Confidence Plea Given For Farm

Lands and Produce Thereof
Are Capital Investment,
Cunningham Says.

Is Basic Industry

Now Is the Time To Believe in Farming, in Nebraska and the Country at Large.

"We're farmers at heart, by inclination, or through interests. That's our capital investment, and it's in jeopardy," declared D. H. Cunningham, popular Wayne agriculturist, in an address before the Farmers club Monday afternoon at Hotel Stratton. Mr. Cunningham's talk was a plea for more confidence in farms and farm produce, the so-called "capital investment."

The speaker cited various depressions and referred to the one at present over which, he said, the public has no control. At the same time this depression is a menace, and, according to him, it is due to the lack of confidence in our capital investment.

Plans Are Made For Graduation

Speakers Are Chosen For College Programs At
Closing of Term.

Many Will Finish

Speaker Is Also Named for the College High School
Commencement.

Commencement week plans have been made at the State Teachers college and will provide a full program for the days of May 24 to 27.

Sunday, May 24, the baccalaureate services for the graduating classes will be held in the college auditorium. Dr. Paul C. Johnson, of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Lincoln will be the speaker.

Classes will be held as usual on Monday, and in the evening the college high school commencement exercises will take place.

Dan E. McFrod, of the teachers' college at Nebraska Wesleyan university will give the address. A class of 15 will be graduated, members of which are: Robert Gulliver, Harold Johnson, Jack Kingston, Elmer Lessman, Alphonse Marichang, Robert E. Templin, Jr., Robert Theobald, Miles Tyrrell, Margaret E. Baker, Elizabeth Jane Jones, Ina Jenson, Hazel E. Nielsen, Ruth Stamm, Helen J. Steele, and Helen I. Swanson.

A May festival will be given Tuesday morning by children in the training school and physical education classes of the college under the direction of Miss Esther Dewitz. Recitals by students of the music department are scheduled for the afternoon, and in the evening the dramatics class, directed by Miss Lenora Ramsey, will present "Skinner's Dress Suit."

Final graduating exercises will take place Wednesday morning, May 27, with Dr. E. N. Tompkins, Methodist pastor of Sioux City, as the morning's speaker. At this time the seniors who have completed a four-year course will receive the bachelor's degree, and sophomores completing the two year course will receive the normal school diploma. Approximately 70 seniors and 105 sophomores will receive diplomas.

Besides the graduates, some 130 students will complete the elementary and elementary rural state certificates.

Presbytery Meets In Emerson Church

Ninthara Presbytery met at Emerson Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Larson who has been attending seminary in Omaha, was ordained and installed as pastor of the Emerson church. Mr. Fowler who is a graduate of Omaha seminary, was also ordained and installed as pastor of the Ponce church.

District Meeting Held in Pilger

Methodists of the Norfolk district met Monday and Tuesday in Pilger and churches of the district were well represented. Rev. W. W. Whitman, who went from Wayne, gave one of the addresses. Supt. G. C. Goman of Norfolk, serves as chairman and Rev. Mr. Ruth of Genoa, was elected secretary-treasurer for next year. The 1931 meeting will be held in Randolph.

Highway Graveling Showing Progress

Graveling of highway No. 20 from Laurel to Allen is progressing rapidly; twenty trucks hauling the material from a pit near Hartington for the project. Eining graveling crew has started surfacing No. 20 from Laurel to Randolph. Gravel for this project is being taken from the Nick Gartner farm.

Sister Wayne Lady Dies In Wyoming

Mrs. Ernest Bostelman of Apatow, Wyo., sister of Mrs. J. T. Bressler of Wayne, died a couple of weeks ago following an illness of more than a year. Funeral services were held at the home April 12. Mrs. Bostelman had spent September and October last fall here with her sister. Besides her husband, Mrs. Bostelman leaves two sisters, Mrs. Bressler of Wayne and Mrs. N. H. Hanson of Wakefield, and two brothers, R. H. Fair of Omaha and A. P. Fair of Bellwood, Neb.

Work on Annual Near Completion

Work on the 1931 Spizzierinkum, Wayne Teachers college annual is nearly completed. Most pictures have been taken and the book will be ready for delivery in a few weeks.

Sustains Injuries When Well Caves

Herman Kruse, Emerson, sustained severe bruises and cuts and narrowly escaped death when a 30-foot well which he was cleaning at Winnesho caved in on him. He was rescued by persons who were near.

Widow At Dallas Loses Chickens

Mrs. Mary Mortenson of Dallas, S. D., who has relatives at Wakefield, lost all her purebred chickens last week. On two nights the coops on her place were raised and the birds were taken. Mrs. Mortenson, who is a widow, depended on chicken raising for most of her living.

College Faculty Club Hears Play

"Rich Man, Poor Man," a play under the direction of Miss Lenore Ramsey was presented Tuesday evening at the monthly social meeting of the Faculty club of the State Teachers college. The remainder of the evening was spent at card games, following which refreshments were served.

Students taking part in the play were: Muffel Wood, Richard Wright, Marvin Shors, Judith Stolpe, Ludlle Noakes, Harriet Craven and Kathryn Bolshaw.

Delegates from Banks in Third
District Enjoy Discussions of Bankers' Problems.

Members of the Nebraska Bankers' Association, district three, met at Norfolk last evening for their thirtyfourth annual convention. Arbor Day is the time chosen for the gathering each year, and in 1930, the attendance at the evening session amounted to 300.

Rollie W. Ley, State National Bank, president of the organization, hoped for good attendance this year, and plans were made for an interesting program to fill the day. "Cost Analysis" was discussed Wednesday morning by S. D. Thornton, jr., president of the Security State bank of Neligh.

"Bank Earnings" was the subject used in the afternoon by C. C. Jacobsen, president of the C. W. Bankers' Association; and Shirley Ford, president of the United States National Bank of Omaha, spoke on "A Banker's Investment Account."

Former Governor Speaks. Featured on the evening program was United States Senator W. J. Bulow of Beresford, S. D., former governor of the state. Bulow's reputation as an entertaining speaker made him a special attraction of the program.

Ray Ramsey of the University of Nebraska was engaged to be master of ceremonies at the evening banquet. Mr. Ramsey, who is secretary of the University of Nebraska Alumni Association, and well-known to radio audiences, has his own particular style, which always charms his listeners.

The evening affair was closed with dancing in the hotel ballroom. Wayne Bankers Attend. Representatives of the Wayne banks planned to be in attendance at the affair for part or all of the sessions. Rollie Ley, as president of the organization, went to Norfolk Tuesday evening with Henry Mrs. Henry Ley and Miss Marjorie Ley followed Wednesday.

Others who planned to attend from the State Bank were: Herman Lundberg, E. C. Perkins, W. P. Canning and Fred Nyberg. John Bressler, Jr., John Bressler, and H. S. Ringland of the State National bank were planning to be in attendance at the sessions, as also were: Ebers Holmberg and L. B. McClure.

Officers of the district association this year are: Rollie W. Ley, Wayne, president; W. F. Wenke, Pender, vice-president; Fred W. Muller, Norfolk, secretary; and A. G. Zuhike, Bancroft, treasurer.

Wayne Business Men Agree That City Must Be Sold To Its Own Citizens

Progress of Smaller Towns
Measured in Ability
To Keep Customers.

Meet Competition

Merchants Recommend Various Courses of Action To Be Tried by Cities.

"We must sell Wayne to its own merchants, to its own people, to its own trade territory first of all," asserts Fred L. Blair, in discussing the question of how a town like Wayne can meet the competition of larger towns. "If a town like Wayne has been sold to its own dealers, if the citizens are in favor of the town and hope for its progress, then the town can be sold to the trade area, and a favorable general impression will result," he believes.

"Lincoln," Mr. Blair explained, "is one of the leading retail towns in the middle west. Wahoo is another leader in the retail field. Both towns have worked out a system which successfully sells them to their own territories, creates favorable impressions, and which has put the towns 'on the map.'"

Discovers Trade Secret. The trade secret which is responsible for this success, Mr. Blair discovered on a visit to Lincoln years ago, is the fact that all the merchants cooperate in trying to leave a favorable impression on the purchaser. If one merchant is unable to supply the demand for an article, he directs the prospective purchaser to a rival merchant, who may have the article desired. In so doing, he pleases the customer, and gives the out of town visitor, especially, a feeling that the town has excellent sources of purchase.

Putting business interests above selfish ones was another point mentioned by Wayne merchants who considered the matter of making a town like Wayne take its place among other cities, even larger centers.

Recognize Competition. The seriousness of competition from larger centers must be considered, merchants agree. "For example," says R. B. Judson, "some city firms offer competition of a kind which we cannot meet. Their advertising, their business policies are all directed at getting many customers perhaps once. We, in the smaller centers, must please our customers, selling them, not only once, but over and over again. While that causes us to place our business on a higher plane, perhaps, it often results in our losing sales to larger concerns in bigger places."

This condition Mr. Judson sees as one which it will be difficult to change. It is, he believes, for the merchant and the business man in the smaller town to have his goods of surpassingly good quality, suited to the market, and right in price. In this way, it seems to him, the merchant in the smaller city will be able to meet the demands of his customers, not once only, but repeatedly. It is the ability to sell a customer again and again that counts as competition against merchants in other trade territories.

Returnish Vaults In Court House

New Shelves, Cabinets and Files Being Installed
In Two Offices.

Some wooden shelving used in Wayne county's first court house at LaPorte and moved to Wayne 50 years ago, is being replaced this week by steel shelving, files and cabinets which are being installed in vaults in the offices of County Clerk Bertha Berres and County Treasurer J. J. Steele. One piece of shelving was still in use in each of the vaults. Another piece is in use in the office of Clerk of the District Court Frank Korff and it will continue to serve. Just what will be done with the other pieces is not yet definite. The one in the treasurer's office is of black walnut and has doors. Others are shelving of less valuable wood.

Now that new battleship linoleum has been placed on the vault floors in the clerk's and treasurer's offices and the walls have been redecorated, the steel fixtures are being placed. Valuable records and books which have had to stand on end with new linoleum shelves. This will facilitate handling the heavy books and will preserve their bindings. Steel cabinets and drawers will hold other valuable papers and records.

Vault in County Judge J. M. Cherry's office was partly furnished with steel fixtures 20 years ago and the improvement completed two years ago. Office of the clerk of the district court was provided with steel fixtures at the time of Forrest Hughes' clerkship. One vault, the second in the county clerk's office, is the only one not yet furnished in modern style.

When the present court house was built in 1899, Wayne county vaulted bonds for $25,000 and had on hand $5,000. Contract for the structure was let at $25,000 but this did not include heating, light or furnishings. The county spent $35,000 for the building and furniture. It was necessary to omit some of the things desired and the vaults were thus fitted out with wooden shelving. Thirtyone years have now passed and the county board thought it advisable to furnish the vaults to assure preservation of valuable records.

The present court house was completed and offices moved to it January 1, 1901. The frame court house used before, located on the corner of Fourth and Main, was destroyed by fire July 4, 1884. Records and the few pieces of furniture saved were in a vault, which was not damaged. They had been moved here 50 years ago from the brick court house at LaPorte.

Gives Illustrative Lecture On Beautiful Homes
At Gay Theatre.

"The Outdoor Living Room," a lecture illustrated with slides, will be given next Wednesday afternoon, April 26, at 2:30 o'clock at the Gay theatre by Charles Andrews who is landscape architect for the Marshall nurseries of Arlington, Neb. The feature is being sponsored by the Wayne branch of the Better Homes in America organization. Doors of the theatre open at 2.

Everyone is invited to attend. Mr. Andrews will have helpful information for men and women and will answer questions or help solve any landscape problem presented to him.

Immediately after the lecture a tour under direction of Prof. F. G. Dale will leave for a visit of the beauty spots in and around Wayne. Prof. Dale has planned for cars to accommodate the crowd. Those who have cars are asked to cooperate by inviting those who do not have cars to ride with them. Wayne has many spots of beauty and interest. The tour will be a fitting climax to the afternoon of instructive entertainment.

National Better Homes week starts next Sunday and ministers of various Wayne churches plan to recognize the fact in their sermons.

The four Thrift checks of $10 each, started in circulation March 19, will be cashed this Thursday, April 23. By the number of signatures will be possible to figure the amount in bills that the checks have paid.

Seed and bulb exchange was conducted last week as a feature of the Better Homes in America campaign.

Observe Play Day At College Here

Play day, a recreation program particularly for high school girls, was held Saturday at the State Teachers college. First affair of its kind to be held here, it was attended by about 115 persons including representatives and sponsors from eight local and nearby schools and invited college girls. The affair was under the direction of Miss Esther Dewitz, head of the physical education department of the college, and the physical education 'II' class was in charge of arrangements, making plans, and teaching events assisted by the Women's Athletic association and other college girls asked to help.

Missionary Describes Trials Of Teaching Native Boys Culinary Arts.

Bamako, French West Africa, is the address of Gerald A. Dahlquist, who writes interestingly of the duties of a mission worker who is devoting his life to the people who live above the Ivory Coast, in a territory utterly foreign to one reared in the land of American prosperity. The work seems to occupy the missionaries completely, as Dahlquist explains in his letter, apologizing for having neglected letter-writing for so long a period.

Have Regular Routine

"About this time orders must again be given the boys as to what food should be prepared for supper. At five o'clock we usually go out to preach, in my case, to speak to some individual or small group. At six o'clock we have supper and then hold united devotions. After that we have a little time for reading.

Troubles With Cooks.

"Before we left Bamako, we had a boy trained to cook pretty well, but he got the idea that he was a trained cook, and did not have to do anything else. He also got into the habit of taking the bicycles whenever he wanted to go for a ride. We could have put up with him, but he came from another tribe, and did not speak Bambara, so we did not get any help in the language, so we decided to let him go. Since we came to Bougouni, we have had only a little native boy to help us, and he is too young a boy to watch all of the cooking. At present we are trying to train another young man for the place.

Month of Ramadan

"Last week," Mr. Dahlquist continues, "the Mohammedans completed the festivities for the month of Ramadan. The feast lasted one whole day. The staunch Mohammedans have been fasting during that entire time, fasting from sunrise to sunset each day. They are to go through their prayer ceremonies five times each day, standing with their faces toward the east, where is Mecca, the birthplace of the prophet Mohammed. They repeat the name of God and the name of the prophet, and portions of the Koran written by Mohammed, and fall on their knees and bow their foreheads to the ground."

Sustains Injuries In Car Accident

Cars Turn Over Saturday When They Strike New Grade At Winside.

Several young people sustained minor injuries and cars belonging to Walter Leonard of Pender and Otto Dinklage of Wisner were damaged when the machines struck a new grade east of Winside and turned over into a ditch. Both cars were returning from Hoskins and drivers did not notice the warning signs before coming to the graded highway.

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 28 Wayne, Neb., Thursday, April 23, 1931. Vol. 4

Our forefathers used to wait a week for a stage coach. Now we holler if we miss the buss.

A man of our acquaintance stayed at home the other night which was so unusual his wife thought he was sick.

Do you realize that this is a mighty opportune time to buy merchandise of any kind? Prices are low. Your dollar is worth more than it was a year ago.

A number of customers have placed their screen orders for prompt delivery. Prices are not the trouble just now but as one customer remarked, "We don't know when we'll get some hail and screens will save much glass."

Linseed oil $1.00 per gallon.

When your lawn grass commences to get green, then you know for sure whether your house needs a new coat of paint. Outside white in gallons is $1.95, in fives is $1.85 per gallon.

Spring just naturally means that a certain amount of fixing has to be done around the place. We have the lumber you'll need.

Here's a suggestion to the council about the whistle. Move it into the back yard of the fellow who wants usually low at the present time—$2.00 per ton.

One Wayne youngster was walking down town the other day with his mother when a woodpecker began suddenly to rattle on a dead limb over his head. "Oh, mamma," he cried, "that bird snores just like daddy."

Get our figures on ORANGE BANNER steel fence posts for your fence. They make a wonderful fence; strong, permanent, and good to look at. We have plenty of 'em on hand for you at all times.

Whether it's a bath or a ton or two of lumber, we'll be glad to deliver it to your door—either front or back.

"It's an ill wind, you know—and one local man tells us that if there weren't rainy days occasionally he'd never get his socks darned.

Quite a demand these days for lime, plaster and cement. Will you be needing any this spring? Cement is cheaper too.

Coarse or fine—whatever grade you wish—we can fix you out with gravel. The price is un-

"Traffic Cop"—"Hey, what's the matter there?"

Woman Driver—"Well, you see, George, I've just washed my car and I can't do a thing with it."

For economical, all-service fencing, lots of our customers prefer Long-Bell treated posts. We believe they will last forty to fifty years. Perhaps longer.

The world gives back your reflection. The right kind of people don't have rotten neighbors. But we do notice that a lot of the right kind of people do have their farms fenced with American fence.

"You're all wet!" said Noah to those who failed to get aboard the ark.

Workmen Prepare School Ground To Be Grassy Plot By Autumn Season

Senior Photographs To Be Taken This Week—Plan For Commencement.

Try New Projects

Grades Enjoy Special Work in New Buildings as School Year Nears Close.

The lawn at the public school is being ploughed and re-seeded this week as a part of the spring improvement program. Grass planted at this season will have an excellent opportunity to get a good start before autumn comes and the children begin playing on the school grounds again.

A financial success and an enjoyable presentation was the senior class play, given at the Gay theatre Tuesday evening, April 22, with William Behl directing. In the cast were: Everett Heiker, Fred Peterson, Maryann Noakes, Walter Biesler, Letta Porterfield, Jean Dennis, Charles Berry, Melvin Seymour and Orville Rhodes.

Activities of Seniors. Photographs will be taken soon of members of the senior class. Plans are made for seniors to be thinking to them for their gift and letters to them during a hospital illness.

Seniors have invited seniors to come to the class banquet, which will be held at the Presbyterian church May 5.

High school people enjoyed the exhibition given Monday by Tommy Ryan, ex-champion.

Plan Track Meet. Friday, April 24, is the date set for the annual track meet to be held in Wayne. Participants will come from Laurel, Wakefield, Hartington, Randolph, Wisner and Allen.

Quite theatrical is the atmosphere of the expression class this week, with members of the group studying about play production, and the art of make-up. Stage set-props are being kept, each pupil making his own plans, and illustrating his own book with clipped pictures. In English week, the last book reports of the year have been turned in, and the class is beginning the study of the last chapter of the term.

Use of the scientific measuring instruments and the problem of determining resistance are subjects under consideration in the high school physics group this week.

Among Grade Pupils. Mrs. O.E. Haas was a visitor in the kindergarten room Friday afternoon of last week. A health contest, to last during the last six weeks of school, has been started in the second grade. Language class in the second grade has made a booklet dealing with Robert Louis Stevenson's "The Wind". The children drew pictures to illustrate various parts of the poem.

In order to learn how to tell time, members of the second grade have been making clock faces. Third grade art class has been enjoying work with water colors. Third grade is also learning how to weigh and measure objects. The project given in connection with this work is playing school. New York spelling team won last week's spelling contest in this grade.

Perfect attendance for the past six weeks has been had by the following: Vera Barnes, Doris Child, Fred Jeanne, Romain, Irene Heberer, Margaret Larson, Kenneth Peterson, Marjorie Thompson, Scotty Thompson and Leah Young.

A visitor in the fourth grade room last Friday afternoon was Mrs. Felber. Fourth grade arithmetic class is studying addition and subtraction of fractions this week. Special reports in the class were given last week on "Eli Whitney and his cotton gin." "Safety first" posters are being made in the class.

Study New Geography. Australia was an interesting subject to geography pupils in the sixth grade, and Africa, which they are just beginning, promises to be no less intriguing.

Wilma Baker sixth grade, has had a grade of 100 per cent ten consecutive times in spelling class. Marie Thies and Frances Sydow received gold stars for the year's work in penmanship. The girls' physical education class is learning to play indoor baseball. Wall paper designs and bird pictures are being made for art work in this grade.

Ruth Judson's division won last week's spelling contest.

Eighth grade class in geography of Nebraska held a contest on location of towns in Nebraska last week. Absentees from classes in the eighth grade last week were Ray Bonawitz, Lucille Cross, Eva Liveringhouse, Dolores McNatt, Lila Gildersleeve, Weldon Haas and Jane Randall.

Vern Walter reported the grade news this week, and Marjorie Laase gathered the high school notes for the journalism project.

District Court Session Is Held

Motion to strike the case off the docket was overruled in the action of I. Miller and company vs. John Reinbrecht.

Defendant was given 30 days in which to answer in the case of Herbert and Albert Landahl vs. Fred S. Utch, et al.

In the partition of real estate case of Ida Meade vs. Roy Davis, et al., report of the referee was approved as per signed journal entry.

In the foreclosure proceedings of Ezekiel Morgan vs. George W. Winget, et al., L. W. Ellis was appointed guardian for the plaintiff and the hearing set for next week.

Several damage actions and divorce cases will be heard by the jury at this session of court.

Lumber Groups Come To Wayne

girls' 4-H clubs throughout the state. In some of these clubs shop work and carpentry are studied. The lumber dealer, Mr. Wood emphasized, "has a great opportunity to benefit the rural community by assuming leadership of one of these clubs and giving these young people benefit of his experience."

Hold District Meetings. Chet Perry, Lincoln, the new president of the association, spoke Tuesday evening concerning the aims of the organization. He has been on programs this week in place of Harry Doll, secretary, who has been on all of the district meeting programs, with the exception of those held during this week. Nate Allen, of the Cornbelt Lumber company, also spoke at Tuesday's meeting in Hotel Stratton. Emerson Smith, of the Nebraska Farmer at Lincoln, featured cooperative advertising.

The meeting was one of 19 which are being held in the state this year. District programs have been held in Nebraska for the last five years, it was explained. Meetings have been held for lumbermen this season at Auburn, Superior, Fairbury, Holdrege, Hastings, McCook, Broken Bow, Grand Island, York and Wayne. From Wayne Mr. Wood and Mr. Smith went to Norfolk, where a gathering was planned for Wednesday evening.

Other groups will gather soon at Columbus, Lincoln, North Platte, Scotts Bluff, Sidney and Chadron.

Argentine Man Is Speaker Here

Rev. Paul O. Machetzki of Buenos Aires, Argentina, addressed St. Paul and Evangelical Lutheran congregations Sunday. Rev. Machetzki is in this country on furlough and is lecturing in several middle western states. Rev. H. A. Teckhaus took him to Wisner Sunday evening.

The visitor explained that Buenos Aires, a city of two and one-half million, is a modern business center. Practically every nationality of the world is represented in the city. Most of the 11 million people in Argentine live in cities. Rev. Machetzki explained. Rural sections which are rich farming regions are sparsely settled. Spanish is the language most generally spoken. Many think of South America as a unit but, the visitor explained, each of the several states is anxious to be recognized alone.

In connection with the Lutheran church in which Rev. Machetzki works a high school for 500 students and having a faculty of 50 is conducted.

Rev. Machetzki has been in Buenos Aires nine years and he plans to return here in July or November.

Piano Pupils Will Present Recital

Private and class pupils of Mrs. Albert G. Carlson will present a program of solo and ensemble numbers in the college auditorium Monday evening, April 27, at 8 o'clock. Appearing will be: Virginia Lewis, Barbara Strahan, Larhyla Whitmore, Herbert Welch, Arthur Gulliver, Evelyn Noakes, Verona Halbeck, Betty Wright, Joyce Miller, Dolores McNatt, Ruth Lumbers, Quentin Whitmore, Robert Heymann, Peggy Morris, Jeanne Wright, Olivia Diefenbaugh, Mary Ellen Gulliver, Evelyn Wendt and Melvin Seymour.

Evelyn Wendt and Melvin Seymour are pupils with Prof. Carlson.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

College Ensemble Class In Program

The college piano ensemble class will give a program in the college auditorium Tuesday evening, April 28, at 8 o'clock.

America Corporation Orchestra Coming

Beasley Smith Patrons of modern dance music will receive a treat when Beasley Smith and his orchestra play at the Colonial pavilion next month. Mr. Smith has one of America's outstanding orchestras and has played in the best ballrooms of the United States. "Better music" is the policy of the local management.

Original Literary Work Is Chosen

Four pieces of original literary work were selected Monday night at a meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, English fraternity at the State Teachers college, from manuscripts submitted by students and have been sent away to a committee of judges.

Selected manuscripts were: "The Cheat," a play by Frederick Berry; "Trastru," a short story by Francis O'Garra; "Aversions," a humorous essay written by Doris Judson; and "Ironic Episode," a short story by Ella Heath.

This marks the second step toward the winning of three emblems which will be awarded by Sigma Tau Delta at the commencement exercises. In the contest a maximum of 20 points was given for the largest number of lines of original poetry given before the club, this award being won at the March meeting by Frances O'Garra.

A maximum of 40 points will be awarded for the best piece of original work submitted, this being the work of the April meeting of the club, and on May 16 there will be a comprehensive literature test for which a maximum of 40 points will be given.

Members of the committee which will judge the four selected pieces of original work are: Dr. P. C. Somerville of Kansas Wesleyan university; Dr. Fred Fadner of Drury college, and Dr. John Phelps Fruit of William Jewell college. (Professor Judson Quincy Owen, head of the English department at the Wayne State Teachers college, is sponsor of the local chapter and executive secretary-editor of the Rectangle, official publication of the fraternity.)

Wakefield Church Sponsors Musicales

Very special is the musical program which has been arranged for the evening of Sunday, April 26, and which will be given at Wakefield Methodist church. The male quartet from Wayne State Teachers college, under the direction of Prof. Howard Hanscom, will sing, and Ross Hanks, violinist, also from the college, will present several numbers. Miss Marie Larson of the Morningside conservatory of music in Sioux City will also be on the evening's program.

The following numbers have been arranged for presentation:

Prelude, Miss Marie Larson. "Romance," Sibelius numbers from Chopin and Godard; "Send Out Thy Light," Gounod; "My Creed," Garrett, "The Angelus," Lieurance, the last three by members of the male quartet.

Elmer Lindberg will sing a tenor solo and the male quartet will sing "Annie Laurie," an old favorite. Ross Hanks will follow with a violin solo.

Three negro spirituals will be given by the male quartet under Mr. Hanscom's direction, and Miss Larson will play the offertory, "Lobstratum, No. 3," by Liszt. Prof. Hanscom will close with piano solos, "I Hear a Thrush at Eve" and "Goodbye, Sweet Day." The program is open to the public, and it is hoped that a good attendance will mark the occasion.

High Scholarship Award Is Earned

One of the students with high scholarship standing in the law college at the university, Russell Bartels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartels of Wayne, will be among those honored at special convocation next Wednesday. He has previously received a scholarship and advisoryship in the university. His parents may go to Lincoln for the convocation.

Will Be Honored At Convocation

Lyle Mabbott, student at the state university in Lincoln, is one of the students who will be honored for high scholarship at special university convocation next Wednesday. The engineer college will have open house next Thursday when visitors will be shown work in various departments. Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Mabbott plan to go to Lincoln next week Wednesday for the convocation and they will stay over Thursday to attend the open house exhibits.

Program of Music Is Given Sunday

Miss Gladys Sulerud, soprano, and Mrs. Albert G. Carlson, pianist, presented the Wayne Teachers college radio program from station WJAG, Norfolk, last Sunday. The numbers were as follows: "Tis Springtime," by Dodge and "Four-leaf Clover," by Coombs, Miss Sulerud; "Recesses," by Beethoven, Mrs. Carlson; "The Star," by Rogers, and "Hark! Hark! the Lark," by Schubert, Miss Sulerud; "Valse in G Flat," by Chopin, and "Toccata," by Rubinfro, Mrs. Carlson; "God Morning," by Grieg, and "Take Joy Home," by Basset, Miss Sulerud; "Siree de Vienne," by Schubert-Liszt, Mrs. Carlson; and "The Second Minuet," by Bessy, and "Ho! Mr. Piper," by Curran, Miss Sulerud.

Business Men Agree Here

"Wayne is able to meet competition well," says Grant S. Mears, postmaster, in discussing the situation of competition between smaller places and larger market centers. When asked for reasons as to why Wayne has been able to meet such competition, Mr. Mears analyzed the situation carefully.

"Other towns could well pattern after Wayne in making trade centers of themselves. Here, location and a good start have had much to do with successful business, but there are other elements for which the people themselves have been responsible.

"Good businesses, well organized and carefully conducted, help to draw trade from an ever-widening area. If business men in a community learn that the important thing is to get customers from as large a business territory as possible, success is insured. We need better business all the time to keep up with demands, if we are to widen the areas as we should."

George Fortner, in business in Wayne for years, has well defined views on the present condition of business over the entire country. "Overproduction and under consumption lie at the root of the matter," he asserts, and points out that the increasing number of places of business continues to divide the trade area into smaller and smaller portions. He does not see any solution for the problem, which he looks upon as unique in the history of business decline and inflation.

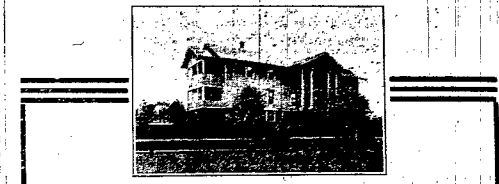

C. M. Craven, whose long business record in Wayne has given him a view of many situations, believes that competition is easily received by the business man, dealer or merchant who has a good service to offer. "In our line, of course," he pointed out, "we have less competition than many other firms, but serving the public well, keeping one's word to the public and enjoying the work will go a long way toward bringing success."

"The hardest kind of competition," he admitted, "is that offered by firms which sell inferior products, for people often are not educated to quality. Still," he reflected, "it is the duty of the merchant and the business man to educate the public to patronize the good business man, buying quality goods at all times."

Inquiry revealed that most Wayne business men believe that Wayne is a good center, and well able to compete with other good centers. The reasons for their belief seem to center around faith in sound business policies.

Love of Nature Impels Wealthy Kansan To Quit Farm for Home in Woods

THOMAS A. KINCAID, famed Harvard naturalist, who more than 70 years ago forsook cultured society to live alone in a self-constructed cabin in the New Hampshire woods, has his counterpart today in Thomas A. Kincaid, 71, retired citizen of Kansas.

Thomas A. Kincaid, right, and his self-constructed home in the Kansas wilds.

"Living out here in solitude, not inspiration for my sonnets," he says. "Don't call me a hermit, I am a naturalist and a poet."

Here is a poem, written some after he occupied the home in the woods, in which he reveals his simple philosophy of life:

"Down in the glen some happy school girls came, My lately finished cave house for to view, Which has a concrete floor of plank in lieu, With walls of rock and arched roof of the same; So, only door or windows e'er can name.

Parts of my house not mentioned yet are few, Though I've not spoken of the brick built flue. Yet rock still holds its olden chimney fame,

And mud sticks flues call back with heat and arched roof. When log house, mothers cooked on fireplace coals And when 'twas twilight sang the whippoorwill And now as age doth gently on me steal, I'm satisfied with gifts that nature holds The rocks, the sand, the springs, the woodland hills."

Love of Nature Impels Wealthy Kansan To Quit Farm for Home in Woods

THOMAS A. KINCAID, famed Harvard naturalist, who more than 70 years ago forsook cultured society to live alone in a self-constructed cabin in the New Hampshire woods, has his counterpart today in Thomas A. Kincaid, 71, retired citizen of Kansas.

Thomas A. Kincaid, right, and his self-constructed home in the Kansas wilds.

"Living out here in solitude, not inspiration for my sonnets," he says. "Don't call me a hermit, I am a naturalist and a poet."

Wayne Plans for Anniversary Days

Finance Committee Meets To Plan Campaign for Fifty Year Observance.

One of the most original suggestions for entertainment at the semi-centennial celebration to be held in Wayne the first week in July is the one to have a pair of polo teams come here from Omaha for the occasion. The idea is Lorenz Kay's. Young Kay, who has been particularly successful in arranging entertainments, is assisting with the Farmers' Fair at the Nebraska university school of agriculture this spring. "We welcome new suggestions and ideas on how to make this celebration attractive to the people of this community and the wider trade territory," said M. L. Ringer in discussing the matter Wednesday morning. Suggestions have come in from many sources, and the fact that so many ideas are afloat indicates to committee members that Wayne people are thinking about the semi-centennial and will help to make it a success.

Committees At Work. The financial committee, of which Perry Theobald is chairman, was scheduled to meet Monday evening of this week. The meeting was postponed, however, until Wednesday evening, when it was easier to assemble members. Committee members hope to be able to begin soliciting soon for the financial support which is necessary to make the celebration a real success. Business men will be asked to contribute to the work, for Wayne will need money with which to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary.

Tentative plans include decoration of the streets in colors and gold, and the provision of a variety of entertainment. Baseball games, a program, and other features will be engaged for the three gala days. The real spirit of the affair, however, will be in the family gatherings and the reunions which the holidays will make possible. Wayne's fifty years have been eventful, and the committee on celebration plans to make the fiftieth anniversary equally eventful.

Students Elected For Teaching Work

Several students of the Wayne State Teachers College have secured teaching positions for next year. Those in town schools are as follows: Dorothy Gilliver and Dorothea Britell, Emerson; Gerald Dennis, Tilden; Mabel Steady, Valentine; Dorothea Lichty, Royal; Dorothy Beckenbauer, Newcastle; Goldie Olson, Winside; Dorothy Smith, Pender; Ralph Gray, Brunswick; and John McKinley, Spencer. Rural school positions have been secured by the following: Marie Fischer, Malvina Nelson, Therna Lichty, Beulah Walker, Wilma Hohenstein, Grace Soranson, Valerie Johnson, Marie Heller, Olive Humbert, Darlene Habrock, Martha Thomas, Clarice Edson, Mary Mitche, Marjorie Misdeldt, Tillie Eckert, Ella Mann and Margaret Andersson.

AMERICA DEPENDS UPON SHIELDS AND WOOD, YOUNGSTERS TO RECAPTURE DAVIS CUP FROM VETERAN FRENCH TEAM—THE ALTROCK-SCHACHT FEUD

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THE way over which Frank X. Shields and Sidney B. Wood Jr., have pointed their tennis craft is long and rough. If they successfully negotiate two months of troublesome sailing they will find themselves in France in July ready to challenge the French Davis Cup champions. There is no other route, no short cut or easy detour to the final round. Along the way there will be Mexico and Canada to be met in May on this side of the water. In June the winner of the South American zone, which probably will be the Argentine racqueteer, will appear in the path of the youthful Americans. And if they get by the South Americans, England, or who ever captures the European zone finals, will loop up to provide further trouble.

They have a rough road to travel, but American hopes that Francis X. Shields, above, and Sidney Wood, left, will battle it out in France for the tennis title.

Reports from France are that Rene Lacoste, hero of the initial French Davis Cup triumph in 1927, will play no more international tennis. Lacoste was to have returned to the nets this season but he was stricken down by an appendicitis which necessitated an operation. Though he has recovered, his condition is such that he must not attempt the rigors of a strenuous campaign of tournament tennis. Thus, France again is left with only the veterans Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra and the Washington Senators, Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, coaching comedians. They have decided to hate each other.

How it started and who is to blame is not for me to tell. But those who are closely associated with the famous baseball clown make no secret about the fact that Nick and Al turn away from each other in the dressing room, clubhouse, hotel, in fact, everywhere.

slapstick comedy will tickle the young and old alike. But back of it all, a change has come over them.

I refer to those laugh twins of the Washington Senators, Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, coaching comedians. They have decided to hate each other.

How it started and who is to blame is not for me to tell. But those who are closely associated with the famous baseball clown make no secret about the fact that Nick and Al turn away from each other in the dressing room, clubhouse, hotel, in fact, everywhere.

save when they are going through their antics on the ball field.

Some say that Al's ambition clashes with Nick's easy-going, deflating nature. Schacht wants to forge ahead, work up new stunts, accept new contracts. Nick is content to stay in the backround and take things as they come. Whatever the friction is, it would be an American catastrophe if this great team should come to the parting of the ways. Neither would be particularly entertaining without the other. Each needs the other to find a responsive chord in Mr. Baseball Fan's sense of humor.

Home From Trip To North Dakota

William Beckenbauer and daughter, Mrs. Willard Wiltse, had a record drive to Williston, N. D., married last week Monday when the water pump in their car gave trouble. They left here Monday morning at 4:15 and reached Bismarck, N. D., a distance of 500 miles, at 4:30. The last part of their trip they had to stop at each place along the road and get water for their car. They had a new pump installed at Bismarck, and the wrong kind was placed in the car and the travelers had the same trouble to Minot, where they received proper repairs and finished the 800-mile trip to Williston Tuesday.

In Williston they visited Mr. and Mrs. John Volk and returned to Mrs. John Volk, Eugene John, Mrs. Beckenbauer and son, with them. As a result of having the pump out of order a connecting rod burned out on the machine at Lebanon and the Beckenbauers were delayed 24 hours. They took the train to Faulkton and visited Mr. Beckenbauer's cousin, Herman Beckenbauer. They left Faulkton at 6:15 Saturday evening and finished the 300 miles home by 2 Sunday morning. The Beckenbauers found the Dakotas dry. Dust was so heavy part of the time on the journey there that they had to stop. The vicinity of Williston received no moisture the past week. It has been dry there for a couple seasons and crops have not been up to normal. Farmers in that vicinity are finishing this week the sowing of small grains which they raise excitedly.

Miss Faye and Miss Fannell Beckenbauer plan to go to Williston at close of school to visit their sister, Mrs. Volk. The last named and her well return here with them in August.

Honorary Science Group Has Dinner

Newly-installed officers are: President, Gladys Morgan; first vice-president, Catherine Castle; second vice-president, Mary Kite; secretary, Judith Stolpe; and treasurer, Frances Price. Numerals were awarded to Marjorie Pugh and Mrs. Lowell Henney. Mildred Borg, Mina Inhelder, and Ruby Fisher were awarded pins. Two new members were initiated, Carol Fleury and Evelyn Meyer.

Heirloom Spread Is Still In Use

An heirloom still in use in the R. B. Hanks family is a hand-woven breadspread made by Peter Loren in Ohio in 1834. The spread is white with red and blue figures. The name of the maker and date are woven in one corner. The spread belonged to Mr. Hanks' grandmother first.

County Board Meets

Wayne county board allowed claims and transacted other routine business at its regular meeting Tuesday.

Singers To Meet Here For Audition

The elimination contest for the fifth national Atwater Kent radio contest will be held in the auditorium of the State Teachers College, at 8 o'clock, May 16. Singers from Knox, Dixon, Cedar and Wayne counties will participate. There are no entrance fees and those between the ages of 18 and 25 are eligible. The winners, a boy and a girl, will compete in the state audition in October. Winners in the state audition will compete in the district contest in Chicago in November. This district includes Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin. State and district contests will be broadcast.

In the local contest to be held at Wayne, May 18, decisions will be given by competent judges from other parts of the state and Iowa. Each singer will need to be prepared to sing one song only. The singers will stand behind screens so the judges will be influenced by voice merit alone. A small admission fee of 25c will be charged to cover expenses. Singers desiring additional information and entrance blanks should write to Miss Ardath Conn, Wayne, chairman for these contests.

The awards in the national contest are: First place winners $5,000 and two years tuition with any conservatory or recognized teacher; second place winners $3,000 and one year's tuition; third place winners $2,000 and one year's tuition; fourth place winners $1,500 and one year's tuition; fifth place winners $1,000 and one year's tuition.

Sustains Bruises In Disc Accident

W. W. Weston was badly bruised last Thursday when he was thrown backward off of a disc as he was driving mules in field work at the Ray Farney farm northwest of Wayne. The animals ran away and one was so badly cut that it had to be killed. Mr. Weston who lives at Laurel, is Mrs. Farney's father.

Paint Office For Spring Clean-Up

The new frame office building for Fisher and Wright Lumber company is being painted this week. Cream is being used for the body color, with a trim of light green, touched with vivid orange.

Sioux City Nurse Comes To Hospital

Miss Ann Holton graduate from St. Joseph Hospital in Sioux City, came Friday to begin her duties as assistant to Miss Lisle Clayton, superintendent of the Wayne hospital.

CHEMICAL ACTION PRODUCES NOVELTY

Mrs. Paul Harrington intrigued pupils at the public school Wednesday morning by bringing to school a bowl containing what looked like superfine, pale blue coral, or some equally lacy, but more delicate substance. She explained that the formation was one which resulted when four tablespoons of water, four tablespoons of salt and a little bluing were placed in a small glass bowl and allowed to evaporate. A little more water was added, and the crystal grew, making an object of real loveliness and great interest to the school children.

CONSIGN CATTLE TO MARKET THIS WEEK

Thurston County Reports Shortage

Pender, Neb., April 21—Henry D. Riken, chairman of the Thurston county board of commissioners, today said an audit of the county's books and records has revealed a shortage of $40,000 in the county funds.

Although the board is not planning to file charges at present, Riken said, the county attorney has been instructed to collect immediately for the shortage from bondsmen. The audit covered a period of the last ten years, Riken said. The auditor's report, according to Riken, showed a shortage of approximately $17,000 in the general fund, and a shortage of $15,000 in the commissioner's fund for the years extending from 1920 to 1924. Other funds showed a deficit of $8,000, Riken said. The previous inspection of records in 1915 showed a small shortage, Riken said.

This is a fine occasion to give support to the program of the Missionary society and a hearty welcome to our guest. Meet me and your friends at the Methodist church next Sunday evening at 8. Christian Science. The subject of the lesson-sermon read at all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, April 19, was "Doctrine of Atonement." A part of one of the citations read from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, (p. 23) is as follows: "The atonement is a hard problem in theology, but its scientific explanation is, that suffering is an error of sinful sense which truth destroys, and that eventually both sin and suffering will fall at the feet of everlasting love." Other citations read from this book and the Bible show that, in the Bible, various references to the blood and body of Jesus, spiritually understood, really refer to the Spirit or Mind of Christ, which overcomes sin and disease. A typical Biblical selection that was read is, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."

Work on Highways Showing Progress

Grading on Wayne-Winslow Road Goes Forward For New Surface

Grading is progressing readily on the eight-mile sector of highway No. 35 from Winslow east to No. 15 south of Wayne. When the grade is prepared and bridge and culvert work complete, the road will be surfaced with gravel.

In a recent issue of the Lincoln Journal road improvement plans were suggested for this season and among those that may possibly be done is work on No. 35 from Wayne through Wakefield, Emerson and Hubbard. The distance being considered is 25 miles.

The report also suggests another grade surface on the Wakefield-Alto-Marysburg road, this being for a distance of 19 miles.

Grading of the Pender-Emerson road is progressing, three miles south of Emerson being completed.

To Give Address At State Meeting

Nebraska division of the Modern Language Association of America holds its annual spring convention at the Temple theatre in Lincoln April 24 and 25 and Miss Margaret Schabel, head of modern languages at the Wayne State Teachers College, will speak Friday afternoon on "Modern Language Problems of Nebraska State Teachers College." Hers will be the keynote address of the program.

Miss Schabel will be accompanied in Lincoln by students of a Spanish class who will Friday afternoon present a play, "Don Quixote Wins His Spurs," which was part of a program given at the college here April 15. Title roles are taken by Fred Schneider. Others taking part are Duane Peterson, Lester Danielson and Mrs. Myrtle George.

Attend Convention Of Music Teachers

North Central Music Supervisors conference, held last week in Des Moines, was attended by many instructors, among them Miss Ardath Conn and Prof. H. H. Hanson of Wayne. The latter and Mrs. Hanscom drove to Des Moines and returned Saturday. Miss Conn came home the same day. A high school orchestra of 250 and a chorus of 250 were featured at the concert Friday. Students with talent were picked from many cities, among them Omaha, Minneapolis and Lincoln. After instruction the first of the week the members who had never before been together, presented a number in a flute player from Lincoln receiving some of the prizes offered by the organizers in excellent manner. Two singers and a pianist were also featured. They won't forget them until the hereafter. —Louisville Times.

OLD POLLY PARROT DIED HERE RECENTLY

Polly, the parrot which had been in the Jacques family 23 years, died a few days ago after contracting a cold. The bird was only a few months old when bought by R. H. Jacques' mother. The parrot could sing and talk, and many children and adults had enjoyed visiting with him at the Jacques' cleaning establishment in Wayne.

Cows Perish in Fire

Ewing, Neb., April 18.—Six valuable cows perished in a barn fire on A. H. Marquardt's farm two miles southwest of Ewing about 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Several sets of harness, hay and grain were consumed by the flames, origin of which has not been determined.

Rabbit Leaps at Car

Creighton, Neb., April 18.—A jackrabbit, evidently blinded by lights on the car leaped through the windshield of F. H. Peck's auto as Mr. and Mrs. Peck, accompanied by Misses Lorene and Mildred Miller, all of Coleridge, were enroute to Creighton. The flying glass struck Mrs. Peck, who was driving and Lorene Miller, who was riding in the back seat. The other two occupants were unharmed. Mr. Peck was cut on the face and one hand, and Miss Miller received a cut on one hand.

Wayne Impresses Student Visitor

Friendly Of People And Beauty Of Residences Are Outstanding.

Miss Sally Pickard, "University of Nebraska senior in the school of journalism, who spent two weeks with the Herald getting practical experience, writes her impressions of this city.

Down a long hill, over a bridge, and there I was! As the bus drove up and stopped in front of the Wayne Herald, my heart gave several extra leaps, but trying to calm it down, I crossed the street and bowed the Herald office.

And so began my two weeks sojourn in Wayne, and right there came my first impression of the town, the friendliness of the people. Don't ask what had been expected, but I hardly thought my first "duty" would be to lunch at the Stratton hotel at Kiwanis club meeting!

So it went that day; everyone was very friendly and obliging. The second day how nice it was to walk the street saying "good morning" to people whom, just the day before, I had met. The neighborliness of a small town is one of its appeals.

There seems to be a good deal of civic pride in Wayne, and it is justifiable. Sincerely, Wayne is a city of attractive homes and beautiful lawns and gardens. Neatness and cleanliness seem to be synonymous with residence in Wayne. Broad, shady streets, green lawns, tall old trees, white houses, and the bluest sky stand out in my memory.

Wayne is indeed fortunate in having such a fine school as splendidly located as the State Teachers college. The campus, high on the hill and surrounded by a wonderful view, is one that many larger schools might envy. All this was a great surprise to me as I had no idea the school in general was so attractive, the buildings so new and large, and the location so beautiful, Wayne would do well to advertise its college and, in fact, the town itself more than it does.

Besides the friendliness, the sociability of the town attracted me. There have been no dull moments; the people in smaller towns seem to enjoy life immensely.

The history of the town and tales of its old settlers and interesting characters make one want to go exploring and unearth all the fascinating legends and facts that may be to be had.

Of course, the Herald itself and all the interesting mechanics of it in addition to the news aspect made a long-to-be-remembered impression. Newspaper offices are fascinating places and excellent media for getting acquainted!

Saturday night-crowds, activity, streets filled with cars, shops busy, and people standing around chatting—provided quite a spectacle. It was like the scene after a parade with everyone milling around.

My impressions of Wayne will always be most favorable and my memories happy ones.

SHIPPERS SEND OUT STOCK BY RAILROAD

Consignments of stock which left Hoskins by rail last week included the following: Emil Marotz, one carload of hogs to Sioux City, April 17; Charles Fuhrman, one load of hogs to Sioux City, April 14; Lyle Marotz, one load of hogs to Sioux City, April 12; Luther Anderson, one load of hogs to Sioux City, April 12; C. E. Gnirk, one load of cattle to Sioux City, April 12.

HOLD SERVICES AT HOSPITAL IN CITY

Preaching at the state hospital at Norfolk last week Sunday evening was by Rev. Im. P. Frey. The Trinity Lutheran quartet sang during the service under the direction of Carl Finup.

Queen of Queens

By 1923 it was observed that combine harvesters were getting numerous and a census revealed 2,796 at work in the wheat fields. Last year the number had grown to 21,303.

This growth in power farming has been accompanied by as steady a decline in the number of horses and mules maintained on Kansas farms. In 1914, the year before the first tractor census was taken, there were 1,071,434 horses and 243,844 mules. In 1930 there could be found but 626,899 horses and 142,019 mules. More than half a million horses have disappeared from Kansas farms. Not all of them have been displaced by tractors. Some have lost their jobs to passenger automobiles and farm trucks. With them has gone the market for a lot of Kansas hay and grain.

TEN RESOLUTIONS

Rev. W. A. Mansur, pastor of the Methodist church at Winslow, expressed concisely ten sound resolutions the first of the year, and they ring so true to the requisites of best citizenship that the Herald is pleased to reproduce them as follows:

"1. I will boost my town and community.

"2. I will be ready to help a fellow when he is down.

"3. I will be friendly to man and beast.

"4. I will look for the bright side of things.

"5. I will keep my promises to the best of my ability.

"6. I will be loyal to my family, church and country.

"7. I will mind my business and let the other fellow mind his.

"8. I will be ready to pass on cheer, sunshine and happiness.

"9. I will be charitable toward other people, especially toward those who disagree with me.

"10. I will be patient, kind and sympathetic toward the faults and failures of others, for I have faults and failures myself."

FORD RELIABILITY

Long, hard use shows the value of good materials and simplicity of design

EVERYWHERE you go you hear reports of the good performance and reliability of the Ford.

One owner writes—"The Ford Tudor Sedan I am driving has covered 59,300 miles through all kinds of weather. It is still giving perfect satisfaction."

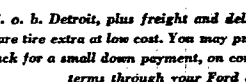

Another owner describes a trip of 3217 miles in 95 hours over bad roads and through heavy rain and sleet in the mountains. "Throughout the entire trip," he writes, "the Ford performed excellently and no mechanical trouble of any kind was experienced. The shatter-proof glass undoubtedly saved us from serious injury when a prairie chicken struck the windshield while we were traveling at 65 miles an hour."

See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the Ford. Then, from your own personal experience, you will know that it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

LOW FORD PRICES

Water In Subsoil Proves Of Benefit

Lincoln, Neb., April 16—Nebraska farmers are not wholly dependent upon current rainfall for successful farming. That is the conclusion drawn from "The Environment of the Prairie," a bulletin just prepared by Dr. J. E. Weaver, professor of plant ecology at the University of Nebraska. There is always some water-content below the surface six inches of soil, states this bulletin and usually there is water in the surface soil.

The publication gives the results of tests carried on by Dr. Weaver and others near Lincoln to discover the relation between plants and their environment. The tests were carried on for twelve years, the longest study ever made of conditions affecting natural vegetation. It was conducted to learn how much of a supply of moisture nature is supplying to plants.

Soil Conditions Indicated.

The presence of a cover of tall, deeply rooted grasses and legumes indicates conditions favorable to the growth of cultivated crops of similar habit, such as wheat, oats, and corn, states the bulletin.

By means of soil core tests it was found that over the period of years covered in the test the water content in the top six inches of soil was reduced to zero but twice. These came late in July in 1917 and in 1919. The summer of 1930 was not included in this test. As the test holes were made deeper it was found that the water-content of the soil became less variable, showing the value of deep rooted crops. Moisture was found at all times as deep as twenty feet.

Roots Go After Water.

Tests were conducted by means of deep trenches, that showed that roots of vegetation in Nebraska extend more than twenty feet into the ground. The usual prairie grasses have roots that usually extend from three to eight feet. Corn growing in the same soil extends its roots about six to eight feet into the ground and winter wheat roots extend between five and seven feet.

Legume crops, such as alfalfa and red clover extend their roots much deeper and draw more heavily upon the subsurface moisture. Continuous cropping to legumes will exhaust the deeper moisture and so injure the land, says Dr. Weaver.

Dr. Weaver, who wrote the bulletin in collaboration with Dr. W. J. Himmell, associate professor of botany at the state university, is an authority on grasses and their root development. His works and studies have been translated into many languages, including that of Russia and India. He is on the board of editors of the Ecological Society of America and a number of other scientific organizations.

Railroad Applies To Change Service

Lincoln, April 18—The first application of a railroad for permission to operate a pick-up and delivery service in Nebraska was received by the state railway commission today.

The Northwestern asked permission to establish the service, effective May 27 at seven Nebraska stations, Exeter, Harvard, Seward, Wahoo, Wisner, West Point and York.

It proposed a rate of 5 cents per hundred pounds of weight with a minimum charge ranging from 6 to 25 cents. Freight shipped from one of these points to another would get both the pick-up and delivery service. Freight consigned from one of the towns to another city would get only pick-up and freight shipped from an outside point to one of the towns would get only delivery service.

It can BE DONE but it isn't wise

You can run 1,500 or 2,000 miles without draining new POLARINE out of the crankcase. But few engineers would recommend such a dangerous practice, with any oil.

Engineers know that clean oil of the right grade is essential to full power and long life in any motor. They recommend changing the oil at between 500 and 1,000 miles—even when the motor has an oil filtering device.

New Polarine is made to meet every modern engineering specification. It is refined from the most suitable crudes until wax, tar and all other harmful, non-lubricating materials are removed.

New Polarine clings to metal surfaces—resists thickening by cold and thinning by heat. It is furnished in every grade recommended by the Society of Automotive Engineers and will do everything for your motor that oil can do. Consult the chart for the correct grade to use—25¢ a quart for all grades.

Europe's Royal Neighbors

Here is a recent and striking study of two of the foremost aristocratic couples in Europe. Above are the future rulers of Italy, Crown Prince Humberto and his wife, the former Princess Maria Jose of Belgium. Below are the Archduke Joseph Francis and his wife, the Duchess Anne, members of the former Austrian and Hungarian ruling families. They are pictured here as they arrived in Budapest.

Broadway Hails Japanese Royalty

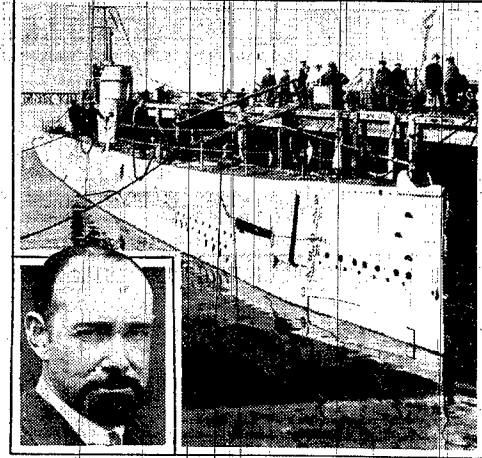

A reception such as only New York can give, with its ticker tape and cheering crowds, was accorded two distinguished royal visitors when the brother of the emperor of Japan, Prince Takamatsu, and his wife, Princess Kikuko, arrived there on a visit. The young couple, shown as they appeared riding up Broadway to City Hall for the official welcome.

Experts Say Sub Trip to Pole Will Fail, But 2000 Seek Chance to Go

MEN of the sea are shaking their heads dubiously at the weird-looking craft which was docked in the Brooklyn Navy Yard recently. "Sutcliffe ship," they call her, and "Chinese junk," and "Wilkins' Polly."

Nearly 2,000 adventurous persons have besieged the captain with requests to join the expedition. "If anybody but Danenhower was handling her," a man at the Navy Yard says, "she wouldn't have a chance. With him at the controls—well, they haven't got much chance anyway."

Look at her. She's just an old tub that was due for the scrap heap. She's just a dollar-a-year boat. It's true. The Nautilus is costing the Wilkins-Ellsworth Arctic Expedition exactly $1 a year. As the U. S. S. O-12, she was built in 1914 and 1917, by Simon Lake, submarine inventor, and for the same purpose had been on the decommission list.

Chicago's Mayor Gets a Big Hand

It isn't often you see men of opposing political parties in an affectionate scene such as this. But when Anton J. Cermak, Democrat, right, defeated Big Bill Thompson for mayor of Chicago, one of the first to congratulate him was Judge John H. Lyle, left, Republican. Judge Lyle lost to Thompson in the Republican primaries.

Sloux City Journal: The usual decline in business during the second quarter is confidently expected to be less marked this year. There are various reasons supporting this belief. If the prediction is borne out by the fact of a stronger activity from now until July, relatively speaking, of course, it will be impossible to see anything but a strong upturn later.

Stock are low all over the country. They will have to be increased to meet the demand, even if it is stronger than it has been the last 18 months. The country has been living on accumulated stocks in an extensive degree. These are close to exhaustion. More goods simply have got to be produced. Industry will find it necessary this spring to speed up production somewhat in order to meet demand, and this will result in bigger pay rolls and an absorption of unemployment. How great these increases will be no one can say, but all lines reported low inventories last fall, and there has not been more than sufficient activity since then to supply the market.

Any improvement that comes, however, will be slow and steady. There is no likelihood whatever that prosperity will return with a rush. It will be a long hard pull, not for the rest of the year, but for a much longer period. The much ground remains to be recovered under any conditions. Besides, the upturn will be slow and there is no doubt that it will extend far into 1932 before the situation of 1929 is even approached.

The main thing now for all lines is to hold what ground is being won. This can be done to better advantage if everybody will accept the optimistic viewpoint that the bottom of the depression has been reached. In short, that the business situation is to be better constantly instead of any worse.

What effect the presidential campaign next year will have on the times is hard to say. The campaign might be conducted without any effect at all noted either way. Or renewed confidence based on gains made during 1931 might have a salutary effect on general business. Freight car loading for the week ending April 4 were down to 728,511. This was a reduction from the preceding week of 11,568 cars.

The world seems fairly safe for democracy, except at a democratic meeting.—Brunswick Pilot.

NEBRASKA BIRDS USEFUL IN MANY WAYS TO PEOPLE

THERE are about 430 birds that either make their permanent home in Nebraska, spend the summer here, or stop a little while as they make their seasonal flights. So asserts the Publicity Department of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture in a study, outlining the Nebraska birds recently issued. Out of that number, at least 220 varieties have been known to nest in the state. Contrary to a prevailing opinion that not many birds remain here during the winter, over a hundred varieties are known to spend the winter here since timber and food have become more plentiful.

An advocate for the preservation of birds can make a strong case for them, even if the crow and the hawk and the pheasant are charged with being killers and thieves. Birds are useful in many ways. They carry seeds of trees and plants and widely distribute them. They carry the spawn of fishes on their feet into new waters. They feed on and destroy countless millions of weed seeds. Some live entirely on insects. Others hunt over mice, ground squirrels and gophers. Some act as scavengers, removing things that are injurious to human health. And humanity is further indebted to them for their gay songs, their bright plumage and their pleasant manners. The birds in fact form a carefully planned army of police that is engaged in keeping things in nature evenly balanced. A great many birds provide humans with food and others supply downy feathers for making soft pillows and warm coverlets.

The bird population varies as timber increases, open water becomes more plentiful and climate changes. The birds of the prairie are departing; the timber birds are here each year in greater numbers. And an increasing number like Nebraska so well they no longer fly south in the fall but find snug shelter in the hedge rows and dense timber the whole year round.

Girl Scouts To Build Character

Aim Is Explained Here By Miss Elizabeth Bealer Of St. Louis.

Need for character building program such as that of the girl scout is greater than ever this year when the unemployment crisis is affecting both living standards and morale in many homes, according to Miss Elizabeth Bealer, girl scout regional director of Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, who was in this city for a few days to confer with local girl scout officials.

"The girl scout program prepares girls to meet responsibility and assume leadership in emergencies such as that we are now facing in this country," Miss Bealer said. "The more girls we can bring through girl scouting, the stronger in body, keener in mind and ready for whatever life brings, the better it will be for the world."

Miss Bealer told how girl scout work in some communities has sacrificed their weekly dues to buy bread for the unemployed, and of those who collected, cleaned and mended discarded clothing to be distributed to the needy, and of the numerous small ways in which girl scouts all over the country have quietly aided distressed families.

"In any crisis," she said, "girl scouts are community conscious, always ready and eager to do what they can without ostentation. Whenever they can be of assistance, they volunteer their time as a matter of course, thus forming the long habits of community service."

Miss Bealer who organizes girl scout work in the four states known as the Covered Wagon region, explained the goal set by the five year development plan, which seeks to bring the benefits of girl scouting to 500,000 teen-age girls by 1935.

"Without sacrificing in any sense the quality of our program, we can, by providing more training for leaders, increase the membership of our organization," she said. "A ready our growth under the new plan has far exceeded our expectations, and with the aid and backing of the intelligent public who see in girl scouting one way to make a better woman, better homemakers, and more useful citizens, possibilities for expansion are unlimited."

"One form of cooperation we are particularly eager to encourage is that of having the local clubs, churches and settlements, interested in having girl scout troops, send one of their own people to the training courses. And that our development plan, which was so carefully worked out for us by able business men, is already making itself felt in increased service to each community from national headquarters, we are experiencing much less difficulty in securing the type of enthusiastic and intelligent young women that are required for the wise guidance of our future citizens."

"Hell's Angels" Is To Be Shown Here

An event of more than usual significance is slated for all moviegoers at the Gay theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, April 26, 27 and 28. "Hell's Angels," the most outstanding film achievement of all times, is the attraction.

"Hell's Angels" is the stupendous drama of air-war which Howard Hughes produced and personally directed, and which required three years of continuous filming to complete.

It is admittedly the most spectacular of wartime aviation—the graphic glorification of the World War in the air.

According to most critics, it is the supreme revelation of realism—the first authentic reproduction of the exploits of both Allied and German airmen during the World War.

More than 100 daring pilots, including many of America's foremost stunt flyers, took part in the thrilling air battles which are a spectacular feature of "Hell's Angels."

A flying fleet of exactly 87 real wartime planes, including a giant German Gotha bomber and a German dirigible, was brought together from all parts of the world and flown in this picture. In one scene alone 50 planes are shown in combat simultaneously. It cost a quarter of a million dollars to put this single scene on the screen and aviation authorities military and civil, declare it is the most miraculous achievement in the history of both aeronautics and motion pictures.

Aside from its unprecedented and spectacular features in the air "Hell's Angels" is replete with romance and drama. It is based on one of the most original and dramatic stories ever screened—a story amazing and daring in its originality and treatment.

Nebraskans Have Richest Fields To Till, S. E. Auker Tells Westerners

Fiftythree Years in Prairie State Have Cultivated a Love For Fine Trees.

Describes Setting Out Saplings Brought from River Bottom Near Plattsmouth.

"Nebraska needs two-thirds of her population at home to gather the products of the soil, to load on the trains to go out and feed the world," S. E. Auker, told the westerners at a discussion in Long Beach in a discussion of why more Nebraskans than Nebraska winter on the coast. "And it's true, too," Mr. Auker adds with amusement, "that Nebraskans leave their farms at home and nobody knows what they look like. Nebraskans keep the chickens out of their fields and when they go away from home, it isn't for long."

Conditions on the coast interested Mr. Auker, who, with Mrs. Auker, has returned recently from a stay of three months at Long Beach. He considers conditions in Los Angeles and Long Beach depressed, but not seriously. Improvements since the Aukers' last visit to the coast together three years ago were very noticeable, he states.

As a sign of depression, however, he noted that beautiful homes, built in the extravagant fashion of Hollywood, can be purchased this year at a rate of about fifty cents on the original value making it an excellent time for people with ready money to purchase.

Enjoy Fine Weather. Only two rains fell during the Aukers' last sojourn on the coast, and the weather was even more pleasant than usual. Amusements and entertainments offered at Long Beach, fine music to listen to, and the excellent beach were among attractions which the visitors enjoyed.

"Nebraska is a fine state, though," Mr. Auker added, after he had praised California. "A state in which I have never been disappointed."

Mr. Auker came to Nebraska from Ohio 53 years ago, settling first in Johnson county. After some time there, he went into the northwestern section of the state, where he became interested in the cattle business. For a score of years, he followed the cattle on the ranges in that section of the state, which he also helped to plant with trees.

Praises Arbor Day. A friend of J. Sterling Morton, responsible for the founding of Arbor Day, Mr. Auker is a staunch admirer of the fine trees which now adorn our prairie. He helped to gather and to plant many of the trees, and urged farmers and settlers to give young trees shelter, help them to get started and spread the gospel of planting.

Two Nebraskans Achieve Fame As Flower Growers

Luther Burbank Made a Better Berry than the Strawberry, but he didn't. There are lovers of flowers who declare someone might have created more beautiful irises and peonies than Hans and Jacob Sass, but they didn't.

The point may never be settled; but in the meantime these two modest brothers, residing in Douglas county, are continuing their experiments with their floral children, creating each year new species that astonish the world of floral beauty with their magnificence and loveliness.

Jacob Sass, whose attention has been very largely devoted to the growing of irises, is a member of the Interstate Iris Society and is known as one of the best iris growers in the world. His brother, Hans, has a passion for peonies that expressed itself in the creation of several new and beautiful varieties. Their work is known and recognized all over the nation and abroad.

During the time these men have been engaged in working with nature to produce new species, they have sold more than 80,000 iris roots. They have given names to between 40 and 50 new creations produced in their gardens. "Not one name has been withdrawn," was the modest assertion of Jacob Sass when asked to respond to a toast at a dinner in honor of him and his brother, held at Lincoln. "This statement means that creations of these brothers are permanent additions to the iris family and do not lapse from view with the season, in which they were brought forth."

These floral wizards modestly carry on their work on their farms near Elkhorn and think more of the beauty they create than they do of the honors local and foreign that are showered on them. Their passionate love of flowers, trained to good use has made them and their creations international figures in the floral world.

Wires at Herman Torn by Meteor

Herman, Neb., April 15: A small meteor clipped through one of the wires of the Nebraska Power company's Herman line about 4:45 this morning and burned for two hours before it cooled off. Flames at times leaped 40 feet in the air.

The meteor fell in the pasture of the Pete Christensen farm, burying itself deep in the ground. Farmers dug it out later and found the largest piece was about 14 inches long and four inches through.

The transmission line was smashed in a number of places and Herman was without power all morning.

The ground around the meteor was hot for some time after the fire had gone out. The meteor now looks like a piece of slag. The largest piece weighs about eight pounds.

Convene in Fall At Wakefield

Conference of the northeast Nebraska district of the Missouri Lutheran synod will be held in Wakefield October 20 and 21, according to decision made at a conference in Battle Creek last week Tuesday and Wednesday.

Home Tried Recipes

Devil's Food Cake.
(Mrs. J. K. Johnson, Wayne)
This is a cake which won a prize for Mrs. Johnson on exhibit at the county fair.

1 1/2 cups of sugar (scant)
1/2 cup butter
3 eggs
1/2 teaspoon soda, dissolved in 1/2 cup of sour milk
1 1/2 cups of flour
2-3 cups of chocolate
2 teaspoons of vanilla
Mix ingredients as for any sour milk cake.

Filling.
Dissolve 1/2 cups of sugar in 1/2 cup of water. Allow to boil until it threads. Pour slowly into beaten egg whites. Flavor to taste.

Doughnuts.
(Mrs. J. K. Johnson, Wayne)
1 1/2 cups of sugar
2 cups of sour milk or butter-milk
4 eggs
1 level tablespoon soda, dissolved in hot water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup sour cream, or 2 table-spoons of butter
Flour enough to make a soft dough.

Beat sugar and eggs to light-ness. Add soda last, and the ingredi-ents. Have milk and flour very cold and the colder the ingredi-ents, the less flour it will take and the finer will be the texture of the doughnut. Fry in hot hard and turn over as soon as cakes come to the top of the fat.

Doughnut Short Cake.
(Mrs. Walter Savidge, Wayne).
Whip cream and sweeten well. Cut doughnuts into three rather thin slices. Place on dessert plate one slice of doughnut, and cover it with a thin slice of orange, covering with a layer of whipped cream. Put a large strawberry on the center of the layer filling the hollow of the doughnut. Repeat this until the three slices of doughnuts are used. On top put the rounded edge of the doughnut and cover top and sides of the dessert with the cream. Top with a large strawberry. Around the shortcake make five points of whipped cream with a strawberry at the end of each point. Pineapple may be used in place of orange slices.

Baked Ham.
A delicious new way to fix ham. Spread a thick slice of smoked ham with peanut butter and prepared mustard. Place the meat in a pan and cover with milk. Bake thoroughly until tender.

Tuna Fish with Rice.
2 cups flaked tuna fish
4 tablespoons fat
1 cup cooked rice
Salt
Pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs
Melt fat in frying pan, add fish, and stir gently until heated. Add rice, the whites of the cooked eggs, cut into small pieces, and salt and pepper to taste. Keep over a low fire until thoroughly heated, stirring gently. Sprinkle top with chopped egg yolk.

Crabmeat and Shrimp in Kamekins.
An excellent dish to serve at the party dinner.
3 tablespoons of fat
2 tablespoons of flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few grains of pepper
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cream
1 cup canned crabmeat, flaked
1 cup canned shrimp, cut in pieces
Bread crumbs
Melt fat and add flour, salt and pepper. Add milk and cream and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring constantly until thick. Add crabmeat and shrimp and stir thoroughly. If desired, two table-spoons of chopped olives may be added to the sauce at this time. Put the mixture into kamekins, cover tops with bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven until the crumbs turn a delicate brown.

Early Days in Wayne County

(Taken from the Herald files for April 24, 1913)
Savidge brothers opened their arrival season in Wayne, announcing the date for May 4, and four days thereafter. They had that season a new tent, seating 2,200 persons. The old tent seated only 1,500.

Miss Elsie Ford Piper and Miss Sara J. Killen, both instructors at the college, were given leave of absence in order that they might go abroad.

Omaha Safe and Iron works put a new fire escape on the north end of the auditorium building at the normal, adding to the safety facilities of the institution.

Phil Kohl Returned.
Sen. Phil Kohl returned home at the close of the legislative session in Lincoln, and gave out an opinion concerning the fight over the location of the university campus in the capital city. It will be remembered that one faction wished to keep the campus downtown, where it is now located, and that another faction wished to move the campus out to the present site of the agricultural college. In the Herald article are the following statements: "Mr. Kohl is convinced that the university should be removed to the state farm, and consolidated with the agricultural department of the state. Mr. Kohl opposes division of funds and the building of two institutions that really belong in one. He thinks consolidation would mean a bigger and stronger university. Another reason pointed out in behalf of removal is that moral influences are better at the state farm than in the heart of Lincoln. Some of the business interests of that city, however, still influenced by the almighty dollar, are making a determined fight to keep the university downtown."

Fifty-eight teachers in Wayne county were examined in reading circle work by Mrs. Elsie Little during the spring term.

Commercial Club Affairs.
Wayne's Commercial club met for a banquet at the city hall, with the following program presented under the direction of Fred S. Berry, who acted as toastmaster: "Sidelights," L. A. Kiplinger; "Wayne in Retrospect," John H. Kate; "Wayne in Prospect," C. A. Chace; "Reminiscences," James Britton; "Wayne's Greatest Need," Sen. Phil H. Kohl; "Relation of the State Normal to the City," U. S. Conn; "How to Build Bigger and Better," F. L. Wright; Music was furnished by an orchestra and by the quartet from the Normal.

From the Randolph Times comes this exposition on the condition of the roads: "Never were roads so impassable in this section as they were last Friday and Saturday. At one time, five engines were in Randolph on the Omaha road engaged in trying to open the track to Bloomfield. This was done Friday night. An immense amount of moisture was contained in the snow and farm lands bought to be well watered."

Urges Auto Lines.
Urges the Herald: "Auto street car lines are being urged for some cities. An advantage would be the avoidance of tracks. This might turn to disadvantage in cases of deep snow or mud." In Wayne, an auto line running at proper intervals between the depot and the state normal might be advisable and be made sufficiently profitable.

Miss Belle Killion of Wakefield was married to Mr. Fred Tarrant of Omaha at the home of her parents in Wakefield, Wednesday, April 23, 1913. Mr. and Mrs. Tarrant planned to make their home in Omaha, where Mr. Tarrant was engaged by a railroad company.

Says the reporter for the Winside department of the paper in 1913: "It rather sets the reporter back when he meets a comely young lady at the depot, and expects to get an item of interest before she takes the train, and asks her gently where she is going, to have her answer, 'It's none of your business,' or 'Just down the line,' but if she feels that way, who cares?"
Josiah Davis, an old resident of Wakefield, died at his home April 23, 1913, the cause of his death being paralysis. Funeral services were held the following Friday from his home.

Grandma Hayes of Winside died in Fort Steele, Canada, while on a visit with members of the Cullen family in the home of John Hayes at Fort Steele. She was 78 years old at the time of her death.

An expert had to be called from Sioux City to mend a leak in one of the boilers at the city plant.

OLIVER POWER

A One-Man Job Throughout—The Oliver Hart-Parr Row Crop

Of course, the first thing you notice about the Oliver Hart-Parr Row Crop Tractor is those tip-toe wheels. But look closer, and you'll see that the way the tractor is put together is just as new, just as revolutionary, as the wheels.

It's assembled in units. The engine is one unit. The steering mechanism is another. The rear axle and axle carrier is still another. In all there are 8 units and each one can be removed quickly and easily—a one-man job. And they're all combined into the sturdiest, most practical general purpose tractor ever built.

The Row Crop doesn't need adjustments often. But when an adjustment is needed, the job can be done quickly and easily by one man.

Come to our store and let us tell you about the revolutionary features of the new Row Crop.

Final rehearsals are now being held for the festival of nations to be presented April 27 to May 2 in Constitution hall, Washington, D. D., under the auspices of the Girl Scouts of the District of Columbia. The great hall has been transformed into a Greek atheneum for the occasion, which is set for the famed cherry blossom time at the Capitol. An enormous stage has been erected, with massive sets and elaborate lighting equipment, for the pageant which has been a four months in preparation. A cast of over three hundred performers and a chorus of one hundred and fifty voices will depict the life, character, music and arts of Japan, Czechoslovakia, Canada and Mexico. Representatives of these countries are taking active part in the pageant. The children's matinee on the last day of the week will be preceded by a scene displaying a girl scout court of awards. On this occasion the stage will have a background of the massed flags of all nations. It is probable that the matinee will strongly resemble a girl scout rally, due to the number of reservations made by girl scouts for blocks of seats. Attendance at the opening performance will be by invitation only, with members of the diplomatic corps as honored guests.

Chicago's first chat with New York opened the way for thousands of conversations daily... LESS than 40 years ago, in 1892, the first telephone line between Chicago and New York was opened for service. At that time there were about 300,000 telephones in the United States, one telephone for every 220 persons. Today cities, towns and rural communities all over the United States are linked together by telephone wires. There are more than 20,000,000 telephones—one for every six persons. In a year this Company* handles more than 30,000,000 long distance calls—more of them to New York and San Francisco... some of them to foreign country telephones, nearly 10,000,000 of which can be reached through the Bell System. Invention and use of the loading coil, the telephone repeater, carrier current systems, telephone cables and other instrumentalities have greatly increased the scope, quality and dependability of long distance telephone service and at the same time have made it possible to reduce rates over vast distances. Increasing demand for telephone contact between communities is recognized by this Company in building long distance lines and otherwise extending and improving telephone service. In an average year this Company spends about $4,500,000 in long distance construction, building to keep pace with service requirements and with the growth and development of telephone service in the states where it operates. Our Policy: The most telephone service and the best at the least cost to the public.

Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. The Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, which operates in the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, is an Associated Company of the Bell System. It owns and operates more than 650,000 telephones. Its lines, completed with more than 600,000 telephones in other countries in these five states and with nearly 30,000,000 others throughout the United States and in foreign countries. It employs more than 12,000 men and women.
