"This is the year for young people to go to school," R. E. Temple postmaster at Hoskins, is convinced. "With everything cheaper than it has been for years, young folks who have some ready money will wisely spend it on educating themselves to better positions. And with so many out of work, more young people will have time to go to school this year than ever," he observes.

Young people are going to school this year in encouraging numbers. At Wakefield, says Supt. W. C. Jackson, the enrollment is this year the largest in the history of the school. In Wayne public schools the enrollment has been climbing steadily since the beginning, and at Winslow, there are more pupils in almost every class than there were last year. Of the 15 persons who graduated from the training school twelfth grade last spring, it is also reported that all but two are now following some higher education.

Education is, in itself, no magic power, educators tell us. It is only in a measure of education gives to the individual ability to develop and to express himself that it has value. And it is in this newer expression of education for greater numbers that forward-looking people are taking hope.

No Place Like Nebraska. Cotton and tobacco as Nebraskan crops, and flax and hies that blossom in September all sound like fables, but they happen to be true this year. Perhaps, like the Californians, we should begin speaking of the "unusual" features of our climate. For stalwart, broad-leaved tobacco plants are thriving in two short rows on the garden plot of the William Brueckner home at Hoskins. And some of the tobacco has been picked and its growing started. The big leaves are watched carefully during the growing period so that nothing shall tear them. The plants on the Brueckner place are ideally situated in a sheltered back of some vines and a tall hedge, so winds do not wither them, and the sunny south-south is free to thrive.

A equally surprising, however, are the cotton plants which Rev. Alf. Stone of Concord has coaxed into maturity in his garden. All summer he has watched carefully the development of his small cotton plants, and now, with the coming of fall days, the first boll is beginning to show unmistakable signs of ripening. "The frost will catch it though," Rev. Stone asserts, although he and everyone interested in the unusual plants wishes that frost would not touch them, and that the cotton "would have a chance to turn fluffy from the bolls."

As for the Easter lily that is blooming in September—that freakish plant beloved to Mrs. H. F. Kohlmeier of Wakefield. It was given to her Easter day of this year as a blossoming plant. When the blossoms faded, and summer came, she set the potted plant outside for the summer, thinking that it could be brought into the house later to force early spring blossoms. The other day, however, someone noticed that the Easter lily had a bulb, and now it stands in state bearing a single majestic blossom, not less attractive for all that it is several months out of season. Perhaps, the Kohlmeiers think, it is the more charming for being so unique.

At the County Fair. "I had no intention of trying for a premium," stated John Morgan modestly when he brought his bouquet of garden flowers to the Wayne county fair Thursday. "I thought, though, that folks would enjoy seeing my flowers." Glowing orange and red canna blossoms, a spike of bright blue delphinium, and long sprays of greenery made up the sheaf of blossoms, which Mr. Morgan so graciously cut from his garden and brought to the fair for the pleasure it certainly gave to those who saw it.

Wayne Municipal Band is planning a benefit dance to be given at the newly-decorated pavilion Friday evening, October 9. Proceeds from the affair are to be used for band benefit.

Miss Agnes Wangstrom of Winslow, voice pupil of Miss Ardath Comp, took first among women in the district Atwater Kent radio contest last Friday. James Stark of Norfolk, took first among the young men. The two, 80 to Omaha with a few days to participate in the state contest, with winners of four other districts.

Auker Baby Beef Wins

Champion Baby Beef

Attendance Fair At Fall Festival

Angus Animal Heads Winners

Sale of Calves Follows Interstate Showing of Finest Beeves.

Many Clubs Show

Judges Praise Offerings From This Section When Awards Go To Long List.

MILTON and Blaine Auker's fine Angus calf was first prize Angus and reserve champion at the interstate baby beef show held in Sioux City Wednesday. The animal which had attracted so much attention at the Wayne county fair seemed to please judges of prize animals which came from South Dakota, Nebraska, and Iowa farms, for a total of 347 calves were on show.

Other winners among Wayne club boys were as follows: Willard Blecke, fifth division Hereford; William Peters, seventh division Hereford; Elmer Peters, sixth division Hereford; Walter Carlson, fifth division Shorthorn; and fifth division Hereford; Don Lutt, seventh division Hereford; Deforest Roggenbach, fifth division Hereford; Don Baird, fifth division Hereford; Lowell Meyer, fifth division Angus.

Among Wayne county club members who won awards at the show were also the following, who are members of clubs in towns other than Wayne: Florence Newman, Hoskins, seventh division Hereford; Melvin Stamm, Hoskins, seventh division Hereford; John Brugger, Winslow, sixth division Hereford; Wilbur Ruhlow, Hoskins, fifth division Angus; Franklin Zimmerman, Hoskins, fifth division Shorthorn.

"The boys will all hate to part with their animals," said the father of the Auker boys. Sale of the beeves is scheduled to take place today.

Winners at Wayne. An Angus calf belonging to Milton Auker took championship, and a Shorthorn belonging to Willard Blecke took reserve championship among the 80 baby beeves shown at the Wayne county fair last week by boys and girls in 4-H club work. The entire showing was one of the finest in quality in the state, according to the judge, and also one of the largest. The calves were shipped to Sioux City the first of the week to be entered in the interstate show and sale.

Milton Auker's calf, which he had fed since January 1, weighed 855 pounds. It had made a daily gain of 24 pounds. Willard Blecke's Shorthorn weighed 860 pounds and had made a daily gain of 2.25 pounds since last January.

In the junior Hereford class awards were made as follows: Willard Blecke, first; Walford Carlson, second; Deforest Roggenbach, third; Twila Herman, fourth; Verne Troutman, fifth; and John Brugger, sixth.

Dixon Pioneers Had Anniversary

Sunday's reunion at Wakefield park of members of the Mitchell family marked the sixtieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Dixon county pioneers. Since 1875, the couple has resided in the county, making their first home on a homestead in Allen vicinity. For the last few years the Mitchells have made their home in Allen.

It was in 1871 that the Mitchells were wed in Wisconsin, where they lived for about four years, coming directly to Dixon county from the east. During the years of their residence in this section, the Mitchells have identified themselves with all the qualities of neighborliness that make for lasting friendships. Mr. Mitchell, as a fiddler, has been present at many community affairs where music was needed, and has won, as well, many awards for his fiddling at old-time contests.

RULES OF HEALTH PROVE EFFECTIVE IN BARBER SHOPS

H. E. Raffenberg, state inspector of barber shops, was in Wayne Friday en route to Omaha from points in the north section of the state. He mentioned the gratifying progress made by barbers in sanitation and public service in recent years. A barber must pass a rigid physical examination and present a certificate of health before receiving a license to work at his trade. He is required to practice rules of utmost cleanliness, and he is expected to refuse to work on anyone suspected of having a contagious or infectious disease. Facilities looking to highest sanitation are enforced. The state inspector keeps himself informed on conditions in shops over the state, and he has full authority to act in behalf of the public safety and welfare. Mr. Raffenberg mentioned that many hotels require certificates of health from employees at proper intervals as an insurance against disease. It is a noteworthy fact that enforcement of rules of health in public places has made long forward strides in the last twenty years, and that as a consequence dangers from communicable diseases have been greatly reduced. In fact, it is growing harder and harder to be unhealthy, and about the only thing left to check out ahead of time is to have an automobile wreck.

Business Man Dies On Sunday

R. H. Mathewson's Demise Occurs in Sioux City After Long Illness.

Services Tuesday

Former Wakefield Banker Had Resided in Community for Nearly Four Decades.

R. H. MATHEWSON, 66, prominent business man and former banker in Wakefield, died in Sioux City Sunday following a long period of ill health. Last rites were held from the Mathewson home in Wakefield at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. P. M. Orr of Lexington officiating. Assisting Rev. Orr were the Rev. A. E. Cooper of Cozad and the Rev. E. F. Pearson of Sioux City. Pallbearers included H. A. Bowman of Norfolk, L. C. Nuernberger, W. C. Jackson, H. Hallin, Dr. G. W. Henton and Dr. L. J. Killion. Interment was in Wakefield cemetery where short services were held.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mathewson and her four children survive. Edward Mathewson is a student at the university of Nebraska. Eleanor and Mary are teachers. A sister, Miss Elmer Mathewson, of Fremont, Conn., also survives. She was not able to come for the funeral.

Robert Mathewson was born May 19, 1865, at Pomfret, Conn., where he lived during his early years. In 1884, he came to Norfolk where he was established for a number of years before he came to Wakefield, where he lived for nearly four decades.

Mr. Mathewson and Miss Elizabeth McKichan of Sioux City were married at Sioux City June 15, 1899, returning to Wakefield to make their home.

Always generous, Mr. Mathewson took a prominent place in the community and its affairs. He had been for many years a member of the Masonic order in Wakefield, and of the Shrine at Sioux City. A member of the Presbyterian church, he had served as an elder for some 28 years, and had been active in its work during that time.

Meet Next Week In North Platte

Thirty-second annual convention of the Nebraska Osteopathic association will be held at North Platte September 29, 30 and 31. Dr. L. W. Jamieson and Dr. T. H. Jones of Wayne, are among those invited to attend the extensive program. The main attraction is a clinic in eye, nose and throat troubles being special.

Congregation Is Fifty Years Old

St. Paul Lutheran Church Observes Anniversary On Next Sunday.

Special Services

Rev. W. C. Heidenreich Will Deliver Sermons In Honor Of Occasion.

ST. PAUL'S Lutheran church of Wayne is half a century old this Friday and the congregation will observe the anniversary with special services next Sunday. Rev. W. C. Heidenreich, pastor, will preach a special sermon at the morning hour and the choir is arranging music. The evening League and worship hours will also have special features.

St. Paul's congregation was organized September 25, 1881 at LaForte in the old court house. Charter members numbered 13 and were John T. Mettlen, Sallia Mettlen, Christian Flohr, Engeler Flohr, Anton Kluever, Amelia Kluever, Frank Pelren, Carolina Pelren, Anna Ewing, B. F. Feather, Augusta Flohr, Amanda Flohr and Flora Flohr. None of the charter members remain here. Mrs. John Benning and Mrs. N. J. Juhlin are among the oldest in membership on the present church roll which includes 480 baptized members and 322 confirmed members.

Services were first held in homes of members 50 years ago. Rev. George H. Schnur, sr. was called from Ponca as pastor the fall of 1883 at a salary of $400. His services began immediately. The new church was received into the English synod of Nebraska at Tekamah October 5, 1881. It was supported largely by mission contributions until 1909 when it became self sustaining.

A chapel 18 by 26 feet was built the winter of 1881 at a cost of $317 on the present site of the church and was completed by February, 1882. Sunday school was then organized and services were held in the new structure. The building was rented for $5 a month to house part of the local school. Presbyterians used the chapel for a time, as also did a Swedish congregation.

In 1884 the congregation put up a new 32 by 64 foot building, the first unit of the present structure. This cost $2,300 and was dedicated in December, 1884.

Dr. Schnur, who resigned in October, 1885, was followed by Rev. M. L. Melick, who came in April, 1886, and served the congregation until August, 1892. Rev. D. L. Kunkelman was here from December, 1892, until January, 1896. During his pastorate the state synod convened at the local church. Rev. W. C. Eckhart was pastor for one year beginning in April, 1896. After he left the pulpit was vacant for three years.

Rev. C. J. Ringer was chosen pastor and began his service December 1, 1899. During his pastorate the parsonage and lot were purchased and the house remodeled, the whole cost being $1,800. The church edifice was remodeled in 1905, the tower, chancel recess, pastor's study, Sunday school room, lights, heating plant and art windows being added. The windows were memorial gifts. Rev. George H. Schnur gave as memorial to his father, first pastor of the church, the cruciform window over the altar and the transom window bearing the name of the church and (Continued on Page Eight)

Officers Elected For Corporation

Contracts Will Be Let At Meeting In November It Is Planned.

Organization of the corporation to have charge of financing the new dormitory at the Wayne State Teachers College was perfected here Monday when officers were elected and articles of incorporation approved, signed and sent to the secretary of state for filing and recording and to the county clerk for recording.

Officers are: J. J. Ahern, president; C. M. Craven, vice president; Mrs. Elva Brockway, secretary; and Halle W. Ley, treasurer. F. S. Berry is the other member of the corporation and a director.

Arthur D. Baker of Grand Island architect, will have plans and specifications ready the middle of October when the corporation will advertise for bids. Contract will be let November 9, the time of the state normal board meeting. The meeting is scheduled for Lincoln, but probably be changed to Wayne.

HERALD'S LIST IS SCRUTINIZED AND DULY SET FORTH

THE Herald's circulation has just had its annual audit by the Ralph L. McKee Company, official auditors of the Nebraska Press Association, and despite drought and depression, it is found larger than it was a year ago. Considerable increase was discovered in more distant outlying areas with which Wayne is anxious to establish closer and more constant trade relations. Elimination of a number of foreign subscriptions—last spring on account of shortage has been more than made up by the addition of new readers within this trade territory, as the audit shows. The auditors find that the Herald has the largest bona fide circulation, among weekly newspapers in the state. If completeness of its coverage of rural routes out of its point of publication can be equalled by any weekly or daily publication in this or any other state, the Herald would be glad to know. The promptness with which subscription payments are made in advance proves quality as well as numbers. No one is asked to take the Herald on the ground of charity. No subscription is allowed to run indefinitely without settlement. No one who refuses to pay, is urged to accept the paper as a gift beyond the labor of taking it out of the mails. The official audit of the Herald's circulation which is made each year and which has just been completed, is proof of service to both local and foreign advertisers. For advertisers the audited circulation is more important than to require a grocer to weigh the butter or coffee he sells, because he could make a fairly close guess on either, whereas buying advertising space in a newspaper without analysis and verification is buying something absolutely in the dark. Anyone interested is invited to inspect the report of the list at any time.

Council Gives Extended Time

City Gas Distribution System Will Be In At Stated Date.

Plan Completion

Employment of Local Men Is Promised By Company in Making Working Plans.

A TIME extension of about six weeks has been granted the Mid-West Natural Gas company for the completion of the Wayne distribution system. The concession was made by members of the city council, gathered Monday evening for a special session with City Attorney Brittain and H. R. Williams, franchise agent of the gas company.

The council agreed that completion of the distribution system by November 15 would be satisfactory in view of the expressed intention of the company to install the system in the near future. According to the terms of the resolution adopted by the council, "said city may cancel and annual said franchise, if, on or before November 15, 1931, the grantee shall have failed to complete construction of its distribution system within said city and shall have not commenced to furnish gas to consumers of said city."

Employment for many local men will be provided when the laying of the lines begins, Mr. Williams asserted in answer to questions put to him by councilmen. It is the intention of the company to employ local labor wherever the job is such that it does not require the services of experts.

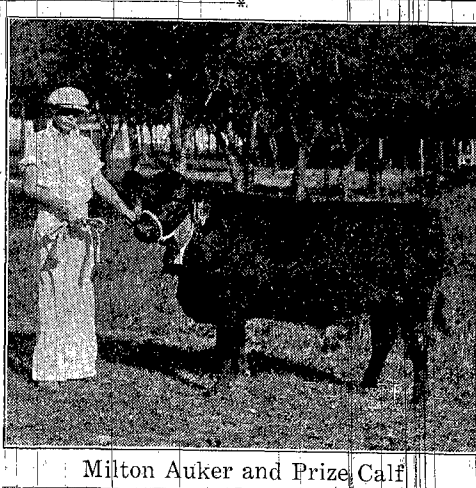

Delays in the laying of lines, however, Mr. Williams explained, being unavoidable. The large company, working in five states, and beginning to serve 60 towns this year, finds it difficult to move rapidly in the matter of serving new sections, although work and company appropriations will make it possible for service in this section to be effected this autumn.

Equipment is being placed for the digging from Winnebago to Wayne and Wakefield, and shipments of material are also coming into this section. Work will begin soon, and will progress rapidly once it is started, company men promise.

Howard Porter, brother of S. E. Porter and James Porter of this section, died within the last fortnight at a veterans' hospital in San Francisco, according to word received by the relatives. S. E. Porter went to San Francisco when he received word of his brother's fatal illness, and planned funeral arrangements for the middle of last week, with burial near San Francisco.

Among the first around Winslow to enlist in the World War forces was Howard Porter, who saw almost a year of service on the other side. On his discharge from the service, he came back to Winslow for several months, after which he went to the coast.

Howard Porter, a son of Andy Porter of Fries, Va., was born and reared at Fries. His father survives him as do several sisters at Danville, Va., and other relatives in the east. Mr. Porter, who was 34 years old at the time of his death, had never married.

Local Methodist Student Group Pastor To Move Plans On Sale

Rev. W. W. Whitman Goes To Superior Charge After Four Years.

Rev. Capsey Here Enjoy Pep Rally

Windsie, Carroll and Wakefield Pastors Are Appointed for Another Year.

REV. W. W. WHITMAN who has served the Wayne Methodist church as pastor four years, was assigned by the Methodist conference in Omaha this week to the Superior, Neb., church. During Rev. Whitman's pastorate here nearly half of the present church roll was received into membership. Pipe organ and chimes have been added and the interior of the church remodeled at a cost of about $10,000. Rev. Whitman will conduct services next Sunday and then go to his new field at Superior.

Rev. H. C. Capsey who has closed four years of successful work in the Geneva church, comes to Wayne. Rev. and Mrs. Capsey will be here next Tuesday or Wednesday and former will have charge of services October 4. Rev. and Mrs. Capsey have three children, a daughter teaching at Franklin, a daughter in the grades and a son in the high school.

Rev. Whitman's new charge at Superior is a good-sized and flourishing congregation. Many regret his leaving but are glad to know he is so nicely located at a post of activity.

Rev. L. F. Townsley, former pastor here, moves from Grand Island to Fairbury. Rev. William Kilborn, another former Wayne pastor who was serving Trinity church in Grand Island, will locate at Gothenburg. Rev. J. G. Shick, also formerly of Wayne, returns to Cambridge.

Rev. Earl E. Bowen, brother of Prof. O. R. Bowen of Wayne, returns to Norfolk for a fifth year. Rev. David Simpson of Carroll, Rev. Rollie Poe of Wakefield, and Rev. W. A. Mansur of Windsie, have been returned to their charges for another year.

Veteran of War Passes In West

Howard Porter Was Among First Winside Men to Enlist In Service.

Howard Porter, brother of S. E. Porter and James Porter of this section, died within the last fortnight at a veterans' hospital in San Francisco, according to word received by the relatives. S. E. Porter went to San Francisco when he received word of his brother's fatal illness, and planned funeral arrangements for the middle of last week, with burial near San Francisco.

Attendance Fair At Fall Festival

Crowds Are Lessened By Unfavorable Weather Here on Friday.

Exhibits Excellent

Expenses Will Be Met By Drawing Some From Reserve Fund of the Association.

ALTHOUGH weather was unfavorable and prevented most activities Friday, Wayne county fair closed a four-day program Saturday with a fair attendance Wednesday and Thursday crowds were good and Saturday the best, though on no one day was attendance up to the large all expenses, but the board will draw from a surplus fund and will thus have sufficient to meet the costs which total about $9,000.

Children under 15 were admitted free each day and Wednesday free to the grandstand. These concessions lowered proceeds somewhat, but the association wanted young folks to have an opportunity to attend the fair.

Exhibits Outstanding. Mr. Howser, formerly with the college at Brookings, S. D., and now with the railroad, judged baby beeves and horses. The baby beef exhibit of about 80 heads was one of the highest quality in the state. Byron French of Pags, judged agricultural products. He had been at the state fair and said the exhibits were good here, considering the year. Especially large was the showing of corn. W. M. Mills of Auburn, judged poultry which made a good showing. K. C. Fouts of Seward, had charge of judging hogs. This department had the largest exhibits of any and was one of the best in the state. Mrs. Whytey of Battle Creek, had art judging. Mrs. James McEachern of Lincoln, judged sewing and cooking. Women had excellent exhibits in all these. D. Hall judged flowers, which were just fair. Mrs. E. P. Fleetwood and Miss Alice Garwood judged the school exhibits and these were good.

Entertainment. The Oyamas, troupe of Japanese audiences with their varied stunts each day. Happy Ray review, Will Morris, who is a cyclist and the Carroll, brothers, and Sun. (Continued on Page Eight)

Faculty Member Addresses Club

Dr. Maurice Griffin Is Well Impressed With Wayne In Every Way.

Wayne Kiwanis Monday heard an address by Dr. Maurice Griffin who came from Missouri to instruct in psychology at the Wayne State Teachers College, following regular noonday luncheon at Hotel Stratton.

Dr. Griffin complimented citizens on the excellent appearance of Wayne. The city looks as well as any Dr. Griffin has visited of the same size and larger. Small cities should specialize in interest, the speaker said. A place below 5,000 should do one thing well. If it is a school town it should promote education. If a factory town it should specialize in that line.

Several Kiwanis members are planning to attend the Nebraska Iowa district convention to be held at Fremont October 6 to 8.

Make Mothers Trip. Rolfe W. Ley and D. S. Wrightman were in Omaha and Lincoln Monday and Tuesday on business.

Southwest Wakefield (By Mrs. Lawrence Ring)

Mrs. W. W. Evans entertained at an informal party Wednesday afternoon. The residence on the C. F. Sandahl farm has been pointed this week by Olson and Swanson. Many from here won prizes on exhibits of various kinds at the fair. Names of winners will be found in this and later issues. Mr. and Mrs. Will Krohn and family of Wausa, were down Thursday to attend the fair and visit in the Harris Sorenson home. The ladies are sisters.

The Gus Swanson and Art Munson families were supper guests in the Dick Sandahl home Sunday to celebrate Mrs. Sandahl's birthday. The Ed Sandahl family were evening guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ring and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ring were in Sioux City Tuesday when the former purchased feeders. The Walter Herman family were there the same day for the sale of Twila's baby beef.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Lyngen entertained at Sunday dinner and supper. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Okeboom and Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Johnson with their families, all of Laurel. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Korn and children joined them for supper.

C. A. Bard who showed hogs at the fair was injured in the tugh Saturday evening. When loading the animals to return home, one of them tore a gash with his tusk which required seven stitches to close. He is improving and except for soreness suffered no bad effects.

Mrs. C. A. Bard, Mrs. C. L. Bard and Mrs. Lawrence Ring attended Mrs. Emeline Ring's birthday party Saturday afternoon at which her daughter, Mrs. Ed Hallquist, of Red Oak, Iowa, was also honored. Misses Phoebe and Evelyn Ring served a delicious two-course luncheon.

Helen Erickson celebrated her sixth birthday Sunday when her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Erickson, Margaret Hypse, also Mrs. Alford Johnson and children and the Lawrence Ring family were dinner guests. Mr. and Mrs. John Bauden and Mr. and Mrs. E. E.

She's Film Find

During the filming of a home talent series at San Pedro, Calif., the beauty and ability of Geraldine Barten, above, attracted the attention of prominent movie officials. As a consequence, she will play important parts in forthcoming motion picture productions.

Hypse were also there for supper and the C. F. Sandahl, C. L. Bard and Carl Helgen families were evening visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Delitt and baby daughter of Reynolds, Ill., who came Thursday for a week's visit with relatives, were dinner and supper guests Tuesday in the Henry Nelson home.

A family dinner in the Neil McCorkindale home was also attended by the Edgar Larson, Henry Nelson, Jack Soderberg and Russell Johnson families. Monday they spent in the latter home. Mrs. Delitt brought Mr. Johnson's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Campbell and daughter, Helen, came Saturday morning for the fair and to spend Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rubick. Mrs. Alice Evans accompanied them to visit in the Henry Rubick and W. W. Evans homes.

Miss Campbell remained for a long visit with her parents, returning home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bruner of North Dakota, who assisted in corn picking last fall, came to Rubick's Saturday evening to be ready for picking again.

Mrs. Paul Olson planned a delightful surprise for her husband for Wednesday evening honoring his fiftieth birthday. Following games by the children and visiting by the elders an elaborate two-course luncheon was served in which the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Einar Nelson, Mrs. Ed Weinder, Mrs. John Barden, Mrs. Herman Kay, Mrs. Clarence Pearson, Mrs. Orville Erickson and Mrs. Lawrence Ring. A few well chosen remarks were given by a quartet and the group sang "Sweetest as the Years Go By." Ebba Erickson and Clarence Olson gave instrumental selections. Others present besides those mentioned were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleetwood and Donald, the Oscar Peterson, Carl Helgen and Alfred Johnson families and Reuben and Ida Olson.

Confesses Forgery On Wausa Bank

San Diego Calif. September 23—Edward D. Ranks, 31, was arrested here yesterday by police, who said he confessed a $16,000 forgery on a Wausa, Neb., banker.

Police said Ranks deposited a check for $16,000 made payable by George F. Swanson, Wausa, Neb., to "George F. Swanson, Jr." in a bank here later using the credit to buy a restaurant in San Ysidro, Calif., and a home here.

Swanson telegraphed to California authorities that he had not issued the check and Ranks' arrest followed.

Wausa Neb., September 23—C. E. Swanson, vice-president of the Commercial State bank of Wausa today said he believed forgeries of his name on checks by a man held at San Diego, Calif., would amount to more than $200,000.

Swanson said the man came here some time ago, bought a stock of goods from him and gave a $2,500 no-fund check on a Cincinnati bank. The man left Wausa, where he was known as Edgar Martin Johler, and passed numerous checks at cities between here and California.

Conduct Services Saturday Morning

Rev. P. A. Davies had charge of funeral rites Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the Beckenhauer parlors for John Wagner, 75, who died last Thursday morning. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Deceased had no known relatives. His patents and others of his family lost their lives in a disaster when he was a child and he was reared in an orphanage.

Mr. Wagner had lived at Wayne many years at intervals. He returned here last fall and had been employed in the Fisher & Wright lumber yard for a few months.

Considering the easy life he is leading at Doon, the world may be ready to admit that Wilhelm won the war. Indianapolis Star.

Professors Address Students In Chapel Each Wednesday Morning

Professor Britell Discusses Phases of Modern Age in First Address.

Arrange For Year Examination In English Confronts College Freshmen As First Semester Begins.

Chapel programs of the college this winter are being planned by a faculty committee appointed by Dr. U. S. Conn, and including Prof. Wilson, chairman, Mrs. Maude Joseph Smith, and Prof. J. Q. Owen. Chapel is held each Wednesday morning at 9:15 in the auditorium, where programs will be held, and announcements made. Attendance is compulsory.

Prof. I. H. Britell spoke yesterday morning on the "Mechanical Age." His thesis was that the age in which we live is supremely all right, and that the ills which beset us are mental, purely. It is an attitude that the next great revolution must take place, he advocates. Rev. P. A. Davies and Rev. Janssen, a guest, took charge of devotional, which will be made a regular feature of the chapel services each week.

Dr. Amy Chateaufort will speak next Wednesday morning concerning her summer's experiences in France, where she traveled and took advanced studies in the language. A local minister will also appear on the program.

Plan Faculty Dinner

Members of the faculty club are planning to have the first meeting of the year at the cafeteria Friday evening, when they will assemble for dinner. Following dinner, election of officers and a business meeting will be held. G. W. Costerian, last year's president, will preside, and members of the committee include the Misses Mary Currier, Esther Dewitz and Mildred Piper.

With the beginning of classes at the college, it has been found that several of the groups are too large to be handled easily, so groups have been sectioned. Especially heavy enrollments were in the freshman English, grammar, arithmetic and education sections. Miss Olive Hise has been added to the faculty to take charge of three freshman English classes.

Classes have not started officially as yet, but expect to do so this week.

Aimee Is Newlywed Again

Aimee McPherson is back in the news again with her marriage to David Luttoo, Pasadena, Calif., musician. They are shown above after the ceremony. Luttoo, who was leading baritone in Mrs. McPherson's opera, "The Iron Furnace," will collaborate with his wife in the production of a series of religious operas.

Crop Conditions Spotted In State

Most Sections Have Both Good and Bad Streaks Judge Observes.

Crops are spotted all over the state, according to August Biermann who has just finished judging agricultural products at nine county fairs. When questioned by the Herald, Mr. Biermann said it is impossible to say any section has good crops or that any has poor ones for both kinds may be found within five miles in almost any section. The best corn Mr. Biermann found on his travels is in territory between Wisner, Baur, and Oakland. South part of Wayne county is better than the north but the whole county has better crops than some localities in every other direction. Mr. Biermann thinks corn in the best territory will run about 50 bushels to the acre. Other fields vary on down and some will make only fodder.

Each of the fairs visited by Mr. Biermann had good corn displays. People made a special effort this year to have a showing of corn. They take pride in corn they have grown in their yard. Many entered displays to help make expenses. As a whole the quality of corn was lower than in most years.

Oats and wheat were spotted this year over the state also. On the whole crops are more nearly average than corn for they were harvested before the intense heat came.

State To Distribute Fish In Streams

Lincoln, September 22—Frank B. O'Connell, state game warden, today outlined plans for distribution of more than a million fish in Nebraska's ponds and lake this fall, beginning October 20.

The number of the fish to be distributed will be dependent, the warden revealed, on the crop of state hatcheries and salvage from irrigation waters. He hopes, however, that the number will go considerably over the 800,000 fish distributed last fall.

The railway fish car and five refrigerated fish trucks will be used in the distribution which will last until about Dec. 1. Mr. O'Connell said Tuesday.

Approximately half of the fish to be distributed will come from the state's own hatcheries. Mr. O'Connell estimates that about 300,000 fish will be salvaged from irrigation ditches while about 200,000 will be purchased from private hatcheries.

The fish will be mostly bass, croppies, sunfish and perch. For the most part they will be fingerlings but some adults will be included in the distribution.

Deeds to Property Recorded in Wayne

Andrew Stamm and wife to M. E. Way, September 22 for $1,600, quit claim deed to the northwest quarter of section 24, township 27, range three.

William A. H. Bauermeister and wife to William Brueckner, September 22 for $1, the south half of section 31, township 25, range two.

Norfolk Defeats Grant of Franchise

Norfolk News, Sept. 23—The opponents of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company's natural gas franchise won an overwhelming victory in the special election held Tuesday. The proposal was defeated in every one of the eight voting precincts and the total margin of defeat was more than two to one.

There was 2,963 ballots cast, aside from a few mail votes, and 2,062 of them were against the franchise to 901 in favor of it.

Wants to Stay

Janina Smolaska, above, movie actress and "Miss Poland, 1928," is fighting deportation for overstaying her six months' permit in the United States. She was recently married to Walter Grabowski, Los Angeles hair dealer, and her lawyer contends her marriage to a United States citizen permits her to return to this country any time. If the government persists in its efforts to deport Mrs. Grabowski, the case will be fought to the highest courts, her lawyer states.

CITY COUNCIL

Wayne, Nebraska, September 21, 1931.

To Ernest Bichel, J. S. Horney, I. E. Ellis, J. E. W. Lewis, W. S. Miller and C. E. Wright, members of the city council of Wayne, Nebraska.

You and each of you are hereby notified that there will be a special meeting of the city council called to meet September 21, 1931, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of considering the general work of the council and any and all business that may come before the council.

(Signed) Walter S. Bressler, W. M. Orr, (Seal) City Clerk, Mayor.

We, the members of the city council, of Wayne, Nebraska, hereby accept this and give our votes.

Signed—I. E. Ellis, Walter S. Miller, Ernest D. Bichel, J. S. Horney, C. E. Wright, J. S. Horney, September 21, 1931.

The city council met pursuant to call at 7:30 o'clock p. m., with the following members present: Mayor-Orr, Councilmen Bichel, Lewis, Miller, Wright, Ellis and Horney. Absent none. Present, W. S. Bressler, clerk, and Jas. E. Brittain, City Attorney.

The following resolution was presented and read:

Resolved by the mayor and city council of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, that in view of the expressed intention of the Mid-West Natural Gas company, its successors or assigns, to proceed with the construction of a gas distribution system in Wayne, Nebraska, and to have it completed or on before November 15, 1931, the mayor and city council of Wayne, Nebraska, hereby agree to completion on or before November 15, 1931, of the proposed gas distribution system within Wayne, Nebraska, in accordance with the provisions of Section 3, Ordinance No. 362 of said city, shall be satisfactory compliance with the construction time requirements of the gas franchise (Ordinance No. 362) granted to Mid-West Natural Gas Company, January 27, 1931. It is further resolved that said city may cancel and annual said franchise if on or before November 15, 1931, the grantee shall have failed to complete construction of its distribution system within said city and shall have not commenced to furnish gas to consumers in said city.

Motion was made by Wright and seconded by Miller that the above resolution be adopted as read. Motion carried.

Motion to adjourn. Motion carried.

What's Wrong?
THE world is awry, and responsibility is laid to many and various causes. The war, multiplicity of machines, reckless speculations, and wild and careless living are held responsible. Doubtless the trouble may be attributed to more than one source. Undoubtedly everybody may reasonably accept a share of blame.

After the war which bedeviled the world from one end to the other, the much talked of "normalcy" did not come as expected. In fact, it never seems to have arrived. The orgy of spending that followed the war was not normal. Deflation was inevitable, but it flattened a lot of capital and wrecked many hopes. The years that followed were feverishly up and down. The widespread thirst to get much for little caused the Wall street market to blow up, and the paralyzing effect spread over the country like a funeral pall. Unemployment and underconsumption came along apace. Surpluses piled up and prices went down.

Many persons who managed to make livings during the high tide didn't want jobs until they couldn't get them. The desirability of doing business on one's own hook with little effort and much leisure petered out, and then came a demand for places bearing wages or salaries. Accordingly, the latter, with general shrinkage in buying power, were soon exhausted.

The bad condition from which all pray for early deliverance, moved in a circle to cause and must move in a circle to remove. Everybody should assume a share of responsibility, avoid shifting burdens to others, cut down the number of automobile trips taken for mere joy and get down to solid terra in thinking and working out every task in hand.

Let us quit trying to get much for little or nothing, give ample for every return, buy and improve as liberally as resources will warrant, and see that others have the same fair deal that we want and expect for ourselves. Let none shirk, seek cover or vacate a job with the expectation that it will run itself. Then we may prompt the circle to move in the right direction, and in a short time gather enough momentum to accomplish the "normalcy," so much desired after and ever since the war.

Gold of Sincerity

ONE reason Dr. A. L. Bixby Lincoln Journal's poet-philosopher, is able to express unbiased judgment is that he has never sought public office, has never been on the alert to grab special privilege. The fact that his utterances are sometimes in sharp conflict with those of babbling politicians who offer doubtful and often specious cures for public ills, makes his sincerity and candor and wisdom show up to advantage. Appreciating the giant task of an executive leader in most trying times the world over, Dr. Bixby offers words of encouragement and support rather than cautious and obstructive criticism. Men like Bixby who delve below the surface, comprehend broadly and speak without selfish motives, are the truest friends of the masses.

Dr. Bixby leaves soon for the Pacific coast to spend a few months, but his contributions to the Journal will not be interrupted. On the contrary, they will be enriched and enlivened by evidence of more of life's extremes than may be found in Nebraska. He will see on the one hand rich states and on the other impoverished wayfarers who are struggling to live on climate and scenery.

Earth Not Enough

GERTRUDE Carver who anticipates early death due to paralysis, writes enthusiastically of the body, how greatly she has enjoyed senses of taste, smell, hearing and sight, but refers indifferently to the possibilities of immortality. She thinks the wonders of the body are compensation enough without life beyond the grave. Granting that the physical structure was ingeniously fashioned, with thoughtful provision of a number of useful and pleasing senses, we share the hopes of most persons who are not satisfied with progress here and who, with experience gained, want to keep on growing and achieving in another and higher sphere. And despite the architectural excellence of the body, we would be terribly piqued if we were convinced that disintegration of the material automatically snuffed out the thinking entity for all time. We could not sing rhapsodies over preparation of a soul that is to perish as soon as its earthly tenement lapses into ruin.

In his speech before the American Legion at Detroit, President Hoover issued a warning against additional burdens on the United States treasury at this time. He says: "We can carry our present expenditures without jeopardy to national stability. We can carry on more without grave risks." As the struggle of the world is little less tense and serious than that during actual war, the president asked the veterans to lend their assistance in the work of economic recovery as they did in the armed conflict between nations. He mentioned that the stability of the world depends in large measure on the stability of the United States, and he invited the veterans to enlist their services in helping him maintain such stability.

An article in a current magazine tells of the success of Adalade F. Jennings of Rochester, N. Y., head of the Jennings detective agencies. Miss Jennings started on borrowed capital, and she was always a little ahead instead of a little behind in meeting her obligations. She now has a string of agencies, and in time she expects to have one in every principal city in the country. She is not austere, ugly and hard-boiled as her business would lead one to suspect. On the contrary, she has a most pleasing personality and most engaging manners. She is proving that a woman may score outstanding success in a line of service for which one would suppose she was not adapted and could not qualify.

Printing is one industry that has not decreased employes with introduction of new machines. The Lincoln Journal reports a steady increase in its pay roll from year to year, the increase during the first eight months of this year over the same period last year amounting to nearly $14,000. New labor-saving machines in the printing industry call for more skilled help, and the advantage lies in enlarged and perfected production. The Journal is an example of many newspaper plants that, despite depression and calamity, are contributing more and more to employment and doing more and more to develop purchasing power.

The Swope plan to stabilize industry and business and prevent economic disturbances in the future proposes an association of all industries, each employing more than fifty men, to balance production and consumption, thus protecting employes and owners alike. The Swope plan or any equally comprehensive one ought to be organized to protect farm prices and arrange a reasonable parity between farm products and manufactured commodities.

Some of the very ones who enlist the aid of a newspaper to build up deserved home support give their stationery and other job supplies to foreign houses. The newspaper contributes its space and its cash to community development, and some of those benefited cooperate by sending away for printing that could be done as well and cheaply at home. And every dollar thus spirited out of town weakens the instrument of constructive effort.

The Wayne county fair will be considered a success despite unusual obstacles. Drouth all summer hurt the fair, and then rain descended all one day to interfere. But crowds on three days were all that could have been expected, and under the circumstances results are very gratifying. Exhibits were large and interest was lively. The fair did well enough under unfavorable conditions to establish it anew as a desirable county institution.

The shout for aid for north Nebraska is not sufficiently specific to exclude from stricken areas such counties as Wayne which are not so badly off that they cannot get along on their own resources. Counties needing and wanting outside aid ought to be named. Wayne is not one of them. If it has any cases calling for charity, it is amply able to provide for them.

Though the automobile has become indispensable, contributing speed and facility to many activities, it is so handy and tempting that it often trespasses alarmingly on time and expense. It is so convenient that it is not allowed to park anywhere as long as prudence would sometimes advise.

Husband and wife do not have sufficient proprietorship in each other to justify personal violence as a result of disagreements. The law gives no more rights in the matter of inflicting punishment for abuse on husbands and wives than it does on those who are not so related.

England's suspension of the gold standard should encourage the author of "Coin's Financial School" to resign as candidate for president of the United States and journey over to London and establish headquarters there.

Advice Is Changed.

Omaha Journal Stockman: For centuries the standard advice to young and old has been to save, to economize, to lay up money for a rainy day. And a good many people have consistently followed this policy and are following it today.

Now we are informed that this is the wrong course. There has been too much of it. Savings banks never held such large sums of money and even Uncle Sam's Postal Savings bank has been more freely patronized this year than ever before. As a matter of fact we have entirely too much idle money in the country. That is one of the things that is the matter with us.

What is needed is a general loosening up of money and credit. We are told to buy it now while everything is dirt cheap. This is real economy and if generally followed would help a lot.

The Farmer's Prayer.

Lincoln Journal: The farmer viewpoint was well expressed the other day when an officer of the national grand prayed publicly to be preserved from legislators, fanatics, and "friends" generally. If other farmers would speak out as plainly and loudly perhaps some progress might be achieved in relieving the farmer from at least some of the things that hinder his comeback.

THE CYNIC.

Marshall Maslin, writer, tells the story of a girl cynic at 16, and he confesses that he was also a cynic at the same age and kept on being one until he was 21 when he got into the war and came into possession of some new angles and some hard sense. In the modern usage cynicism is defined as one who holds contempt for other opinions, one who "believes human conduct to be directed wholly by self-interest or self-indulgence." Maslin says his experience as a youthful cynic tallied with that of the girl of 16. This cynicism is expressed in a feeling of superiority, a belief that nearly everybody else is ignorant, stupid and inefficient. It is manifested in a general hatred of the world and everybody and everything in it. It is undisciplined egotism and presumption. The war cured the cynic as he explains in his story: "Somewhere in the war my cynicism had dropped from me. I hadn't gone all the way over and become sloppy about men or women or human nature, but I had learned to suspend my judgment about them and to take them as they come without sniffing and sneering. I had nothing to do with it. It just happened. And I discovered, at 23, that I was far happier, when I didn't know so much, than I had been from 16 to 21, when I thought I knew it all."

Good Credit a Big Asset.

Omaha Journal-Stockman: Not very long ago Uncle Sam ran a little short of ready money and offered 800 millions in bonds for sale. Thousands of people came forward and bought up the issue the day it was offered. In other words, Uncle Sam's credit is good and he keeps it that way, by promptly paying his debts. A Nebraska farmer was at the Yards a few days ago looking for someone to lend him enough money to purchase some feeder cattle. He did not have very good luck and at last accounts was still hunting for the money. At the same time other farmers seemed to be experiencing no difficulty in having their feeding operations financed and the question came up: What was the trouble with the man who found it hard to secure enough money to buy a few cattle? We were curious to look up the matter and here is what we discovered.

First, the man was considered a rather poor feeder, that is, he seldom brought in well fattened cattle. His stock never seemed to do well. Second, his farm and buildings were mortgaged to the limit, according to the statement he furnished one bank. He was really bankrupt although possibly he kidded himself into believing he still owned a farm.

Third, his home banker gave him the reputation of being honest but slow and careless about meeting his obligations. Owed bills around town and seldom, if ever, paid a note at maturity.

Fourth, he was inclined to change banks and commission houses often so that he had not established a sound connection anywhere.

MORATORIUMS.

While proposed moratoriums on taxes, mortgages and other obligations are still being discussed, Mrs. Margaret Sanger, well known birth control advocate, proposes a two-year moratorium on baby production. Suppose, says Abraham Lincoln or Theodore Roosevelt or Ralph Waldo Emersons or Thomas A. Edison's came along during the moratorium and couldn't arrive? A complete artie-up of child-bearing would be still more of an embargo on possible geniuses than that imposed by reasonable limitations. Some sound arguments are offered in behalf of birth control. Often too many youngsters to support and educate result in defectives or idiots and society is forced to find relief in more jails and more insane asylums. Superior qualities of mind may remain dormant through oppression due to privation or lack of privilege. But on the contrary, obstacles often prove a spur to initiative and bring into action the very best in an individual. Barriers not great enough to crush may fire energy and ambition to the very depths. A genius or a great leader may evolve from normal advantages or on the other hand from hard poverty and misery. It is impossible to say whether the first or second or eighth child would be a wonder. The fifth or sixth might prove the only towering success in a group. The damage done to future production of super-intellects by ruthless war baffles the imagination. How many valuable lives are kept out of the world by numerous fatal automobile and other accidents? What the impossible two-year moratorium on births would do to civilization is inconceivable. Suspension of reproduction would yield to one dangerous extreme, whereas unlimited procreation would doubtless invite equal perils to desirable race development. In taking over the laws of nature and arbitrarily determining the extent or limitations on reproduction, exercise of either extreme would undoubtedly handicap the future.

Aid in Relief

Katherine F. Jeffcoat, above, assistant chief of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, has been named head of one of the welfare agencies summoned by Chairman Walter S. Gifford to cooperate in the national unemployment relief program. Miss Jeffcoat is a daughter of former Senator Irvine H. Lenoir of Wisconsin, who is now a judge of the Court of Appeals.

lashed a sound connection anywhere. This was enough, more than enough, to explain the man's complaint that the banks were not lending the farmers the money necessary to finance their feeding operations this fall. Inquiry at all the local banks brought out the fact that while bankers were scrutinizing borrowers perhaps a little more closely than usual, any man with a good reputation, who could present a statement of solvency, need have no trouble looking for funds.

On the other hand the banks were consistently avoiding "bad risks." Conditions are uncertain enough at this time without assuming unnecessary hazards. One leading banker put it this way: "When a man asks for a loan to buy feeder cattle, I consider three things in about the order named, his business ability, his honor and his solvency." Right there is the important thing for every live stock feeder to bear in mind. Credit is a splendid thing but it requires constant care and attention to keep it good. Uncle Sam's credit is a No. 1 because he has always kept it so.

Former Resident To Be Buried Here

Mrs. Henry Mammen of Worland, Wyo., resident of Wayne for many years, died this Tuesday according to word sent William Beckenhauer by Mrs. F. Lawson. The body will arrive in Wayne Friday for funeral services and burial. The Mammens lived two miles north of Wayne on the place now belonging to Clifford Penn for many years. Mr. Mammen died here. Three sons and four daughters survive deceased.

The Washington Wash

By Strickland Gillilan

Washington, D. C., September 19 (She's back! Our old friend who bores up in every emergency. Yes, sir, the cat has come back. Her name is Sales Tax. This time Dave Reed of Pennsylvania, mans the fether as if he were the proud hybridizer of this particular breed of cat: as if this were a type of feline he had personally burbanked among the black canyons of Pittsburgh.

It is the most innocent-sounding cat that ever was brought into the house to catch that furtive mouse known as Income-tax-increase-in-the-higher-brackets. Knowing how well and favorably a gasoline tax has exemplified the justice and effectiveness of a sales-tax, and how logical intrinsically the system is, how manifestly just, it is an easy idea to sell. Unless you get nasty and think a minute. Then, Kitty bar the door. The governmental machinery necessary to check on every Tom, Dick and Harry that sells something, would cost almost more than the sales tax would bring in. It would require about two government employes to invoice the stocks of each merchant who was inclined to dodge a bit (and while the proportion is not large, there are such merchants) and see that he pay the correct amount on such sales as he had had. No, it won't work. Gallant defenders of the threatened upper-bracket brothers will hardly be able to prevent that hit in the rate.

I am not one to rejoice and chortle over a neighbor's misfortune, but I am also no such a noodlehead as to refuse to profit by same if I may do so without adding to that neighbor's bad luck. That's fair enough, isn't it? If for instance the neighbors moved so hurriedly in advance of the sheriff's posse that they left their grand piano out in the yard with a rainstorm coming and I had no piano, would I leave that thing out to get ruined? Dunt ask! So right now, with the republic of Chile getting the bumps, I am rejoicing over something connected with that calamity. It is like this:

The Chilean legation had an apartment right above mine, and two of them were crack tennis players. So when I say they kept up a racket I am not punning. The whole apartment quivered all the time, and mine quivered in sympathy with it. I think they played tennis there all the time. The apartment started to seismatize (not doggie, but there's a grand new word) early in the day and shined out in the night. Just because one's country is Chile—no, I shan't go further with the shiver smile. Too much has been said already. But the national troubles of the Chileans resulted somehow in those folks' having to move. Our apartment is now stationary. The building no longer impersonates a mold of gelatine. The former tenants are now back among the Andes where they won't have to create any artificial tremors. They can have the real thing without bouncing a solitary rubber ball. And this wasn't the family of Carlos Davila. They aren't the disturbing sort.

A few days ago I visited Wakefield, the birthplace of George Washington, of whom you may have heard some talk. The belief that he was quite a man seems to be growing more and firmly fixed in the public mind.

Wakefield is on a little point of land sticking out like a thumb into Pope's Creek (tidewater contrivance called a creek in this part of the world but nowhere else), Vir-

Blind, But—

Underdressed by loss of his sight six years ago, Al Johnson, above, of Bakersfield, Calif., has completed four years at Redlands University, Calif., during which time he was assistant in the speech department, and is now taking a post-graduate course at Yale. He expects to make his living directing, reading and writing plays.

To get there you either drive to Monticello, Md., and take a ferry to Colonial Beach where it is a short drive of 18 miles over perfect modern roads, or you drive to Frederickburg and turn left, whence it is about 40 miles. It is a three hour trip from Washington, either way. The old house has been restored by memory and guesswork and tradition. Yet the restoration is probably pretty correct. But the most glorious thing, which makes the trip intrinsically worth while, is the cedar grove out on that little point of land leading to the water. Boy, that is some perfect bunch! Each tree a fasciation of all the others, with a trunk about a foot in diameter and a proportionate top that is as perfect in shape as if they had all been machined in the same lathe with the guide-points unmoved!

President batters will some day get their come-uppances. To harry a man merely because he happens to be a harryable fellow whom such things hurt out of proportion to their importance (which is often the case with extremely capable men) is cruel and brutal. If the cruelty were only to him, it would be more pardonable. But when a man is working, under circumstances that make beneficial results very doubtful, on a job in which he are also vitally concerned, it is traitorous idocy. Suppose when Blondin was walking a rope and carrying that foolhardy bimbo across Niagara, on his shoulders, somebody had stood on the shore and yelled at him to turn his toes out—what would you have thought of that individual? And suppose when a Jeweler is taking apart your expensive foreign-made watch—or still better, the best American-made watch—you stood by and kidded him or reviled him; and just as he had taken off the balance wheel, taken out a jewel and was holding it gingerly in his tweezers looking for a place to lay it, you yelled at him that he had halitosis! If President Hoover should not be able to bring about an impossible improvement in conditions, he will be by no means the only censurable one. Those who have split hairs, bull-dozed him and acted as hindlers regarding non-essentials through the time of trial, will be abundantly to blame for destructive and disloyal interference.

I have known a good many long-range forecasters, but I have never known one who was even approximately infallible as to the weather on any given day, except by what one could easily call accident. intentionally confessing it is an exception. They are good fellows, and they figure it out by science and with instruments. And then the dirty old weather—rotten teamworker goes ahead and is whatever sort of weather it was gonna be or that it took a notion that day to be. Washington has a number of such sincere, honest men who will give it up and beget a great deal of the time. But there isn't one of them with enough influence on the Meteorological gods to head off a rain or to bring one, or with the mental muscle to stave off a typhoon that gets going good in the Windward Isles, that source of illegal refreshment, Miami. The weather is something on which even the smooth talker or hired lobbyist has never been able to exercise undue influence. Sacramin' when it sacramin'! And try an' stop it!

Kip is right. As usual, Willard Kipplinger (of Kip as he is lovingly called by the National Press Club gang) says in his always non-partisan letter of recent date that the Democrats are divided as to whether they should cut the tariff, make the tariff commission responsible to Congress instead of the president, or confine themselves to innocuous unfavorable talk about the tariff until after the coming presidential campaign. Kip guesses they'll do the last—keep everything but their tongues off the job till after the election. You are mighty right, Kip. They won't touch that hot subject till they have spent a year getting themselves some new ideas. And then they'll do it. Except exactly as a Republican Congress would have changed it. Note this assumption that the next Congress will be organized by the Democrats, for it undoubtedly will unless George Norris (Republican from Nebraska) and a lot of his ilk begin to serve the party that serves them, instead of standing on Republican shoulders to get up to where they can break the windows of the party house and turn the hose on the furniture.

Sound Bankers Valuable. Omaha Journal-Stockman: (One of the most difficult and trying jobs, particularly in periods of depression, is being a banker. The average citizen thinks of a banker as a man who sits behind piles of currency and laughs at anybody who wants to borrow some of it unless he can put up about 150 percent of the loan in gilt-edged securities.)

A weak-kneed man has no business being a banker because the piles of currency stacked about him are not his. He is merely their custodian and is responsible to the owners and to the government for their safe keeping. To make those stacks of currency earn dividends and still be intact to pay depositors on demand is a job that few men are fitted for. Sentiment can play no part in it.

The main concern of the banker is the prompt payment of the loan. He has accepted deposits in good faith, and any man who would loan deposited funds without assurance of their return would be criminally guilty and a menace. His obligation is to the depositor rather than the borrower.

It is unfortunate that a banker who is safe and sound and whose name goes by the name of tight-wad for in reality when a banker is cold-blooded to the applicant for a loan he is serving the depositor to the greatest capacity. It is gratifying to go to the bank and get what you go for, but the sensible man who is refused a loan knows it is his fault and not the banker's if he can't qualify for a loan on the rules of safe banking.

Financing live stock is one of the chief concerns of Omaha banks as well as outside banks in this territory. Funds for loans are ample, but these banks would not have survived through the years had not they played safe, and they are playing safe today by loaning to men who can repay and who have a good reputation for repaying. So it seems there are two parties necessary to borrowing along safe banking lines, namely, the banker who must safeguard the funds of the depositors (and the applicant who must be equipped for the return of the funds borrowed). To need any other way would destroy the banking system with its conveniences to the public.

Attendance Is Good At School

Faculty Plans Activities To Supplement Work of Classes Here.

The largest in the history of the school is the total enrollment of 137 high school students now attending Wakefield school, reports Supt. Willard Jackman. Attendance in this large group has been excellent, although many warm days have interfered with the comfort of going to school.

Last week, the seniors and juniors had 99 percent perfect attendance, with the sophomores only a little behind at 98 percent. It remained for the freshmen to have perfect attendance during the entire week.

In the grades, last week's attendance was charted thus: Kindergarten, 94 percent; first grade, 98 percent; second grade, 100 percent; third grade, 99 percent; fourth grade, 96 percent; fifth grade, 95 percent; sixth grade, 96 percent; seventh grade, 99 percent; eighth grade, 97 percent.

Plan for Activities.
High school activities are being planned for the students, with football practice one of the most interesting plans on the horizon. Wakefield's first game will be played with Ponca, here, Friday, October 2.

Club groups have been divided with two sections for boys, and one for girls. Special programs will be scheduled for the clubs during the school year.

Work on Newspaper.
A laboratory experiment in journalism is the Wakefield high school booster, which will appear once each month instead of twice, as it did last year. October 5 is the date set for the first issue. Miss Dorothy Down, who sponsors the paper, has also a journalism class with 38 entrants.

On the Booster staff this year are the following aspirants to the fourth estate: George Tuman, editor; Frances Beal, assistant editor; Clyde Gray, sport writer; Margy Davis, feature editor; Lorraine Schultz, circulation and advertising manager. The reporters are: Kenneth Matheson, Hazel Backstrom, Viola Lute, Frances Utecht, Dorothy Coe, Arthur Larson.

News for the city paper will be edited by Elaine Patterson. Reporters in this department include Miriam Henry, Nettie Ekeroth, Margaret Swanson and Robert Anderson.

Feeding Profits.

Nebraska Farmer.—Hog feeders who recall the famous 13 to 1 hog-corn ratio during World War days, which at that time was considered a profitable relationship between the price of hogs and corn, may be surprised to find that the recent ratio between those two commodities has been even more favorable. In war days it was agreed that the price of hogs, to return a profit, should be at least 13 times the price of a bushel of corn. That ratio applied to 30-cent wheat or corn would mean $4 hogs, while the farm market for hogs has been in the neighborhood of $5 or better.

In fact, many farmers are overlooking opportunities for profit-making from low priced feeds, even though the selling price of the market product is also low. There is plenty of feeding experience to show that 30-cent wheat returns 70 cents or more per bushel when fed in the right proportions to livestock. Poultrymen and dairymen are also making satisfactory returns from the cheap feeds available.

Records kept on the 7,000 cows in the Nebraska cow-testing associations this past summer show average feed costs, per pound of butterfat of eleven and twelve ents in July and August respectively, and about the same for September. Meanwhile, the price of butterfat has been on the upward swing and for the past few weeks has been near the thirty-cent mark, leaving a very substantial margin of profit above feed costs. Feed shortages in many dairy sections which have restricted the production of dairy products greatly, resulting in a below normal amount of butter and cheese in cold storage, are favorable signs for a continued profit in the dairy industry if farmers use judgment and moderation in their operations.

Tax Reduction Begins at Home. Nebraska Farmer.—A determined effort to lower local tax burdens is gaining headway in Nebraska. Taxpayers are organizing themselves into groups to study the tax question and to seek some means of relief. Some counties have already been able to reduce the tax toll. Two counties have gone a step farther by discussing the advisability of consolidating and eliminating the duplication of county officials. These counties are Boyd and Holt, both with rather sparse populations and comparatively high costs of local government. The elimination of one county seat, with its county officials, would result in considerable administrative economy, a possible saving of $30,000 a year, it is estimated. As is to be expected, opposition comes from the county seat town which might lose its official advantage and political offices.

The question, however, is broader than politics. If the savings to taxpayers are worth while, that should be the primary consideration.

Some months ago The Nebraska Farmer published an article showing the benefits of county consolidation in the state of Tennessee. Tax rates were cut in two through the consolidation of two counties in that state. Moreover, the consolidation has been accompanied by more improvements in roads and schools in the face of lower taxes. One court house is now taking the place of two and one set of county officials do the work of twice the number before consolidation. Meanwhile, the politicians have suffered. Half of them have been taken off the public pay roll. Other states are seriously considering plans for county consolidation or otherwise reducing the cost of local government. A county manager plan is being tried out with success in certain counties of Virginia and North Carolina, somewhat similar to the city manager plan for municipalities. The campaign for lowering local taxes is a very commendable one. Since by far the larger part of the taxpayer's dollar is spent at home, that is the logical place to look first for relief. The control of the situation is with the taxpayers themselves.

Town To Gravel Streets. Newcastle, Neb.—A crew of workmen has begun work on the streets of Newcastle, getting them in shape for graveling, which they hope to complete before cold weather.

Drug Store Robbed. Stanton, Neb.—One hundred five dollars in cash and two cases of opium were stolen from the safe of the Drewliew pharmacy after closing hours. The thieves gained entrance through a back window by cutting away window glass and reaching through to release the latch.

Beemer Asks Paving Bids. Beemer, Neb.—Beemer is asking for bids to be opened October 5, on one mile of paving in the village. This action is taken despite heavy losses the community suffered through closing of the Wupper bank with liabilities of about $1,000,000.

West Point Student Honored. Lincoln, Neb.—Boyd Von Seggern, of West Point, senior in the college of agriculture, is the editor of the Daily Nebraskan, University of Nebraska student newspaper. Von Seggern was news editor of the Nebraskan last year and was editor of the Cornhusker Countyman last year.

School Teacher Hurt. Newcastle, Neb.—Miss Emma Russell, rural school teacher, was knocked down and dragged several feet when she was struck by a car on Main street in Newcastle. The car was driven by Donald Manley, who did not see her. She was unconscious when picked up, but sustained only minor cuts and bruises.

Stanton County Taxes Cut. Lincoln, Neb.—Stanton county state and county taxes have dropped this year according to tax levies received by State Tax Commissioner Smith from County Clerk W. B. Fulmer, of Stanton. In 1930 they were $384,297 and this year they were $361,152. State tax accounts for $26,978 of this, compared with $70,000 last year. The tax for county purposes levied by the county board is $134,398 compared with $143,678 last year.

124 acre Dixon County Farm. This is a good farm and the terms offered are exceptional. Located on Highway No. 20 and about 25 miles from Sioux City, 50 acres in smooth bottom land and the balance is rolling upland, all under cultivation. The farm is nearly all hog tight. Improvements are fair. There is a four room house, small barn with shed on one side with stanchions for milch cows, hog house with cement feeding platform, corn crib, granary, garage, good grove. It is a good stock farm and close to the Sioux City markets. The price is $75.00 an acre or $9,300.00 and it will require only $4,300.00 to handle it. The balance will be carried back by Loan Company, for a 10 year term. This is a farm that someone can own cheaper than they can pay rent.

There was a general desire to help upon the part of our members. The ladies wish to thank all patrons and all who helped. Christian Science Society: 410 Main. September 27: Services at 11 a. m., Subject: "Reality." Golden text, James 1: 17. The public is cordially invited. The subject of the lesson-sermon read at all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday, September 20, was "Matter." The object of the citations read is to show that Spirit and matter are opposites in all respects, and that they do not cooperate. Also that to mortals, it is necessary to prove the nothingness of matter and all material worship in order clearly to perceive the all-inclusive power of Divine Spirit. One citation read

- from the Bible is in part as follows: "For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many and lords many) But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him." (1 Cor. 8:5, 6). One citation read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 277) is in part as follows: "Matter is an error of statement. This error in the premise leads to errors in the conclusion in every statement into which it enters. Nothing we can say or believe regarding matter is immortal, for matter is temporal and is therefore a mortal phenomenon; a human concept, sometimes beautiful, always erroneous." First Baptist Church: (Rev. Wm. El Braisted, pastor) 1608 Logan St., phone 3094. Sunday, Sept. 27: 10:00 a. m., the church Bible school. Classes for all. Young people's discussion group led by the pastor. 11:00 a. m., worship hour. Chorus and special music. Message by the pastor. Subject, "The Marys of the New Testament." You will be interested in this study. 6:30 p. m., the young people's fellowship hour. Topic: "What Our Society Plans to Do This Year." What should it plan to do? Who will help? 7:30 p. m., the worship-fellowship service. Singing of the fine old hymns or new ones, you'll enjoy, led by the chorus choir as directed by Prof. H. H. Hanscom. Message by the pastor. Subject, "Jesus Revealing and Living the Will of God." This will be helpful. 8:00 p. m., Wednesday, life enrichment hour, with Bible study. 8:00 p. m., Thursday, at the church Prof. Hanscom will meet the choir for reorganization and practice. College students or teachers, or any others, will be warmly welcomed to share in this ministry of music that means so much to the worship and service. There will be always a cordial welcome to all this church has to share in the service unto God and enrichment of life. Call on the pastor for any possible service, at above address or phone. People new to Wayne, with no definite church home, gladly visited. Welcome to all.

Work on Roads As Fall Season Comes
 "We are keeping up county road work in the usual way," reports Frank Erskelen in discussing the fall road work activities. On the Winslow-Wayne stretch, grading is complete, and gravel has been delivered, although it is not all spread as yet. County commissioners believe that the gravel-spreading work will be completed as soon as possible. The road is passable save for the inconvenience of passing the gravel piles. Gravel traffic is being directed on the highway for the first four miles out of Winslow, where it is turned north one mile, then following the temporary road used during the construction of the new highway.
 Southeast Wayne News.
 Mrs. I. G. Hunter and Carl of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Floer were Wednesday evening of last week callers in the C. T. Norton home.
 Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bush, Jr., and John Kay called on the C. T. Nortons Sunday evening.

Former Minister Has Long Record

Rev. Henry Wehking of Alta, Served Congregations For Many Years.

Rev. Henry Wehking of Alta, Iowa, formerly of Wayne, holds a record of having served 42 years as pastor of the German Lutheran church there. His brother-in-law, Prof. Jacob Schmidt, has been instructor at the church's parochial school the past 40 years.

The Sioux City Journal tells of their records as follows: The Hanover church community was established about 50 years ago, by German farmers and their families living in Buena Vista, Cherokee, Sac and Ida counties, the church being close to the corners of those four counties.

In 1889 the congregation at Hanover extended a call to Rev. Henry Wehking, who then was pastor of a church at Wayne, Neb., and he came shortly afterward and took charge. He also preached at Storm Lake and Galva, but later churches were established in both of those two points. While at Wayne he had charge of the congregations at Plum Creek, Randolph, Wakefield, Concord and Ladolph. Rev. Mr. Wehking was the moving spirit in founding churches at all of the places where he served part time, and they are now flourishing parishes.

Ordain Minister. Pierce, Neb., Sept. 16.—The Rev. George W. Fairbanks, who came to the pastorate of the Congregational church at Pierce in May, will submit to examination, preparatory to ordination at the Association of Elkhorn Valley Congregational churches which meets at Long Pine October 5 and 6.

Wakefield Girl Has Good Record. In the sixth grade at the age of 17 is the record of Marian Jane Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Miller of near Wakefield. Her instructor says she need do no home study as she is well advanced in her work. Marian left the fourth grade with an average of 94.

Decision Is Given In District Court. Lubby Jurgens, who was suing William Williams and Clifford Case at Hartington for $10,000 for alleged injuries sustained in an automobile accident, was awarded $100 last week by jury in district court. Jurgens claimed he was cut, bruised and otherwise hurt in December, 1928, when riding with Williams in a car which collided with that belonging to Cass Williams. Williams was awarded $200 in his suit against Case.

Knee Badly Cut In Fall Over Bank. J. E. Jorgens of South Sioux City, sustained a deep gash on his left knee Thursday evening when he fell down a 30-foot embankment five miles north of Wayne. He was cared for at the Wayne hospital and was able to go to his home the same evening. Mr. Jorgens had gone from his car to look over the embankment when he went too close to the edge and fell.

Wakefield Girl Has Good Record. In the sixth grade at the age of 17 is the record of Marian Jane Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Miller of near Wakefield. Her instructor says she need do no home study as she is well advanced in her work. Marian left the fourth grade with an average of 94.

Acknowledging Sympathy
We keep a full and complete record of all who call at the funeral home, send floral offerings or in any other way express their sympathy for the bereaved. It is then possible for the family, after the funeral, to make suitable acknowledgment. This is only one of the little services dictated by our policy of thoughtfulness.

Her husband, one son and two daughters survive. Miss Thelma Snodden and Carl Larson of Wisner, were married recently. The bride attended the college in Wayne. Martin Egan, Hartington mail carrier, who has served over 20 years, is retiring the first of October on pension. Wisner business men plan a public picnic September 29 to celebrate opening of the new pavement from there to West Point. Miss Wilda Meek of Allen, and John Flood of Waterbury, were married Monday last week. They will live at Sioux City. Fire of undetermined origin destroyed 15 empty box cars on a siding at South Sioux City, causing a loss of about $30,000. G. F. McGuire and sons of Wisner, took three firsts on boars and four firsts on sows in the Duroc Jersey class at the state fair. Coming county fair at West Point closed with a balance of $3,000. Improvements at the ground will take about $2,000. William Lammers of Wynot, sustained injuries about the head Tuesday last week when his car struck loose gravel and turned over. Grading and graveling of the road between Decatur and Winnebago will be contracted soon, according to State Engineer Roy Cochran. Cornerstone for Tekamah's new school building was laid September 22 with the state Masonic Grand lodge in charge. Dr. Paul Johnston of Lincoln, spoke. Orville Tangeman of Bloomfield, was considerably cut and bruised when a barrel of vinegar he was delivering at a Hartington store, fell and took him down cellar with it. Highway No. 15 south of Pilger will have a nine-mile stretch of unsurfaced highway improved within a few months. Contract for the work will probably be let in December. After slashing his throat with a razor twice, John Clark of South Sioux City, was in a serious condition. He suffered several cuts about the neck, the attending physician said. Cedar county women are organizing clubs for study of foods and nutrition this winter through the state extension service. C. B. Webster, county agent, is promoting the projects. Erwin Watson of Pierce, who spent the summer in charge of extermination of the Japanese beetle in Rhode Island, has returned to his home at Pierce. He will be a senior at the university in Lincoln this year. Dakota county residents have asked the state to assist in pumping water from the Missouri river into Crystal lake to raise the lake level and save fish. The distance is a mile and a half and the state will investigate to find out if the work is feasible. Mrs. A. E. Randall, 86, sustained a broken wrist when she tripped and fell at the home of her son, C. H. Randall at Randolph. The letter and his wife were in Omaha on account of Mr. Randall's illness and the elderly woman went alone to summon help. The record of 2,025 pounds pulled at the Stanton county fair by one of O. M. Scherer's team of Belgian horses is still high in the state. A team belonging to W. M. Hint of Chester, took first at the state fair. Mr. Scherer's team was not well and placed second. Early Days in Wayne County

(Taken from the Herald files for Sept. 25, 1913.)
Families of L. P. Walker and C. Clasen, residing in the southwest part of Wayne, were afflicted with typhoid fever, supposed to have been contracted from the water of a certain infected well. City water was not contaminated. Marriage licenses issued were as follows: Mr. Carl Wolters to Miss Rosa Behrens, September 19; Mr. H. H. Honey to Miss Ida M. Clark, September 20; Mr. Grover Brown to Miss Hilda Maching, both of Emerson, September 24. Johnson and Williamson decided to open an automobile garage. An expert was engaged to look after repair work.

Weldon Crossland, who won the Rhodes scholarship while attending Wesleyan university, left in September, 1913, for England, where he was to study at Oxford university. Collmar Brothers' circus, which had been scheduled to show in Kansas and Missouri, showed in north Nebraska instead, during the fall of 1913. Crops, it was said, were very poor in Kansas and Missouri, where it was very dry, and the circus people thought it would be more profitable to show in northern Nebraska, where crops had been comparatively good.

Wayne friends were interested in seeing an edition of the Long Beach, Cal., Press, which included a poem written by F. M. Skeen, formerly of Wayne. The poem was read at an Iowa day celebration in Long Beach.

Won Fair Awards.

Award winners at the fair in Sioux City in 1913 were announced. W. H. Billeter and Burrell Bros., of Carroll, who showed 18 head of horses, had winnings, as did Wm. Morgan of Wayne vicinity, and Robert Pritchard of Carroll; exhibitors of Duroc-Jersey hogs. Roy Fisher of Winside had winnings on Hampshire hogs that year, and Cradoc Morris of Carroll took honors on sheep. Wayne county farmers were proud of their 1913 record.

Miss Mabel Larson was married at the home of her father, Nels Larson, to George W. Anderson, son of M. S. Anderson, at Wakefield, September 24, 1913.

The Rev. Mr. Kraft performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. After a ten days' trip to Minneapolis, the young couple came to live at Wakefield.

Lots Brought Prices.

Lots in the neighborhood of Wayne State Normal were sold at prices which were considered good. The highest price paid for one of the 24 lots was $450, which was given in exchange for a 75-foot lot. The lowest price paid was $30 for a 25-foot lot. Schall & Thompson, the promoters, took in a total sum of $3,200, clearing $500 on the 24 lots.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Adams announced the birth, September 20, 1913, of a son weighing 12 1/2 pounds.

Miss Mabel Lewis of Denver was married September 6, 1913, to Dr. Lieb. Miss Lewis had been for two years Latin and German teacher in the Wayne public schools. The couple went to live in Boston for a time, as Dr. Lieb was a student at Harvard.

Miss Rosa Behrens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Behrens, was married Wednesday, September 24, 1913, to Mr. Carl Wolter, son of Carl Wolter, sr. Rev. F. Schaller of Altona church, performed the ceremony, following which 200 guests were entertained at dinner. The young couple went to live on the farm of Carl Wolter, sr., one mile east of Altona.

Dr. A. Naffziger sold his residence and practice in Wayne to Dr. Charles Ingham of Stouss City.

M. C. Lower sold 160 acres of farm land at $150 per acre, and John Banister got the same price for his 80 acres of Wayne county farm land.

Menu Of Dinner Has New Feature

Special Dessert Is Treat At Informal Meal Preceding Evening of Bridge.

Entertaining guests at one's own board is a gesture of hospitality not to be approximated by any other form of entertainment. For a small group of friends, dinner, followed by bridge makes a pleasant evening, if it has been planned so the hostess can enjoy it as much as her guests. For such a dinner, the hostess might plan to serve the following menu: Ham baked in milk, candied sweet potatoes, cauliflower in sauce, and raspberry whip. Instead of serving a salad, pass a platter of relishes, as has been suggested in this column before. Serve India relish, a bright jelly, stuffed olives, and perhaps some pickled beets to carry out the red tones which predominate in the menu suggested. Serve coffee with the meal or in after-dinner cups, before beginning the evening's bridge.

To prepare the ham, allow a pound of meat to every three persons. Use smoked ham, and have it cut in a thick slice. Mix two tablespoons of brown sugar with one teaspoon of dry mustard, and rub well into both sides of the meat. Place the ham in a casserole or in a covered iron skillet and cover with hot milk and cook until the milk has cooked away. Fry the sweet potatoes in the usual manner, and serve cauliflower prepared with a cream sauce decorated with paprika, or with the cheese sauce, as suggested in this week's recipes.

To make the whip, combine the following ingredients: 1 tablespoon of gelatine, 1-4 cup of cold water, 1/2 cup of boiling water, 1-4 cup of sugar, 2 tablespoons of lemon juice, 1 cup of raspberry juice (fresh or canned).

Whites of three eggs; Pinch of salt. Soak the gelatine five minutes in cold water and then dissolve in boiling water. Add the sugar, salt, lemon juice, and the raspberry juice. When the mixture begins to stiffen, beat until it is frothy, and then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites.

Fowl into a wet mold and put in a cold place. Serve with whipped cream. Serves six.

Cauliflower in Sauce. Cauliflower, which is in season, may be prepared nicely by boiling in milk, which will not allow it to become dark. It may be drained and prepared with a cream sauce or served with a garnish of bread crumbs browned in butter and poured over the vegetable. Another variation is to add a little grated cheese to the cream sauce.

Mocha Dessert. For a special treat, bake plain white cake in thin sheets. Cut the sheets into circles, using a large sized round cookie cutter. Put three of the circles together, layer cake fashion, with thick layers of mocha frosting, top with whipped cream and serve. To make the frosting: 1 cup powdered sugar, Vanilla to taste.

Stuffed Baked Apples.

Wash and core apples and place in a baking pan. Stuff the core of each apple with layers of raisins and brown sugar, and add dashes of ground cloves and salt. Bake, chill, and serve with whipped cream.

Banana Cake. (Mrs. W. Hiscok)
1-2 cup sugar
1-2 cup butter
2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon vanilla
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 bananas cut fine
Mix the batter, adding the egg whites last, and bake in a loaf. When cake is done, cover the top of it with two more bananas, which have been cut lengthwise. Over the bananas, place the following cooked frosting: 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons water, 8 marshmallows, 1 egg white. Boil sugar, water and beaten egg white five minutes. Add marshmallows and cook three minutes longer. Spread over cake. Serve with whipped cream.

1 teaspoon cream
2 tablespoons cold coffee
Beat, adding chopped raisins, cherries, or nuts.

Scalloped Potatoes and Ham.

An excellent supper dish, or one to be served as the only warm part of a luncheon menu. Place small pieces of left-over ham in the bottom of a baking dish, and cover with thin slices of raw white potato, then with a layer of sliced white onion. Alternate the layers until the dish is filled, using ham as the top layer. Season with dashes of pepper and paprika and an eighth of a teaspoonful each of powdered sage and thyme. Cover with about two cups of milk to which two tablespoons of flour have been added. Bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes.

Wash and core apples and place in a baking pan. Stuff the core of each apple with layers of raisins and brown sugar, and add dashes of ground cloves and salt. Bake, chill, and serve with whipped cream.

Laurel and Hardy A Riot In "Pardon Us"

You can well imagine how far Laurel and Hardy went in an intelligence test. In "Pardon Us" their first feature-length comedy, which will appear at the Gay theatre, September 27-28 and 29; they go back to school. It is a prison institution, but nevertheless a schoolroom.

James Finlayson is the teacher with his four-cornered hat and long robe—one of those who answer 'present' and those not here answer 'absent' and those of professors. He teaches the convicts their history, geography, arithmetic, etc., which answers, whether correct or incorrect, depend upon the size of the pupil.

Professor Finlayson's escapeau is the target for many a hit shot, and it is poor Oliver Hardy that is the butt of all such tricks. More than once this fellow has to hold his hand out for a smack from teacher's ruler—in this case a billy club.

The present activity system of our schools, is slow compared to the school work done by Laurel and Hardy in their first feature-length comedy.

The schoolroom episodes are only a few of the many hilarious incidents in "Pardon Us" which take the comedy pair on a profitable tour of laughs which starts when Laurel and Hardy are sent to jail for bootlegging.

Winside Wins Award At Fair
First Semester Work Is Well Under Way With Attendance Records.

First place in the county school exhibits was achieved by Winside schools this year. About $50 in prize money, received by the district, will be used in some improvement for the school.

Perfect attendance in the grammar room has continued for the past two weeks. In the third and fourth as in the first and second grades, perfect attendance was achieved for the first day of last week. School was dismissed on Wednesday, when school children were admitted to the fair grounds at Wayne free of charge.

Donald Jugel, from the fifth and sixth grade room, was absent Friday because of illness.

Bring Garden Flowers.
Garden flowers have been fashioned into attractive bouquets by the children of the first and second grades. The teachers' desk and clothes closet of his son, Richard's room, and was not discovered until it had spread to the attic, and had destroyed all the boy's wearing apparel, including two athletic sweaters which he had won during the football season. The furnishings of the home were damaged to some extent by smoke and water.

McCormick-Deering New Model F-30 Farmall

THE NEW F-30 FARMALL which was shown at the Wayne County Fair, is an improvement over former makes. It has thirty-five horse-power motor and amply meets four-pow demands. It has four-speed transmission and four-speed take-off with reversible front wheels. It is heavier throughout than old models, and its attachments make it possible to use the same tools used on former makes. This machine was shown for the first time in the county at the fair last week. It is a wonder. Corn can be harvested with the Farmall at a more uniform, steady rate than ever before. Farmall can be used for pulling corn binder or corn picker, saving time and labor. With the Farmall, it is possible for a man and a boy to pick three or four times as much corn as is possible when only hand power is used.

Living Longer and Better. Sioux City Journal: The United States public health service recently announced that man's prime of life lasted about 20 years. As to physical strength, the individual of 40 in normal health is as strong on the average as he was at 30. The man's physical powers reach their maximum at 30 and remain fairly constant until 50 when they begin to decline.

If one in good health and strength at 50 could go on without change, one might find that a wonderful age, or condition. But that is the summit of life's mountain. And, as with all mountains, this one has another side. That one is the side down which the individual travels after reaching 50. Eventually, he reaches the depths of the valley, and he makes no return.

Men are living longer and better. Particularly do they live longer and better in this country. The span of life is longer, thanks to the medical profession, so that one in average good physical condition who dies under 59 may be said to meet an accidental death, to succumb prematurely.

The American people are staying young longer. It is admitted that the point of view has changed in the last 40 years or so. Forty to 50 was considered old then, but it isn't now. But men and women are younger today at 40 to 50 than were their fathers and mothers. This, because in them there is more of the zest of life, the one influence of the mind that exerts an unmistakable force upon the physical self. We are criticized—indeed we criticize ourselves—for seeking entertainment and excitement, for working too hard and driving too rapidly, for being too intense. Yet we live longer and better than did an earlier generation. Who knows that in our many activities we do not find an elixir that comes with recreation and relaxation?

Bootlegging would be unprofitable if the average citizen didn't find it easier to find a bootlegger than the police do.—San Diego Union.

We begin to believe that the world's series this year ought to be between the Carnegie foundation and the Wickersham Commission.—San Diego Union.

Old Quilts Take Places In Show of Real Relics

Almost tapestry-like in the richness of its applique is the century old quilt exhibited at the Wayne county fair this year by Mrs. J. G. Mines. The quilt, which is the property of Mrs. Mines' mother, Mrs. Rogers, is made of white material on which a pattern of flowers in a vase has been set with tiny stitches. Around the applique, still more careful stitches outline a quilting pattern all over the piece, which looks like the real heirloom it is.

Modern examples of quilting abound at this year's fair. Small pieces of material, carefully stitched into patterns, make a lot of lovely color that bears careful inspection.

Blue and rose-red and cream is the woolen coverlet owned by Mrs. J. Bruce Wylie, now of Bellevue, but formerly of Winslow vicinity. The work of carding the wool and weaving the coverlet was done by one Louise Smith, an ancestor of Mrs. Wylie, a century ago.

Among antiques at the county show is also a set of bed linen hand woven about 104 years ago, and placed in the women's department exhibits as one of the antiques.

Mrs. C. T. Ingham exhibits this year an afghan made years ago by a relative. The pattern is the one revived recently and developed in modern times. In the antique version, however, the colors of the yarns are faded and mellowed, and the whole piece shows the effects of time.

Meat in Storage. Omaha Journal - Stockman: There are just as many people in this country to be fed as ever before—and a few more. That fact cannot be ignored as we consider the amount of food stored away for future use. Pork is the most important item in the monthly storage report. This report for the first of September, which has just been issued, shows a September 1 total of 594 million pounds of pork on hand in the United States. This figure compared with a five-year average of 665 million pounds for the same date, with 488 million, the average for the 1915-20 period, and with 653 million for the years 1921-25. Disappearance from August 1 to September 1 this year was 117 million pounds, the largest on record with only a few exceptions, and indicating what has been the subject of previous comment, that is the inclination this year to avoid as far as possible accumulations against future demand.

The lard situation is much the same. The September 1 supply was 96 million pounds, comparing with an average of 153 million for the past five years. It is the smallest September total with the exception of last year.

Even allowing for the very large falling off in export demand, these figures must be construed as being on the bullish side of the market. For unless winter slaughter is large, and if the disinclination to store continues, it is a reasonable expectation that we shall find ourselves coming into another summer with unusually light stocks. And, as said, the people are here to eat, and they want their pork. And, maybe, too, conditions will get better by and by so consumers will feel able to buy more freely. That is a possibility not to be overlooked, probably more than a possibility.

In this same connection, it is worthy of note that not only the stocks of lard and pork are below the five-year average, but the same is true of beef, lamb, butter, cheese, case eggs, and some kinds of poultry. These competitive foods are an important factor in the demand for pork.

It would not appear that there is anything especially or immediately optimistic in the report, all things considered, but at least, it most certainly is on the favorable side, and that is something to talk about at a time when most commodity reports are teetotally pessimistic.

“What will I give them for dinner tonight?”

IT is a question, isn't it? Every single night of the year you must manage to feed those hungry little mouths with a dinner that varies from last night's dinner, yet is equally appealing, well-balanced, wholesome and nourishing. Incidentally, you must keep within your food budget.

Why not follow the method of so many other mothers? That is, to plan your meals from the food advertising pages of the Herald. It's wonderfully simple, and convenient, because all the leading stores use the Herald as their mouth-piece. When they have tempting offers, they give complete descriptions and prices in the Herald. When they have special bargains, they tell you about it in the Herald. Every week they list their most attractive items.

Read the FOOD Advertisements

You won't have trouble varying your menu, or keeping it well balanced and appealing, if you read the Herald's food advertising regularly. In fact, you'll be flooded with fine, practical suggestions. Perhaps even more important, you'll be able to compare values and take advantage of the lowest prevailing prices. You'll soon find your food bills growing substantially lower, while your meals grow increasingly better.

Legal Notice. To: Cora B. Taylor, Blanche Carter, Bert Brown, Bert Smith and Warren Smith, a minor, the heirs, devisees, legatees, personal representatives and all other persons interested in the estate of C. C. Brown, also known as Charles C. Brown, deceased, real names unknown, and all persons having, or claiming any interest in, right or title to or claim, lien of demand upon the West Half of the Southwest Quarter of Section 1, Township 26, North, Range 3, East of the 6th E. M., Wayne county, Nebraska, or any part thereof, real names unknown. You and each of you are hereby notified that on September 2nd, 1931, Arthur E. Carlson, as plaintiff, filed his petition and commenced an action in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, against you, and each of you, implicated with others as defendants, alleging that he is the owner in fee simple and is in possession of the West Half of the Southwest Quarter of Section 1, Township 26, north, Range 3, East of the 6th E. M., Wayne County, Nebraska. The object, purpose and prayer of said petition is to secure a decree from the court adjudging said plaintiff the absolute and exclusive owner in fee simple of said real estate, free and clear from all liens, claims, adverse interests and demands, and that you, or any of you, have no right, title or interest in, or lien, claim or demand upon said real estate or any part thereof, and to have decreed paid, and of no force or effect, and canceled of record a certain mortgage against said real estate, to-wit: Mortgage executed on or about March 1st, 1913, by Victor Carlson and wife to C. C. Brown, for the sum of $2,300.00, which mortgage was filed in the office of said County Clerk of Wayne County, Nebraska, on or about March 3rd, 1913, and the record of said mortgage is in the office of said County Clerk of said County, said mortgage being on the above described real estate. Plaintiff prays in his petition that the title to said real estate be forever quieted in him as against each and all of you and all other defendants in said action and that each and all of you be forever barred and enjoined from asserting or attempting to assert any right, title or interest in, or claim or lien or demand upon said real estate, or any part thereof and plaintiff in his said petition prays for general equitable relief. You are required to answer said petition on or before the 12th day of October, 1931, otherwise a decree will be made and entered in said cause in favor of said plaintiff as prayed in plaintiff's petition. Dated this 2nd day of September, 1931. Arthur E. Carlson, Plaintiff. By H. D. Addison, His Attorney. s34

Notice to Creditors

The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss. In the County Court. In the matter of the estate of Theodore Longe, deceased. To the creditors of said estate: You are hereby notified, that I will sit at the County Court Room in Wayne in said County, on the 2nd day of October, 1931, and on the 2nd day of January, 1932, at 10 o'clock a. m. each day, to receive and examine all claims against said estate, with a view to their adjustment, and allowance. The time limited for the presentation of claims against said Estate is three months from the 2nd day of October, 1931, and the time limited for payment of debts is one year from said 2nd day of October, 1931. Witness my hand and the seal of said county court this 11th day of September 1931. J. M. Cherry, County Judge. s103

Notice to Owners and Mortgagees

Notice to owners and mortgagees of the southwest quarter (SW 1/4) of section seven (7), township twenty-six (26), range five (5), Wayne county, Nebraska. To: H. Paul Olson and Mabel C. Olson, his wife, as owners; and Ole Nelson, as mortgagee. You will take notice that the undersigned were on the 8th day of September, 1931, appointed by the County Judge of Wayne county, Nebraska, commissioners under Section 75-1101 et sequi Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, 1929, to appraise damages to above described estate of Steve Nichols, deceased. You are hereby notified that on the 9th day of September, 1931, Rolfe W. Ley, executor, filed his final account and petition for distribution of the residue of said estate and for a discharge. Hearing will be had on said account and petition at the County Court Room in Wayne, Nebraska, on the 25th day of September, 1931, at 10 o'clock a. m. You and all persons interested in said matter may appear at said time and place to show cause, if any there be, why said account should not be approved and the prayer of the petitioner not granted. Dated this 9th day of September, 1931. J. M. Cherry, County Judge. s103

Legal Notice

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. In the Matter of the Estate of George Armstrong, deceased. To the heirs and creditors of and all persons interested in the estate of George Armstrong, deceased: You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 4th day of September, 1931, Mary T. Armstrong, Agnes A. Jackson, James M. Armstrong, Robert E. Armstrong, John William Armstrong and George Victor Armstrong, filed their petition in the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, alleging that George Armstrong departed this life intestate at his residence in Kewanee, in Henry County, Illinois, on July 19, 1929, and at the time of his death was a resident of said Henry county, Illinois; that said deceased died seized in fee simple of the South Half of Section 7, Township 25, Range 3, East of the 6th E. M., in Wayne county, Nebraska, and left surviving him as his sole and only heirs-at-law and persons interested in his estate, said May T. Armstrong, his widow, said Agnes A. Jackson, his daughter, said James M. Armstrong, his son, said Robert E. Armstrong, his son, said John William Armstrong, his son, and said George Victor Armstrong, his son; that said petitioners in said petition allege that said Mary T. Armstrong is the owner in fee simple of an undivided one-third interest in and to said real estate and that said Agnes A. Jackson, James M. Armstrong, Robert E. Armstrong, John William Armstrong and George Victor Armstrong are the owners in fee simple of an undivided two-thirds interest in and to said real estate. Said petitioners further allege that all debts, claims and demands against the estate of said George Armstrong, deceased, including the expense of his last sickness and his funeral charges have been paid in full and that all debts, claims and obligations against said estate are barred; that no application has ever been made in Wayne county, Nebraska, or elsewhere in the State of Nebraska for the appointment of an administrator for said estate and that said estate has never been probated. Said petitioners in their said petition pray for a finding and decree determining the date of death of said George Armstrong, deceased, that he died intestate, for a determination of his heirs and the descent of his kinship and the right of descent of said real estate, and for an order barring claims of creditors against said estate and said petitioners pray for such other relief as may be just and proper in the premises. Hearing on said petition will be had before the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, in the County Courtroom, in the city of Wayne, Nebraska, on the 25th day of September, 1931, at 10 o'clock a. m., at which time and place the heirs, creditors and all persons interested in said estate may appear and show cause why a decree should not be made and entered, as prayed in said petition. Dated this 4th day of September, 1931. J. M. Cherry, County Judge. s103
