

Of Crowds Attending Cooking School and Homemakers' Institute Justifies Undertaking—Style Show Next—False Report Concerning Wayne—Character Study.

Up to Expectations.

According to the opinions of persons who attended the Herald's cooking school and homemakers' institute last week, the undertaking was worth all it cost. The editor was pleased and encouraged by many expressions of appreciation.

Those who had exhibits made no half-way attempts. They spared no time, effort or money to make their displays attractive, adding materially to the success of the institute and establishing themselves anew as enterprising and progressive.

It is not alone the prospect of gaining new ideas and new methods from the demonstrators, but it affords an opportunity to get together to talk over cooking and other household problems and to become more closely familiar with latest, practical conveniences intended to conserve energy and save time.

Style Show.

It would be consistent and constructive to follow the cooking school and homemakers' institute with a style show setting forth fashion's newest creations. The Herald will be glad to receive suggestions looking to that end.

False Report. Some one with evident lack of capacity or desire to reproduce the truth reported to an Iowa newspaper that Wayne county was in the devastated area, and that supplies were being shipped here to take care of its people.

Relief Still Needed. Reports from the seven suffering counties in northeast Nebraska indicate that greatest possible efforts are being directed to the saving of live stock from starvation.

Delineations. Winner of last week's character delineations appears on page four of the first section of this newspaper. Now figure these up with a year's subscription to the one submitting first the most nearly correct.

No. 1. Wayne woman. In her eighties, but a live wire mentally and physically. Accepts no easy chair or any other special privilege on account of her age. She is active and helpful in club work.

No. 2. Wayne man. An old timer and prominently identified with the development of the community. Looks and acts much younger than his high dignified member of Wayne's prize-winning Corn Palace band.

No. 3. Wayne woman. Small of stature, but a bundle of nervous energy. Pleasing countenance, finely fashioned features. A live and forceful aid to her husband's business with enough conservatism to keep the ship well poised.

No. 4. Wayne man. Residence in Wayne county dates back to pioneer days. Positive, but kindly. Office holder from time to time—good evidence of popular confidence.

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR HALL HERE FRIDAY

Masonic Grand Master Has Charge of Ceremonies at Pile Dormitory.

H. E. SIMAN IN ADDRESS

"No cunning sculptor with his monumental marble would be capable of erecting a memorial more fitting or appropriate and which would so well typify the splendid life of the late J. M. Pile than the building which today is dedicated to his memory, a building which contributes to the betterment of the institution of which he was the executive for 19 years," asserted H. E. Siman Friday in his address after Masonic Grand lodge officers had laid the cornerstone for the new hall under construction at the Wayne State Teachers College.

Following the cornerstone laying ceremonies at the site of the new structure, the audience went to the school auditorium for the address and music. Twelve young men and women sang, and Mr. Siman spoke.

The Pile hall is a needed unit in the building program of the growing state school here. Pres. U. S. Conn has headed the institution since the state bought it from Mr. Pile.

Had Lively Ambition. "Like all things which have being, this school had a beginning. I will ask you to permit your minds to hark back for the period of 41 years and perhaps you will be able to visualize a young college professor, splendidly equipped for his life's work, who conceived the idea of the establishing of a permanent school at this place."

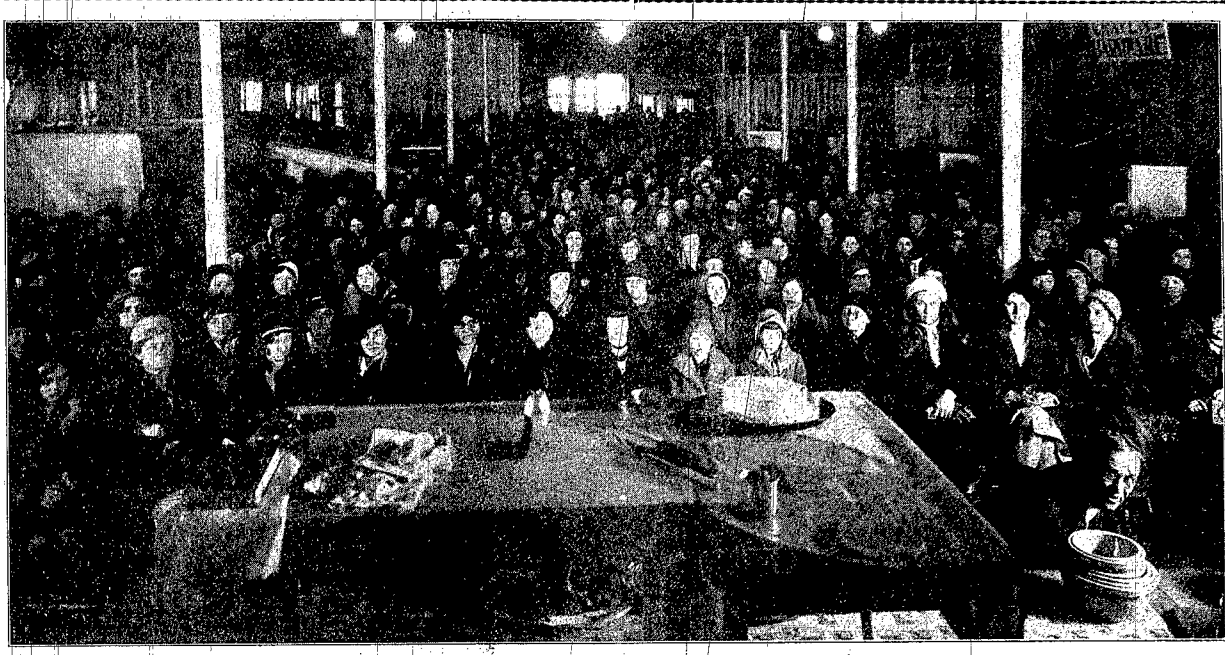

His Memory Survives. "Who was this man? What manner of man was he that his friends and acquaintances after 23 years request and demand that this signal honor be done him? James Madison Pile was a native of Kentucky, born on October 30, 1857."

DISCUSSION OF FALLACIES

A reasonable foreign policy for adoption by Americans was discussed informally Monday evening by Dr. J. G. W. Lewis, who was a guest speaker at the meeting of the Business and Professional Woman's club at the home of Mrs. Grace Dickinson Keyser.

Among overcomers fallacies he mentioned the outworn and seldom heard statements: "War is a good thing because it aids in the survival of the fittest," and "War is merely an expression of the fighting instinct."

Fallacies remain to be overcome in regard to international relations, however, Dr. Lewis showed, and the American people must not relax their vigilance in overcoming them.

Under the Russian plan everybody and everything is nationalized, and individualism is lost. The author referred to a group of well-to-do farmers whose possessions were confiscated and who were removed to a new field to start over. Incomes are restricted to wages or salaries with no opportunity to invest in anything excepting government bonds. No inheritances are left. It is a nationwide system of ownership and control, production and consumption, buying and selling.

People live on barest necessities, but are promised modern conveniences and luxuries in the course of time under the five-year plan. This plan which now even limits the quantity of soap allowable to each individual, is held up as a guarantee of the highest standard of living in the world. Under enforced conditions, Russia is now a comparatively feeble market for manufactured products. But the author suggests that if living habits are lifted to the standard pledged by the five-year plan, Russia will become an attractive market for everything. Robbing its people of initiative and of the fruits of individual industry and economy, under pledge of a great forward step in popular welfare, cannot last indefinitely. The swing from the regime of the czar to the rule of bolshevism is like jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

POINSETTA WAS DECORATION ON SANDWICH LOAF

Most fascinating of food projects, perhaps, was the making of a sandwich loaf. Mrs. Pauline L. Rohrs, who conducted the school, prepared the sandwich loaf for an interested group of women Saturday afternoon, explaining as she worked, how the loaf is to be made and decorated.

For the sandwich loaf, the cook took a leaf of special sandwich bread a day old. The loaf was cut into three equal parts and cut in three equal parts lengthwise. A layer of butter, chopped parsley and chopped raisins was placed between two slices of the bread. The filling was made of a combination of finely creamed cottage cheese and cottage cheese. When three slices and two fillings were placed together, Mrs. Rohrs showed them to stand for a short time before she began "icing" the loaf with half a pound of cream cheese, creamed, two tablespoons salad dressing and a tablespoon butter. The "icing" was blended until it reached a very creamy consistency, when it was placed on a loaf just as frosting is put on a cake.

To decorate the loaf Mrs. Rohrs used part of a fresh green pepper, and some pimento from the small sized glass jar in which the peppers are packed. The green pepper she cut in a thin strip around the vegetable. This made a long strip about a quarter of an inch wide for the stem of the poinsetta which the cook made to adorn the loaf. Green leaves for the poinsetta were made from the pepper also. For the flower, Mrs. Rohrs cut petals from the red pepper, using a sharp knife. In the center, a dab of creamed cheese represented the yellow part of the flower. This loaf, the instructor explained, would be an attractive one to serve at a Christmas party.

Two of the loaves placed on the table at a buffet supper would make attractive decoration during the first serving, and could be cut for second serving of guests. The loaf is cut as a loaf of bread would be sliced, and the layer sandwiches which result are meant to be eaten with a fork.

Smart Dressings For Your Salad

For the hostess who wishes to grace her tables with sophisticated salads, here are some dressings which Mrs. Pauline L. Rohrs recommended at the Herald cooking school last week. The French dressing may be made in a quart jar and kept for some time in a cool place.

To make French dressing, combine 2-3 of a quart of olive oil or salad oil in a quart jar with 1-3 of a quart of vinegar. Seasonings are 2 tablespoons of sugar, 3-4 teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of paprika. Minced onions or bits of garlic clove may be added to the dressing if it is to be served with vegetables.

A modification of this dressing is made with lemon juice. Combine a teaspoon of salt, 2 teaspoons of sugar, 1 teaspoon of mustard, a few drops of tabasco sauce, 1 cup of lemon juice, 1-2 cups of salad oil, 1-4 teaspoon of paprika and 2 teaspoons of catsup or chili sauce. This dressing may be mixed in a crockery bowl which is surrounded with cracked ice. Use an egg beater to combine the ingredients, and carry the freshly-made dressing to the table in a larger bowl of cracked ice. A sophisticated touch!

Russian dressing for salad is made with 1 cup of mayonnaise dressing, 1-2 cup of chili sauce, 1-2 dozen chopped olives, 2 or 3 chopped sweet pickles, 2 tablespoons chopped nuts. Blend this dressing at the table.

Mayonnaise made with oil is combined thus:

- 1 whole egg
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 cups oil

Beat the egg, add the dry ingredients, and put in the oil a drop at a time, beating constantly and alternating lemon juice and oil. Continue to beat the dressing until it becomes thick.

Ice Box Rolls.

2 cups of liquid (milk or water, or half and half)
1 cake Fleischmann's yeast
3 tablespoons sugar
2 1-2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg, optional

Heat the liquid to about 110 degrees, and add the fat and the sugar. Dissolve the yeast in lukewarm water and add to the first mixture. Add 5 1-2 to 6 cups of flour as the mixture seems to require. Knead well and oil the top. Cover with a towel and let rise until the dough has doubled in bulk. Make into rolls and bake. If some of the dough is left over, it may be kept in the ice box and baked on another occasion. If the dough is to be kept, use all water and no milk for the liquid ingredients.

Omelette.

In making omelettes, it is well to use about 2 eggs to the omelette. Never should the cook use more than 6 eggs. If more omelettes are needed, make them separately. For a two egg omelette, beat the whites and the yolks separately. Add the salt to the stiff whites, then add two tablespoons of boiling water of the beaten yolks. Beat the yolks until they are as stiff as the egg whites and fold together carefully and delicately. Put the omelette into a buttered pan on top of the stove and cook until a ridge appears around the edge of the pan. Then bake in the oven until done. Serve at once or not at all!

Filling for Baked Fish.

2 cups toasted bread crumbs
1 tablespoon onion, minced
2 hardcooked eggs
2 tablespoons butter
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup boiling water, chicken stock or bouillon mixture

Blend the ingredients, stuff the fish and bake. Cornmeal and melted butter make a nice topping for baked fish.

Bread Pudding.

1-2 cup of seedless raisins or other fruit
2 slices of bread
2 cups of milk
3 eggs or 6 egg yolks
1 teaspoon any flavoring
1-3 cup sugar
4 tablespoons melted butter

Arrange the fruit in the bottom of a buttered bowl. Take the crusts off the bread and cut each slice into thirds. Arrange over the fruit in the bowl, after dipping the pieces of bread in melted butter. Beat the eggs, adding milk, sugar, and flavoring, and pour the mixture over the bread, taking care not to disarrange fruit and bread. Sprinkle a little confectioner's sugar over the pudding, place the bowl in a pan of hot water and bake 40 to 45 minutes in an oven about 375 degrees.

Devil's Food Cake.

1-2 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
1-2 cup buttermilk
2 1-4 cups cake flour or 2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted before measuring
1 teaspoon baking powder
1-8 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon soda
2 squares Baker's unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream the butter thoroughly and add the sugar. Beat the mixture until it becomes a fluffy mass. Add the eggs, one at a time, and continue to beat. Measure the flour and add baking powder, adding alternately to the first mixture the flour and buttermilk. Melt the chocolate over hot water and take one half cup boiling water to mix with the chocolate and the soda. Stir the chocolate mixture into the Pine Burr Salad.

One of the salads on display at the Herald cooking school last week:

Scoop out the inside of an apple, using a vegetable scoop. Dip the apple in lemon juice, and fill the center with bits of chopped apple, marshmallow and nuts. On top, place a rose of cheese mixture forced through a pastry tube. Along the sides, force strips of the cheese mixture, and decorate the whole with blanched almonds. A whole first batter and pour into two eight inch tins. Bake the first 15 minutes in an oven kept at 350 degrees. The last part of the baking should be at 375 degrees, the entire process consuming about 35 minutes, more or less, depending on the thickness of the layers.

Golden Glow Salad.

1 package lemon Jello
1 cup shredded fresh cocconut
3-4 cup shredded pineapple, drained
1-2 cup minced celery hearts
1-2 cup blanched almonds, chopped

Arrange the layers of carrots, coconuts, celery and nuts in a suitable mold. Over it pour the Jello which has been prepared with one cup of boiling water and one cup of cool pineapple juice. Chill, unmold, and serve.

Cranberry Sauce.

Put through a food chopper 2 1-2 cups cranberries, and 1 orange which has been freed of skins, seed and all white fibres. Use the fine knife on the food chopper. Stir into the fruit mixture 1-1-2 cups of sugar, continuing to stir until the sugar is dissolved thoroughly. Add half a tablespoon of Knox gelatine dissolved in a tablespoon of cold water and diluted with a little warm water. Stir the warm gelatine in the sweetened fruit and mold. This sauce is sure to harden.

Butter Icing.

2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
2 cups confectioner's sugar
2 tablespoons butter

Line muffin tins with not too thin strips of bacon. Fill the hollow with cubes of uncooked potato, ripe tomato may be substituted for the apple. If an apple is used, it may be peeled or not, as the cook wishes.

Chicken Pie.

Use pottery casseroles to contain individual servings of the chicken pie. Butter them well, and dust with corn meal before filling them with gravy and chicken. Be sure to leave out carrots. Mrs. Rohr insisted, but add mushrooms, if you wish to give the chicken a distinctive flavor. On top of the pie, force mashed potatoes in a decorative pattern, using a pastry tube. Bake.

Sponge Cake.

6 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 cup boiling water
1-4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Beat the yolks until light and lemon colored. Beat in the sugar, add the lemon juice, and then the hot water. Gradually beat in the flour and baking powder. Bake this cake at 325 degrees from 55 minutes to an hour. Use a loaf pan.

Prune Pie.

4 cups prunes stewed and stoned
1 tablespoon butter
Line a pie tin with crust and fill with prunes. Dot with butter, cover with second crust, and bake at 450 degrees for the first few minutes. Reduce the heat to 350 degrees. This pie should bake about 35 minutes.

Breakfast Dish.

Line muffin tins with not too thin strips of bacon. Fill the hollow with cubes of uncooked potato, cover with a raw egg, cover the whole and bake 15 to 18 minutes. When done, the food will slip out of the tin like a muffin for serving. Good on snappy winter mornings.

Corn-Pudding.

2 cups niblet type canned corn, drained
2 cups of milk
3 eggs
Seasonings
1 tablespoon of butter or top
Prepare as for a custard and bake at 370 degrees.

Stuffed Prunes.

Steam the prunes very slowly and pit. When cold, stuff with a mixture of cream cheese, and mayonnaise into which a few nuts have been incorporated. Serve three of five of the stuffed prunes on a lettuce leaf. May be kept in the ice box, so they can be made in advance of the party at which they are to be served.

Salmon Salad.

1 can red salmon
2 chopped sweet pickles
1-2 cup finely chopped outside leaves of lettuce
1 hard cooked egg
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
Blend and mold, serving very cold.

Egg white and confectioner's sugar may be flavored with lemon juice and used in a pastry tube to decorate a frosted cake.

Too much heat will spoil an angel food cake. Any egg mixture should not be baked at more than 325 degrees.

Four and one half tablespoons of cocoa instead of a square of chocolate may be used in devil's food cake. Cocoa gives the cake a reddish tint which chocolate does not give.

In order to keep molded salads from sticking to the mold, dip the (Continued on Page Six)

"Fish Pig" Born Near Stanton

Stanton, Neb., Feb. 12.—In a litter of Spotted Poland pigs, born at the Raymond Hankins farm near here last week, there was a "fish pig." This freak pig had a fish-like head, breathed through its mouth, had hairless skin resembling that of a catfish, and an opening on the top of its head which appeared to be another breathing passage.

After walking about for several hours, even though able to take nourishment, the "fish pig" died.

To Quit Handshaking.

Sioux City Journal: President Hoover, who, it is estimated, has shaken hands with 20,000 of the curious since the first of this year, at last has decided to abandon the onerous practice. As reported from Washington, the administration has declared "a moratorium" on handshaking.

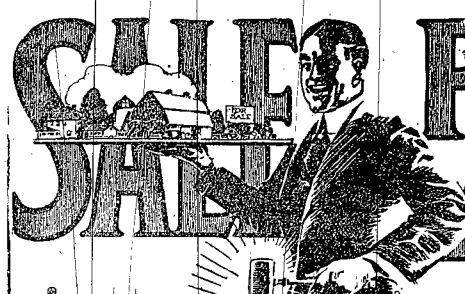

It never has been a good thing for the chief executive to meet vast crowds of citizens and stand in line for hours greeting them. It never has been the real symbol of democracy some persons felt it was, for no matter who is president, the facts remain the same.

After the greeting is over the president must realize he holds the highest office within the gift of the people and the private citizen, if possessed of any common sense at all, must know he is still just one of the people and that the gap be-

Soft for the Tourist.

Omaha World-Herald: The Russian soviet government, it is announced, has contracted to buy 130 Lincoln automobiles at an approximate cost of $400,000. The cars are to be kept for service of the poor, deluded tourists from capitalist countries who go to see how much better off everybody is under the dictatorship of the proletariat and Joe Stalin. The five-year plan ought to look pretty good to one of the slaves of the capitalist system, when he sees it from the luxurious tonneau of an automobile which represents one of the monuments to capitalistic skill, genius and enterprise.

For its world's fair next year Chicago is going to erect a replica of Hamlet's castle at Elsinore. The scheme is warmly backed by the unpaid school teachers, who hope the ghost will walk there. Detroit News.

Tell Gardeners All About Roses

How To Keep Blossoms On Bushes During All Seasons.

Roses, flowers of romance, seem easy to be queens of the garden. Every gardener wants a few roses, although conditions may make it impossible to have a large collection. If it is possible for you to have several rose bushes, however, a tiny rose garden will be a delight to the planter as well as to the beholder.

Early spring is a good time, most flower specialists agree, for the planting of roses in a severe climate. Fall plantings are not recommended for Nebraska roses.

For Lovely Tea Roses. The tea roses, delicate aristocrats of the rose world, should be set about 18 inches apart to make the best showing in the garden.

When the roses begin to bloom, even the experts say it is well to cut the blossoms frequently. If the flowers are to last well, they should be cut early in the morning with a sharp knife or scissors.

Weeds should not be tolerated in the rose garden. If you want to have rose beds that can be displayed to your most particular neighbor, keep the weeds out and the soil well stirred.

Sprays of various insecticides will keep the bushes free from pests. Careful attention to the principles of rose culture will insure plenty of blooms, and give the gardener a wealth of beauty to bestow.
