THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 31 Wayne, Neb., Thursday, October 2, 1930. Vol. 4

"I want another load of that HOT LUMP coal," orders a customer this morning. That's the way so many order it — ANOTHER load.

A rabbit has a powder puff As every hunter knows, But though it's always with him He has a shiny nose.

We put up our HOT NUT coal in nice clean paper bags so that it can be loaded with the groceries or into the finest car without a speck of dust. The price is 60c.

The IRON FIRE-MAN will cut your fuel bills from ten to fifty percent. On display at our office.

Poise is the quality that enables a woman to seem serene when she fears that something is loose.

Many of our coals have been reduced in price this year. Selling for cash enables us to save losses that we are willing to pass on to the customers who always pay for their coal.

YUKON hard coal is only $16.00 this year.

It would use up all the Knot-Hole space if we enumerated all of the cars of material and fuel we are receiving. Suppose we lay off that for a while.

Father: "They make an umpire of him."

But even an umpire could tell the difference between an AMERICAN fence and some of the other brands.

Four hundred bushel steel corn cribs, $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00 each.

Maybe the reason some people ride in cheap cars is because they pay their grocery bills.

We piled in another bunch of 4-Square lumber today. This is the cleanest, clearest corn cribbing ever been in Wayne. All white pine. Every board square on both ends, down the middle and exact length. You fellows who will need a few corn crib boards should cut it over.

"What kind of coal do you want?" we asked a customer over the telephone this morning. "HOT LUMP coal, of course!" was the reply.

"Live and Learn," says the adage, but most of us do only the former.

You will learn something to your advantage by coming here and asking us about 4-Square lumber. Saves you dollars.

We have a big stock of 2 1/2 gauge galvanized roofing. We show you how to put it on so that it will be leak-proof.

One of our local wise-crackers says, "Autumn is almost here and soon the ladies must put on heavier beads."

We are now preparing to offer the new, double-coated BANNER steel posts at 32c, 34c, 36c and 38c.

The editor has some apples at his house he would like to give away before they freeze.

The heavy weight Glidden hog point barbed wire only $4.00 on our yard.

And now before we close the week, why not give us your winter's coal order now?

September has passed with no frost and with corn developing maturity in most satisfactory fashion. Cooler nights suggest that frost is not far ahead, and that soon golden ears will be gathered and safely cribbed.

Dr. A. L. Bixby of the Lincoln Journal, leaves soon for another pilgrimage to the Pacific coast, and while there he may be depended on to stand up for Nebraska and point out any California boasting that outrages credulity or overtaxes endurance.

As between Senator Norris and former Senator Hitchcock, republicans know that the former will be found in a up against the administration, while they have reason to believe that the latter, though a democrat, would not at low party prejudice to influence his usually sound judgment.

"The unemployment crisis in our profession is becoming serious," remarked King Albert of Belgium when Amanullah left Afghanistan for exile. So many kings have been kicked out of their jobs in Europe that the business is about as nearly played out as running a livery stable in this country.

Appreciation of the quieting effect exercised by the street flusher on Main street dirt is often expressed. Use of the new equipment has enabled business houses to keep their stocks free from dust and has been a source of comfort to pedestrians in their travels through the business district.

Trade was unusually active in Wayne Saturday, and the largely increased volume was found amply

HOWARD'S PLEA.

Congressman Edgar Howard makes a plea for the resurrection and passage of the McNary-Haugen bill with the debenture plan annexed during the short session in December, and have it ready for farmers to take home with them on Christmas eve. As we understand, the debenture proposed to provide payment of the difference between the market price of wheat and the price which was considered adequate. Like the bank guaranty law, it might work all right for a time. But surplus would increase and the sum needed to keep up the guaranty would build up complicated government machinery and would, ultimately, rather than diminish the burdens resting on farming communities. Corn and live stock sections would especially suffer disadvantage.

But as a candidate to succeed himself, with the election only a month away, Congressman Howard doubtless wishes to make his position clear on proposed farm relief. Not only does he indicate how his feelings rise in behalf of the McNary-Haugen plan, but he emphasizes his stand by advising the defeat of all candidates for congress who will not pledge themselves to support such a measure. And he wants pledges to carry the emergency clause and go into effect in December when Christmas comes and when the debenture gift may be appropriately parked before the yule log whose soft light may illuminate smiles reflected by grateful hearts.

BOLSHEVISM.

As the Bolshevist government of Russia thrives on spreading adversity, it is believed a sinister motive is back of the move that country to produce great quantities of wheat on the American market. By depressing prices in the United States and causing general dissatisfaction, the Russian heads believe their poor idea of government could gain a foothold here.

Ugly purposes ascribed to the Russian government are supported by the ground that the people of that country are short of food supplies and need the wheat which is being exported. It is suggested, however, that the government needs money and that individual wants are subordinated to national requirements. This beastly disregard of home people is but one among many policies of brutality carried on under authority of the Bolshevist regime. Human life is considered of so little consequence that it is snuffed out to satisfy most trifling whims. Property has no rights or safety, and citizens, mere puppets in the hands of a vicious system, are not rewarded by industry or frugality.

By depressing prices in the United States and causing general dissatisfaction, the Russian heads believe their poor idea of government could gain a foothold here.

Ugly purposes ascribed to the Russian government are supported by the ground that the people of that country are short of food supplies and need the wheat which is being exported. It is suggested, however, that the government needs money and that individual wants are subordinated to national requirements. Human life is considered of so little consequence that it is snuffed out to satisfy most trifling whims. Property has no rights or safety, and citizens, mere puppets in the hands of a vicious system, are not rewarded by industry or frugality.

Russian Bolshevism is so completely void of conscience that a dark plan to break down the stability and content of other countries is easily believable. Its rule is more intolerable than the reign of the worst czar.

That this country should raise barriers against excessive introduction of Russian wheat or other products, there is no question. If there are no laws or rules to govern the flooding of American markets by shipments from foreign ports, some should be made and strictly enforced. The United States government has shown itself capable of acting wisely and effectually in emergencies, and it will doubtless do so in this one.

Omaha Journal-Stockman's Report Of the Herald's Baby Beef Feed

As Reporter For Leading Journal Saw Barbecue and Spirit of Good Fellowship.

Omaha Journal-Stockman: At the invitation of E. W. Huse, Wayne county descended upon this bustling northeastern Nebraska town today and paid honor to the 4-H club boys and girls of the community.

The immediate object of the 4,000 or more folks who came to town was to partake of the prime baby beef which Mr. Huse, editor of the Wayne Herald, served. But when they went home, they had received more than a sandwich and a cup of coffee. They had acquired a deeper appreciation of the work that their boys and girls are doing in 4-H clubs, while town and country residents had rubbed elbows and become better acquainted with each other.

All of which was as Mr. Huse had hoped it would be.

It is no mean undertaking for the editor of a country weekly to stage an event of the magnitude that this one was. It takes cash—something that many small papers find is hard to lay hands on—and a lot of it to feed 4,000 people, but Mr. Huse regards his expenditure as an investment in the welfare of Wayne and Wayne county residents, old and young. He had regarded it that way from the time he made his first plans, but especially so since his party was the tremendous success that it turned out to be.

For Co-operation.

He fears to understand full well two things that are essential for Wayne county to forge ahead. One of these is that the county's boys and girls are its future citizens, and anything that can be done to create interest in the work they are doing, and give them greater opportunities, is building for the years just around the corner. The other is that, to make the most of the present, town and country residents of the county must pull together. Today's gathering will do much to bring about both.

Purchased Top Calf.

It was because he understands these things that Mr. Huse purchased the top Wayne county baby beef at the Interstate fair in Sioux City a couple of weeks ago to-day.

Averaging around 1,000 pounds on the hoof, the steer brought 14 1/2 cents per pound and dressed out over 600 pounds of beef. Owned by Burdette Nygren, a lad of 11 in his second year of club work, the calf had previously placed second in his class at the Wayne county fair.

He was a Hereford, one of 15 carrying the J-M brand, that had been shipped in from around Van Tassel, Wyo., by Hugo Spittgerber and sold by him to 4-H club boys and girls of the county. Eight out of the 15 calves got in the prize money at the county fair.

Burdette had fed him since early last January, starting him on a ration of shelled corn and oats. He was finished on full feed of shelled corn, oil meal and alfalfa.

Burdette says that he learned a lot of things from feeding his calf, among them how to choose a calf that is healthy and thrifty, how to care for and feed him, how to train him, and, above all, not to be disgusted if the calf doesn't turn out to be all that was expected. This he says, should only be an inducement to try all the harder the next time.

Leads in Club Work.

Wayne county lays claim to being the leading county of the state in 4-H club work for counties having no extension agent. From inquiries made casually at today's gathering it was learned that much of the credit for this splendid showing is due to the untiring efforts of Dr. W. M. Hawkins, local veterinarian, and Mrs. John Gettman, who have volunteered their services as club leaders. As one farmer put it, the boys and girls swear by these two people.

There are 150 young folks enrolled in the county's beef, pig, sewing and cooking clubs and it is hoped that the number will increase substantially during the coming year.

Baby-beef club members had 74 animals entered in the Wayne county fair this year, according to Dr. Hawkins, and took 40 calves to the Interstate fair. Seven years ago the club started with 11 head. In 1929 Wayne county had 94 calves, which placed it second among all counties in the state, Dr. Hawkins said. One of these calves dressed a little over 68 per cent.

There are three clubs within the county, Wayne, Winside and Hoskins. The Wayne county club, which is in direct charge of Dr. Hawkins, had 47 of the 74 heaves this year.

In pig club work there are 16 members, while the sow and litter clubs boast 24 members.

Music on Program.

Today's celebration included, besides the barbecue, a parade of 4-H club members led by the Wayne Legion band, a concert by the band, and music by the Welsh sextet of Carroll, led by Ivor Morris. A number of business and commission men from Omaha and Sioux City attended the gathering, together with representatives from the Omaha Daily Journal-Stockman and other papers at Norfolk, Pender and Wisner.

NO HARD TIMES.

Bruce McCulloch, editor of the Omaha Daily Journal-Stockman, makes these observations following his visit to Wayne Saturday:

"September—and a morning made to order, with the sun shining brightly and just enough twang to the air to give zest for the day's work ahead.

"Northwest out of Omaha, through Fremont, West Point, Pilger and on to Wayne. Each mile brings added conviction that Nebraska truly sits in the lap of the gods this year.

"On past field after field of corn on either side of the road, much of it of a kind to be a credit in any year. Here and there a field that is late, but all of it curing rapidly and needing but a week or two before frost to insure a crop.

"Into the heart of one of the country's most intensive feeding areas. Hogs on bluegrass—some following the cattle—others in the cornfield. Some cattle fat, awaiting the final trip to market; other cattle thin, apparently just put on the place.

"Everywhere cattle and hogs—each farm seems to have a few more than the one just down the road. How evident is the Nebraska farmer's belief that the best market for his grain is through the packing house! Occasionally a band of ewes or lambs, to emphasize the diversification of the feeder's activities.

"Over there a farmer plowing for wheat; here a threshing outfit doing a belated bit of work.

"On and on—over paving, gravel, and dirt; but always the road is good. On and on, until Wayne is reached.

"Here are gathered thousands of farmers, their wives and their children, mingling with other hundreds of townsfolk; all jailing for the afternoon in paying homage to the boys and girls of the county. No one downhearted; no grumbling. If hard times have hit northeastern Nebraska, one would never guess it from this crowd.

"Back of the gathering the foresight of a country editor who has faith in his town, his county, and his state—so much that he invested several hundred dollars in a top baby beef from his county and served it to the countryside, for nothing but the fun of promoting good fellowship among the citizenry, and an appreciation on their part of club boys and girls.

"And, as we left the crowd at Wayne and set out into the dusk with the red of a setting sun behind, we knew it was good to live in the heart of a country made up of such as those with whom we had just shaken hands and chatted.

"About us spread the country—God's country, if you please. The first brown of early autumn was setting in and we were reminded that, when the harvest is completed and Thanksgiving rolls around, certainly Nebraska will have much to be thankful for this year."

Insurance Men Meet At Banquet

Important Representatives Arrive Monday For Session at Hotel Stratton In Evening.

Forty-two guests were present at the annual dinner given at Hotel Stratton Monday evening, September 29, for representatives of the Northwestern Mutual life insurance company. J. H. Kemp, district agent, was in charge of the affair, which was a three-course banquet, served at long tables decorated with smilax and flowers.

Edward Heward of Carroll, was toastmaster in charge of the speaking program which followed the meal. Important representatives present included Franklin Mann, general agent, and Mrs. Mann, Omaha; and Edwin Gould, field supervisor, Omaha.

G. A. Renard of Waussa was to have spoken on "Our Opportunity" but was unable to attend, so George C. Gage of Fremont, spoke in his place, mentioning particularly the importance of integrity, successful management, and organization in the insurance business.

T. S. Hook spoke most amusingly on "Better Flives," emphasizing the help which insurance men's wives can be in the work.

Tells Doctor's Side.

Dr. George J. Hess told the doctor's side of the insurance story when he talked on "Dr. Fischer's Shadow" referring to the work of the medical examiner who follows in the footsteps of Dr. Fischer, examiner at the head of the company. He said that the insurance examiner had a "difficult position to fill in that an insurance 'wield' combine for examination, makes every attempt to conceal defects, whereas a regular physician makes the most of every symptom. He said that Dr. Fischer, however, is not a doctor, but a man of the law. He told of the conversation at the examination table and agent to the small town. He was preceded by T. L. Burford of Lincoln, who spoke briefly and entertainingly of the insurance business in general. Mr. Burford is in the loan department.

Edwin Gould, Lincoln, talking on "No Man's Land," had some interesting points to reveal about the making up of the bulletin which goes out to insurance men. He described life insurance as a property good, even from a selfish standpoint. He told of the new special retirement endowment at 65.

"Looking 'Em Over" was the subject taken in hand by Dr. C. T. Ingham, who enlarged the idea of the insurance examiners' problems in dealing with "risks."

Mr. Mann Addresses Group.

Franklin Mann, speaking on "My Gang," charmed his listeners with a description of the organization in which the representatives work. He told of the exclusive control in the several territories, and announced that Wayne county, of all the counties over the land, has the largest volume per capita, of insurance.

One of the important services of the insurance company of today, Mr. Mann pointed out, is the fact that the company manages the estates and their administration in a most efficient manner. This new service, in addition to the new series of policies being offered, adds to the efficiency of the companies.

Presbyterian Church, (Rev. F. A. Davies, Pastor)

We were pleased with the attendance and spirit of the rally and promotional services last Sunday morning. A real slogan used in many churches is this "Every member of the church in the Sunday school and every member of the Sunday school in the church service."

Our services next Sunday are at the following hours: Sunday school, 10 a. m.; morning worship, 11:

the Intermediate and young people's C. E. service, 6:30 p. m., and evening service, 7:30. Note change in evening hours.

The young people's C. E. are installing officers at the evening hour and we believe that Marion Sims who is state secretary, will be with us for the service.

The women of the church are paying off the church debt. Let every one, men as well as women, help this week by bringing in a yard of pennies.

It is an inspiration to the pastor to see the new interest in young people's work and the evening choir.

Both synod and the synodical group at Omaha next week. A group of our people plan to be in attendance.

The young people are planning to entertain in a social Friday evening. A very good time is promised.

Happy Chick News

Well, here we are back on the air again and I will endeavor to entertain you for a few minutes.

Life is largely a matter of seeing things. Happiness is what you see in the present. Opportunity is what you see in the future.

Now there is nothing nicer when driving through the country than seeing a nice farmstead, buildings all in good repair and, in fact, everything in first class shape.

Of course you can obtain this happiness by coming in and talking it over with us. You may be able to make a few repairs here and there and it will surprise you how cheaply some of these conveniences may be obtained. Opportunity is open to you, and you may be able to see in the future a home you will be proud of for years to come.

Car Turns Over On Highway Near Home

Mrs. N. H. Nelson and Miss Alice Nelson suffered from shock and minor cuts and bruises Monday evening when the Ford car in which they were traveling along the highway south of Wakefield, overturned into the ditch. Mrs. Nelson and her daughter were returning home from Omaha, and were only about a mile and a half from home when the accident took place.

Mrs. Nelson had a scalp wound which was painful but not serious. The car was quite badly damaged.

members of their congregation who had for them a reception at the Salem Lutheran church. The occasion was Rev. and Mrs. Martin's twentieth wedding anniversary.

Bad roads and stormy weather made it impossible for some to be present, although the congregation was well represented. The evening was spent informally, and luncheon was served.

A. E. Nimrod had charge of the program for the evening, on which Rev. J. G. Nelson of the Mission church was one of the speakers. Music was rendered by the male quartet, and there were several other numbers. The congregation represented by Theodore Carlson presented the honorees with a purse, and there were flowers for Mrs. Martin.

Schools Present Splendid Records

Attendance and Grades Good During First Few Weeks of Winter Semester Says Report.

Opening the season, the Wakefield team was proud of an 82-0 victory over Coleridge in the game played here Friday, September 26. A good-sized crowd of spectators enjoyed the game, which lacked, however, the snap which some real competition would have given it.

Names of members of the boys' and girls' glee clubs have been announced, with about 75 prospects coming in for practice the first day. The boys' group met on Tuesdays and Thursdays and the girls' on Wednesdays and Fridays.

Members of the sophomore class enjoyed a steak fry last week Thursday at the school house. Miss Dorothy Spahr, class sponsor, and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Tschudy, were guests.

A pep club has been organized, and gave a rally before the Coleridge game last Friday. Membership in the club will be limited to girls in the senior class. Evangeline Carlson was elected president of the group, which will work during the year to develop school spirit and enthusiasm.

Girl reserve work has risen to real popularity with girls in the Wakefield school. There are now 58 members in the group.

Attendance Excellent.

Attendance for the first three weeks of school revealed an average for the third week to be 99 per cent. Perfect attendance was had by the freshmen and senior classes and the remaining classes had 99 per cent perfection. The lowest attendance average was had in the fifth grade, where the per cent fell to 93.7.

Grades are ranking high so far, as shown by a survey just completed. Seniors are in the lead with an 81 per cent lead of grades of A or A plus.

Miss Ruth Anderson had 100 per cent in arithmetic every day the past week.

A Good Wayne County Stock and Grain Farm

FOR $100.00 AN ACRE

Here is a wonderful opportunity to get a good 308 acre farm at an extremely low price. Every acre of this farm is good, heavy, black loam soil; the farm lays well, has about 60 acres in good pasture and the balance is under cultivation. This farm lays in the west end of Wayne county, is located on a good highway and is and has been well farmed, and is very productive.

The improvements are a 3-room house, a barn about 32x48, hog barn 24x60, corn crib 28x32, good well, close to school. The buildings need some minor repairs and a good coat of paint.

This farm will rent for $7.50 to $8.00 an acre cash, and there is a good tenant on it now that desires very much to stay. It is a real investment at the price.

There is a loan of $20,000 on the farm that is due in 1935. The equity we would like to have in cash.

250 STOCK PIGS

AT THE

Wayne Sales Pavilion

Saturday, Oct. 4

1:30 P. M.

On the above date we will offer to the public 250 head of very choice Spotted Poland China stock hogs. These pigs are all double vaccinated and come from our own herd that has been raised on clean ground. For a number of years we raised a large number of hogs in Wayne county and we feel that this offering is the kind that will satisfy the needs of this country. Please don't confuse these pigs with the ordinary run of stock pigs. This offering is choice. We have raised them ourselves on our Dakota farm and can tell you all about them. Come in and see them. They will be here so you may inspect them on Friday.

corn will not average quite this amount, it is estimated.

Some are digging potatoes now. The potatoes are not large but are yielding about sixty bushels to the acre.

A good rain last Thursday will be of benefit to pastures.

Program Sponsored In Carroll School

The Carroll Woman's club sponsored a public gathering and program in the school last Thursday evening. A pageant, "A Visit to America's Song Land," in charge of Miss Lella Adams, was presented. Grade and high school students took part, singing in groups. Speaking parts were taken by Irene Whitney, Irma Phipps, Junior and Lawrence Huwaldt, Edwin Haines and Dale Tangeman. Mrs. Edward Huwaldt, club president, had charge. Sandwiches and coffee were served.

The intermediate grades had a wiener roast at the Phillips grove Wednesday evening last week. Grade teachers went with the group.

New hygiene texts have been bought for the third and fourth grades.

The intermediate grades have been doing free-hand cutting of snowflakes in art.

The eighth grade arithmetic class is learning how to construct plane geometric figures.

The freshmen had a wiener roast at the Phillips grove Friday.

Juniors planned a wiener roast Thursday but had to postpone it until this week on account of bad weather.

Singing was conducted in the Friday convocation period.

Spelling is conducted each Wednesday in the high school convocation.

Sophomores present a program this Thursday in the school.

In the contest between boys and girls in the biology class on collecting the largest variety of insects, the girls won. The boys will provide a treat.

Achievement Day Program Planned

Achievement day programs are planned soon by 4-H clubs of this vicinity. The Sunny Circle club has its public program Friday evening this week at the Congregational church. The Poultry club and the J. O. B. sewing club plan their program together at the McEachen school October 18. The Winside clubs have theirs at the auditorium in Winside October 12. The Sunny circle club program this Friday consists of songs, readings and talks.

Catholic Congress Well Attended

Many From Wayne Go To Omaha For Religious Ceremonies Last Week.

(Contributed.)

In 1881 in Lisle, France, the first international Eucharistic congress was held. Of the 38 international congresses held since then...

This year, for the first time in nineteen years, it was decided to hold a national congress under the auspices of the Priests' Eucharistic League and to the city of Omaha...

To Rt. Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, bishop of Omaha, assisted by his faithful clergy and laity, belongs the credit for the success of the most inspiring and religious Catholic spectacle that has graced the Episcopal city...

The congress was opened with a civic reception for the apostolic delegate to the United States, Most Rev. Pietro Firmosani Biondi, D. D., archbishop of Diocletia, visiting prelates and other guests...

The opening religious ceremony was held in St. Cecilia's cathedral Tuesday morning last week when the apostolic delegate celebrated Pontifical mass.

On Tuesday night in each of the 35 Catholic churches of Omaha the "Holy Hour," commemorating Christ's lovely vigil in Gethsemane, was held. A bishop presided in each church and great throngs overflowed each building...

Children's mass at the cathedral on Wednesday was attended by more than 4,000, only half of whom could be admitted. Loud speakers and seats about the cathedral grounds took care of the overflow.

Perhaps the most thrilling sight of the congress was the public Eucharistic demonstration in the Creighton stadium under auspices of the Holy Name society. The throng numbered 40,000. The address of Geborge, Cardinal Muedelin, was a gem...

Riley Stewart Tells Of Combining Wheat On Large California Ranch

Truck Output to Waterways For Shipment to Foreign Ports Over Entire Globe.

It took only a little more than 37 days to harvest 21,000 sacks of wheat and barley on the 4,000 acre ranch near Stockton, Calif., of Riley Stewart...

Barley produced on the California ranches is said to be some of the finest in the world. A sugar content of 12 1/2 per cent per 100 pounds is found in much of the barley raised in the San Joaquin valley...

Combine harvesting is so efficient that about 90 acres of grain can be cut, headed, threshed and sacked, ready for market in a single day. This totals 1,000 sacks.

Most of the grain from the San Joaquin valley is shipped to Stockton, whence it goes by canal two miles to the San Joaquin river...

The Stewarts liked Nebraska, although they found the days rather chilly for this season of the year, and observed many methods in farming which were unfamiliar to them.

Irwin Jones are delegates from the local church. Presbyterian Church. (Rev. R. L. Williams, Pastor) Preaching Sunday in the English language at 1 p. m. Sunday school to follow.

Report Is Good On State Crops

Lincoln Journal, Sept. 26: Approximately 63 percent of Nebraska's corn crop is now out of danger from frost and 87 percent is expected to be matured enough to escape injury by Oct. 1, according to the state and federal division of agricultural statistics...

Nearly 40 percent of the 1930 corn crop was still susceptible to frost damage on Sept. 20 and only 87 percent is expected to be matured sufficiently to escape damage by Oct. 1 according to bankers. The crop has not been able to overcome the two to three weeks handicap with which it has had to deal during the entire season.

The present indications on cattle and sheep feeding are that fewer will be fed this season, but with a brighter outlook for well fed cattle during the coming months it is possible that farmers will exceed present intentions. Farmers now expect to feed only 83 percent as many cattle and 75 percent as many sheep as were fed last season.

Poultry club members will participate in this program, at which features of the club work will be presented. Eight members attended Thursday evening and enjoyed the lesson on the making of a paper pillow. Leaders will confer concerning achievement day work and announce the program later. Miss Kloppling served refreshments.

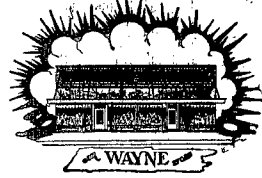

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank all who assisted in the sickness and death of our beloved mother, and also all who sent beautiful floral offerings. Charles Hostetter, Lewis-town, Mont., Mrs. Van Bradford, Harvey Hostetter and Mrs. George Steele of Wayne, and Marion Hostetter of Wheatland, Wyo.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock on Friday, October 3, at the Beckenhauer's Funeral Home.

The New Era Brings NEW PRICES

And The Golden Rule Will Bring Them To You

Everyone knows that prices are lower—everyone would like to receive every possible advantage of this lowering in prices in purchasing their fall needs. These new adjustments are in effect here and when new ones come, we will give you the advantage of them immediately. Assortments are complete in the price ranges that will fit the needs of the most people.

A $1,300 Blooded Jersey Cow Sold for $150 in the East the other day—the power of the pedigree did not follow through to the milk pail.

We are in the same situation as the man with the Jersey cow if the merchandise which we sell so reasonable in price does not give satisfactory service.

Once in a while we fall down, but we will quickly and happily make any adjustment to which you are entitled.

Every day we are doing our very best to protect our customers. Every day we are searching for standard quality merchandise which we can sell you at a saving in price.

Now when primary market costs are lower, we are constantly taking every advantage to build up our quality rather than reduce the selling price.

For instance, lower prices enabled us to build a men's work shirt to sell for 69c that has taken every one of our communities by storm—has enabled us to put tailoring and materials in our $22.50 suits that are ordinarily found in suits selling for much more—to give blankets with finer, softer finish—better furs on coats—more beautiful materials in dresses, and so on down the list.

Come and give Golden Rule fall values a thorough tryout.

Consolation

Music

The influence of music on the emotions is well known. In times of trial it can do more to soothe the feelings than any words of consolation. For this reason we give music a prominent place in the services we conduct. We make all arrangements for this feature of the service, subject, of course, to the wishes of the family.
