Men Are Hosts To Girl Scouts

Members of Wayne Kiwanis Club Entertain Guests At Hotel Monday.

Present Program

Young Folks Demonstrate Scout Work for Girls and Repeat Their Laws.

Kiwanians entertained girl scouts of Wayne and their leaders Monday evening at dinner at Hotel Stratton, about fifty-five guests being present, and the girls presented the after-dinner program. Besides the girls, Mrs. W. K. Smith, Mrs. G. W. Costerian, Miss Marion Jo Theobald and Miss Nyeulah Whitmore were entertained.

The scouts sang their "Hello song" and "The Smoke Goes Up the Chimney" at the opening of the program. The colors were then brought into the banquet room, Sarah Jane Ahern, Mary Margaret McGarrugh and Helen Vath acting as guard. The girls gave their pledge of allegiance to the flag.

The scout promise was given by all the girls as follows: "On my honor I will try to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times, to obey the girl scout laws." They followed with the promise song which is: "When ere you make a promise, consider well its importance, and when made, engrave it upon your heart."

The girls then repeated the scout motto, "Be prepared," and the slogan, "Do a good turn daily." The scout laws were then given as follows: One, a girl scout's honor is to be trusted; two, a girl scout is loyal; three, a girl scout's duty is to be useful and to help others; four, a girl scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other girl scout; five, a girl scout is courteous; six, a girl scout is a friend to animals; seven, a girl scout obeys orders; eight, a girl scout is cheerful; nine, a girl scout is thrifty; and ten, a girl scout is clean in thought, word and deed.

Tests a girl must pass to become a tenderfoot scout were given by Maddyline Grantham. Tests for a second class scout were demonstrated by Margaret Jones, and those for a first class scout were given by Lavern Larson. The requirements to become a gold eagle were enumerated by Helen Steele.

Jessie Hanson spoke on acquiring proficiency badges and gave a list of the girls who had earned these. Some girls have twenty such badges besides their scholarship badges and attendance stars. These girls are: Marion Jo Theobald, Nyeulah Whitmore, Jessie Hanson, Sarah Jane Ahern, Mary Jane Morgan, Mary Ellen Gulliver.

A gold star was received last year by Helen Vath for perfect attendance. Ten girls received silver stars for having attended ninety percent of the meetings.

The program closed with singing of taps and bearing out the colors. Mrs. P. A. Theobald is chairman of the community girl scout committee. Mrs. W. K. Smith is captain of the Goldenrod troop and Mrs. A. V. Teed and Miss Marian Jo Theobald are lieutenants for this group. Mrs. G. W. BUSINESS GAINS MOMENTUM WHEN EASTER IS LATE

EASTER which came March 30 last year, was three weeks earlier than this year's date, April 29. Easter cannot be earlier than March 22 or later than April 25. It came on April 20 in 1919 and in 1924. If Easter arrives the last of March, it means a largely increased volume of March business. People figure on topping out with new spring and summer clothes by Easter. A late Easter insures later buying and April trade conditions are stimulated accordingly. While March showed a liberal trade volume in the local business district, April with the big dress-up play put off, promises to be much stronger. A review of prices advertised in the Herald each week, gives proof of advantages that may be gained by coming here to fit out for Easter or to buy any supplies needed for coming seasons.

Wayne high school debaters won championship of northeast Nebraska district number three Monday in the tournament held at Hartington, receiving unanimous decision over the Hartington team. The local students received a $25 trophy cup given by the Hartington Chamber of Commerce and this will be presented to the high school here.

Five schools participated in the district tournament, Wayne, Wakefield, Hartington, Bloomfield and Newcastle. Wakefield and Newcastle met Monday morning and the former received a two to one decision. Wayne met Bloomfield Monday afternoon and the former received unanimous decision. The affirmative of the state question and James Morris, Helen Hanson and Margaret Fenske comprised the team. Wakefield and Hartington then met and the latter won by a two to one decision. This placed Wayne and Hartington in the finals Monday evening. Wayne had the negative side of the question and received unanimous decision. Mary Jane Morgan, Helen Hanson and James Morris comprised the local team in the final debate.

As champion of one of about ten districts in the state Wayne is entitled to enter the state contest at Lincoln April 25.

Hartington's team of this year won district championship last year, and two of the debaters were on the district team two years ago also. None of the local students had participated in debate before. Every Member canvass desides to remind the members of our church and congregation that next Sunday is the day upon which two members of the canvassing committee expect to call upon them for their two-fold subscription. By two-fold subscription we mean that each individual divides his pledge between the home work and benevolences. About thirty of our men are very graciously giving their time to this canvass. You may expect them to call between the hours of 2 and 6 o'clock. It will help make the day a success if you will plan to be at home and ready to welcome your visitors. The officers are asking several things: First, a large attendance at the special consecration service Sunday morning, second, a two-fold pledge from every member of the church and congregation; and third, subscription made on the weekly plan.

Presiding officers of the senate and house often issue warnings that they will clear the galleries following an uproar, but we never heard of it being done.

The tariff bill is reported back in the house. Doubtless the most good to the country could be done by settling the tariff in some way with the least possible delay.

That this is not the open season for killing editors in Mississippi is indicated by the fact that the mayor of Yazoo City, that state, recently shot an editor and then killed himself.

If no one dislikes you, no one opposes you, no one lies about you, misrepresents your position or misinterprets your words, you may conclude that you amount to nothing, are making no progress and will never arrive anywhere.

Calvin Coolidge once said: "We do not need more intellectual power; we need more spiritual power. We do not need more knowledge; we need more character. We do not need more law; we need more religion."

Many people have been suffering from colds or flu, which may be safely charged to the lingering chill of disappearing winter without giving offense to the latter and without in the least discouraging its disease-breathing facilities in the future.

HEARST ALARM

The Hearst newspapers have been shouting to President Hoover to order the American delegation home from the London conference through fear of entangling alliances, fear that Secretary Stimson will surrender the liberties of the United States to foreign nations. These newspapers urge the president to get back into the footsteps of Washington and other presidents who are quoted in favor of keeping out of Europe. "Trying to be president of the world ruined Wilson and we believe it will ruin you," exclaims the Hearst chieftain. To one who is unprejudiced and who earnestly hopes for reduced armaments and increased assurance of peace, the querulous demands of the Hearst newspapers sound like the mouthings of a spilt child. It is generally agreed that no one could have kept the United States out of the World War. The costly experience naturally brought this country into closer relationship with foreign affairs. The terrible sacrifice of the conflict has been an inspiration to means to insure future peace. Far from wanting to be president of the world, American leadership has manifestly sought to strengthen peace ties and lighten war burdens, and as the peace of Europe is an important safeguard to the peace of the world, this country would seem warranted in any cooperative plan looking to future tranquility. The hope of the London conference has been to agree on reduced or limited naval armaments, and in any proposed pact it is evident that the secretary of state could, if he would, yield to nothing that would not be acceptable to the United States senate. Progress of the world may make impossible entire aloofness from European affairs as supported by early presidents, but unless the Hearst newspapers have information not generally known, there is no disposition in administration circles to mix into European problems beyond encouraging a policy operating in the direction of universal peace. The Hearst idea of saying the country should be to issue long and loud alarms of alarm even if there is little or nothing to be alarmed over.

L. Doheny. The Doheny was so quiet of a change of giving Fall a bribe. Now Fall, reasoning that if Doheny did not give a bribe, he could not have accepted one, has filed an appeal asking that the verdict against him be set aside.

Reappearance of groups of "Weary Willies" is another evidence of spring. Some who have taken to tramping may have done so on account of inability to find work, though the typical, hardened tramp possesses a natural aversion to it and a careful passion for money getting as much as possible for nothing and remaining nowhere long. The hundred per cent tramp is a hundred per cent parasite.

The time for the annual clean-up of yards and alleys is here, and the work should be speeded up in the interest of health and cleanliness. Riding premises of fifth early will check the enthusiasm of files in the matter of being hatched and developed. Soon lawns will be flower-bedecked, and garden plots will bring forth tender vegetation. Hauling off rubbish, beautifying the landscape, seeing verdure restored and all nature pulsating with new life inspire large measures of buoyancy.

In the course of a letter to the Omaha World-Herald from California, former Senator Hitchcock calls attention to differences in three principal cities of the state—San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. He says San Francisco is the "most attractive, finished and cosmopolitan. Los Angeles with its surprising population, incomplete and variable. San Diego is short on resources that support cities farther north, but it is long on climate, temperatures varying only fifteen degrees during a year.

Of Congressman Howard's battle against audacious and entrenched wealth, Dr. A. L. Bixby makes this observation in the Lincoln Journal: "In his notes from Washington Congressman Howard says that the people of Nebraska consume annually 150,000,000 pounds of sugar. That is too much saccharine for a balanced diet, but let the figures stand. Our annual expenditure for sugar approximates $9,000,000. Howard says $3,000,000 of that is a gratuitous contribution to the trust, which leaves the paltry $6,000,000 to the producers, manufacturers and distributors, which would seem to be a narrow compensation for the wear and tear from the fallow field to the finished product. All this leads us to wonder just what percent of political piffle in these pre-election partisan figures. We can remember when granulated sugar retailed for a penny a dollar, and nobody complained that the price was extortionate."

We do not wish to boast of northeast Nebraska's comparative prosperity and ease during the present time of depression and unemployment. We do not wish to brag about the comparative good fortune of Wayne county farmers on the occasional animation of Wayne's trade center and the unusual volume of business that is deservedly pouring into it. We have had our periods of distress and we know how they feel. It just happens at this time that we are more fortunate than most other sections. The Literary Digest estimates that in the entire world there are 10,000,000 unemployed of whom 5,000,000 are in the United States. It is stated that twenty-two percent of organized labor is idle, and that forty-three per cent of building workers are unemployed. This is a serious condition, which government heads are with headway already assured, putting forth every effort to remedy. Both eastern and western coasts are the most acute sufferers from unemployment. This facts should lead us to appropriate vantage ground, avoid unnecessary and destructive internal dimensions, and advance steadily and surely under the impetus of greater individual effort. We deplore the state of lethargy that prevails in many parts, but we have been in a similar boat in the past and we may be the victim of downward conditions in the can help most now by our attending to his own knitting and strengthening his own position as a contributor to the future safety of a favored section.

Business. Sioux City Journal. There has been a slight improvement in the business situation, taking the country at large. But for the most part it has been psychological rather than material since the improvement has had to do with increasing confidence in the immediate outlook. This has come because of definite plans formulated for the relief of conditions that have been backward for the last few months. With the knowledge that a construction program reaching a total of some billions of dollars soon will be launched, and with considerable hundreds of millions of government work as part of the general plan to stimulate business activity, the hopeful view becomes stronger day by day.

All this of course will have its immediate effect upon unemployment, which is the cause. However, the unemployed list is not so long as it was, industry has

THE BOYCOTT

Everyone has unquestioned right to buy where he pleases or employ whom he pleases, but under the laws of the state, under the legal guaranty of unrestrained trade relations, under accepted standards of business and social liberty, he has no right to enforce a boycott—organize opposition to any individual or institution. The boycott is an insidious and diabolical instrument to employ in expressing revenge or in trying to bring disagreeing opinions into subjection and slavery. The boycott is a cowardly weapon. It strikes from the dark, skulls to cover under suspicion and shifts responsibility from one to another. It is a confession of weakness. It admits that one cannot make the grade unaided and must devour in order to succeed. It has about the same social standing as blackmail, and it is loathed and spurned generally by people who accept in good faith the justice of equal human rights—freedom of opportunity, freedom of thinking and speaking, supported by popular judgment and guaranteed by the laws and constitution of an untrammeled democracy. If boycott were accepted as justifiable, the wheels of progress would be reversed and civilization would be destroyed.

been absorbing some of it, not enough to make an appreciable impression as yet but sufficient to indicate what may be expected as the spring program gets under way.

The senate's action in finally passing a tariff bill is seen as but a step toward the legislation that must come before industry definitely can go ahead with its plans for the rest of the year. No one knows what is going to happen to the senate measure in the house and in conference. And after that no one has the assurance that President Hoover will sign it. Consequently industry and general business will mark time until something is done.

It would be beneficial, whatever was done with tariff revision, if the country could know the outcome of the long legislative wrangle. Even if the tariff were not to be revised at all, the actual knowledge of what the situation was could not help affecting the business situation. Therefore a final decision by congress and the White House is necessary as part of the general business plan.

There is an indication that the income tax returns for the fiscal year will not be equal to those of the preceding one. It is believed by treasury department officials that the first quarter collections will fall short of those for the same period last year by some $40,000,000. That is due to the stock market crash of last fall and the resulting decline in business activity.

The Fate of the Tariff

Sioux City Journal: The agreement in the house to send the tariff bill directly to conference may not mean at all that a quick and amicable decision may be reached with the measure sent to the White House in the immediate future. In fact it is possible that the tariff bill is just now beginning to hit the rough places in the long road it has traveled. In the first place the bill that was sent to the house by the senate is not the same one that was passed in the lower chamber months ago. The Hawley-Smoot bill lost so many of its characteristic features when it got into the senate that the house could not recognize it only by minutely examining it for identifying marks the upper chamber had overlooked. Really, there are two bills for revision of the tariff, the contrast between the senate and house mea-

St. Louis Preacher Is Daughter, Widow and Mother of a Minister

MRS. GEORGE W. MUCKLEY of St. Louis is said to be more closely attached to the clergy than any other woman in the United States. She is daughter of a minister, widow of two ministers, mother of a minister and a missionary and is an ordained preacher herself.

Mrs. George W. Muckley

And because of this background, she has just been elected to direct a campaign in the central and middle western states to raise money for a ministerial pension fund to be established by the Disciples of Christ.

Mrs. Muckley's father was the late William Bayard Craig, for many years chancellor of Drake University, who held important pastorates in New York, Denver and Redlands, Calif. From her father Mrs. Muckley learned exactly how a soft answer turns away wrath in any congregation and the best way to uphold the paragon of piety when the paragon's capboard is respectably bare.

She had many suitors. She married in a way to invest this knowledge. There were a great many suitors riding up to the paragon door to woo the lures being so strong that it is no longer possible to consider that only one is before congress. With the senate offering 1,250 amendments to the original Hawley-Smoot bill, it is certain that the old measure did not look much like itself when it got back to the house. And some of those amendments are of such nature that house leaders may be expected to fret and fume lest they finally become law. The export debenture plan is one of these and this was the proposal carried by the senate coalition months ago but voted down in the house when the farm relief bill was passed.

What the conference will do with the senate bill in general and with the export debenture plan in particular is not forecast by any of the leaders on either side. It would be strange if the debenture plan, bitterly opposed in the house and by the administration, now succeeded. The conference may let the thing go to a vote, but it is not indicated that the house would accept the identical thing over which there was such contention before. Finally there is no assurance that President Hoover would sign a tariff bill carrying the export debenture plan.

Not yet, therefore, can the country feel assured that the tariff will be revised in this session of congress. The export debenture however, is not the only bone of contention between the two houses. Summer may come before there is tariff revision.

Mrs. Wegner came to America thirty years ago and since then has resided here continuously, at first making her home with an aunt, Mrs. Andrew Larsen. Later she was married to O. H. Wegner who died about five years ago. Following the death of her husband, she visited her native country, but after a year's absence, she returned to the states, but, as was learned later, only long enough to settle her estate. Mrs. Wegner will be wedded in June to Mr. Gustav Lohson and will be at home in Kanja, Sweden.

hind the pulpit. Her second husband, George W. Muckley, was for 35 years associated with the Board of Church Extension of the Disciples of Christ. As a minister's little daughter Mrs. Muckley had to give more of her copper coins to the missionary pig than to the neighborhood grocer for lollipops and peppermint sticks. As a minister's wife she continued to sacrifice a turbulose so the missionary box could have an additional flannel petticoat.

Turns Missionary Executive. Therefore, when Dr. Muckley died, it was natural that his widow should accept a position as general secretary of the Missouri Women's Christianity Missionary Society.

After seven years with that organization she became assistant to the pastor at the Union Avenue Christian Church in St. Louis.

And now, as one of the three women who are conducting women's conferences in the work of the pension fund for aged ministers which is sweeping through the Protestant churches, she continues her work for the benefit of the clergy.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 6, Cross Bearing in the Christian Life—Matt. 16:18-28

WHEN one considers what the cross meant to our Lord, it seems presumptuous to speak of cross bearing in relation to the comparatively untroubled lives that most of us live. But when we think of the experience of humanity as a whole, it is no mere form of words to speak of the cross. The sorrows and tragedies of human life are in reality very deep, and they are always very near to us, even though we may not realize it. All around us are those whose life experiences have brought them deep agony. It is impossible to consider the frightful news that is coming from China at present of thousands starving in famine without hope of any relief, and at the same time to so placidly about our work as if there were no need or suffering in the world.

The Mystery of Life

In the cross of Christ there came a real answer to that need. If that cross had meant nothing else, it reminded men that the suffering of life is not all on the part of the wicked, but that we are living in a world of deep mystery where all of life is subject to deeper laws than we realize and where, perhaps, the deepest of all laws is that law of blessing and redemption through the way of the cross. When we consider the cross in this light and think of it as the outpouring of a life in sorrow and suffering for us, our shallow and futile lives are rebuked, and we come to understand, if we are thoughtful at all, that life has deep mysteries and deep obligations.

In our lesson the law of the cross is associated with this law of the highest communion and service. The way of the cross is the way of spiritual privilege and power. It is for those whose lives have been brought under the power of God and who have come to know the living Christ that the gates of heaven are opened up. Against them hell itself shall not prevail.

Where men consecrate themselves to Christ, power comes to them to loose the bonds of their fellowmen, and where there is no such consecration, the world finds no such liberating service. One great section of the church has seen in this statement of the historical foundation of its own authority, and exercises on the basis of this authority its power of excommunication.

Controversial issues so far as we can avoid them, outside the province of this study of the lesson, and there is no need that we should discuss that claim of infallibility, mystical words of mystics in other places, we may at least find in these words in our lesson a possible interpretation which applies to the whole range of Christian living. Whatever Jesus meant specifically to imply and to establish historically, it is a solemn truth that by our lives and actions we help to determine the destiny of our fellowmen, hiding them for earth or heaven.

If we feel our weakness, and the power of the cross seems hard or impossible, it is comforting to remember that it was not an easy way for our Lord, but that even to the last he struggled with his own weakness and temptation. Perhaps the great mistake we make is in seeking to bear the cross in our own strength, whereas the true Christian experience is to share the cross with Christ.

Brightly Hued Silk Suits Promise To Be Outstanding Wear for Easter

BY HARRIET

EASTER, being late this year, brings with it lovely summery clothes.

Suit yourself, whether you wear it on Easter morn or the next day to work, you really should have either a printed or a plain silk jacket and skirt with sleeveless blouse.

If you look nice in prints, you have a great variety of lacquered crepes, foulards, necktie prints and pin-point dotted taffetas and crepes.

If you prefer plain silks, shantung and the roughish, pebbly and ribbed silks are the smartest ones this year.

The color's the thing, in prints and plain silks. Do not be afraid of color. Many of the new silks wash. The rest clean perfectly. Spring and summer are no seasons to be sticking to dull, uninteresting tones.

You can make your own silk suit very easily this year. Most of the coats are unlined. Most of the skirts have either circular fullness, gures, godets or flounces.

There are two general types to consider when planning the silk suit. First comes the nonchalant cardigan jacket that hangs loosely, in straight line, with no collar and no fastening. It has the flavor of the casual little sports suit and is a success under the spring coat if days do not warm up as we expect, right after Easter.

For this suit, the plainest of little blouses is correct. Sleeveless or with short sleeves, it can tuck into the skirt or be worn on the outside, fitted down like a tight yoke over the skirt. With the suit's print colorful enough so it won't show dirt immediately and with two or three separate little blouses you are fixed for a week's enjoyment of being well-dressed.

SUCH a little suit is a yellow, orange and white print, with bindings around the jacket and the lower edge of the skirt of the deepest shade, in plain tone. It has a wide circular front gore in the skirt, below a fitted yoke. Its white sleeveless blouse fits down over the skirt yoke but for change there should be a tailored pique, a soft, hand-made batiste or a little organza blouse with buttons for trim.

The second type of silk suit is the little dressmaker suit that sheds most of the nonchalance of the cardigan and yet has ease in it because it is made with godets for skirt fullness and the jacket is only semi-fitted, with a flaring pelum of godets, also. Other suits of this type have belted versions, with ruffles below the belt, cape collars and flounces, and other interesting interpretations of the new, feminine mode.

will be begun to hiquidate our church debt. The board so decided at a special meeting last Sunday.

The one shown here is of the new coral sand tone of shantung, a fashion feature this summer. It has a few hand-tucks across the back of the shoulder for better fit and no collar. In front it has a neat finish to its neckline and in addition has the softest of little crepe blouses with yoke and bowtie. The skirt is fitted very neatly by gores and the godets give it full flare from just above the knees.

Before Planting Time Make Sure Your Planter Is Right

The McCormick-Deering planters combine time-proven principles with a design which insures greater accuracy and easier ways of adapting the planters to different requirements.

The feed shaft is keyed through the clutch and cannot change. The regular seed plates have sixteen cells, the ring gear has sixteen teeth and this plate has sixteen slots for the driving pawls. This makes it impossible to get the seed cells out of time with the receiving valves in the upper ends of the boxes, and insures the accumulator of the desired two, three or four kernels for a hill before the valve opens.

Built-In Power Hill Drop

In order to use most planters for power hill dropping or bunch-drop drilling it is necessary to order special equipment. McCormick-Deering "100 Series" planters have this feature built in and it requires but a moment to change one of the members on the clutch so that the valves in the boots will be tripped for each revolution of the feed shaft. This gives McCormick-Deering planters a wider range of adjustments than is to be found on any other planter.

Bird Returns Annually

Belden, Neb.—Bird lovers here are much interested in a robin with a crooked leg that returns to Belden and nests in the same yard each year.

Four years ago Mrs. Arthur Brewer found a fledgling caught in a fence. She extricated it and found it had a broken leg. After applying splints, she freed it and this is the third season that it has returned to nest here.

U. S. Hits Cattle "Beautifying"

The practice of "plugging" or "beauty doctoring" show cattle by injecting oils and fats under their skins to cover up natural depressions, has been condemned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as an attempt on the part of livestock men to deceive judges in the show ring. In the above photo a steer is shown being properly fitted for exhibition.

Fashion Places Fabrics and Straws Over Felts for Hat Wear This Spring

BY HARRIET C.
HATTING the mode this spring is a strictly feminine business. Chapeaux never were so sweet and flattering.

Fabrics and straws are far in the lead over felts for spring. Felt, when used, is apt to be joined with some contrasting material, like lace straw, fine silk ribbon, hand-dyed linen or other fabric.

There are turbans, berets and many hats with brims. Most women, now used to off-the-face hats, want one or two of this kind in the spring wardrobe.

No color is better than blue this spring. Blue with a touch of pink is excellent. It is Parisian. It is very new. Beige takes a touch of blue, green, red or other contrast to it, in many hats. Black and gold is the upper color. Black and white is chic for late afternoon.

ONE of the new hats that has style points no one can afford to overlook is the tweed straw hat. Instead of tweed hats to match one's first without-coat frock, fashion now furnishes all the design of the tweed made up in straw into which tweed thread has been woven, in a tweed pattern. For a new Paris frock of tweed, in which red and beige have been woven together, there is a chic little hat with a bit of rolled back brim, made of the same totes, with its crown piped in red. A purse of the same fabric is bound and lined with red.

The soft, pack-away turban has high importance in the new mode. These may be made of woven straw or of lace straw or of gold and silver straw, used in conjunction with satin, felt or other materials that stand up well under strain.

One of these, which graduates from the ordinary hat into just the hat for tea-time or even dinner, is made of gold and black straw mesh, with black satin ribbon simulating a bandeau in front and tying in a sweet bow over one ear. This little hat, like the majority of this type, takes its inspiration from the beret but is much more draped and much less casual.

Paris has made some stunning frock and hat ensembles this spring of silk. One of these is a navy blue and white polka dotted silk crepe frock, with a soft touch of white and a touch of the blue crepe, faced with navy blue straw and trimmed with white kid in the form of a tailored bow in the back.

Young and Pretty, These Three Girls Will Be Doctors at Their Dad's Clinic

BY 1933 the Marting clinic at Ironton, O., will be pretty much of a family affair. At that time Dr. W. F. Marting, director, will add three new doctors to his staff. They will be his pretty daughters, Anna, 27, Miriam, 24, and Esther, 21, and, of course, Mrs. Marting, who is a registered nurse, will help take care of her daughters' patients. Thus, the Marting hospital, which for the past 24 years has served Ironton and neighboring communities, will be run almost entirely by the founder's family—a unique distinction in medical history.

Papa Marting, with his civic as well as professional responsibilities, will be happy when 1933 arrives. He not only is president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Surgeons' Association, comprised of surgeons from Chicago to New York City, but is also head of the Central Tri-State Medical Association, whose members come from Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia. Besides, he is president of the Ironton city council and serves also as a police justice!

Next to join the Marting staff will be Miriam. She is now an interne in Cincinnati at the Deaconess hospital, to which she was appointed in January after finishing her course at Cincinnati University. And Esther, after two more years at the same university, and a year of internship, will join her sisters at the family clinic.

If you ask Dr. Marting how his daughters came to choose medicine for a career, he will tell you that the girls, reared in their two-story home adjoining his hospital, had the smell of the laboratory and that they were fascinated not only in his work but also in that of their mother.

He sent them off, therefore, to Cincinnati, where he purchased a home for their use while studying at the medical school.

Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Marting and their daughters . . . they'll run the hospital.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

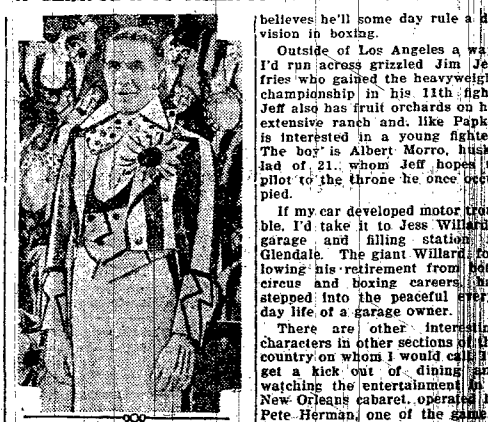

GRIZZLY GLADIATORS WHO ONCE WERE CHAMPIONS NOW LIVE MODESTLY IN RETIREMENT—A GLIMPSE INTO THEIR PRIVATE LIVES

BEFORE it is too late—before some of them have been called to the center of the ring by the Great Referee—your correspondent would appreciate the chance to go from place to place and talk with Corbett, Jeffries, Papke and others who once ruled the boxing world by right of right uppercut and left hook. Today they are living the tranquil life of ordinary citizens, free of the storm and strife of the fight game and happy in the contentment of family associations.

I would like to meet those men and talk with them and know them. I would want to hear their stories of ring battles of other days. It would be interesting to see them at the occupation they have chosen since retiring from the boxing game.

It would be a pleasure to sit in the dressing room of a theater while Jim Corbett arranges his costume and make-up before appearing in his number before the footlights. Corbett, we know, has been an actor most of the time since his retirement. While he has maintained a residence in Long Island, his home for many years has been the hotel and the dressing room. He's still the athlete; this man who many years ago as a "frail young bank clerk" knocked out Kilbane's idol, the great John L. Sullivan, Boston strong boy.

In California, I would go to Alameda, near Los Angeles, to chat with Billy Papke, who held the middleweight championship the shortest time on record. It would be interesting to watch him care for his orange orchards. In addition I'd watch him coach his 15-year-old son, Billy, in the rudiments of the knuckle profession. The son is a husky 170-pounder, the image of his father, Old Billy.

James J. Corbett . . . he's an actor now.

There would be others—Dempsey, Leonard Kilbane, Berry, Wolcott, McAllister, Burns, McCoy and O'Connell. I'd like to know them as they are today.

Age-Grade Table Is Worked Out Here In Making Comparison With Schools

Wayne Pupils Conform Well With Standard—Other News of the Past Week

An age-grade table has been worked out in the Wayne city school according to a standard table worked out by Dr. Strayer and Dr. Englehart of Columbia University, New York, and it was found that ages of local students conform quite closely to the standard. Wayne has 257 pupils of normal age, 112 being boys and 145 girls. There are 76 over age, 45 boys and 31 girls; and 46 under age, 9 boys and 37 girls. Pupils who are older than the average for the grade in which they are working vary to as much as four years. Those under age are mostly one-half and a few one year under average.

One of the chief reasons for making the comparison was to determine whether or not the pupils in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, where students had been promoted one-half year to complete the mid-year promotion, were under age. The table shows that these pupils are now very close to their proper age. In these grades there are 21 over age and 11 under age. The table shows that the promotion helped place these pupils in their proper age group.

One problem to be solved by the teachers in making the comparison is why more boys than girls are over age, also why more girls are under age.

Illness Is Checked.

The appearance three weeks ago of one case of scarlet fever among pupils has been followed by careful attention to illness, and none has appeared. Pupils in rooms exposed have had temperatures taken once and twice a day and any who showed the slightest indication of a fever were sent home as a preventive.

Other High School News.

Seniors have been trying out for parts in the class play, "Second Childhood," which will be given in May.

James Morris and Mary Norton took part Friday in the sub-district declamatory contest at Norfolk. The former appeared in an extemporaneous speaking class in the afternoon and the latter in the humorous class in the evening.

Wayne students went to Hartington Monday to compete in the sub-district debate contest.

Mary Norton gave a reading before the assembly last Thursday.

Bertha Luders played the assembly march last week.

Enter Music Contest.

The second annual district music contest for high schools will be held at the college in Wayne next week. The girls' glee club, boys' glee club, mixed chorus are the groups which Miss Florence Phillips plans to enter. Gretchen Teckhaus and Letha Porterfield, soloists, and Margaret Panske, pianist, will enter.

Art Exhibit Arrives.

An exhibit of copies of masterpieces, sepias and water colors, arrived last Thursday from Chicago and has been on display in the gymnasium this week.

Eighth Grade.

Paul Herrington and Louise Hedenreich received 100 percent in an arithmetic test. The class also had tests in civics and spelling last week.

Helen Vath was absent Thursday when she was out of town. Production of fruits and cotton is being studied in geography. Pupils are making a collection of fruit labels and learning where each variety of fruit is raised.

Transportation and communication problems are being considered in civics, and special reports have been given.

A review of the relation of words in a sentence and types of phrases and clauses has been conducted in language.

Seventh Grade.

Mary Margaret McCarraugh was absent one day last week when she was in Omaha. William Luders and Paul Young were out the last of the week because of illness.

Pictures which came with the art exhibit from Chicago, were studied Friday.

In language Pearl Alice Mae Young and Aspy Pearl Barnes received the highest grades.

Sixth Grade.

Pupils were weighed for March Wednesday of last week. Maxine Hanson and Hazel Liveringhouse showed the most gain in the month, each adding two pounds.

Pupils are completing an arithmetic, after a review of percentage.

Maxine Barrett was absent part of last week because of illness. Vurtiss Cook was ill and out of school two days. William Miller returned Thursday after two weeks' illness.

Simple sentences are being diagnosed in language.

Fourth Grade.

NEBRASKA TOWN IN PRACTICE OF REAL RELIGION

THE town of Keystone in Keith county is small in numbers but large in the conception of its citizens and good will which allows a place and part in the community life for all persons differing in faith and views. For the community of 200 has a church building that is used by both Catholics and Protestants. In one end of the room is a pulpit used by a Protestant minister. In the other end is an altar and confessional used by a Catholic priest. The room has been used in that fashion for a score of years and the members of the two congregations find that the spirit of toleration bred in that way permeates the community life and makes for harmonious social action.

In the early days in the North Platte valley when settlers began taking up the lands the need of a community meeting place was felt. Five progressive and broad-minded women founded a club which later resulted in the organization in a chapter of King's Daughters. These Daughters raised a fund to build a church and it was built in 1908. A survey of the town discovered the population to be about equally divided between Catholic and Protestant. Then the plan of a double duty church was devised. A pulpit was placed in one end, an altar in the other, and the seats arranged so they can be reversed to face which ever direction the congregation desires. For many years the Presbyterians used the church, but finally built a structure of their own. Then the Lutherans moved in and today the loyal children of the Pope and the disciples of Martin Luther breathe the same air and blend their praise and prayers in a room that is unique as a place of public worship.

First Grade.

Pupils wrote letters to Annabelle Jensen who has been ill. These were read Friday before they were sent.

Lila Westerhouse was 7 years old Wednesday of last week and treated her classmates to candy bars. Mrs. Fred Westerhouse is a visitor.

Stars were received in writing as follows: Red star for third project, Ralph Hachmeister; and Mildred Ann Mau; orange star for fourth project, Marjorie Gildersleeve, Wilma Heidenreich, Violet Reibold and Irene Bekke; and violet star for fifth project, Lila Westerhouse and Elaine Brades. The plan is to complete one project each six weeks.

A vegetable project has been conducted in the room a number of weeks. The pupils learned to eat various kinds of vegetables first. They then made charts with pictures of vegetables they ate at home. Last week each brought a can of earth and some vegetable seeds. The seeds were planted and their growth will be watched.

Kindergarten.

Pupils were weighed last week and those who were found about normal are: Leah Jean Casawe, Margie Fitch, Barbara Ekins, Roland Mahnke, Ruth Jean Shipp, Paul Petersen, Dorothy Ann Sneliski, Walter Ulrich, Betty Sund and Betty Ann Zephan.

Betty Pile returned to school last week after recovering from the mumps. Robert Miller and Arthur Jensen are still absent because of illness.

Pupils are planting small gardens to watch vegetables grow. Dorothy Beeks brought a plant to school.

Pupils made birds in hand work last week.

Reaches Ninety Years.

Wigner, Neb., March 28.—Mrs. Wilhelm Hagedorn, one of the three oldest women in Wigner, was 90 years old yesterday. She has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Jaekle, for the past eight years. There was no special celebration, owing to the fact that Mrs. Hagedorn fell in her room last week-end, and though it is believed that she sustained no serious injuries, the shock has confined her to her bed since.

To Build at Norfolk.

Norfolk, Neb., March 27.—Norfolk will spend more than 500 thousand dollars in new school buildings within the next few years if the recommendations of the school authorities are carried out. Several of the buildings are so crowded that new rooms are needed for school children and at least one of the buildings, the Grant school, has been condemned by firemen and declared unsafe and unsanitary.

Two Young Men In Short Course

Ernos Williams of Carroll, and Russell Weststrand of Wakefield, were members of first farm operator's short course graduating class at the college of agriculture, Lincoln. The Nebraska farm boys received their diplomas recently. H. K. Douthit, director of short courses at the college of agriculture, presented Williams and Weststrand with their "sheepskins."

The Farm Operator's short course was started two years ago. This is our first class of boys to be graduated. We are proud of them. We feel as though the course is a very practical one, Douthit declares.

Those to complete their first two-year course were Yulan Cook; Dustin; Lawrence Caldwell, Purdum; Ray Finningmeier, Juniata; Ralph Glover, Westerville; Bryon Mott, Hastings; Merrell Shephard, Fremont; Frank Stevens, Orleans; Russell Weststrand, Wakefield; Ernos Williams, Carroll; and Glen Boesiger, Princeton.

The farm operator's short course which was designed for the farm boy who does not have the opportunity of going to high school or colleges, attracted seventy-five boys this year. Fifty were enrolled last year, the first year the course opened. Many boys enroll because the course comes at the time of the year when farm work is light.

Courses in all types of practical farm management were given. The boys studied agronomy, horticulture, animal diseases, poultry, accounting, motors, physical education and public speaking during the term.

Mr. Douthit, director of the course, estimates that each boy spent on an average of $175 during the four months' course. He says this includes expenditures for clothing, books, board, room and other incidentals. The low cost of the course attracted many boys to it this year, he believes.

The boys enrolled in the short course enjoyed many trips to interesting points in Lincoln during their four months. Under supervision they visited the department of agriculture at the state capitol, the University of Nebraska agronomy farm, flour mills, aeroplane factories and state penitentiary. The boys were also taken to Omaha for a trip through the stockyards and packing plants. There they also visited the Ford assembling plant.

All boys in the short course were members of the farm operator's club. Morris Cramer of Aurora, was president of the first term. Ray Caldwell of Purdum led the club during the second term. Various parties were sponsored by the club.

The boys had a banquet at the close of the school. They arranged their own program and had their own toastmaster. Only faculty members of the course were invited guests.

Honored At Notre Dame.

Battle Creek, Neb.—John Preice, 22 years old, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Preice of Battle Creek, won the lightweight boxing championship of the University of Notre Dame in an athletic tournament which took place recently.

Dean Of College Speaks In Blair

Dean H. H. Hahn of Wayne, and State Superintendent Charles Taylor of Lincoln, spoke Thursday evening in Blair at the exercises dedicating the new high school building there. The structure, which cost $135,000, joins and duplicates the old school building. The school thus forms a U shape and occupies half of a square block. The high school and grades are housed in the building. Blair also has two ward grade buildings. The gymnasium in the new structure is a large room which is also used for an auditorium. On the sides are elevated seats and at one end is a large stage which extends the entire width of the gymnasium. Upholstered chairs and desks for the room were secured from a large theatre which sold to Dean and Mrs. Hahn when it Blair Thursday for the dedication and returned Friday.

You ask us what is behind the Science of Chiropractic? We answer: Common sense, inasmuch as it teaches that there cannot be an effect without a Cause, and Disease is but an effect, and the testimony of millions of men, women and children who have been restored to health through its aid, after all other methods have failed. Colorful Picture Coming To Gay

An exciting and colorful picture comes to the Gay theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 6, 7 and 8. It is "Song of the West," a new Vitaphone all-color production presented by the Warner Bros. and boasting a fine story as well as a capable cast headed by Vivienne Segal and John Boles. The scenes are perfectly beautiful. The great outdoors of the West, photographed in natural colors, is a stirring sight. The covered wagons, rumbling over the plains and the long nights with the campfires singing the simple songs of the plains, are scenes of touching beauty. The love story, telling of the regeneration of a man through the devotion of his wife, fits in with the adventurous spirit of the film. Vivienne Segal, well known on the musical stage, is delightful in the leading feminine role. And John Boles, playing opposite Miss Segal, repeats the good acting and fine singing he did in "The Desert Song." Joe E. Brown, the comedian, Sam Hardy, the villain, and Rudolph Cameron, the young lieutenant, all give excellent performances.

The Real Reasons. Let us list for you the real reasons for the popularity of the improved Frederics wave: 1. It gives the lasting quality of the spiral wind, with the soft clinging effect of the Croquignole. 2. Hair may be waved by the new process as many as three or four times a year. 3. It is better for longer hair as it enables the operator to curl the hair ends. 4. The hair is not harsh and dry but is soft and easily handled after a Frederics wave by the new process. 5. There is no discoloration to gray or white hair. 6. The new process enables the operator to bring the wave closer to the scalp without discomfort or danger of burning. You will find Mrs. Floyd Brunker and Mrs. Vivian Scott competent and reliable operators. Please call for your operator by name when making an appointment. About Nebraska and Nebraskans

Will M. Maupin.

One name may with safety be mentioned in this true story, the name of Lowell, now a chief special agent for the Illinois Central railroad. At the time of this story, 1905, he was a deputy sheriff of Lincoln county, with headquarters in North Platte. A felon committed a particularly atrocious crime, his victim being a little girl living far out on a ranch. A posse was formed to track down the little girl's assailant, and a rancher who will be called Jones, because that is not his name, rode with Lowell. Of course they rode horseback. For six days they rode and searched without avail. Lowell obtained a fresh horse, skittish and unruly and afraid of the rifle which Lowell carried in a scabbard on his saddle. He asked Jones to carry it. A little later Lowell and Jones separated to ride down diverging draws, agreeing to meet at the Diamond Bar ranch for supper.

Several of the posse, including Lowell and Jones, met at the ranch, and after supper sat around and smoked for a time. Finally Lowell noticed his rifle standing in a corner and thought it best to empty its magazine for the night. He picked up the rifle and walking to the table began ejecting the cartridges. He pumped away and when the cartridges ceased popping out he counted them. There was one short. He pumped again, then once more, but without result. Then he looked over at Jones. Removing his pipe from his mouth Jones drawled: "O, I forgot to tell you. I shot a skunk while I was ridin' down that draw this afternoon."

The next morning, without either having referred to the matter again, mounted their horses and rode back to North Platte.

Jones, childless, had known the injured little girl from babyhood and so loved children that he once offered Lowell 300 steers for his twin girls. "Why not, Lowell, you'll have more?" argued Jones. But he had to keep the steers.

It must be that "blood tells." Charles Horner, a native of Lexington, will be remembered as a successful Chautauqua manager. Recently he sold his circuit and is now engaged in lyceum work and in his institute in Kansas City. He has three nieces, sisters, who started in Chautauqua work with him as "junior girls" and are still in Chautauqua work under other managers. Alice Horner is teaching in Michigan. Therese is teaching at Geneva, and Gladys Horner is a student at the Kearney Normal. Each in her time has been selected as the most popular student at Kearney.—Gladys this year, Therese two years ago, and Alice four years ago. And each summer they take the Chautauqua platform again.

Mrs. Emeline Lowell of Allen celebrated her 100th birthday on March 26. She has lived in Dixon county for 58 years. Miss Ellen D. Harn of Kenesaw has celebrated her 101st anniversary, and still does most of her own housework and every summer has a flower garden that is visited by hundreds. She was one of the first women in the United States to become a teacher in the public schools, and was one of the original band of suffragists.

Herman Gerecke is probably the oldest census enumerator in Nebraska, if not in the United States. He is a carpenter at the Norfolk hospital for the insane. He is a veteran of the Civil War, 85 years old and was the first mayor of Norfolk. His annual vacation of two weeks began on April 1 so he could make the enumeration in his district, which includes the hospital.

JAMES H. Galley, the oldest merchant in Columbus, died March 24, aged 89. He was a veteran of the Civil War and for 56 years was the head of the Galley Dry Goods Co. of Columbus. Blind for several years he seldom missed a day at the store, and kept himself fully informed upon the details of the big institution.

On March 20 Mr. and Mrs. A. Peterson of St. Edward celebrated their golden wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Standberry of Ogallala celebrated their golden wedding on March 21. But the palm of long marriage was reported in Nebraska so far this year goes to Mr. and Mrs. James P. Porter of Broken Bow, who celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on March 9.

Wymore celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary on March 20. They have lived in Nebraska during 55 years of their married life.

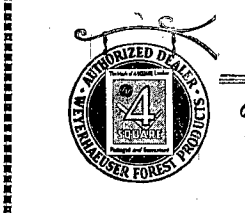

Mother and son married at the same time and by the same minister, is unusual enough to deserve notice. On March 19, Mrs. Wilma A. Logan and Charles Tacheck were married at Hemingford. At the same time her son, Alvin, was married to Miss Grace Newbough.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Eveland of O'Neill celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in March.

Living up to every promise the NEW Polarine

WINS NEW USERS BY THE THOUSAND

Everywhere in the state, thousands of motorists have proved for themselves that "The Modern Motor Oil" does cut carbon deposits in half, does live up to every promise made for it when it was first introduced.

Here are some of the reasons why the new Polarine has earned preference.

Deposits less than half as much carbon as old process oil.

The "pour point" of the new Polarine is so low that perfect lubrication is assured in the coldest weather.

It has remarkable stability at high engine heat—due to the complete removal of wax and tar by a new process of refining.

Its clearness and light, bright color indicate a new degree of oil purity—give it greater resistance to wear and dilution and make it a long-lasting, safe and economical oil.

If you have not used the new Polarine, plan to give this modern motor oil a trial the next time you have your crankcase drained. You will save money three ways—less engine wear, more power, lower oil cost—for the new Polarine is premium quality oil at no advance in price.

Gains Ten Pounds In Less Than a Month

MISS DOROTHY HENNING
"When I started taking Sargon, less than a month ago I only weighed 88 pounds. Now I weigh 98—an actual gain of ten pounds, and I'm still gaining. I suffered terribly from indigestion and constipation. My appetite fell off to almost nothing, and my complexion was very bad. My appetite is just splendid now, and my complexion is clear and healthy looking. Sargon (Soft Mass Pills) have entirely overcome my constipation. My friends marvel at my wonderful improvement."—Miss Dorothy Henning, 1422 Grant St., Denver, Colo.
From coast to coast, and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, Sargon is known and honored. Its fame is based on actual results, not empty promises.

Children Almost Hate Cross, Nervous Mother

"My children almost hated me. I was so cross. Thanks to Vinol, my nervousness is all gone and we are happy again."—Mrs. T. Johnstone.
For 30 years doctors have prescribed Vinol because it contains important mineral elements of iron, calcium and cod liver peptone. The very FIRST bottle brings sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Nervous, worried people are surprised how QUICK Vinol gives new life and pep! Tastes delicious. In Wakefield by Long's Drug Store.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE 90 DAYS MAKE!
TODAY A TODDLING CHICK... in 90 days a proud pullet about to lay. There's something to think about! Tiny bones and little muscles have grown several times in size... a delicate fuzz has sprouted into hundreds of feathers... a chick weighing grams has grown into a pullet weighing pounds... all in 90 short days!
A wonderful change... and only one thing can do it... good feed! This year consider Purina Startena Chow (mash) and Purina Chick Chow (scratch) or All-Mash Startena Chow for the first six weeks... and then Purina Growena and Purina Intermediate Hen Chow until your pullets are laying at 16 weeks.
Put these Chows before your chicks. You will see pullets that are built right... pullets that will lay eggs aplenty in fall and winter when eggs are always worth good money.

Boy Saves Comrade. West Point, Neb., March 28.—Late Wednesday afternoon Wallace Thompson, 5, son of Dr. Claude Thompson, went to the city park to play football with a group of little boys all about 8 or 9 years of age. The football put of bounds and fell into the deep drainage ditch on the edge of the park.

Wallace, the youngest in the bunch, attempted to recover the ball and fell into the ditch. The water was so deep his feet didn't touch bottom.

Then the hero of the occasion, "H. C." Wear, jr., 8-year-old son of H. C. Wear, a printer employed in the West Point Republican office, calmly pulled him out.

"H. C." is a pupil in the second grade of the West Point public schools and in the eyes of his schoolmates and many adults is a real hero.

It is now fashionable for women to have their eyebrows thinned. This naturally requires a good deal of plucking. London Opinion.
