WYNOT'S PIONEER DAYS BRING BACK TRAGIC MEMORIES

ANNUAL observance of pioneer day on the Wiseman memorial grounds near Wynot recalls memory of the murder of the four Wiseman children by Sioux Indians July 24, 1849. The memorial occupied the ground where the massacre took place. Wiseman was a scout in the United States army and his wife and children lived five miles east of the present site of Wynot. Mrs. Wiseman had gone to Yankton to secure supplies and she left her children at home. The Civil War was in progress, and the Indians often took advantage of the period of unusual stress to vent vengeance on the whites, and thus encroaching on what the aboriginal tribes believed were their exclusive rights. In the absence of Mrs. Wiseman, red savages appeared at the Wiseman home and killed the children. When Mr. Wiseman learned of the unhappy fate of his family, he swore revenge, and the number of Indians who paid with their lives to satisfy the old frontiersman's spirit of retaliation, will never be known.

Twins Honored On Anniversary

Second Annual Reunion Is Held Here on Saturday For Two in Family.

Go To Iowa Next Two Other Sets of Twins Are in Family of Mrs. Mary Coleman, One of Honorees.

Second annual observance of the birthday of twins, Mrs. Mary Coleman of Carson, Iowa, and Joe Wilson of Lincoln, was held at Bressler park Saturday when 48 relatives gathered for a reunion of the two youngsters. Mrs. Coleman is celebrating 75 years old that day, and five of their children and a few other relatives were present for dinner and supper Saturday. The group had dinner together again Sunday.

Mrs. Coleman and Mr. Wilson belong to a family of 14, 11 of whom are living. Eldest in the family is Mrs. Minerva Price of Mitchell, S. D., who is 82. Four of the family were here for the occasion, Mrs. I. E. Ellis of Wayne, and Mrs. Mart Larson of Council Bluffs, being present besides the twins. One brother, Albert Wilson, was killed in a well dump accident 35 years ago. Another brother, Casper Wilson, died a year ago at Spencer, S. D. A sister, Mrs. Julia Fogel, died at Woodbine, Iowa, a month ago.

Mrs. Clyde Wilson, residing at Fern Davison of Yankton, acted as toastmaster and most of the relatives gave short talks of appreciation. The group took in singing birthday songs. Hobbe Coleman extended the invitation to meet next year at his home in Morehead, Iowa, and plans for the reunion there were started.

Mrs. Mary Coleman's family was represented at the reunion by Bob Coleman and wife and daughter of Morehead, and Lottie Davison and family of Yankton. Her children who could not be present are Ella Cleveland of Montana, Tim Cole of Iowa, and plans for the reunion there were started.

PAPER NEXT WEEK TO BE DEDICATED TO CELEBRATION

Next week's Herald will feature early day recollections incident to the Golden Jubilee, and it will contain, some interesting contributions from former Wayne county people who were among the early settlers here. These communications reflect the spirit of pioneer days, and with all the hardships endured, they express happy memories. Hard winters and hot summers are pointed out, but all from abodes at distant points, recall more joys than sorrows, and all are in accord in extolling Wayne county, as especially favored—highest in citizenship. Next week's Herald will not be the normal, but it will be larger than usual and of extraordinary interest. The occasion being also the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Herald, space will be devoted to a story and pictures showing the development of the newspaper business in Wayne county. Advertising and other copy for the edition should be sent in early.

Order will be kept by special police, and fireworks are prohibited by ordinance, making the celebration safer and more comfortable for the public.

Music will be furnished by the Wayne Municipal band, under the direction of Prof. F. C. Reed.

In order to let northeast Nebraska know about the celebration, radio advertising has been purchased over radio station WJAG, Norfolk, and will be heard June 16-18-20-22-24 and 26. Twice a day broadcasts will be heard June 27-29 and 30, making a total of 12 broadcasts.

Bills and posters were distributed by local business men this week, the committee sending two men and two boy scouts in each car carrying bills to the outlying territory.

Apprehend Six Sunday Evening

Car and Liquor Are Seized By Officers of County At Hoskins Hall.

Receive Sentences

Car Is Declared Nuisance and Owner Appeals the Case to District Court.

Six cases in Wayne county court this week grew out of the seizure Sunday evening at Hoskins of a car and a quantity of liquor by Sheriff A. W. Stobber and Marshal W. A. Stewart. Four young men, Ben Schroeder, owner of the sedan, Elvin Strudloff, Nial Alfson and another young man, drove from Wisner through Wayne county to Hoskins. Each had a drink of liquor, court evidence confirms and a quantity was left in the machine. A couple miles out of Hoskins two of the group saw a strange looking object at the side of the road. They borrowed the Schroeder machine to go back from Hoskins to see what this was. They found a quantity of liquor and took it to a pavilion at Hoskins. Several surrounded the car after its return to the pavilion and in the midst of the revelry the officers appeared, and each seized one. Frank Hohmski, special constable at the pavilion, was charged with attempting to prevent the officers in their arrest of the law violators.

Ben Schroeder, charged with transportation of liquor and with having a car used for transportation, was found guilty in county court June 15 and was fined $100 and assessed costs of $30.50. His car was declared a nuisance and is held by the court. Schroeder appealed to the district court and furnished a $200 bond for his appearance.

Ervin Strudloff and Nial Alfson each pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication. Each was assessed a fine of $10 and costs of $8.75, which were paid.

Fred Mehrens and Peter Mehrens, brothers who are employed on farms north of Stanton, were among those partaking of the liquor. Each pleaded guilty in county court Monday to intoxication and each was given a fine of $10 and costs of $13.75. The two were paroled and allowed two weeks to earn and pay the sum into court.

Frank Hohmski, charged with intoxication and with resisting an officer, pleaded guilty to both counts in court Tuesday morning. He was assessed a fine of $10 on the first and $15 on the second count and costs of $23.65. The amounts were not paid and he is laying them out.

UNITED FORWARD FULL NECESSARY FOR DEVELOPMENT

The same steam spitefully employed in tearing down a neighbor would work to good advantage along constructive lines. Mental energy used to discredit or destroy another is worse than wasted. Most people have an upgrade pull, and they cannot make worthwhile progress if they are hampered by having to climb over unnecessary obstructions or to dodge missiles of envy. Every improvement or advanced step taken by an individual or a group in a community helps everybody in the community—helps property values, attracts more people, stimulates business and defies threats of erosion. Community building depends in large part on a manifest spirit of mutual interest and mutual effort. Readjustment to new requirements calls for unflinching, steady judgment and courageous temper. In changing to a different order of things one must be resourceful and alert. He should not lie down and kick, but rise to emergencies and take a firmer hold. Many communities are slipping. The one that goes ahead must look above trivial grounds for complaint and make a united pull for improvement and progress, accepting with good grace the advantage one gets even if it is not all he wants or expects.

Speaker Tells Of Depression

Living Within Means Is Mentioned As Finest Cure For Business.

Business Changing

J. H. Kemp Discusses Conditions in California as Observed on Visit to Coast.

How to keep from growing old was the address subject on which J. H. Kemp spoke at Kiwanis club luncheon meeting at Hotel Statton last Monday. Mr. Kemp, in dealing with the assigned subject, explained that the matter of growing old may be interpreted in two ways. One may grow in the sense of having lived a youth which leaves no energy for old age, or one may live to an old age which shows signs of youth because the individual is alive and enthusiastic. No matter how old one becomes, the speaker emphasized, the business of being useful will give youth to one's years. Useful activity may be for personal gain, in business or other endeavor, or it may take the form of a direct contribution to public welfare, as is the person who makes an effort to be useful who remains young. Mr. Kemp insisted, no matter what his years.

Impressions of West. Impressions of life in California were also given by the speaker, as Kiwanians were anxious to learn what Mr. Kemp thought of California from his recent trip there. He prefaced his remarks with the explanation that he had met a physician, a Rotarian from Quincy, Ill., who had "dared" him to take back to Wayne Kiwanis club his own real impressions of business and general conditions on the coast. "The doctor," said Mr. Kemp, explained, "that the public has been 'kidded' so long that it can no longer face the facts."

Mr. Kemp came to appreciate this point of view as he discussed various situations with business and professional persons from all parts of the country.

"We have been told," he said, "that the depression is a mental condition, and not a real one. In being so optimistic, we are only digging deeper the hole in which we find ourselves. We must do something to change conditions, and we are not going to do it if we do not realize what those conditions are."

To Cure Depression. In facing the facts of the present depression, the speaker said, it is the public's duty to accept what is necessary, and to gainfully many luxuries and extravagances. If the general public could come to an understanding of these fundamental, Mr. Kemp believes the whole situation would solve itself, for people would be living within their means, which they have not done for many years.

Getting back to a pre-war scale of living is the method recommended by some, the speaker pointed out, but the important thing is to escape the artificial stimulation of prosperity, and to establish a prosperity that will result in permanent good.

Certain experts believe, on the other hand, that the general producing public must content itself with smaller net profits, at least for a time. Coupled with the theory of "living within the means provided," should mean the foundation of a new, and more solid prosperity for the country.

Modern Differences. The depressed condition of modern business has come about slowly. Recovery also will be gradual, thinks Mr. Kemp. Conditions of the past, as, however, the better or worse than in this community, and a healthy mental attitude (Continued on Page Five)

Touching the superlative charms of June, and the incongruity of low spirits during the month, as suggested by the Herald last week, Dr. A. L. Bixby, Lincoln Journal, makes this clarifying observation: "Easy to understand, brother, if you are a psychologist. The month of June in this latitude is almost too good to be true, as your own words indicate. It is typical of the land we read about, where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. Not much of a change from here to there if the journey is made in June. It is dread of the vicissitudes of other months, and not despondency that invites the weary worn to go while the going is good. San Diego, Calif., is said to have so mild and equable a climate that all the rough stuff is lacking. It is only two jumps from paradise which prompts a number of inhabitants each year to make the grade out of sheer curiosity."

We have heard of two boys whose parents have a struggle to make ends meet, but who motored to Sioux City Sunday, took in four shows, and otherwise enjoyed themselves until late at night. These two boys are typical of many who race around the country, putting all the money they can scrape together into amusements, with no disposition to work, and with indifference to the future. Such careless disregard of time and expense, of opportunity

Memorial Service Held For Deceased

Modern Woodmen of America held memorial services for deceased member Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church. During the organ prelude the foresters marched into the church with the American flag and Woodman banner. Rev. Mr. Spaulding of Lincoln gave the address in three parts, the first devoted to honoring the flag, which was 154 years old June 14, 1831, older than the flag of any country. The second part he devoted to fraternalism of the Woodman and the third to a memorial sermon. After the service the group went to Greenwood cemetery where rites were held over the grave of the late Rev. C. J. Ribber.

The mystery grows how, in Egypt's prehistoric times, Cleopatra contrived to remain so lithe and kissable.—Virginia Pilot.

ity and duty is one big obstacle in the way of reestablishing society on a sound basis. Luxury should come in proper proportion, but it should not be the sole aim in life. Play spells should not engross attention needed for productive endeavor, nor should they be allowed to encroach on practical needs or absorb funds required for future safety.

It was the most thrilling moment of my life," so exclaimed a 25-year-old evangelist when recently he saw the light of day for the first time in his life. He was born blind, and an operation gave him sight after a quarter of a century of darkness. The world looked brighter and altogether better than his brighter had pictured it. We do not appreciate the beauties of the world because we have become accustomed to them, and they have become commonplace. We see flaws and find fault and think we could improve the looks of things if we had been given a chance. Removal of any one of the senses is a good way to sharpen appreciation and to give one an understanding of what it means to one's advantage and enjoyment.

Referring to the depression, the editor of the Fairbury News quotes southerners whom he had visited, as saying they had not been hit so hard as some other sections, and then the editor of the News expresses curiosity as to the identity of the other sections. Outside of California we know of no part of the country that admits that it has been hardest hit. And if each section feels in better shape than any other, the symptoms would seem favorable for early and general recovery. As to California, it has usually been able to take care of itself in the way of inspiring confidence, and it will doubtless get around to it with old-time vigor before long.

The World-Herald says motorists are gradually learning that they cannot knock a railway train off the track as evidenced by the fact that fewer of them have been trying to do it. So, the mortality at railway crossings has shown considerable decrease. Now if motorists will quit banging into bridges on the assumption that they have been placed out of line and need moving, and quit doing other reckless things in their motoring experience, the horrors of automobile accidents may be reduced greatly and a lot of useful lives saved.

Drouth has already laid a heavy hand on the states of the northwest, and it is reported that failure of the wheat crop will follow unless moisture comes soon. Large wheat areas in North Dakota and Montana are severest sufferers. Iowa has plenty of moisture with the exception of the northwest corner where a deficiency exists. Nebraska has had plenty of rain up to this time. In Wayne county the soil is reported in good condition, and an occasional shower will insure a normal stand.

By using its citizens to whom the country really belongs, like a lot of marionettes, forcing obedience to tyranny of communism, the Russian government may fill its treasury, but it kills freedom of conscience and destroys the road to independent acquisition and individual content. Russia may develop everything but soul, but who wants to live in a country without a soul? And we doubt if a government reared on a foundation of cold materialism can long survive.

The state legislature is still in extraordinary session trying to agree on an appropriation bill. The disposition to compromise will doubtless develop as the weather warms and the Fourth approaches. We hope the boys will finish in time to put on clean collars and come to Wayne's Golden Jubilee.

The federal farm board's plan to sell abroad its surplus of wheat with least possible disturbance to world markets will relieve hunger in foreign lands and at the same time will create a healthier American market.

Advertising will help restore the nation's buying power, so says Gilbert T. Hodges, president of the Advertising Federation of America, and he urges that it be put back on a full-time working basis.

HOOVER SPEAKS. Before the Indiana Republican Educational association, President Hoover made a speech that seems very responsible. He predicted that the depression and the depression of it, the country would come stronger and better than ever. He pointed out that the depression is not confined to the United States, but that it is worldwide and an inheritance from the war followed by wild speculation and extravagant business methods. He mentioned the tariff as containing some "inequities" and "inequalities," but expressed confidence in the tariff commission to rectify them, adding that "nothing would more prolong the depression than a session of Congress devoted to tariff revision. The president does not pretend to know when the depression will end, but whether the worst is over or not, he urges steadfast adherence to high American principles and utmost confidence in the future. Our transcendent momentary need," he said, "is a much larger degree of confidence among our business agencies and that they shall extend this confidence in more than words. If our people will go forth with the confidence and enterprise which our country justifies, many of the misdeeds of this depression will fade away."

Maybe the Hawley-Smoot law is not perfect, but the Tariff Commission is always ready to correct mistakes and relieve distress. It has reduced the duty on Salvation Army bonnets.—The New Yorker.

Possibly in order to get away from the defeatist psychology, and in view of the large national treasury deficit, it would be just as well to sing it: "Three cheers for the white and blue only."—Boston Herald.

BANEFUL FEEL

If you tell a fellow often enough that he is sick you will make him sick even if he had felt in passably good health. So with the times. Depression has been talked until people have become beset by fears, aggravating and intensifying the very thing often suggested. This depression is unique and more nearly mental than any of its predecessors. There is plenty of money and there is an abundance of all kinds of products. The collapse of Wall Street speculations more than a year ago put the brakes on industry and spread the miasma of fear. Unemployment followed reduced demand, and in turn reduced consumption followed. As everything slowed up, machines stood out more conspicuously as competitors. Prices dropped to lower levels, and people who were trading along extravagantly, have experienced some difficulty in adjusting habits to curtailed incomes. The employment problem which is accentuated by the depression, is up for solution, and reduction of hours or days of work to absorb idlers who are willing to work, is stressed as a practical course for relief. Action in that direction will depend on conditions of supply and demand that follow banishment of fear, revival of the spirit of improvement and reinstatement of normal buying.

A "Farm Laboratory" Sioux City Journal: Henry Ford, eager to contribute something to solution of the American farm problem, is conducting an interesting experiment in Michigan. He has set up what he calls a "farm laboratory" on some 3,000 acres of land recently purchased and equipped at a considerable cost. He paid from $90 to $150 an acre for the land, and, in addition, farm machinery and improvements amounting to hundreds of dollars. Mr. Ford is paying $5 a day for eight hours' work. At present more than 100 men are at work on the experimental farm, but not all of them are common laborers. Mr. Ford has employed chemists, engineers and other technicians in the hope and belief that scientific knowledge will be of great assistance in solving some of the farm problems of production, utilization and marketing.

Naturally, Mr. Ford's idea is to adopt and adapt if possible industrial methods on the farm. His plan is to operate his farm laboratory just as he would run an industrial plant. There will be on his farm the best and most modern equipment money can buy. All line equipment have been taken down in order that tractors and other mobile farm machinery may have a clear sweep of the terrain. Flocks of tractors plowed the land, seeding machines following closely and laborers being transported to their work in trucks. A mill, a blacksmith shop and a school desk being built on the estate.

It has been Mr. Ford's idea for a long time as a result of experimental work done on his farm at Dearborn that more agricultural products could be used. His chemists have shown that the hulls of wheat, for example, may be used as fuel for boilers with the ashes going right back to the land as fertilizer. His chemists and engineers are instructed to explore the possibilities of utilizing various other products now commonly regarded as wastes.

How an industrialized farm will work out no one knows, not even Mr. Ford. But it is a foregone conclusion that this industrial leader will find out about it. He desires to demonstrate the necessity of correlating industry and agriculture. He desires also to open new doors of progress to agriculture. Critics are of the opinion that this new venture may lead to changes in farming as revolutionary as those wrought in industry years ago by the industrialist. Time will tell, of course. On the whole the Ford experiment invites interest at a time when practical ideas, however new and strange, will be welcomed by thousands of forward-looking farmers.

Cheer Up: It Ain't So! Omaha World-Herald: "Forty Million Farmers Bankrupt!" sneers the Farmer-Labor Leader, published at St. Paul, Minn. "Those who remain on the farm have been engaged in a hand-to-mouth existence," means the Farmer-Labor Leader, its Inchymore grand working overtime.

Cheer up, it ain't so. In the first place there are not 40 million farmers in this glorious republic. In the second place, the proportion of farmers suffering bankruptcy is not as great as that of men engaged in various other occupations. In the third place there has been far less hunger and suffering among farmers than among men engaged in industrial pursuits. Of course agriculture has suffered, and perhaps far more than its share. But so has industry. Wage earners probably would have suffered more than they have had it not been for thorough organization. Certainly labor would have suffered far more than it has had it depended solely upon legislation. Good commissions appointed by the president, upon political platform promises. And as bad as agricultural conditions are and everywhere know they are bad—they are not nearly as bad as a lot of self-

Commercial Drivers Are Careful. Omaha Journal—Stockman: Another of the public pet fatalities goes a-glimmering with the report from the National Safety Council that increases in the death rate from motor accidents in the past three years have been due entirely to recklessly driven private passenger cars. Fatal accidents for which private autos were responsible have increased 27 per cent during the period while truck, bus and taxicab accidents there has been an average decrease of 19.3 per cent. Taxi drivers have the best showing with a 25 per cent cut but in spite of their gains in size, number and speeds, trucks have caused 14 per cent fewer accidents since 1927 than prior to that time.

These figures are arrived at through an impartial study of national statistics. They present a serious indictment of the carelessness of the average motorist and argue strongly in favor of higher drivers' license standards and stricter enforcement of the penalties already provided for reckless driving. No incompetent chauffeur can long hold a job behind the wheel of a commercial vehicle. Neither can the man who drinks excessively while on duty. But anyone can crawl behind the wheel of a pleasure car and roar down the road spreading death and destruction.

socking politicians would have us believe, and have actually made too many farmers believe. When the Farmer-Labor Leader declared that "forty million farmers are bankrupt," it knows it is vociferating through its headgear. It knows it is talking more for votes than for relief for agriculture. And if it does not know that stuff of that sort is delaying the restoration of agriculture to its rightful place, it certainly is not mentally capable of genuine leadership. "Forty million farmers bankrupt!" Buzzer.

Aren't They a Bit Foolish? Omaha World-Herald: Every now and then the railroad executives of the nation seem to be making good headway in their efforts to create good will among their patrons, and we are all patrons of the railroads. Then, all of a sudden those same executives get together and mutiny about all they have gained. Just as the people were becoming aroused to some of the injustices heaped upon the railroads in the form of unrestricted and unregulated competition, the railroad executives get together and after due but deliberate deliberation, announce that they are going to ask the interstate commerce commission for a flat increase of 15 per cent in all freight rates and charges. If ever there was a time when no attempt should be made to increase freight rates, that time is right now. If ever the cool-headed of railroad logic plunged into the caudal sea at the rear end of the same train, certainly it is when the railroad executives demand that the interstate commerce commission and in the same breath ask for a 15 per cent hike in freight rates.

What the railroads really need is more tonnage at present rates, not less tonnage at a rate of 15 per cent higher. The logic method of securing increased tonnage is to render better service at a less cost, not a lessened service at the railroads are facing a trying situation, but they are not alone. In every other line of activity, from publishing to pushing a wheelbarrow, from tilling the soil to tilling crucibles in steel mills, from banks to bakeries.

Isn't the railroad executives a bit foolish to be asking the people for relief from unrestricted competition, and at the same time demanding of the interstate commerce commission a 15 per cent increase in freight rates?

until the police or a fatal accident stop him. Such a condition can not endure forever and the findings of the National Safety council should serve as a warning to motorists who want to stay on the roads to raise their safety standards more nearly in line with those of the oft-maligned pilots of commercial vehicles.

A part of one of the citations read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 494), is as follows: "Divine love always has met and always will meet every human need. Dean Hahn Speaks

Dean H. H. Hahn addressed the Wayne P. A. R. chapter Saturday when Mrs. Mae Young, Mrs. Clyde Oman and Mrs. Ralph Prince entertained at the home of the first named. Forefathers established free schools, Dean Hahn stated, to make better citizens and to help communities. Many have the false idea that they did this so their children might have an education and thus not have to work so hard. Good citizenship and good conduct go together. It is difficult to know which is the outcome of the other. Schools and homes must meet the need of the times, by training for right citizenship. With increase of machines and consequent additional leisure time young folks must be taught to use their leisure time to advantage or they will drift into crime. If they have a liking for music, reading or other worthwhile diversions they will be useful citizens and they will be wrong.

Mrs. Edna Davis, accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Welch, sang a solo. Mrs. J. Q. Owen spoke briefly on "Our Objects." Mrs. H. S. Scape, regent, named the following: Program committee, Mrs. Gertrude Morris, Mrs. Elva Brockway and Miss Olive Huse; chaplain, Mrs. J. C. Mines; flower committee, Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mrs. C. E. Carhart; national defense, Miss Anna McNair and correct use of the flag, Mrs. J. Q. Owen.

Early Reporter Tells of Fourth

Sabbath School Picnic Held Place as Entertainment On National Holiday.

Fourth of July celebrations near red fire, picnics, parades, and ball games played in the hot sun. In 1878, according to the Northern Nebraska Journal, published by William Huse, Fourth of July meant something else. A Spring Bank correspondent wrote the account of the celebration in tune with the times.

"We celebrated a glorious Fourth by attending a Sabbath school picnic held in Martin's grove, six miles east of here in Dakota county. Several schools met there and had a good time to suit everyone. The programme was as follows: Call to order by the officer of the day, prayer by Rev. Sales, singing by assembly, reading of Declaration of Independence by Mrs. Marandis, and Mrs. Burgess, singing by schools, oration, 'Why We Celebrate,' by the Rev. Mr. Sales."

"The speaker," says the correspondent, "showed himself to be well posted in the history of our country."

Enjoy Real Picnic.

"We were then gathered around a long table, children on one side, adults on the other. I cannot tell you all there was on this table, but if you could have seen the bounty displayed you would never have dreamed that you were on what a few years ago was termed 'The Great Sand Desert of Nebraska.'"

"After trying for a time to dispose of the food provided, and not succeeding, we were called to order again. Singing followed, then an oration by the Rev. Mr. Berger. As I don't believe in flattery," says the very candid reporter of the day, "I will simply say that his speech was good."

"After more singing, toasts were offered and responded by Burgess, Carow and others. We then went home feeling that we had celebrated another glorious Fourth appropriately."

"The 1878 version of a Fourth of July celebration seems to be a typical picture out of the past. There must be many among the pioneers who can remember loading the family and the lunch baskets into the lumber wagon and setting out over the sunny prairie to a picnic destination on such a holiday."

Stabilization Benefits.
Lincoln Journal. Market records give conclusive proof of the protection afforded by the operations of the stabilization program of the federal farm board. This began last November at a time when the world prices were slipping and Chicago quotations indicated that market was about to follow suit. The immediate emergency arose from the presence of fifty million bushels that would have been forced out to the market if prices had gone down another two cents. The result of such a heavy liquidation would have been a major disaster to the wheat country as it would not only have affected the farmers who were holding wheat for sale but would have involved banks that had loaned money on the strength of those holdings.

The board began by pegging Chicago prices at 81 cents and those at Kansas City at 73 cents. By holding them at those levels until the new crop made its appearance, the board enabled the farmers to get from 20 to 40 cents a bushel more than the world price. On the basis of an 800 million bushel crop the savings was enormous, and it went to the growers.

Quotations from the record show that during the winter, midwestern farmers were getting 48 to 60 cents a bushel at their local elevators at a time when Canadian farmers, for a better grade of wheat, were receiving but 37 cents, the Australian grower 35 cents and the Argentine farmer 23 cents. Canada is the principal competitor of the western grower and to the difference of 21 to 23 cents noted must be added the 13 to 25 cents differential that has existed in the Winnipeg market to the advantage of the Canadian grower.

This procedure on the part of the farm board has been vigorously attacked as the equivalent of a government subsidy, since the board kept piling up holdings until when it quit these reached 200 million bushels. Whatever the opinion of anyone may be upon that matter, the fact remains that stabilization was undertaken only as an emergency measure that saved the growers millions of dollars at a time when a great disaster to the west impended, and that the board would have been unable to carry on any stabilization or prices had it not been for the tariff walls that kept back the flood of wheat that would otherwise have descended upon our shores.

Chloe Baldrige Addresses Class

Eighty-eight Students of Wayne County Finish in Eighth Grade.

Miss Chloe C. Baldrige of Lincoln, director of rural education in Nebraska, addressed the class of 88 promoted from Wayne county rural schools and a large number of relatives and friends Friday afternoon at the Methodist church. "Success" was the subject of Miss Baldrige's talk. She said success could be attained by a certain plan as outlined by beginning with letter of 'the word as follows: S, seeing and doing; U, united effort; C, courtesy; C, cooperation; E, education; S, self control; and S, service. She encouraged the young folks to continue their training in education.

Miss Pearl E. Sewell presided and presented diplomas to members of the class.

Franklin Philco played the march as the class took places in the church. The rural choir of about 25 sang together under direction of Prof. H. H. Hanscom, Franklin Philco at the piano. The students had not sung together before but had learned the same songs. Students of district 68, in which there have been no girls in the past year, sang 'Frank and Henry Noelle, Francis and Ivan Smith, Dean Bruggeman, Warden Lyons and Henry Arp are in the group and Miss Helen Mohr is the teacher. Elmer Anderson and Raymond Kline of district 55, wearing Holland costumes and wooden shoes sang 'Happy Hans and Hilda.' Rev. W. C. Heidenreich gave the invocation.

The class had pictures taken together after the exercises.

Salvation Army Drive Arranged

Envoy Charles Dykstra of Salvation Army state headquarters in Omaha was in Wayne this week laying plans for the yearly campaign. Four American Legion men, J. M. Erisben, P. R. Mines, C. A. Orr and Dr. W. M. Hawkins, were appointed to assist in putting this over.

The Salvation army is one of the most beautiful flowers of American spirit and democracy, caring for both body and soul. It represents people in their unselfish and warm-hearted character. Supported wholly by voluntary gifts, it is managed by the voluntary service of its own trained people. It is a national institution built on the loftiest spiritual quality, charity.

In the sixty years of the Salvation Army's existence human suffering has been relieved, and men and women have been led nearer to God.

HURRY! Only 13 More Days Until the Golden Jubilee and Homecoming --- July 2-3-4

Files Motion for Rehearing of Case Lincoln, Neb.—A rehearing on her appeal from the finding of the Dixon county district court that she was guilty of extreme cruelty is asked by Mrs. Eva Goodwin. She says the evidence shows there was no corroborating of her husband's charges of cruelty, while in fact he knocked her down, though he claimed he only pushed her. The court erred in finding that she received $1,500 alimony, she says, when in fact all she received was $1,000. This, she says, was not enough to compensate for the loss she sustained when she retired from the store she was operating when she married Goodwin. She was a widow when she married him, and her daughter ran a beauty parlor in the home, which was one of Goodwin's grievances. FOOT IS INJURED BY CAKE OF ICE R. J. Early Days in Wayne County

(Taken from the Herald files for June 18, 1913.) At the meeting of the state normal board held in Lincoln this week a program was started which practically assures the new administration building for the Wayne Normal during this biennium. A resolution passed the board setting aside $75,000 for the wing to the Chadron building and a dormitory at that place. The need of a building at Wayne was discussed at some length, but no formal action was taken. Commercial club officers elected were: L. A. Kiplinger, president; H. Bluechel, vice president; Fred Blair, secretary; H. B. Jones, treasurer. The executive committee planned to have public meetings for a free and general discussion of proposed enterprises and improvements during the year. About Driving Cars. City Marshal George Miner proposed to enforce the law regulating the driving of automobiles within the limits of Wayne. He said a driver should not be in such a rush to get anywhere that he would disregard the speed limit, thus endangering the lives of the people. He remarked that autoists should start earlier and travel more slowly. Otherwise arrests would be made, he threatened. Fred Volpp, once of Wayne, but in 1913 engaged in the banking business at Scribner, announced his intention of entering the primaries as candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. Mr. Volpp, who had a meat market in Wayne for some time, had also served two terms as county treasurer. A new boiler was purchased for the Wayne power plant. Another boiler was repaired, making the plant up-to-date. Mr. LeRoy Ley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ley was married June 17, 1913, to Miss Mattie Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Lane. The marriage was at Ponca and the couple went to the lakes for a honeymoon, after which they planned to be at home in Wayne August 1. Mr. Ley was employed in the Wayne State bank. Balloon Man Makes Purchase. W. C. Martin sold his pool hall in the same land. Mr. Johnson is the father of former county commissioner Iver S. Johnson and father-in-law of Col. T. O. Ringer of Norfolk. John Cherpinsky and Hed Peterson, both of Sioux City, Ia., were sentenced at Madison to serve 23 years each in prison for a Norfolk theatre robbery. They were convicted by a district court jury last Tuesday of robbery of the Granada theatre at Norfolk last March 16. The manager and janitor of the theatre were bound by the robbers who then escaped with about $1,200. Cherpinsky and Peterson were arrested in Iowa and returned here for trial. As soon as funds are assured, construction at Plattsmouth of the memorial home for aged Nebraska Masons and their dependents will be started, according to plans approved Thursday afternoon at the final session of the Masonic grand lodge of Nebraska, Orville A. Andrews, Lincoln, state grand master, announced. The building will be a memorial to the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Nebraska grand lodge. Mr. Andrews said. The memorial fund is to be raised through volunteer donations by Masons of Nebraska. A team of miles belonging to C. W. Kovalin, a farmer living three miles east of Osmond, was killed instantly by a bolt of lightning. The son, Charles, 22 years of age, was engaged in hitching two spans of mules to a cultivator when with no warning there came a terrific clap of thunder and two of the mules lay dead. Collide on Detour. Occurring on the highway detour between Wisner and Beemer last Wednesday morning was a serious automobile collision. Paul Miller, Scottsbluff attorney, suffered minor injuries, but his mother was severely injured and had to be taken to Omaha in an ambulance. Mr. and Mrs. Pagels, who were in the other car, were on their way to Beemer where Mr. Pagels' parents live. Mr. Pagels is an instructor in the Hastings schools. The Millers were traveling from Omaha to Gordon when the accident happened. Al Smith can afford to smile. His great building is finished and Mr. Hoyer is still working on his fences.—Muskegoe Phoenix.

one of the impressive public events of the year. Hartington has organized a band and orchestra under direction of Prof. E. T. Sly. A juvenile band may be formed. Henry Plohn, oldest citizen in Randolph, celebrated the ninety third anniversary of his birthday Saturday, June 6. All of his children were at home for the occasion. Miss Agnes Mary Hunke was married June 10 to Mr. Herman Henry Suhr in St. Mary's church in West Point. Mr. Suhr formerly attended Wayne State Teachers College. Miss Sophie Goehler became the bride June 9 of Mr. Harry Meyers, the ceremony being performed at the Lutheran church south of Pilger. The Rev. W. E. Harms read the lines. A large barn on the Albert Roenfeldt farm south of Pender was destroyed by fire started by lightning. Two years ago a tornado did considerable damage at the Roenfeldt farm. Carl A. Sivers, Newman Grove, died at a Norfolk hospital Friday evening. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Zion Lutheran church. Joseph Kratochvil, drowned Tuesday, June 9 in the North fork of the Elkhorn river when his car leaped from the bridge and overturned in the river. He was 32 years old at the time of his death. Harold Olson of Crofton, who was injured last week in a storm, has a broken pelvis. Splintered ribs have also punctured his lungs. Mr. Olson was hurt when a farm building was wrecked and a door fell on to him. West Point is planning an elaborate celebration for the Fourth of July. A big league baseball game will be played between Scribner and Snyder, and Rev. E. L. Baker of Fremont will deliver the oration of the day. Bloomfield Nebraska State Bank closed its doors Monday morning. According to the Monitor: "No action will be taken on the part of the officers of the bank to reorganize and in all probability the bank's assets will be liquidated at the earliest possible moment." With inquiries about the organization of a rural band coming in from many places, Minnie M. McKinsey, Stanton county superintendent, and James Johnson, well-known band director of Stanton, are confident such a music group can be formed in the near future. Mrs. Stella West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. West of Laurel, plans to leave from New York June 6 for a two months' tour of Europe and Africa. Miss West is at present employed by a law corporation in Cleveland, where she had been located for the past eight years. Oakdale, Neb., June 12.—While Mr. and Mrs. Keith Toplin were at the lake three miles northwest of town, known as the "Upper Cut-off," on the George Gee farm, they saw a deer about the size of a Suetland pony. Lawrence Adams living a mile north of town also reported having seen the animal. Sven Johnson of Stanton is the county's oldest taxpayer, according to reports. He was a native of Norway, came to Union Creek precinct, Stanton county, in 1868, and lived continuously since, for 63 years, on propose to donate towards building a $5,000 court house in this place, provided the county would pay the other $1,500 of the cost. The Episcopal ring service was used, the Rev. H. H. Bowen of Dayton Beach, Florida, a cousin of the bride, performing the ceremony. The couple planned to live at Galva, Ill., where Mr. Froyd was engaged in an engineering project. ## Club Birthday Is Noted By Women

Mrs. L. S. Needham Has Big Affair for Thirty Year Occasion of Group

Sailor hats, old fashioned floor-sweeping skirts, and exaggerated coiffures were the order of the day at the thirtieth anniversary breakfast for the Winside Woman's club. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Needham of Norfolk, an honorary member at 10:30 last Wednesday morning. Guests were asked to wear the costumes of thirty years ago when the club was founded.

Charter members who were present at the affair included Mrs. L. S. Needham, the hostess, Mrs. A. T. Chapin, Mrs. H. E. Siman and Mrs. A. C. Goltz of Laurel. Other charter members on the club roll in 1901 and 1902 were Mrs. Belle Willey Gue, the first president, now of California, Mrs. Minnie Muirhead, Mrs. Mary Needham, Mrs. Charles Bright, Mrs. Lottie Miller and Mrs. A. B. Cherry.

All members of the Winside club were present, with the exception of Mrs. Charles Bright, who is in a Norfolk hospital. Guests included Mrs. Gurney Benschhof, Mrs. Grace Cavanaugh of Wayne, an honorary member, Mrs. Sam Schwerin, Mrs. Ratahorst of Norfolk, Mrs. Julia Sokolof of Sioux City and Mrs. Mary Kenney of Dubuque, Ia.

Enjoy Day's Meet.

Breakfast was served at 10:30 in the morning, with Mrs. H. E. Siman as toastmaster. Mrs. Siman wore a gown of pink eyelet embroidery, made in fashion of three decades ago. Over her shoulder she wore a heavily embroidered shawl. Mrs. Goltz of Laurel, one of the charter members, responded with reminiscences of the early days in Winside Woman's club. Mrs. Goltz wore a frock of white, with long skirt and trimmings, and a small pink poke bonnet tied with bows.

Mrs. Charles Bright, who was in a modern costume, responded with a discussion of the present day club, of which she has been president the past year.

Mrs. Art Auker, whose response was next, told of the club's history in an original verse which she read. Mrs. Auker wore a gown of white dotted swiss, a black lace hat, and carried a handkerchief which her father gave to her mother 40 years ago. She also wore a black velvet band around her throat, with a lavender attached.

Read President's Writings.

"Interludes," by Belle Willey Gue, the first president, were read by Mrs. B. M. McIntyre, who wore a blue frock and an old fashioned hat of the same shade.

Mrs. John Brugger, whose work with the organization of the country Social Circle preceded her membership in the club here, read of the contacts of the two clubs in the earlier days. She wore black chiffon, a black hat, and a band of black velvet ribbon around her throat.

Mrs. A. T. Chapin discussed the history of the club, drawing on reminiscences of her experiences as a charter member. Mrs. Chapin wore a black frock of figured silk with full skirt and sweeping train. The gown was trimmed with bands of black lace over pale blue satin, and with it Mrs. Chapin wore a blue enamel brooch from India. In her hair she wore a tortoise shell comb mounted in gold.

Following Mrs. Chapin's discussion, Mrs. A. H. Carter read a parody on a classic verse pointing out the differences which time has made. Mrs. Carter was gowned in black, and wore a white hat covered with a black dotted veil. Over her shoulders she wore a tiny capelet of black velvet, and in her hair and on her frock were matching bows of pale blue satin ribbon.

Use Club Colors.

Gold and white, the club colors, were used in appointments at the breakfast, which was served at small tables in the Needham home. Pink roses were in the garden flowers in harmonizing colors, and the house was also decorated in flowers.

Cards followed the breakfast, and during the afternoon, the hostess served a club birthday cake, frosted in white, and bearing 30 gold candles and one white one, all lighted. Mrs. Needham wore a frock of white, handsomely embroidered in black.

Letters from former members were read before the party broke up.

Old Costumes Charming.

Costumes were charming, as attempts at the grotesque had been ruled out. Mrs. Fred Weible wore her wedding gown of white net over satin, as did Mrs. H. S. Moses, whose dress was of white satins.

Mrs. G. A. Mittelstadt wore a dress of black net. Mrs. Mae Huffman wore a black chiffon skirt embroidered in gold and a white blouse. Around her neck was a ribbon of black velvet from which a diamond lavalliere was suspended. Her hat was of black velvet, decorated with a large ostrich plume. She carried an old-fashioned bag of crocheted.

Rod Banned in Schools

Sioux City Journal: Kansas City, Kan., public schools will be conducted henceforth without any kind of corporal punishment imposed upon unruly pupils; Supt. M. E. Pearson has announced that paddles, straps, switches and other instruments of punishment permanently have been discarded. In addition, any teacher who administers corporal punishment of any kind personally must assume responsibility for the act.

Kansas City, Kan., is behind some other cities in this. But there are other cities and towns that still adhere to the old adage that to spare the rod is to spoil the child.

How ever, it is the majority sentiment among educators that education is something that must find its dependence not in corporal punishment but in a different and better discipline. And this is the teacher's task, to find it. Training, of course, is the answer to that. If the teacher is unable to instruct and maintain discipline without use of the rod, then, in the view of modern educators, he is lacking in a school essential.

In the old days corporal punishment was distinctly a part of going to school. Big boys frequently desired to whip the teacher. Some Others didn't. Teachers of that day usually were more successful in a physical sense than in an intellectual one, and many a big boy failed to achieve his ambition. Today teachers do not have to submit to indignities from incorrigibles, but are enabled to employ their time to better advantage in guiding those eager for instruction.

Reduces "STARTING WEAR" which ages motors fast

More than half the wear a motor gets is caused by inefficient lubrication when you spin the motor to start it and race the motor to warm it up.

New POLARINE flows freely and lubricates efficiently every instant the motor operates. It prevents a great deal of the starting wear.

Little affected by either heat or cold—free from impurities which gum valves and carbon motors—new Polarine does everything for motors any oil can do.

Consult the chart for the correct grade of new Polarine to use—25¢ a quart for every grade.

cost less to operate

It is a matter of record, among more and more large fleet operators, that Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks give a lower transportation cost than any other truck of equal capacity in the market.

These firms are finding, through experience, that Chevrolet sedan deliveries are capable of 20 miles or better, to the gallon of gasoline; that Chevrolet 1½-ton trucks are making fuel records which are relatively just as high. That it costs very little to keep Chevrolet trucks in first-class working order. That Chevrolet service charges on both parts and labor are exceptionally low. That the active life of Chevrolet trucks extends well past the 50,000 mileage mark.

To place your hauling on a minimum-cost basis—and keep it there—put Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks to work. A wide variety of Chevrolet-built bodies is now available. And delivered prices of Chevrolet trucks, complete and ready for work, are based on low chassis-cost and low body-cost, plus only reasonable charges for handling and financing.

Farmers' Union Has County Meet

The next session of the Farmers' Union will be the annual convention, which will be held in the city hall in Wayne some time during the month of September.

Most Get Together. Omaha Journal Statesman: One of the lessors of the prevailing depression in the beef cattle industry is that there should be more co-operation between producers, dealers, packers and retailers.

The coming winter, when the freeways of England and Scotland send out their beacons of cheer in the home time of evening, in some of them a visitor from far off Nebraska is the shape of a heaping dish of snowy white stuff, exhaling the combined aroma of field and dairy, will be a welcome guest.

Waiting Too Long. York Republican: We know a man who fixed a goal of retirement. When I have saved $50,000 I will retire and enjoy the fruits of my labor.

College boys aren't the only people who get degrees in June. Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey, above, was granted the degree of Doctor of Civil Law at Syracuse University recently.

Cutting county farmers will enjoy a tour of the county Friday, June 19, when ten farms will be visited. W. W. Derick, state animal husbandry specialist, will discuss feeding at a farm.

Students of the Wayne State Teachers College were entertained at a faculty reception in the administration building Thursday evening.

East and West are always coming together, so far as Miss Mildred Teusler, niece of the late President Woodrow Wilson, is concerned.

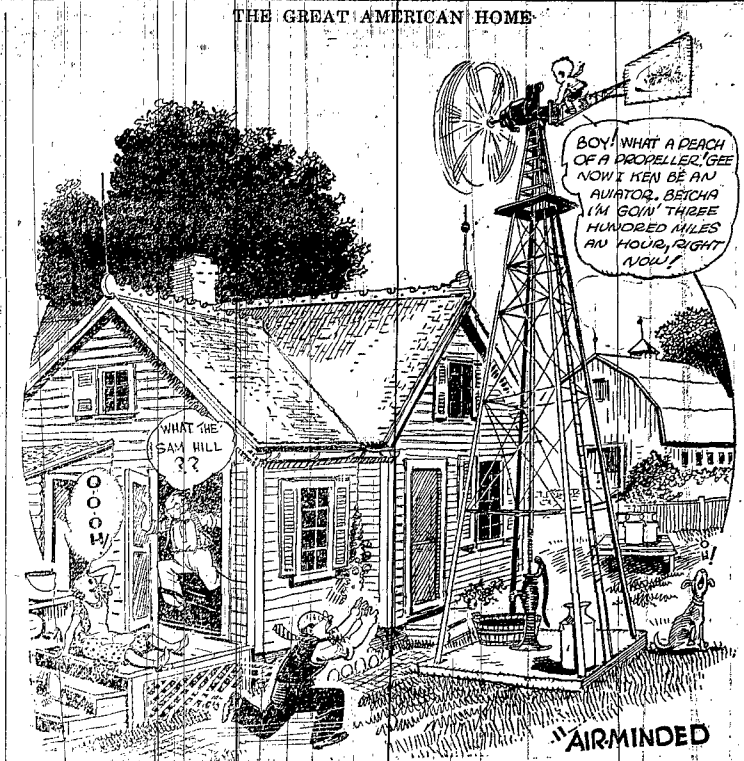

There ought to be a bounty on bears in some States, especially in New York.

Wilkins' submarine can bore through thirty feet of ice. A trip on it would be great training for a social climber.

There can be no question as to the great need of a constructive get together program in which producers, dealers, packers and retailers will work in harmony.

Jules Tewlow, of Chicago, is only three and one-half years old, but he tips the scales at a few ounces less than 100 pounds.
