BABSON BELIEVES COMING YEAR TO SEE GOOD TIMES

ROGER Babson, national business expert, is optimistic over market and business conditions for 1932. He says there is no sound reason why the year of a presidential campaign should interfere with the times. He suggests that conditions make or unmake presidents, but that presidents have no real influence on values of employment. Of five major depressions since 1849, he recalls that three occurred under republican administrations and two under democratic administrations. Republicans were in the saddle during half of four major booms. Thus, Babson is of the opinion that the pendulum is ready to swing back and that regardless of the party coming into control as the result of next year's election, it will swing back to what it is beginning to do now. He thinks President Hoover's chances for reelection will depend largely on the way times change between now and election. Babson approves of the administration's plan of cutting unnecessary expense lines and balance the national budget by raising taxes. Trying to keep within one's income is a policy which he recommends for all.

GRAVELING IS BEGINNING ON HIGHWAYS HERE

Laying Of Fresh Surface To Insure Better Traveling Through Winter. MENTION TWO HIGHWAYS

With the first moisture in months soaking the soil, Wayne county's unpaved roads have become almost bottomless, and the importance of gravelled roads has been increased a hundred-fold. Graveling has started at Wisner on highway 15, and it is reported that the gravel spread will extend as far north as Yankton.

Stakes are being set for regaveling activities south of Wayne, and new gravel is promised for early laying. The contract has been granted to the Abel construction company.

Fresh gravel was laid last summer on the east end of highway 33, between here and Wakefield. More gravel will be placed on this road soon covering the west end and giving the highway a new surface.

Maintainers have found difficulty in keeping the roads in condition, although a few sunny days would guarantee to dry out the mud and give travelers a better opportunity to make their holiday journeys.

December Output Large.

During December this far Mrs. Fox, working for the county and various charity organizations, has distributed about 250 toys, 200 garments and 57 pairs of shoes. Inas-much as the number of toys received was so large, Mrs. Fox sent a parcel of half a hundred games and dolls and other things to the Nebraska drought-stricken counties. She still has toys to be distributed where they are needed.

This year, toys will not be placed in the food baskets distributed to needy families. It has been found easier, Mrs. Fox points out, to send the toys in separate packages, eliminating duplication, and assuring each needy family of a happy Christmas for old and young.

Mrs. Fox wishes to thank individuals and organizations for making possible her work. She is especially grateful to the public school children for the fine spirit which they have exhibited. "I should not be able," Mrs. Fox admits, "to do this work at all, if it were not for this splendid cooperation."

Arrange Program For Farm Women

Cheap Graveling. General Signal. A citizen who drives over the state a good deal has two serious complaints to make against the way Governor Bryan is graveling the highways of the state. We are only mentioning Governor Bryan's name because he says he is the whole works, after the manner of the famous Roman general with the Volscians, "Alone I did it," when he said, "I fluttered your Volscians like an eagle in a Govecky."

The complaints are these: That the gravel is being spread so thinly it can't possibly hold the traffic and the gravel is of poor quality, too nearly approaching sand. Thin and cheap gravel can cut down the cost of the first application of gravel but the eventual result is to multiply maintenance expense. It may be not campaign stuff to boast of the laying of hundreds of miles of gravel, but if this citizen's observation is right and his complaints well taken the taxpayers will live

When you had your telephone put in, perhaps you did it because you knew it would drive away loneliness or be handy for shopping.

You didn't suspect that you would be placed on a committee with a score of people to talk to every week, that a time would come when you must summon a doctor in a hurry, or that your sister would move a hundred miles away and you would want to talk to her frequently.

The value of telephone service cannot be measured by the few cents a day paid for a telephone, which enables you to reach everyone else in town who has a telephone... or by the low cost for talking with persons out of town (only 35 cents for three minutes—between 4:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.—over a distance of 40 airline miles when you will talk with anyone available at the telephone called—less for the shorter distances and less per mile as the distance increases).

Representatives Come From Gas Company Offices In Northeast Section.

Safety work which began 20 years ago in most of the public utilities lines will be furthered here in connection with the work of the natural gas companies. The new movement was made the theme of discussion at the first district meeting of the company held in Wayne Wednesday evening. Employees from Wakefield, Emerson, Bancroft and Wayne, and guests were entertained at dinner in Hotel Stratton, and at a meeting in the gas company offices. J. W. Kelso, safety director for the Northern Natural Gas Company, was the guest of honor and chief speaker in his discussion. Mr. Kelso pointed out the magnitude of the companies which have succeeded in bringing natural gas from the fields in Texas to points as far north as Rochester, Minn., and which also serve dozens of towns from their laterals between the two points. The whole movement has grown up in the past three years, and is pioneering in many communities.

"We have a responsibility to the people in those communities," Mr. Kelso explained to employees. He stressed the principle of thinking before acting, and adjured all workers to follow it.

From Far Fields. That natural gas should be piped into the fruitful middle west is nothing short of a miracle of modern science, the speaker showed. He pointed out the barren condition of the land which produces natural gas, emphasizing the fact that such lands contribute their share to the development of such rich lands as our own.

In connection with the organization of the gas distribution branches in this section of the state, a safety commission will be established. There will be three members, of which J. R. Reynolds will be chairman. In the district groups, studies will be made of the causes of accidents and of first aid

Man Is Overcome By Gas In Truck

Former Resident Dies In Randolph

Mrs. Catherine Wimmer, 93, Randolph's oldest citizen, died on Wednesday last week. Funeral services were held Saturday in Randolph Methodist church.

Mrs. Wimmer, whose maiden name was Catherine Gere, was born in New York and was married to Peter Wheeler who lost his life in the Civil war. Deceased with her three children came to Iowa and was there married to Peter Wimmer. Two children were born to this union. The Wimmers moved to Wayne in 1889 and to Randolph in 1893. Mr. Wimmer died in 1913.

Deceased leaves three children, Mrs. Mary Radel of Proctor, Mont., Eugene Wheeler of Chariton, Iowa, and Frank Wimmer of Randolph.

Writes About Plan To Aid Employment

Mrs. Ella Pile of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of Wayne, writes the Herald that the unemployment relief program in that city is working wonders.

Through a campaign in the city 1,550 volunteers canvassed institutions and individuals, getting pledges to make improvements or make purchases to improve conditions and give employment. The total showed that 10,771 individuals, firms or groups promised to spend $6,026,351.96 within the next few months. The original expectation of $2,000,000 was multiplied three times.

"There never has been a campaign waged in Rochester since the war, with more determination or with more individual concentration," said Henry H. Stebbins, chairman of the Civic Committee on Unemployment. "It has been a most unusual campaign, in that we helped ourselves in helping others. So we may say it was a mutual campaign; a wonderful thing for the community."

Mrs. Pile writes that she and her son, Fred, are living in a modern apartment house in which the owner is making improvements he had not contemplated for some time. Many are doing the same and the hope is that thousands of workers will have employment.

Old Man Winter Again

Winter is here! It arrived promptly on the dot at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, December 22 for a short stay that will last until the March arrival of spring, 1932. Ten shortest days are included in the calendar, the last one coming on December 28, when, say the weather experts, a scant couple of minutes will be added to the day. On these shortest days you can perform your regular eight hours' work by day light and have an hour to spare, for there are nine hours of daylight on shortest days in this latitude. If you are going to make progress in daylight hours, you'll have to hurry, for plenty of tasks must be performed by artificial light these days.

Over the Card Table

The statement that a man had died of solitude and unhappiness when he had no one to play cards with him was one of the caustic remarks let fall by a dapper secretary in the "The Apple Cart," presented here last week. But the feeling that life is too full of a number of things to devote a maximum of time to card playing seems to be reflected in a recent survey made in Lincoln. Fred Willie Melmoth, Bomar of Columbia university student, Lincoln and four other middle western cities, discovering that bridge was played in Lincoln as little as in any city of the same size and intellect. He observed, also, that the rate of attendance on lecturers and study club meetings as well as church gatherings, was higher in Lincoln than in most cities of the same size. The percentage of home-making college graduates is high. But Culbertson and Benz, apparently, would not be so popular in the city that the sewer guards.

GREETINGS and good will...

IN 46 years this bank has surmounted many obstacles--a few major ones incident to periods of national stress--and it has gained renewed courage and stimulated strength from the experience. Many a patron's difficulties have been carefully ironed out. Many private problems have been solved, and many trusting customer's interest has been made our earnest ambition.

At this time when more confidence is justified than sometimes felt, we turn to the future in the belief that out of fiery trials will come a higher and firmer civilization--more sincere fellowship, more generous helpfulness, finer spirit and more exalted standards of social and business relationship.

Character burnishment will mark up appraisal of qualities of mind, make money a means to service rather than a god to serve. Reaction from unselfish thinking and noble purpose is reasonably certain to be material adequacy. Let every loss, every disappointment and every heartache accrue to the imperishable wealth of soul.

In this holiday season, looking ahead with assurance of brightening skies and more general stability and plenty, this bank expresses sincerest greetings and good will, wishing all larger fruition and multiplied reasons for content.

Begin The New Year With A Candy Making Party In Your Own Kitchen

Now that the children are all at home for Christmas vacations, there should be candy-making activities going on in the kitchen. The recipes printed in this week's Herald were tried recently in the foods class at the State Teachers College, and were contributed to the paper by Miss Mary Currier, instructor in the class. Get the family together, make some candy, and see how much fun an old-fashioned family party can be. It's a good way to begin a happy new year!

Student Explains Candy Variations

(By Gladys R. Franek)

Before making fondant, assemble all the ingredients for chocolate dipping. In order to make chocolate creams, preparedness is essential in successful chocolate dipping. With certain home utensils, candy making is surprisingly easy. A candy thermometer is essential; a dipping fork is helpful.

For cream fondant, measure two cups of sugar and place in a straight-sided sauce pan. Next, add 1-8 teaspoon salt to the sugar. The addition of this amount of salt will improve the flavor of the fondant. Add one tablespoon of light corn syrup. The syrup helps to prevent the formation of large sugar crystals which cause fondant to become grainy. Next add one cup of cream. Cream makes a rich fondant which stays moist. Fondant mixtures may be made up at once, or allowed to ripen 24 to 48 hours.

Mix the ingredients, placing over a low flame. Stir until the sugar dissolves. After boiling begins, watch the thermometer closely, and stir occasionally. Prepare to cool the candy quickly. When the thermometer reaches 240 degrees (the soft ball stage) pour quickly into a large bowl. (Watch the thermometer closely after it passes 230 degrees; the more quickly fondant cools, the smoother it will be.)

To Make Fondant Smooth.

As the fondant begins to cool, turn the edges of the mixture toward the center of the bowl. This makes for even cooling. Test the center of the mixture with the finger, and when it is lukewarm, it is ready to be worked. The fondant will become grainy if it is worked when too warm. Work lightly with a spatula, letting no unworked edges form. Never stir fondant, for it may cause it to grain. Work until creamy white and of a kneading consistency, knead thoroughly, and store in a covered container until ready to use it.

Dipping Fondant Centers.

Cut chocolate into small pieces which will melt evenly and quickly. Melt slowly in the upper part of a double boiler, the lower part being filled with lukewarm water (about 110 degrees Fahrenheit). Two pounds of chocolate will be needed to dip advantageously. Never allow the thermometer to reach more than 90 degrees Fahrenheit. The chocolate will melt in about 30 minutes.

While the chocolate is melting, centers may be prepared. The first step is to cut the fondant into equal portions. To make coconut creams, flatten out about one-fourth of the entire amount of fondant, and add to it two tablespoons of chopped coconut. Work coconut into fondant by kneading, and roll the mixture into an even rope about an inch thick. If the fondant sticks, dust with confectioner's sugar. Dip in chocolate.

Real Maple Creams.

For maple nut creams, add maple flavoring to one-fourth the mixture and mix in two tablespoons of chopped nuts. Knead and roll as for coconut creams.

Vanilla Caramels.

Cherry creams are made by adding a bit of red food coloring to the fondant. Blend, add two tablespoons of chopped candied cherries, knead and roll.

For French Creams.

For French creams, leave one-fourth of the fondant plain, roll, and shape into ropes which may be cut into one half inch pieces.

The Dipping Process.

By the time the candy is shaped, the chocolate should be melted and beginning to cool. Immerse the French creams, one at a time, dipping out carefully to drain. Work rapidly, for the chocolate will cool fast. Drop the coated creams in chopped coconut or nut meats, and cover completely. Lay finished candies on waxed paper.

When the dipping chocolate has cooled to 76 degrees, begin dipping the other centers. Twirling the dipping fork as the candy is dropped on paper to drain will give the professional-looking curlicue on top.

For chocolate acorns, use almonds and Brazil nuts. Dip one end of the nuts in chocolate, then dip in chopped pistachios or other nuts, or use coccoanut.

Dates or other dried fruits may be coated completely with chocolate. Arrange candies attractively in sandy box, with waxed paper between layers.

Between the layers. Packed artistically, candy of this kind makes a delightful gift.

Fondant.

(By Eula Wintermate)

1 cup sugar
1-2 cup water
1-16 teaspoon cream of tartar
Mix the ingredients, removing any sugar from the sides of the pan to prevent burning. Heat gradually until the boiling point is reached. Cook, without stirring, to the soft ball stage, when the candy should be removed from the fire at once. Every time the candy is tested the mixture should be removed from the fire, and care should be taken to keep the sides of the pan free from crystals.

Cool until the heat of the bottom of the pan can be borne by the palm of the hand, then beat the fondant with a wooden spoon until it becomes white, and creamy. An enamel pan is recommended to keep the fondant from discoloring. Knead the fondant with the hands until it is perfectly smooth, wrap in waxed paper, and keep in a covered dish. After 24 hours, it may be molded into suitable shapes.

Chocolate Fudge.

(By Arleigh Meinderloh)

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons white corn syrup
1 cup Pet milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3-4 cup nuts
Melt chocolate over hot water in a pan in which candy is to be cooked. Add sugar, salt and corn syrup and mix well. Add milk and blend. Cook rapidly until sugar is dissolved, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and cook slowly until the mixture forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Cool without stirring, add vanilla, and beat vigorously until thick. Add nuts and turn on greased waxed paper or into a greased pan. Cut into squares when thoroughly cooled.

Pineapple Fudge.

(By Helen Swanson)

1 cup Pet milk
3 cups sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Combine milk, sugar and butter and heat to the boiling point. Keep stirring, if necessary, to keep the mixture from burning. Remove from the fire and add the drained pineapple, letting the mixture cook about 25 minutes, or until it has reached the soft ball stage, stirring constantly to prevent scorching.

Caramel Fudge.

(By Lillian Sladek)

1 cup sugar
1-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
Few grains of salt
Raisins or nuts if desired
Caramelized one-third of the sugar, preferably in an iron utensil. Add two tablespoons hot water or more if necessary, to form a syrup. Boil at least 10 minutes, until the mixture is cooked thoroughly. Add remaining sugar and milk. Cook to a soft ball stage at about 236 degrees Fahrenheit. Add the butter and remove from the fire. Cool at least 40 degrees, add the vanilla and nuts, whip until rather thick, and roll out on buttered tins.

Turkish Raspberry Paste.

(From Nebraska Farmer)

1 cup raspberry juice
3 tablespoons granulated gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups sugar
Dissolve the gelatin in one-half cup raspberry juice. Heat to boiling the remaining juice and sugar. Add the softened gelatin and boil 20 minutes. Add lemon juice and rose fruit coloring, if desired. Turn the mixture into a straight sided pan which has been rinsed in cold water. When cold, turn onto a paper on which powdered sugar has been sifted. Cut into squares and roll each square in the sugar. This is an excellent sweet for the children, because it is not rich.

Pinoche.

(By Pauline Murray)

1 cup brown sugar
2 cups white sugar
1 1/2 cups condensed milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup walnuts
Mix the sugar and milk together. Bring to the boiling point, stirring until sugar is all dissolved. Cook until the soft ball stage is reached, add butter, and cool until lukewarm. Then beat until creamy, add vanilla and nuts and pour into a greased pan. This mixture curls easily, but it will become smooth after beating. Stir constantly to prevent burning.

Early Days in Wayne County

Christmas eve was observed at the churches, where special holiday programs were rendered by the children.

Frank Kloppe of Wayne was married in 1914 to Miss Hanna Steen of Sterling, Ill.; the marriage taking place at Sterling. Mr. and Mrs. Kloppe planned to come to Wayne county in mid-January of 1915 to make their home.

Entertain Football Men.

Dr. and Mrs. U. S. Conn were host and hostess December 17, 1914 to members of the State Normal football squad. Prof. Keckley acted as toastmaster.

Thirteen families in Wayne were given assistance by officers of the Commercial club, with whom teachers and ministers cooperated.

Marriage licenses issued in December, 1914, included the following:

Mr. Gust Olson to Miss Laura Larson, both of Wakefield were united in marriage by Judge James Britton at this place Saturday, December 19.

Tuesday, December 22, 1914, a marriage license was issued out of the county court to Mr. Ivor Morris and Miss Iva May Burress, both of Carroll.

Wednesday, December 23, the county judge married James W.

ter toward the last of the cooking. This mixture is very thick and sticks easily at the last. Add vanilla and pour into a greased pan. Cool thoroughly before cutting with a heavy, sharp knife. If desired, one third cup coarsely chopped nuts may be added to the mixture before it is poured into the pan for cooling.

Candied Orange Peel.

(By Arleigh Meinderloh)

1 cup water
1-2 cups sugar
Peeling of four oranges, cut into small strips
Make a syrup of the sugar and water. Place the orange peeling in cold water, bringing slowly to a boil. Remove water from the peeling, add cold water again, and bring to the boiling point a second time, allowing it to boil for five minutes. Drain off the water and pour cold water over the twice cooked peelings. Later cut the rinds into narrow strips, drain them, and add to the syrup. Cook in the syrup until it is all absorbed, but do not allow the mixture to burn. Roll in granulated sugar when done.

Marshmallow Fudge.

(By Margaret Fanske)

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 cups sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons corn syrup
1 cup Pet milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
3-4 cup nuts
1 cup marshmallows
Melt the chocolate and add sugar, salt and corn syrup, mixing well. Cook rapidly until sugar is dissolved, stirring constantly. Reduce the heat and cook the candy until it reaches the soft ball stage. Cool and then beat until it becomes smooth. Stir in the marshmallows and nuts; then turn out in squares. The cost of this candy is quoted at 18 cents, which is reasonable enough for even a depression Christmas!

Wednesday, December 23, the county judge married James W.

Brissell to Miss Maude Hill. Both of the parties were from Bloomfield.

L. E. Morris of near Carroll held a farm sale, advertised for January 7, 1915. Col. Fred Jarvis was auctioneer, and Dan Davis was clerk.

They Killed a Deer.

A party of Wayne hunters killed a deer near Conhold, says the Wayne Herald for December 26, 1931. Men included in the party were Henry Meyers, C. A. Chace, F. L. Neely, W. J. Perry, and W. H. McNeal.

Whatever the calamity, Wayne people seem always to be ready to meet it. In the December 26 Herald for 1889, mention is made of a carload of supplies sent from this city to sufferers in Dakota, where early winters were said to be even harder than they are now.

Long Ago Railroad.

The railroad business in 1883 brought forth some comment in the Ponca Journal for December 21 of that year. It follows: "Bob Scott, who used to be conductor on the railroad between this place and Sioux City, was here Sunday. Mr. Scott was conductor on this line before our railroad had grown any bigger than a narrow gauge. In those days, traveling over it was slim; passengers and freight in a month only equalled what is now carried in a day. Mr. Scott has been reconnoitering Oregon and Washington territory, and will in the spring settle on his farm in the southwestern part of the county and go into the stock business."

From the same issue of the Ponca Journal comes this item: "Messrs. Welty, Sullenberger and Caffee started on Wednesday for Tennessee. Mr. Sullenberger will visit the old battlefields where he fought and bled, and will, if he sees a fine tract of timber, purchase the same with a view to opening out in the lumber business. These gentlemen will return to Ponca in about two weeks. Where they will go will not be quite far enough south for oranges and strawberries, but it will be far enough to see a country several degrees warmer than it is here. It is a country of forests, sweet potatoes, upland cotton, chilli pepper and hospitable people. We hope W. S. and C. will have a good time, and presume they will."

From Editorial Columns.

An editorial as timely now as it was the day it was written is this one, lifted from the editor's column of the Wayne Herald for December 24, 1914:

"Little knocks and disappointments are usually friendly, serving to modify self-conceit, prevent feelings of lordly superiority and steel the body and soul to greater endurance, and make possible greater achievement. If an individual's pathway were wholly free from annoyances, he would become intolerably arrogant, and his talents and character would become so weak that he could accomplish nothing worthwhile for society or himself. Thus, as we often feel unnecessarily harrowed by little troubles, we should be encouraged by the fact that we come out of the crucible purified and strengthened and better fitted to live for self and others."

Idealism: The Need of the Hour.

(Journal of the National Education Association)

In times of darkness and confusion the supreme need is light. The light of great ideals has been the saving force thru all the centuries, richer in vitality than any race, more abiding than empires, more enduring than monuments of stone.

Ideals are practical. Like the beams that guide men thru the seas and the air, they are most needed in times of storm and difficulty. Some nineteen hundred years ago Jesus Christ gave to mankind the greatest body of idealism the world has known. With none of the trappings of classroom, curriculum, grades, or degrees; in an age crushed with ignorance, superstition, brutality, and corruption by the mere force of living and teaching—Christ started a new epoch; an epoch so significant that the calendar dates from his birth, so powerful that it has changed the whole course of human events; so beneficent that untold millions of men have been lifted higher in the scale of life. Is it not plain that what the world needs just now is a new devotion to great ideals? In statecraft, in business, in industry, in law, in the church, in science, or in teaching can anything be more intensely fruitful and practical than a renewed faith in the higher and finer things? Hour after hour, day after day, we are all facing situations where there is choice between the higher and the lower. It takes but a little commonsense and a will to choose the higher path—to change the whole course of a life at school, a nation, or an age. A little more faith, a little more idealism and the confusion of today may give way to the fairest dawn the world has seen. Teachers inspired by the living example of the great Teacher are prepared to work and sacrifice as never before. Thousands of them in America where banks are bursting with gold have laught for many, many months without pay—proving in the hour of need the sustaining power of a great devotion. As we celebrate this Christmas, let us dedicate ourselves anew to those lofty ideals that are the fruit of untold centuries of aspiration and hope, of sacrifice and struggle, of heroism and courage. In the faith that teaching is the surest way, let us up highly resolve—as we celebrate this birthday of the Great Teacher—to teach better than we have ever taught before, to teach as tho the whole structure of civilization rested upon our teaching. That is the supreme need of this hour.—J. E. M.

A Prosperous Depression.

Omaha Journal-Stockman
There are a good many things about the prevailing period of depression that are difficult to understand. For instance, the General Motors points out:
"190,000,000 more gallons of gasoline were sold in 1930 than in 1929."
"2,000,000 more tires were sold."
"Building permits exceeded those of 1930 by $1,050,000,000."
"$18,500,000 more life insurance was written."
"Increased sale of refrigerators, of shoes—an astounding increase; an increased total in savings accounts."
"40,000,000 persons still gainfully employed in the United States."

At most any other time such a record would spell prosperity. Is it possible that we are merely giving way to a state of mind?

The identity of Santa Claus remains a mystery, but at least we have learned it isn't Wall Street. Anderson (Ind.) Herald.

Please that Americans spend more liberally seem to have been taken seriously by no one except officials who handle public funds.—Dunbar's Weekly (Phila.)

Here's why they're FRESH!

CAMELS are never parched or toasted

"You needn't tell me—I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

THERE is of course a sound reason why the Camel Humidor Pack can deliver to Camel smokers a cigarette that is genuinely fresh.

Camels are made fresh to start with, fresh with natural moisture—blended of the choicest, delicately mild, full-mellow, sun-ripened tobaccos that money can buy.

The full natural goodness of these fine tobaccos is safeguarded at every step in their handling—they are never parched or toasted—the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we can say with every assurance that

Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh — not parched or toasted — and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

The delights of a genuinely fresh cigarette are so rare and desirable that Camel popularity continues to mount daily to new highs.

Test these delights for yourself—see what true freshness means in cool, slow-burning, delicate mildness—switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them—if you can.
