He says the way to strengthen and advance rural life is to apply latest methods to farming and merchandising. In town he thinks a community club, including all local business interests, freely participated in by all, and forward on the high road, would be valuable in extending and enlarging trade relations. He would sheathe knives and bury tomahawks, pointing out differences that stand in the way of turning to advantage the many and marked bargains in the world's commodities. ## MILD FEBRUARY MAY MEAN EARLY SPRING SEASON

IT is recalled that not since 1913 had high temperatures in February equaled those of the past few weeks. Windows and doors have been opened, heavy clothing has been reduced and little fire has been necessary for comfort. If mild elements, now prevailing, mean early spring without any later filtrations with zero, we may well rejoice over the prospect. Farmers will be able to do their spring work and get everything into readiness for early plowing and planting. An early spring will bring early activity into the field of building and will stimulate all business and industrial lines. Contemplated improvements will be started and pushed along with the impetus of unusual favor. In fifty years we remember one gentle February that was not followed by an ugly March, and this may be another one; We would vote against any interference from Old Bores.

County Pioneer Dies On Friday

John McGuire of Wakefield, Passes At Advanced Age After An Injury.

Here Sixty Years

Deceased Came to Homestead in Leslie Precinct Before Prairie Was Developed.

John McGuire

John McGuire, aged 89 years, 1 month and 22 days. Mr. McGuire was accidentally struck by a car while crossing Wakefield Main street a week before and he was unable to recover from the shock. Funeral services were conducted from the Wakefield Methodist church Monday afternoon with Rev. W. T. Taylor in charge. Interment was made in the Wakefield cemetery.

Wayne county was not organized in 1839 and it was here practically independent when Mr. McGuire came to this section, liked the country and decided to locate here. Indians were still numerous on the prairies. One man was scaped by a band of warriors in Mr. McGuire's neighborhood, and it was necessary to keep an axe or other protection convenient in homes at night.

Mr. McGuire loved nature and the out of doors. He spent more time in bad weather caring for his stock than in good for he knew the animals needed it more. Mr. McGuire always had a craving to be out of doors and especially so in bad weather, even to his last illness.

Pioneer days were hard and Mr. and Mrs. McGuire experienced trials and pleasures of the early period. Mr. McGuire brought lumber to his home from Jackson, a distance which required three days' journey. Blizzards in the early days were severe and lasted long periods. And settlers did not have the conveniences with which to protect against storms. The grasshopper raids and prairie fires were also tests of their endurance.

Mr. McGuire confided in his family that, had he known all it meant to be first on the prairies, he probably would have hesitated before attempting it.

Born In Ireland. John McGuire was born in Maidd, Ireland, on December 23, 1840. He was the son of Patrick and Bridget McGuire. He well remembered as a child the great Irish famine of 1845, out of which grew the song, "Please, Mother, Give Me Three Kernels of Corn."

Before coming to America he passed spent one summer in Scotland. At the age of 14 he worked his way to America on a freight vessel, landing in New York in 1854. He worked on the canal as a dock boy on the Delaware river to various points in Pennsylvania.

As a sailor Mr. McGuire visited practically all the ports of the world. He gave up his position as stowage captain shortly after the Civil war. He then began (Continued on Page Two.)

Presents The Life of Abraham Lincoln To Kiwanians As Outstanding Example

Rev. W. E. Braisted of Baptist Church, Explains Noble Character of Leader.

In addressing the Wayne Kiwanians Monday following their noonday luncheon at Hotel Stratton, Rev. W. E. Braisted of the Baptist church, eulogized the life of Abraham Lincoln, setting it as a worthy example for modeling one's life.

Lincoln seemed to see things whole and in the large. Rev. Braisted asserted. That was unique in his particular day and it is not too common now even among those who deem themselves and sometimes are judged real statesmen. Lincoln knew no north, no south, no east, no west. He stood all to restore and to perpetuate a union, a truly united United States.

Lincoln's regard for human life and for liberty were indeed a ruling passion. He sensed no race or color lines. Folk were human and could live as brothers should. He was of one all-loving God-Father. They should not oppress or wrong one another.

One need not guess for all know how Lincoln, if living, would think and act today in the sectional strife. He would still see the particular interests of each section as sections of one whole, each vitally dependent on the rest, and the true well-being of each section conditioned on the well-being of the whole. How in this Lincoln would compare with too many so-called leaders now, need not even be mentioned.

Lincoln's passion for liberty and the rights of life of the common man everywhere would place him in all international relations, were he living today. To him China, India, Africa and all nations would be entitled to the common heritage of all life's good. His nationalism, in little minds so often now almost a religion, was sacrificed by breadth. Yet he saw sections of one nation as a unit and would today see all nations vitally interrelated units, mutually interdependent, in a united world fellowship.

Lincoln, asserted Rev. Braisted, would think as Roosevelt said we must all learn to think, internationally. Lincoln in all was absolutely sure of the God and Father of all and equally sure that in prayer he could and did deal with that God of all in his need for wisdom, courage, patience, forgiveness and love. Lincoln gladly witnessed to that faith his utter dependence and sure answers to his prayers and God's absolute love and justice "without respect of persons."

The speaker assured his hearers that Lincoln would grow in affection of common mankind through the long centuries because he was the incarnation of their struggles, fears and hopes.

L. D. Owen Speaks. LeRoy D. Owen of Los Angeles, Calif., guest of the club, was introduced and spoke briefly. He congratulated Wayne for its progressiveness and wished for continued prosperity and success.

Eleven coasting accidents resulted in nine injuries; one disability and two deaths. Six of these accidents were caused by sids striking cars. The five others were caused by striking other sids, curbs or telephone poles. Children coasting and playing with sleds on city streets just shouldn't be done and criminally negligent is the parent who allows or condones such practice. But the modern city kid gets his love of winter sports from glowing tales of a dad or uncle who grew up with a farm hillside in his back yard and skidded merrily for many miles in strings of sleds behind some friendly father's backing team. Why not rope off a few hillside streets while the snow is on or build a few cheap snowslides in our city parks which lie dormant in the winter and give your city kid a break at the kind of sport about which you so love to tell him?

Often the beam in one's eye gets so big that he has a terrible time in trying to see around it to find the mote in the other fellow's eye.

Chicago is like an individual who has been wild and reckless in handling business affairs. Financiers will not loan the town money unless it settles down to a sound business basis and handles its expenditures in an economical manner.

President Camp who is journeying to Atlantic City, N. J., on school business, may stop over in Washington City, enroute home, and while there he may pick out and bring home a new post office building. Anyway, if he tarries in Washington he will let the proper authorities know that we deserve and need a federal building.

The Herald's omission of sixteen columns of correspondence and other news last week on account of lack of space has prompted us to take care of all five matter early, and thus necessary omissions this week have been restricted to matter that may be held over for future use. It is our determination to find room for all correspondence even if necessary to increase the number of pages.

Edward H. Polley of Lincoln, executive secretary of the Nebraska Good Roads association, speaking before the Tripartite club in Omaha, advocated paving instead of graveled of much used highways, pointing out economy of the former in the long run. The upkeep is costly on heavily graveled roads. However, Wayne county would be satisfied to travel on gravel between its towns for a considerable time before demanding concrete surfacing.

While our front-page box last week touching relations between independent and chain stores, was generally accepted as fair and wholly defensible, we regret that some of our best friends felt hurt. Through we cannot always agree with our friends—cannot without expression of convictions in an economic crisis, believing the future of a community is at stake.

LOOKING ABOARD.

Local ills are insignificant in contrast with those suffered in less favored countries. Over in Russia it is reported that one of the regular sports of the communist government is to take property away from well-to-do peasants and then either kill or banish them. If a Russian farmer has worked and saved and accumulated something for the proverbial rainy day, he is likely to be dispossessed and executed or kicked out. It is reported that 750,000 families have been subjected to this barbaric idea of government. The unfortunate who have advanced far enough in material wealth to be called prosperous are poor in comparison with land owners in this country, but they are well off in comparison with those Russian peasants who slave for a hand-to-mouth existence. The Russian government tries to make the appearance of wholesome progress and equality of opportunity, but according to reliable information, it is a huge blot on civilization, unjust and cruel, appropriating the fruits of industry and thrift, stifling initiative and destroying the hope of ambitious subjects. If it is made a crime, punishable by confiscation and death, to get ahead in the world, Russia can make the country a cesspool of corruption and cannot expect to take its place among respectable nations. As one publication concludes: "No plan for the material development of a man or nation, founded upon refusal to recognize the rights of others, and upon a system of barbaric aggression and severity, can ever hope for success."

we are still in the hands of our friends, and we are for them and with them in any genuinely constructive program. Taking sharp issue with friends in a vital question of policy means a considerable sacrifice in behalf of a principle which comprehends a wide field and looks far into the future.

President Hoover has called senate and house leaders together to hurry passage of a tariff bill in the interest of market stability and general business of the country. Prolonged delay causes an unsettled condition which the president wishes to remove. Since tariff revision was proposed as an aid to agriculture, many conflicts of opinion will inevitably arise. The tariff is a subject which has attracted much of the public's attention. Every section should be treated on an equality and on equal terms. Each is dependent on every other and should be given the same business treatment under the prevailing tariff. It should be given the same treatment in accordance with the administration's policy.

F. O. Edgerton announces the anniversary of his arrival in Geneva and his position of the Signal which has developed for thirty years with outstanding merit and success. When Mr. Edgerton landed in Geneva, he did not find an extraordinary newspaper office. But he took hold with vigor and determination, and he made steady headway under the force of a strong sense of duty and of a sound judgment. As soon as he was at one time owner of the Nebraska Farmer and later of a Beatrice daily newspaper. He has also been president of the National Editorial association, and for a long series of years he has been treasurer of the Nebraska Press association. He is not afraid to bet on his judgment, and he has been so often right in making decisions that he has been certain to go forward and build a giant newspaper. Publishers and others of the state will congratulate him over the progress he has made and the high standing he has reached.

Board of Health Report.

State of Nebraska bureau of health at Lincoln gives the following summary of principal diseases:

1929	1929	1929	1928
Jan. Dec.	Jan. Dec.	Jan. Dec.	Jan. Dec.
Chickenpox	272	187	204	175
Diphtheria	67	88	91	61
Influenza	108	15	1771	5567
Measles	216	565	113	53
Meningitis, CS	26	0	4	2
Holomyelitis	2	0	0	2
Scarlet fever	822	219	418	192
Smallpox	228	195	209	142
Tuberculosis	15	8	18	12
Typhoid fever	7	1	11	8
Gonorrhea	97	153	220	161
Syphilis	13	1	22	57

The Nebraska board of health makes specific provisions for certain individuals in the membership of the board of health is responsible for the performance of the duties imposed on said board. The sheriff is chairman of the county board of health. The mayor is chairman of the city board of health. The quarantined officer is in each instance the police member of the board of health. This is essential because quarantine is an exercise of the police power of the state. Not infrequently, however, some physicians attempt to assume authority to establish quarantine even procuring a card some place and posting it on the premises. A physician could be utilized to post a quarantine card of notice legally by the proper authority deputizing him to do so and the board of health supplies the correct card for the time and place, but there is no provision for indefinite deputization or delegation of such authority. It is the duty of the police member of the board to investigate and prosecute violators of the rules and regulations. The medical adviser is the technical member of the board. Therefore it devolves upon him to perform the epidemiologic work required: To personally investigate, and examine persons to establish, or when necessary confirm, the diagnosis of contagious disease; to take cultures from suspected individuals for the board, and such additional duties as circumstances indicate for the purpose of being enabled to advise the board upon the basis of personal knowledge, whereby intelligent action can be taken toward safeguarding the health of the community. Diagnosis in practice of medicine. All reports of reportable disease will be made to the secretary of the board of health having jurisdiction in the county wherein the case or cases in which of towns is the chief of police or marshal. A report just received from one community indicates that 95 percent of the school children have been vaccinated against smallpox. Fine work! These people believe in one scar, not many.

T. A. W. Stephens, Sheriff. T. H. Brubaker, M. D., Director of Public Health. Collab. Epidemiat. USPHS.

EXTRA SESSION. Governor Weaver has decided to call a special session of the legislature to try and complete an unfinished task of the regular session of a year ago—solution of the bank guaranty problem. About the time the legislature adjourned without definite action on the law, Judge Frost of the district court at Lincoln, held that special assessments to pay deposits in failed banks were unconstitutional and confiscatory. Tried in the supreme court, decision of the lower court was reversed. An appeal to the United States supreme court is now under consideration. It seems that in 1911 the federal court held the law constitutional. The deficit in the guaranty fund now amounts to about $20,000,000, and how to meet this deficit is the question which the governor wishes to determine. He also wants the law either revived or quietly interred. After a year of study and deliberation, it is probable the legislature will be better able to act with wisdom and settle the question over which sharp differences of opinion exist.

Census Enumerator Will Be Here Soon

An enumerator will be in Wayne soon to take the census which is to be compiled in 1930. Mrs. Marie Weekes of Norfolk, is chairman of the census for northern Nebraska. H. J. McFall, chief statistician for distribution for the Bureau of the Census, said the following regarding the census: "We have very much more statistical information about production, such as agriculture and manufacturing, than we do about distribution. Partially, at least, as the result of having so much more information on production, this part of our business world has progressed in efficiency much more rapidly than distribution has. It is believed, therefore, that our distribution system can be considerably improved on the basis of the information which will come from this census. Improvement in distribution will help the merchants, manufacturers and farmers, and in the end will also prove beneficial to the consuming public. The census of distribution covers merchant, or distributors and their business operations. It will give a classified count of the various classes, types and sizes of retailers, wholesalers and all other merchandising concerns in the whole country, their sales, expenses, inventories and employees. It will give as much information as possible concerning the goods sold by these various distributors; the chief limit to such information being the scanty records kept by the banks and file of merchants. As much as possible of this information will be summarized for each city and county as well as for each state and the nation as a whole. No attempt is being made to obtain information concerning the profits of merchant-distributors. Individual retailers, wholesalers and other distributors can gain much in their own operations from the results of this census of distribution. Such gain can come from the greater knowledge of the marketing system of the nation which brings goods to you and takes goods from you. It will also come from the opportunity afforded your merchants to compare their own operations with the average conditions in their type of trade both in your own district and in other parts of the nation. The opportunity for self-study through comparison with others will be invaluable."

Youths May Enroll in Coast Guard

The United States coast guard, according to ward sent by Representative Edgar Howard from Washington, D. C., presents an opportunity for young men of the right caliber between the ages of 18 and 22 years to complete their education and to become commissioned officers in the United States coast guard, one of the military services of the United States afloat and ashore. Cadets are trained and educated at Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., and each summer are taken on an extended practice cruise. Cadets receive the same pay and allowances as midshipmen in the navy, $780 a year with quarters, subsistence and medical attendance. Upon graduation the cadet is eligible to be commissioned an ensign. Educational examination for cadets precedes the physical examination and takes two days. Applicants must be of good moral character and must have completed the equivalent of four years of high school. Candidates appointed will report about August 15 at the academy.

Being a Boy.

York Republican: Mrs. Thomas A. Edison in a magazine interview says of her famous husband, "I am always finding something of the boy in him. Good for Edison. Each of us needs a companion. About the most forlorn and useless man in the world is the one who has utterly lost his boyhood. The ability to laugh, to play with babes and dogs, to act at times like anything but a grown up man are safety valves by means of which busy men of affairs keep from going to pieces. The man who carries something of his boyhood along with him from seven to seventy may not know it, but he has discovered one of the secrets of happy living. A medical expert now comes forward with the statement that setting-up exercises are not beneficial and may even be harmful, a discovery we made these many years ago by standing too near a radiator while doing them.—New York Evening Post.

Nebraska Potatoes Go By Trainloads

The western Nebraska potatoes are going to market. An hour's nearly an entire trainload of potatoes were assembled in the railroad yards at Alliance and comprised a combined shipment of 69 cars. The shipment traveled intact to Lincoln. There the cars were switched. The seed potatoes went to Kansas City for distribution in the southern states. The table potatoes went to points in the east.

Within the past two weeks 1621 cars, many of them containing high grade seed potatoes, have been shipped out of the section, between Alliance and Crawford. The seed potatoes went to Texas, Alabama, Louisiana and Florida. There are approximately 250 more cars to be shipped.

A favorable change in the temperature in the North Platte valley brought about a sudden activity in potato marketing and shipping. The fall crop began to come out of the cellars where it had been stored against freezing and make its way by truck to nearby shipping points.

Nebraska potatoes, packed by the certification manager for the potato growers of the North Platte valley, have a very high rating and are in demand all over the United States where there is good potato soil for seed.

Growers of spuds in Nebraska well remember when Ohio and Minnesota furnished the seed stock for this state. Now Nebraska grows its own seed and besides furnishes the tables of the land with the whitest, firmest, cleanest and soundest potatoes that can be found in the markets.

The 1929 crop in western Nebraska was double that of 1928 and ranged in price from $1.50 to $2.10 a bushel. The total shipments from western Nebraska this year are in excess of 5,600 cars.

Wearing Out Roads.

York Republican: The people of this state who have enjoyed the rather unusual experience of running a successful state government without resort to bond issues for public improvements will think twice before they fall in full heartedly with a plan to vote bonds for paved roads. The Omaha Bee-News, favoring bonds for paved roads, remarks: "Not only are more trucks taking to the roads, but the hauls are longer, all of which add weight to the argument for hard surfaced roads. If it is the trucks and busses that are wearing out the roads, a larger maintenance fund can be collected through a little more gas tax. We can tax truck tonnage. And we can eliminate the hard wear on the roads by limiting the size of trucks and the weight of their loads. That would be more just than to tax the farms and homes to provide hard surfaced roads for trucks and busses."

Heating System in Wayne City School Is Being Checked For Its Efficiency

Propose Remodeling Plant to Reduce Operating Cost and Increase Efficiency.

The heating plant at the Wayne city school building was checked last Thursday and Friday with a view to determining what remodeling would be required to make the system efficient. The Hoffman specialists, who were here, are of the opinion that by use of a vacuum pump and special valves on each radiator it would be possible to operate the plant more efficiently at less cost. At present it requires fifteen pounds of pressure to force steam into all radiators in the building. The experts say that with the new plan all rooms would be heated uniformly on one point of pressure. The saving in coal in one year would pay the cost of remodeling the plant, it is estimated. The plans and estimates will be presented to the board for action. The Hoffman company deals through all of the local firms.

NEBRASKA WATER CLEAR AND PURE AND HEALTHFUL

UP near the top of the list of things which contribute to health and comfort in Nebraska and make home life here so enjoyable, is good water. Whether it is drawn by a bucket or pumped from deep wells by the most modern electrically driven lifts, Nebraska water is a thirst-quenching beverage that has no superior under the sun.

Beneath the soil of Nebraska, in deep beds of sand and gravel, are inexhaustible lakes of purest water to serve the inhabitants of the surface of the earth for generations to come. A preliminary report of the geological department of the Nebraska state university describes the water-bearing sands that underlie the topsoil of the state. The report was made last summer.

Eastern Nebraska, the report recites, is underlain by glacial deposits from the ice age, varying in thickness of beds from 60 to 200 feet. Beneath this deposit are beds of coarse gravel which is the source of much of the deep well water. It is the belief of geologists that a great ice sheet ages ago extended into Nebraska and as it melted formed the basis of Nebraska's water supply.

The water sands are continually supplied in the region near and below the Platte by the waters of that stream which flow on porous sands. The water drains off underground, fills the water-bearing sands and the excess empties into southeastern Nebraska streams.

But it does not take a geologist to recognize the quality of Nebraska well water. Gold as it comes from the deeps where it has been stored clear as crystal and free of harmful alkaline and mineral ingredients, it is one of nature's choicest gifts to man and beast.

In geography pupils are learning to express themselves in complete paragraphs. In writing a review of one day's lesson Dorothy Heidenreich's was perfect for fifth grade work. It is as follows:

"There are three reasons why Canada is not as useful as one would think it to be. The first one is that it is too cold. The second is that when a sheet came over it scraped the soil southward. The last reason is because there are boulders and highlands there. I would much rather live in the United States than in Canada."

Ardath Johnson and Dolores McNatt decorated the valentine box and brought it as a surprise to others in the class.

Square measure and area are studied in arithmetic.

"The Love Parade" Modern In Thought

Although "The Love Parade," the talking screen's first original musical romance, coming to the Gay theatre, next week, is a costume production, it is as modern as tomorrow's newspaper, according to Ernst Lubitsch, who directed it.

The story deals with the love of a queen for a prince, but she is a modern queen and he is a very modern young man. The fact made the problem of costuming a difficult one.

This problem was solved by the Paramount designers by basing all the costumes on fashion trends that are indicated for the coming season, elaborating here, modifying there, and lending to all a richness ordinarily lacking.

Maurice Chevalier is starred in "The Love Parade" which features a large cast of musical comedy and screen favorites including Jeanette MacDonald, Lupino Lane, Lillian Roth and Eugene Pallette.

"The Love Parade" starts Sunday and runs three days at the Gay theatre.

The Hughes Confirmation.

Sioux City Journal: Majority public opinion throughout the country will approve the confirmation of Charles E. Hughes to be chief justice of the United States just as it did when President Hoover announced his appointment. Meanwhile majority public opinion everywhere will classify the two groups of United States senators who were for and against confirmation. It goes without saying that there will be more respect for the senators who voted, Mr. Hughes into the chair of the chief justice than for the others who used every hook and crook to keep him out.

The Journal was not impressed at any time with the resistance to Mr. Hughes. It did not grant that the action of the leaders, Senators Norris, Borah, Brookhart and La Follette of the radical group, was at all sincere. Rather it sensed that their main purpose in opposing the Hughes nomination was because of the insatiable desire to raise hell.

Here was a man, as The Journal suggested, whose elevation to the chair of chief justice was almost automatic. Mr. Hoover's selection of Mr. Hughes to succeed Mr. Taft was admirable, ideal. Anyone who felt that Mr. Hoover had his share of common sense and who knew the Hughes character could have predicted the appointment without great effort. The high place called to the man; the man was eminently qualified for the office.

But Mr. Hughes was Mr. Hoover's selection for chief justice. That was enough to set the radical element against him. No matter whom Mr. Hoover had selected it would have been the same. Yet if Mr. Hoover had asked the radical senators for their advice in the matter they probably would have said "Hughes, by all means." That's the kind of impression this man has made upon American life and thought. Mr. Hoover, however, did not ask the radical senators for their advice. He merely announced his selection, and, forunately for the country, common sense prevailed in the senate and Mr. Hughes was confirmed by a vote of two to one.

Valuable time was wasted in the wrangling of the radicals against the confirmation. For four days there was debate, the radicals ranting against a man who towers over every one of them head and shoulders. It will be a long time before the American people forget this spectacle. It also will be a long time before the Hughes opposition wins but that part of public respect it lost and surely there was not one of the group who did not need all the help he could get.

If all the public radio programs were suppressed there would be plenty of chances for the other kind. - Florence Harold.

NEW IDEA

THE MODEL 8 NEW IDEA SPREADER

Important Features of Model 8

Designed by the inventors of "wide-spreading" spreaders; a practical, full-sized, light draft machine.

Materials of highest quality. Steel of the same grade as that used for city rails—three times as tough and strong as that generally used for farm machines. Lumber, the best "clear" selected stock. Flat metal parts, copper-bearing, rust and acid resisting steel. Chains, tempered steel, strong, flexible and free running. Frame and body riveted throughout—no bolts to work loose and fall out.

Built low for easy loading but with plenty of clearance under the machine. Capacity big enough for the biggest farm yet it runs so easy that two horses can handle it under practically all farming conditions.

Wide, sure-footed "Balloon Tires" make it easy to drive on soft or rough ground without slipping or skidding.

Roller bearings on the main cylinder and front and rear axles add to the already famous easy running qualities of the Model 8. New Idea Roller bearings are bigger and stronger and are rigidly braced to prevent twisting or working out of alignment. All bearings on the Model 8 are truly self-aligning, and carefully balanced at the exact center to prevent the machine from cramping or binding no matter in what position it is placed.

Improvements that NEW IDEA Has

Introduced and Perfected the original "wide-spread" the feature that gives the machine its name and insures a wide, smooth, even covering of manure.

The use of two cylinders for reducing the draft and dividing the work. The Patented New Idea Front Truck—a real auto steer front truck with a wide range of oscillation that reduces the manure from all strains on rough ground and permits a short pivot turn without bumping the wheels.

New Idea riveted frame and body. No bolts to work loose. Machine always in alignment.

New Idea Positive Chain Drive. Designed to develop the greatest power with the least effort. Patented New Idea Direct Gear. Light, compact, quiet. No hammering or vibration. 4, 8, 12, 16 and 20 loads to the acre.

Castings of semi-steel, light and strong. All working parts machined to smooth running fit. Simple, easy to understand, easy to operate. Nothing to get out of order. Perfect adjustment for manure spreading.

Patented New Idea Famous Gold Seal guarantee. Serviced by branches in every section of the country and more than fifty transfers.

For nearly thirty years the dependable spreader for efficient, steady service at the lowest cost for upkeep.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: The mid-winter lull in business is not yet ended. However the time is approaching for an upturn. Spring is not far distant, and that has been the season selected for a definite improvement.

Some lines are remarkably active in spite of the decline in general activity. Steel and iron, for example, are in much stronger demand. The ingot output in the Chicago district is 90 per cent of plant capacity, which is higher than in Michigan or Pittsburgh. The average for the country is put at 79 per cent of capacity. This is a gain of 2 per cent within a week.

A good deal of this demand comes from the railroads which are planning extensive improvements. Likewise with motor car manufacturers. A part of it is absorbed in building plans. All three lines are seen as good barometers of the business condition to come when better weather permits full freedom of action.

In Wall street stocks have made advances recently with utilities particularly active. The public has been increasingly active, bidding for stocks that were refused a short time ago at lower price levels. Pivotal leaders have been especially strong favorites on the market. The inference from the advance in Wall street is that the stock market has completed various adjustments necessary to restore public confidence. It may be a long time before the flurries of last fall are repeated, if they ever are duplicated. As confidence in the stock market returns, provided it does not again get out of hand, the better it will be for general business everywhere.

There is no doubt that the collapse of a few months ago created an uneasiness that extended to all business lines.

Money is easier and cheaper. The New York rediscount rate has gone to 4 per cent, but it is not likely that any further changes will be made in federal reserve system rates. The present rate of 4 per cent is believed to be the minimum. Many western banks retain the 5 per cent rate, but may go to 4½ at any time. The general easing of money throughout the country would make this the natural development.

preceding week this year. It was a reduction of 44,300 below the total for the same week in 1929 and 27,368 under the same period in 1928.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: The mid-winter lull in business is not yet ended. However the time is approaching for an upturn. Spring is not far distant, and that has been the season selected for a definite improvement.

Some lines are remarkably active in spite of the decline in general activity. Steel and iron, for example, are in much stronger demand. The ingot output in the Chicago district is 90 per cent of plant capacity, which is higher than in Michigan or Pittsburgh. The average for the country is put at 79 per cent of capacity. This is a gain of 2 per cent within a week.

A good deal of this demand comes from the railroads which are planning extensive improvements. Likewise with motor car manufacturers. A part of it is absorbed in building plans. All three lines are seen as good barometers of the business condition to come when better weather permits full freedom of action.

In Wall street stocks have made advances recently with utilities particularly active. The public has been increasingly active, bidding for stocks that were refused a short time ago at lower price levels. Pivotal leaders have been especially strong favorites on the market. The inference from the advance in Wall street is that the stock market has completed various adjustments necessary to restore public confidence. It may be a long time before the flurries of last fall are repeated, if they ever are duplicated. As confidence in the stock market returns, provided it does not again get out of hand, the better it will be for general business everywhere.

There is no doubt that the collapse of a few months ago created an uneasiness that extended to all business lines.

Money is easier and cheaper. The New York rediscount rate has gone to 4 per cent, but it is not likely that any further changes will be made in federal reserve system rates. ### Building for the Future

If you were building a house to live in only a year or two you probably wouldn't build as good a house as if you expected to live in it 20 or 30 years. It would not be as comfortable and yet it would cost you more for the time you lived in it.

It's much the same way with a telephone company. Telephone companies build systems that will last many years and make repairs, additions and improvements which will be serviceable far in the future because only by doing this can they provide the most satisfactory and adequate service.

YOUR GROCERY STORE

MISREPRESENTATION POOR POLICY

We quote from a letter sent out by the Quaker Oats Company which we have in our possession: "We do not pack 'Crackles' OR ANY OTHER of our cereal products in different size packages, or different weight for Chain stores or wholesale grocers. WE ONLY PACK ONE WEIGHT PACKAGE FOR ALL DISTRIBUTION." Much is being said about short weight packages, it being claimed that some stores have one size and other stores another size. Merchants who deal in packages have very little control over the size of package they sell. The Manufacturer determines the size package he will put out; or decides to change the size when it suits his pleasure. For instance about last October, Procter and Gamble Company decided to reduce the weight of Oxydol in the large size package. All merchants who have new stock on hand have the 23-oz. package. All merchants who have old stock, or Oxydol packed before last October have a 25-oz. package. Facts of this sort are available to everyone and no radio station or merchant need make any misrepresentation in matters of this character. This, however, is not the only package case which falsehood has been circulated. Many other packs of manufacturer's products have been referred to and some stores charged with selling short weight packs when in fact the manufacturer was beginning to standardize another size of pack.

NEW STORE TO OPEN SOON

A new Robert C. Moore Store Grocery and market will open at Tilden, Nebraska, soon. A lease has been effected on the building occupied for many years by the Avery store. We have had numerous invitations from citizens of that vicinity to open a store in Tilden. The opportunity has now come and we will install one of our beautiful up-to-date stores at Tilden so as to be able to serve the people of that community.

AN APPRECIATION OF CONFIDENCE

We want to thank our thousands of patrons and friends for the confidence they have expressed and manifested by their support and patronage in the last few weeks. There are times when one almost loses faith in humanity, but somehow we plod on and find that in the final result, truth and righteousness prevail. Such we believe is the situation now. Unjust defamation and misrepresentation cannot succeed! Again, our thanks and appreciation to our thousands of loyal friends and patrons!

Pierce County Case In Supreme Court

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 19.—Pedestrians who cross present-day traffic-congested highways without first glancing in all directions for the approach of automobiles, may be held responsible for contributory negligence if injured, the Nebraska supreme court held today. By its ruling the court reversed a Pierce county decision which awarded Carl C. Peterson, 53, a verdict for $3,750 against August Millnitz for an accident on the streets of Plainview July 20, 1927. "In this day of high-powered automobiles which traverse every village and every city street, a pedestrian cannot be said to be justified in failing to look in all directions for the approach of cars before attempting to cross a street," the court held. Peterson, the record holder, saw the approach of the Millnitz car while crossing diagonally but did not see another machine coming from the opposite direction which Millnitz had to dodge to avoid collision.  No Charge for Consultation.
 Mr. C. F. Redlich, the successful expert,
 The Perfect Retention Shields hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief, contract the opening in a remarkably short time and strengthen the weak tissues (the real cause of the rupture) so that they frequently recover their previous natural retaining power, needing no further outside support. Stomach trouble, backache and constipation often caused by Rupture promptly disappear.
 Remarkable and prompt results have been obtained not only with recent and not full developed ruptures but also with old, long neglected ones.
 Ingenious, recently perfected devices are now holding ruptures firmly which heretofore never had been retained.
 No elastic belts nor filthy leggings are used.
 I guarantee the durability of my absolutely sweat and moisture proof sanitary appliances.
