Christmas Is Planned For Giving To Others Instead Of Exchanging

A Christmas for giving rather than receiving gifts is being planned for the children of the public school. Teachers met this week to discuss the new plan whereby only children of the primary grades will be given small treats by their teachers, pupils in the other groups having no such treats or exchanges of gifts. Pupils will not exchange gifts with one another and teachers and pupils are not expected to present gifts to each other this year. Supt. Best asks the cooperation of the parents in this matter.

Instead of the gift exchanges which have been common other years, children will have gifts for the poor. Old toys are being brought to school and mended by the children, and are prepared for giving to children who would not otherwise have any Christmas presents.

In the seventh grade, a Christmas box is being prepared for the poor, with clothing, food, and toys in it to make a Christmas gay. The spirit of giving is this year more important than in other years, feel teachers and pupils, and it is this new interpretation that is being emphasized.

Children Sell Seals.
Christmas seals were sold last week by the children for the tubercular association. The public school total was this year $73.34, which is one third larger than the sum last year. Fifty percent of the money will remain in the school to be used for the purchase of some equipment for the furthering of health. The other half of the sum goes to the association.

In the second grade, eight pupils received pencils for selling more than one dollar's worth of the seals. The grade sold $14.34 worth of the seals. In the first grade, six pencils were earned by the children, who sold a total of $11.50 worth of seals.

Third grade folk sold $10.29 of seals, with Jimmie Bob Meltzer the highest seller. Three of the class won pencils including Edward Smith, Jack Wright and Jimmie Bob.

Debatists to Omaha.
Stanley Davis, Jean Wright, Louise Wright, Richard Moses, James Davies, William Studley, Elmer Kibborn and Robert King-ton, accompanied by W. A. Behr, coach, will go to Omaha Friday to debate on the question of unemployment insurance. The schools which the Wayne folk meet include North, Central, Creighton Prep., and Benson high school.

The Northeast Nebraska Declaration Association meets Thursday evening in Wayne with the secretary, W. A. Bell, to discuss subjects for extemporaneous speech contests to be held in the state. Contest judges will be selected at this time, also.

No. 30 Wayne, Neb., Thursday, Dec. 10, 1931. Vol. 6

Let's give the boys over at the post office a break this year and do our Christmas mailing early.

Sahara eastern coal comes conveniently sized for your furnace use. It's pure coal and just crammed full of heat.

Our oak flooring business is standing up wonderfully well. Oak flooring is mighty cheap right now.

Storm window orders are still coming in freely. Better hurry, though. It's going to get too cold one of these days to put them on.

Sonny Boy... "Mother, I just saw daddy kiss the maid."

Mother... "The little runt! I didn't think he was tall enough."

Yes, times are hard. But people still go to the movies and attend football games, go on vacations and buy gasoline and oil. And right in that connection we want to remind you that we are offering Economy furnace coal just now for $8.00 per ton. "Phone 147 for sudden service."

Doing a thing better than any other man has ever done it is all right, but the world will remember you longer if you will do something worth while that has not been done before.

We're getting a lot of repeat orders on our Pennsylvania hard nut coal. It is freed from slate.

You bet! We're mighty glad to have the swell looking Central Garage building along side of ours. The Central outfit is a swell bunch to do business with, too. We've found that out.

If anyone had told us a year ago that Sahara coal would turn out the heat it does with so little ash and soot and at so reasonable a price, we would have questioned his veracity. People, you're passing up a wonderful coal if you have not tried Sahara.

A young man over at the college confided to us the other day that rick-racking love is a lot like making pie. "All you need is some crust and a lot of apple sauce."

Bell School Is Made Standard

Program For Presenting Plate From State Held Friday Evening.

Wayne county school in district 6, known as the Bell school, has become standard, having fulfilled the requirements for this distinction. A program was held in the school Friday evening and the standard plate, sent by the state superintendent's office, was presented to the school by County Superintendent Fred H. Schaefer. The plate is placed above the door of the school. District 6 is the eighth standard school in Wayne county.

The program Friday consisted of songs, dances and recitations by pupils. Miss Ruby Himmelfarb gave two recitation selections, Emily Benson recited with recitations of the month and guitar. A large number attended. Refreshments of pie, cake and sandwiches, tea and coffee were served.

Members of the board in the district are Joseph Johnson, director; Warner Johnson, moderator; and Jack Schaefer, treasurer. Miss Marion Acker is the teacher.

The Bell school was erected at a cost of $50,000 and was dedicated October 10, 1929. The building is of limestone, 20 by 30 feet. The main floor is 25 feet high and is lighted from the north and west by six large and five small windows. In the southeast corner are built-in library and book cabinets. To the north is a door leading to a small hall and from this to the basement. Next to this door are two closets, about seven feet apart and leading to the main hall. In the north-south corner is a door leading to the teacher's room which is 6 by 10 feet and has two windows.

The hall is 10 by 18 feet and entrance is through a double door. Two windows light the hall. A built-in ladder to the attic and top for the bell are in the hall. Windows total 16, four on the east, seven on the north and five on the west.

Basement of the school is full sized and well lighted with six windows. Cell and toilet bins are close to the fireplace in the east part of the basement, thus leaving a large play room in the rest of the basement.

The school is equipped with study table, sand table, organ, phonograph, teacher's desk, single seats for the pupils, two sets of encyclopedias, a globe, clock, cream colored shades, three extra chairs, dictionary and folder and plenty of textbooks and library books.

The Bell building is painted in two colors, the upper part being tan and the lower half light brown.

COLLEGE GIRLS DO WORK FOR CHARITY

As a piece of charity work particularly suitable for the Christmas season, members of the Home Economics club at the State Teachers College are planning to rehabilitate coats to be given to poor children. The girls wish especially to dress dolls which have been worn out by their young owners, and will be glad to receive any toys which can be mended and prepared to go into Santa Claus' sack. Anyone who has toys to give may notify Miss Mary Turner of the home economics department before Saturday.

SCHOOL CHILDREN SPREAD EPIDEMIC

Diseases which school children contract are most easily last month were measles, scarlet fever and diphtheria, according to Dr. E. H. Barstow's report from the health department. The illnesses were concentrated in and one section, but scattered throughout the district. Children got the most feared disease of all during November, although it was scattered.

Gertrude has not been reared in a whirl of social excitement. She has never aspired to be a society butterfly. It has never been her ambition to excel in number of fellows she could have or the number of dances she could attend.

Bank failures usually come when they can be least easily borne. They come when the economic body is already enfeebled, and that is one reason why they come.

It is quite as much of an injustice to circulate the report that a man is better off than the facts warrant as to say he is nearing the rocks or is on the verge of a smash.

PIKING BLAME No person blames himself for his own delinquency. If one happens to acknowledge that he made a few mistakes in handling his affairs, he may quickly lift a considerable share of responsibility from his own shoulders and pitch it over on others who, for convenience, may be made objects of suspicion.

The Washington Wash

Washington, D. C.—Dr. Barney Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, preaches at Epiphany church—"the downtown cathedral." He is a wonderful fellow, the word "regular" has been overworked, or I'd call him that.

Barney is right, and it is too bad the so-called "internationalists" here in Washington and elsewhere couldn't have heard him. Those are the babies who are so weary of being disloyal to their own families and neighborhoods that they yearn for a larger scope for their disloyalty, so they reach out and take in the whole world, to which to be disloyal, it is a shame, they think, that such great capacity for treachery must be confined to only one portion of the race of men.

Miss Gertrude Klug of Pierce, and George Schmidt of Randolph, were married Thanksgiving day. The bride attended Wayne college three years. The couple will live four miles south of Randolph.

Margaret Worrell, a senior in Beemer high school, suffered, severe cuts on her head, when the side on which she was coasting with two other girls, ran into the rear of a car and the exhaust pipe cut a deep gash in her forehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Swanson of Hartington, visited Tuesday here with the latter's mother, Mrs. Anna Kopp.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Erlebein and Miss Bertha Berres went to Omaha Tuesday to attend a state convention of county clerks and commissioners. They return Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ced Swanson left Wednesday by car for Newman Grove. They will then go to Sidney and afterward to Texas, planning to visit relatives and friends until the first of March when they will go into their farm near here.

WAYNE MARKETS. (Corrected Wednesday morning) Corn 42c, Oats 28c, Hogs $3 and $4.25, Hens 12c, Leghorn springs 8c, Springs 15c, Leghorn hens 9c, Old roosters 5c, Eggs, No. 1 24c, Eggs, No. 2 11c, Butterfat 24c. These prices are subject to change.

The modern interpretation, in these days when parents never strike their offspring except in self defense and all discipline is the greatest good to the party who can put it over, and outside with the rest of the outfit." The thing is a cross between anarchy and a dictatorship. The cycle is this: tyranny, revolution, democracy, rampant individualism, anarchy, then dictatorship. You may look over that list and place America today. There has been wide and authoritative dissemination of the idea that laws are things to look over, through a supercilious logic.

There are so many laws, that nobody can do anything without violating at least one of them. If I were a business man, I'd have a lawyer and a spiritual adviser. If the lawyer told me I could do a thing and stay out of jail and the preacher told me I could do it and stay out of hell, I'd do it.

Far be it from me to overturn a sloppy law on any plumed pageant, to decorate with a monkey-wrench the interior of any well-oiled works, or even to festoon with crepe any human activity that seems to be giving a lot of bipeds a whole of a thrill. But I am immeasurably relieved that the football season for 1931 seems practically ended. One thing I weary of until I can be knocked down with a pile driver, is the picture of whoozis making an end run with a field of blurred whoozies (they all might as well be the same fellow endeavoring to hamstring or mangle him). I say "the picture," for it always looks the same and might as well be the same standard, out with only the title changed. The runner is always learning at an angle of sixty-one degrees, and his equilibrium is a miracle. If it gives the heroic whoozies' frank view, he has a look of agony on his face like that of one of the sprinter breasting the tape.

No, I am not grouching about the abundance of football tidings that fill the papers, and neither do I feel the least little bit like being a spoil-sport. But just the same I am going right on being glad the football season is over, and try and stop me!

The interference, the kicking, the offside plays, the straight-arming, the rough stuff, the penalizing—that is now going on unintermittedly, till goodness knows when, on Capitol Hill.

The hottest Congress that ever coagulated is on the very verge of clotting at this moment. The election in Texas settled the matter of the speakership upon Jack Garner's thirty-four year old son, who had the crown of authority rested on the hairless head of the late beloved Nick, and it will feel restless at first. The speaker will not be the affable Tom Reed, as Joe Cannon was, and he will probably have some of the amended House rules—having even authority than had his immediate predecessor, and intimate friends, Longworth. But it will, no doubt be plenty.

Back in the days of Czar Reed and peppy Willie Joe, a President was a choice boy and a genial compared with the Speaker of the House. When any legislation pending, the Speaker could toss it to a bunch that he himself had undesignatedly chosen to be rude or kind to just such legislation as that. So bills were defeated or passed actually by the Speaker, although through a rubber stamp thing called a committee which was really one of the 1931s the speaker used to run the country. No, but the speaker disliked became a law, and none he favored was ever given a thumbs-down verdict by the haid-picked and obligated committee to whom it was referred.

I am wondering if anybody knows what is right about anything pertaining to a democratic form of government? The original idea of democracy was the greatest good to the greatest number.

Stick to the Hog Growing.

Omaha Journal-Stockman: There will be no hog show out in Matka, Yasta, Colo., this year. For fifteen years the hog breeders of the San Luis valley have put on a fine show of porkers each November but on account of hard times and the low price of hogs the exhibition will be omitted this year, the directors announcing that they hope more favorable conditions next year will warrant a show in 1932.

At this distance, the decision at the San Luis hog breeders looks rather short sighted. The time for hog growers to boost the industry is when prices are low. When prices are high the industry boosts itself. Every man who has handled hogs for any considerable period knows that a period of abnormally low prices is invariably followed by a season of high prices and the wise course is to get into the business of producing hogs when the getting is good.

Following the crowd has always been a poor policy. Just now "the crowd" is making every effort to unload hogs regardless of age, weight or condition and wise hog breeders are refusing to be stampeded. It won't be long until the men who are most anxious to get rid of their hogs now will be looking around for breeding hogs and stock pigs and they'll have to pay well for them, too.

This is the wrong time to be getting out of the business of growing hogs.

Apple Trees Are Best In Orchard

Farmers Should Choose All Season Varieties For Best Apple Supply.

Advice to the farmer who wishes to be successful in the planting and raising of orchard stock was given recently by F. Parbaugh, Lancaster county extension agent. Mr. Parbaugh believes that most farmers would profit by raising orchards on their farms. Although directions must be followed and the farmer operator must not neglect any precautions.

Recommend Apple Trees.

Well known as an apple pie, every farm orchard should be planted with a few apple trees. The Lancaster county agent recommends the following varieties as suitable for raising in Nebraska: Yellow transparent Duchess, Wealthy, Guinness Golden, Jonathan, Delicious and Stayman Winesap.

NUMBER THIRTYFIVE

Alaskan Explorer Has Exhibit Here

Earl F. Hammond Brings Dogs And Reindeer to Wayne Last Friday.

Alaska has great possibilities for development, asserted Earl F. Hammond, Arctic explorer, who was in Wayne Friday with reindeer, Eskimo dogs and a display of Alaskan furs, etc., as a prelude to his Christmas feature. Population of the country is small and scattered now, Mr. Hammond said, but within a few years there should be 100,000 people in the territory. Vast wealth is to be developed, and the new automobile road under construction will connect the country by land with Canada and the United States.

The new Richardson highway, which runs parallel with the coast but varying from 10 to 300 miles from the ocean, will be 2,700 miles in length. It extends from Circle City, Alaska, to Vancouver, B. C. A sector of 900 miles remains to be built, and this will require five years as it runs through mountains in parts and must have tunnels as well as many grades. Alaska now has one railroad, this between Seward and Fairbanks, a distance of 360 miles. One good automobile road now serves part of Alaska. With the improved highway Mr. Hammond estimates that the population of whites, which is now 30,000, will increase several times. Eskimos and Indians now number about 26,000.

Fairbanks has wonderful climate, the explorer says. At midday in July and August, warmest months, temperature in the shade often reaches 102. In the winter 55 degrees below zero is frequent. But Alaska does not have the sudden variations known in this section. It is cold all the time or warm all the time. Just a short distance below the Arctic circle, Fairbanks has more than 23 hours of sunlight in summer, and about the same amount of darkness in winter.

Soil is wonderfully fertile in the vicinity of Fairbanks. Though the growing season in the summer is only two or three months long, crops make rapid growth with almost perpetual sunlight. Potatoes and lily like tubers that are used for food grow well. Corn is grown, but never matures. Berries of such varieties as blackberries, blueberries, etc., grow in abundance and are exceptionally nice. Leaves of some plants are used for food also. The variety of fish and animals for food is large. Near the coast four kinds of seals, walrus, whale, bear and several types of fish are available. Inland there are moose, caribou, sheep, goats, four kinds of bear and fish. Much of the meat and fish is prepared for eating by freezing. This makes it tender and palatable, just as cooking, Mr. Hammond explains. A diet of fish and meat is very fine after one gets used to it.

Mr. Hammond has a fur farm near Fairbanks. He raises fox, mink, beaver, otter and muskrat and markets the hides on the commercial market.

Whites and Eskimos live in separate villages mostly in Alaska. Nome has about 250 whites; in winter and 500 in summer. The 250 Eskimos live across a creek. The natives have sod houses, dugouts and log houses, the type depending on the kind they can afford. The house made of sod slabs has solid walls and is about four feet high. In the roof is an opening which is covered with intestines of a seal, making some light in the place.

Natives who go on hunting or fishing expeditions build gloost of snow blocks as temporary shelters. These they can set up in about 15 minutes. No natives live in such houses now. In summer the natives move from their dugouts and sod houses to tents.

Mr. Hammond spent several years in Arctic exploration. He spent two years with Sir Herbert Wilkins and aided Dr. Arlisska who was gaining information for the Smithsonian institute in Washington. Mr. Hammond and an Eskimo went by dog team 3,500 miles north to establish a post for an airplane trip to the north. With less than 1,400 miles of automobile road and less than 1,000 miles of railroad, the rest of the journey was made by boat and dog team. At the far north point Mr. Hammond selected a landing place for the plane at Point Barrow. The trip took two months. Mr. Hammond kept lights burning on the hill each morning. Wilkins and Ben Ebbesen came to the base March 31 of the year and made in one day the stretch it took Mr. Hammond two months to cover. This was from Fairbanks to Point Barrow.

Three white men live near Point Barrow. Charles Drower, who has been there 46 years, has made his home in the far north all this time. He has 19 children and his wife is an Eskimo. James Allen, his neighbor, is 160 miles south. Dr. Goodwin is the next closest and is 200 miles south of Allen.

Eskimos are adopting customs of white people fast, Mr. Hammond explains. As there are 17 white men to each white woman, many white men are marrying Eskimos and the population is thus becoming mixed.

Land covered by glaciers can never be reclaimed, Mr. Hammond thinks. The glaciers are ninety of them 1,000 feet deep. Pressure of moisture on their surfaces is making them recede, but only at the rate of a foot a year.

Mr. Hammond and his party of seven were here Friday with their exhibit. They have been in Osceola, Hastings, Beatrice, Getzen, Ainsley, and go from Wayne to Scribner, Ashland, Seward and then to Kansas and Iowa. After the holidays they visit the Panhandle region of Texas and give their exhibitions, omitting Santa Claus. The southern engagements will keep Mr. Hammond busy until April when he plans either to return to Alaska or to make a trip to Switzerland.

Pilger School Goes In Blaze

No Injuries Suffered In Fire That Takes All Grade Material.

Pilger grade and high school burned Friday when a blaze started in the furnace room and made rapid progress through the frame interior of the brick structure. The fire was discovered in mid-morning by Miss Helen By-sing of West Point, second grade teacher. She took her pupils to safety, sounded the alarm, and assisted in getting others out of the building in an orderly fashion. The high school students escaped by way of the fire escape tube.

The main part of the building was partly saved by firemen from Stanton, Wisner, West Point and other nearby towns. The newer addition of the building was entirely destroyed.

Classes will be held in the American Legion hall this week for high school people, but the grades will not be able to meet, reports state, until books and other supplies can be procured. The school board met in special session Friday to consider ways and means.

A remarkable feature of the catastrophe was the fact that no one was injured, and that escape from the burning building was orderly. Almost all of the children lost their wraps, personal belongings, and some of their best musical instruments which were used in the school orchestra.

Probably there would be fewer of those gigantic war bills if folks had to do the loading before the arming.—Bristol Herald.

License Plates Are Re-Issued

License plates in 35 of our 48 states will change colors this year, according to a report of the matter. Thirteen of our states have decided on permanent color combinations. Black and white and blue and white seem to be the most favored combinations.

Nebraska's new plates are white on dark blue. Colorado has chosen sienna on black, and Iowa will have white on maroon. Kansas has chosen black and orange, and South Dakota will have yellow on black. The new plates for Wyoming will be cream on brown.

Nebraska's plates will be similar to the ones used by Alaska, where white on dark blue is also favored. The Canal Zone plates will be black on yellow while Hawaii will have yellow figures on a green ground. Porto Rico's plates, not many of which will be seen in this section, are to be white on brown.

Lyons Doctor Dies.
Lyons, Neb., Dec. 4.—Dr. M. L. Hidreth, 81, who had practiced medicine in Burt county for 51 years, died Friday at his home here.

No matter how much of a depression exists, those nearest the source of food supplies find it possible to enjoy rich friendships in intimate gatherings, and dinners. With our only pay envelopes only half full, at least we have one at all, some of us are coming to regard Christmas as a sort of minor calamity. When we learn that eaters have arrived prepared to stay for a meal, there's usually an anxious counting of the dimes in the pocket on the pantry shelf, followed by an uneasy trot to the corner grocery to get a few things together. But out in the southwest Wafleford community, for instance, there's an abundance of cream, butter, eggs, chickens and such like. People from country whose homes are with such culinary skill as that of Mrs. Roscoe Stipp, and what wonder that there's such satisfying dinners and such friendly visits at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jensen of Fairport enjoyed last Sunday.

As Dr. and Mrs. V. S. Conn will agree, such a trip as they took to Chicago, Kansas, last week is particularly delightful at this time of the year. Aside from the business pleasure for whatever it is, the particular purpose of the trip, you get new Christmas ideas from the streets, the stores, and the homes in the towns you visit. You bring those ideas home with you. If you are a business man, you use them in your business; if you're a housewife, you've acquired new knowledge to put to use in your home; if you're just somebody else, well, that's the reason why you can't use a new idea or two anyway.

The general appearance of Wayne is improved this Christmas by the opening of the Service Electric Shop, M. R. & L. L. Wait proprietors which the Herald told about last week. Long after the last holiday decoration has been taken down to be discarded or laid away for use another year, such improvements will shine forth, proclaiming the progressiveness of Wayne and beckoning to all to come and enjoy its advantages.

There's not many days left until the Christmas school vacation, so you just watch Laverne Epton of the Central schools hustle to make up for the absence caused by his broken arm. Older people sometimes forget it, but things actually go pretty fast in school for a young man. Even if you're absent for only a day or two, it's quite a job to catch up with your class. Laverne is probably studying with head in hands this very minute making sure that, when the holidays finally do come, teachers as well as Santa Claus will issue a very creditable report on his pre-Christmas activities.

Man Injured Here Dies In Coleridge

Henry S. DeBow, 82, of Coleridge, who sustained a broken hip in a fall in Wayne last April 10, died December 1. Mrs. DeBow, who sustained injuries May 27 in a fall in Wayne while staying here with her husband, died last summer here.

Funeral services for Mr. DeBow were held at his home last Friday. Deceased was born at Bethany, N. Y. He married Miss Maria Douglas at Stafford, N. Y., February 11, 1875, and the couple celebrated their golden wedding in 1925. In 1926 the family came to Cedar county, Neb., and located on land they bought from the government.

Several trading points were Wayne and Ponca, each about 28 miles distant. Highways were buffalo trails, and ox teams the mode of travel.

Four children survive and they are Mrs. W. F. Fisher of Randolph, Miss Egan and Stephen DeBow of Coleridge, and Douglas DeBow of Randolph.

Wood Chopping Champ Named.
Homer, Neb.—John H. Harris was named wood chopping champion here at a contest. George Hodgins, world war veteran, who tied with Harris, conceded the title to Harris.

Wayne Alumni Choose Varying Occupations Following School

After school days are done and students scatter over the face of the earth, occupations change and vary, giving a wide range of choice. According to information received for the alumni register at the State Teachers College, most of the young women are keeping house or teaching school. The young men lean to the teaching profession, banking, and selling lines.

According to the Wyoming ranch of a Japanese ambassador is the interesting task of Miss Lillian Ballard, who finished her work here in 1927. Following her work here, Miss Ballard went to Lincoln, where she took her bachelor of arts degree at Wesleyan. And now she is cooking on the Bickton Polo Ranch at Sheridan, Wyoming. Quite a range of tasks in a few years.

Miss Ballard comments on her work as follows: "I am cooking for the Bickton Polo Ranch which is operated by Mr. W. Cameron Forbes, United States Ambassador to Japan. The place is a few miles from the majestic Big Horn mountains, a beautiful location."

She raises pheasants. Raising pheasants is the task with which Mrs. Willard L. Nelson, nee Veronica Wina, is engaged in at her home near Lincoln. Mrs. Nelson was at Wayne State Teachers College in 1922, and is now helping her husband with his work. She says: "We have a fine game farm here in University Place. At present we have about 400 fancy and Chinese ring neck pheasants, besides some quail, call ducks, Canadian geese, Hungarian partridge and fancy bantam chickens."

Wayne young women are doing interesting things, according to the reports. The comment on the card sent by Miss Beatrice Krause of Phoenix, Arizona, tells of a summer trip to Europe, and work in education at the University of Nebraska, where Miss Krause took her bachelor's degree. "I spent the summer in Europe," says Miss Krause, "visited in 10 countries, and made the trip on the North German Lloyd steamer, Bremen. Enjoyed it but prefer good old U. S. A."

Enterprising Homemakers. Being a homemaker seems to be a big job, but Mrs. A. C. Duling, nee Pauline Brauner, seems to find time to do other things, too. She was in Wayne State Teachers College in 1913, and is living in Sioux City now. "Along with the care of my five children," Mrs. Duling says enthusiastically, "I have been studying French the last three years. This year I have registered in a conversation class and I am attending it four hours a week. There must be something in the courses at the college that instills in students a very real love of study."

Walter I. Black, prominent in high school athletics in this state, was a student at Wayne in 1917, and has since taken his L.L.B. at Nebraska.

Walter L. Brauer, Wayne 1925 and 1926, and Iowa State, 1930, has taken a degree in ceramic engineering, a line which has not received much notice in western curricula. "At present," Mr. Brauer notes on his card, "I am in the research laboratories of A. J. Lindemann and Haveron company at Milwaukee." "Going strong in spite of the depression or panic," is Lawrence C. Austin, now Milwaukee hospital superintendent. Mr. Austin took his Bachelor of Science degree at the University of Chicago in 1921, following graduation from the school here in 1916.

Some Are Instructors. Teaching school is a very usual commentary on the cards sent in this week. It. T. Prescott, Wayne boy, is one who is enjoying his teaching at Nebraska University, where he has taken his bachelor's and master's degrees in recent years.

Edward Reynolds, popular student here several years ago, and graduate with a bachelor's degree in 1927, is living at Old Lyme, Connecticut, now, and attends Yale at New Haven. There he is working in the graduate department for his master's degree.

Clarence Linton has gone to Columbia University where he is now professor of education, and secretary of the teachers college. Mr. Linton was in school here during 1915 and again in 1919, following which he went to Lincoln to take his master's degree in 1921. In 1927 he took his doctorate at Columbia, each new degree marking a step upward in the educational world.

Is Society Editor. Lytle Dowling writes that he is now society editor of the World-Herald, where he is enjoying work which he hopes will lead him to even bigger fields.

"We are still keeping, everlastingly at it, trying to make bad banks good and good banks better," writes William Edward Johnson, bank analyst and consultant in Chicago. Mr. Johnson was at the Wayne school in 1928.

The men who have left school tell interesting bits about their work. Joseph Herbert Cox, now with Westinghouse in Pittsburgh comments: "We are now very active in the development of the mercury arc rectifier, and expect shortly to show radical improvements in this apparatus." Mr. Cox was a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he took a bachelor's degree in science in 1923.

Admire Football Work. "The all-victorious season of Coach Hickman's football team has been followed with real interest by many of us and we are particularly proud of the record," says Valdemar Peterson, "in light of the fact that football is not over emphasized at Wayne as it is in many schools. President Conn and the Wayne faculty are to be commended for maintaining a sane relationship between the academic and athletic activities of college, while Coach Hickman is to be congratulated for building a splendid team out of strictly amateur material. True sportsmanship would be aided if more schools would emulate the standards instituted at Wayne."

Mr. Peterson took his master's degree at the University of Nebraska in 1931 and now has a teaching fellowship in political science at the same school. He hopes to work up to his doctor's degree in political science and history.

Young men who have left Wayne spoke affectionately of the record made this year by the Wayne school on the football field. The school takes its own place, thus, in the affections of those who have left it.

The first set of letters sent out to former students reached 1,800 persons. This week 700 second letters were sent to persons who failed to reply, thus completing the large task of "rounding up" the former students at Wayne.

GERMAN CLASS IS TRANSLATING OLDER RECIPES

Foreign Delicacies Make Christmas Season Busy
One For Cooks.

PREPARE COOKIES NOW

If you would be intrigued, try some German Christmas cakes and cookies! If you are a housekeeper, you should be combining the ingredients carefully right now, for the cookies improve with age and they should be given time for that process before the holidays.

If you are a school girl, you may try your hand at these recipes, for the German classes under Miss Margaret Schmel of the State Teachers College are translating Christmas recipes from German into English and from English into German, with never a taste of almond pretzel or eier kringle! Their moist mouths water, though, as they read of the pounds of butter and sugar that must be combined with almonds and rare flavorings to make the delicate Christmas cookies into the delectable viands which they are.

Recipes printed in this article are some which the college students are using in their German classes right now. You might like to try these formulas, and you are sure to please some one if you make up a package of German cookies for a Christmas gift. So get out the favorite mixing bowl and the finest ingredients, and get to work!

"Eier Kringle," for instance, is a very typical Christmas confection. It takes:

1 egg
3 hard cooked egg yolks (put through a ricer)
1-2 cup sugar
1-2 cup butter
2 cups sifted cake flour
1-2 teaspoon powdered cardamom
Small amount of grated lemon rind.

Separate the egg and beat the yolk with the iced egg yolks, the sugar and the butter until the whole is well mixed and smooth. Add the flour, the cardamom, the lemon rind, and knead well. Roll out about 1-8 inch in thickness, using flour sparingly.

Cut with a doughnut cutter, and dip in egg white, then granulated sugar mixed with coarsely chopped blanched almonds, and baked in tins, lined with waxed paper, until a delicate gold. The oven should be moderate, 350 to 375 degrees, for the cookies scorch easily.

Try Some Kringlele.

1-2 pound of butter
1-2 cup of sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3-4 to 1 pound of flour
Have the butter very soft (at most of a melting consistency, before stirring it to a cream with the sugar). Separate the eggs and add the yolks, then add the vanilla. Stir well, adding just enough flour to make the dough stiff enough to roll without sticking.

Shape the dough with the hands, making round ropes. Make the ropes into rings, crossing the ends of the dough. Dip one side of each ring into the unbeaten egg whites and sprinkle the dipped side heavily with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar. Lay the rings far apart on a cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 to 375 degrees) until a light brown.

Of This Sprererie.

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1-2 cups flour
1 tablespoon anise seed
Stir the eggs (without separating) and the sugar in one direction only for one hour. Use your electric mixer. Add the sifted flour very gradually, and the anise seed. Continue stirring until the dough is stiff. Roll out 1-8 inch thick, moist with special iron, and cut in squares. Let the squares dry for 10 hours on the board, and then bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for 25 minutes, or until a light amber shade.

Pretzels, to most people, are merely pretzels, but the almond variety is something new to most pretzel enthusiasts. They are made thus:

1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 egg yolks
2 cups flour
1-2 pound almonds, unblanched and ground
Cream the butter, add the sugar, and cream thoroughly. Add the whole eggs, the egg yolks, the flour, and the ground almonds. Mix and knead into a large roll. Leave the roll in the refrigerator to harden, removing later to cut into pieces the size of a walnut. Roll each of these pieces to half inch thickness and twist into pretzel shape. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 25 minutes.

For Good Marzipan.

Marzipan cookies are famous for their delicacy and good flavor. They require the use of an almond paste, which is responsible for much of this flavor. Ingredients are:

1/2 pound of sweet almonds
1-4 pound almond paste
1 1/4 cups powdered sugar
2 egg whites

Blanche the almonds and dry them overnight. In the morning grind them very fine and combine with the paste, sifting the powdered sugar over the mixture. Mix and knead to a stiff paste with the unbeaten egg whites. Roll with the hand on a board which has been sprinkled with powdered sugar, and cut in pieces the size of a walnut. Roll one half inch thick and bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Here Are Lace Cookies.

German lace cookies are another variation of Christmas sweetmeats which will meet with the approval of holiday diners. These cookies will keep nicely, but care must be exercised in storing them, for they will be rather brittle. The cookies may be prepared as follows:

1-2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon melted shortening
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup uncooked oatmeal
1-2 cup shredded cocoanut
1-2 cup nutmeats
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat the egg without separating, then add the sugar and mix thoroughly. Add the other ingredients in the order named. Drop the batter by spoonfuls on a cookie sheet, leaving plenty of room between the cookies so they can spread out as they bake. A moderate oven should be used.

Here's Christmas Cake.

Lebkuchen is one of the old standbys of the German cook's Christmas repertoire. It calls for the following ingredients:

1-2 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup molasses
1 cup warm coffee infusion
4-1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
3-4 teaspoon salt
1-4 pound finely shredded citron
1-4 pound finely shredded candied orange peel
1-4 pound candied lemon peel
1-2 cups chopped pecans

Cream together the butter and shortening. Add the eggs and beat until mixed, then add the molasses and the coffee, dissolving the soda in the coffee. Sift the flour with the cocoa, spices and salt, and add to the mixture alternating with the citron, fruit peels and nut meats which have been mixed together.

Grease two large cookie sheets and spread the batter on them, leaving it about half an inch thick. The batter should extend to a point about an inch and a half from the edge of the pan, in order to allow room for the batter to spread while it bakes.

Bake the lebkuchen in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 minutes. Remove from the oven and ice thinly with a boiled icing. Another icing often used for lebkuchen is the following: Beat two eggs until stiff, adding enough powdered sugar to make the icing thick enough to spread. When the icing is almost set, cut the lebkuchen in two inch squares and leave in the pan until cool. When cool, store the cookies, which will improve with standing several weeks.

Gay Appetizers
To Begin Feast

Holiday Dinners Should Be
Graced With All Colors
In First Course.

How your holiday meal begins is important. The first course has come to be an elaborate offering of hors d'oeuvres or appetizers which take the place of the salad course and the relishes which were served with the dinner formerly.

Salad plates may be used for the appetizers, a filled plate for each guest. The appetizers served on such a plate at one holiday dinner included several ripe olives, a few green olives, sliced tomatoes dressed with mayonnaise, and small sandwiches, each with a few drops of French dressing. The plate was garnished with lettuce, and crisp crackers were passed with the first course.

Another delightful appetizer is the following, called Western Appetizer: Lay four cup-shaped lettuce hearts on each plate, and fill the one in the center with cream mayonnaise. Allow one slice of pineapple to each service, cut it in quarters, arrange in one of the lettuce cups and sprinkle with crushed fresh mint. In another lettuce cup place perfect sections of grapefruit and dust with paprika. In the last lettuce leaf pile stoned black cherries with their cavities stuffed with salted almonds.

Small pickled onions make a delectable accompaniment to the first dinner course. If you have never eaten green olives stuffed with onions, remove the pimento stuffing from green olives, and add the pickled onions. The result is a new flavor, which proves delightful.

Cubes of cranberry jelly make a bright beginning to any meal, and are appropriate for the Christmas season. The jelly cubes might be placed on a green glass salad plate, and accompanied by tiny red radishes and green olives which would carry out the Christmas colors. Crackers or melba toast should always be served with this kind of a course. The salad fork is appropriate silver for serving.

If you like, appetizers may be served from serving plates, and placed on the bread and butter plate at the beginning of service of the main course of the meal. This method is acceptable, and takes less time than serving the appetizers as an entirely separate course.

Divinity for Christmas.

Divinity may be made by the following rule, which is said to be a reliable one:

2 cups of sugar
1-2 cup of water
1-2 cup of white syrup
2 beaten egg whites

Boil the sugar, water and syrup until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Then place half of the hot syrup over the beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Return the other half of the syrup to the fire, cooking until it forms a brittle ball when it is ready to be combined with the beaten mixture. Last of all, flavor the candy with a teaspoon of vanilla and a pinch of salt.

Divinity may be made into separate candies, or it may be formed into bars and sliced. Divinity is improved, according to some cooks, by the addition of coarsely chopped black walnut meats.

Christmas fondant should contain chopped maraschino cherries, and bits of chopped nuts. It may be made into a loaf about an inch thick and two inches wide, then sliced. The pieces should be wrapped in waxed paper to keep them from drying out.

Fondant may be colored with food coloring and decorated with bits of candied fruit or nuts to make bonbons. If the cook desires, she may dip fondant centers into chocolate, making creams. This dipping chocolate should be melted in a double boiler, and kept at a rather warm temperature while the dipping is going on.

There is, for instance, chocolate fondant, which can be made without cooking, and which has all the flavor and goodness of fudge. The recipe for this fondant is the contribution of Miss Florence Yocum.

1 egg white slightly beaten
2 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 squares bitter chocolate, melted

3 1-2 cups powdered sugar, sifted
Add the vanilla and water to the egg white, then stir in the powdered sugar. It may be necessary to add more sugar—the mixture should be stiff, but moist. Make the mixture into patties, and decorate with halved nuts.

An Uncooked Fudge.

Miss Mary Currier, instructor in home economics at the State Teachers College, presents this recipe for an uncooked fudge.

Melt 3 squares of bitter chocolate
Add one can of condensed milk
Cook five minutes or until thick and remove from the heat, adding two tablespoons of butter, and one half package of dates, chopped in small pieces. Then add one cup of chopped nuts, two cups of powdered sugar and about a teaspoon of lemon juice for flavoring. Beat until thick and pour the mixture into pans to stiffen before cutting into squares.

Standard Candy Recipes.

Standard recipes for the usual candies are the following which come from the University of Nebraska tested recipes. They are reprinted here as a guide to the cook who may wish to make all of her Christmas candies at one time, without searching for standard formulas.

For fudge, use the following ingredients:

3 cups sugar
1 cup milk
1-4 teaspoon salt
2 squares of chocolate
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cook the sugar and milk until the sugar is dissolved. Then add the chocolate, cook until the soft ball stage is reached, remove from the fire, add butter, salt and vanilla and cool. When nearly cool, beat and spread on a buttered tin. Penuche is a candy which many like, and it will add variety to your Christmas assortment. To make it, combine two cups of brown sugar with three-fourths of a cup of milk, cook until the mixture forms a soft ball in cold water, and add three tablespoons of butter, a teaspoon of vanilla and about one half cup of chopped nuts.

Basis for Confections.

Fondant is the basis for many confections which are especially appropriate at Christmas time. To prepare the basic fondant, it is necessary to cook together two cups of white sugar, one cup of water and about one eighth of a teaspoon of cream of tartar. The mixture should be cooked and stirred until the sugar crystals disappear, although the liquid should not be allowed to reach the boiling point. When the syrup has cooled on a large platter, it should be beaten until it works. When it begins to stiffen, set it with the hands until it seems to be free from lumps, then set it away for 24 hours in a cold place. During this time, it will soften and take on a smoother consistency.

Christmas fondant should contain chopped maraschino cherries, and bits of chopped nuts. It may be made into a loaf about an inch thick and two inches wide, then sliced. The pieces should be wrapped in waxed paper to keep them from drying out.

Fondant may be colored with food coloring and decorated with bits of candied fruit or nuts to make bonbons. If the cook desires, she may dip fondant centers into chocolate, making creams. This dipping chocolate should be melted in a double boiler, and kept at a rather warm temperature while the dipping is going on.

Divinity for Christmas.

Divinity may be made by the following rule, which is said to be a reliable one:

2 cups of sugar
1-2 cup of water
1-2 cup of white syrup
2 beaten egg whites

Boil the sugar, water and syrup until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Then place half of the hot syrup over the beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Return the other half of the syrup to the fire, cooking until it forms a brittle ball when it is ready to be combined with the beaten mixture. Last of all, flavor the candy with a teaspoon of vanilla and a pinch of salt.

Divinity may be made into separate candies, or it may be formed into bars and sliced. Divinity is improved, according to some cooks, by the addition of coarsely chopped black walnut meats.

Copper, famous for "Skippy"....

The pair are teamed in "The Champ," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama, coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, December 13, 14 and 15, to the Gay theatre.

Beery plays an old prize fighter, living with his small son in a border town where he is everlastingly trying to make a "comeback". There is a sensational prize fight, thrills of racing at Caliente, and through it runs the stirring story of a father's love and his sacrifice to give the child the "break" he never could have.

King Vidor Directed.

King Vidor, whose sensational success with "Street Scene" and "The Big Parade" are history, directed the new production and a notable cast appears, including Irene Rich, Roscoe Ates, Edward Brophy, Hale Hamilton, Jesse Scott and Marcia Mae Jones. Frances Marion, author of "The Big House" and "Min and Bill," wrote the story.

Pipeline Bridge Will Be Largest

The pipeline bridge under construction over the Missouri river from Biggley's ravine near Porca will be the largest such suspension construction in the world when completed. It will cost about $150,000. A 1,280-foot span will carry the pipe at a height of 75 feet above the present water level and 66 feet above the high water level. Main cable will be made of 14 strands over one inch in diameter, the strands to be bound together after being taken across the river separately. The cable will weigh 28 tons. Two winding cables of 13 tons each will take care of the side push of the wind. Cables will be swung from towers whose tops will be 160 feet above water level. Ends of the cables will be anchored in blocks of concrete 30x14x30. The pipe will be hung from the main cable by cradles every 20 feet.

Experience.

F. O. Edgecombe in Geneva Signal: Just when all of us are becoming hopeful that the schools and colleges of journalism are doing something useful for the hundreds of young people who flock to them for instruction, something turns up to chill our enthusiasm over efforts to make a competent newspaper worker out of every young person feeling an urge to write something or other.

A trade paper says that Walter E. Pitkin, professor of journalism at Columbia university, New York City, announces that young students in colleges and journalism schools show virtually the same news judgment in determining the importance of news events as do editors and reporters with years of training and experience. Pitkin found this out by making a survey of vocational studies in journalism. A series of tests in news judgment was given to 173 newspaper men and 291 journalism students, all young people.

Which same is just to be expected. Newspaper work has to be learned, just like farming, the compounding of drugs, the art of the jeweler or the craft of the plumber or carpenter. There is no set way to get any of this knowledge of what how to do, and of what to do, except that all theoretical knowledge is of little value until it has had the test of experience. Children in school haven't had the experience.

Schools can do much for the intelligent young who apply themselves, but if Professor Pitkin teaches his students the notion set forth above he is doing them harm. There are already too many young people who have somehow acquired the idea that they are qualified to step into positions of authority in all lines of business and who totally lack the experience that would enable them to apply their knowledge and their school theories in a practical and useful way.

Pioneer Suffers Stroke.

Wisner, Neb.—August Wegner, aged 87, a resident of Wisner since the early days, suffered a stroke. He was found in his home in a semi-conscious condition. Mr. Wegner was taken to a hospital in West Point.

$20,000 was spent in surveying the roadbed, and in drawing plans for the entire line, including stations, bridges, cuts, etc. Due to the economic situation the work was halted in September.

According to W. C. Lusk, president of the road, it is planned to resume work early next summer. When completed the road will save both South Dakota and Nebraska shippers large sums in freight rates. At present, shipments for southeastern South Dakota, coming from Omaha and Lincoln must be shipped through Sioux City. The new road will cut off at least 150 miles from all such interstate shipments.

To Fix Grass.
If you wish to have a velvet lawn next summer, you must begin now to eradicate the weeds which probably infest it. A very dilute solution of sodium chlorate will kill most of the weeds, but it will also discolor the grass which suffers no other harm from the application of the solution.

In the winter there is a good time to spray the lawn, for the grass is discolored, and the additional discoloration caused by the application of the solution will do no harm.

The Ohio experiment station recommends the use of two-thirds of an ounce of sodium chlorate to a gallon of water. This much of the solution will take care of 100 square feet of grass.

It is rather dangerous to use the solution, for it makes saturated material very susceptible to fire, even after it is dry. Even freezing can cause the material to ignite. The solution should be mixed on the ground and old clothes worn during the process should be discarded.

also discolor the grass which suffers no other harm from the application of the solution.

Mr. Jones was preparing to retire Wednesday at 11:30 and he seemed in good health and was planning his work for the next day, when he suffered a sudden heart attack and died within 20 minutes.

After eight years on the farm he went at the age of 19 years to Glamorgan-Shire, South Wales, to work in mines. Not liking the work in mines he returned to his home after three months and spent the next five years on farms not far from Bangor, North Wales.

What Are We Waiting For?

Omaha Journal-Stockman. Another healthy sign of the times is that people are now asking the question, "What's holding us back?"

Business men, bankers, farmers and mechanics are saying, "Let's go. Everything is ready. We've hit bottom and the outlook is promising."

Henry Ford says there is nothing standing in the way of a revival of business now except the doubting attitude of the public. He points out that:

"We are no longer looking for miracles."

"We have quit looking for Santa Claus."

"We are ready to go to work."

"And we are making progress."

"We are all wiser men and women than we were, and we are going to make better use of the next decade."

Henry is right and the thing to do now is move forward. Better times are coming but better times are also here and we'll realize the fact before we know it. Let's get going!
