Fairbury News Congratulations to the Is Honored L. Buckles, editor, on receiving the award for the greatest community service among American newspapers during 1930, the same having been announced at the meeting of the National Editorial association in Atlanta, Ga., last week. The only other Nebraska newspaper mentioned in any of the several contests is the Wayne Herald which, after three winners, was included in a group of ten ranking highest in the Best Weekly Newspaper class. First place in this contest went to the Washington (New Jersey) Star.

Community service contests in the National Editorial association reveal more genuinely constuditive public service which buries self and self interests, than people are generally aware. The editor of the Enterprise at NcComb, Mississippi, who won the community service award a year ago, and who acted as chairman of the committee of judges this year, reviews his work in a recent editorial, and among other things makes this comment:

Freight EASTERN railroads are asking Reight East ERN railroads are asking for higher freight rates on account of diminishing tomage and ineffectual economies. Is that the way to increase busitess? Does one follow business shrinkage by increased charges? It would seem quite paradoxical for a railroad to be able to meet growing competition by lifting rates.

to be able to meet growing competition by lifting rates.

Transportation companies are important to the activities of the country and their rights should be protected. But they cannot expect to choke down business rivals by adding to the burden of shippers. It would seem that disappearing, and that as rates go higher and higher, revenues would become less and less until there would be fittle of either to quarrel over. Valuable as railroads are to the country, they will not find shippers partial to them if price advantage is served by using other means of transportation.

vantage is served by using other means tremsportation.

Other lines of business reduce the tax the supporting public to keep up volume, did the railroads, not so independent as ey used to be, will no doubt find they will ve to adopt a similar policy. Instead of king to increase rates, they should ask reduce rates, and thus to meet lowered tels of values the privilege should be omptly granted.

Sakeguards THE CITY COUNCIL is answering the need of the dilter of the Hartington Herald says that of all graduating class mottoes By Council tightening automobile regulations and is acting in behalf of public safety. More stop signs and removal of barriers to safe motoring are receiving attention. Students attending the State tention. Students attending the State Teachers College are to be safeguarded as far as possible. Groups going to and coming from school are subject to dangers that will be minimized. The council proposes to look out for accidents by rigid enforcement of automobile laws and ordinances.

Recent depredations in the Bressler park have been called to the attention of the council, and action will be taken. Acts of vandalism are believed due to youthful deviltry, but damaging property of the park is not considered a loke or an acceptt-direct sand ball games, will be free to everyable way to experience excitement. The Literary Digest points out that vicide has become a national habit, and hat according to best information, between 18,000 and 20,000 persons in the intendigent of their lives last year. It estimated that an additional 30,000 at empted suicide, but failed. California ties have the highest suicide rate, and his is charitably explained on the ground hat many people who go out there to reain health or fortune fail and then find ellief in self-destruction. So many dispropriated men and women have thrown nemselves to destruction from a bridge vert a gorge in Pasadena that authorities ontemplate stretching nets on each side if the bridge. No Nebraska section is endioned as having any considerable suide record. Usually people here have other tings to think about. The weather rompis a lot of maneuvering, and it has a effective way of making people dig for living. Where one doesn't have to defend specific against uncertain elements there mare temptation to brood.

The payment plan seems easy, and it is destrable if the thing bought serves a needly pumpose, but this same plan if carried to excess or if employed in buying luxuries, may become a devouring monster. If the tempting payment plan is made to serve the ends of show or mere whim leaving nothing from earnings for essentials how can one expect to miss the rocks? The payment plan is often a justifiable convenience, but it is doubtless just as often a milistone around the neek of its hapless victim. In casting about to find causes for cough sledding, one should not forget to fix a share of responsibility on the payment plan.

The state legislature met in special session Tuesday to agree on an appropriation bill to take care of state institutions during the next biennium. As nothing else will be before the body and concentration will be made convenient, an agreement ought to be reached without lelay, thus reducing the burden of unnecessary expense which all statesmen have in mind all the time. To make haste in passing an adequate measure it will of course be necessary for the governor to yield somewhat to reasonable compromise which he may or may not do.

The American Association for the Advancement of Atheism is said to teclosing ground, and we are glad of it. Why try to prove something from which people naturally shrink? Effort in that direction serves ally shrink? Effort in that direction serves no good purpose, can prove nothing and makes one feel worse instead of better. Let the light of inquiry and the powers of logic be employed to satisfy the yearnings of the masses everywhere who want to live again. Why engage in a search for obstruction? Turn searchlights in the way of hope.

One church in New York has made plans to look after the spiritual welfare of parishioners who play golf during usual hours of worship, by inaugurating an 8 clipck service. Golfers are allowed to attend this early worship in playing garbs, and then immediately go to the golf golf grounds. This service is expected to implant plous thoughts that will sustain due grape through any trial or misadventure on the golf links.

One helpful effect of the depression is reported in connection with the habits of college students. With less money to spend, they have become more serious and more attentive to duty, and as a consequence they have attained better grades. The many who regarded college experience as one of play and luxury, are getting down to dusiness and are going after the training for a purpose. ing for a purpose.

JUNE

JUNE.

What is lacking in the month of June to give buoyancy and insure freedom from despondency? With richest verdure and freshest flowers, with elements usually neither too warm nor the cold, with all nature smilling and resplendent, what makes one more given to depressed spirits in June than during other less delightful months? It is said June holds the high record for suicides. In a charming season, with no extremes of weather to resist, why should one give up in despair? Is it a period of relaxation that invites brooding as it banishes intensity? As powers of resistance and driving energy are relieved, do we turn to multiplying fears and magnifying ills? Coddled by the weather and by the beauties of landscape, we imagine the many weather and by the heauties of landscape, we imagine the many things that might happen, and we suffer about as much as though they did happen. Incentives to effort and the proddings of rougher elements arouse resistance and take thought away from blue deviis and terrifying forebodings. If letting down resistance and imagining ills offer no explanation, what is the matter with June?

TEN NEW FEATURES A. Improved Treed Stock

Improved compounding formulas have sociated in a tougher, wear-conting Jubber stock, that adds even more miles of selvice to G&J Stallwart tires.

want tires.

Wider Tread

The tread in actually wider, providing greater road contact—more stufface to mithistand wear—better traction—batter backen. C. Larger Tread Design

Each piece of rabber and the three running strips in the tread design; have been made broader—previding still many load carrying surface.

The New Sup-Freud

An entirely new fastive, tible diminates to a minimum, cupping and unever tread were.
Ask your Griphly man about this new feature.

Buttressed Side-Wall

The sturdy, heavy buttresses on the side-wall, give greater, tread support greater thickness to better resist sidewall wear in rutty roads and curbstone bruising.

Multiple Cable Boad

G. Perfect Rim Fit

G. Perfect Rim Fit.
Note the swell of the sidewall down near the bead. Gal's lare kinetifically shaped in this manner to give better rim fit; eliminating slipping on the fin and chains of the bead.

H. More Cushion Rubber Between Plies
This means greate resistance to puncture and sidewall brusins. Cords are sat in more rubber, to still further eliminate internal striction.

Extra Heavy Cord Breaker Strip This open weave fabric is between the cords and tread. It prevents tread separation and distributes road shock—resisting britises to cords.

Deeper Tread

Deeper Tread

Notice the depth to this new tread. It is much thicker—tougher and nugged—phoviding non-skid for a greater number of miles.
