, costume is having a tremendous vogue right now.

In a season of changing fashions and many plain and figured colors, there is a satisfaction in black that explains this vogue.

The return of lingerie touches does its bit to advance the case of black, too. For what is lovelier than a black, gown of good line and fabric, pointed up to chic by a real lace jabot or vestee and cuffs?

Black as a sports color has not had much of a vogue of recent years. This winter, however, skating and skiing things and some of the Palm Beach collections feature black replicas of the outstanding materials when contrasted by jacket or accessories of other tones.

THE all-black frock for daytime wear demands some kind of effective jewelry. More often than not it is a brooch that has the right note of luxury on it. Pearls are no longer sufficient to set off an all-black dress. It really needs some more unusual type of jewelry.

That, probably, is the reason the figured blacks or the blacks with touches of pale pink, off-white, blue green and even bright royal blue are the choices.

Of figured blacks, the polka-dotted velvet with beige or green in its dot, is one of the favorites. Bernard and Company have fashioned a lovely Sunday evening frock of black chiffon velvet with beige polka dots.

The fullness in the skirt comes by the new route, molded fullness. There is a low flounce on the skirt and there is a high flounce that lets its fullness in by way of glets.

The bodice blouse is slightly above a tight waistline, above the fitted hips and the sleeves are long and tight.

The piece de resistance of this charming little frock is the real Venise lace that makes a little set in yoke and flaring cuffs above a tight sleeve cuff. The proper headgear for this little frock is a black velvet turban, with a little jeweled hairpin, low on one side of the head, flared-back brim. Plain black doekin opera pumps are worn with it, bound in black kid.

There is something prophetic of spring in this little suit. For the jacket theme promises to be a spring song this year and the frock made of two colors, with the jacket repeating the blouse's fabric and brooding it.

This jaunty little suit at the left has a black rep skirt. The rest of the dress and the short, loose jacket are of beige silk. The frock is collarless and finished off with a bow scarf in black. The Sunday evening frock at the right is of black chiffon velvet trimmed with point de Venise lace.

For sheer jauntness, Nicole Groult has made a little jacket suit, consisting of a black rep skirt, with attached beige blouse and short jacket of the beige rep, embroidered in black and finished by a black satin scarf that ties in a bow under the chin.

There is something prophetic of spring in this little suit. For the jacket theme promises to be a spring song this year and the frock made of two colors, with the jacket repeating the blouse's fabric and brooding it.

President-Elect of Mexico and Family

Heat, Not Cold, Bothers Fur Trappers; Louisiana's Pelts Exceed Canada's

THE popular conception that furs grace milady's shoulders at the cost of long treks through barren icelands has been shattered.

For the semi-tropical state of Louisiana, far away from the snow and ice and Arctic winds, produces more fur pelts than all the provinces and territories of Canada, with Alaska's catch thrown in for good measure.

As astounding as it may seem, the Pelican state has a yearly output of more than $3,000,000 in such pelts as the mink, muskrat, and the otter. New Orleans itself was founded more than 200 years ago as a fur-trading post.

Today, an army of 12,000 Cajun trappers, descendants of the original French adventurers, are busy in the swamps, marshes, woods and fields attempting to surpass last year's output of 5,922,070 furs.

The 1929-30 fur trapping season opened Nov. 6, and will continue for 75 days. After Feb. 5, agents of the department of conservation will follow the trails and trap the trappers who persist in taking the fur animals.

LOUISIANA'S record as a great fur-trapping region was re-validated Dec. 6 when the trappers, fur-hand owners and others in the industry, in appreciation of what President Hoover has done to make the Mississippi river safe, presented Mrs. Hoover with a silver muskrat coat made exclusively from Louisiana pelts. Various trappers contributed one pelt each.

One of the principal reasons for the importance of Louisiana in the fur markets is that it still has millions of acres of virgin marshland and swamps, favorite habitat of such fur animals as otter, mink, raccoon, opossum, weasel,

Hoos given a large part of the credit for building up the Louisiana fur industry to the important place it occupies today.

The $8,526,740 fur crop in Louisiana last year consisted of: Muskrats, 5,105,374; opossums, 518,295; raccoons, 153,924; minks, 99,844; skunks, 31,964; spotted-skunks (divet cats), 2797; otters, 1048; wild cats, 365; foxes, 178; miscellaneous, 254; or a total of 5,922,070.

The total Canadian catch as furnished by the Dominion Bureau of statistics, fur branches, was 3,592,700, which goes to prove that your fur coat may have come from Louisiana's marshes instead of from the Arctic.

TENNIS CHANCES OF U. S. BRIGHTER WITH WITHDRAWAL OF LACOSTE; NEW BASKETBALL "NO-TIP" RULE FINDS FAVOR AMONG THE FANS

BY PHILIP MARTIN

WHILE the United States may suffer in the absence of William T. Tilden; from the Davis Cup tennis team for 1930, there is solace in the word that comes from France that Rene Lacoste will be missing from the French team for the second straight year.

Withdrawal of Lacoste shouldn't be taken to mean that French domination will end immediately. However, it is encouraging to our young American players to know that they have only to develop the skill to win from Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra to regain the United States' lost tennis laurels.

Three reasons are advanced for Lacoste's retirement from the game. One is ill health; another is marriage; the third is business. These same three reasons have forced retirement on many other nationally known stars of the sports world.

Just as Tilden carried the burden of U. S. tennis for many years, it appears that Cochet must occupy the role of Atlas with the tennis world of France on his shoulders. One or two seasons in that capacity will find the French ace at the end of his career, just as surely as we had Big Bill used up by reason of his heavy burden.

Cochet barely was able to carry the French colors to victory in the challenge round last summer. He was forced to extend himself to the limit to defeat our George

Lott for his team's slender 3-2 victory margin. With Borotra in the doubles he was beaten by the U. S. pair.

THE "no-tip" idea in intercollegiate and interscholastic basketball apparently is meeting with great favor in all communities of the middle west where the court game holds sway from Thanksgiving Day until April 1. Almost every section has seen at least one game with elimination of the jump ball at center, or will see it before the season ends. The majority find that the game is speeded up by the plan.

Each member of the Western Conference has played one game this season under the new plan of having the ball put in play by the team scored upon from a spot under its own goal.

One hundred coaches gathered recently to watch a game played with the "no-tip" plan in use at Independence, Kan., a state where thousands enjoy basketball above all other sports. All voted their approval of the plan.

The proposed amendment to the cage rules is all in the favor of the spectator. It assures a faster game, with elimination of the time required to bring the ball back to the center of the court for the toss-up by the official. It takes away the huge advantage of a team boasting an elongated center who can tip the ball to his mates and give them possession of the ball at the start of every play.

Henri Cochet, above, and Rene Lacoste, below, who will be missing from the French tennis team for the second straight year.

Luncheon was served by Miss Flora Staple and Mrs. Mabel Holloway.
With Mrs. F. S. Berry.
Members of the Minerva club and one guest, Miss Aradiah Conn, were entertained Monday at the home of Mrs. F. S. Berry. Prof. G. W. Lewis gave an instructive talk, reviewing the past ten years in European history. By use of maps and outlines Prof. Lewis showed the changes in the European countries since the treaty of Versailles. He told what various nations are doing to re-establish themselves. Prof. Lewis emphasized the fact that history swings from radicalism to conservatism and that he believes the world is now emerging from a post-war depression to a better period. Frederick Berry sang "By the Bend of the River," by Edwards, and "Duna," by McGill, playing his own piano accompaniment. He responded to an encore. Mrs. Berry served a two-course luncheon. The club meets January 27 with Mrs. E. W. Huse and each will present a number on an original program.

Wayne Woman's Club.
Members of the Wayne Woman's club and guests, Mrs. Ray Robinson, Mrs. Dave Bahde, Miss Esther Dewitz, Mrs. C. Heidenreich, Mrs. Jason Gorst of Worland, Wyo., Mrs. C. W. Wendt and Mrs. Harry McMillan, were entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. J. Lund with Mrs. Lund, Mrs. A. McEachen, Mrs. Ellen Armstrong and Mrs. N. J. Juhlin as hostesses. "The Structure of the Home" was the subject of the study and this was taken up from the mental, moral and physical angles. Mrs. R. W.

Casper had a paper on the mental development. She stressed the fact that the training of children should begin in very early life, and that as a child develops under careful training in the home he is better fitted for school later. Early training is fundamental to the entire life.
Mrs. G. W. Crossland discussed the rural side of the home. She cited facts to show that the old plan of teaching children to be seen and not heard is not the method today for outspoken ideas and individual training. Unlike most speakers on the subject of building an ideal home life, Mrs. Crossland said she had no new plans for moral training. The best way is God's way and there is a working model, a solution for every one of life's problems.
Miss Esther Dewitz spoke on the third phase of the topic, the physical welfare in the home. Physical perfection is the foundation for a successful and happy life, she said. By use of charts Miss Dewitz brought to her hearers the program of physical training she uses in her teaching at the college. She showed herself a craftsman in modeling physical perfection.
The hostesses served at the close of the afternoon. The club meets January 24 with Mrs. Nettie Call.

JANUARY

AHERN'S

Sometimes people think that clearance apparel is undesirable—that it has no claim to smartness. But just the opposite is true of the 48 coats and 64 dresses we will sell during this January Clearance of Ready-to-Wear. Most beautifully, most smartly, they tell of the winter's mode. They are garments that but yesterday were selling for twice the price.

They are not special coats bought for a January Clearing Sale—marked at very high prices and then reduced one-half to make them appear as great bargains.

They are our regular stock—the prices are exactly as marked all season—and you are asked to pay just one-half this regular price.

Clara Bow Comes In Talking Film

Clara Bow will be seen and heard in her third all-talking picture when "The Saturday Night Kid" opens at the Gay theatre for a two-day run beginning on Sunday next.

Those who have previewed this picture say that it provides a character even more fitted to the framing Bow personality than those of "The Wild Party" or "Dangerous Curves."

The plot is based on the life of sloop girls, floor-walkers and personnel managers in a big department store.

James Hall, who played opposite Clara in "The Fleet's In" and who was more recently seen in "Laughing Irish Eyes," has the leading male supporting role in "The Saturday Night Kid," that of the young sales clerk who makes good as a floorwalker.

So-Long-Letty.

Charlotte Greenwood needs no introduction for she is identified with the character of Letty wherever there is a stage—she played it four years straight. She is funnier than ever in this Vitaphone version of "So Long-Letty." Her singing and clowning are sure laugh producers. This will be shown at the Gay next week, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Nebraska Woman Is Master Farmer

When the medals for distinguished service in agriculture are being passed out, Miss Charlotte F. Worley, owner and operator of one of Nebraska's largest farms, and also deputy the federal census bureau that here is one woman who has an occupation.

Miss Worley became a farmer by necessity. When her mother's estate of 1800 acres of land was jeopardized by falling prices after the close of the war, Miss Worley resigned her job as school teacher and became a farm manager. She bought for herself 1200 acres of land against the advice of bankers and business friends. Last year the last mortgage was burned and the successful farm manager is able to survey with some complacency a record of industry and achievement that shames the business sagacity and extensive experience of men farmers of her neighborhood.

Miss Worley manages her farm activities and employs men hands. Her extensive lands are cultivated, planted and harvested under her personal direction. She has reduced all farm work to a close system. The books of this master farmer for 1929 show these yields: Corn, 240 acres, 4200 bushels; oats, 200 acres, 6000 bushels; potatoes, 275 acres, 42,250 bushels; wheat, 1650 acres, 32,000 bushels; alfalfa, 300 acres, crop fed on the farm; hay, 100 acres, crop used on the farm; pigging, 400 acres, hogs, 180 head, bringing an average of $20 each; horses, 80 head, cattle, 60 head.

Miss Worley's farm is located near Alliance and her records prove the versatility of the soil in that section of large farms and extensive yields.

Omaha World-Herald: "Beauty, nobility, joy and fun" are to be found in warfare, as Brigadier General Matt Timley of Council Bluffs observed the other day.

There is nobility in the soldier's sacrifice of all he holds most dear, even to life itself, for the sake of a cause. There is nobility in the mother giving her son.

There is beauty in the friendships that are born on the battlefield and in camp.

There is joy in the strength to be found in a united nation, and there is the fierce and brutal joy of conquest.

There is fun in the hard, physical exercise in the open air, in developing muscles, in discovering strength, in going on leave to strange towns, in having admirers salute the uniform.

There is this to be said of warfare, too, that it gives to many men and many women almost their only opportunity to shake off the shackles of drudgery, to find a new excuse for living, to reach for a moment of glory, and to find exciting adventure.

But that is about all there is to the beauty, nobility, fun and joy in war. Weighed on the scale against these are the intolerable miseries and horrors of organized slaughter.

Of the ugliness of war is the scheming of commercial interests for gain, and the plots of diplomats for national advantage.

Of the horror of war is the death and suffering from wound disease, and the long years of helplessness of men maimed and blinded.

Of the cruelty of war is the crushing of hope and slaughter of idealism when men are forced to resort to dirty tactics to achieve victory.

The very nature of warfare is bad. Its ultimate demand is the death of the enemy. Its final goal is murder. True, it is murder on a large scale, and sanctioned by long usage and international law, but it is murder.

And because it is murder the peoples of the world are beginning to count everything else in war as nothing. They are trying to end it forever.

There is joy in the strength to be found in a united nation, and there is the fierce and brutal joy of conquest.

There is fun in the hard, physical exercise in the open air, in developing muscles, in discovering strength, in going on leave to strange towns, in having admirers salute the uniform.

There is this to be said of warfare, too, that it gives to many men and many women almost their only opportunity to shake off the shackles of drudgery, to find a new excuse for living, to reach for a moment of glory, and to find exciting adventure.

But that is about all there is to the beauty, nobility, fun and joy in war. Weighed on the scale against these are the intolerable miseries and horrors of organized slaughter.

Of the ugliness of war is the scheming of commercial interests for gain, and the plots of diplomats for national advantage.

Of the horror of war is the death and suffering from wound disease, and the long years of helplessness of men maimed and blinded.

Of the cruelty of war is the crushing of hope and slaughter of idealism when men are forced to resort to dirty tactics to achieve victory.

The very nature of warfare is bad. Its ultimate demand is the death of the enemy. Its final goal is murder. True, it is murder on a large scale, and sanctioned by long usage and international law, but it is murder.

And because it is murder the peoples of the world are beginning to count everything else in war as nothing. They are trying to end it forever.

Beauty in War."

Omaha World-Herald: "Beauty, nobility, joy and fun" are to be found in warfare, as Brigadier General Matt Timley of Council Bluffs observed the other day.

There is nobility in the soldier's sacrifice of all he holds most dear, even to life itself, for the sake of a cause. There is nobility in the mother giving her son.

There is beauty in the friendships that are born on the battlefield and in camp.

There is joy in the strength to be found in a united nation, and there is the fierce and brutal joy of conquest.

There is fun in the hard, physical exercise in the open air, in developing muscles, in discovering strength, in going on leave to strange towns, in having admirers salute the uniform.

There is this to be said of warfare, too, that it gives to many men and many women almost their only opportunity to shake off the shackles of drudgery, to find a new excuse for living, to reach for a moment of glory, and to find exciting adventure.

But that is about all there is to the beauty, nobility, fun and joy in war. Weighed on the scale against these are the intolerable miseries and horrors of organized slaughter.

Miss Laura Lyons Writes From West

Miss Laura Lyons writes to Herald readers from Long Beach, Calif., January 3 as follows: "My first letter of the year is to express best wishes to Herald readers. I met Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Chase one day. We happened to get on the same bus. They had just been to see Mrs. Mae Chase Miller who is ill. I do not see the Wayne people very often, except Mrs. Alice Ley who is well. "The weather has been ideal this fall. We had no winter rain except in September and it was badly needed. The whole coast is in need of moisture and the northern states have had some. "Long Beach was decorated beautifully at the holiday season. Gardens, electrically lighted, were strung from dornier to corner on sixteen blocks. Evergreens at corners and sixty of them in Lincoln park were all illuminated and made a beautiful spectacle. "The Rainbow pier is not quite completed. Cement is yet to be put in on the rock wall enclosing the still-water in the center of the auditorium fill. The harbor is being dredged, the sand pits for about two miles being forced through large pipes to make the foundation. "The rose tournament in Pasadena this year was exceptionally fine, it is reported. Long Beach had two floats, the Legion and municipal band. "It was my privilege to accompany representatives of the Women's Relief corps to the county farm and present Christmas gifts to several of the occupants. The women's organization, also the G. A. R., held installation yesterday. It is very impressive to see the hundred aged comrades and hear their talks on patriotism. "Friends took me to San Pedro recently to see the gradual sliding of six acres of Point Fermin. It is not as perceptible as previously. We drove around nearest the wide crack which is twenty-five feet deep and could see down into the gorge where it was being filled up. A policeman whistled for us to get away. Several places of business are opening again though there is a large space still prohibited to even walk over. "A Henry Ford manufacturing plant is being constructed in Long Beach harbor district, employing 400 men. There is also a new factory which turns out 100 dozen overalls daily. A new federal building is promised this year as postal receipts are over $687,000 and present quarters are inadequate. During the holidays there were four deliveries of mail daily besides the use of big trucks and many extra automobiles for parcels."

Narrowly Escapes Death

Creston, Neb.—Joe Goldfein, Norfolk merchant, narrowly escaped severe burns and probable death when his automobile suddenly caught fire 15 miles north of here Thursday. Goldfein was driving toward Creston when the floorboards of his car burst into flames, but he escaped by quickly slowing down and leaping from the car while it was running. The car burned for two hours, only the front tires remaining at 5 p. m.

The impression grows that the three R's that are taught nowadays are Rah, Rah, Rah—Virginian-Pilot.

About Nebraska and Nebraskans

Will M. Maupin.

The McCook Republican, published by G. W. Barnes since 1888, entered upon its 50th year with the last issue in December. The newspaper is a combination of the Indianapolis Courier, established by George S. Bishop, in January, 1880; the Times, established by Watkins Bros. in 1885; and the McCook Democrat, established by Thompson & Wahlquist in 1885. Mr. Barnes purchased the Times in 1898 and the Democrat in 1900, moving them to McCook and consolidating them as the Times-Democrat. He purchased the Courier and soon had consolidated all three papers under the name of McCook Republican.

When the Indianapolis Courier was established by Mr. Bishop in 1880 there was no McCook. It was the first newspaper between Arapahoe and Denver. There was a postoffice in a small house on the bank of the Republican river, now "South McCook." There was no railroad between Hastings and Oxford Junction at that time; the Burlington running its Omaha-Denver trains via Hastings and Red Cloud. All this means that since Editor Barnes entered the newspaper field in that section, in 1888, almost 42 years ago, he has seen the marvelous development of southwestern Nebraska, and been a factor in that development while chronicling it.

Charles Carlson, editor and publisher of the Aurora Republican, with which the Aurora Register was combined something less than a year ago, died at his home a few hours before the bells rang in the year 1930. He had been in failing health for several months, and while death was not unexpected it came as a great shock to his wide circle of friends. He had been engaged in the newspaper business in Aurora for a quarter of a century, associated with Clark Perkins, and later with Joe M. Alden, now director of publicity. He is survived by his wife and five children.

Dr. and Mrs. Tabbot celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Dec. 25. Mr. and Mrs. Tabbot came to Custer county from Illinois in 1870, homesteading near Delwyn. In 1884 Dr. Tabbot was elected treasurer of Custer county and moved to Broken Bow, where he has since resided. Dr. Tabbot is a veteran of the Civil war, having served in the 132d Indiana Infantry.

Next Sunday, Jan. 12, will be the 42d anniversary of the "big blizzard" of 1888. It was the last of the really severe state-wide storms, and its death toll, human and animal, would have been far less had conditions then been as they are now. Ever since that memorable storm any little snow flurry in Nebraska develops into a "raging blizzard" in the news rooms of eastern daily papers, the same being provided by Nebraska "newspaper string fiends" who are willing to falsify conditions in their state in order to earn a little bit by "space writing."

The Loup Valley Press Association will meet in Hastings Jan. 23, at which time it will assist in the organization of a new district press association in south Nebraska.

Priscilla, 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Maupin and the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Will Maupin, died at Salt Lake City on Dec. 30, after a long illness. She was born in Baggs, Wyo. The remains were cremated at Denver on Jan. 3.

The first published passenger tariff of the Union Pacific railroad showed a rate of $15.35 from Omaha to Grand Island, or 19 cents a mile. The tariff was published July 16, 1866, at which time trains were running only as far west as Grand Island.

The original Nebraska Territory was bounded on the north by the 49th parallel of latitude, the south boundary of the British possessions; on the east by White river, from the 49th parallel south to the mouth of that river, thence southward by the Missouri river, on the south to the north line of Kansas, or 40th parallel of latitude, and on the west by the summit of the Rocky Mountains. The first change was the organization of what is now Colorado. The organic act of Dakota was the second change, at which time portions of Utah and Washington were added to Nebraska Territory. The next change was the organic act of Idaho. The last change took place in 1882, when by act of congress the territory lying between the Missouri river and the Niobrara river, as far west as the mouth of the Keya Paha river, and as far north as the 43d parallel of latitude, was taken away from Dakota and added to Nebraska.

The first United States fort erected in Nebraska was Fort Atkinson, established in 1819. It was located on what was known as the Council Bluffs, a high bluff overlooking the Missouri river a short distance north of the present village of Calhoun. The fort was abandoned in 1827.

Drivers of automobiles who secure drivers' licenses from now on, will have to pass a written examination, and their papers will be graded by the county treasurers. D. G. McAllister of Lincoln, head of the state license bureau, has prepared a list of 18 questions which applicants must endeavor to answer, and upon their ability to do so depends their ability to secure licenses.

Mrs. Margaret Calhoun, 81, died at her home in Coleridge, Dec. 31. She had lived in Nebraska since 1864, coming to Richardson county from St. Louis only a few days, later moving to Keya Paha and Cedar counties.

To Keep School Money. West Point, Neb., Jan. 8.—County Treasurer Ben F. Graunke has been advised by Attorney General Sorenson to keep school moneys credited to districts in Cuming county in which no public school is operated. Districts 10, 23, 26, 42, 38 and two have been closed 10 years or longer and are unlikely to open again because parochial schools are operated in the district. State apportionment is allowed to the districts that maintain a nine-month school, or to the districts that pay transportation or tuition to other districts.

Sorenson advises that the money should be kept until the districts call for it, there being a possibility of a demand for the money in the future.

Sargon's Fame Spreads Over Entire World

People of This Country Sending Famous Medicine to Relatives and Friends in England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Canal Zone, Norway, Sweden, Cuba and Many Other Distant Lands. If you had found a medicine that was of such benefit to you that you would go to the trouble of sending it to relatives and friends in distant countries, you would have to be convinced in your own mind that it possessed real merit, wouldn't you? That's just what thousands of people throughout the United States have been doing with Sargon. From all over America and wherever Sargon has been introduced, thousands of letters have been received from grateful users telling of the gratifying results that have been accomplished by this celebrated medicine. THOUSANDS EXPRESS GRATITUDE On November 27, a letter dated November 23, was received at the Sargon offices advising that in one week one drug firm alone had received orders for Sargon to be shipped to Cavite, Philippine Islands; Coca-Solo, Canal Zone; Belebroke Ireland; and Paris, France. Only recently a well-known resident of Denver, Colorado, who had been restored to health by Sargon, sent a full treatment to London, England, to his sister, who is the wife of an executive of one of the greatest retail drug firms in the British Empire. During the past month there appeared in the Toronto paper the statement of a well-known World War veteran whose health had been greatly impaired while in the service, who stated among other things, that he owed his restoration to health to two bottles of Sargon sent him by a friend in Minneapolis. LETTERS RECEIVED FROM THE NORTHWEST From the Northwest, many letters of this kind have been received advising that users of Sargon are sending it to relatives back in their old countries of Norway and Sweden. Many such letters and endorsements have been received from men of prominence, including former governors, business and professional men, mayors, state and county officials, and even ministers of the Gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell what Sargon has done for them. These are only a few of thousands of such cases and not a day nor a week passes that does not bring hundreds of statements from the people concerning the good this medicine is doing, and reciting case after case that would convince the most skeptical. Sargon's fame is built on actual results—not empty promises, and only those who have put it to the test know its real powers. Sargon's aim is not mere temporary relief, but new and abundant health. No wonder it is now called the medicine with a million friends. Felber's Pharmacy, Wayne.
