Shouting across the continent for help in the presence of ample local resources would mean a blow at farm values and farm loans. It would mean that individuals with money to invest would steer away from the state.

help clarify understanding and encourage the healthiest and noblest state of mind. The death of Ole Buck, secretary and field manager of the Nebraska Press association and editor of the Printer-Journalist and U. S. Publisher, is a source of profound regret.

The weather is unfair in the way it reduces corn production. The estimated corn yield in nine middle western states is 1,728,872,000 bushels for 1931 as compared with 1,395,499,000 in 1930, while the yield in Nebraska is estimated at 186,776,000 for this year as compared with 235,695,000 last year.

President Hoover will undoubtedly be renominated, but his election will depend on the weather and other influences. It is doubtful if any human being could do better in the face of world and local conditions that have seemed to conspire to defeat his hopes and plans.

Before a group of editors recently, we heard a publisher explain how he had lost a subscriber to his competitor through the latter's too liberal concession. The evident attempt to discredit a competitor in his absence, even if based on fact, was ill advised and inexcusable.

Unusual times spur ambitious individuals to appear with all kinds of panaceas in the hope of prestige and power. New political parties are proposed and often launched with a desire more to advance selfish interests than to benefit the general public.

We know a fellow who actually talked himself out of a good job. He had so much hot air to dispense in explaining his own accomplishments with no prospect of ever quitting that he soon found himself bereft of every chance to show what he could do.

At a meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Labor in Grand Island this week, a resolution was passed favoring a five-day working week with only six hours in each day. The resolution also declared for a proportionate increase in the pay per hour.

Employing the Dollar. Christian Science Monitor: Cobwebs in the countinghouse of many a wall-to-wall family are resting with almost invisible threads the energy of millions of dollars.

the human barometer down a degree or two. To the discomfited that blab! Recognition for the Country Press. Publishers Auxiliary: Community newspapers of America will be represented in the exhibits at the Century of Progress in Chicago in 1933. It is pleasing to the Auxiliary to make such an announcement. In an editorial in last week's issue we urged the directors of the National Editorial association to get in touch with the directors of the Chicago exposition and see if the exposition authorities would recognize the place of the newspapers in the development of the West during the past century.

Danger Is Remote. Lincoln Journal: Not only is labor unemployment but money goes begging for employment. Many financial markets of the world Bank are refusing to handle public funds without pay from its owners, because they can find little employment for that money at a profitable rate. It is not in demand. Business lags, and when business lags profits drop and prices go down.

Colonel McCormick, Chicago publisher, finds greatest cause for alarm in the fact that the situation stimulates a need for action. With men idle and hungry they listen to all who have plans for relief. Sometimes those having the most fantastic relief schemes get most attention. New parties appear and the regular machinery from which government springs finds its action impeded. The Chicago man tells owners of capital that if they don't find industrial uses for their money that the politicians will at least find a way in which it can be spent.

Washington, D. C., September 5.—While Ramsay MacDonald is saying to disorganized labor in Great Britain, "I doled you so," Herbert Hoover, President of the United States could with equal justice and appropriateness be saying to American dolists, "I told you so."

The Washington police are getting what for also, now-come-see, so in large and well-timed doses. I told you a long time ago that under Crosby and his fellow-commissioners there would be no shoosh on anything that would improve the service, even if it took the dismissal of half the force to bring about the desired condition.

What you slowing up for? "Red light." "Aw, gwan! pay no attention to it."

Whatever else may be discovered before that Senate investigation committee gets through with its job—if ever—it is safe, even so early as this, to state that Bishop Cannon is no ordinary financier and yet he is not one we would care to have take charge of the government's or our own personal finances.

Wheat Is Maker Of Good Meats

Farmer Finds Profitable Way to Use Grain Grown To Fatten Hogs.

Guy Cantwell gives valuable information gained from experience in feeding hogs. His article in the August, 1931, Breeder's Gazette is as follows:

Years ago I laid down the principle that all feed produced on my farm should be fed there, so as to eliminate selling at a discount and buying at the other fellow's price.

Feeding Is Best.

Farmers who are grain men only are in a predicament. Livestock men still have a chance to make a profit on the grain. Grinding this grain at home offers more chance for profit than if we pay the cost of the local custom grinding.

Good for Baby Bees.

Montana found that wheat for fattening cattle, in a ration with linseed meal and sweet clover hay, was very satisfactory for baby heaves.

Has More Food Value.

If wheat prices are even with corn or below, feed the wheat. A bushel for bushel, it has about 10 per cent more feeding value. Wheat is now far below corn in price and this feeding advantage should send a lot of the wheat crop through the feed grinders to the livestock.

per cent less efficient than corn for lamb feeding market, but is better adapted for feeding to breeding stock.

Corn mixed with the wheat makes a better feed. At the Minnesota station wheat was found to be as efficient as barley. It is not as palatable nor is it as easy to hold the lambs on full feed.

Feeds Are Compared.

A very careful experiment was carried out in Minnesota on hogs. They were fed for 60 days, several lots—on corn with tankage, linseed meal, alfalfa meal, and minerals; on oats with tankage, linseed meal, alfalfa meal and minerals; on barley with the same additions as the other lots, and on rye the same way.

Coarse grinding wheat pays well.

Last year not a single bushel of my wheat was sold off the farm except for seed. The wheat this year too will all be fed; the feeding ratio is better this year than last.

Weeks spent in Czechoslovakia, visits to nurseries where baby pines are growing, picnics on the Seattle section of the Pacific coast, interesting courses at universities, summers in the mountains, and summers in the cities have been included in the variety of vacations enjoyed by teachers at the Wayne public school.

Visits Black Hills.

A fortnight in the Black Hills, with 53 miles of canyon travel between Sturgis and Spearfish, S. D., made Miss Coila Potras enthusiastic over a motor vacation in the mountains. Miss Potras was in Lyons the early part of the summer, and went with members of her family to points in the Black Hills, as well as to the University of Wyoming.

Takes Additional Work.

Miss Florence Peterson, who took special work at the University of Nebraska this summer, found it rather too warm for comfortable study, although she feels that she spent a most profitable summer. Last summer Miss Peterson was in Alaska.

Gardeners Begin To Plant Again

Borders of Peonies Should be Divided for Blooming by Next Spring

Gardeners whose flower rows are brightest in the spring are the ones who spend the autumn days preparing for spring bloom. These warm September days are, garden experts aver, the very time to do some planting, and much transplanting.

Peonies, for example, cannot be moved in the spring because the change of location will affect the blooming season. Therefore, peonies should be moved in the fall, when the old clumps may be divided with a sharp blade, leaving five or six "eyes" to each clump. Peonies should be planted near the top of the soil—many a peony plant has never bloomed because it was set too deep beneath the earth, and had to expend all its energies on growing out of the ground. For best results, peony plants should have rich, deep soil, and should not be shaded by shrubs or other plants.

Planting New Grass

Where grass has burned out, or is thin, a new stand would give your lawn a velvet look next spring. Now is the time to get the seed into the ground. Some gardeners recommend a mixture of 60 percent Kentucky blue grass with 40 percent of red top. Bunches should be tacked into the ground soon, if they are to winter successfully, and be ready for the much-anticipated spring blossoming. Narcissus and daffodils should go into rich loam six or eight inches deep and about three inches apart, if they appear to be strong, healthy bulbs. No fertilizer should go into the soil in which the bulbs are set, but a mulch of manure should cover them.

Annual Baby Beef Show Is Arranged

The annual baby beef show and sale at the Sioux City Stock Yards will be held September 22, 23 and 24, and Wayne county 4-H club members will sell their stock there following the county fair of this week. The showing is limited to boys and girls who have qualified as 4-H club members and who have been feeding animals under the direction of the state extension departments of agricultural colleges in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota. Entrants must be between the ages of 10 and 21. Entries will be filed by September 19 through county agents or club leaders. Animals must be in the barns Tuesday morning and they will be judged Wednesday morning. All cattle must be tuberculin tested within 90 days of the sale date. Each club member may sell or exhibit only one calf in each breed. Boys showing calves may, if they wish, stay in the dormitory arranged and supervised for them. Parents will arrange for girls' sleeping quarters.

McCormick-Deering New Model F-30 Farmall

THE NEW F-30 FARMALL which will be shown at the Wayne County Fair, is an improvement over former makes. It has thirty-five horse-power motor and amply meets four-pow demands. It has four-speed transmission and four-speed take-off with reversible front wheels. It is heavier throughout than old models, and its attachments make it possible to use the same tools used on former makes. This machine will be shown for the first time in the county at the fair this week. Be sure and see it. Corn can be harvested with the Farmall at a more uniform, steady rate than ever before. Farmall can be used for pulling corn binder or corn picker, saving time and labor. With the Farmall, it is possible for a man and a boy to pick three or four times as much corn as is possible when only hand power is used.

See This FARMALL with other McCormick-Deering equipment at the Wayne County Fair this week.

per readers as the Los Angeles, is in reality the mechanical star of "Dirigible," the Columbia theatre to be shown at the Gray theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 20, 21 and 22. Through the cooperation of the navy department, the Los Angeles was used in all of the scenes requiring a dirigible. Most of the picture was filmed at the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., home port of the Los Angeles. One of the thrills in "Dirigible," Columbia's epic of the day theatre, is revealed when Ralph Crofts, playing the role of one of the Navy's crack aviators books his plane, in flight, to a trapeze affair swung beneath the giant dirigible "Los Angeles," and then takes off again. Jack Holt plays the role of the commander of the dirigible. Many a high hat covers a low brow. Pasadena Post.

Show Los Angeles In Coming Picture The navy rigid airship, ZR-3, more familiarly known to newspaper readers as the Los Angeles, is in reality the mechanical star of "Dirigible," the Columbia theatre to be shown at the Gray theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 20, 21 and 22. Through the cooperation of the navy department, the Los Angeles was used in all of the scenes requiring a dirigible. Most of the picture was filmed at the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J., home port of the Los Angeles. One of the thrills in "Dirigible," Columbia's epic of the day theatre, is revealed when Ralph Crofts, playing the role of one of the Navy's crack aviators books his plane, in flight, to a trapeze affair swung beneath the giant dirigible "Los Angeles," and then takes off again. Jack Holt plays the role of the commander of the dirigible. Many a high hat covers a low brow. Pasadena Post.

Possessing the basic goodness of sound design and fine manufacture

Chevrolet contracting rods are matched in sets of six to within one-quarter of an inch, and are individually fitted by hand to the crankshaft. Bearings are of Babcock metal cast into the rods under heavy air pressure and at 800 degrees Fahrenheit.

From the selection of raw materials to the completion of the finished Chevrolet product, each process of building, assembling and checking the Chevrolet Six is marked by extreme care and precision. An exhaustive system of test and inspection makes certain that every part meets specified dimensions exactly. Many of these parts are held to limits of one ten-thousandth of an inch. No manufacturer in the industry uses more care or precision in building and testing than Chevrolet.

Just as every part of the car is soundly built, every feature is soundly designed.

In planning the motor, Chevrolet engineers were not content to offer the public anything less than tried and proved design. They know that the only satisfactory way to get smooth, flexible power in a car is to use at least six cylinders. So they adopted the six-cylinder engine without compromise. And this is what you get in today's Chevrolet Six.

As a result of this sound designing and sound manufacturing, you can buy a Chevrolet and know you are getting a genuinely good automobile - soundly designed, soundly built, basically and technically right.
