Mrs. Whitney of Battle Creek, is art judge. D. Hall will place prizes in the floral department. Judges have not been definitely engaged for the agricultural products and school exhibits.

Entries at the fair will be made all day Tuesday and in some departments Wednesday morning. Entries have been made in the cattle department from a distance. The fair board decided this week to have horse races on Wednesday and Thursday of the fair. Ford and motorcycle races are scheduled for Friday. The O. M. Scherer ten-horse hitch of Belgian horses will be featured in front of the grandstand the last three days. Winside and Wayne junior League baseball teams play Wednesday. ### Guardian Named For Elderly Man

August Moeller's Affairs Will Be Cared For By Henry E. Ley.

On petition of John H. Stevers, John Grew, Martin Holst and Carl Bichel, August L. Moeller who lives southeast of Wayne was placed by the county court under guardianship of Henry E. Ley. The petition asks the appointment of a guardian for Mr. Moeller, bachelor who lives alone and who the petition alleges is incompetent to care for his affairs. The four petitioners, neighbors of Moeller and his friends for many years, say that Moeller, who is about 70 years old, has no known relatives, that he owns the southeast quarter of the east half of the southwest quarter of section 35, township 26, range 40, that Moeller has in the past ten years lived on the property and has not farmed the land but has allowed it to grow up to weeds; that those who own land adjoining the farm are threatening suit against Moeller for allowing his land to grow up to weeds and to blow to their property; that he has allowed trees, weeds and brush to grow up and make the property unsightly.

Moeller, the petition says, had a deposit in the Farmers National Bank of Wakefield and since the bank's insolvency he has refused to accept dividend checks from the receiver. Moeller is in danger of losing his property by such actions, the petition alleges, and he thus needs a guardian to protect his property.

Visitor Here Leaves
Mrs. Lee Seymour left Tuesday last week for her home in St. Louis after visiting in the Edward Seymour home several days.

PLANS FOR FAIR TO BE JUSTIFIED BY DUE SUPPORT

The annual county fair next week will doubtless prove a revelation in production notwithstanding the unusual weather for growing and maturing crops. Specimens of corn and other grain, together with vegetables and fruits, will surprise those who have figured that the harvest would turn out next to nothing. The 4-H club exhibits promise to be more numerous and of better quality than ever. Young people of the county have, under the inspiration and direction of their leader, Dr. W. M. Hawkins, made wonderful progress during the past year in the development of fine stock, and this fall they will score a new high record. Animal exhibits in all departments will be bigger and better. In planning amusement features, the fair management appreciated the necessity of surpassing former standards, and has acted accordingly. Daily programs have been carefully arranged to satisfy every desire, and results will justify highest expectations. Attendance every year has amply supported the enterprise, and this year promises to be no exception to the rule.

Advocate Plan For Betterment

Control of Production and Consumption Are Favored Most.

Wrong Impression

Supt. H. H. Best Finds New Yorkers Have Strange Ideas About Middle West.

CONTROL of production and consumption to inaugurate a new economic era in this country is being advocated by students of economics in the east. Supt. H. H. Best, who spent the summer at Columbia university in New York, informed Wayne Kiwanians Monday at their first meeting since summer recess in Hotel Stratton. Though opinions do not favor socialism, Mr. Best asserted, many thinkers favor control of production and consumption.

While the United States constitution was the greatest political document ever conceived at the time of its making and even in the present, conditions have changed and some thinkers believe the constitution should be modified to affect economic conditions. England and France, the speaker pointed out, have political constitutions. Italy's governing rules combine political and religious, both of which are largely nullified by economic policies of those at the head of government. Germany's constitution is political with some economic clauses. Russia's constitution is largely economic. Students do not agree with Russia's constitution but they feel that Germany's and Russia's insertion of some economic provisions in their constitutions, which has given an idea which may be used with profit in this country. When the plan of controlling the monetary system of this country was instituted, the result was marvelous. They think the same effect could be realized by plan and control of economics.

West Not Appreciated

Many easterners, especially those in New York City, do not appreciate the magnitude of the west, Mr. Best found. People there don't have a self-sufficient attitude. Press reports in regard to the west are biased or colored. Mr. Best saw a press report which told of grasshopper devastation near Elk Point, S. D. where there was none. He also saw a report which said a girl's green dress was eaten off of her by grasshoppers that evidently considered the green material vegetation. Mr. Best thinks the New Yorkers are very provincial and have much to learn yet to appreciate the western country and people.

Mrs. A. R. Davis sang for the Kiwanians Monday at their luncheon.

Nebraska-Iowa district Kiwanis convention is scheduled to be held at the moment October 5, 6 and 7, and the Wayne club will be well represented.

Wittler Group Meets Sunday

Family Holds First Annual Reunion At Bressler Park in Wayne.

Ninety-four members of the Wittler family group met at Bressler park in Wayne Sunday for the first reunion. Picnic dinner was served, and a short program was heard during the afternoon when members of the Herman Spilge family of Howell played their two concertinas, two drums and a saxophone. ### Plan To Install Gas Lines Soon

Pipe Line Materials Are Received Here During Week Just Passed.

Natural gas for Wayne will be a reality in the near future for company officials expect to start work as soon as construction materials are assembled. Four carloads of four-inch pipe have been shipped to this point for use in construction, and a car load of six-inch pipe has also been received this week.

John R. Pierson of the Northern Gas Engineering and People's Natural Gas companies has arrived in Wayne and established office quarters. He states that pipe-line construction for this district has not been started as yet, but should begin soon.

General offices for Wayne and this district will open in the Jeffries' building soon. The building is being reconstructed this week.

On Winnebago Lake
Wayne and south pipe line running through Winnebago. From that point, an east and west line will be run directly to Wayne, and gas will be served from Wayne by other lines running to Wakefield, Emerson and Pender. This construction has not been undertaken, but will begin as soon as the equipment is received.

The natural gas line which is being constructed to serve West Point and the Norfolk district is a distinct branch, and is not connected with the one which will soon serve Wayne.

Spent Day in Schuyler
Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kilborn and family and Miss Opal Brown spent Sunday in the J. W. Hays home at Schuyler. Edna Kilborn, who had been visiting a week, came home.

Number Grows In Public School

Class Work Gets Under Way Early In Week As New Work Is Added.

To Play Football

Announce State Debate Question Which Teams Will Work Over This Winter.

When Monday morning came 178 boys and girls put aside the pleasant occupations of the summer, donned appropriate school clothes, included shoes and stockings, and went back to the interesting task of getting an education. There will be a number of late entrants, too. Supt. Best announces, so the number registered this year will exceed the 170 in school last year.

In the high school, there are 48 freshmen, 49 sophomores, 47 juniors, and 34 seniors. In the freshman class there are 13 rural students enrolled, where last year there were only seven. Rural students are new entrants, one each, in the sophomore and junior classes, as compared with none last year. Three students have been transferred from Wayne school to another school.

Junior high school has 82 entrants this fall. In the sixth grade there are 27 entrants; in the seventh grade, 32; in the eighth grade, 23. Achievement tests have been given to all new pupils as an aid in determining their status. Organization of the junior high school work began last year, and the work has gone forward easily this fall, and almost without a break from the stopping point last spring.

Thirty small kindergartners started to school Monday morning. Miss Minnie Will, who has them in charge, has divided the group, and the younger children will come to school in the morning, and the older ones will come in the afternoon. A total of 94 youngsters is enrolled in the primary department, with 28 in the first grade, 35 in the second grade, and 27 in the third grade. More children will be entered in the department in the next week, Miss Will believes.

Most of the classes will be filled to capacity this fall, says Supt. Best, although facilities have been enlarged. New seats have been installed in the three junior high school rooms, and new adjustable shades are also additions to these three rooms. In the commercial department, new typewriters have (Continued on Page Two)

SOME PLACES TO SPEED AHEAD AS OTHERS LIE DOWN

RECOVERY of communities or areas from economic disturbance will depend in considerable measure on the determination and punch of their people. Communities that lie down and wait for conditions to lift them up and boost them along will stay down and then wonder why one section is forging ahead of others. Putting extra effort into activities, exercising initiative and leadership rather than just drifting and watching the procession, will prevent atrophy and stimulate progress.

Gape P. Wright, editor of the Business Economic Digest, expresses the belief that liberal and consistent newspaper advertising will have more to do with the future of communities than any other one thing. Constructive activities combined with persistent use of newspaper advertising will develop enterprise and hasten prosperity, keeping a community on an even, onward keel. Editor Wright says: "Business conditions are spotty, to say the least, and there is every reason to believe that improvement will be equally spotty, with returning prosperity making itself evident sooner in some places than in others. Common sense indicates the wisdom of concentrating advertising in the favorable spots rather than spreading it uniformly over a variety of fields, only a few of which are ready for cultivation. This means nothing more nor less than the concentration of advertising in newspapers."

Council Hears Local Citizens

Answering Calls To Fires In Country Districts Given Approval.

Board Approves College Grant of Land to Widen Tenth Street in Wayne.

Discuss Ordinance

Fire Chief Martin L. Ringer appeared at the Tuesday evening meeting of the city council to discuss with councilmen the matter of answering out-of-town fire calls in the country district around Wayne, or even in neighboring towns, should the need arise, providing some of the fire-fighting apparatus is left in town. This provision is made as a protection for town and country, it was explained, and will in no way interfere with protection against fire in the city.

The fire chief also recommended to the council the purchase of several hundred feet of fire hose to supplement the 1,200 feet already in use. Prices on fire hose have dropped, and councilmen feel that the present is an excellent time for the city to make the purchase.

Discuss Plumbing
Attorney Britain, J. G. W. Lewis and O. S. Roberts reported to the council their findings on the investigation of various ordinances requiring the licensing of plumbers, and the inspection of all plumbing installed. No decisions were reached, but the matter was discussed, and sample ordinances on this subject were read.

Permission was granted to Frank Stinson to locate a frame building from the Lagoon property to his own lot.

Vending of garden truck and sale of the same on the streets was another matter discussed by council members as a traffic hazard on busy corners.

No action was taken on the matter of widening Tenth street, which the state normal board approved at its meeting the first of the week. The proposition will come up at a later meeting.

After allowing bills and attending to routine business, council members adjourned to meet Tuesday evening, September 15, when the purchase of the new type unit for the light plant will be effected.

Fire Destroys Property Here

Garage, Car, Sheds, Chickens and Other Things Lost At C. T. Norton's
Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the garage, car, some implements, three chicken sheds and a number of chickens at the C. T. Norton farm two miles south of Wayne Tuesday shortly before midnight. The loss is estimated at between $1,000 and $1,500. Insurance is carried only on the garage.
The blaze, which seemed to start in the garage, awakened the Nortons and they summoned aid at once. Mr. Norton tried to get the car out but it was ablaze then. The auto had not been used since morning. Implements and some furniture in the garage were lost. Mr. Norton had about 100 chickens in the three sheds, and about half of them were saved.

New Dormitory Assured Here

Plan Is Approved Monday By State Normal Board At Regular Session.

Form Corporation

Construction Will Start This Fall and Building Will Be Finished In Year.

A Wayne State Teachers College will be a reality this year, according to action taken by the state normal board at its regular meeting in Lincoln Monday.

In August the state board of educational lands and funds approved issuing bonds in the sum of $150,000 from its funds through a corporation, the bonds to be paid from rentals of the new structure and when paid the building to become state property. Dr. J. S. Conn, feels certain that the foundation can be built this fall and construction proceed with favorable weather so that the building will be ready for occupancy by next fall.

Prof. E. J. Huntman, who has designed other buildings for the school after investigation of many in best schools of the country, presented to the state board Monday a tentative sketch and floor plans of the dormitory. As he explained that he does not have time to do the architectural work along with his instruction, the state board appointed Arthur D. Baker of Grand Island, as architect and directed him to proceed at once to complete the plans. Mr. Baker plans to be here this week to look over the site.

The dormitory corporation includes F. S. Berry, R. L. W. Ley, C. M. Craven, Mrs. Erva Brockway and J. A. Ahern. All of the incorporation have been filed, and the corporation is in full charge of the building. Bonds are to be issued under the amortization plan. Dr. U. S. Conn, Mr. Knapp of Omaha, Edgar Ferneau and State Supt. C. W. Taylor comprise a committee to which plans will be referred. As soon as the architect has plans and specifications ready, bids will be advertised for. Contract will be probably the last of October. Actual construction should start early in November.

Approve City Request
The state normal board Monday approved gift to Wayne City of a ten-foot strip of land on the south edge of the campus to widen Tenth street. No provision is made in the board's rulings to allow transfer of the property to state normal delegates. It is to figure out a way of giving the strip to the city. The council will pave the strip and thus widen a street which is dangerously narrow.

Cafeteria Profitable
Dr. Conn reported that the Wayne college cafeteria has netted for the state a profit of $5,000 since Dec. 1, 1929, on account of downward trend of food prices. Value of meals sold was $52,627, the average cost being 23c. Total profit paid to the state treasury is $6,600, and amount on hand to go to the state is $2,012.

Use Gas at Kearney
The state board voted to experiment at the Kearney normal with use of gas for heating. Re- suits and costs will determine whether the fuel will be put into general use in the state schools. Dr. Conn says no change will likely be made in Wayne this year.

Drouth Section Has Plenty Now

Keeneys Find Abundance of Grains and Fruits in Arkansas.

Northeastern Arkansas, one of the sections most severely affected by drouth a year ago, has realized wonderful crops of corn, cotton, fruit and other products this season, according to Luther Keene, Miss Georgia Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Weibull and daughters who arrived home Saturday from a week's visit in that section. Though prices are low, the people have abundance and are more than supplied with foods for themselves and their stock.

The Wayne folks left here at 3 o'clock the morning of August 31 and were on the way to their destination by sunrise. They noticed that corn between here and Omaha looked good, and between Omaha and Fort Scott some sections were good and other bad. Near Fort Scott the fields looked much the same as they do here. The group reached the farm home of Mrs. Joseph Bailey at Fort Scott the first afternoon and remained there over night.

The second day's journey took the Wayne folks to West Plains, Mo. From eight miles south of Fort Scott corn looked better and will likely average about 40 bushels to the acre from here to Fair Grove, Ark. At West Plains the travelers visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hull, the latter a sister of Mr. Keene. That afternoon they drove to Ash Flat, Ark., arriving at evening and remaining overnight at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fowler, the latter a sister Mr. Keene whom he had not seen for 26 years. The following morning the party drove to Paragould to the home of Mr. Keene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Keene, and found them in excellent health. They visited the Ada Keene family and two sisters of Mr. Keene, Mrs. Jeff Cox and Mrs. Charles Wood. The youngest sister and her husband from St. Louis were also visiting at Paragould so the group spent a pleasant day together at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood. There are five boys and seven girls in the Lewis Keene family and the Wayne folks found them all well.

As one thinks of last year's drouth in Missouri and Arkansas the Keeneys say it surely looks good to see those sections again blessed with bountiful crops, an abundance of fruits, vegetables and grains and other products common to that section. Rainfall came there in time to insure growth of all crops. So again it is, a land of plenty though prices are low. Corn will not pay for the picking. Corn is good. Elberta peaches of finest variety sold from orchards there at three bushels for $1. Prices of groceries are also cut. The Keeneys think that farmers there might be better off if they raised more livestock and less cotton.

Considerable rice is raised just beyond Paragould, near Jonesboro, Ark. Large quantities of sweet potatoes, peanuts are also produced. Valuable forests of various kinds of trees still clothe the hills and mountainous parts. The vicinity of Paragould is flat fertile soil only a few miles removed from the Mississippi bottoms. Besides the many kinds of fruits, grains and cotton, the country raises excellent pecans, black walnuts and hickory nuts which persons there do not cultivate or try to market. Streams and lakes, which are clear, spring water, are beautiful and abound in fish. Grapes and many other fruits grow abundantly.

Field peas which grow in pods eight inches long, are used for stock feed and also for human consumption. In last year's drouth these peas were about all that would thrive in that section and the peas were the main diet for people and stock for some time. Last Thursday morning the Wayne people left Arkansas on their return home. They spent a night at Fort Scott, Kan., visiting in the Frank King home, Mrs. King being a sister of Mr. Keene. Another relative on whom they called is Mrs. James M. Stanley, widow of Captain Stanley who served in the Civil war. Though 87 years old Mrs. Stanley takes pride in keeping up her home. She works in the church and other community activities. They called on Mrs. Peter Tiffany, aunt of Mr. Keene, who is one of the few remaining granddaughters of the American Revolution. The next day the party drove to Shenandoah, Ia., over paved roads all the way excepting a few miles in Iowa, which were traveled, and after looking around at Shenandoah they came back to Wayne.

The Keeneys have some cotton plants, corn and field peas from Paragould, Ark., on display in the Herald office window.

Carhart, I hate to hear you say that, but it is the best lumber in the world. I only wish I had it to sell.

How much different it is now than it was when we went to school! The young folks now even get a chance to develop their ability on the stage. Every time we make a speech we wish we'd had a chance like that.

You know the popular song, "A Little Kiss Each Morning." We've changed it to "A little check each morning." In the mail or across the

What Is WE HAVE heard it said that Culture, we westerners lack culture, and that the only real, 100 per cent variety exists only in old and seasoned settlements like New York. No doubt much of the so-called culture on the eastern seaboard is like thinly gilded pewter masquerading as gold. A New Yorker who has inherited enough wealth to guarantee ease, who clings stoutly to recollection of Revolutionary antecedents and who talks with equal facility through either side of his nose, doubtless feels a superlative culture, and when he is forced to acknowledge the existence of people outside of the Empire state, he does so with a sweep of contemptuous condescension. He is provincial because he has kept his observation and experience restricted to New York. He refuses to see or appreciate anything outside. As long as he thinks he is cultured, contrary opinions do not disturb him nor make an impression on his smug feeling of altitudinal superiority.

We have just read the address of President Emeritus Macbride of the University of Iowa, given before graduates at the annual commencement in Iowa City last June. Mr. Macbride talked about education, and he stressed magnanimity—freedom from meanness and radiant with helpfulness—as an outstanding proof of education. He spoke of the courage of Archibald Butt, scholar of Yale, who helped women and children into life-boats of the sinking Titanic, and then with relief passed, he was swallowed by the ocean. He showed the strength of education and culture. We believe Mr. Macbride, thinking profoundly and clearly, speaking and acting magnanimously, in tune with the world and in sympathy with its problems, is an example of highest and finest culture.

Culture is not just a refinement of manners. We think a good deal of culture may be found connected with awkward gestures and halting speech. We think the spirit of practical good will, linked with broad knowledge and ripe experience, reflects genuine culture, made more salutary and helpful by freedom from the soft, purring veneer that often suggests counterfeit and excites suspicion. We think New York will find plenty of culture in the great plains states, including Nebraska, if in lifting its nose into the clouds it does not also lift its vision to the same height.

A group of sympathetic republicans, democrats, populists, socialists and independents met in the Ozarks recently and nominated Hope Harvey, author of Coin's Financial School in 1896, for president of the United States. A platform adopted declares for a five-year moratorium on private debts, including mortgages, demands free silver at 16 to 1—a familiar ratio to Harvey—asks government ownership of all banks and of public utilities, demands abolition of taxes and declares for unsecured paper currency, and plenty of it. A plank in the platform that could have been consistently included would have been a declaration for high prices for all things sold and low prices for all things bought, for high wages that are received and low wages that are paid. Manifestly this kind of a plank would have delighted everybody. Harvey is now 80 years old, but

Firemen Meet For Labor Day

Elect Officers For Coming Year At Session Held In Pender Monday.

More than 100 firemen from Wayne, Wakefield, Emerson, Kenard, Crofton, Concord, Coleridge, Blomfield, Columbus, Winside, Laurel, Norfolk, Meadow Grove, Carroll, Randolph and many other towns in this section of the state attended the northeast Nebraska meeting held at Pender Monday.

Frank Kofer, last year's president of the organization, was welcomed by Judge Mark Ryan of Pender, and several important fire officials from this part of the state were other speakers.

Fire prevention and the importance of fire inspection were discussed in the session. Following the business meeting, Homer and Thurston played baseball and Pender and Watthill delegates had a water fight. A banquet and dance at the American Legion hall terminated the day's activities.

Officers for the coming year will be Carl Bush of Pender, president; Walter Howard of Wakefield, vice president; Ferdinand J. Fisher of Wakefield, secretary-treasurer. Next year's district convention will be held at Carroll.

Plans were also made for the convention at Norfolk in October when the state gathering will be held. Delegates and members of the fire fighting organizations from this section will attend in a group.

Program By Band At Park Friday

Wayne band program for Friday evening at Bressler park is as follows: March, "French National Anthem"; overture, "Fra Diavolo"; waltz, "Overnight"; Alto; suite in three parts: "Water Carnival"; Kooymann, part 1, rejoicing and inauguration of the queen; part 2, queen of the ball, part 3, love song and barcarolle. For the water festival or Mardi Gras at New Orleans; march, "Gloria"; Lopsy; fantasia bluesque; "A Hot Time in the Old Town"; waltz, "Moonlight Saving Time"; Rhythm; medley overture, "Bits of Remick's Bits".

with drouth and grasshoppers and other unfavorable conditions he feels that his old panacea which was turned aside by the election of McKinley in 1896, would now have a chance to do a little experimenting.

The weather of late has kept up its year's record of doing the wrong thing. Successive days of intense heat to which September is not accustomed, have prevailed and kept people parboiled at a time when the elements could neither help nor hurt the corn crop. Clouds have gathered and passed over every night, but they seemed to be empty, headed nowhere in particular and doing no good anywhere. A soaking rain to enliven pastures would help, and it may come in time to relieve the need of too early feeding of corn or silage. The weather's being so irregular and out of season outrages people's nerves. While they have become used to seeing the elements violate order, kicking over former schedules, they figured that the autumn would bring a change for the better. Intense heat at the wrong time throws everything out of plumb and gets everybody more or less out of patience. People feel like taking the weather into their own hands, and they would if they could.

In trying to lead in the solution of national and international problems, Prime Minister MacDonald, England, and President Hoover of the United States draw fires of sharper criticism from many quarters, but both are steeled to their respective tasks, doubtless feeling that history will deal justly with their public services. Lincoln and Roosevelt were kicked and maligned while engaged in serving the popular welfare, but subsequent reviews gave them deserved credit. In trying times, people want to blame some one—a national leader is the one chosen for sacrifice. It takes a man of iron nerve to stand the siege while assuming giant responsibility and discharging multiplying duties, and if one does not retire from the presidency broken in health, he is an exception to the rule.

An eastern market has been developed for grasshoppers. They are bought by the bushel to feed fish. We recall that Minnesota snake farms used to replenish stock from the great numbers of big snakes that grew and flourished on the banks of the Klamath river in Oregon. But the Klamath snakes were not harmful. On the contrary, they destroyed rodents and vermin of all kinds, and their relations with inhabitants were friendly and helpful. People did not like to see them leave, though they were so numerous that a few million pounds, more or less, did not attract attention. Opening a market for devouring grasshoppers is welcomed by infested districts as a help in getting rid of a terrible plague. We hope the market becomes more and more pressing until the supply has been exhausted.

State fair attendance has fallen considerably short of last year's record, though totals are greater thus far than those during some years in the past decade. The high day this week was Monday when 75,738 persons were admitted to the grounds. On the same day in 1926 and in previous years, the number passing through the gates was considerably less. It is believed the unseasonable heat, quite as much as the unusual times, influenced decreased attendance. An increase in exhibits, however, is reported, and attractions generally are of a high order.

Tuesday night some vandal scratched the big plate glass in several store fronts on Main street. The damage is irreparable without expensive replacements. It is malicious destruction of property for which the law fixes a severe penalty.

Gloom. "Those who live on the mountains have a longer day than those who live in the valleys. Sometimes all we need to brighten our day is to rise a little higher." The tendency of many is to magnify misfortunes and surrender to ill winds rather than to meet and conquer them. Often the tendency is to thicken rather than to dispel gloom. Often the fellow who is traveling a rough road, snatches a blue devil, gives it a few extra touches of ugliness and passes it on to others as an evidence of a hopeless condition to which his inclination encourages him to yield. To one person who is naturally ingenuous and who relishes sadness and tales of woe, crops and prospects always appear far worse than the facts warrant. To another who is disposed to make the best of an unfortunate deal, the salvage appears above the wreckage and its limited value is turned to all possible advantage. Those who do not enjoy gloom, discover the silvery lining and are pleased to fix attention on solution of problems incident to making the grade under heavy handicaps.

Return From Trip To Colorado Points

Miss Louise and Miss Evelyn Wendt, Miss Frances Enos, Miss Jeanne Smith and Miss Helen arrived home Saturday evening after a two weeks' trip to Colorado points. The group went west through Nebraska and returned through Kansas. They went to Loveland and made drives to the Fall River pass, highest continental pass, and other places of interest. They were in a snow storm and enjoyed snowballing in August. In a lake they saw floating ice. They spent the week-end in Denver and then drove to a mining district. The new bridge over the Royal gorge, the highest bridge in the world, was one of the sights.

Perdue, September 4, for $3,500, an undivided one-seventh interest to the southwest quarter of section 16 and the east half of the southeast quarter of section 17, township 26, range four, east, and an undivided one-seventh interest in the west half of lots one, two and three, block 22, original Wayne.

Replevin Action Started.

Action to replevin personal property was filed in district court Tuesday by Martha Fleer against Martin Schwindt. The petition alleges that defendant wrongfully detains possession of 150 acres of corn, 20 acres of oats, 20 acres of barley and 30 acres of prairie hay from plaintiff, who holds chattel mortgage on the same, and that the plaintiff thus has sustained loss to the extent of $200.

Building.

A Wayne contractor confirms our conclusion that more building is being done here at this time than was done last year. Ade to private building operations, construction of the proposed new dormitory planned to be started soon at the State Teachers College and you will find improvements considerably in excess of those in any recent year. The contractor says he is hiring all available local carpenters, and that he will be dispatched to restrict employment to local people in order to probing benefits here. In ordinary labor circles we have heard of some who have dodged work on one pretext or another. A few refused to work because the weather was too hot. One who could use a job to advantage, was waiting to be asked, and he was not anxious because he did not like the fellow who was doing the hiring, anyway. But a survey will show that very little if any involuntary unemployment exists among able-bodied men in Wayne. Building activities and demand for labor generally in Wayne are gratifying and present a condition that is doubtless has no parallel elsewhere.

Next Sunday is the last Sunday before the meeting of the Nebraska annual conference which meets at First Methodist Episcopal church, Omaha, September 15.

We hereby notify you to whom we are indebted financially to send us a bill for the same. We will pay the same in full before leaving for the annual conference.

We here repeat our suggestion and request for the formation of a choir for the church services.

"Suppose one told you how you can be a happier person, and be sure of it, would you accept the suggestion?" Yes sir, we all want to be happy. It costs and we can be happy if we meet the condition. Here are some suggestions: "Be agreeable, be courteous, be friendly, do good without thought of reward, be unselfish, be humble, and the Lord's words, 'He that would be greatest among you must be the servant of all.'" In most cases the things that make us happy cost us financially speaking, nothing let us make the best of "friendship love and truth."

If you cannot come to church in the morning we suggest that you come to church at the evening service, 7:30.

Appreciation.

We wish to express to Wayne firemen and neighbors our sincere appreciation for assistance Tuesday night when fire destroyed property at our farm. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Norton.

Of this number, 82 are enrolled in the freshman class, 39 in the sophomore group, 37 in the junior class, and 26 in the senior group. Total enrollment in the grades is 164 this year, making the figure 298 for the whole school. The figures in the same as the total enrollment in the school year 1929-30. In 1930-31, enrollment in Wakefield school totaled 304 with 172 students in the grades and 132 in the high school.

Total enrollments in Wakefield have a good as follows in the past few years: School year 1925-26, total, 260; year of 1926-27, total, 271; school year of 1927-28, total, 287; year of 1928-29, total, 286.

Late in October Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Martin and family plan to leave for their new home in Astoria, Ore., where Rev. Martin has accepted a charge. Their departure will terminate seven years of service in the Wakefield parish, to which Rev. Martin came from Funk, Neb., to succeed Rev. A. W. Knock. The Martins plan to send their household goods by rail, but will make the trip to the coast by motor.

Astoria, Rev. Martin explains, is the old trading post founded in 1811 by John Jacob Astor, and is a center rich in history. Ideally situated on the great coastal highway, Astoria lies at the mouth of the Columbia river, only ten miles from the sea.

The new pastorate will engage much of Rev. Martin's energies, for no church edifice has yet been erected, and only a parish house is standing. The Martins are looking forward to the change and the new demands of the work, although they will regret parting with the friends they have made in this section.

Hold Rites For T. J. Beith Here
T. J. Beith, who would have been 83 years old October 21 of this year, died Monday at the home of his son, Frank Beith, in Allen, just one month after he had suffered injuries in an automobile accident near Allen. Mr. Beith, whose health had been very good until he was injured, never recovered satisfactorily from his injuries.

Last rites for Mr. Beith were held at the Frank Beith home on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30. Services at Wakefield Presbyterian church were held at 2:30 in the afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Presley of Omaha officiating at both services. Burial was made in Wakefield cemetery.

T. J. Beith was born in St. Charles, Ill., and came to Iowa with his parents when he was six years old. He lived in Iowa until grown, and was married, at Independence, in 1869 to Cynthia Elizabeth Dawes. Mrs. Beith died three years ago in November.

Left to mourn are John Beith of Conata, S. D.; Frank Beith of Allen; Mrs. Fred Dinnie of Winthrop, Iowa; and Mrs. Ed Temple of Wakefield. Fred Beith, a son, died in 1888, and George Beith, another son, passed away nine years ago.

Many friends from this section attended services yesterday, as Mr. Beith was well-known in Wakefield and Allen vicinities.

Honor Settlers On Anniversary
Children Come Home For Reunion Held Sunday to Mark Occasion.

Old settlers in this community, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Johnson, were honored by their children Sunday, when a celebration was held to mark the forty-fifth anniversary of the Johnsons' marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were wed at Sioux City, Iowa, 45 years ago, and have lived at their present home on a farm four miles northeast of Wakefield for the past 33 years. During the first years of their marriage, the Johnsons resided in Wyoming.

The occasion was made a surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, and arrangements were made to have the guests arrive during the afternoon. About 65 were present at the affair, including all of the Johnson children: Carl Johnson of Wakefield; the former Josie Johnson, now Mrs. Emil Anderson; the former Nancy Johnson, now Mrs. Allen Lee of Gothenburg, Neb.; John Johnson, who lives at home, and Mary Johnson, who has made her home with the family since infancy.

Out-of-town guests included Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Hanson and family of Sioux City; Mrs. Carl Swenson and three daughters of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Basch Comstock, Mrs. Long and three children, also of Omaha, and others.

A program was presented, with Rev. C. A. Turquist of the Swedish Mission church acting as master of ceremonies. Swan Nelson and John Erickson both made short talks, and Mary Johnson sang two numbers, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and Mrs. Johnson's favorite song, a Swedish hymn, "Ingen Lik Jesus." Mrs. Carl Borg also sang.

Many bouquets were presented

Electrol in a Well

Mr. Giuseppe Vecchioni, Electrol representative in Rome, Italy, has sent in some interesting items to Jack Lindsay and Jack...

Items to Jack Lindsay and Jack... The most amazing of these stories is the installation of a T.J. in a well.

The firm of Giuliano in Rome are manufacturers of such decorative stucco-work. They have a drying room near the boiler and heat this drying room the boiler is installed in a well. Formerly, a man had to go down into the well many times a day in order to take care of this boiler...

The operation is almost entirely satisfactory, as is evidenced by the owner of this plant ordering an Electrol for his own home.

Another interesting installation in Rome is that recently installed in the home of Mr. Phelo De Simone De Riso, formerly, Counselor of the Italian Legation at Prague, Czechoslovakia, and now located at Buenos Aires. Mr. De Riso wrote to Mr. Vecchioni from Prague ordering a model T.J. installed in his house in Rome. Later, he was called to Buenos Aires where he will remain for at least two years, but on his way to Argentina he called at Mr. Vecchioni's office in Rome to make sure that the boiler would be installed while he was away and that he would find his Electrol operating when he returned home.

Mr. Vecchioni is also to be complimented on getting an installation in the Royal School of Architecture in Rome. This is the leading school of Architecture in Italy and is known all over the world. All the future Italian architects will come from this school and Mr. Vecchioni says he hopes that when they get to write their own specifications they will remember the comfortable way in which their school was heated.

The electrol oil burner is sold by O. S. Roberts in Wayne. $101.

The percentage of illiteracy is 4.3, which is a distinct gain over the 10-year period between the last two censuses...

Peaches Flourish In This Section

Nebraska City, Neb., Sept. 4.—Branches of peach trees of southern Nebraska orchards are drooping low with choice fruit this week as pickers are harvesting a crop of hundreds of bushels of fruit each day.

Early Days in Wayne County

Early days in the Herald, September 11, 1913.
Because the water pressure was weak in some sections of the city, the engineer was asked to figure out a change in the size of the standpipe. The pipe was, at that time, 75 feet high; and it was believed that 15 feet could be added safely to the height.
Paul Thiel of Crofton came to Wayne and established a tailor shop across from the Union hotel. Levi Kimball, Wakefield pioneer, died in Grand Island, where he had gone to attend a meeting of the trustees of the Baptist college. He had lived in Wakefield for 26 years at the time of his death.

Visits in East.
A. H. Carter of Winside went, with Mrs. Carter, to Pennsylvania for a visit to his birthplace. He mentioned especially the oil fields and gas wells of McKean county, his old home. In Wisconsin, the Carters visited a town where Mr. Carter had worked on a newspaper four decades before. Mrs. Carter, who had never visited the east before, found the trip very interesting, says the Herald.

Colonel Fred Jarvis of Carroll, who stopped in Wayne on his way home from the state fair, said of the show: "Considering the drought, nothing crops and intense heat, the fair was fully as successful as could have been expected."
Mr. Luther Milliken and Miss Minnie Bellman were married Wednesday, September 3, 1913, at the German Lutheran parsonage in Winside, with the Rev. Press officiating. The groom was attended by his brother, James Milliken, and the bride by her sister, Miss Annie Bellman. The couple is located on a farm near Wayne.

In Country Schools.
Mrs. Elsie Little, county superintendent, visited 20 country schools, and reported many improvements made during the summer vacation. She found new floor seats, heating furnaces and other improvements.
A son was born Monday, September 8, to Mr. and Mrs. Verner Dighton, four miles northeast of Wayne.

The six-year old son of William Dianne, living six miles southeast of Wayne, fell from a wagon and broke his leg.
George Effien, whose farm was four and one half miles northeast of Wayne, was driving two teams on a manure spreader when the animals became unmanageable, and as a result, he was thrown against one of the wheels of the machine, cutting gashes in his forehead.

From Early Files.
From the Wayne Herald-Tribune for September 26, 1884, are the following items: Wheat, 48c; corn, 23c; oats, 15c; hogs, $3.40; cattle, $2.50.
The items continue: "There was quite a frost Saturday morning last, but it was not heavy enough to do any injury, and it only served to ripen up the corn a little more rapidly."
Ten years later, according to the Wayne Herald for September 13, 1894, the markets were as follows: Wheat, 42c; oats, 28c; corn, 48c; hogs, $5.25; cattle, $3; eggs, 10c; butter, 45c.

Celebrate Anniversary.
Mr. and Mrs. George Sweigard celebrated Sunday, September 7, 1913, the silver anniversary of their marriage. A group of 75 friends and neighbors gathered at the Sweigard home at Winside for the affair, the afternoon and evening being spent socially. Mrs. Sweigard served dinner to her guests.

Miss Jessie Snowden became the bride of George Lound at a wedding performed Wednesday, September 10, 1913, at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Snowden, at Winside. The Rev. M. J. Connell performed the ceremony. The couple went to Denver to spend their honeymoon, returning to a farm five miles north of Winside to make their home.

H. P. Shumway of Wakefield sold his farm near Laurel to William Knack for $67.50 per acre.
Eliot New Postmaster.

A total of 221 votes were cast for postmaster in Winside in the 1913 election. Clint Fry received 120 votes; Ed Cullen, 90; Ike Brugger, 10.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crahe of Wakefield, a daughter, September 9, 1913.
Carl Thomsen of Wakefield purchased of John Burman the latter's residence for $3,500. The Thomsens planned to leave their sons in charge of the farm, taking up residence in the newly-purchased house Mr. Burman planned to build on his lots just north of the property sold to the Thomsens.

Home Fried Recipes

Canning Fruits Special Process

Housewife Learns Names of Various Methods Used in Preparation.

With the coming of the first fall days, Wayne women have turned their attention to pickling and preserving, getting their jars filled before the coming of the winter season. Gardens yield fine red tomatoes, sleek onions, and peppers, in some cases. From the markets come other fruits and vegetables, and the necessary supplies. Pick a cool morning, and begin!

General directions for canning of fruits and vegetables seem almost unnecessary, but a few prepared by government experts in home economics may help the housewife to reduce spoilage. All jars and lids used in canning should be boiled, and the sealing rubbers should be scalded. If the utensils are all perfectly sterilized, fruit is fresh, and canning operations performed without delay, "flat sour," a common spoilage, can be avoided.

with a few pieces of chopped white onion than cover with the following:

1 quart vinegar
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon celery seed
1/4 teaspoon powdered alum
1/4 teaspoon turmeric
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1-1/4 cups sugar

Let vinegar and sugar come to a good boil and add the seasonings. Pour over the pickles boiling hot and seal at once.

Pepper Relish

A simple way to make a delicious relish that will add zest to any winter menu. This recipe was tested at the University of Nebraska.

12 green peppers
12 red peppers
12 onions
2 cups of sugar
3 tablespoons of salt
1 pint of vinegar

Chop the peppers and onions, cover them with boiling water, and let stand for five minutes. Drain off all liquid. Add the vinegar, sugar and salt and boil for five minutes. Pour into scalded jars and seal.

Plum Conserve

This recipe is from the University of Nebraska series of tested recipes.

4 quarts of plums
1 1/2 pounds of sugar
3 oranges
1 lemon
1/2 pound of nuts
1 pound of raisins

Chop the oranges and the lemon, adding the plums, which have been cut in small pieces. Add the raisins and boil until soft. Add sugar, and just before putting into glasses, add the nuts.

Sweet Pickled Peas.

Another tested recipe from the University of Nebraska home economics laboratories.

1 quart vinegar
4 pounds brown sugar
2 ounce stick of cinnamon
1/2 ounce of whole cloves

Prepare the peas as for canning. Make a syrup by boiling vinegar with sugar, add the spices and cook the fruit in syrup. Seal and store away.

Fruity Conserve.

(Mrs. C. C. Herndon, Wayne)

Make peach preserves in the usual way, combining equal measures of sugar with ground fruit. To each pint of preserves, add one candy lemon drop and cook, adding also one very small stick of cinnamon. Seal the preserves and store away. When ready to serve, make a conserve by adding very finely ground almonds, tiny bits of marshmallows, and small pieces of orange rind.

Planning Dinner For Sunday Noon

Fancy Touches Make Plain Menu Interesting for Whole Group.

Have you had chicken for Sunday dinner every week since the season opened? Then why don't you change the menu this Sunday, and give the family a surprise? Chicken on Tuesday, for example, would be a Sunday dinner, you are planning, you might begin it

Bripe Cucumber Pickles.

(Mrs. N. P. Nyberg, Wakefield)

1 gallon of ripe cucumbers, peeled and cut into long strips
4 cups of water
4 cups of vinegar
1 scant cups of sugar
2 small sticks of cinnamon bark broken up and placed in a small cloth bag.

Soak the cucumbers overnight in salt water. In the morning drain and rinse off salt water. Then boil for an hour with the water, vinegar, sugar and cinnamon. Be sure to leave the cinnamon in a bag, or the pickles will be darkened and their clear, light color will be spoiled.

Grape Marmalade.

(Mrs. C. T. Ingham, Wayne)

A good marmalade to make in the fall, for it is delicious served with breakfast toast, or with meats at dinner. The proportion is one pint of grape pulp to each pound of sugar. Put the grapes through a fruit press to eliminate seeds and skins and boil the pulp until it is fairly thick before measuring. Then combine with sugar and cook to the desired consistency before storing the marmalade in jars.

Pickled Peaches.

(Mrs. C. T. Ingham, Wayne)

The following recipe makes a rich, rather sweet variety of pickled peaches, good to serve with the "company" dinner. One of the best ways to serve pickled peaches is to cut the peaches in halves, fill the halves with cottage cheese, and garnish with a spoonful of rich mayonnaise.

Directions for preparing the pickles are as follows:
3 1/2 pounds of sugar
1 pint of vinegar, diluted if you like

1 teaspoon whole cloves
2 teaspoons stick cinnamon, broken up finely

Boil the vinegar, sugar and spices together for five minutes. Pour in, boiling hot, over the whole fruit, which has been stemmed, until tender, lashed with cold water, and peeled. Seal the jars with hot.

Bread and Butter Pickles.

Wash medium sized cucumbers and slice without peeling. Let soak overnight in a brine made of one tablespoon of salt to one quart of water. Drain and place jars by passing a large plate of appetizers. The appetizers can include some of the tiny pickled beets, canned crabapples, peach pickles, and fresh cucumber pickles, along with olives, celery, or small crisp cubes of fresh carrots. Don't be afraid of variety. Simply load up your biggest plate; or a relish dish, with whatever pickles and relishes you have on hand, and you will find the family more than delighted. In the middle of the plate you might stack slices of ripe tomato plates of each piece, and if the family wants to make a salad of the tomatoes and cucumbers offered along with the appetizers, pass a small bowl of the following sauce to serve with it:

Use as many spoonful of ketchup as you think you will need for serving your family. Combine with it finely chopped green peppers and bits of ripe tomato, with a very little onion, and some parsley. The tomato juice will thin it and make an excellent dressing for the tomatoes and cucumbers you are serving.

Planning the Meal

Roast beef might very well be the meat course, with mashed potatoes and brown gravy if you like. If you want to try potatoes a new way, save out all the very small ones! peel them, wipe them dry and fry whole in deep fat. They will take a little longer to finish than potatoes cut as for French fries, but they are equally delicious.

Corn on the cob with plenty of butter will be the most reasonable vegetable, and hot rolls or ordinary bread and butter will complete the main part of the meal.

For dessert you might try biscuit tarts, which is a frozen dessert that is not so complicated as the effect would lead you to believe.

3 egg yolks
1 cup milk
3-4 cup sugar
3 egg whites
1-8 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup macaroons
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 1/2 cups whipping cream

Make a custard of the egg yolks, milk and sugar. Cool and add the ground macaroons and vanilla. Fold in the whipped cream and stiffly beaten egg whites to which salt has been added. Pour into tray of molds and freeze. This recipe is for 12 servings, which shows that it must be good—they ask for second helpings!

Peaches Flourish In This Section

Nebraska City, Neb., Sept. 4.—Branches of peach trees of southern Nebraska orchards are dropping low with choice fruit this week as pickers are harvesting a crop of hundreds of bushels of fruit each day.

Big, juicy peaches, grown in Nebraska orchards will not find their way outside the state this year, many growers of this section believe.

By the end of the week, pickers will have harvested most of the earlier peaches. In three weeks, the later peaches will be ready to pick.

Competing with peaches on the market this week are grapes. Tons of blue Concord will be produced this year.

Other sections of the state have received some of the Nebraska grown grapes. There is a good demand for plums, watermelons, and muskmelons grown in this part of the state now.

Fruit growers of the southeastern fruit belt are meeting the customers at their very doors. Central and western Nebraska people are coming here in trucks and cars and hauling the fruit home.

A Brownville orchard sold 5500 worth of fruit at its orchard Sunday. Some customers have come over 200 miles to secure the fruit.

Sandhill ranchers where late spring freezes killed the berry crop are buying much of the southeastern Nebraska crop.

Corn has got to be harvested
...the New McCormick-Deering FARMALL One-Row Picker is the machine to do it

If you are interested in the most modern farm machinery you'll want to know about the new McCormick-Deering FARMALL One-Row Corn Picker. It is a power-operated unit, attached to the left side of the FARMALL Tractor (the belt pulley can be used if desired without removing it). It has a capacity of 10 to 12 acres a day. One man easily controls it from the tractor seat. Its 20-bushel tank has a capacity which is usually sufficient for a trip down the field and back, and the necessity for hitching and unhitching wagons is eliminated. Steel and iron construction provides ruggedness, and the weight is evenly distributed throughout. The FARMALL One-Row Picker is a remarkable asset to the corn grower—it takes the drudgery out of a tough farm job and at the same time enables its owners to harvest their crop at less cost than ever before. Come in and ask us about this new machine and also the new McCormick-Deering (pull-type) One-Row Tank Picker.

McCormick-Deering's New Model F-30 FARMALL

THE NEW F-30 FARMALL which will be shown at the Wayne County Fair, is an improvement over former makes. It has thirty-five horse power motor and amply meets four-plow demands. It has four-speed transmission and four-speed take-off with reversible front wheels. It is heavier throughout than old models, and its attachments make it possible to use the same tools used on former makes. This machine will be shown for the first time in the county at the fair next week. Be sure and see it. Corn can be harvested with the Farmall at a more uniform, steady rate than ever before. Farmall can be used for pulling corn binder or corn picker, saving time and labor. With the Farmall, it is possible for a man and a boy to pick three or four times as much corn as is possible when only hand power is used.

Introducing NEW PICKER

A NEW McCormick-Deering machine which will be at the Wayne county fair, is the two-row pull type, power driven corn picker to be used behind a 15-30 tractor. Its advantage lies in the fact that it is able to pick two rows instead of one at the same time. See this Picker at the Fair, and if you need one, it will pay you to investigate it carefully.

Here's the Fast Way to Pick Your Corn

The New McCormick-Deering FARMALL Two-Row Picker

The new McCormick-Deering Two-Row Power Corn Picker—built especially for the FARMALL Tractor and operated through the power take-off—provides plenty of power and speed to handle your corn crop. It picks and husks 16 to 18 acres a day... enabling two men to pick and husk as much corn in one week as 4 hand-huskers could pick in 4 weeks. This modern corn picker is easily controlled from the tractor seat. It will enter a field on any two rows and pick them clean without disturbing adjacent rows. The gatherers raise the down and leaning stalks, chains carry the stalks back, forcing them against snapping rolls, the ears are quickly snapped, delivered to the husking rolls, and then delivered to the wagon which is hitched directly to the center of the tractor drawbar. Flexible paddles attached to a revolving beater, located above the upper end of the snapping rolls force the trash down through the snapping rolls and discharge it on the ground. This feature is exclusive on McCormick-Deering Corn Pickers. See us now about the FARMALL Two-Row Picker. We can also give you information on the FARMALL One-Row Picker and the One-Row Tank Picker. The gatherers raise the down and leaning stalks, chains carry the stalks

Contribution to Dairy Progress

AMONG other new McCormick-Deering machines to be shown at the Wayne County Fairs is the new milking machine. It is not just a built over, redesigned or improved milker. It is entirely new from top to bottom, compact, complete, and convenient with exclusive patented time and labor-saving features. For several years this new milker has been under extensive tests in practically every section of the country—milking cows under all conditions of service. It is not an experimental milker, but a proved efficient, fast-milking unit that any dairyman can use for a long period of years with utmost confidence and satisfaction. See This New Milker at the Fair and See How Well It Works.

Use Genuine IHC Repairs The right kind of repairs add new life to your machines. Use only Genuine I. H. C. Repairs for your McCormick-Deering farm operating equipment. A genuine repair part fits exactly and becomes a perfect part of the machine.

The Humdrum West. Omaha World-Herald writes something of a shock one reads the New York Times and discovers that the east is not interested in the middle west, because it considers us and the lives we live, as "humdrum."

The Times admits that this is so (blaming our writers for the picture) even as it attempts to deny the article in the Prairie Schooner which accuses New Yorkers of falling to find any fun in life that is not connected with fancy living or fancy women, luxury, wealth, or sex.

The east, it is admitted, has its monopoly of those things. The jazz age originated in Broadway. Sophistication, which is often a synonym for smart snoot, rules the east. The respectable lives of westerners are devoid of allure.

And at first we somewhat guiltily start and fear that it may be so. We feel an emotion akin to embarrassment at our gauche stupidity. We feel apologetic in confronting the garish splendors of the metropolis.

We are painfully aware that the exciting era of western history is ended. No more do buffalo for the millions roam the plains. To be hunted at will. No more do Indians send their shrill war whoops across the prairies, to strike terror into the homesteaders' hearts.

That's going around the circle again. When you argue for the market first. When you argue for the farmer argue the necessity for the man out of a job find a market for what he can produce first.

The average westerner, then, is at once the master and slave of his magnificent countryside. He is heir to the traditions of the conquerors of the west. He is also heir to the land they left him.

In New York there are the excitements and allures, the flesh-pots if you will, for the few. But the mass, the average, knows little of the jazz age. It is confronted with the necessity of earning the daily penny. No one could think for a moment that the New Yorker one meets in speakeasies is either typically New York, or even average New York.

can farmer better than anything he has enjoyed in recent years. That moves the Omaha Journal-Stockman to inquire who is to buy the products of the farms if others are worse off than the farmers. It holds that it is more necessary to find buyers than it is to produce merchandise.

When farm prices here are down, as they are, most woefully at present, the farmers still have the food they have raised. The factories in this region are not large, and many of them are connected with food industries where employment is steady.
