in this section, is important in raising Scottish hounds.

Going to Hawick along the valley of the Annan river, the scenery was found typical of the lowlands of Scotland. In the valley they went to Gretna Green, famous for run-away marriages of that country. Persons who go there and in the presence of others declare themselves man and wife, are considered legally married. For this reason many who elope go there.

The travelers went through the market town of Penrith and the woodlands to the summit of Keswick hill, getting the first glimpse of the English lake district there. Derwentwater is a calm, clear lake with wooded land around. On Friar's Crag, rocky promontory in the lake, is the memorial to Ruskin. Below the foothills is Grasmere lake, smallest of the group, where is located Dove's cottage, literary shrine. This was Wordsworth's home from 1799 to 1808.

Rural England along the Avon river is known as Shakespearian country. The party saw Stratford on Avon, home of Shakespeare, which was bought by public subscription the last century and restored. Nearby is Anne Hathaway's cottage.

Party Stops in London.

Going to London the party spent several days seeing places of interest, among them Oxford university, Windsor castle and Hampton court, erected by Cardinal Wolsey in 1515. Hampton court is the largest royal palace in Great Britain. Its gardens are in Dutch style with many flowers. A deer park near the palace contains 1,000 acres of horse chestnut and lime trees, planted by order of William III. Stoke Poges, secluded church there, inspired Thomas Grey to write "The Country Churchyard." This country is also associated with William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania.

The House of Parliament, overlooking the Thames river, was built in 1840. The national gallery with 3,000 pictures, the Tate gallery of British art and St. Paul cathedral were also visited. The cathedral is the first church in the country, dating back to 1087. The tower of London, begun by William the Conqueror, dates to 1087 also. Westminster abbey and cathedral are also interesting.

The party went to Eton college which has trained many statesmen. Old-fashioned surroundings, the benches and tables, are preserved. The old switching method of punishment is also employed. Students enter the school at 14 and finish at 19. Their names are carved on walls of the school when they have done something of note in the world.

Travelers Go to Holland.

Leaving England, the party went through the bay and North sea to Holland, entering Nieuwe Waterway. They disembarked. Holland is a quaint country, the travelers found. People wear the typical Dutch costumes and wooden shoes. The farming methods are primitive. Much of the land is below sea level and windmills are numerous, these being used to pump water through the canals which are used for freight and travel.

In Holland the party happened to see a wedding procession. The bride and bridegroom rode in the first of several stagecoaches and others followed. The old-fashioned rigs and the drivers with tall black hats made an interesting sight. Many weddings are performed on Wednesday as this is free day. A fee is charged on Friday, the other day for weddings.

At The Hague, seat of the royal palace, the queen resides. There also is the Peace palace, which owes its existence to Andrew Carnegie. The building is lavishly decorated with furniture, rugs and other things given by different countries.

Brussels Is Modern City.

Going to Belgium the party visited Brussels, a city of one million, which is a typical modern business center. Many buildings were constructed in 1830 when the country gained its independence.

Go Through Rhine Country.

From Belgium the party went to Germany, first to Coblenz on the Rhine river. The Germans celebrated there the evacuation of the Rhine in June, 1930. The party went up the Rhine river by steam through the rocky country.

Heidelberg, city of pride for the Germans, was visited next. In the capitol building there are the most magnificent and most valuable relics of Germany. The building dates back to 1195.

Going farther south the party went to Oberramergau to see the Passion play. The Wayne people were guests in the home of the man who played the part of Amos, the high priest, in the drama. Every courtesy was extended the guests.

Through Alps Country.

The party went to Innsbruck, Austria, and then to Lucerne, Switzerland, getting a pretty view of the Alps. They went by bus up Furka pass, a height of 7,992 feet.

They saw wild flowers in blossom half way up the pass and experienced a typical Nebraska blizzard near the top. They descended over a winding road to Rhone glacier and found the ice is a beautiful turquoise blue.

To Italy Through Tunnel.

The Simpson tunnel, twelve and one-half miles long, connects Switzerland and Italy and the party went through this, the trip through the tunnel requiring twenty minutes. Northern Italy they found a rugged country, not very attractive.

Milan, the Paris of Italy, was visited. This is a city of 750,000 and is a brilliant commercial city and capital. The party took a train to Venice and rode to a hotel in a gondola up the Grand canal, the principle avenue of the city.

At Rome and Florence the party saw many wonderful buildings.

The party went to Paris, France, and saw the unknown soldier's tomb, Comedie Francaise, subsidized theatre in which are played classical traditions of the seventeenth century, Conciergerie, oldest prison in France, Eiffel tower, 965 feet, the world's highest structure and the Louvre, an old castle started by Philip Augustus, in 1180.

Thirteen of the party went to Havre and sailed on the Carmaine for home, other joining other parties.

Mrs. Horsham and daughter spent a few days in New York and Washington on their return.

work has begun on a L. W. home on the Herman Vahlkamp farm. This home will be brick veneer, two full height of two stories, will be insulated throughout with Balsam Wool, and according to the plans submitted by Mr. Foster, will be one of the finest modern country homes in Wayne county.

A man in Emerson bought an old wreck of a car for $20.00 and traded it in on a new one for $100.00. That's what we call foresight.

We know a family, who have been paying rent on the same house for eight years. They have paid out enough in that time to build it twice over.

Wife: "I'm ready now, dear."

Hubby: "Well, you'll have to wait till I shave again."

We are glad to see so many of our old customers back for more of those great big white cedar posts because that shows they were pleased with their former purchases. Another car of them unloaded this week.

Next Monday's the day! School bells all over Wayne county will ring for the first time in three months. Good luck to you, young folks. Sometimes we think we'd like to be going to school again with you.

One of our local barbers says, "Why should a boy waste four years in college when he can sit for two hours in a barber shop and get a complete inside dope on everything?"

Have you seen the new shingle roof at 805 Lincoln street? There's nothing like it in Wayne. These same shingles will be used on the new Vahlkamp home.

A good garage adds years to the life of your car. See us for plans.

Don't wait any longer. Place your orders for your winter coal. We're selling coal for cash this year. We believe it is the fair way for all concerned.

The kitchen dresser on display in our show room is only one of a hundred or more combinations. We can supply any order to exactly fit the needs of the customer and the space available in the kitchen. Prices vary according to the sizes required. We particularly invite the ladies to come in and see this great kitchen convenience at close range.

You need never worry about mothballs if your clothes closets are lined with Red Cedar. Let us tell you about it.

Grasshoppers Ruin Some Dakota Crops

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kilborn returned Monday last week from Lake Andes, S. D., where they had spent a few days on a fishing trip. They found the crop heavily affected by the drought and some fields had been touched by grasshoppers. Roads were good and the Kilborns said their trip was a real rest.

Storm Postpones Game Of Basketball

Because of the heavy rain, the baseball game scheduled for Thursday at the Winfield old settlers' picnic, to have been played between the Wisner team and the American Legion junior aggregation from Wayne was called off. Plans have been made for the boys to play this game some time during the Wayne county fair, although the date and the hour have not been set for announcement as yet.

queen usually stay at this palace when in Scotland.

The party saw the John Roxy house which is now a book shop and the first surviving structure of sixteenth century architecture.

Home of Walter Scott.

Through Stow and Galshiel, chief centers of woollen manufacturing in Scotland, the party reached Abbotsford, home of Sir Walter Scott. The mansion contains many relics of close association with the poet. The study in the home is much as it was when he died. Dryburgh abbey, the burial place of Scott and late Field Marshal Earl Hague, commander of British forces in the World war, was visited here. St. Boswell, another point vis-

Candidates who try to persuade people that the national administration is responsible for every market slump in the course of readjustments following the war, are likely to be disappointed.

Henry Ford, champion of the eight-hour day and five-day week for employes, now comes forward with a proposition to establish a ten-month working year.

We do not know why chameleons are sold by circuses. A chameleon is about as repulsive as any other lizard, but it is useful as a destroyer of flies and bugs.

According to recent revelations, progress in getting rid of gangsters in Chicago depends on clearing the city of official corruption.

All professions, businesses and trades are represented among convicts in the Minnesota penitentiary according to a report issued lately by the warden.

Bank officers and bank robbers are in about equal numbers, twentyfour of the former and twenty-six of the latter.

More than any other group in the state, are numerous in the penitentiary. They have had unusually hard luck since the flattening of values following the war, and the temptation to trample on laws to make the grade has doubtless been more pressing than ever.

Fall Festival Nears Climax

This game, which was scheduled for the day of the old settlers' picnic at Winside, was postponed because of rain.

Wednesday, September 10, will be children's day at the fair. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted without charge on that day.

A different singing and dancing act, or acrobatic display will be presented as a free attraction on each night while the fair is in session.

Free acts afternoon and evening on the grounds will vary the entertainment, and each evening the Strollers company will put on a show.

Bands Will Play.
 Band music for the fair will be provided by the Winside band, and the champion Legion band from Wayne. Both groups have prepared appropriate repertoires for the occasion.
 Fireworks will be had Wednesday and Saturday evenings. "Set" pieces like those which delight Fourth of July crowds, will be featured. A few of these pieces will be touched off each evening of the fair. The biggest displays will take place on the two evenings mentioned.
 Fair dates, Wayne county will not forget, are September 10-11-12-13, when everyone who is interested in the agricultural welfare of the county will be on hand to observe the progress made in the last year.
