consequences philosophically, he still wins—wins public respect and becomes more firmly entrenched in the affections of his friends.

Increased consumption of water last month as compared with that of July, 1929, is shown by the increased revenues. Total cash receipts in July this year amounted to $3,193; the same month last year, $2,250. While shortage of water supply has required restricted use in many places, there has been an abundance here, as we are informed. An unfilling volume of pure water is one of many advantages insured in this community.

Compilation of census returns just completed, shows that the population of continental United States is 122,728,873. These figures show an increase of 17,000,000 over those of the previous census—the largest increase during any ten-year period in the country's history despite restricted immigration and a decreased birth rate. People find a lot of fault with this country, but they seem to like it well enough to come here in increasing numbers.

We don't suppose rats and mice dislike us any more than we dislike them, and if they are equal to the task of supplanting us, we should yield, retire and praise them for their strength and prowess. But since we are not disposed to surrender, and since they are noxious, diabolical and dangerous, without considering lack of reason for their creation originally, we think war should be declared and waged against them. We would like to see every rat and mouse in Wayne exterminated and, in their stead, interred under enough dirt to prevent any possible reminder.

There are fewer tourists than usual this year according to reports from everywhere. Many people accustomed to long motor trips in summer, are staying home—perhaps due to the pinching times and the advisability of practicing economy for a change. With conditions back to normal next year, they may resume their roaming habits, and then they can compare the comforts of home sleeping and home cooking with those found in camps and lakeside resorts. As to jiggers and mosquitoes, they can compare the foreign with domestic varieties.

The preacher who talked recently on the first forty-five minutes after death must have employed a liberal degree of imagination to have made himself interesting. What people don't know about the first forty-five minutes or any other period after death would fill a large volume. He probably guessed that the first forty-five minutes were devoted to an awakening, to a series of personal and sometimes disquieting questions and then to an assignment to some branch of the celestial service. But the preacher would be only guessing. He does not know.

In addressing a group of ambitious boys recently, Thomas A. Edison said education was not intended as a means to avoid work. He said education should be used to the advantage of work. It facilitates work and increases production. The combination makes one more valuable. Edison sharply disagrees with the practicalists who educate their children so that they might avoid toil and enjoy easy berths through life, and thinks by such calculations show great weakness and folly. Education is an accelerator and burnisher, and it should be employed to aid work, not in lieu of work, so the electrical wizard believes. Incidentally Edison advised that eight hours per day of physical labor are enough, while ten or

HAZARDS.
 If people had no hazards to meet, no obstacles to overcome, no disappointments to suffer, life would be spiritless and unfeeling, and doubtless longevity would be cut down half or more. If everything ran along smoothly, if every expectation in town and on the farm were easily realized, if business came without effort and crops grew and matured without a battle to minimize losses, we would soon become a world of weaklings, each needing a guardian angel to steer away from rocks of premature decline.

But arrangements to avoid any such demoralization of the race have been carefully worked out by nature which has the reputation of exercising sound judgment even if it does not always win popular approval. The reason the recipient of a large and carefully guarded inheritance sometimes turns out to be a useless barriade is because he seems to have no hazards and no uphill traveling to develop initiative and resourcefulness. He feels no responsibility and no need to employ his talents and muscles. He sleeps along until nature, disgusted and hopeless, kicks him into the discard.

No one favors excessive heat or excessive cold, nor one favors short crops, slumped values and unrewarded toil; no one favors enforced idleness and a low standard of wage. But these things come along at certain intervals, and they are obstructions that put courage and endurance into human metal. They make people employ their minds and bodies more intelligently and more carefully. They make people less frivolous and less selfish, more sympathetic and more kindly. Like in golf which would be too much of a snap to enliven interest without hazards, so life must have its perils, vicissitudes and ups and downs to give it voltage and endurance.

These hazards are not provided by man, but by nature, and while nature frequently seems unreasonable, its absolute authority and unlimited power make it advisable to arrange one's affairs accordingly. Roasting nature for what seem to be inexcusable blunders may be turned to making adjustments within the precincts of practical wisdom and safety.

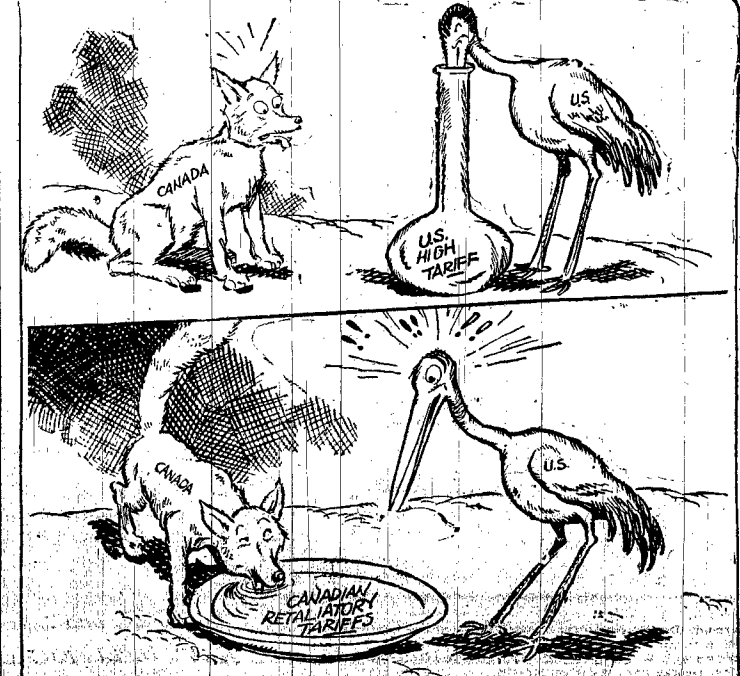

twelve hours of mental labor are not too much. He thinks six hours of twenty-four should be devoted to sleep. This last prescription will prove disturbing to many.

Business.
 Sioux City Journal: Industrial leaders hold fast to the idea that the business outlook is somewhat brighter day by day. No less a personage than Henry Ford has subscribed to this prediction and is backing his judgment with plans made to resume operations on a larger scale than has been seen at any time during the summer. Mr. Ford bases his opinion on a general observation of the economic situation, and, because of the manner in which he has kept a grip on public confidence, his forecast is particularly encouraging. The public knows Henry Ford does not make many mistakes.

Commodity prices are still at a lower level than is good for a healthy condition in business. There probably will be an upward trend in prices in the near future, a movement that has got to come if there is to be an improvement in this fall. Figures are too low, compared to the kind of normal that has obtained since the world war, and it is not conceivable that they can stay down if prosperity is to be enjoyed.

One of the most interesting things in the business situation

Stinging Of Bees Nearly Cost Life

Thomas Milligan, Southwest of Wayne, Narrowly Escapes Wednesday Afternoon.

Bumble bee stinging and work in the heat almost cost the life of Thomas Milligan who lives nine miles south and four west of Wayne Wednesday afternoon. T. S. Hook of Wayne, who happened along soon after Mr. Milligan was stung, helped the man to a doctor for relief.

Mr. Milligan was mowing weeds at the side of the road near the Carl Splitzger farm where he lives. His son was riding a pony near him. The lad ran into a bumble bee nest and the bees stung the pony and boy, making the animal unruly. Mr. Milligan ran to help his son from the pony and in doing so the bees stung him.

Mr. Milligan was sitting on the mower and was again cutting weeds when Mr. Hook happened along. While the two men were talking Mr. Milligan said he felt ill. Mr. Hook told the boy to notify a neighbor and the latter helped Mr. Hook get Mr. Milligan into the hook car. Mr. Milligan had lapsed into unconsciousness. The men rushed him to a doctor at Pilger and Mr. Milligan suffered violent chills when coming to about 6 o'clock. He improved in a few hours and was moved to a home in Pilger to be cared for until he is able to go home.

No Reduction In Pay.

Sioux City Journal: Industrial leaders in reply to a questionnaire have advised against any movement to reduce the wages and salaries of employees as a means to stimulate business activity in this time of depression. They not only view a reduction with disfavor as not helpful but insist that it is sure to operate to their detriment.

Mr. Dickinson, himself, was a member of President Harding's unemployment conference run by Herbert Hoover 10 years ago. At that time, he recalls, he wrote a minority report against wage cuts. Only one of the 50 members, the late Samuel Compers, who was president of the American Federation of Labor, signed this report with Mr. Dickinson. Mr. Dickinson says of this that— "Then it was almost an axiom that wage cuts would bring back normal times. Today a new point of view prevails. Maintaining purchasing power at the source is the important job in the country today, for wages buy more shoes and automobiles than dividends."

There is no doubt whatever that the high wage and salary scales maintained in the United States since the world war have contributed more to the country's prosperity than anything else. Assuredly they have brought about the present high standard of living, which is generally recognized as the basic foundation of prosperity. Indeed industrial leaders in America would be bound to agree on this question. They know that the great middle class, representing more than 90 per cent of the population, is their main dependence.

Drouth a Political Issue.
 Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 6—Relief from a drought of nearly three months duration became a political issue in Arkansas today when Senator Joe T. Robinson advocating federal relief for stricken farmers and his opponent for the Democratic nomination assailing the proposal as "a campaign promise."

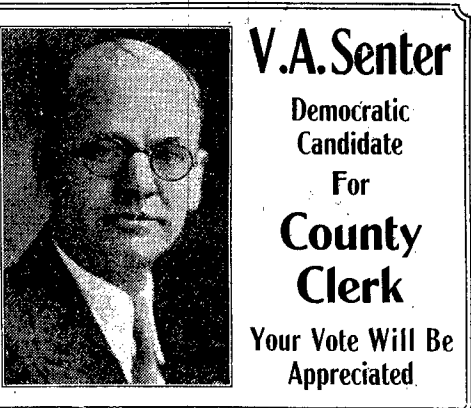

In telegrams to President Hoover and Chairman Legge of the farm board, Senator Robinson suggested that the board "use such amounts of the revolving fund as may be found necessary to meet immediate requirements to prevent sufferings."

Tom W. Campbell, Little Rock attorney and Robinson's first opponent in a party contest since 1918, said Robinson had failed to aid farmers in his twenty-eight years as a representative and senator. He advocated a law by which the government would guarantee prices on farm commodities. Saying he believed such a statute would obtain "genuine farm relief."

The Democratic primary will be held Aug. 12.

Sleeves Trimmed Originally in Fur Are Outstanding Style in Fall Wraps

BY HARRIET

NO article of apparel will show the feminizing mode more than the new fall wraps and coats. When the late summer sales begin, therefore, keep one eye on the new mode and the other at price tags...

The outstanding colors for fall are ruddy browns, soft reds and greens with a lot of blue in them. Rusts and all the golden tones of autumn leaves are excellent. And if you would be the regal type, have fur.

The way fur is used on sleeves this year is one of the outstanding new fashions. Many a coat has long puff sleeves that begin above the elbow, bag clear to the wrist and are gathered into cuffs of the coat's fabric...

This, incidentally, is a saving grace, for we all know how soon the under part of a fur cuff wears off—even the best of furs.

You may have a fitted coat, in true princess line, or an almost straight line, with a slight nip at the waist and a slight flare below the hips. Or you may have one of the ultra new modes, the kind that features a hip-yoke which gathers below and has the cutest of hovers above.

SUCH a modish garment is the dark green coat shown today, trimmed with beige fur. It has a blouse back that might be bolero, if you prefer it, a fitted waistline, a yoke skirt, and below the fitted yoke a gathered skirt section.

It is longer than last season's coats, as are all the new long coats. It has beige lapin trim, in the form of a luxurious shawl collar that folds against the neck on the back and makes a diagonal closing in front, extending down to the natural waistline on the left side.

Worn with either a beige frock or a green frock, this coat makes a neat ensemble. And with a green hat, green kid shoes and green purse your appearance is impeccable.

Quite different but quite smart is the black broadcloth coat, trimmed with a stipulate black. This is a classic coat, the kind you can wear to work, to daytime affairs and for less formal evening entertainment. A black coat is never a mistake, and this season black promises to be an excellent choice.

A modish ensemble for fall wear is the dark green coat, left, trimmed with beige fur. It has a blouse back and yoke skirt. Appropriate for less formal wear is the smart black broadcloth coat, right, trimmed with black fox fur. Both coats are longer than last season's. Both models are attired in black kid shoes.

This coat, slightly fitted, is rather conservative in the manner it outlines the figure. The sleeves are double, with the upper portion curving in their flare, outlining the lines of the arm. From under them long, tight sleeves extend to the cuffs. There is a long, tapering collar of the fur, which fastens deep to the face, that sets quite deep across the back of the neck.

Old Honey Found In Good Condition

Lincoln, Aug. 6—Fifty-eight year old honey in the possession of the United States department of agriculture, has been found to possess all of the qualities of honey fresh from the hives.

Originally this honey was colorless but now it has changed to resemble "Blackstrap" molasses, experimenters found, and its flavor has changed from that of clover to the taste of buckwheat honey. On wheat cakes or waffles, however, it was not at all out of place, they reported.

Grain Prices Go Up

Kansas City, Aug. 6—Grain prices skyrocketed on the Kansas City market again today as a result of the prolonged drought, boosting both wheat and corn futures to levels more than 10 cents higher for the week. In the early trade corn futures sold 5 to 5 1/2 cents higher than yesterday's close and wheat futures were up about 4 cents.

Big Rain At West Point

West Point, Neb., Aug. 6—During Monday evening's storm 4.79 inches of water fell here, as measured by Dr. F. N. Wells, weather bureau recorder. Four and a quarter inches fell within an hour and a half beginning about 6 p. m. This was the heaviest rainfall this year and it was accompanied by a hard wind.

Nebraska Tax Levy Is Fixed By Board

Nebraskans will pay 1930 state taxes on a basis of 2.34 mills, according to decision of the state board of equalization Saturday at Lincoln. This is .06 of a mill less than the 1929 levy.

The 1930 levy will produce $6,567,877.15 on the basis of 2.12 mills for the general fund and $681,572.15 on the basis of .22 mill for capital construction.

In fixing the levy the board disregarded a last-minute decision by Attorney General Sorensen that Governor Weaver did have a legal right to veto certain items in the 1929 appropriations bill. These four items involve 120 thousand dollars.

These items were $58,000 for manual training school building at Nebraska School for the Deaf at Omaha; $12,000 for new pump equipment at the penitentiary; $40,000 for outfitting the university college of medicine hospital at Omaha; $10,000 for construction of building for the department of irrigation at Bridgeport.

Ruling adversely to a recent supreme court opinion which overturned the vetoes, Sorensen contended that the four items were not properly submitted for passage by the legislature and therefore were not concerned in the supreme court edict and were properly stricken by the governor.

The court had ruled that items raised by the legislature over the amounts recommended by Weaver, were valid despite the veto of the governor. Sorensen notes that no recommendation by the governor on the four disputed items, and ruled that the veto on these four items therefore must stand.

Bank Item Cut Out.
Had the board acted in accord with Sorensen's view, the four appropriations would have been omitted and the levy reduced by a small fraction.

Deciding to provide for all appropriations, the board assumed, Tax Commissioner Scott said, that all of the items were properly enacted. The amount to be raised was reduced $260,110 when the supreme court held that an appropriation for that amount for bank depositors was unconstitutional.

FIRE AND SMOKE!

Sweep through our merchandise and cause a temporary hitch in our plans

The big removal sale which we had planned for this week, is necessarily called off, but it will be supplanted shortly by a "fire sale" in which a gigantic slaughter of prices will be turned to popular advantage. Delay of a few days is necessary on account of invoicing and adjusting the loss. Watch The Herald next week for complete and detailed announcement.

IN NEW STORE

We are receiving an entirely new stock of merchandise for our remodeled and newly finished quarters—the former Basket Store building—and an army of workmen are putting the building in shape for use in the very near future. If the new stock can be arranged to serve the public in the new quarters by Saturday of this week, it will be done, and old and new customers will be welcome there. Come to this new store Saturday and if humanly possible the new goods will be ready and your wants will be satisfied.

THE FUTURE

Our plans insure a modernly equipped store with very best lines of merchandise, and with prices always marked in harmony with smallest margins of profit. We profoundly regret the interruption and loss visited by fire, but we shall rise stronger than ever with increased determination to merit confidence and support.

TO THE FIREMEN

We wish to express appreciation to the men of the volunteer fire company for their work in stopping the flames in the old store and reducing the final loss.

Board Lowers County Values

Reduce Assessments Made On Land And Improvements Before Tax Levy.

Changes Are Made

Board of Equalization Met Tuesday and Tax Levy Will Be Made August 19.

After the Wayne county board and assessor had tried four years to secure a 5 percent reduction in assessed valuation of farm land and improvements in Wayne county, Assessor W. F. Assenheimer received word last Friday that the Wayne county valuation has been reduced from $110,662 to $106,622, this being 4.44 percent. The state board made changes in several counties so as to equalize taxes according to values throughout the state. The change may reduce taxes some here.

The Nebraska property valuation is $3,098,054,761. Farm land values dropped $49,000,000 over 1929, and personal property values dropped $12,000,000. The board made its tax levies last Friday.

Wayne county average valuation was $111.06 in 1930 and is cut to $106.62. It was $110.94 in 1929. The board of equalization met this Tuesday. Books will have to be rearranged according to the new valuation. The county levy will be made August 19.

Dixon county was left as assessed at $71.22. The 1929 valuation was $81.11.

Cuming county, assessed at $115.42, was reduced to $110.81. It was $116.52 in 1929.

Cedar county, assessed at $93.29, was reduced to $79.30. It was $92.80 in 1929.

Boone county, assessed at $71.65, was left at this figure. The 1929 value was $71.65.

Burt county, assessed at $102.86, was raised to $105.94. It was $111.65 in 1929.

Dakota county valuation was left at $90.87 as assessed. It was $92.85 in 1929.

Holt county was left at $12 as assessed. The value was $13.38 in 1929.

Knox county was left at $39.21 as assessed. It was $49.45 in 1929.

NEBRASKA RANKS CLOSE TO TOP IN HIDE PRODUCTION

A SURVEY of the industrial utilization of Nebraska hides recently made by the College of Business Administration of the University of Nebraska disclosed some very important facts concerning the use of hides and the possibility of profitably converting hides of supply.

Hides and skins are an important by-product of the meat and leather nearer the source packing industry. Omaha ranks third among American cities in the meat packing industry. The receipts of live stock there in 1928 were: Cattle 1,432,285, calves 94,486, hogs 3,179,211, sheep 3,037,119, horses and mules 17,743. Only about 60 per cent of the hides marketed in Nebraska were taken off in Omaha packing plants. The balance were removed from animals in small packing plants, slaughter houses and on the farms. In 1928 Nebraska produced 60,069,879 pounds of cattle hides and calf skins valued at $7,577,143, and 1,564,863 sheep pelts valued at $4,159,704. In the production of each of these Nebraska ranked third among the states.

The survey was taken with the idea of discovering why, with hides produced here in immense commercial quantities, tanning plants are not located in this section and leather manufactured into shoes, harness and other products of which leather is the base. In the beginning of a leather industry tanneries were located near forests where oak and hemlock bark, used in tanning, were plentiful. It was easier to transport the hides than the bulky bark. Naturally industries using leather grew up alongside the tanneries.

In the readjustment of industry now taking place, many believe that in time Omaha will become an industrial center for the manufacture of leather.

$85.27. The 1929 assessment was $87.49.

Pierce county remains at $71.26, as compared with $72.27 in 1929.

Stanton county remains at $93.48 as assessed. It was $93.53 in 1929.

Thurston county was reduced from $82.29 to $80.65. It was $83.22 in 1929.

Accident Report Shows Increase

First Two Weeks in July Prove To Be Period of Heaviest Casualties in Year.

Accident statistics for Nebraska as compiled by the Nebraska Press association and the rehabilitation division of the state department of vocational education for the two-week period ending July 29, 1930, are as follows:

	Accid.	Dth.	Inj.	Tot.
Motor accid.	237	13	329	342

Total 594 67 630 697

Of the 630 persons injured, 29 were permanently disabled. For 64 weeks, the Nebraska Press association has been presenting the facts gained by this accident study in an attempt to help the people of Nebraska to realize needless hazards of travel, home life, work and play brought about by carelessness, disregard for the rights of others and wanton law violations. It was hoped that when the facts were known our citizens, by recognition of individual responsibilities and the exercises of their own good common sense, would move to prevent accidents. Normally, the first two weeks of July constitute the heaviest accident period of the year; yet, accident casualties are still rapidly increasing.

On the farm, accidents with animals injured 23, disabled 4 and killed 1. Farm machinery accidents injured 33, disabled 1 and killed 4. A total of 69 were injured, 6 were disabled and 6 were killed by farm accidents in two weeks.

In public accidents, sports were responsible for 54 injuries and 23 deaths.

Industrial and Home accident casualties almost doubled those of the first two weeks in July. Traffic accidents also show an enormous increase. During 28 days of July, there have been in Nebraska 1257 severe accident casualties of which 1,150 persons were badly injured or permanently disabled and 107 were killed.

Cannot an organized state-wide accident prevention and traffic law enforcement drive, in which all constituted authorities and public spirited citizens cooperate, relieve the present emergency.

Family Reunion Held At Stanton

Next Annual Kern Family Gathering Will Be at G. W. Albert Home Here.

Kern families held their annual reunion at Stanton Sunday at the C. C. Kern farm a mile northwest of Stanton and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Albert and sons, Horace and Donald, of Wayne, were among the group of about sixty relatives attending. The occasion was also in celebration of the eighty-seventh birthday of Mrs. Albert's father, D. H. Kern which was August 30. Mr. and Mrs. John Kern, parents of D. H. Kern and grandparents of Mrs. Albert, came with Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kern, the former a brother of John Kern, from Germany in about 1820. The two families planned to be on the ocean forty days and each provided his own food for that time. The voyage took fifty-six days and the food had to be portioned out for that period.

After arriving in this country the two Kern families settled in the wooded section of Ohio. They built their homes of logs and endured many hardships of pioneer days there. Mr. and Mrs. John Kern's ten children were born in Ohio. The family came to a homestead near North Bend, Neb., in the early days of this state when Indians roamed the prairie and when grasshoppers and prairie fires were numerous. Some of the descendants still live on the home place near North Bend.

Of the ten children in the John Kern family, seven survive. D. H. Kern of Stanton, eldest, Ernest Kern of Denver, Salmon Kern of Omaha, and C. E. Kern and Matthias Kern of North Bend, were the five present for the reunion Sunday. Two, one in Washington and one in California, were the only ones not present.

The day was spent in visiting Sunday. Ernest Kern of Denver, recounted the history of the family.

The Kern family reunion will be held at the G. W. Albert home here next August. The association officers who were re-elected are C. E. Kern of North Bend, president, and Mrs. Marie Marzsen of North Bend, secretary.

Visit In Colorado Proves Of Interest

After spending ten days visiting relatives and sight seeing in Colorado Mr. and Mrs. E. Ellis arrived home last Thursday. They and the latter's brother, J. K. Wilson, and wife of Lincoln, went west through Kansas. A general rain fell in Kansas at the time they drove through and they found roads not in best of condition. Reaching Colorado they found weather much cooler and excellent roads. They went to Holly, Colo., to see Mrs. C. H. Hopkins, sister of Mrs. Ellis and Mr. Wilson. After spending a couple days at Holly they took a trip to Estes Park and other points of interest from Boulder. They spent a few days in Denver and Colorado Springs, taking trips over the new highway. The families returned by way of North Platte and the highway was in good condition. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis took the Wilsons to their home at Lincoln and then came home.

Honor Wayne Girl At Colorado Camp

For being one of the honor campers in Cheley camp at Estes Park, Colo., Miss Marion Jo Theobald received a gold key. She was one of thirteen voted for the honor in a five-week period by the 250 girls and boys in camp. Miss Theobald was one of five named for the key last summer. Honors will again be presented at the close of the second summer camp period.

Miss Marion Jo was one of thirty-five leaders and young folks in the camp who went to Cheyenne, Wyo., July 24 to attend the annual rodeo there. The young folks were permitted to use a Sunday school room in one of the Cheyenne churches for sleeping quarters, sleeping on the floor.

Cheley camp closes August 28. Miss Theobald plans to stop a day or two in Denver and Colorado Springs enroute home.

The Herald submits another series of tried recipes for its readers. It will be much appreciated if persons will send recipes to the Herald for this column.

Raisin Drop Cookies.
(By Mrs. W. E. Lindsay)
3 eggs
2 cups of sugar
1 cup buttermilk
1 1/2 cups of flour
1/2 cup of raisins
1 cup melted lard
1 teaspoon soda and 1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon each of ground cloves, cinnamon and salt
Stir up batter as for any cookie dough. Bake in gem pans, dropping batter from spoon. These cookies are very good.

Chocolate Brownies.
(Mrs. Geo. Roggenbach, Altona)
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup melted butter
1 cup flour
1/2 cup walnut meats
8 squares chocolate or 2 tablespoons cocoa
4 eggs, beaten
Mix ingredients and bake in layer.

Mussell Torte.
(By Mrs. F. I. Moses, Brenna Precinct)
This recipe was given Mrs. Moses by a friend from Minnesota. The cake resembles angel food but is given an unusual flavor by the addition of the nuts.
1 1/2 cups of sugar
3/4 of a cup of water
Boil the sugar and water until the sirup threads. Beat six egg whites to stiffness. Pour the sirup slowly over the egg whites, beating constantly. Beat the mixture for ten minutes. (The secret of success for the cake is said to lie in the beating of the egg and sirup.)
Into the mixture pour the six well-beaten egg yolks.
Sift together:
1 good cup flour
1 level teaspoon cream of tartar
Fold into the liquid mixture.
Add 1/2 cup of ground nuts and 1 teaspoon vanilla.
Bake in angel food cake pan for 1 hour.

Sour Cream Cake.
(Mrs. Little Hypse, Wakefield)
1 cup sour cream
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 1/2 cups flour
Raisins and nuts
Put all in crock and stir five minutes. Bake in moderate oven.

Tomato Salad.
(Mrs. R. W. Casper, Wayne)
1 can Campbell tomato soup
1 can water
1/2 lb. cream cheese
2 tablespoons gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup mayonnaise
1 1/2 cups chopped celery, green peppers and onions
Bring soup and water to boiling point. Add cheese and stir until smooth. Then add gelatine which has been softened in the cold water. When mixture is partly cooked add mayonnaise and chopped vegetables. Olives and nuts may be used also. Chill and place in mold. If used for the main dish of a meal add 1 can of shrimp.

Savory Lima Bean Scallop.
(By Mrs. John F. Ahern)
The Good Housekeeping magazine contributed this to Mrs. Ahern's list of recipes some time ago. A trial will prove its merit. Soak 1 1/2 cups of dried lima beans in cold water from 6 to 8 hours. Drain and cover with boiling water. Add one small onion, sliced fine. Cook slowly until tender. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt during the last part of cooking. Drain and add:
1 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 cup condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons melted butter
1-8 teaspoon pepper, and salt to taste
Pour into greased casserole.

Cinnamon Torte.
(By Mrs. James Renick)
The recipe was given to Mrs. Rendick by a Stanton friend and is a very unusual dessert. Mrs. Rendick states that the recipe does not appear in any cookbook she has ever had. It is suggested that the whipped cream may also be used in place of the topping.
Cake.
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1/2 cup sugar
4 egg yolks, well beaten
6 tablespoons milk
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
Cream the shortening and sugar. Add the beaten egg yolks and milk. Stir in the flour and baking powder, the two ingredients having been sifted together. Bake in a shallow, greased pan.

Filling.
Juice and rind of one lemon
1 egg
1 cup sugar
1 cup hot water
1 heaping tablespoon flour
Lump of butter, the size of a walnut
Blend all ingredients together. Stir flour into sugar before adding. Cook in double boiler until thick.
Topping.
4 egg whites
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped nut meats
Beat the egg whites until stiff. Add the sugar gradually. Fold in the cinnamon and nut meats.
Spread the filling over the cake. Cover this with the topping and return to oven. Allow the cake to remain in the oven until the topping is a golden brown.

Caramel Custard.
3 eggs
1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups scalded milk
1 cup sugar for caramel

The caramel sauce is made by adding to caramel reserved 1/2 cup boiling water.

Meat Loaf.
(By Mrs. E. R. Love)
Many housewives object to the predominating "ham taste" in so many meat loaves. Mrs. Love suggests the following recipe which uses only half the amount of ham:
1 1/2 lbs. of chopped smoked ham
1/2 lb. of chopped beef
3/4 lb. of chopped pork
1 cup of bread crumbs
2 eggs
2 tablespoons catsup
Baste the baking meat loaf with one cup of water and 2 tablespoons vinegar.

(Mrs. John C. Carhart, Wayne)
1 cup rice
1 cup whipped cream
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup grated pineapple
1 cup blanched almonds
1 cup marshmallows cut
Boil rice, drain and cool. Add other ingredients and let chill.

Omelette.
(By Mrs. True Prescott)
6 eggs
6 tablespoons cream
Beat yolks and whites separately. Add cream to yolks, season, then add beaten whites.
Have a frying pan warm but not hot, and well buttered. Pour the mixture into the pan and set on the back of stove to cook or put into oven and bake for forty minutes.
Mrs. Prescott likes the omelette a little better if baked instead of fried on top of the stove.

Feeding Of Wheat Is Deemed Wise

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 1.—W. J. Loeffel of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture said today that feeding wheat to hogs is "a chance for farmers to help themselves and relieve the general situation."

Widepread interest has been manifested, he added, in the possibilities of the method.
Experiments made last year, he said, have shown that bushel for bushel wheat is on a par with corn as a protein feed for swine. In fact, it is said to be 103 per cent as good.
However, he pointed out that wheat must be ground before it can be used as a food. Otherwise the small hard grains will go whole into the animal's stomach and escape digestion.

He recommended use of a high protein supplement, such as skimmed milk or tankage, along with the wheat.
Present prices of corn and wheat, and poor corn prospects are factors which Loeffel considered before making his recommendation. The usual fall decline in hog prices, he said, should not be enough to offset his findings.
The college recently bought a carload of wheat to use in further experiments with hogs.

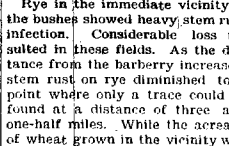

Rust Is Traced To Barberry Bush
Lincoln, Neb.—More than 6,000 rust spreading barberry bushes and seedlings have been found this year in Nebraska, according to reports received from the field men engaged in this work who recently assembled for a midsummer conference at Grand Island. The barberry men also report splendid cooperation from the people in Greeley, Howard, Sherman and Valley counties, where the survey is in progress this season.

Thirtyeight large rust spreading barberry bushes and more than 5,000 seedlings were found on the property of James Petaska, section 12, Geranium township, Valley county. Many of the bushes had escaped from cultivation and were growing wild along fence rows, and in pastures and canyons as far as one and one-half miles from the original planting of bushes.

Rye in the immediate vicinity of the bushes showed heavy stem rust infection. Considerable loss resulted in these fields. As the distance from the barberry increased, stem rust on rye diminished to a point where only a trace could be found at a distance of three and one-half miles. While the acreage of wheat grown in the vicinity was small, the one field found nearby was very heavily rusted. Farmers of the community report they have been unable to grow wheat for years because of rust losses.

Grain Yield Is Good.
Lyons, Neb., July 30.—A crop of 80 bushels of oats on an acre, on a 20-acre field adjoining Lyons, is reported by Harry Pearson. Another tract, 69 acres, yielded 60 bushels, he said.
On the Charles Pearson farm one wheat field yielded 50 bushels an acre.

If you want a cigarette that is milder and of better taste..
Smoke Chesterfield
Milder, yes—but something more. Chesterfield offers richness, aroma, satisfying flavor.
BETTER TASTE—that's the answer; and that's what smokers get in Chesterfield in full measure—the flavor and aroma of mellow tobaccos, exactly blended and cross-blended. Better taste, and milder too!
They Satisfy

Nebraska Post Has Place In History

The part played by Fort Robinson in the winning of the west is conspicuous. No post in the United States, now occupied, has a greater historic background. Established in the spring of 1873, in the heart of the Sioux country, on the eve of the greatest uprising of the Indians of the west, this post supplied the men and the ammunition for some of the most heroic struggles in the history of the United States.

Its garrison took part in the campaigns against the Sioux and the Cheyennes, preceding and following the Custer massacre in 1875, 1876 and 1877, and formed a part of the cavalry columns which closed around the Sioux in the last of the Indian wars in the Pine Ridge campaign in 1890 and 1891.

A lame Mormon cow was the innocent cause of the establishment of the post. On the night of August 17, 1854, she left the Mormon trail and hobbled into a Sioux camp, where she was caught, killed and her meat divided. The next day the Mormons reached Fort Laramie and reported the Indians had stolen one of their cows. "The Bear" Sioux chief, suggested a detachment of soldiers be sent to the village to arrest the offender. Thirty soldiers went on this mission. "The Bear," it is believed, had a change of heart. When the detachment marched into the Sioux camp its members were killed, but not until a soldier's rifle had brought down the faithless Indian chief. That incident led to open hostilities between the whites and the Indians and resulted at length in the establishment of Fort Robinson.

Now this military post is the home of the only detachment of park artillery in this country. Its spacious and beautiful grounds are open to visitors at any season of the year.

An old manuscript recently come to light says that Columbus was born in Milan, not Genoa. It does not, however, clear him of the more serious charge of discovering America. — The New Yorker.

Natural Gas.

York Republican: Surely the stage is being rapidly set for the extensive use of natural gas. It may be that it will bring about another industrial revolution. For if gas should supplant coal for heating purposes to any considerable extent a vast army of workmen and a highly organized business of coal selling will be dealt a mortal blow. The transportation companies will be hard hit for one of their most profitable items of freight will be relegated to an insignificant place.

The president of one of the great power companies told an audience in Lincoln a few days ago something that confirms the view that natural gas is viewed by its promoters to be a certain and dependable fuel supply. His company and three others have joined together to finance a pipe line from the Texas oil fields to Nebraska that will cost two million dollars. A greater pipe line project than that is being projected. It will start in Texas and end in Canada oil fields. Negotiations are under way between the owning companies to connect their pipe lines so that the supplies of all can be made available to any one and thus a uniform supply and pressure of gas insured.

Natural gas for cooking purposes in York is already here. It is hotter and costs less. The next logical step will be furnaces burning gas and ridding the owner of the need of fuel space, the elimination of large basements in future dwellings, a more even and controllable heat supply.
