Buildings Rise Rapidly Now

The young lady of the Herald staff who has been supplying this column, and who was called to Chicago to help straighten out affairs of the town, turned this particular department over to the editor for the week. Before this is printed, however, she will be back on the job with a fresh crop of energy, interest and flaming. Among other things engaged her attention, were the plants of the Tribune and News, her chief purpose having been to give them a few helpful pointers from the experience of the Herald. Whether she was able to so brief a sojourn to drive out the racketeering sharks and otherwise modify the bellwether tendencies of the community, we will have to await her report to determine.

TAKING advantage of a period when building materials are low in price, and conditions in general are excellent, for construction activities, a number of Wayne firms are engaging in new housing programs. The new structures include a front for the Miller and Strickland garage, a remodelled office for the Theobald Lumber Company's yard, a new building for the Coryell Auto Company, and a new apartment house being erected by Miller and Stirtz.

What Would You Do?

Two young men are friends. Both are intelligent, ambitious and worthy. Each has had to work to live while gaining an education with which to flounder up the wheels of progress. One had a janitor's job for several months and until college closed in May when he needed to meet requisites for room and board during the summer session in which he proposed to receive some extra touches preliminary to teaching. So, it was agreed that the boy who had given on his job to his friend, should have it back when he returned to college in September. This understanding was unknown to the employer. The boy who now holds the job, finds more teachers than schools, and his plan to blossom out as a pedagogue is necessarily postponed. If he relinquishes his place as janitor, he will have to set about solving the difficult problem of finding another job. If he does not give up his janitorship, the boy who trusted him, will either have to find another employment, or accept a suspension of his college course. In justice to the boy who now holds the place, it should be said that he is ready to deliver it over to his friend and take his chances. Of course, final decision is up to the employer. He likes both boys, but he does not wish making changes that can be avoided. The one now on the job is eminently satisfactory. However, the employer who was wholly ignorant of the understanding, fully appreciates the importance of keeping an agreement even though he had no part in it and was in no way responsible for it. If boys are permitted to violate a pledge will it not be easy to disregard pledges all through life? The employer would prefer to avoid a change. He always hopes in making a change. Gold business is arranged against firm considerations. What should he do?

An Unusual Year

We are not lying when we say this is an unusual year in Wayne county in the matter of moisture. The saying, "Unusual Year," originated in California where it was frequently needed. When an eastern tenderfoot landed in California, and found the main capital stock weather, doing violence to reputation carefully spread through the east, the invariable defense was that the season or year was "unusual." It was "off" and ought to apologize. It is a fact that Wayne county has, with the exception of a very few years—namely 1894 had plenty of moisture. This year rains seem to have stubbornly avoided us. Storms visited us from the south and east, but with diabolical regularity they have passed around Wayne county. But there will still be some corn, and there are still many less favored sections.

An All-Year Sport

Finding fault with a newspaper is an all-year sport. If it conceals opinions or presents news in a colorless fashion, it is rapid and deathlike. If it overestimates the importance of an event or an achievement, it is partial and unbecomingly influenced. If it expresses more optimism than the facts warrant, it deepens the frowns ordinarily carried by chronic skeptics. If anything in its columns can be construed as pessimistic, it is accepted as a blanket of damaging gloom. If it breathes hot, it is bad to some; cold, bad to others; not at all, it is dead. That most people, however, are tolerant and are not disposed to criticize a newspaper because they do not agree with everything in it, provides sustaining relief. No publisher can satisfy anybody all the time for everybody part of the time. A newspaper presents a variety and from the conglomeration sought ought to be able to extract enough that is desirable to justify the whole. The entire show should not be judged and condemned by one faculty.

Is Found Guilty Of Intoxication

Charles E. Thompson, charged with intoxication, was found guilty by Wayne county court Friday and was given a sentence of 30 days in jail and assessed costs of $17.70. He was paroled to H. E. Siman in order that he may support his family and pay the fines before September 3. If he violates the parole he will begin serving the sentence.

LATE RAINS AID BAKED PASTURES AND HAY FIELDS

THE drouth which had continued with small relief since July 4, was broken by sizable rainfalls this week. Parts of the county received liberal moisture, Sunday night. Rains fell in spots, but the immediate Wayne area remained dry until early Tuesday morning when nine-tenths of an inch fell. A month earlier the moisture would have worked wonders in the making of an average crop, but this time it will do little good in many fields. Though too long delayed to give much aid to growing corn, the rains will help pastures and hay and give needed fresh feeds. Late rains were general over the state. The state and federal crop statistician at Lincoln reports that the condition of the corn over the state, dropped thirty-four per cent during the past thirty days. He says the best corn this year is in the two southern tiers of counties and that the poorest is in the north central counties. He adds, however, that there will be plenty of grain and hay in the state to take care of its live stock if properly distributed.

California Climate Intrigues Mrs. Beaman On Recent Visit

Makes Stops With Number of Former Residents of Wayne Vicinity

"Everything on the coast seemed very pretty to me," said Mrs. W. E. Beaman who returned Saturday from an extended visit on the coast. Mr. Beaman met her at Columbus, accompanying her home. Especially enthusiastic over Alhambra, Calif., where she spent about three weeks of her stay, Mrs. Beaman was most impressed with the effort which Californians make to create beautiful surroundings. She enjoyed her trips to both mountains and beaches, but expresses rather a decided preference for the mountains.

MOVE TO DONATE STORED WHEAT TO COUNTRY'S NEEDY

IN his Nebraska Farmer, Samuel R. McKelvie, former governor and former wheat distributor, urges free and orderly distribution of surplus wheat among the needy people of the country. Mr. McKelvie points out that there is too much wheat to stimulate the market, but not too much to feed millions who are in want and who are undernourished. It will be necessary during coming months to help people who are out of work and who lack other means of support. Mr. McKelvie thinks the government should donate its stored wheat and thus aid to market stabilization, meet the requirements of charity and reduce the burden on charitably inclined people. Disposal of the wheat surplus in the way advised cannot be made without an act of congress which might be early in December. Distribution could be carried on through relief agencies, and it is suggested that mills would cooperate by doing the grinding at cost. People who agree with Mr. McKelvie, could help by urging members of congress to meet the emergency.

Suggesting Contrast. THE worst depression within the recollection of the oldest inhabitants happened from 1894 to 1896 when corn sold as low as 10 cents per bushel and butter as low as 8 cents per pound.

Observing prevailing conditions, and suggesting a sharp contrast, the Omaha World-Herald says: "Yes, times are awfully hard. The depression is the worst in the country's history. It is almost impossible to borrow money, and collections are very slow."

"We may stint on food, wear dilapidated shoes, last year's straw hat, clothing worn shiny, visit the barber less often, let the house and outbuildings go unpainted and postpone shingling the roof, all because times are so darned hard and money so scarce, but we'll be golswizzled if we just don't have to see the rodeos, and go places in the auto, and spend six or seven dollars to win a dollar-and-a-half cotton blanket, and cough up dimes and quarters to see the fattest girl on earth, the biggest snake in captivity and the hula-hula girls straight from Harlem, or put a coin on the number and tremble with expectancy while the wheel spins around."

Wrong Policy. THE dealer who says he will postpone buying the thing he needs and can afford on account of unfavorable times, is encouraging continuance of the very policy which prevents improvement and indirectly injures everybody's interest.

Henry Börd makes the foolish announcement that no man will be employed in his factories next year unless he raises a garden. This policy would decrease patronage belonging to those who depend on horticulture and agriculture, and whose buying power is important to the purchase of factory products.

Touching lack of wisdom on the part of dealers whose advertisements sometimes breathe calamity to the detriment of business and market stimulus, the Christian Science Monitor speaks of a movement in Seattle to avoid flaunting suggestions of an economic depression, and concludes: "Most of the cases aimed at in the Seattle campaign, it is explained, are not of misrepresentation nor of fraudulent advertising, but of advertisers who have not realized the negative reaction caused by broadcasting failure."

The Washington Wash

Washington, D. C., August 22.—We have a new language for common use among the highbrows and those who ape them. We've got to be something-or-other "conscious" all the time. Now the whole man have done them a huddle here in Wash. and we are told what week we are to be wool-conscious.

A woman in New Jersey was so dumb that when she shot a senator it was only a state senator. So she gets no bounty. Besides, the never has a negative appeal brought benefit. Rather, the buying public is repelled by pessimism. The public buys when the element of confidence is restored. The merchant's plain task, therefore, is to encourage that restoration.

Always Generous. THE death of L. W. Mallory, president of Pratt-Mallory Company, Sioux City wholesale grocers, caused a wave of sincere regrets to sweep through the community. All successful men are not required to work their way through school, but one who does so is seldom unsuccessful.

August is usually a dull month. Many people take the time to enjoy respite from the accustomed grind, taking vacations and journeying to mountains and lakesides. But the end of August finds most travelers back home and restored to their respective tasks.

People are often one-sided. Some are chronic recipients; others are regular donors. The former take advantage of friendships—cultivate friendships—to gain favor. They have their ears attuned to gain any prospect that suggests something for nothing—any material advantage that costs nothing beyond a mechanically expressed "thank you."

There are good and bad dogs, but any dog, no matter how peaceably inclined, may become a nuisance if allowed freedom from all restraints. Complaint is made to the Herald that dogs in one Wayne neighborhood meet every night to frolic and bark and dig up flower beds and raise such a hullabaloo that sleep is disturbed and peace of mind is outraged.

The police commissioner of Omaha is reported headed for the east to get a few pointers on the way racketeers are controlled down there. It will be news if he finds that they are being controlled at all.

While President Hoover is no more responsible for prevailing economic conditions than he is for the drouth or grasshoppers, he is conveniently made the goat. If conditions improve, he may have fair sailing, but if they continue to depress and irritate the populace, he will have hard, uphill going.

County fairs are in progress at Concord and Stanton this week, and the exhibits and attendance at both places do not reflect the depressed state of mind which many are prone to encourage.

Relief will be extended to China on account of floods and to parts of the United States on account of drouth. Better management on the part of the weather would have avoided both calamities.

People who have already given until it hurts, can do little more nor less than keep right on hurting in following the advice of the government.

Spent your money instead of hoarding it; buy on the installment plan; throw away the stuff that is beginning to show signs of wear and tear and buy new stuff; hire somebody who needs money to come and do your work while you go fishing or sit on the front porch and rock; make it a six-hour day, a five-day week; cut down on your acreage—the world already has so much of everything that there's no market; throw into the garbage all broken food so that the grocery and the meat men can stay out of red ink.

Right here in Washington, which is the focus of all distress—the clearing house for national and individual grief—the plan of burning up about a third of an already "made" cotton crop was seriously considered, with a view to increasing or to decreasing the price of that commodity!

We who learned our living rules "away back yan" ain't been nowhere nor seen nothin'! We have no hope! We bidnity grope. Since times have so upset the dope!

ASSAULTS PRIDE.

It hurts us deeply to read the report that, due to drouth and grasshopper devastation, northeast Nebraska's condition will require federal aid during coming months. We hope the crop shortage in Wayne county or neighboring counties is not great enough to call for outside assistance.

Disease Origin Found by Study of Nerve --- Mayo

THE most interesting study in medical science today is that of the autonomic or sympathetic nerve system, which controls about 75 per cent of the energy developed by the body and in which a great many diseases, not thoroughly understood, have their origin.

"The autonomic nerve system's actual method of functioning," says Dr. W. J. Mayo, of Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., who is in Miami for a short vacation, "just now is beginning to be understood. The happy result is that an enormous number of chronic diseases, which have been progressive and considered incurable, are being brought under control.

"Seventy-five per cent of the energy developed by our bodies is under control of the autonomic nerve system and is used up unconsciously in supplying heat and in the functioning of the digestive tract, heart and lungs. The remaining 25 percent we are able to control at will.

"The relationship between the 75 per cent of energy controlled by the autonomic nerve system and the 25 per cent of energy consumed in intelligent or conscious action is an important knowledge now considered essential to the continued progress of medical science.

"It was not so many years ago that all hospitals and doctors began getting ready each fall for its unusual large crop of typhoid patients, just as farmers cleaned out their bins and prepared a place for the wheat crop. But such contagious and infectious diseases as typhoid, diphtheria, scarlet fever and smallpox now have been brought under control and supply very few patients.

"With a better understanding of the autonomic nerve system, it will be possible for medical science to make equally as good progress in combating chronic rheumatism, Buerger's disease, Reynold's disease and many other chronic diseases heretofore considered incurable. Also fewer amputations will be made necessary." — (Miami, Fla., Daily News, March 5, 1931.)

While Dr. Mayo, the eminent medical authority, in proclaiming his "new" etiology in 1931, has substantiated a Chiropractic principle taught by the Palmer School of Chiropractic since its founding by B. J. Palmer, the world's foremost chiropractor, has been proving for the last thirty years to both laymen and open-minded physicians, that the autonomic or sympathetic nervous system, referred to by the great surgeon, as well as the central nervous system can be properly coordinated by the adjustment of vertebral subluxations.

Golden text, John 5:20. Wednesday evening testimonial meeting Sept. 2 at 8 o'clock. The public is cordially invited. The subject of the lesson-sermon read at all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, August 23, was "Mind." One object of the citation of the text is to show that God is the only Mind, and properly to distinguish between God as the real Mind of the universe and the false sense which fails to understand God and man and which really is illusion. One of the selections read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 469), is in part as follows: "The exterminator of error is the great truth that God, good, is the only mind, and that the suppositious opposite of infinite mind—called devil or evil—is not mind, is not truth, but error, without intelligence or reality." One selection from the Bible is in part as follows: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. She is more precious than rubies; and all the things thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her." (Prov. 3:13,15) Presbyterian Church. (Rev. P. A. Davies, Pastor) There will be services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. Sunday school 10 a. m. All departments and all classes meeting. Morning worship, 11. Announcements will be made at the morning hour in regard to the C. E. services. There will be no evening service as we plan to begin our evening service with the first Sunday in September. The officers of the church and their families entertained the J. H. Germar family at supper at the park last Wednesday evening. There were about 70 present. We are exceedingly sorry to see this good family go for they will be greatly missed. Our best wishes go with them to their new home. The pastor and his family had a very pleasant vacation spending a portion of the time in Minnesota and a portion at home in Wayne. Vacation gives a pastor the opportunity to be helped by visiting other churches. The first Sunday we attended the Methodist church at Fergus Falls. Our second Sunday we spent at Alexandria, Minn., and attended the beautiful Congregational church. It was a privilege to attend the M. E. church in the morning and the Welsh church of Carroll in the afternoon. Last Sunday we listened to our friend Dr. Findley of Morningdale Presbyterian church, who had charge of the services at the First church of Sioux City. Vacation is over. We believe a great opportunity of service is before us. "Let's go."

The subject of the lesson-sermon read at all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, August 23, was "Mind." One object of the citations read is to show that God is the only Mind, and properly to distinguish between God as the real Mind of the universe and the false sense which fails to understand God and man and which really is illusion. One of the selections read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 469), is in part as follows: "The exterminator of error is the great truth that God, good, is the only mind and that the suppositions opposite of infinite mind—called devil or evil—is not mind, is not truth, but error, without intelligence or reality." One selection read from the Bible is in part as follows: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding.—She is more precious than rubies; and all the things thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her." (Prov. 3:13,15)

The pastor and his family had a very pleasant vacation spending a portion of the time in Minnesota and a portion at home in Wayne. Vacation gives a pastor the opportunity to be helped by visiting other churches. The first Sunday we attended the Methodist church at Ferguson Falls. Our second Sunday we spent at Alexandria, Minn., and attended the beautiful Congregational church. Our first Sunday at home it was a privilege to attend the M. E. church in the morning and the Welsh church of Carroll in the afternoon. Last Sunday we listened to our friend Dr. Findley of Morningside Presbyterian church, who had charge of the services at the First church of Wayne. Vacation is over. We believe a great opportunity of service is before us. "Let's go."

Home Accidents Lead For Period

Accidental Falls Responsible for More Injuries Than Any Other Cause.

Falls in the home caused more accidents than any other one thing during the first two weeks in August according to a survey recently completed by the Nebraska Press Association and the Rehabilitation division of the state department of vocational education. In a survey released last week the causes of automobile accidents were reviewed in detail. This week farm, home and industrial accidents are studied.

Return From Trip To Western States

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Love arrived home Thursday evening from a three weeks' trip through the west with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Borg of Wakefield. The party drove 3,800 miles. The most alarming experience of the trip was a bear's biting Mr. Love's finger when they were in Yellowstone park. Bears set traps in the park and persons are warned not to feed them. A bear happened to find some crackers in the car and decided to eat them. Mr. Borg was going to take a picture of Mr. Love feeding the bear and the animal grabbed and cut his finger.

Roads were good on the entire trip through the west, the group found. The worst were in the Black Hills. The Loves found the grasshopper damage worse than Win-ner, S. D., all vegetation and leaves on trees having been eaten.

The four left Wayne and drove the first day to Sterling, Colo., about 500 miles. They then went to Denver, Pikes Peak, Colorado Springs. All enjoyed Denver and found lawns especially green and everything attractive. In Salt Lake City they visited the Mormon tabernacle and other places of interest. The group then drove north to Yellowstone park and spent a few days there sightseeing.

The party made a short trip through the Black Hills enroute home and stopped at Yankton and Crofton with relatives. O. P. Birdsell went to Crofton Thursday to bring Loves back. The Borgs remained in Crofton to get their son and visit relatives until Friday.

American Tragedy To Be Shown Here

One of the most significant and tremendous novels of American life created within the last decade forms the basis of the gripping motion picture drama, "An American Tragedy," which will show at the Gay theatre, starting Sunday for three days.

Hailed at its first publication as one of the all-time classics of the American scene, Theodore Dreiser's searching story thrilled millions. The motion picture, directed by Josef von Sternberg, is likewise the outstanding motion picture of these times.

Acted by a cast of youthful stars, the dramatic episodes of Dreiser's great novel live on the screen. Philip Holmes, playing the greatest role of his brilliant screen career in the character of Clyde Griffiths, has made a name for himself that will live because of this one picture alone. Sylvia Sidney rises to new heights, far and away beyond her surprising success in "City Streets." Frances Dee, as Sondra Finchley, is beautifully and wonderfully capable in this exacting part.

"An American Tragedy" is a powerful story, powerfully told. It is, without doubt, one of the most significant pictures of the year.

Blaze Destroys Rosalie Property

Rosalie, Neb. Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn and its contents with an estimated loss of $3,400 on the farm of Ed Anderson, one mile south of here Wednesday afternoon.

Five head of horses were burned to death in their stalls. The flames destroyed 400 bushels of grain, farm machinery and several sets of harness.

The fire started while Mr. Anderson was working in the field and Mrs. Anderson was visiting a neighbor. Neighboring farmers rushed from their fields and formed a bucket brigade to fight the fire. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Bowens Touring
In North and West

Prof. and Mrs. O. R. Bowen left Friday afternoon by train for a three weeks' trip to the northwest. They went to St. Paul and Minneapolis and then planned to make stops at Butte and Missoula, Mont. They then spend about ten days in Spokane, Wash., with their son, Paul Bowen, and wife. Afterward the Bowens will go to Portland, Ore., to see Mrs. F. O. Miller, sister of Mrs. Bowen. They go by boat from Seattle to Victoria and make stops at Vancouver, Lake Louise, Banff, Edmonton and Winnipeg. They return to St. Paul on their way home.

Problem Confuses Hartington Herald

To the ordinary layman, this problem of production is quite confusing. In the middle west, drought and grasshoppers have reduced production and we consider it a calamity while in the south they are talking about destroying a third of the cotton crop to prevent over production. Will somebody please elucidate?

Farmers Anxious to Feed Stock.
Omaha Journal-Stockman: After some of the losses which they have taken in the past couple of years one would not be surprised to find Corn Belt farmers just a little timid about the five stock feeding business this season. Yet, to judge from developments in the trade in the last few weeks just the reverse is true.

For example, early runs of feeding lambs have been unusually large but they are meeting with a broad demand at the reduced prices which now prevail. Right at the start of the range cattle movement, thin steers did prove hard to sell because pastures were bare and corn was threatened by drought and heat. More recently crop prospects have been improved by rains and with a higher fat cattle market to furnish added encouragement, country buyers are taking hold of the moderate offerings very creditably.

Very obviously farmers do want to feed. Following out the old advice that the place to look for your money is where you lost it, they are sticking to the game which they know by experience is a winner if followed year after year. With prices for feeding stock the lowest in years and grain selling so cheaply that the only chance to move it profitably is through cattle, hogs and sheep, there is little reason to doubt the Corn Belt's wisdom in refusing to quit, even though the business they are in has treated them rather shabbily in recent seasons.

But the real bumper crop is the pedestrians. — American Lumberman (Chicago).

VANDALS DRAIN GAS FROM TANK

Norfolk, Neb., Aug. 20—Vandals who apparently have an antipathy for oil companies visited storage tanks of several in Norfolk Thursday morning, broke off locks and valves, and permitted several thousand gallons of gasoline and kerosene to run out on the ground.

The places visited by the marauders and the losses suffered, include: Standard Oil company, 3,360 gallons gasoline; National Refining company, 1,400 gallons of kerosene; Phillips Petroleum company, 20 gallons of gasoline; and United States Oil company, total not reported.

Russia and Communism.
Omaha Journal-Stockman: And in the meantime, it will be noted that Russia is gradually slipping away from communism and adopting many of the plans that have stood the test of time in other countries.

In the first place, Russia never has been really communistic. It has been a dictatorship from the start and the present dictator, Stalin, has gone far enough with his five-year plan to realize that it can never succeed unless it recognizes the fact that all men are not equal although they may have been created equal.

Merit is certain to win and the desire for reward is as natural as life itself. But the time, the 5, 10 or 20-year plans have been worked out, if they survive that long, it will be found that Russia is even further away from communism than are many of the other nations of Europe today.

Enforcement Helps.
Newman Grove Reporter: If the good work keeps up it will in time reach the smaller towns and the small fellow and the pocket venter will have the fear of the law instilled in his heart. The prohibition law can be enforced as well as any other law if officers and those whose duty it is to attend to it will stiffen their backbones and go to it. The excuse that the higher ups are doing nothing will no longer hold. With this illicit traffic stopped it will be much easier for young people to become good law abiding citizens.

Not All Out of Jobs.
Omaha Journal-Stockman: H. B. Butler, of the International labor office of the League of Nations, estimates that normal unemployment in the United States is 2,000,000; that the number had grown to 4,500,000 or 5,000,000 by July of 1930, and to 8,000,000 by January of 1931. Today it may be more or less, probably more.

Officers at Pender Are Facing Charges

Pender, Neb., August 19.—Charges of embezzlement and default are being faced respectively by Sheriff F. C. Jensen and Clerk of District Court Ed Farley of Thurston county as a result of investigations by the county board of commissioners and the county attorney, Robert G. Fuhrman. Sheriff Jensen faces action in district court at Pender, and Farley faces action in the state supreme court. Both officers have refused to resign their offices despite the nature of the charges and requests from the county board that they do so. Sheriff Jensen, according to County Attorney Fuhrman, is charged with the embezzlement of $2,400 in fees and funds, and it also is charged that he has retained $1,300 in proceeds from sheriff's tax sales and personal tax collections. Suit for recovery of the latter amount has been started by the county.

Sorenson Files Ouster

Strife in Thurston county official circles reached a climax today with the filing of a removal suit against Sorenson by Attorney General Sorenson at Lincoln. A preliminary hearing on the embezzlement charge against Jensen, scheduled to have been held August 17, was waived. Jensen will be tried in September.

At a meeting of Thurston county commissioners July 31, Commissioner Norris presented a resolution demanding the clerk of the court to make restitution in the sum of $3,800 within five days from that date or to hand in his resignation.

The resolution cited alleged discrepancies and shortages in trust funds which the commission held, should have been disbursed or should be in the hands of the clerk. Practically the same resolution was adopted relative to the sheriff.

Charge Sheriff Lax.

In his case, however, the commissioners held him accountable for losses in excess of one thousand dollars. Shortages were also noted in the handling of trust funds amounting to approximately $1,700 which auditors said could not be located on December 31, last.

The resolution further charged that the sheriff had been lax in his duties, and that he had spent most of his time out of the county, his resignation was likewise demanded within five days.

Following the refusal of both to resign, a criminal charge was filed against Jensen along with the ouster action.

In a recent statement Clerk Farley declared the facts as contained in the resolution directed at him were not true and that "the party who prepared it was a person with a well developed case of self-importance."

Denies Default.

Farley admitted that there is a sizable amount in uncollected fees, but denied that there are other discrepancies in his accounts, as alleged by Attorney General Sorenson.

"I have not taken one penny that does not belong to me," said Farley.

Farley said further that a "blind eye had been turned on the shortcomings of certain officials in past years, which if handled rightly would have saved the burden under which present conditions existed."

Farley urged the public to carefully weigh both sides of the controversy.

An Itemized Statement.

"What would you think if you ran a bill at the grocer's and at the end of the period he would submit a lump sum statement and request payment? You'd kick, wouldn't you? And demand an itemized statement.

"Why shouldn't the same business care be employed in demanding itemized statements from tax-paying agencies? Why should not the school boards that spend the largest amounts of tax money be compelled to make at least a yearly accounting to the people? Why should not every simple and concise manner how every dollar of public money is spent?"

"The policy of requiring all agencies spending public money to make an itemized report is sound and constantly grows in favor. Every good citizen should approve laws that would say to all public officials: 'Now tell the people in a very simple and complete manner how you got the money and how you spent it. You have not discharged your public duty until you have done that.'

"If more publicity were employed in keeping the people informed, less would be needed in arousing interest in the formation of taxpayer leagues and explaining to the public how the horse came to get away and where he went."—York Republican.

Cash in Hand

OR . . .

TIMES like this no one means to be wasteful and yet the most flagrant form of wastefulness is to withdraw from use things that can still render service and economy to some one. When you do so you forego the cash you can obtain from them by re-sale and you deny others of the practice of thrift that arises from making use of things they can buy and utilize without paying the "first hand" price.

Ty Newydd Family Will Hold Reunion
Relatives of Joneses to Gather This Thursday For First Time.
The first annual reunion of the Ty Newydd family of Joneses will be held this Thursday, probably at Wayne park, and about 100 relatives will gather for the occasion. Each farm in Wales has its name and the one given the home place of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Jones was Ty Newydd, meaning New House. This was at Rhen- thryn, Conwul, Carnarvon North Wales. The family consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Jones and eight children. With very little means and with lots of courage to venture the family decided to come to America, a land of great outlook. Neighbors in Wales also wished to come with the Jones family but did not have the passage fares.

Having no destination particularly in view and not knowing the land to which they were going, Mr. and Mrs. Jones and the children sailed to New York in 1871. David, 18, the eldest son, was the only person in the group who knew a word of English. On board the ship a friend asked where the family was going. Mr. Jones replied that he had distant relatives in Kansas and guessed he would go there. He said he also had relatives in Iowa. The friend said Kansas crops had been eaten by grasshoppers that year and he advised the Jones family that Iowa was a much better state anyway. (So the Jones family changed plans and decided to locate in Iowa.

Surprises at New York were unusual. Sam, one of the children, was lost on the dock and after much search he was found eating fast as an Italian's wagon.

The family came to Washington county, Iowa, and Mr. Jones began working on the railroad. Being used to a cool climate he had to give this up on account of his health. He then got work on a farm and did this three years. The Jones family then moved by covered wagon to Red Oak, Iowa, and rented a farm. Later they bought a place. One son, W. E. Jones was born in Iowa. William E. Jones, sr., died in 1877. Mrs. Jones and her older sons continued to manage the farm for 25 years and then Mrs. Jones moved to Wales, Iowa, living there until her death at the age of 82 in 1911.

David W. Jones, Evan Jones, Moses Jones, Mathias Jones and Owen Jones, the eldest of the family, are not living. Mrs. Margaret Rees and William E. Jones of Carroll, Mrs. Ann Jones of Omaha and S. M. Jones of McCheson, Kan., are the remaining children. Members of the family are scattered in Washington, California, Colorado, Iowa, North Dakota and Nebraska, but as many as possible plan to be here today for the first reunion.

Advising Clients.
(Lincoln Journal) "If a lawyer knows absolutely that his client is guilty, it is his duty to advise him to enter a plea of guilty."—Federal Judge Hopkins of Kansas.

That utterance of the Kansas judge, made on a New York district bench where he was sitting in the absence of the regular judge for that district, preceded the hearing of the case of Jack "Legs" Diamond, the conviction and sentencing of the accused. It followed the conviction of a young man charged with counterfeiting. The young man had practically admitted the charge to the court.

There was reason to believe that the accused lawyer knew of his guilt. The court was taking a shot at criminal lawyers. To the confusion of those who heard him, however, the court added:

"If the client insists on trial, then the lawyer should act to the best of his ability in seeing that he has a fair trial."

Of this New York World-Telegram asks: "How would an ethical lawyer see that a guilty client got a fair trial—by seeing that his guilt was not exaggerated? Or would he do so by the expedient of advising him to keep his mouth closed?"

Judge Hopkins, dealing with perjury in criminal cases, added that "there is lots of perjury in the courts and it is my feeling that it must be with the knowledge of the lawyers who get the benefits of it."

That seems a rather general and sweeping statement with no specific indictment on which a conclusion might be based. The World-Telegram, while vainly trying to understand instructions of the courts and the shades of difference between the ethical and the unethical, finds in the end, however, that the ideals of this Kansas judge are a challenge to the bar and that his straight speaking to the lawyers appearing before him was refreshing.

Discussion of legal ethics and court procedure engages much attention, but like a certain humorist's observation concerning the weather, nothing seems to be done about it. No man is now old enough to recall the time when such criticisms and discussions were not frequent.

Some straight thinking that will lead to effective action along this line of reform seems to be needed, if we are to accept the statement of the courts and of many lawyers.

Disputant powers have evidently been impressed by the lesson that it costs more to go to the mat than to the diplomat.—Weston (Ore.) Leader.
