THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 42 Wayne, Neb., Thursday, January 1, 1931. Vol. 4

Let us tell you a little joke. We must give, as well as take it. We are giving exceptional value in our Sahara furnace coal at $8.50.

Greater love hath no man than this that he lay down his life for someone who can't sleep.

One form of a "vanishing party" is that which occurs when you go out to meet a lot of people who owe you money.

They're motorizing the farms all right but it'll be some time before they'll teach a machine to drink out of a bucket.

President: "Call a directors' meeting for next Thursday."

Secretary: "Yes, directors only, directors and stock-holders?"

These are the days when Christmas neckties begin to appear—and we're counting the number of red ones we see!

Right here we want to join with the rest of your friends with a good, hearty, "Happy New Year!" And we mean every word of it.

Furnace trouble is usually a matter of coal. Hot Lump Coal is so clean and free from cinders and ash that it never gets a machine neckties begin to appear—and we're counting the number of red ones we see!

A Word of Appreciation from the Gas Company:

This is written at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning---election day.

The citizens of Wayne again show a high order of intelligence.

A heavy majority of Wayne citizens show by voting this franchise that they are able to discriminate between constructive and progressive policy and one of reaction and staleness. A city cannot stand still. It must go forward or backward. Wayne will now go forward with other northeast Nebraska towns while without natural gas it would certainly go back.

The advent of natural gas promises Nebraska the greatest and most constructive step forward in its history. The Studebaker interests, controlling the gas, the pipe line and the distribution within the cities is definitely and permanently committed to an industrial expansion for Nebraska. The interests of the company and the state are entirely mutual. The Gas company pledges itself and its investment to a fair and honorable association and business relation with Wayne and asks for the same consideration from it. The nice majority given the franchise indicates that we will get it, but aside from that we believe in the fairness and intelligence of the citizenship of Wayne.

There were those who opposed the franchise from an honest conviction, based on reports, rumors, and statements that you will eventually find to be absurd, but let's forget all that now and work together for the common good. We seek pleasant public relations. We will do our best to merit them.

The franchise must yet be passed by the council but with such a demand on the part of the public it should be complete and operative without material loss of time. We will send our engineers to map the city, obtain right of way across the county, and do the preliminary work so that pipe may be laid as soon as warm weather comes. It will take approximately 3 months to build the system in Wayne and will give employment to about 150 men, all of whom will be local if they are available. It will turn a nice pay roll into the city each week, will bring new men to town who will represent different manufacturers of gas appliances and those who will have business with the gas company. 1931 will be a boom year for Wayne, and all northeast Nebraska. It will mean a very considerable amount of money paid to land owners for right of way yet after the gas line is under a farm it will not be damaged in the least. We will have to have an office and store building. It will be one that Wayne may be proud of. We may have to build one.

As a representative of the gas company and on behalf of the company I want to thank certain citizens of Wayne who gave a great deal of time and thought to the campaign to carry the election to grant the franchise.

Wayne owes them much for an unselfish and vigorous fight for what they believed to be for the best interests of the city as a whole. They had no more to gain than any other taxpayer and citizen and representatives of the gas company who handled the matter for the gas company have not been approached by a single improper proposal.

The gas company appreciates the hard, unpleasant and sometimes thankless work of these public spirited men and women. The splendid majority given the franchise indicates that citizens of Wayne also appreciate their work.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED,

J. W. DENSFORD, Representing

The Mid-West Natural Gas Company

Happy Chick News

We are now right at the beginning of a New Year and it is time to turn over the usual new leaf and make our New Year's resolutions. One thing that we have resolved to do is to try and give even better service than we have in the past. Teacher: "What is the hardest thing to learn about farming?" Student: "Getting up at 5 a. m." As the Christmas rush is over, it is time to give that coal bin a thought. How about trying some of that Diamond Anthracite at $16 per ton. This coal is great for holding fire. Suburbanite: "Your hens have been over the wall and scratched my garden." Neighbor: "Well, there's nothing queer in that. It's the nature of hens to scratch. Now, if your garden had come over the wall and scratched my hens, you'd have something to talk about." We are expecting a car of Lincoln Briquette in about ten days. This is a product made from high grade Oklahoma semi-anthracite, using selected coal of 1 1/2 to 2 inches in size, which is crushed and moulded into briquettes of uniform size. They are better in many ways than oil or gas. They are particularly adapted for use in furnaces, heatolates, Arcolas and cooking stoves. They are long-lasting and unusually clean, smokeless, soot-free and dustless. A lot of auto accidents happen when the drivers are hugging the curves. Even Jonah wouldn't have had so much trouble if the whale had kept his mouth shut. If you are thinking of building or repairing in the spring, now is the time to begin looking over a few plans and to work out some of the details. Come in; we would be glad to help you in every way possible. Edna: "How did you get that mark on the cheek, Helen?" Helen: "The boss had his hand behind his ear when he said 'Good Morning' to me!" If you want right good soil for the range, Pinnacle Soil is the stuff. It gives you nice clean fire and doesn't bog the range up which is customary with lots of cheaper fuels. Earnestness is enthusiasm impeded by reason. The public suffers from a lot of popular errors that are harmful to the people. It is cold facts, but remember that coal is still cash. Well, we have the invoicing all done--all the boards, brick and lath counted. I again take this time in wishing you a Happy New Year and lots of success and prosperity for the year 1931. This is the Happy Chick Brooder House FACTORY Wayne, Neb., Station P27E signing off until next week.

Choir Presenting a Service of Song One of the very best programs ever rendered in the Concordia Lutheran church was given Sunday evening. It was a song service under the auspices of the church choir which numbered thirty voices. The choir entered singing "Lead Kindly Light" and each member carried a burning candle. The following Bible lesson from Isaiah was read: "Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of Jehovah is risen upon thee. . . . Six anthems were rendered by the choir, interspersed by quartet, duet and solo songs. "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was given as a vocal solo by Mrs. C. Carlson with violin obligato by Prof. Arthur Johnson of Norfolk. Miss Theodore Carlson served as pianist. Three readings were presented and the historical setting of some of the best known hymns was given. We were told, for instance, how Phillips Brooks came to write "O Little Town of Bethlehem." A trumpet solo was given by Miss Fern Erwin.

Optimism. Lincoln Journal: Dean Inge says that while another war might plunge civilization again into a dark age, he has hopes that the progress so far made will be saved. He doesn't want this "reasoned hope" to be called optimism. He compares an optimist to a barometer stuck at fair, no matter what the weather may be. One irate editor demands that Chicago put Al Capone behind the bars, apparently overlooking the fact that he's behind most of them there already.—Boston Herald.

JANUARY Clearance SALE

Starts Saturday, Jan. 3 Ends Saturday, Jan. 20 A Sale of the Old and New

We open 1931 with a bang! Three weeks of value giving such as we have never known. Three weeks of intensified effort to clear out winter merchandise—the broken lots—the odds and ends—the left-overs of the past season. And along with all of this—January Prices on a complete new stock of staple muslins, sheetings and beddings, and new cotton dress materials, such as percales, prints and wash goods of all kinds. This is the opportunity for those who plan to start their spring sewing early, to buy new materials in the new 1931 patterns at lower prices than those at which they have been sold for a long time. Golden Rule prices are consistently low throughout the year. We make every effort to buy as close to mill manufacturing costs as is humanly possible. Every discount that we can obtain we secure. We are especially gratified that our 1930 operating expenses were no higher than a year ago in spite of a tendency towards lower volume and increased advertising costs. In other words, we have been able to keep our overhead down to a point that is rarely equalled by other stores. These two factors, "low original cost," "low operating expenses" together with our policy of a low markup makes it possible to sell merchandise at prices which result in substantial savings to you. Remember our January clearance reductions are taken from these low original markups. Come During the Next Three Weeks. You can supply your needs in many items, even below the costs of the average store.

Price Situation Better In State

Lincoln, Neb.—Although the farm price situation is far from encouraging, Nebraska farmers were their usual crops from the 1930 harvest are more fortunate than those of the drought, says Harold Hedger, of the rural economics department at the University of Nebraska, in his monthly economic situation report published in the Agricultural College, Hecker, Neb. which prices probably staying near present levels or going a little higher in the next 30 days.

Continuing, the College of Agriculture says that corn prices are likely to remain steady. Some what lower than cattle prices, little change in hog prices, steady to lower butter prices, higher poultry prices and lower egg prices are probable during the period. With expectations of corn will increase, Hedger believes corn prices may remain steady to weak in the next 30 days. He says terminal storage is already well filled with wheat, so any material increase in corn receipts which might come with favorable weather would have a weakening effect on prices.

Revise Districts Eliminating One

Lincoln, Neb.—Nebraska's "big Sixth" congressional district has a population of 305,598 when the federal census was taken last spring, the department of commerce reported.

The second largest district, the department stated, is the Third, with a population of 257,140.

The Second congressional district, embracing Omaha, was third in population, with a count of 253,449.

According to government's figures, the Fifth district was the only one that showed a decrease under the 1920 census.

Future of the state to make a sufficient population gain now necessitates a revision of the six congressional districts and the elimination of one, this will be done by the legislature in accordance with a congressional reallocation of counties.

Stanton Man Dies

Stanton, Neb. Funeral services were held at Clarkson for Joseph W. Luxa, 62-year-old Stanton county farmer. Mr. Luxa was born in Bahemia in 1867 and came to America at the age of 14. He was married in 1890 and has many years' experience as a resident of Stanton county. Surviving him are a widow, four sons and four daughters.

Stanton, Neb.—Although the farm price situation is far from encouraging, Nebraska farmers were their usual crops from the 1930 harvest are more fortunate than those of the drought, says Harold Hedger, of the rural economics department at the University of Nebraska, in his monthly economic situation report published in the Agricultural College, Hecker, Neb. which prices probably staying near present levels or going a little higher in the next 30 days.

Annual FIREMEN'S BALL

NEW YEAR'S EVE

Wayne Fire Department

The Wayne Fire Department was reorganized for active service in 1913, at the time of the opening of the city hall. Several members who served before the reorganization are still with the department and many of those who joined in 1913 are still serving. Thirty-four members are now on the active list and twelve are on the retired list. With the exception of a few, all those who are now serving are eligible for retirement.

Nine years ago the Wayne department joined the state organization. Since that time delegates have been sent to the annual convention for instruction and new ideas.

Thirty Fires in Year.
In the past year the department has answered thirty fire calls in the city and four country alarms. The three most serious fires were: W. A. Truman's building, occupied by a dry cleaning establishment and barber shop, with loss of about $420, on January 12, 1930; coal chutes, belonging to the C. St. P. M. & O. railway, with loss of $2000, on May 20, 1930; and the Sam Sadden building, occupied by a dry goods and grocery store, on August 6, 1930, with loss of $7700 to stock and $800 to building. There were four silent alarms.

An average of twenty-two firemen answered the general alarms.

Schedules of Fires.
There were ten known causes of fires in the past year and two unknown, as follows: Grass fires, 5; automobile, 4; defective chimney, 4; trash burning, 4; blow torch, 2; brooder, 1; broken gas pipe, 1; sparks on roof, 3; box car, 1; defective wiring, 3; unknown, 2. Total, 30.

Future Reassuring

In closing the old year and contemplating the future, we have every reason to believe that agriculture is swinging back to normal and that better times are in store for farming communities. Our service has been conscientious and careful and we have been stimulated by growing patronage. In wishing increased prosperity to all during the coming year, we pledge ourselves to lend every possible assistance to farmers in their work in solving their difficult problems and speeding their production.

Attention to the lines we carry will be appropriate at this time:

Better Farm Implements Bring Greater Profits from Less Acreage

John Deere General Purpose Tractor

The two-plow tractor of standard design that plants and cultivates three rows at a time. The corn grower with his John Deere General Purpose Tractor does the work of two to four men.

One day does the work of 2 or 3 with horses in planting.

One man does the work of 4 men with 4 single-row cultivators and 8 horses.

One man can mow 25 to 35 acres per day in hay-time.

One man can plow an acre an hour and harvest 30 to 45 acres a day.
