Injuries Fatal To Mrs. Benning

Randolph Woman Passes Away

HOLDING UP GAS STATIONS NEED PREVENTIVE HAND

ROBBING filling stations seems to be an all-year sport, and one that is hard to check. Two more motor operators to tank the same as hundreds do every day, and the attendant quickly responds to the usual needs of travelers. Instead of returning the gasoline dispenser's greeting, the stingers pull out their arms and demand the cash receipts. If no one happens along to detect the hold-up and sound the alarm, the gasoline man is helpless, and there is nothing for him to do but comply with the invitation and do it without delay. Their purpose accomplished the bandits escape in a fast-moving car, and by the time officers are notified and get into action, capture becomes a grave doubt. The business would hardly warrant keeping an extra man on the lookout for possible robbers. What to do to foil such unprovoked and impolite ways of getting something without return seems to be a problem yet to be solved.

months and 1 day. Rev. W. W. Whitman and Prof. O. R. Bowen had charge of rites. Prof. J. G. W. Lewis, Prof. A. F. Gulliver, Prof. W. C. Lowrie and Prof. G. W. Costerian sang. The church was filled to capacity with those who gathered to pay tribute to their friend. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery and the I. O. O. F. order conducted services there. Business houses closed during the rites.

Charles Ward Reynolds, son of Edward and Mary Reynolds, was born in Elkader, Iowa, September 5, 1876. He came to Nebraska with his parents in 1886. After being graduated from the Wayne high school in 1896, Mr. Reynolds attended the Nebraska Normal college and the University of Nebraska, studying law and journalism at the latter institution. He became clerk of the district court in Wayne county in 1900 and served four years. In 1904 he began his duties as Wayne county clerk and he had served continually in this capacity since. Mr. Reynolds married Miss Ida M. Linson of Minden, Neb., July 19, 1905. He leaves his wife and two sons, Edward, who is teaching at Douglas, Wyo., and Henry, who is a student at the Wayne State Teachers College. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. C. S. Beebe, Mrs. A. E. Gildersleeve and Mrs. H. B. Craven of Wayne, and two brothers, DeLois Reynolds of Kearney, Neb., and Clyde Reynolds of Atlanta, Ga. One sister, Mrs. Rollie W. Ley, died just a few weeks ago.

Deceased was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge and was captain of the lodge drill team for over twenty years. In 1895 he became a member of the Methodist church and for thirty-five years he had been interested in advancing its activities.

Prof. Bowen in his eulogy at the funeral services, told of the outstanding public service of deceased. Excerpts from his address are as follows:

"During the World war Mr. Reynolds rendered conspicuous service on the draft board. No uniformed patriot in camp or on the battlefield gave more, freely of energy, time and effort than he. Under the strain of those times, long hours day in and day out, friends observed that his hair whitened. During all this time he was performing duties of the office of county clerk in addition to carrying the great responsibility of service for the government. What greater tribute can be paid to a public man than to say of him that in times of peace and in times of war he served his country faithfully?"

"Of words of eulogy which may be spoken can be more eloquent than the record of this man's life which has been lived before us from day to day in this community. No fortune in land or gold can equal the inheritances he has left his two sons, an example of a good life."

"Mr. Reynolds was recognized as one of the most efficient and best informed county clerks in Nebraska. It has been said that he knew more voters of the county by name than any other man. So well known and so highly respected was Mr. Reynolds that of late years he had no opposition in elections."

"Mr. Reynolds was a good citizen, public spirited and active in

SECRET CODE IS ADOPTED TO AID CONTROL OF FIRE

WHEN fire breaks out and an alarm of fire is turned in, telephone operators are besieged by inquiries as to the location of the fire, and as a consequence information to members of the fire company is hindered and often usual telephone communication is delayed. To relieve such a condition it has been found necessary to adopt a secret code known only to firemen and to telephone operators. Thus, necessary facts may be quickly given, and questions merely to satisfy curiosity will not be answered. During Monday night's fire two bandits robbed the Merchant & Strahan gasoline station, and while telephone operators were trying to serve both, a flood of inquiries came in from subscribers who wanted to know the location of the blaze. The service suffered serious interference, to overcome which the new policy of employing a secret code has been inaugurated.

Station Robbed By Masked Men

Merchant & Strahan Office
Held Up By Intruders
Monday Evening.

Only Cash Is Taken

Two Disappear in Coupe After Forcing Garfield Swanson to Do As They Bid.

Driving up to the door of the Merchant & Strahan filling station on west First street Monday evening at 9:30 and demanding Garfield Swanson, who was in charge, to "stick 'em up," two masked men made way with the night's receipts in cash and drove off. Officers are tracing a few clues but have as yet not identified the intruders.

The two men, one of whom was the aggressor and appeared to be experienced in the hold-up business, drove up to the station from the west, parking their Chevrolet coupe close to the building so that the door of the car and the station door were together. Mr. Swanson, who was alone, thought the car had driven up for gasoline and he opened the station door to give service. He was met by the two masked men, both carrying guns. The aggressor demanded that Mr. Swanson open the safe. This he did and assured the men that there was nothing but books and paper in it. The one then demanded that he open the cash register. Swanson was then invited to face the well so that he could not see either of the bandits and they took cash amounting to about $45, leaving checks. They then shut Swanson in the rear room and demanded that he stay there. In leaving the two jerked the telephone from the wall, evidently trying to disconnect it. But the wire held intact. Nothing else in the room was disturbed.

After the two started off the station platform, Mr. Swanson notified officers. The car containing the men drove from west to the corner, going north on Pearl. Mr. Swanson saw the machine turn east at Fifth.

Two property deeds were recorded in Wayne county this week. They are as follows:

Vera H. and George E. Jones and wife to J. H. Kemp, April 7, for $10,000, the west half of the southeast quarter of section eighteen, township twenty-five, range five.

Civic affairs and public office. He was an affectionate husband, a companionable father, a lover of his home and his church, a faithful worker in the lodge and a true and loyal friend. How genuine, how sincere, how faithful he was!"

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the home with Rev. W. W. Whitman of the Methodist church in charge. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Plea Of Guilty To Shop Lifting

Three Women Of Norfolk
Fined In Court Here
Last Thursday.

Fourth Is Sought

Stores In Wayne, Winside and
Hoskins Identify Articles
Which Are Found.

Pleading guilty to charges of shop lifting in Wayne, Winside and Hoskins stores, three Norfolk young women were fined each $100 and costs of $14 Thursday afternoon in Wayne county court. Warrant has been issued for arrest of the fourth woman who was with the others and who evaded police Thursday evening at Norfolk.

Mrs. Petra Lauman, 23, Miss Nellie Loomer, 17, and Miss Ina Bowen, 17, are the three who were brought into court here on charges of taking goods from the Jeffries' Style Shop and Larson & Larson and J. C. Nuss stores in Wayne, the Herman Fleece store in Winside and the Dr. S. H. Brauer store in Hoskins. Charge was also filed against Mrs. Esther Olson, known to Norfolk police as Miss Esther Reichert, who was driving the car, which, it is said, belongs to Otto Kruse of Norfolk.

The four women stopped first at the Dr. Brauer drug store at Hoskins Wednesday afternoon about 1:30 on their shopping tour. The Dr. Brauer family lives in rooms back of the store and none were in the front of the building when the women entered. A young woman who is employed in the light plant, which is across the street from the drug store, saw the women enter and noticed that they went back of the counter and opened cases. She knew one of the girls. After they had gone she called the store and asked if anything were missed. It was found that three compact, four perfumes, two atomizers and one adhesive tape, all valued at $7.70, had been taken.

The young women evidently made their next stop at Winside. They took a pair of bedroom slippers valued at $3.25 from the Daylight store, owned by Herman Fleece. One of the girls put these on and wore them the rest of the day. The shoppers were not suspected in this venture.

Coming to Wayne the women took goods from Larson & Larson, J. C. Nuss and Jeffries' Style Shop and were not caught in their plans at any of the places. They took goods valued at $45 from the Larson store, this including a figured chiffon dress, a pair of hose, two scarfs and a leather handbag. From the Nuss store they secured articles valued at $4.14, this including two pairs of hose, a pair of step-ins, match box and cigar holder. A pair of slippers and a dress, valued at about $8 were taken from the Jeffries store.

On returning to Norfolk with their goods the young women decided to visit the Brauer drug store again at Hoskins. This was about 6 p. m. They were recognized as the same group, and after they left Dr. Brauer and Reuben Weiler followed them to Norfolk and notified police. The officers traced and arrested the four in their homes. Mrs. Olson was alone with an infant about 18 months old when the officers visited her home. The police left to make arrangements for care of the baby and when they returned Mrs. Olson was gone. The other three were taken in custody. As the Norfolk police station has no quarters for women Sheriff A. W. Stephens was notified and went to Norfolk, bringing the women here that night.

In a suit case which the women had were found not only the articles from the drug store but the wearing apparel. The group confessed that these had been taken from Wayne and Winside stores. Merchants in these places were notified Thursday morning and the goods were identified.

In court Thursday the three women entered pleas of guilty. They were lodged in jail until fines and fees were paid. Mrs. Lauman and Miss Bowen paid theirs Friday and were released.

LINCOLN PAPER'S WELL KNOWN POET STOPS IN WAYNE

DR. A. L. Bixby, genial poet-proseur of the Lincoln Journal, motored up from the capital city Monday and was a guest of the Herald family over night. Dr. Bixby stopped in Wayne fifteen years ago, and now he reaffirms his judgment formed then that northeast Nebraska possessed land of surpassing fertility and promise. He says appearance everywhere of well kept farms and fat herds warrants his original opinion, and attests to the high and progressive type of citizenry hereabouts. Dr. Bixby's review of Wayne—his Teachers' College, hospital and other institutions—was a revelation of present soundness and future assurance. In the early days Dr. Bixby divided attention between editing newspapers and practicing medicine. From a gun with two barrels, one containing literary nourishment and the other carefully assorted pills and powders, he fired away at early settlers at frequent intervals, and thus he helped develop a healthy and sturdy race. Before going to the Lincoln Journal as columnist in 1892, he ran a newspaper at Fullerton and later one at Columbus. These experiences in the country field at a time when rural publications were regarded as necessary but of no value, developed courage for his larger work at Lincoln where his Daily Drift has been justly popular for nearly forty years. Dr. Bixby returned recently from a five months' sojourn at points on the Pacific coast. At Porterville he spent some time with a son who is an orange grower of big success.

Frederick Berry of Wayne, headed the freshmen with 97.6. Ray Dever of Madison, Duane Peterson of Wauson, Elzada Hypse of Wakefield, and Adelaide Kalmer of Madison, were in the four following places.

Boys Drowned While Fishing

Three Sons Of Bert Ellis
Lose Lives In The West

Dog Finds Trail

Two Bodies Are Found Tuesday and Third Recovered Wednesday
From Mill Pond.

Falling from a fishing net in the Pathandle Lumber Company's mill pond at Ione, Wash., Sunday, March 30, Gale, 14, Earl, 11, and Franklin, 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ellis of Ione, grandsons of Mrs. Clara Ellis and nephews of Mrs. C. H. Fisher and Mrs. D. H. Cunningham of Wayne, drowned. Bodies of the first two named were recovered Tuesday morning last week and the body of the last named was found on Wednesday afternoon.

The three boys went to the mill pond at 9 in the morning Sunday to fish. When they did not return at 5 in the afternoon their father began a search and about fifty friends joined him in an effort to locate the boys. Not finding the lads that night 200 adults and school children of Ione and Metairie Falls joined the group Monday, searching along railroad tracks, roads and both banks of the river between Newport and Metairie Falls.

A German Police dog, brought by car from Spokane, to Ione, traced footprints of the children from their home to the bank of the mill pond Monday evening. The animal returned to the spot where the boys had been fishing a huge reflector, connected with the electric system of the mill, and used this to illuminate the water depths. Boat crews worked until late in the evening Monday, but too frequent fouling of the logs made the water so muddy that they had to abandon the search until Tuesday morning. Three boats were dragging the bed of the pond continually.

The hunt concentrated on the mill pond Tuesday morning. The recovery of Gale's body was effected at 9 in the morning and Earl's body was found about five minutes later. The cap Earl wore from home was still on his head.

Both were found near a raft which was floating idle on the pond. The body of Franklin was found Wednesday afternoon at 11 o'clock about thirty feet from the point at which the others were located.

Along the shore of the pond were yellow stiffs to show where the young folks had cut poles for their fishing expedition. It is thought one of the lads probably slipped from the raft and the others tried to save him.

The accident was a severe shock to the parents and four other children in the family. The parents, two brothers and two sisters survive. Wyoming and Luna are students in a Spokane high school, and Harry and Clare are at home.

Mr. Ellis is superintendent of plumbing and heating in the Metairie Falls plant of the Bend Oreille Mines and Metals Company.

Hospital Notes.
Miss Vera Sylvanus of Wayne, had tonsils removed Monday.

Miss Ardath Roe of near Carroll, underwent an operation for ruptured appendix Friday afternoon. She is improving.

Mrs. Wm. Mellor was able to return to her home in Wayne on Sunday. Mrs. Mellor underwent an operation for appendicitis several days ago.

Miss Amy Hamm of near Carroll, was able to return to her home Friday after recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Ponca Youth Goes To High Position

Ponca, Neb.—An enviable position in the radio world has been attained by Adelbert M. Burdick, formerly of Ponca, who attended Ponca public schools 15 years ago. Mr. Burdick now is superintendent of the Radio Institute of America, New York City.

Barely past 30, Mr. Burdick is the youngest superintendent in charge of the largest school among the five conducted by the corporation for which he works. Starting in the radio field 11 years ago, Mr. Burdick has achieved his high position by hard work.

Before he finished high school, the Burdicks moved to Sioux City, where he worked at various things. When he was 19 he joined a Sioux City unit of the Iowa national guard which later was taken into the regular army during war time. After the armistice he found himself in New York and, being interested in radio, entered the Marconi institute and learned wireless. Then he went to sea as a wireless operator and for six years on the water, for the most part in Caribbean and tropical seas.

Four years ago, Mr. Burdick quit the sea to become code instructor in the institute where he had received his training. About a year ago came his promotion to superintendent. He is married and resides in Brooklyn.

Happy Chick News

Another week has rolled around and we have had lots of excitement! Lots of wind. I mean that the wind has blown hard. Several fires around town, and one filling station holdup. Business has been good however.

George Wacker, north of here, purchased a 9x12 Happy Chick Brooder House complete with Simplex stove.

Bliger Pearson bought a Simplex stove this week. People are just coming in and hauling these Simplex stoves out. We do not have to use any salesmanship on them any more.

A parking space is where you leave the car to have those little dents put in the fenders.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Weiershauser came in last Saturday and purchased a 9x12 Happy Chick Brooder, then a little later in the afternoon Mrs. Weiershauser came back and said "Ebe and I include one of those Simplex stoves with the house."

Elmer Noakes had us fix him up a special brooder house out of one of our 2-pen hog houses. We put in two windows in the front in place of the doors also a window in the roof, put in a door in one end and used different material on the floor. This sure makes a very clever house and at a very reasonable cost for 84 feet of floor space.

There is a new one out about the Scotchman who sent his father-in-law the surgeon's bill when he learned that his wife's tonsils should have been taken out when she was a little girl.

Clerk in Five and Ten Cent Store: "You can have anything in the store for a dime." Customer: "I'll take the little counter behind the candy counter."

John Hanson, northwest of here, got a 9x12 Happy Chick Brooder with scratch shed this week. Harvey Larson ordered a set of roosts for his house this week. We make our roosts according to the plans given us by the State Agricultural College at Lincoln, using dropping boards and 1-in. poultry netting under the roost poles.

One reason will never see a saloon on every corner again is because the service stations own all the corners.

Smith (meeting Jones after many years): "Yes, our old friend Brown has gone to his everlasting rest!" Jones: "What? Did he get that government job after all?"

Henry Wacker ordered a 9x12 Happy Chick Brooder complete with Simplex stove. Everything comes to him who orders hash, but only the best comes to him who orders a Happy Chick Brooder House of our 5-pen Farming house.

Bernard Dalton had a 9x12 Happy Chick Brooder trucked out to his place this week. We send out a lot of these 9x12 houses already set up.

Professor: "Can you give me an example of a paradox?" Henry Wacker ordered a 9x12 Happy Chick Brooder trucked out to his place this week. We send out a lot of these 9x12 houses already set up.

"A woman rarely realizes her age, until the birthday cake begins to look like a forest fire."

We sold a 12x16 Happy Chick Brooder House with roosts to Joe Conley, 5 miles west of Winside, Tuesday.

Remember, we make anything that can be made of wood.

This is the Happy Chick Brooder factory, Wayne, Nebraska, Station P-207, signing off until next week.

AFFILIATING MEMBER

As civilization rises, people are able to be fair in opposition to selfish interests.

While the ground is not seriously dry, a fall of moisture at this time would help small grain and give a start to vegetation generally.

Business or public office as a reason for church membership is too thin long to fool many people, and sooner or later reacts as a boomerang.

All public bodies must be actuated by motives seeking the greatest good to the greatest number, uninfluenced by prejudice or selfish interests, to deserve confidence and popular support.

Herald advertisers report uniformly increased trade. March was good, but April is starting off better. More and more this newspaper is looked to for buying information, and more and more it is serving as a reliable guide for careful shoppers.

This week another rift was taken in the popular estimation of the United States senate by an exchange of ugly epithets and threats between a member and an Alabama publisher who was a witness before a committee. The vaunted dignity of the body would be better preserved if members could avoid unseemly mental explosions.

When one gets stung, all he has to do is to work harder to make the grade. It is not fair, but it is the way it is. While overcoming burdens flung into his path, he may resolve not to be stung in the same way again, thus gradually reducing the number of ways and giving opportunities to new ways which are more interesting because they are different.

The regretted passing of Chas. W. Reynolds, county official for thirty years, most of the time as clerk, reminds people of the efficient public service he has given through the years. He knew the business of the county thoroughly, and he was scrupulously exact in every detail of his work. His knowledge of county affairs and his long experience in handling them will be an inspiration and spur to his successor.

An Iowa woman died at the age of 80 after lying in bed 40 years to punish her husband for refusing to change his will to give her all his property. After seven years of this sort of marital happiness, the woman decided to relent, but she found nature had been quietly making use of her legs. They would not work, and she had to stay in bed. That her stubbornness was measurably matched by that of her husband gave the latter the defense in years of the letter.

A scientist in Cornell university has discovered what we have known for a long time—that woman's brain is as good as man's. Some differences are pointed out, an advantage to one being counterbalanced by an advantage to the other. Man's brain averages slightly larger, attributed to heavier physical development. That part of the brain which specializes in vision is said to be better developed in women. This superiority indicates sound judgment and suggests the advisability of listening to women when they have something to offer in the way of advice.

The first census returns announced—coming from Hoskins—report a decrease in population from 274 in 1920 to 251 in 1930. This is the first time that populations are drifting from small centers to the cities, and we are awaiting with feverish anxiety results which will determine the class in which Wayne belongs. According to reports, the census which ascertains a lot of information besides the size of the population, is showing farmers that their net earnings include home-cured meats, vegetables and other home-produced foods which they consume. A large share of the living cost which comes directly from the farm almost unnoticed, amounts to actual revenue.

Transmission of a completely printed page in three hours from San Francisco to St. Nicholas, N. Y., by use of a recently invented contrivance used in connection with a radio is another important achievement in science. It is suggested that the future may see reproduction of a newspaper no matter how distant in the home by anyone possessing a radio coupled with the latest invention. With strides made and promised in radio, it would seem up to newspapers to develop new reasons for their existence. Like every other line of endeavor, the newspaper must adjust itself to change and progress. If a newspaper does not serve a definite purpose and answer a positive demand, its owners might as well pitch it into the junk heap and engage in some other line of work. If a newspaper cannot do something that cannot be done by radio or by other improved methods, it will perish in the absence of interest and support.

Business. Sioux City Journal. The claim has been made that business has turned the corner is on the upgrade. This has come from various sources as a part of symposiums to which economists, industrial leaders and government experts have contributed. The representation is that the long looked for improvement has begun. The spring season was expected to bring greater activity in various lines. Building particularly was to be stimulated to an extensive degree. General construction work involving an expenditure of billions of dollars has commenced throughout the country. This cannot fail to exert an influence on industry. Meanwhile, labor will feel benefits through the absorption of thousands of unemployed. Freight car loadings will increase as shipments of building material go to contractors. General buying will be strengthened because of more workers being employed. Meanwhile there will be more money in circulation, and confidence will be stronger. Whether 1930 will duplicate

TALK.
Language was invented, and measurably perfected to use wisely in conveying thought. It was not made to talk in circles, with no ideas and no objective. Its purpose is not to string auditors along with insane fairy tales or palm off ill-considered fiction for facts. The man who opens his mouth whenever he can persuade some one to listen, and details pointless trivialities without mercy, is a calamity which it may be charitably presumed was not the intention of the originators and promoters of the use of words. It is a rare gift and a most agreeable one to say just enough and not too much. The one who talks too little is suspected of being either overly bright or extraordinarily dull. If smart and secretive, he may be cold and unsympathetic, unjustly withholding helpful wisdom. The one who prates unceasingly, abuses the privilege of speech and is avoided as an unconscionable bore. The fellow who thinks before speaking, limiting himself to necessary words and quitting when he has finished, is an ornament to society and a boon to business circles.

1928 and recover from a bad start remains to be seen. So far this year the situation has been almost a repetition of that in 1928, but in the early summer a strong upturn came, and the finish, it will be remembered, was strong in the fall and early winter. There is still a chance that 1930 will recover more quickly than did 1928. The upturn has come sooner by about two months.

The possibility of congress enacting legislation revising the tariff is now stronger than many observers had expected. For a time it appeared that, after all, there would be no revision of the tariff. Now, the conference committee has the house and senate bills and is attempting to adjust the differences. The hope is that a measure soon may be agreed upon and that it will find favor with the administration, thus giving general business an opportunity to proceed with its plans for the rest of the year.

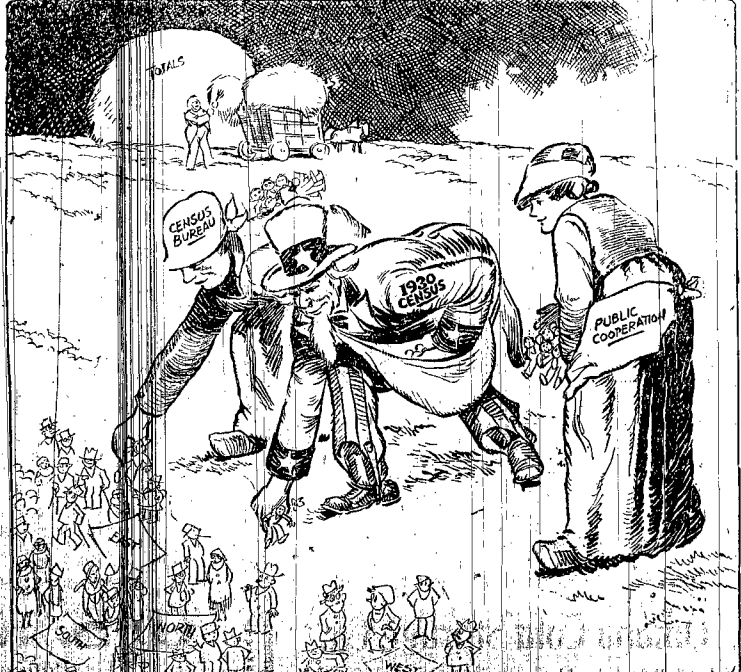

There was a total of 875,542 revenue freight cars loaded for the week ending March 22. This was a drop of 5,645 cars below the preceding week and a reduction below the same period last year of 86,858. It also was lower than the corresponding week in 1928. Reductions in the total loadings of all commodities were reported from every district.

Thomas Paine. Omaha World-Herald: A recent contributor to the Public Pulse writes: "Modern preachers are bringing out the same teaching as Tom Paine, yet I presume they would also resent being called atheists and agnostics."

This may be perfectly accurate so far as concerns the similarity of opinions between Thomas Paine and the modernists. But it is far from accurate in its implication that Paine was either an atheist or an agnostic. Any person who will take the trouble to read "The Age of Reason" and Paine's correspondence touching that work can see with half a glance that the terms do not fit. A heretic, a non-Christian, if you choose, but neither an atheist nor an agnostic.

Paine introduced his work with this confession of faith: "I believe in one God, and no more; and I hope for happiness beyond this life." "I believe the equality of man, and I believe that religious duties consist in doing justice, loving mercy and endeavoring to make our fellow creatures happy." He amplified that credo by declaring that the Creator had revealed Himself to the world through the visible universe and only in that way. He called himself a deist. If atheism consists of a positive disbelief in any deity and agnosticism of denial that man possesses any knowledge of God, that seems to yet Paine out. He did, however, deny the theology on which the numerous Christian sects have been erected and he did it quite vehemently.

Whether he was right or wrong is a proper subject for controversy. But in carrying on that controversy a fair degree of accuracy and honesty should be maintained.

Thomas Paine's pen contributed no less than George Washington's sword to the success of the American revolution and it is high time that Americans did him the justice of being honest with his memory.

Extension Workers Increase In State

Lincoln, Neb. Extension workers have estimated that Nebraska's 4-H club enrollment this year will be 15,000, an increase of 4,500 over the goal and 2,500 over actual enrollment last year. This figure is almost double that for 1928. Counties where there are no extension agents have contributed 1,000 members.

Lancaster county, with a goal of 900 members, is far in the lead again this year. Cass, Custer, Dawson, Fillmore, Saunders and Thayer counties all have goals of 500. Deuel with 200 and Kimball with 300 probably will have the largest percentages of eligible boys and girls in club work.

NATURAL GAS.
The Norfolk city council has decided to call a special election to vote on a proposition to grant a twenty-five-year franchise to an Omaha company to furnish natural gas. Franchisees have been granted by a number of points in southern Nebraska, and the plan seems to contemplate extension of the service. The report states that the line may travel to Norfolk from Sioux City through Wayne, or from Omaha by way of Blair and Fremont. If feasible to pipe natural gas from southern fields, towns should benefit by a rate that will materially cut down fuel costs. If a city grants a franchise, it should be sure that the rate is fixed low enough to justify the concession with an absolute guarantee of service within a specified time. Gas is a very acceptable medium of heat, but if it is wished to share the burden of electricity in supplying public needs, its rate to consumers should be based on low cost of production which may reasonably be expected. If natural gas is to be piped into this part of the state, and if franchisees are to be granted, consumers should be assured that they should have reason to expect a liberal reduction in rates below those charged for electricity for a proposed term of years.

Variety of Easter Styles Simplifies Problem of Choosing the Right Frock

BY HARRIET

An excellent Easter outfit for the young girl is shown at the left. It is of soft tweed in the most fashionable color and has a wide belt of red leather and a hat of gray straw to match. The ensemble in the center is of beige and black mixture material while that at the right is of red and gray jersey.

Topping this outfit is a beige combination and a stunning one for many reasons. The skirt fits snugly to the body, nipping in for a normal waistline and then continuing up to a deep yoke line. The top of the frock is made of gray georgette, with a lovely collar that comes down to tie in a bow knot. There is a stitched georgette belt in the gray, and the hip-length jacket is faced and lined with the gray georgette.

For this outfit, a habitant in gray, with a wide banding made up of alternating gray and red narrow ribbon makes a sweet hat. Gloves are gray and so are the stockings.

For the chic woman who can wear anything, there are stunning new dressy tweeds this year that unite with the creases to make some of the season's loveliest and perfect frocks.

For the chic woman who can wear anything, there are stunning new dressy tweeds this year that unite with the creases to make some of the season's loveliest and perfect frocks.

One of these is from M. J. H. in gray mixed with red, an unusual combination and a stunning one for many reasons. The skirt fits snugly to the body, nipping in for a normal waistline and then continuing up to a deep yoke line. The top of the frock is made of gray georgette, with a lovely collar that comes down to tie in a bow knot. There is a stitched georgette belt in the gray, and the hip-length jacket is faced and lined with the gray georgette.

For this outfit, a habitant in gray, with a wide banding made up of alternating gray and red narrow ribbon makes a sweet hat. Gloves are gray and so are the stockings.

Chevrolet's New Service Policy

The Chevrolet Motor Company today announces a new and broader service policy. Any Chevrolet owner, experiencing defective workmanship or material on a Chevrolet car under the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty, is invited to call upon any authorized Chevrolet dealer in the United States or Canada where the work will be done at no cost to him.

The plan, known as the Owner's Service Policy, is now in effect in the 10,000 authorized Chevrolet service stations in the United States, operating under the general supervision of the 52 Chevrolet branch offices.

The new policy takes the form of a written agreement given the purchaser by the Chevrolet dealer when the new car is delivered. It puts down in plain, understandable language the greater service protection to which every Chevrolet owner is now entitled. Briefly, it offers the following provisions:

1. Every Chevrolet owner receives his car from the dealer in perfect condition, thoroughly lubricated, properly adjusted and ready to operate efficiently from the first mile of ownership.
2. Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection and adjustment of his car at the end of the first 500 miles of usage. This includes checking and adjusting the brakes, tappets, timing, generator, carburetor, clutch pedal, and steering gear; tightening all body bolts; tightening all motor belts; testing and filling battery and checking the oil level in the transmission and rear axle. The dealer assumes no responsibility for previous adjustments when they have been made in service stations other than his own.
3. Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection of his car every thousand miles thereafter so long as the car is in operation.
4. Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free replacement of any part which may prove defective, either in workmanship or in material, within the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty, provided such parts and labor are not required because of accident or mechanical abuse. This includes both parts and labor. This provision will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States. Accordingly, the Chevrolet owner may change his residence, or travel to any part of the country with full assurance that the guarantee on materials and workmanship will give him complete protection.

In all Chevrolet dealer's service stations there are employed skilled mechanics, thoroughly trained at Chevrolet service schools. These stations are equipped with specially designed tools and machinery developed exclusively from Chevrolet service work. The factory issues an assurance to that each car is at all times a complete stock of genuine Chevrolet replacement parts. And the rates charged are standard flat rates including both parts and labor and are the lowest in the industry on many service and repair operations.

NEBRASKA STILL PRACTICAL TREE PLANTERS' STATE

The vision of J. Sterling Morton, which found permanent expression in the establishment of Arbor Day throughout many states, not only still lingers in the founder's own state but last year impelled Nebraskians to plant trees as they never planted them before. Clayton W. Watkins, extension service forester at the Nebraska college of agriculture, reported a fifty percent increase in tree planting last year. Nebraska is again living up to her early nickname, "The Tree Planters' State."

A mood of beautification has possessed the people of the state and they are planting trees and shrubs as never before. Within the next decade a great change will be seen over the state in the character of the landscape. Publicly owned lakes, now being purchased by the state game and fish commission, will be beauty spots bordered with shrubs and trees and grass as well as stocked with fish. Railroad grounds and right-of-way will be more and more prettified with shrub and tree plantings. Highways will be bordered with trees. Private homes and grounds will show in their better appearance the mood of tree planting that has taken the people.

Farmers of the state this year receive 800,000 seedling trees through the extension service of the Nebraska college of agriculture. The seedlings are provided at the cost of handling them to those who will plant them to provide windbreaks, wood lots or ornamentation.

Custer county has launched a tree planting and home beautification campaign with a goal of 250,000 trees and shrubs planted this year. The county extension agent is taking orders at one cent each for seedling trees and nearly 100,000 have already been ordered. The evergreens are supplied from the state and federal forest nursery at Halsey. The broadleaf varieties are purchased from Nebraska nurseries.

Pigeon Returns To Wisner Home
Wisner, Neb., April 4.—When Clarence E. Anderson recently accompanied his sister, Mrs. William Davis, to her home at Veale, he took with him a pair of squabs and a grown pigeon as a gift for his nephew. The pigeons were released and put into a shed. About a half hour later, the older pigeon was missing and was found to have made her escape through a small hole. The bird was not anywhere to be seen.

On Monday of this week, the missing pigeon returned to the Anderson home after a lapse of two and a half weeks. Its distinguishing mark is a black feather, which may now be only faintly seen, because the bird is all covered with grease and grime. The bird upon its arrival seemed all tired out but entirely at home and happy. And so do members of the Anderson family who think they are the owners of a remarkable pigeon.

Nine fires in barns, granaries and hay stacks added 40 thousand dollars to the total. Fourteen other places represented a like loss.

During the same period, deaths totaled 22 and injuries 316 in 330 accidents reported by the association. Twenty-two of the 316 were permanently disabled. George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's Commission on Law Enforcement, states the Prohibition laws are more efficiently enforced than any others, but he might have added that he might have added that with equal justice that they are also more efficiently enforced than any others.—Boston Globe.

Our suggestion of a good name for that new way discovered planet, which is being so much talked about, but can't be seen, is Prohibition—Springfield Union.

A Charming Four-Room Dwelling

This plan provides for combining the living room and dining room, an idea that is growing in popularity. With a commodious breakfast room, this arrangement is very practical. The large front bedroom with two closets, and the sleeping-porch, which is inclosed, provide the customary sleeping space for this size of house. The kitchen is of a size and arrangement to save the housewife unnecessary steps. The inexpensive trellis enhance the exterior considerably.

It may surprise some of the readers of this advertisement to learn that we maintain a comfortable guest room at our funeral home, for the accommodation of out-of-town patrons. Relatives coming from a distance for funeral services often prefer to remain here, where they can enjoy privacy and quiet rather than to seek quarters in a public hotel. Sometimes, too, patrons living in this city like to stay near the loved one during the time preceding the funeral. For all such, we have provided every comfort and convenience in our guest room.

Diseases of Swine Being Considered

(By Geo. Round, Jr.) "A rather dense swine population mainly divided into large herds on small areas of land in recent years has brought about conditions favorable for disease propagation," Dr. L. Van Es, head of the animal pathology department at the College of Agriculture at Lincoln, declares in his new station circular upon swine sanitation which is ready for distribution.

In discussing hog diseases, he declares hog cholera and typhoid fever are the two big factors affecting the presence of swine diseases. In his new circular, Dr. Van Es, says that hog cholera is the greatest part of swine losses. This condition exists despite the fact that practically every farmer knows the disorder and that it can successfully be controlled by immunization. The smaller the number of cholera-susceptible swine on farms, the less this disease will play a part in losses by swine.

Dr. Van Es says, "Vaccination well ahead of the period at which cholera is apt to show its highest prevalence, is the only means of preventing hog cholera losses. Neglecting to vaccinate during years when the disease shows a reduced prevalence contributes to make extensive outbreaks possible in following years," Dr. Van Es declares in his circular.

Ricketts, bronchitis, pneumonia, parasites, bull nose, pythias, joint infections and other diseases are commonly associated with the faults of environment of different constitutions. Most of these swine diseases are more or less confined to pigs and younger swine, and probably account for the larger part of death loss among these age groups, the circular says.

Dr. Van Es says that ricketts, and bone-softening are primarily caused by the lack of lime phosphorus compounds in the feed or by the inability of the animals to assimilate and utilize them. He says that sunshine helps to cure this disease.

He declared that pig pneumonia is associated with environmental faults such as low temperatures; wet, cold floors; dark and filthy pens. Inadequate or faulty feeding is also a cause of the disease, he says. To this must be added the action of certain bacteria.

In discussing the preventative measures for pneumonia, Van Es says that the establishment of a safe environment is the principal factor. Pig pens should be clean, dry and warm, but also well ventilated, he goes on to say. Artificial heat may be applied for unreasonably early farrowed pigs, but care must be taken not to overheat them.

In a swine sanitation program, the doctor declares the ground occupied by swine should be abandoned periodically. A systematic rotation of lots and pastures, has a definite place in any scheme of swine sanitation, he declares in his circular.

Drainage is an important factor in establishing clean yards. Surface water accumulations are always a menace to animal health and mud walls—even concrete ones, are clogging houses for various infections. Subsoil drainage is particularly valuable, because it promotes the perpendicular flow of water and gets rid of undesirable organisms and substances.

It's wise to choose a SIX!

After all, it is a perfectly simple matter to decide which automobile to buy in today's market. Only two questions must be answered to your satisfaction:

First: Which car gives the most for my money?

Second: Which car represents the soundest investment in satisfaction and pride of ownership?

In buying a low-priced car consider the following facts:

It is wise to choose a six-cylinder motor—for six cylinders are necessary to take out vibration and roughness. Six-cylinder smoothness will save the motor, the chassis, the body, the passengers and the driver.

The Chevrolet is a six. And yet it sells at a price that anyone can afford to pay.

This very low-priced car lasts longer, not only because of fine materials and oversize parts, but also because it is a six. Its big, smooth, 57-horsepower six-cylinder engine is always "taking it easy." There is no feeling of strain.

With all its six-cylinder smoothness and power the New Chevrolet Six uses no extra gasoline or oil. Efficient design makes it possible—overhead valves—high compression power from any fuel—very late combustion—close-fitting, long-wearing pistons—crankcase ventilation—air cleaner. You can really have extreme economy and still satisfy your ideal of truly modern transportation.

Chevrolet economy is also the mark of Chevrolet sincerity in manufacture. To illustrate:

Chevrolet valves are readily accessible and adjustable. This saves replacing valves, and also makes it possible to preserve the efficiency of the engine.

A similar example is found in Chevrolet's molded brake lining—reducing the necessity of frequent replacement, and consequent expense.

Furthermore, there is a rear axle inspection plate on the Chevrolet.

See your nearest Chevrolet dealer today and drive a Chevrolet Six. Ten minutes at the wheel will show you what a difference six cylinders make.

White Buffalo, a Sioux chieftain who participated in the Custer massacre as a very young warrior, is heading a group of 22 Sioux headed for Germany, where they will appear in the Circus Sartramsan at Hamburg. The band is in charge of Clarence Schulz of Rushville. The Indians travel in a special car and spend their waking hours playing the great American game of cards.

Long before Omaha had evolved from the wooded sidewalks and kerosene street lighting stage, Peter and Chris Elissner, landed there, raw young men from Germany. They long since went to their reward, but they founded a large "tribe," there being more than 300 Elissners living in Douglas and Sarpy counties. Most of them in Omaha. The eldest of the Elissner family, Mrs. Emelie Laible Elissner, died in Omaha on March 21, aged 73. She was born in Germany and came to the United States when she was 20 coming directly to Omaha.

The aldermen who moved that the city build a new jail, using material in the old jail, and occupying the old jail until the new jail was completed, was not so much of a joke. Prisoners in the Saunders county jail are helping in the construction of a new jail, and much of the old jail's material is being utilized. But the prisoners are digging the tunnel that will connect the new jail with the court house.

Recently the trustees of the United Brethren College at York met to worry over an endowment fund. Charles J. A. McCLOUD is chairman of the board. He listened to suggestions for the plan, also to complaints. Then he said: "Gentlemen, the way to raise an endowment is to raise it. I'll subscribe $50,000." York's fine hotel is named "McCloud." Thereby hangs a tale. Fifty years ago York citizens struggled for several weeks to raise a bonus of $40,000 to give an outsider who would erect a hotel costing $125,000. Just about the time they were going to give up in despair Mr. McCLOUD said: "Why donate money to an outsider? Let's build our own hotel as a corporation enterprise. I'll give $50,000 of stock in a $125,000 corporation." The money was raised in less than a week.

A short distance from Sutton, perched on the top of a hill, is an old frame house. It marks the site of an humble hewed cabin erected in 1874 by Alex Campbell. In that homestead shack on Oct. 15, 1874, was held the first political meeting in Clay county. Four men, three of them Browns, R. G. F. M., and G. W., with Alex Campbell met and began the organization of Clay county. R. G. Brown is the only survivor of that historic meeting.
