and Sewell Lead.

With more than 3,000 ballots
cast at the general election Tuesday, Wayne county voters established a record here. Republicans in most state offices, but both parties were about equally represented in county offices. Mailed ballots number 26 and ballots taken from homes of disabled number ten.

Miss Bertha Berres, appointed county clerk to succeed the late Charles W. Reynolds, was elected to the office on the republican ticket.
J. J. Steele, democrat, was elected county treasurer. Frank Korff, democrat, was named to the office of clerk of the district court. H. D. Addison, republican, was newly elected county attorney.
A. W. Stephens, democrat, is re-elected sheriff. Frank Klopffing, democrat, is the newly elected representative. J. G. Bergt, democrat, led for assessor. Frank Erxleben and David Koch, republicans, were reelected commissioners. Miss Pearl E. Sewell was renamed county superintendent.

REACT TO USUAL ACTIVITY AFTER ELECTION NOISE

THE election being over and the country being saved
again according to the popular will, let us turn attention to arrangements for winter and other plans for the future.
Corn husking is nearly finished,
and the crop, more than expected, will be turned to best possible advantage. The election out of the way, we may well
give new emphasis to industry and business and numerous and sundry occupations. Whether election results suit or not, individual responsibility is not relieved, and it is important to look ahead, tackle the many problems that come along and solve them in the most effective manner. Trade should improve with the advancing season, and Wayne's popularity as a trade center, which has become stronger and stronger during the past year, should be still further stimulated. And for buying news from week to week, keep your eyes on the Herald's advertising columns.

Let Contract For Highway

Winside-Wayne Stretch To Be Graded For Gravel
In The Spring.

Award Few Bids

Lowest Bidders Get Contracts
When Officers Meet Last Week in Lincoln.

Although few contracts were awarded at the meeting called in Lincoln last Thursday by State Engineer Roy E. Cochran, eight miles of road between Winside and Wayne, on highway 35, will be graded and surfaced with gravel, in the spring, announced Frank Erxleben and David Koch, who attended. Cochran had advertised for approximately $425,000 worth of bids on roads in the state, but few awards were made. The demands of this section were so urgent, however, that the contract was let to the lowest bidders in each instance, and the work will begin in the spring.

These brothers were given the $27,959.47 contract for grading the road, at a rate of 14.3c per yard.
Culverts at 14c. were let to the Concrete Construction company at $14,800. One bridge will be constructed on the road, and the same company got this contract at $5,219.25.

Drainage ditches will have to be cleared, and the grading on this project will be done by Thiesens' brothers, whose bid was 14.3c per yard.
It will not be possible to complete the work this fall, so commissioners have decided that it would be best to leave the entire matter until next spring, when weather will be more open, and seasonal conditions more suitable.

Completion of this section of road will mean a gravel surface
highway from Wayne to Norfolk
by way of Winside and Hoskins.
Work on the Hoskins-Winside section of the road is nearing completion this fall.

A committee from Wakefield went to Omaha last week to meet with the Omaha committee concerning the grading of the last portion of highway 9 between Wakefield and Pender. This is the only portion of that highway in Nebraska, which has not been surfaced to date.

Former Resident Passes In South

Robert Utter Who Owned Book Store Here In Early Days,
Dies at Dallas, Texas.

Robert Utter, resident of Wayne
for many years, died October 26
at his home in Dallas, Texas.
Funeral services were conducted
October 28 at Dallas by a pastor from Beville, the former home of deceased.

Mr. Utter owned the book store in Wayne for a number of years, selling to P. H. Jones, the present owner, April 1, 1899. The Utters moved from here to Norfolk and Mr. Utter conducted a book store there for several years. They then went to Beville, Texas, where they resided for several years, moving back to St. Louis City, Missouri, two years ago because of Mr. Ut-ter's failing health. Deceased and his wife went in February to Dallas where their son, Oliver, is superintendent of several ice plants.

Besides his wife, Mr. Utter leaves one son, Oliver, a daughter-in-law and grandson. Mr. and Mrs. Utter made in Wayne many friends who will regret the loss.
They were active workers in the Presbyterian church.

Early Merchant Of Wayne Dies

S. R. Theobald Passes Away
Here Thursday Evening
After Long Illness.

Rites On Saturday

Services Are Conducted at the Beckenhauer Parlors by Rev.
Wm. E. Braisted.

S. R. Theobald, one of Wayne's earliest merchants and a resident here over 40 years, passed away
last Thursday evening, October 30, at 11 o'clock after an illness of several weeks' duration. He had been failing for several years and all possible was done to restore his health.

Funeral services were conducted at the Beckenhauer parlor in Wayne Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with Rev. W. E. Braisted, Baptist pastor in charge. Business houses of the city closed during the rites. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Samuel Robert Theobald was born in Toronto, Canada, April 3, 1853, and was this aged 72 years,
6 months and 27 days. In his infancy he was taken by his parents to England where he lived until he was 17 years old. He then returned to this country with his parents and located in Illinois.

After residing there a few years
deceased came to Fairmyra, Neb., where he married Miss Josephine Gooding April 28, 1883. The family lived at Fairmyra for a couple years and then moved to a homestead in Valley county where they stayed five years.

In 1889 Mr. Theobald came to Wayne, and established a general merchandise business which was known as the Racket store. Both Mr. Theobald and his wife were active in the business which was widely known in northeast Nebraska. H. W. Theobald became associated with his brother and the name of the store was changed from the Racket to S. R. Theobald & Co. store. Deceased retired from the business in 1925.

Mr. Theobald was always active in city and community enterprises.
He cooperated with other business men here who promoted organization of the Nebraska Normal school, which later was bought by the state and became the Wayne
State Teachers College. Mr.
Theobald served as director for the school in the early days and he was also a member of the city school board and library board.

Deceased united with the Baptist church of Wayne February 16, 1896, and he had been active,
strong and faithful in the church as long as he was able. He was deeply interested in its welfare always. Mr. Theobald was a member of the Woodman lodge.

Besides his wife, Mr. Theobald leaves one daughter, Mrs. Monte Hallam, of San Antonio, Texas, and one son, Perry A. Theobald, of Wayne. There are three grandchildren, Robert Hallam and Miss Marion Jo and Robert Theobald.
Deceased was the eldest of a family of five boys. One brother, Walter W., died at Lincoln about a year ago. The surviving brothers are C. E. and H. J. of Lincoln, and H. W. Theobald of Wayne.

Those here from a distance for the services were: Mr. and Mrs.
H. J. Theobald and daughter, Mr.
and Mrs. G. F. Theobald and son, and Mrs. Cora Theobald of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Woodward of Schuyler.

Fall-buriers were Frank Wilson of Winside, F. S. Morgan, D. H.
Cunningham, L. W. Ellis, W. C.
Shulties and Paul Harrington.

Small Boy Suffers Fracture of Arm

Jimmy, two-year-old son of Mr.
and Mrs. Bernard von Seggern living south of Wayne suffered a compound fracture of the left arm when he caught the member in a cream separator which was in operation. The accident occurred last Wednesday Jimmy is believed to be improving nicely this week.

LITTLE PROOF OF DESTRUCTION ON ALL SAINTS' DAY

WE have never seen fewer evidences of Halloween
deviltry than there were this year. Whether due to increased respect for people's property—less disposition to wilful destruction—or whether due to fewer opportunities to raise Cain, with more restrain-ing influences, we do not know.
We only know there was less disturbance than usual. People did not find their chattels displaced and scattered nor any serious damage to property.
No reason exists for disregard of property rights any more on Halloween than at other junctures during the year. Time was when little buildings were upset and anything movable was moved by mischievous youths who pre-empted a privilege for which there was never the remotest excuse. We are glad young people are finding other ways to express and amuse themselves.

Kelly Peterson Suffers Injury

Youth, Formerly Of Wayne,
Has Skull Fractured
And Shoulder Hurt.

Chance To Recover

Young Man Is Thrown To Pavement
From Car At Stop Sign
Saturday Evening.

Suffering a fractured skull near the right eye and torn ligaments in his right shoulder Saturday evening when thrown from the running board of a car at Lincoln, Kelly Peterson, 19, formerly of Wayne, is in a critical condition at a Lincoln hospital. Providing infection does not set in at the skull fracture for eight days, attending doctors say he has a good chance to recover.

The youth and three other young men were returning home from a show about 11:20 Saturday night. They were riding in a coupe driven by S. M. Young and Kelly was standing on a running board of the machine. The car halted for a stop sign and another car, not holding the stop signal, struck them from the rear.
Kelly was thrown from the running board to the pavement and sustained the injuries. Others in the car were cut and bruised.

The young man is a son of Mr.
and Mrs. H. C. Peterson who used to live in Wayne. Until this fall he was employed in the Larson & Larson grocery store here, leaving his work to begin a pre-medical course at Lincoln in September.

The Petersons live at 1705 South
Twentyfifth street in Lincoln. Mr.
S. Guy Strickland, Mrs. Carl
Snyder, Miss Margaret Ley and Doc Snyder drove to Lincoln on Monday to see Kelly who recognized them when he roused from sleep. They returned Tuesday.

Former Resident Passes In Tulsa

Edwin Mitchell Who Lived Here
Twenty Years Ago, Dies
After Heart Attack

Edwin D. Mitchell of Tulsa, Okla., resident of Wayne for many years, died Tuesday last week from a heart attack he suffered the previous Friday evening at a dinner party following an afternoon of golf with his daughter. Mr. Mitchell was about 65 years old. Word of his death, received here by the C. H. Fisher funeral home, did not state where the burial would be but it is thought the body was taken to the Mitchells' former home in Rome, N. Y.

Mr. Mitchell was in the real estate and loan business here in the early days, being associated with J. D. King. He lived in the present Dr. E. S. Blair residence and built the Ellis Girton, Ced Swanson and James Baird homes.
He left about 20 years ago for Tulsa, Okla., when that city had a population of 1,400 and he had resided there during its rapid growth.

Deceased leaves his wife and one daughter, Louise Steele. A nephew, Srus Sweet, who was formerly in a bank here, also lives at Tulsa.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell drove to Wayne last summer for a visit.

Birth Record.
A daughter was born October
30 to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F.
Longe.

A son was born Tuesday, November 4, to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fisher of near Carroll.

A son was born, Monday, November 3, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Drabicki who live near Wayne. Mrs. Drabicki was formerly
Mrs. Emma Brinkman.

To Hold Rites At Wakefield

Conduct Funeral Services
For N. P. Nyberg Friday
In Home And Church.

Passes On Tuesday

Deceased Had Been Resident of Wakefield for the Past
Thirty-seven Years.

Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 at the home and at 2:30 at Salem Lutheran church in Wakefield for Nels Peter Nyberg, Wakefield resident for 37 years, who passed away Tuesday morning, November 4, at 2 o'clock from heart trouble, aged 65 years, 8 months and 1 day. Mr. Nyberg had been failing in health for several months and was critically ill two weeks. Rev. J. A. Martin will officiate at the rites and interment will be made in Wakefield cemetery.

Mr. Nyberg was born in Hjort-berga, Kronobergs Lan, Sweden, on March 3, 1865. There he was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. He came to America in 1890, making his home at Yankton, S. D. In 1892 he moved to Wakefield to engage in the implement business, from which he retired in 1905. Deceased married Miss Christina Mortenson at Wakefield March 3, 1896, and two children were born to this union, Fred W. and Nancie. Deceased united with Salem Lutheran church in 1902 and had since been a member. In his church, home, and among his friends he was held in highest esteem.

Mr. Nyberg leaves his wife, Mrs.
Christina Nyberg, his son, Fred
W. Nyberg of Wayne and daughter, Mrs. Nan Davis of Las Vegas, Nevada, all of whom were with him in his last illness. He is survived by two brothers, F. J.
Nyberg of Wakefield and Carl Nyberg in Sweden, and three sisters, Mrs. Amanda Johnson and Miss Bertha Nyberg of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Hilda Donaldson of Yankton, S. D.

Republicans In Most Offices

Most Republican Officials
Were Elected Tuesday
By Many Voters.

Norris Is Elected

Hugh Drake Is Chosen Railway
Commissioner—Other Results In State.

Late reports from the Norfolk
Daily News Wednesday afternoon gave Charles W. Bryan, democrat, lead of 6,887 over Arthur J.
Weaver, republican, for governorship of Nebraska. With 1,751 precincts out of 2,040 reporting,
Bryan had 193,999 and Weaver
187,112. Republicans were leading for the other major state tickets.

For United States senator 1,752
precincts gave George W. Norris, republican, over 215,000 votes, a lead of 61,993 over Gilbert M.
Hitchcock, democrat.

C. A. Sorenson, republican, received 137,468 in 1,597 precincts.
Grover Long, democrat, received 134,787.

Hugh H. Drake, son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Hess of Wayne, was elected railway commissioner, with 159,557 votes in 1,572 precinct. E. A. Walrath, democrat, received 136,587.

Edgar Howard, democrat, led for congressman in the Third district by two to one. H. Halderson was the republican candidate.
Four districts elected democratic congressmen, the Sixth elected a republican, and the First was yet uncertain last evening with the republican leading.

Returns from 948 precincts out of 2,040 in Nebraska for state superintendent of public instruction
gave: Taylor 92,229; Matzen, 69, 992.

Father L. J. Coyle Narrowly Escapes

Father L. J. Coyle, son of Mr.
and Mrs. James Coyle of Lincoln and cousin of Mrs. E. J. Hun-temer of Wayne, was one of eight Catholic missionaries who barely escaped with their lives from the communistic "reds" in the province of Kiangsi, China. Father Coyle escaped toward the provincial capitol, Nanchang, and others took a Chinese junk down the river. The country is infested with rebels, the report states.

Father Coyle for several months until he sent the cablegram with the one word, Shanghai.

Life In Sweden Charms Traveler On Third Visit To Scenes Of Early Home

Mrs. Swanson Describes Cuisine
for Typical Formal Dinner in Upper Class Home.

Unemployment is rare, adoption of progressive ideas common, and living conditions excellent in Sweden this year, in the opinion of Mrs. Cedric Swanson who returned last Wednesday from a four months visit in that country.
She mentioned particularly good crops this season, with plenty of rain, and fine harvest weather,
although she said that farmers complained of the low prices there as elsewhere.

Mrs. Swanson spent most of her time in Sosdola, Sweden, her childhood home, where her parents and one sister are now living. She found Sweden much as it had appeared on the occasion of her last visit in 1922, but was most impressed with the healthfulness of the climate, the extreme cleanliness encountered everywhere, and the efficiency with which the elaborate housekeeping
is handled.

Almost every home is equipped with electricity, which is produced in abundance, and furnished at a low rate. Even the farms find it possible to utilize electric power for their various activities, so threshing, feed grinding, wood cutting, and many other operations are now performed by electricity. All of the homes, save the poorest, and those in remote districts, are lighted by electricity.

Radios are found in some homes, and telephones are common. Private cars are not so common, but taxi fares is very low, and most people find it more convenient to hire cabs than to operate their own cars.

Mrs. Swanson made a journey of seven Swedish miles (each Swedish mile being about six and one-half or seven of our miles) for the sum of 20c crowns. A crown is worth about 27c.

Some people prefer to travel by bicycle over the shorter distances, and, since roads are good, this is possible.

Mentions Housekeeping Methods.
Swedish housekeeping is very scrupulous. Molds are kept in most of the largest houses, and no detail is left unconsidered. When large dinner parties are being arranged, special cooks and helpers
are engaged for a period of two or three days, in order that the
elaborate menus may be prepared
well in advance.

There is less variety in the everyday menus of the Swedish household than in the ordinary American cuisine, although the Swedish cook is not to be outdone for the formal dinner.

A Formal Dinner Menu.
Formal dinners begin with an assortment of hors d'oeuvres, or "cold board," as it is known in Swedish. Cold sliced meats, preserved fruits, delicate fishes, and detailed salads are served. When
large dinner parties are being ar-
ranged, special cooks and helpers
are engaged for a period of two
or three days, in order that the
elaborate menus may be prepared
well in advance.

Meats are usually roasted, beef,
pork and lamb being favorites.
Relishes and breads are served with the meat course. Desserts, coffee and fruits close the meal.

On the dessert list will occur ice cream, pudding, cakes of various kinds, fancy tarts or glaces of the kind usually associated with the French cuisine.

Bake Enormous Cakes.
One of the favorite ornaments
for the formal dinner table is the large pyramided cake, decorated with icing, and arranged in several layers of fancy shape. These cakes, if large, will sometimes require as many as 60 eggs, a number which an American housewife would not dream of using.

Library Achieves New High Record

Reading Becomes More Popular
As Fall Months Advance
Says Librarian.

Circulation of periodicals and books at the Carnegie library for the month of October, says Mrs.
E. S. Blair, librarian, exceeded any month since the establishment of the institution. Including children's books, there was a total of 2,594 books loaned, a number far in excess of the 1,119 which was the October, 1929, total.

In the adult department, non-fiction books number 163; fiction, 1,001; periodicals, 260. In the children's department 1,170 were loaned during October, making up the total of 2,594.

New periodicals are being added
to the library shelves this fall, and a complete selection of the best new fiction is received at intervals.

GRAVEL ASSURED BETWEEN WINSIDE AND COUNTY SEAT

THE contract having been let for grading the highway between Winside and Wayne,
we are now assured a graveled
highway between Norfolk and St. Louis City by way of Wayne before the end of next year.
Of late numerous county roads have been graded and some have been given the protection of snow fences. If these roads are kept clear of snow during the winter, results will be most gratifying to travelers. In some northeast Nebraska counties, notably Cuming and Madison, considerable graveled has been done without state and federal aid, thus adding important hard-surfaced stretches to the main highway. We would like to see progress made in independent, permanent road
development in Wayne county.
The northwest part of the county is still without graveled roads, and it needs and deserves favorable attention.

Man Is Killed In Car Crash

Former Resident Of Wayne
Dies Monday Morning
On Tilden Road.

Burial At Wayne

Deceased Was Born In This County and Lived at Wayne and Winside Previously

When a light car crashed into the back of a truck loaded with cattle on a corner three miles east and one-half south of Tilden Monday morning at 4 o'clock, James Edward King of Oakdale, formerly of Wayne and Winside, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries from which he died instantly.

A companion, Frank Solko, also of Oakdale, was painfully injured, sustaining severe abrasions on his face and arms when he was thrown from the machine and slid along on the gravel.

Solko is at a local hospital
where it is believed he will recover.

Truck Driver Unhurt
The cattle truck, which is owned by a West Point firm and was one of a caravan of three trucks proceeding eastward, was overturned and the cattle spilled out. The driver, whose name was not learned here, was unhurt it is believed.

James King, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. King, was born on a farm six miles southwest of Wayne. He was aged 29 years, 3 months and 24 days. His parents came to this county 32 years ago and after living near Wayne for a few years went to Winside where they resided until ten years ago
when they went to Oakdale.

Besides his parents Mr. King leaves two brothers, John and William, both of Oakdale. One sister died a number of years ago.
Funeral services were conducted for deceased at 1:15 Wednesday afternoon from the Oakdale Methodist church with Rev. J. Bruce Wylie of Winside, in charge. The body was brought to Wayne that afternoon about 4 o'clock for burial.

Kiwanians Hear About Europeans

Election Panel Is Up Before Members to Be Voted on At An Early Date.

Describing an interesting summer spent in Europe, Miss Margaret Schemel's address was the chief number on the entertainment program at Kiwanis club Monday noon. Dr. R. W. Casper was in charge of the day's meeting, which was preceded by a pleasant dinner. Miss Schemel described conditions on the continent and in England as they appeared to her after an intimate observation of some weeks, and especially spoke of conditions in Paris, where she spent several weeks in study.

The address Monday was one of a series of talks concerning travel, many of them having been given by members who described summers spent in vacationing at various points.

Next week's program is in charge of Prof. W. R. Hickman, who has disclosed none of the details. The gathering will be the regular luncheon session.

Kiwanians are interested in the election of officers, the nominating committee having put up last Monday the following panel of names: President, A. B. Carhart; vice-president, E. J. Huntester; treasurer, J. G. Mines; district trustee, William Beckenbauer; directors for three years, Dr. R. W. Casper and Dr. C. A. McMaster.

The pep club gives a benefit program Friday at 7:30 at the high school. All are welcome. n61t

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 35 Wayne, Neb., Thursday, November 6, 1930. Vol. 4

Winter'll be setting in before we know it. Which reminds us of the fall repair work which is going on in Wayne county. We're furnishing lots of lumber.

A western hunter seeing the glow of a cigarette thought it was a coyote's eye and fired. Note to amateur hunters—a coyote has two eyes.

A good many are getting hitched these days. Storm door paper that won't tear and is water-proof. Try our Dustless furnace oil. Saves house-cleaning. Costs less. Price $9.50 per ton.

A model husband is one who is as nice to his wife in private as he is in public.

We rise to remark that the couple who were divorced after fifty years of married life at least gave it a fair trial.

Nothing seems very funny at six o'clock in the morning. Have you ever noticed that?

You will make no mistake in buying 4-Square lumber even though you may not be an expert in the lumber line.

"A man may be down but he's never out," said sheriff Stephens as he locked the doors of the jail.

Hey, you fellows who are putting corn on the ground! We have portable corn cobs for only $4.00. Keeps the corn from spoiling. Lasts several years.

Underneath this sacred soil lies the body of Emory Todd. He thought the roadway was all his. And that's why Emory's where he is.

We put nothing but the highest quality of coal into our paper sacks. You'll like this way of doing it.

Give our Hot Lumber coal a fair trial and you'll never part with it.

You can rent a house, but when you own it it becomes a home.

The final touch of beauty to a room is a hardwood floor.

Storm sash are moving freely. Got yours yet?

"You should see the fine bed of red hot coals I had every morning in my furnace," says a local coal customer. "Rainbow coal surely does hold its heat well." And less than a bushel of ash to a ton, top.

getting a small quantity of coal in a hurry.

Maybe it doesn't cost as much to own a home as you think it does. Have you investigated?

The best news that we can tell you is the news of the customers whom we have pleased.

Honesty is the best policy but honesty in your sale is not the best honesty.

We go into business more than thirty years ago to make money, but we stayed in it by making satisfied customers.

Twelve years ago next Tuesday the armistice was signed, and the world gave a sigh of relief. Ever since then the countries involved have been pulling back to normal, and the severity of the struggle presents a powerful argument against the folly of armed conflict.

The annual drive of the Red Cross will soon take place, and then will follow an election of officers. The same officers have held their places since the war on account of lack of interest to name successors, and it is likely all present incumbents would be glad to have a meeting and pass on the honors and responsibility. We know of one who would.

A speaker before a local club suggested that the tariff and peiodic business depressions should be taken out of politics, and instead should be considered by impartial boards, free from the damaging effect of conflict among rival leaders. The tariff has been a disturbing influence in business during every political campaign, and it seems high time to cut it out as a means to elect or defeat candidates.

Tuesday's election revealed unusual independence in voting. About an equal division of victories between the two parties leaves no ground for feeling of comparative superiority. Norris carried the county by a large majority, and Bryan lost the county by over 800. Many republicans voted for Hitchcock and many democrats supported Morris. The Third ward in Wayne which is probably the strongest republican precinct in the county, gave a majority to the democratic candidate. In the choice of county candidates, party

FALSE REPORTS

We heard a story on the day before election attacking the religious tolerance of one of the candidates, and though it was plainly false, it would have wrongfully influenced voters if it had not been promptly captured and exploded. The story ran to the effect that one of the lady candidates had made a speech before a club in a certain town and during the course of it, advised against voting for another candidate on account of religion.

The town mentioned has no club, and the candidate had attended no kind of meeting at the place in question. She had made no speech before any club anywhere, had not thought of religious lines, and had never expressed in public or private preference on account of religion. The story was wilfully and unqualifiedly false without the remotest shadow of ground for its inception. Nothing said or done could have been construed as basis for the report, and yet it was started by some one, and it was spreading rapidly when overtaken and squelched.

People are touchy over religion, and the surest way to arouse mass opposition is to step on another's religion or indicate that a believer in one religion is not entitled to the same rights and privileges as the believer in some other religion. So delicate a subject should be left entirely out of politics, and one church should be as careful to leave it out as another. Religion should be used neither to gain favor nor to excite opposition. A candidate depending on religious prejudice to strengthen popular claims or to weaken a rival is employing an unworthy substitute for merit.

And people are inclined to believe bad reports. The story started on the eve of election—though manifestly absurd and untenable—had made considerable headway when discovered by the object of its venom. Doubtless some damage was unavoidable—the result of an imagination prompted either by malice or by heaven lines were almost wholly disregarded, republican and democratic candidates winning about equal majorities. Often very trivial causes influence voters for or against a candidate, and often the reason why one wins or another loses has no bearing on fitness or desirability for official responsibility.

Consolidation of eight northeast Nebraska counties—Cedar, Dixon, Dakota, Wayne, Thurston, Stanton, Cumming and Burr—would eliminate a lot of overhead cost and bring the very thing everybody wants—reduced taxes. Decreased taxes would make farm lands more desirable and give big impetus to road improvements. Distances have been so reduced by modern means of travel that one could go from the remotest point in an eight-county consolidation to the center in one and one-half hours.

It is time for the Wayne business district to begin plans for its annual pre-Christmas festivities. One already guaranteed attraction for the season will be the regular vendors and a number of Esquimaux imported from the north. A contract for the appearance of the professional holiday performers was made several weeks ago. They will be here on one afternoon. Other attractions with suitable decorations, will be in order for arrangement before long. Thus, Wayne will be made an object of unusual holiday interest this year.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: Federal, state and municipal projects all over the country put forward to meet the emergency situation in unemployment will contribute appreciably to a stronger business activity than has been known for months. The total to be expended on public works is not known, but it will run to much more than $100,000,000. And although that will provide employment for only a small number, comparatively, of the idle still it is to be regarded as helpful.

Pitiful Publicity.

York Republic: We feel sorry for some Nebraska weekly newspapers that recently ran a picture bearing the title, "Tornado Drill at a School in Nebraska." It showed a group of school children marching into a cyclone cellar under the direction of their teacher.

Once in a decade a Nebraska wind strikes a school house, just as in California a quake occasionally shakes in a roof of a school building. But you do not see California newspapers showing pictures of children in earthquake drills. Not a bit of it.

It is all right for Nebraska school children to have fire drills and tornado drills, if the school authorities think it necessary or desirable. But there is no earthly sense in Nebraska newspapers running pictures of them.

A picture like that can do more to create the impression that Nebraska is commonly infested with tornadoes than columns of reading matter. Pages of constructive reading material can never counterbalance the harm.

Nebraska publishers did not run the picture deliberately but their carelessness in editing the plate and picture material in their newspapers did an injustice to the state which this year above all years should have a hundred percent of the newspapers chanting the hallelujah chorus.

COMMUNISM.

It seems to us that the soviet regime in Russia is more oppressive than the rule of the old czars. The spirit of independence and initiative is crushed. People plug along without identity and without hope. They are herded together in community houses, work in groups and pay liberally to the state for the privilege of breathing.

There seems to be no heart in the Russian government. Home life which is vital to civilization, is quite destroyed. Children are separated from their parents. The church is belittled, and atheism is encouraged. Spiritual values are subordinated to the cold, materialistic demands of the state.

Thought not enough produced in Russia to supply local requirements, exportations are pushed to the limit. People are compelled to stint their own needs while slaving for a cruel system. If they protest, they are in imminent danger of being put to rest under the usual depth of hard earth.

Russian communism seems to be an aggravated form of socialism. It is an experiment which robs people of natural rights and which gives no inspiration for individual achievements. It is an experiment which every lover of liberty and self-development should eschew.

And although that will provide employment for only a small number, comparatively, of the idle still it is to be regarded as helpful.

Meanwhile there are other influences seen as giving impetus to business progress. Stocks are low, which makes it necessary for industry to increase production to meet the inevitable demands regardless of whether buying power is strengthened. At this time there are not enough commodities in sight to supply such demands as has existed throughout the year of depression.

Industrial leaders admit that their stocks are low. So do merchants, both wholesale and retail. Shelves are empty in various establishments all over the country. There has been piecemeal buying, just enough to meet the demands of a slow trade. Buying power is to be strengthened somewhat as a part of the unemployment is absorbed, but what is needed is the renewed confidence on the part of the element of the national life that could have bought more heavily right along. Retrenchment by the well to do in such times is the worst thing that could be done, since it only adds to the pessimism forced upon others who find it necessary to watch the nickels and dimes.

It is not long until the holiday season will be here. There is always more buying during the holidays regardless of conditions, so it is expected that trade will pick up within the next two months. Retail merchants, however, probably will proceed cautiously in ordering holiday goods. They will desire above all to avoid overstocking.

Freight car loadings for the week ending October 18 showed a total of 931,085, a reduction of 23,789 below the preceding week. This was a reduction of 254,479 below the total for the same week last year. All districts reported decreases in the total loading of all commodities, and there was no line of freight that showed a gain.

Unduly Alarmed

Lincoln Journal:—Commander O'Neill of the American Legion is opposed, quite naturally, to the London naval treaty. He sees the United States, under the treaty, he indicated in his talk in Lincoln, unarmed and defenseless and points a finger of warning at unsettled Europe and the revolutionary South American republics. He also sees the unemployment situation aggravated by the reduction of naval strength.

M. O'Neill is unduly alarmed in the first place troubles in Europe and South America do not endanger us. If a war should result and if, let us hope not, we are involved, there is no danger of an invasion and we still have a gun or two to ship abroad and a few capable factories, in which more can be manufactured. The people of the United States are tired of getting the nation's fingers burned in foreign squabbles.

Moreover, it is possible, and even probable, that the naval treaty will result in the signers becoming the most effectively armed of all nations since while the construction of ships of all classes is limited, airplane construction is not restricted and may be stimulated by the fact that building in other lines of naval craft is curbed. The naval air force is the natural outlet for funds, personnel and energy that cannot be expended upon submarines, cruisers and battleships.

Admiral Pratt has already directed an increase in the navy's air force of 560 men, and, incidentally, this increase will overcome any decrease in other sections of the navy for the winter at least since the cut in the navy man power is to be made as enlistments expire and the decrease of 1,000 is stretched out over a period of many months. Not until spring at least, will the reduction in other sections overcome the immediate increase in the navy's air personnel.

France now leads in military air strength. The United States is second. While France is building submarines and cruisers in competition with Italy, the United States, England, and possibly Japan, can, without much effort, surpass her in plane strength. And if the airplane proves to be the effective weapon against war vessels it promises to be, the ship construction by France and Italy will have been futile. It would seem that by stimulating airplane construction as it has and will, the naval treaty may, to some extent, defeat its own purpose.

Check Employment Among Laborers

Fremont.—Registration of all Fremont's unemployed as an aid in determining the gravity of the local situation and to provide for those in greatest need was agreed upon at an informal conference called by Mayor John F. Rohn. Representatives of many civic organizations and clubs were in attendance.

Opinions as to the degree of the local need varied, but it was agreed to call for registration, that the local conditions might be fully understood and steps taken to provide relief.

Each unemployed worker will register, under the plan advanced, giving his name, occupation, facts concerning his family, length of residence in Fremont and previous employment. Classification of the jobs then will be made according to their needs and occupations.

Claude Douglas was made chairman of a committee to supervise the registration. The registry will be maintained at the chamber of commerce offices and at the office of the city clerk.

Hold Roll Call Here This Month

Annual Red Cross Membership Drive Starts Tomorrow

Wayne county Red Cross chapters in accordance with national plans will open its annual roll call a misty day and continue the drive for memberships until Thanksgiving. Mrs. D. J. Cavanna is general chairman of the drive.

The main drive is planned for November 15. County sub-chairmen named Wednesday are Mrs. W. C. Logan of Carroll and Supt. Geo. Hall of Winslow. There will be others.

Ninety thousand persons received emergency aid, and 8,000 families rehabilitation assistance from the Red Cross disaster relief service between July 1, 1929, and June 30 this year.

Tornadoes, hurricanes, floods, forest fires, explosions and epidemics called for Red Cross action in thirty-eight states, 147 counties and 23 towns, and allowed during the period, the National Red Cross and its chapters spent $1,320,766 for disaster relief in the United States and its insular possessions.

"The Red Cross also contributed to six foreign disaster relief operations, including assistance to the German Red Cross in caring for people of their nation returning from Russia, aid to Russian refugees involved in a conflict along the Siberian-Manchurian border in China, the relief of Newfoundland settlements devastated by a tidal wave, relief of flood victims in Southern France, earthquake victims in Persia, and families endangered by a smallpox epidemic in Costa Rica."

Aids Many War Veterans.

"The local, national and international service of the Red Cross is so vast, the figures and accomplishments so large, that at first they may be difficult to grasp fully. Red Cross workers in chapters, camps and hospitals helped a monthly average of 55,200 service and ex-service men and their families in straightening out home problems, filing claims for government benefits, and in obtaining hospitalization.

"In sixty-four veterans' bureaus and government hospitals National Red Cross workers assisted 26,486 disabled veterans, monthly, through solving home and personal problems, and through recovery by making them cheerful workers of the organization in 368 camps, army posts and naval stations, and 37,250 regular army, navy and marine corps men, by solving home problems and in other ways."

Much Local Work Done.

The Red Cross does not do all of its work in distant places, however. In Nebraska, for example, eighty-four Red Cross chapters in the state assisted a monthly average of forty-five service and ex-service men or their families, in straightening out home problems, filing and expediting their claims for government benefits, obtaining hospitalization, and helping them and their families to rehabilitate themselves.

At the end of the fiscal year there were 375 Nebraska nurses enrolled in the Red Cross nursing reserve, ready to respond to calls from the army, navy or the Red Cross disaster service.

School Children's Service.

In Nebraska, Red Cross public health nurses made 12,835 visits other than classroom, and inspected 88,265 children in school during the year. At the close of the year, thirteen nurses were employed in twenty chapters.

One thousand, one hundred and twenty-eight in the state were issued first aid certificates for completing courses in first aid to the injured. These men and women are proficient in helping the injured. Nineteen chapters conducted first aid programs.

Life saving classes in state enrolled 402 swimmers this year. Altogether there are 2,016 Red Cross life savers in the state. Life saving programs are conducted by twenty-four chapters.

Volunteer women, a large and active army in the state, produced 6,195 garments for local, national, and international use; 9,521 surgical dressings for local hospitals and disasters; 452 Christmas bags for our soldiers and sailors on foreign duty, and seventy-four layettes.

There are 104 Red Cross chapters in Nebraska, and together with their branches they reach into more than 410 communities.

Stock Feeders To Attend District

Homer Will Be Host to Numbers Gathering to Hear Speakers From State Boards

Progressive feeders in this section of the state are planning to attend the gathering Wednesday, November 12, at Homer, where a district meeting of feeders will be held. Tom Ashford, Homer, will act as chairman of the meeting, which will begin at 1 o'clock, following dinner served at noon by the women of the Homer Lutheran Ladies' guild.

"Every livestock feeder in northeastern Nebraska should avail himself of the opportunity to attend this meeting," states R. A. Spence, Dakota county agent, in extending his invitation to the men of the district. Speakers for the day have been chosen from the ranks of the department of animal husbandry at the University of Nebraska, and the Dakota county farm bureau.

J. F. Lawrence of the University of Nebraska will speak on the future of the industry of livestock feeding in the state, making his forecast concerning conditions during the next twelve months.

Discuss Disease Control.

Dr. Clark Hays of the bureau of animal husbandry will speak of methods for controlling disease among animals. Feed lot troubles, hog cholera, abortion and tuberculosis will be among troubles which he will mention. An experienced veterinarian, he is qualified to answer questions which puzzled stockmen may put to him.

Sheep, their care and breeding, and the handling of wool will be the subject of Marshall Ross of Gibbon, Neb., a sheep raiser of many years' experience.

Other speakers include Paul McMill of the agricultural extension service, speaking on the experiment work conducted at North Platte, Mitchell, Valentine and Lincoln; and Verne Morgan, Dakota City, who will speak on hog lot sanitation.

Market classifications of cattle will be discussed by J. M. McInerney, who is connected with the Sioux City stock yards, and whose work is of a practical nature. Special temporary pens will be erected for yarding cattle which Mr. McInerney will use in showing the cattle classifications.

Juniors Of School Select Candidates

Juniors of the Wayne college high school have chosen "The Three Graces" for their play which will be presented early in December. Miss Lettie Scott is sponsor of the class.

Mrs. Rogers Is Voter In General Election Tuesday

"I am very much interested in the political situation and I have been watching the state vote in Iowa and Nebraska yesterday and today," stated Mrs. J. R. Rogers, 95, who cast Tuesday an absent voter's ballot in the general election. Mrs. Rogers voted for the first time in the presidential election of 1928, when she voted for Hoover, of whom she is a staunch admirer.

"I wanted to make it seem in my office that I was anxious to vote at that time, although I have always been interested," she added. "Shut in since she broke her hip in a fall some weeks ago, Mrs. Rogers takes delight in following the current trends in the political situation, and in reading opinions as the newspapers express them. Ament the newspaper treatment of the political situation she mentioned that the making of a modern newspaper, with its rapid and accurate marshalling of facts, seems to her one of the most extraordinary developments of an exciting, interesting age."

Mrs. Rogers reads widely, magazines, books, poetry and weekly news reviews, as well as the newspapers. Relatives from widely separated parts of the country send her reading material of all kinds, for she is able to pass many shut-in hours in reading.

Pep Club Plans Series Of Plays

Football Season Comes to Climax Soon With Spirit's High For Laurel Game Friday.

Pep club members are grooming up enthusiasm for Friday's game with Laurel, which is to be played here. Enthusiasm runs high, and anticipations are for a fast game, well-played.

Hallowe'en spirits invaded the school last Wednesday afternoon, just before dismissal over the week-end, when instructors attended the "conventions. One of the liveliest parties was the kindergarten-first grade function, which was marked by appropriate games and various contests. Kindergarteners furnished candy, and members of the first grade popped corn to be served for refreshment.

For decorations, first grade pupils painted brownies, and made autumn posters last week. Much originality was displayed when the children were allowed to choose their own work, and carry it out in their own ways.

Among Hallowe'en festivities was the Wednesday afternoon party at which third grade pupils were guests of the second grade. Fourth grade enjoyed such a party Wednesday afternoon, when Billy Jones also celebrated his ninth birthday, by treating the pupils to candy bars.

Announce Friday's Play.

Pep club's evening of entertainment will be Friday, November 7, at the high school auditorium. The plays will begin at 7:30. Proceeds will go to benefit the pep club. Three plays, coached by Miss Verma Mae O'Neill and W. A. Behl, and a pair of skits, a pirate affair and a Romeo and Juliet act, arranged by Miss Urban and Miss Gillies, constitute the program. Dress rehearsals were held Wednesday evening. Miss Dorothy Felber, pep club sponsor, is in charge.

Visitors at school last week included Mrs. H. H. Hachmeier, who visited the second grade Tuesday, Richard Best and Bobby Birdsell, who were visitors in the kindergarten last Wednesday. Mrs. E. A. Johnson and Mrs. Menke visited the same day.

Teachers to Meetings.

All the instructors in Wayne public schools attended the conferences last Thursday and Friday. The entire staff went to Norfolk, with the exception of Miss Dorothy Felber and Miss Florence Peterson, who found it more expedient to go to Lincoln, where sectional work was more to their needs.

Miss Peterson had been appointed to take charge of a discussion of penmanship in one of the sectional meetings in Norfolk. Miss Maude Cunley took her place at the Norfolk program when Miss Peterson found it necessary to go to Lincoln.

Teachers returned to their work Monday morning with a renewed interest in the special fields in which they had heard discussion in Norfolk.

Seniors Take Wishes of Students in Regard to Publishing Spizz—Other News.

Seniors held a Spizz rally at school Wednesday, the question of whether or not the school will have an annual this year being left to vote of the students. Prof. E. J. Hunter and Miss Louise World are class sponsors. The matter has not yet been decided.

Sophomores, directed by Miss Opal Snyder and Prof. F. G. Dale, plan the annual "stunt" night program Monday, November 24. Out of school judges will be secured.

First quarter at the college ends Friday, November 14.

Miss Martha Pierce who had been in a Lincoln hospital for care for a dislocated shoulder, returned here Sunday and took up part of her work in the art department Monday. Mrs. Marion LaCombe of Norfolk, who has been here, will remain the rest of this week.

Miss Ardath Gunn left Friday for Chicago to spend a few days.

Wayne Winner In Pierce Game

Local Team Takes Contest Monday Afternoon From An Undeclared Eleven.

The Pierce high school basketball team, undefeated before this season, lost to the Wayne high school team at Pierce Monday by a score of 18 to 0. This makes a record of five winnings, one tie and one loss for Wayne. Three games remain for the local men this season, one here Friday with Laurel, November 14 with Wisner and November 21 with Wakefield. A Thanksgiving game with another team making a good season's record will probably be scheduled.

In the first quarter of Monday's game Dean Hughes made a 35-yard-in-run for a touchdown. In the second quarter Hughes intercepted a Pierce pass and ran 60 yards for a touchdown. A pass from Sund to Simmerman in the third quarter made a gain of 60 yards and put the ball on the five-yard line. Hanson carried the ball through center for a touchdown.

Wayne made 24 first downs to Pierce's six. Pierce tried six passes and completed two, and Wayne tried three and completed two. Yardage gained on passes was 15 for Pierce and 80 for Wayne. From scrimmage Wayne's yardage was 370 and Pierce's was 68. Wayne was penalized 10 yards and Pierce none. Wayne made four punts for an average of 32 yards, and Pierce made five for an average of 22 yards.

Election is over now and I suppose everybody can set the down to business again. We might be able to get a good radio program without some long-winded political speaker busting in on every point on the dial, telling you what he will do or what he won't do if elected.

To win in the game of life isn't so much in holdin' a good hand, as in playin' a four hand well.

We are selling quite a lot of cribbing wire here lately so there must be some corn around this neck of the woods.

Two Stotchmen entered a contest to determine who could stay under water longer. The bet was a half pound. Both were drowned.

We are expecting a car of semi-anthracite this week. This coal will sell at $13.00 per ton and is just the thing for your furnace.

We have made quite a few ventilators for corn piles. It seems there is quite a bit of moisture in the corn this year.

MISS AMERICA OF 1930

THE perfection of feminine beauty and personality which won her the title of "Miss America" in Miami, Fla., last spring and the right to represent the United States at the International Beauty pageant to be held in Rio de Janeiro, will be displayed for Wayne Monday night when Miss Margaret Ekdahl, 19-year-old title holder, appears at the Colonial pavilion November 10.

Miss Ekdahl, blond and only 5 feet, 4 inches in height, will be formally presented to the ballroom crowds in two appearances. She will wear evening clothes and then will dress in the bathing costume in which she won her coveted title. Besides holding the highest of all beauty prizes, Miss Ekdahl is also winner of six international contests in principal cities of the South and holds the title of most perfect physical culture girl of the South.

Light of hair and complexion, Miss America has large blue eyes, is of slender figure and measures 24 inches around the waist and 29 inches around the chest. Accompanied by her chaperone and master of ceremonies, Miss Ekdahl will arrive here Monday

Life In Sweden Charms Traveler

At one formal dinner which Mrs. Swanson attended, the table was decorated with three large cakes, which were cut at the close of the meal.

Mrs. Swanson brought back with her a number of typical Swedish articles, among them a pair of wooden shoes, a metric system scale with the brass weighing pans, and a heavy brass mortar and pestle for pounding spices.

Among her linens are a table cloth and set of napkins bearing the couchant lion and coat of arms of Sweden. The linens, of heavy and of excellent quality,

Mrs. Conklin Goes Back To Her Home

Mrs. Anna Conklin of Creston, Iowa, returned Saturday to her home after a two weeks' visit here in the home of her mother, Mrs. Marion McGuire. During her visit here, Mrs. Conklin and her mother spent a short time in Sioux City, where they were guests of Mrs. Stebbins, who displayed a number of interesting objects brought back from a trip to England a few years ago. In South Sioux City, Mrs. McGuire was the guest of a friend whom she had not seen for 60 years.

Mrs. McGuire and Mrs. Conklin attended one day last week the celebration of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of her son, Wilson McGuire.

Football Games Finish Season

Special Projects Interest All Pupils in Regular Work of First Semester.

Finishing touches to the autumn athletic season will be the games scheduled for Armistice day, with Allen, and for Friday, November 21, with Wayne. South Sioux City will come here for the Thanksgiving day game.

Regular school work continues, with special projects in some of the courses.

Fourth grade pupils are enjoying a project in which booklets are being made. Poems are read, the stories and lesson work being written out and arranged in the booklet, which contains, as well, drawings intended to illustrate the story.

Motives have been made in paper cut out work. There are nine of these motives in the series, which has been completed in part. Special emphasis is laid on the combinations of colors, which colors are easiest to read, and which ones present the most pleasing aspect.

Fourth grade hygiene class is having a study of the body, comparing its organization to that of a well-organized steamer. This project will be illustrated by the making of a poster.

Ruth Weyer, fourth grade, and Jean Weyer, fifth grade, will be missed following their removal to Ogallala last week.

Perfect attendance was had by members of the fourth grade all last week.

Parent-Teacher Award. Fifth grade had the honor awarded by the P. T. A. group for the most visiting parents during the months of October and September. The banner is left in the winning room for the month. The plan is one sponsored by the organization in Wakefield, which meets regularly to make plans for stimulating interest in school affairs and the relationship between parents and teachers.

Good Advice (Lincoln Journal) "The thing for us to do is to stand firm." - Calvin Coolidge.

Depression in trade and commerce settles down over the world. In many countries it has resulted in government disasters, in existing authorities and in other countries such results have been threatened. In all countries it has produced unrest, political distrust, industrial timidity and agricultural problems. The world finds that the welfare of the producers is threatened by overproduction, resulting in decreasing prices for products, while much of the world needs more food and large populations of the world face famine conditions.

This country may influence but it cannot change world conditions. It can add its mite to the alleviation of hunger in less fortunate lands, but it cannot feed the world without pay. The height of its greatest crop total does not indicate its possible productive capacity. It can not only produce more than it can eat but produce more than the world can buy. Therefore an enlarged buying ability in other countries, prosperity for consumers in other parts of the world, will help the American farmer.

The depression being world wide cannot be charged to conditions at home, to surplus of political parties. At Springfield in his Wednesday night address, said that such periods of depression had come in this country more often under republican administrations than under democratic rule. That may be true. The people have not often trusted the democrats to administer government affairs, but when they have done so periods of depression and world troubles have not been missing.

An analytical view of conditions at present show this country to be better off than most others. In fact it leads the world in living standards, an earnings and in buying capacity. Conditions are not better, even by democratic fault finders, to be getting better. What the American people should do is to heed ex-president Coolidge's advice. Stand firm, support the government, and make no unwise changes.

Friday's Tie Game Names Champion

Wayne-Peru's 7-7 tie last Friday evening put Peru's good record in the shade and gave to Ted James' Kenway Antelope the opportunity to battle for the 1930 title, for which the Bobcats had hoped to do battle. The Antelopes finished their conference schedule of fortnight ago, with three victories and no defeats chalked up on the season's record. Peru's game with Wayne was the first of three league contacts scheduled for the Bobcats this season.

Bus Interest Goes To Norfolk Firm

Negotiations were completed and the Rapid Transit line of Norfolk, under Joe Fredericks, expected to have a man, took charge of the Sioux City-Norfolk line of the Northeast Nebraska buses, operated by E. W. Wright. The new company plans to add some services for the winter season, hoping that it will be possible, before spring, to have three round trips a day service. Mr. Wright still holds his other lines, and the regular business in Wayne.

First National At Elgin Closes

Elgin, Neb. The First National bank of Elgin failed to open for business here this morning.

A notice placed upon the door of the bank stated that the institution had been closed by the board of directors and is now in the hands of a national bank examiner.

The First National is the third bank to fail in recent years in this city, although one of the other two has been reorganized and is now considered to be in good condition.

Man Fatally Hurt In Fremont Garage

Fremont, Nov. 3. Explosion of an acetylene tank in the Hall garage here Monday afternoon partially wrecked the building and killed Andrew Ruhner, 36, a mechanic who was repairing a leak in the tank.

Ruhner was killed outright. The blast was heard throughout the business district, but damage was confined to the garage. The cause is unknown.

Ruhner lived at Norfolk until five years ago. He is survived by his wife.

Our Real Rural Problem.

Omaha Journal - Stockman: Strangely enough it has taken a foreigner, a rank outsider and an Irish poet at that, to rouse America to the importance of agriculture as an industry and of the agricultural population as a safeguard of civilization and progress.

George William Russell in his lectures and writings in this country stresses the social side of the rural problem in the United States.

If this great nation is to live, if it is to continue its leadership in liberal government, in culture, in commerce and in wealth, it is of infinite importance that our health as a life be conserved.

All history teaches that the decadence of the farm has spelled the decadence of the nation and Mr. Russell sounds a solemn note of warning that this country is at this time encouraging and fostering agricultural conditions that must sooner or later lead to but one result.

Some economists tell us that America's farm problem is the placing of agriculture on a par with industry, but America's farm home is more than the most pressing problem in this country today is the preservation of a normal, healthy rural life in the face of steadily increasing industrial aggression and commercial activity.

The 1930 census brought out some startling facts as to the changed and changing conditions of living in the rural sections of the country. In the eastern states agriculture is giving way to industry very rapidly while in the midwestern states farming is the coming more and more a commercial occupation and less and less a way of living. The country has long been aware of these changing conditions, but the decennial census sets forth the changes in such a way as to challenge the attention of the nation.

Less than a third of our population now lives on the farm and still we produce more, a great deal more, than we consume. Our increasing urban population has not been growing fast enough to furnish a market for our expanding agricultural production.

The economic problem intrudes itself everywhere and tends to dwarf the magnitude of the more important social problem, but there are obviously dangerous germs in this radical rural change that has taken place in recent years and that is still going on.

From the beginning of the republic down to the present day the farm has furnished the best blood, the best brains of the nation. If the farm home and family is to disappear from the picture, if the whole country is to be industrialized as the greater part of it has already become, what is to be the future of America? Who will take the places of the men who really love the soil, who glory in their ownership and their partnership with the land, their sturdy independence, their keen sense of responsibility, their neighborliness, their sterling honesty and general dependability.

There is an economic agricultural problem but its chief importance to the nation lies in its relation to that greater problem, the preservation and the conservation of a healthy rural life in America.

Prices On Farms Show An Upturn

Three Sales of Lands Show Promise of Better Times in Last Few Months of Year.

Farm prices are reaching a good level, indicative perhaps of an upturn predicted for the last months of the year, say real estate experts viewing the situation. A 320-acre farm located between Pender and Bancroft was sold last week in two tracts. The 160-acre piece, on which buildings are located, sold at $135 per acre. To Fred Oberg of Pender. The other 160-acre tract went to Emil Schach of Lyons for $125.50.

500 acres of Pender, a 136-acre farm was sold to Albert Kratke of Pender for $144.50. Herman Beling of Beeper paid $137 per acre October 14 for the 120-acre Albert Pender farm, two miles south of Wisner.

Vogt & Zich officiated as auctioneers.

Buy Now. Norfolk News: "If you are dismissing this 'Buy It Now' campaign as a lot of propaganda put out by business men to get rid of their wares, you are passing up a chance to get the most for your money."

Prices now are down. They have gone lower than anyone expected to see them go, and the indications are that they have just about reached bottom. Indeed there are some signs pointing to a turn toward higher levels within the next few weeks. Hence when your merchant, or your architect, or your carpenter or your painter urges you to take advantage of this low market to buy what you will need in the near future, or to build or remodel or decorate your home, he is offering you some sound advice.

The fact that people do not usually take advantage of this advice is nothing against its soundness. The human kind tends to run in herds. But it is the man who knows that the time to buy is when the crowd is holding tight to its spending money, is the man who gets the bargains. The man who goes with the herd never rises above the herd. The man who knows when to take advantage of economic opportunities is the one who gets the most out of his money. That time is now.

Passing Motorists

Sioux City Journal: - One does not have to traverse a highway for a great distance before discovering one of the greatest traffic dangers, perilous to human life and property. This is the habit of many motorists who cut in ahead of cars they are passing before they have established a sufficient margin of safety.

There is more of this being done now than ever. One may have several narrow escapes from being swiped in a 30-mile Sunday afternoon drive. Obviously

Fur, Velvet Lend Chic to Winter Suits

FOR FORMAL AFTERNOON WEAR FASHION APPROVES THE SUIT WITH WARM TONES—BLACK IS STILL POPULAR BUT BURGUNDY IS GOOD SUBSTITUTE

BY HARRIET

THE suit's the thing this winter for dressy wear.

It can be made to look like any number of different costumes by this or that change. It is itself a very aristocratic and useful garment.

You can have your suit of just about anything you want, but you should captive to have something on it. The ultra chic outfit will have velvet.

If you are young and trim, you should have a suit with a bold line and perhaps a flaring pelm. They are so youthful and jaunty.

If you are a little more matronly, it is much better not to have a coat that cuts its line at the waist. One of the semi-fitted ones is more flattering. But the jacket should be not longer than two-thirds the full suit length. They are smarter than short or shorter.

As to color, black is best. It goes with everything. You can have light blue blouses, pink, or white. You can wear it with any hat.

But if you are a little tired of black, why not go into one of the burgundy shades? Wine tones are vastly becoming. Next to navy blue, burgundy is most popular. Browns are also good this winter. Blue, though good in all seasons, is especially a color for the spring. Use the warmer tones up while the weather is cold.

THE two very different types of suits shown here are both to be had at different prices and different colors. One is a burgundy velvet suit with a beaver scarf collar that ties shut at the back of one shoulder with ties of the burgundy velvet, taking only just a small piece of beaver.

The skirt is a wrap around, instead of being stitched shut at both sides. This is a fashion many velvet skirts are taking to lessen wrinkling.

The jacket, fitted like a Russian blouse, is buttoned and un-

The collar is a standing one, warm and chic, made of the fur. There are deep shaped cuffs and a muff also of the fur.

With this there is a black felt hat with a band of broadtail for trimming. The fur looks back to give the new rolled shape.

A blouse of white satin completes this outfit, although this suit is excellent with colored blouses, too.

New Instructor In French Describes Differences In Schools Of America

Middlewesterners Have Different Attitude Toward Life Than Eastern Resorters.

Nebraska has its own romance, and the undulating effect of its prairie hills is reminiscent of the great seas which once covered the whole section," states Miss Amy Chateaufort, new instructor in French at the Wayne State Teachers College. Coming from New Jersey, where she had made her home and where she received her education, Miss Chateaufort finds this section of the country very different, in many ways, from the country to which she is accustomed.

The college campus, with its uniform buildings, its air of newness and brisk modernity seems to her characteristic of the untrammeled attitude of middlewesterners toward life in general. There is a solid earnestness about the buildings, as about the average citizen here, that expresses a spirit of steady progress.

Miss Chateaufort, who took Bachelor's degree and doctor's degree at the University of Pennsylvania, where she wrote a thesis on her hobby, the "Contant Elementary Algebra," is instructing in French, a native language with her. She explains that she learned French and English as a child, and that her formal training in the language has been derived largely from her father, for almost forty years an instructor in his native tongue.

Honor Students At College High

Name Pupils Who Have High Scholastic Standing for First Six Weeks.

Based on scholastic standing for the past six weeks, pupils who have averages of 90 percent or above at the Wayne college high school are as follows:

Senior, Miles Tyrrell; juniors, Janice May Teed and Sarah Jane Aherin; sophomores, Jessie Hanson and Claire Pauson; freshmen, Marion Kearns, Jack Morgan and Junior Straight; and eighth grade, Ruth Hanson, Robert Cunningham, Kenneth Beckman, Glea Gifford, Irene Bastian and Fern VanAllen.

Students with averages above 85 percent are the following: Seniors, Robert Gilliver, Kenneth Johnson, Robert Rheobald, Hazel Nelson and Ina Ruth Jonson; juniors, Paul Hunter, Keayon Lewis, Beulah Johnson, Beulah Eberhart, Larry Lessmann and Doris Nelson; sophomores, Alvin Giese, Willard Hammer and Eleanor Cecchi; freshmen, Harold Anderson, Vincent Swanson, Arnold Hammer and Lionel Rabe; and eighth grade, Leone Coryell, Donald Wright, Pauline Yocum, Lucille Beckner, Margaret Wade, Leland Stamm, Minnie Denkinger, Fay Dawson, Arthur Carlson, Della Giese and Willard Heesch.

One way to end the depression, some economists say, is for the public to get over its fear of buying. In other words, it must change its mind about minding its change.—Virginia Pilot.

Most of the letters will deal with questions and answers concerning modes of living, customs, school life, climate, and habits, she pointed out. French people in general have a great many misapprehensions concerning the United States, and Americans.

"The French young people," she says, "will in doubt be inquired about the Indians, and the cowboy which they imagine to be roaming the plains in a wild state."

"Says Students Differ. Students in the middlewestern schools study harder than those in schools close to the eastern resort towns, Miss Chateaufort mentioned. There seems to be a different attitude toward life, itself in this section of the country, where hard work is a day by day commonplace. In the eastern towns, especially those along the New

FARMERS WILL WORK TOGETHER ON FALL PRICES

NEBRASKA farmers think they ought to have something to say about what the current price for husking corn should be.

About sixty of them in Custer county met at the call of the county agent a few days ago and discussed the subject. Not only were farmers present but there were quite a few pickers.

After considerable discussion it was voted to recommend the price of 4 to 6 cents per bushel. This will give an average price by which farmers of that and other sections will be guided in arriving at their offers to pickers. The price for corn picking in Custer county has heretofore run about 7 cents per bushel. The suggested price for this year's picking allows 5 cents per bushel for average corn, 4 cents for corn making 50 to 60 bushels and 6 cents for corn that is down, halved or weedy.

The new prices show one of the advantages of organization. Through county agents farmers are able to join forces and quickly reach a decision about any subject affecting their welfare. Such action is difficult or impossible where there is no organization in the interests of farmers.

A reduction of 2 cents a bushel would mean the saving of approximately $4,523,160 to Nebraska farmers on their estimated crop this year of 226,258,000 bushels; if all corn were picked by paid pickers.

Some excellent corn yields in the state are reported. Hamilton county, in the eastern district, claims first honors for the state with an average yield of 36 bushels. The 12,195 acres planted to corn in that county should yield 4,566,620 bushels. Red Willow is runner-up county with an estimated yield of 33 bushels. That county has 131,887 acres in corn that will yield a crop of 4,335,771 bushels. Warm winds and dry weather during September and October completely matured the crop.

Game In Wayne Played To Tie

Peru and Local College Men Are Evenly Matched In Homecoming Contest.

Peru and Wayne State Teachers College met Friday evening here in the annual homecoming football game and the contest ended in a tie with each team having a score of 7. The teams were well matched and the play was close throughout. Many spectators watched the game, a number being former students who came for the week-end.

Wayne made a touchdown in the early part of the game when Dennis took the ball for a long run to the five-yard line and the other yardage was made by two line smashes. Evans made the place kick.

In the last 90 second of the game Peru completed two passes for a 60-yard gain and made a touchdown.

Yardage of the two teams was about equal, and Peru had a few more first downs than Wayne.

Western Union plays Wayne here this week.

Have Other Features. A parade of pretty and also comedy floats was staged Friday afternoon as one of the homecoming features. A plow band led an old-fashioned car carrying young women dressed in gowns of a quarter century ago and cars attractive with orange and black paper streamers were in the display.

A dance in the gymnasium Saturday evening was the closing event of the homecoming days.

Miss Mines Is New Dietician

Has Completed Course At Special School In East Before Taking Position In Omaha.

Entering the Douglas county hospital as dietician, Miss Margaret Mines, who left Friday for Omaha, is making for herself a new position. The Douglas county hospital kitchen has been managed heretofore without the supervision of a dietician, so Miss Mines is the first to hold this responsible office there.

She finished a course in the dietetics at Battle Creek, Mich., in 1929, after which she served a six-months' internship at the Methodist hospital in Des Moines. While there, she became acquainted with the routine work of diet kitchen management, and assisted in the preparation of food, as well as the arrangement of the menus.

Douglas county hospital is a 400 bed hospital, where Miss Mines will have ample opportunity to serve in the newly specialized work of caring for the diet of the sick.

Miss Mines' general educational background was one of the points on which the hospital praised her especially. She has the two year course at Wayne State Teachers College, taken her Bachelor's degree at Grinnell in Iowa, and completed with a B. S. at Battle Creek. She began her work in the Douglas county hospital Saturday morning of last week.

Two New Houses Started Last Week

Five new residences will be the year's record in the block east of Dresser park in Wayne when the homes being started by D. H. Larson and Carl Wright are finished.

The Larson house is to be a five-room bungalow with double garage at the corner of Ninth and Lincoln. H. S. Scade started excavation for this last week. The Wright house is also a bungalow and is in the middle of the block, facing west. The foundation for this was started last week. Mr. Wright is building this residence for an investment. Interior wood-work finishing and laying of floors started last week in the other three new homes in that block, the residences of Mrs. Johanna Lutz, Albert Johnson and O. T. Conger.

Mrs. Elva Brockway is having the second story of her residence finished into two rooms and a bath. Interior finishing started last

Couple Married At Hartington

Miss Ethel Hogle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cal Hogle of Wayne, and Mr. Byford Glascock of Laurel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Glascock of Laurel, were married at Hartington Saturday evening, October 25, at the Congregational church. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Georgia Oxender, accompanied them. Mr. Glascock is employed at the Peterson service station in Laurel.

Mrs. Laura Cochran is having a new foundation and other remodeling done to the residence on north Main street which she bought from Mrs. Lyda Hartshorn.

Remember Stage Station In West

The historic mood, so important as a background for a vigorous state pride, has at last seized Nebraskans and they have begun, with gratifying good sense, to mark the scenes and places of early interest with shafts and tablets and what is more important, with them on their memories.

Nursery Hill's just a name in history. But sixty years ago it was known by travelers on the Fort Kearney and Nebraska City road as the first over-night stop on the "steam wagon" road out of Nebraska City on the journey westward. Nursery Hill is only twenty miles from Nebraska City as the airships go, but then with lumbering wagons and ox goads it was a hard day's journey. Men and animals reached the shelter of the old stage station at nightfall, drank from the refreshing deep of the old well and enjoyed the rude comforts of that resting place with greater satisfaction than any traveler today enjoys the conveniences of a modern highway camp.

Nursery Hill got its name from a nursery that was started there by an early keeper of the station. Vick, the eastern flower seed man, intimately known to an earlier generation, gathered in his wilds and seeds of prairie plants, cultivated them and sold them for rare specimens of the flower kingdom. There was a stage station there with its blacksmith shop, a store, a doctor's office and over on the little Nemaha a few rods away a mill creaked a cheery welcome to travelers. The railroad came and the route fell a mile away from Nursery Hill. A town named Syracuse was located there and soon with the fast receding tide of overland travel the glory that was

Nursery Hill got its name from a nursery that was started there by an early keeper of the station. Vick, the eastern flower seed man, intimately known to an earlier generation, gathered in his wilds and seeds of prairie plants, cultivated them and sold them for rare specimens of the flower kingdom. There was a stage station there with its blacksmith shop, a store, a doctor's office and over on the little Nemaha a few rods away a mill creaked a cheery welcome to travelers. The railroad came and the route fell a mile away from Nursery Hill. A town named Syracuse was located there and soon with the fast receding tide of overland travel the glory that was

Let Road Bids On Highways Of State

Bids were let for traveling and new road construction, according to an announcement made Thursday by the state department. Roy E. Cochran mentioned also three ways of alleviating unemployment are being pursued by the state highway department, without causing additional drains on state finances. These methods include:

1. Letting contracts up to estimated available funds instead of keeping back balance which under ordinary conditions might run as high as a million dollars.
2. Letting contracts which will assure work in other regions by creating demand for products needed in highway construction work during fall and winter instead of waiting until next spring.
3. Getting out contracts for work which can be done during winter, to lessen normal seasonal decline in employment of labor on highway construction projects.

Adjuster Tells Of Orphans' Home

"Babies for adoption are so popular that we can't keep them in the home for dependent children at Lincoln," states Miss Marie Douglas, field worker, who spent Friday in Wayne. Boys between the ages of 8 and 12 years, however, are at the home now, and ready for adoption into suitable families, which Miss Douglas investigates on her trips through the state. Friday's visit was one made as a part of a tour of homes in this section which have taken children in past years.

The home in Lincoln is one of several charitable organizations operated under the supervision of the state, others being the soldiers and sailors homes at Grand Island and Milford, the school for the deaf in Omaha, and others. In the past 19 years of its operation, the home at Lincoln has cared for and educated 2,000 children. In 1920 alone, 120 of these children were placed satisfactorily with foster parents.

OK Stock Waterers
For Greater Efficiency and Profits

In keeping with modern efficiency the up-to-date producer of live-stock and poultry will supply an abundant amount of water for his stock. Regardless of how good the feed, there will be loss if the water supply is inadequate. Actual records show that the use of OK automatic waterers makes from $1 to $3 extra profit on each animal over hand watering. Computed on an average feeding period of 90 days, an OK waterer will repay its original investment four times within a year, if it is in continual use.

Plan To Use Flies In Treating Wounds

Lincoln, Neb.—Agricultural college officials said that investigations are being made by the United States department of agriculture which, if successful, will lead to the commercial propagation of certain kinds of flies to be used by the medical profession in treating wounds and bone inflammations. The new treatment with larvae of two or three kinds of flies, none of which is to be associated with the common house fly, is the outgrowth of an accidental discovery by Dr. William Baer, former army surgeon and now with Johns Hopkins university. Having observed in France two soldiers brought in after lying for seven days on the battle fields, with their wounds heavily infested with fly larvae but healing unusually well, Dr. Baer considered the incident for 10 years while treating many patients with dressing from osteomyelitis. This disease, more common in children than in adults, is an inflammation of the bone which results in flesh infections. About two years ago Dr. Baer tried the larvae treatment on a few of his patients and some of the chronic patients were cured in six weeks. Since that about 300 patients have been treated. All children and four-fifths of the adults were cured. To prevent larvae from introducing injurious bacteria into the wounds, the eggs from which they are hatched are first disinfected by dipping them in a solution of bichloride of mercury. Little is known about the actual benefits contributed by the little leechers, but Dr. Baer is of the opinion that they serve as living disinfectants. The success of his experiments and the large number of cases throughout the country to which this treatment is adapted have created a demand for larvae. Entomologists of the United States department of agriculture are interested not only in finding methods of propagating large numbers of these species of flies, but also in devising accurate means of identifying larvae as members of the proper species before they are used.

In Good Times or Bad.

Omaha Journal-Stockman: Every day we hear of this man or that laying down a rule of conduct applicable to this period of unemployment and more or less business depression. The value of this advice lies in the receiver and in its application to his particular case. There is all too much general talk of hard times and depressed business conditions and the constant harping on these things is frequently more harmful than the actual conditions. Perhaps the best rule is to avoid magnifying unfavorable features of business and play up the more favorable aspects of the situation as far as possible. A veteran editor insists that a sensible set of rules to keep in mind at all times is contained in a little card he keeps constantly before him on his desk. Here it is: "Help a deserving man or woman to get a little paying work or better a regular job. "Spend wisely and not too timidly, and anticipate scheduled expenditures so far as is practicable. "Turn the deaf ear to false, mischievous rumors, and don't repeat them, if you do hear them. "Be willing to pay a fair price. "Don't take advantage of the other man's necessity. Recognize that he has as good claim to a fair profit as you. "When a vampire that fattens on the miseries of others shows up, help to make him unpopular. "Discourage calamity howlers. "Keep business moving evenly, and remember that, to the average man, his job is his particular business. When possible, reassure him against his fear of losing it. "Save, but save wisely, not in fright. Invest for the profit that sound enterprise pays and for the added profit that will come after the hysteria of pessimism has passed."

Blow Of Boxer Results In Death

Omaha, Oct. 31.—Stunned by a blow to the solar plexus in a club boxing match here last night, Sammy Dissalvo, middleweight boxer of Council Bluffs, Iowa, died early today of the effects of the blow, delivered by Chuck Patterson of Wisner, Neb. Dissalvo's death was unexpected, a doctor for the state boxing commission having predicted his recovery after treating him for the blow, which partially paralyzed his respiratory muscles and had completely paralyzed the diaphragm muscles. Patterson was awarded a technical knockout over the Italian slugger when the latter was unable to answer the bell for the fourth round of a scheduled six-round main event on a Knights of Columbus club card. The fatal blow was a right hander, delivered late in the third round. Police this morning summoned Patterson, his manager, and all officials connected with the fight for questioning. On the same card that Dissalvo suffered his fatal injury, another fighter received a brain concussion, from which he is expected to recover. He is Joe Parizek, from Crete, Neb., novice heavyweight, who was knocked out by Louis Dunkak, former University of Nebraska freshman football star, who forsook the classroom for the prize fight ring. Later report states that Patterson exonerated. "The husband who talks in his sleep may easily ruin his wife's nerves," declares a specialist. Especially if she can't quite hear what he is saying.—The Humorist (London).

World Famous Tenor Coming To Theatre

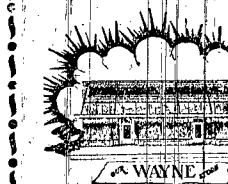

The feature picture, "Song O' My Heart," with John McCormack, the famous tenor, is coming to the Gay theatre Sunday and Monday, November 9 and 10. This is a genuine accomplishment. Mr. McCormack sings wonderfully well and in a way which does not tire his audience. If "Song O' My Heart" had nothing else to recommend it, "Little Boy Blue" would make it well worth hearing. The comedy couldn't have been put into better hands than those of J. M. Kerrigan. He and Farris Macdonald are a grand pair. The picture abounds with thrilling surprises for the fan intrigued by fresh faces. Maureen O'Sullivan has a fine future and Tommy Clifford captivated the first night throngs. Rarely does one picture have so many elements that are pleasing. It has heart warming appeal, that charm of direct simplicity in its tender story, and the fascination of sympathetic direction by Frank Borzage, the man who made "Seventh Heaven" and "Humoresque."

Former Pastor Wakefield Moves
