Special Programs And Tourneys Keep High School Folk At Work

High school boys' and girls' glee clubs, the boys' octet and the girls' sextet, will present an evening of music downtown Monday evening, March 15, according to plans announced this week by Miss Arline Urban, music director of the school. Mirabelle Blair will play accompaniments for some of the groups, and Charlene Brown plans to give a series of readings. In the last group of songs to be given that evening, costumes will be used, as most of the numbers will be folk songs.

The high school glee clubs will enjoy a "lido" party at the school house Thursday evening of this week when Miss Urban will act as chaperone. Ice cream cones and chocolate animal crackers will be refreshments.

A February dinner is scheduled for Friday evening by the junior high school girls' glee club. The party will be held in the high school recreation room, under the direction of Miss Urban. The tables will take different February motifs, one set of decorations pertaining to Valentine's day, another to George Washington and a third to Abraham Lincoln.

Name New Officers.
The girls' athletic association in the grammar grades organized last week under the sponsorship of Miss Loula Avery. The officers were named as follows: President, Wilma Baker, seventh grade; vice-president, Imogene Kilborn, eighth grade; secretary-treasurer, Marion Seymour, eighth grade.

Work on Oratorical.
Declamatory elimination contests have been postponed from this week until next. They will probably be held on Friday.

Wayne high school debaters have been enthusiastic over the district debate tournament which will be held at Pierce, March 15. The state question on unemployment insurance will be discussed by teams from Wayne, Newcastle, Wakefield, Pierce, Hartington and Creighton. Results will probably be decided by J. Arthur Nelson of Fremont high school, popular as a judge.

Attorney H. E. Siman was a special speaker at the high school convocation of Wednesday morning. His address dealt with the life and works of George Washington. Monday, Washington's birthday was marked by two convocations during which national radio programs were enjoyed by the students.

Wayne basketballers went to Randolph Wednesday night to play one of the late games of the season. The boys are entering the tourneys in high hopes.

Dean Simpson, high school student whose work has been consistently excellent, has been obliged to stop school for a short time because of ill health.

Plan Spring Contests.
Five declamators will be chosen next Tuesday to represent Wayne high school in the local declamatory contest. The choices will be made at the elimination contest, where local judges will officiate. The contestants are James Davies, William Wright, Jeanne Wright, Lucille Straley, Richard Moses, Elmer Kilborn, Robert Kingston and Stanley Davis. The final oratorical and extemporaneous contests will be held March 9.

May Offer for Vice-President

Here is that famous grin of New York's mayor, Jimmy Walker, who has been mentioned prominently recently as a vice-presidential possibility on the Democratic ticket. Dressed in approved northern style, the mayor is watching the ski jumpers do their stuff at a late winter sports event.

States' possession. Francis Sydeu lead the study of Alaska, which was the first to be completed. Deloris McNatt has the Hawaiian Islands, Eva Liveringhouse is presenting the Philippines, Murray Penhollow will discuss Guam, and Dean Cook is to give the material on Sumatra. Reference books are being used, and the children are enjoying presentations of lantern slides.

"How We Get What the World Produces," a study in distribution of materials, is the new project in the eighth grade geography class. Neva Jones is leading the work.

Take Up Bookkeeping.
Checks are being written, and books kept as a part of the sixth grade arithmetic work, which is devoted to banking processes this week. Special questions have been assigned.

Location tests have been given to seventh grade folks this week. These tests go over work already presented and give the instructors an idea of how slowly or how rapidly the children have progressed. On the results of these location tests is based the new work.

Causes of indigestion, and ways of avoiding it are being discussed in the seventh grade hygiene class at present. The class is working on material from the text and from special references. Lantern slides are shown on special days and laboratory notebooks are being kept of experiments.

Have Better Attendance.
Attendance has picked up this week, and the first grade had a perfect Monday for the first time since the influenza epidemic struck some weeks ago.

Myra June Thomas and Dorothy Casper were the first members of the first grade to receive purple stars for completion of a penmanship project.

Fifth grade pupils enjoyed a Washington program on Monday. Stories and poems about the great American were read by members of the class, and art posters of Washington were exhibited. The children collected pictures of Washington and mounted them for exhibit this week.

The fifth grade had five absences this week, a much smaller number than during the preceding weeks. Illnesses are improving rapidly now.

Substitute in Classes.
Mrs. J. M. Strahan and Mrs. P. A. Davies instructed in the public school this week for Miss Helen O'Neill and Miss Verna May O'Neill, who were called to their home at St. Lawrence, S. D., by the sudden illness and death of their brother, Mrs. Hattie Hancock substituted last week for W. A. Behl, who was able to return to school Monday.

Deeds To Property Filed In County
Property deeds recorded in Wayne the past week include the following:
Ernest Puls and wife to E. H. Lukart, receiver of the Hoskins bank, February 20 for $1 and other consideration, the northeast quarter of section 28, township six, range one.

Noltze Investment Co., Inc. to Humphrey L. Griffiths, February 17 for $1 and other consideration, the north half of lot eight and lot nine, block six, first addition to Carroll.

Frank Simomin to Mabel Simomin, February 17 for $1, the west half of lot four and the east half of lot five, block two, Skeen & Sewell addition to Wayne.

World Events

Mirrored in Daily Papers
Teachers in Chicago public schools, unpaid for 10 months, threatened to walk out unless salaries are forthcoming. It was announced Thursday in the daily press. Mayor Cermak reported that he was preparing a list of 2,470 municipal employees in other branches who will be discharged anyway as an economy measure. By March 1, Chicago teachers will have $30,000,000 coming to them.

Friday the senate passed the Glass-Steagall bill, which puts the nation's idle gold into circulation, and allows for more general use of federal reserve credit. Secretary Mills stated in Saturday's papers that a limit of $3,500,000,000 in new currency is what he would set as the outside amount which the bill would make available. He did not indicate that this amount would go into circulation, nevertheless.

Gov. Bryan of Nebraska Friday asked the Reconstruction Finance corporation to set aside two million dollars for drought relief in northeast Nebraska. This would be accomplished through sale of bonds to the corporation by the nine northeast Nebraska counties which are suffering from the drought.

March 3 is the date set for a meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva, Switzerland, where the assembly will sit to adjudicate the case of China versus Japan. The gathering will be the second "extraordinary session" of the body since its organization. The first was in 1926, when Germany applied for membership.

Sunday's papers told of Shanghai's being shaken by a series of explosions as the Japanese bombarded the ancient city. The Chinese flung back the Japanese lines, however, and succeeded in holding them off the city itself.

President Hoover's name, it is assured, will be entered in the Ohio primaries.

Librarian Lists Spring Additions

A. E. Sheldon's History Of Nebraska Is Among New Books On Shelves.

"An Epic of America" by James Truslow Adams is one of the very outstanding new books added this week to the Carnegie library collection. The book deals, in one volume, with outstanding events in the history of our country, and is beautifully prepared. Prologue and epilogue and chapter heads are attractively adorned with wood cuts, the typesetting is clean and easy to read, and the book is not too bulky to be held and read with comfort. The content of the volume is excellent from the point of view of the reader who likes good English. The first sentence strikes its keynote: "No date marks the beginning of our tale."

A gift to the library is George H. Wilkins' "Flying the Arctic," a story of the experiences of brave men who traversed the 2,200 miles across the top of the world, from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen. This volume is illustrated lavishly with reproductions of photographs.

Bound to be popular is "The Bridge of Desire," a novel of marriage written by Warwick Deering, whose "Roper's Rovel," "Sorrell and Son" and other novels have been so much enjoyed.

Get Nebraska History.
A. E. Sheldon's three-volume "History of Nebraska" has been purchased for the local library. The work has one volume of general Nebraska history, and two volumes of Nebraska biographies, illustrated with photographs of the great and near-great of the state. With careful use of the index, the researcher will find the last two volumes useful, although they are not interesting for general reading. Some interesting stories, however, are recorded in volume one of the set.

"Nothing Venture," a novel by Patricia Wentworth, is essentially modern, and full of bright dialogue. It will appeal to the reader who wishes to spend an evening being entertained.

Present Operetta At College Soon

Sixty Students Participate In Production At High School In March.

"The Belle of Bagdad" is the operetta to be presented Thursday, March 10, by 60 students of the college high school in the school auditorium, Miss Maybeth Bowman directing the production. Principals in the cast are the following: Mrs. McCann, Jessie Hanson, Henrietta Whipsitt, Marian Becker; Elsa McCann, Elton Martens; Anne Blackwell, Gladys Whorlow; Bill Blake, Milton Dawson; Bob Ballentine, Roland Johnson; Archie Fitzgibbons, Paul Hunter; Rose, daughter of the calf, Olivia Diffebaugh, Lily daughter of the calf, Beulah Johnson; All Ben Mustafa, William Denkinger, Hassan Ed Carib, and the calf, Kenyon Lewis; Jewell, the calf's favorite daughter, Amy Whorlow; Dick Taylor,

Invents Arrow That Explodes

Dean Morrison, above, artist and archer of Oakland, Calif., has invented an arrow fitted with an explosive point which instantly kills any animal struck by his new dart. Morrison claims his new arrow is a more humane weapon than a gun, since it kills immediately without wounding. Below is a closeup of the tips of two of Morrison's arrows, before and after firing.

Henrietta and All will furnish laughter, while Hassan adds dignity to every occasion. Mrs. McCann, the American consul, finds plenty to do to save Lord Ali's head. Bill and Bob, Elsa and Anne find "the world is a very small place after all," and they add merriment in song and dance. They carry a camera which means "ksst death." The Super Supreme Film company of Hollywood, adds interest to the plot and excitement by its airplane cruise searching for the "loveliest lady of the screen," and the unknown Belle of Bagdad. The operetta promises to be a production that will interest all.

Seniors in Play.
Seniors presented a one-act play before the high school Wednesday morning, the title being "Martha and George Return." The part of Martha was played by Sarah Jane Ahern and the part of George Washington by Douglas Spencer. Janice May Teed and Marion Auker take the parts of modern persons. Special costuming and scenery made the play more spectacular.

Wisner Enjoys School

Wisner News-Chronicle: "Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Humphrey motored to Wayne Friday afternoon when they attended the Wayne Herald Cooking school which was being held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons.

"There were some 400 women in attendance on Friday afternoon and everyone was very much interested. Mrs. Pauline Rohrs was

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 41 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, February 25, 1932. Vol. 6

We told one of our readers that HARA coal better than any you've ever used. And we're ready to see that bet through. Order yours today.

Building materials are low just now. That's why we think it's a good time to build. Bring your building needs in, and we'll give you an estimate on the spot.

Another thing that does not always turn out just as it should is the automobile just a head.

There are two months of coal weather left this winter. We want to remind you that jaws will be soft this spring. Order your coal now while the ground is frozen. It may save the drayman many a cussin'.

He: "Another new dress! Where am I to get the money to pay for it?"
She: "I don't know. I'm your wife, not your financial adviser."

You'll save money on your fuel bills if you'll stick to coal. Luxury fuels are like other luxuries. They're hard on the pocketbook.

Taxing bodies that spend public funds by the shovel full can't be expected to reduce taxes.

When a mule balks, the balk is in his head, not in his legs. And it's the same with business.

We'll bet you'll like certified S.A.

Records of Brooklyn Rookie Pitchers Mattingly, Gallivan, Jones, Mungo and Krider Indicate That the Flatbushers Are Sitting Pretty This Year.

BY PHILIP MARTIN

PLENTY of the boys who master mind for the big league baseball clubs probably wish they were sitting where Max Carey is at Brooklyn this year. The reason is five rookie pitchers who are the most impressive youngsters that ever packed a duffle to a Florida training camp.

Impressive, in this instance, is just what I happen to mean. Earl Mattingly, Joe Gallivan, Art Jones, Van Mungo and John Krider are that, and how.

I wouldn't care to predict that they will stand Klein, Terry, Cuyler, Grimm, Bottomley, Hafey and other National League batting heroes on their respective ears this season. I would put down a little bet, however, that at least three of them will pitch winning ball for Brooklyn for the Flatbush record this year.

The five kids look good, no mistake, and here's why. They won a total of 23 ball games in 1931 and lost only 22. By manipulating these numbers, you run smack into the conclusion that $3 won against 22 losses is almost 80 per cent pitching efficiency. And that's better than Ostrander, Grimes and Hallahan gave the world champion Cardinals.

Every one of these youngsters pitched last year for Hartford, Brooklyn's Eastern League farm. Mattingly, Mungo and Gallivan were recalled by Brooklyn at the close of the Eastern League season. Now get a load of this: Mattingly won 17 and lost 2, for an earned run average of 2.25—Mungo won 18 and lost 6, for an earned run average of 2.12—which George Washington was an honored and active member, and one of its early leaders in this country.

Next Sunday, the church school, under the leadership of Prof. G. W. Costerton meets at 10 o'clock. At the public worship hour, 11 o'clock the pastor will preach on the theme, "Telescope or Stethoscope." In the evening at 7:30 the sermon will be "Personality and Peace." The Epworth League will have a social hour at 5:30 before the usual devotional meeting. All young people are invited.

Next week on Monday the official board will meet at the pastor's home at 7:30. All members of the board should be present. The Woman's Home Missionary society will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. C. Main with Mrs. L. W. Rbe and Mrs. O. R. Bowen assisting hostesses. Mrs. L. A. Fanske will lead the lesson. At this meeting the annual Lenten offering will be taken.

Byron Brown of Sioux City spent several days this week completely going over and tuning our Estey organ which has been in the church now for two years. This is one of the finest instruments in this part of Nebraska and you will enjoy the music of the great composers as played on it week by week by Mrs. J. T. Bressler, Jr. There's a welcome at all of our services.

Presbyterian Church (Rev. P. A. Davies, Pastor) There is no question of greater importance and interest to our people and the people of the world than the question of peace. Tens of thousands of men and women would over be organized to put an end to war. In the forefront of this movement moves the church of Christ. Next Sunday evening we are to spend a most interesting hour in the study of one of the great books of the day, "The Turn Towards Peace" by Mrs. Florence Brewer Booklet.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. Wm. E. Braisted, minister) 608 Logan St., phone 309-J. Sunday, Feb. 28, 1932: 10:00 a. m., the church school for Bible study. Classes for all. Welcome to all. Adult lesson: "The Christian Assurance of Immutability." Young people's class, 11:00 a. m., worship, inspiring music, preaching. Subject: "In Bethlehem: A King in Embryo and the Larger Life—Meanings." This will be worthful to all.

Gallivan won 14 and lost 4, for an earned run average of 2.25—Krider won 16 and lost 4, for an earned run average of 2.24—Jones won 13 and lost 6, and made an earned run average of 2.10.

THEY'RE right-handers, every one. Mattingly at 27 is the oldest. Mungo is the youngest at 20. Gallivan and Krider are 24. Jones is 23. If they make the grade, they all ought to be good for at least 10 years' service. Jones is the midget. He's only 5 feet 11 and 165 pounds—poor boy! Mungo, the baby, is the biggest at 6 feet 2 1/2 and 200 pounds.

By a strange coincidence, Brooklyn bought four of them from Macon, Ga. Jones was purchased from Hartford. Krider was bought in 1929 and Gallivan, Mattingly and Mungo followed him a year later.

Here's another peculiar coincidence. Four of them are southerners. Krider hails from Macon; Jones is from Kershaw, S. C.; Mattingly lives in Washington, D. C., and Mungo resides at Page-land, S. C. Gallivan's home is St. Paul, Minn.

Brooklyn has needed young mound talent for several years. Of her regular pitchers last season, only Bill Clark was under 30. Pea Ridge Day was 31; Joe Shaute, 30; Hollis Thurston, 31; Dazzy Vance, 37; Adolfo Luque, 40; and Jack Quinn must have been 90, although Brooklyn's records listed him at only half that age.

Early Days In Wayne County

(Taken from the Herald files for Feb. 25, 1915) A lecture course for students at the State Normal was added to the course in 1915. The new course was similar to the freshman lecture course compulsory for Arts and Science college students at the University of Nebraska. It included talks on agriculture, building trades, the law, child labor, journalism, the potter industry, ready-made garment industry, business, home making, medicine, dentistry, the mercantile business, salesmanship, teaching, and other subjects in which students evinced an interest. Specialists in the various lines were invited to talk.

Fred Miller of Hoskins received in 1915 a shipment of two 37-horse power 1915 model Buick cars and one 20-horse power 1915 model Buick car.

Saturday evening, February 13, 1915, the Bloomfield train left Wayne about the usual time of 8 o'clock, and reached Bloomfield Tuesday night, February 16. "Between these dates," says the Wayne Herald of that week, "the passengers and the train men had some very interesting experiences. Because of the heavy wet snow, the train progressed with difficulty, and when two miles out of Wausa, the train was derailed by ice and the engine encountered a packed drift. The train stopped with considerable abruptness. After investigating conditions, the passengers were forced to resign themselves and submit to staying where they were for the night."

Sunday in the Country. "The 14 passengers and eight trainmen spent a quiet Sunday in the country. In order to economize on fuel, all the people moved into one car and kept a fire in only one of the stoves. The seats in the middle of the car were turned with their backs up and supported with suit cases to form beds. The men donated their overcoats to the five women passengers, and then spent the night near the stove. Sunday morning they awoke hungry, and when it was seen they were not far from a farm house, they all went there to find a warm meal. They were welcomed, and enjoyed their breakfast, returning with provisions and labors."

"On Monday a brakeman walked to Wausa, returning with a sled, holding a box with ham, a few dozen eggs and other food. On Monday morning, one man who was unable to bear the monotony of the train, started to walk the seven miles to Bloomfield. He was cheered and bent rejoicing on his way by the jolly crowd left behind, who while they might feel the lack of tobacco, face powder, thread for tatting and other necessities of life, yet bore their deprivation with fortitude and in uncomplaining silence.

"Monday, as always, was wash day, and though the difficulties were great, the task of washing handkerchiefs was accomplished. "Help came Tuesday afternoon, and it was a delighted group of persons finally taken back to Wausa. While they waited for the train to start for Bloomfield, they took possession of the drug store and played a phonograph that they might hear other voices than their own, and come a little nearer the civilized world from which they had been so long exiled. "The weary travelers reached Bloomfield about 11 o'clock."

There Were More Silos. It was announced by the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture that the farmers in Nebraska purchased 115 per cent more silos between April 1913 and April 1914 than in all preceding years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tucker entertained members of the Monday club and their husbands at a Washington party in February, 1897. The guests came dressed in old-fashioned garments. From the Wayne Herald for February 25, 1897: "A bad wreck occurred on the Ponca branch, the train breaking in two in the middle while coming down the Ponca hill. Four box cars and a passenger coach were wrecked and destroyed by flames. Two passengers were seriously injured."

Crossing the River. "No mail came up from Sioux City Monday evening. The unsafe and impassable condition of the ice on the river was the cause. "The legislature passed a law dividing the state into ten judicial districts. By that law, Dixon county is in the Seventh district, which comprises Burt, Cedar, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Madison, Pierce, Stanton, Knox and Wayne counties, and the Omaha and Winnebago reservations and the unorganized territory north of Knox county."

From the Herald for February 25, 1915: "A. V. Teed, who recently resigned as county superintendent of Dixon county to accept a position in the state superintendent's office, was in Wayne Saturday to give a lecture before a meeting of Wayne county teachers, leaving in the afternoon for Lincoln to take up his new duties. As superintendent of Dixon county, he is succeeded by Ray Chace, who was appointed by the county board to fill the vacancy. Mr. Chace has been principal of the Dixon school."

Pioneer Died Here. Benjamin Welbaum, Nebraska pioneer, died at the home of his son, W. L. Welbaum, in Wayne, February 22, 1915, at the age of 87 years. Funeral services were held at the Baptist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. B. P. Richardson, and interment was made in Wayne cemetery. A franchise was granted to L. E.

State Press Meeting

AN attack on the constitution of the Nebraska Press association at the session in Grand Island last week was frustrated by a preponderance of loyal defenders of the instrument. Proposed amendments were overwhelmed and shelved. One amendment proposed to permit past presidents to ride in the membership wagon by paying annual dues of only $1—explained as a sort of convention fee. Thus, as the army of past presidents increased, the burden on the rank and file would inevitably increase. But past presidents generally were opposed to the concession and were found on the front battle-line to help defeat the movement.

But as the association's treasury is in a healthy condition, the convention decided to reduce maximum dues from $50 to $25, and as dues are based on circulation, the Herald is required to fork over the maximum. This relief is particularly welcome at this time of shrinking incomes.

Friday's addresses by L. M. Nichols, president of the National Editorial Association, Harry Rutledge, field manager of the Oklahoma Press association, and Clifford Crooks of the Nebraska Farmer, were to have been followed by a series of ten-minute talks, but the latter were crowded out of the day's program by the unexpectedly prolonged debate over the constitution. This, the editor of the Herald who was one of the ten, with a little speech tucked away in his head, escaped without performing.

The association's officers and directors have handled affairs efficiently, and they deserve much credit. The wisdom of choosing Parke F. Keays as secretary and field manager to succeed the late Ole Buck is given emphasis as he makes progress.

Stil Slaves

ANY big, revolting system of slavery, like that which made imported Africans into human chattels, is finally crushed by outraged senses, and yet we are all slaves to custom or regulations which we do not always approve. We are subject to all kinds of taxes and insurance from which there is no escape without incurring penalties of one sort or another. If by closest application to duty and by the severest self-denial one happens to accumulate property of questionable value, he is besieged by more new and necessary ways to contribute to public and other treasuries, more different and essential expenditures to safeguard interests against fire, tornado, lightning, flood, theft, accidents and other sundry and possibly impending calamities than could be enumerated and contemplated at one sitting without the victim lapsing into a dead faint. Bald and flagrant slavery has been abolished, though we are still slaves to many exactions to which we submit reluctantly, but which we cannot help.

To Cut Taxes

A meeting of more than 100 taxpayers was held in Grand Island February 15 to start an organized movement in behalf of tax reduction. At the meeting attention was called to frequent pledges made to reduce taxes without results. The purpose is to effect a downward revision of salaries for public officers and cut down other expenses, and in that way accomplish a substantial saving to taxpayers. The newly formed league proposes a number of economy steps to pound down taxes to a level consistent with savings. In connection with the demand for tax reduction, it will be found necessary to reduce living extravagances. People cannot require costly conveniences and luxuries and at the same time greatly lower operating expenses.

Monday marked 200 years since the birth of George Washington, and so this week has been devoted by all organizations to reviving memories of his life and deeds. Observance of this bicentennial will continue several months, and it is certain that no fact touching his character or achievements will be left covered. The life of Washington, like that of Lincoln, is an inspiration to courage and patience. The lives of such national leaders, under the limelight and emphasized anew, make for stronger and better citizenship.

Besides steam-pulled trains, railroads are operating gasoline motors on rails and busses on the highways. Railroads can compete for passenger traffic with busses or anything that runs according to schedule, but they cannot compete with private cars. The owner of a car goes or comes to suit his convenience. He does not have to wait anywhere for another conveyance. He saves delays and often costly stop-overs. But in long trips, the railroad is unequalled for comfort, luxury and speed, and in no other way can one travel cheaper. In the freight business, especially in long hauls, railroads would seem to have nothing to fear.

While Governor Bryan is satisfied with contributions going to the drought-stricken area of Nebraska to tide over inhabitants and their livestock, he is reported to have under consideration the calling of a special session of the legislature to provide seed. At the time quoted, he had found no other way to aid farmers who have no collateral to offer. It would have been more reassuring to the suffering district if the governor had called the legislature together early in the year and made adequate provision for the unfortunate farmers. His ambition to keep down taxes is paid for by an unequal distribution of the charity burden. Those benefited by keeping the relief out of taxes should by such means be required to pay their share.

"Bankers say there has been a very noticeable easing up of the money situation in the last few weeks although conditions do not yet warrant any undue optimism," says the Omaha Daily Journal-Stockman. "Efforts by the government to relieve the financial and commercial stringency have tended to restore confidence on the part of the banks and this is an important step in the right direction. Business, industry and agriculture cannot go ahead when the banks are timid and over conservative."

While Governor Charley Bryan disclaims any political ambition beyond reelection as governor, he is mentioned in connection with the presidency, vice-presidency and secretary of agriculture, and it is said his vision is often found scanning the democratic national field. The governor was once nominated for vice president at the instance of the late W. J. Bryan, but the national democracy will doubtless see that he is this year permitted to run for governor without interference. The opposition of William Ritchie, jr., of Omaha, for the democratic nomination for governor will keep Bryan busy and should take his mind off the political preferment higher up.

If there are Wayne county farmers who need help in buying seed or in getting started with spring operations, they should make themselves known to local relief committees. Also the reconstruction fund of the federal government ought to be available for aid. Cases of need should be reported and receive support.

The state and federal crop statistician says the sub-soil in Nebraska has been well soaked during the winter and that the ground is in the best possible condition for crops. If nothing comes along to interfere, Wayne county which has received liberal moisture, ought to roll up a normal crop.

City convention and caucuses are called for next Monday evening, and voters who are interested in the affairs of the city, ought to attend. Persons who remain away and thus pass up an opportunity to exercise their rights, will have no good ground to find fault.

As thought is the only imperishable thing, it should be kept free from filth. Keep it worth preserving.

An End To Lame Duck Seasons.

Omaha Journal-Stockman: A country newspaper man defines a lame duck as a bird whose goose has been cooked. Quite an apt definition whether applying to the lame duck in the lake or the lame duck in congress.

The lame duck on the lake has been done for. Never again in the vaulted blue flying over pellucid lakes and green valleys and wooded hillsides.

The congressional lame duck hobbles on crutches into the halls of congress for a final sashay among the great of the land. People back home don't want him there. His policies and frequently his personality were tabooed at the ballot box, and if it were not for one thing he would be absolutely through. The constitution of the United States thinks he ought to go back and hang around congress for the closing season.

For a long time ineffectual attempts have been made by congress to squelch the congressional lame duck when he is wounded in the state elections. The proposition is up again. The other day the senate voted to submit the amendment to the states three-fourths of which must ratify. Later the house vote was overwhelmingly favorable. The resolution now is in conference.

The plan contemplates the omission of the December session of congress, known as the lame duck or holdover session, and starting the new congress at the first of the year.

When a congressman has been discredited at the ballot box there is no reason why he should go back to kill time and draw a final check. He should go out and hunt the lame duck on the lake. Companions in trouble—brought down to earth by the bullet or the ballot.

Public Service.

Dr. A. L. Bixby in Lincoln Journal: If you are in public life, and have convictions and the courage to express them, you are sure of persecution, and in luck if you can avoid prosecution. But don't be impatient. If your service to society is more substantial than mere vaporings; if you are able to start something, and enlist the sympathies of enough fellow-patriots to put it across, neither you nor your deed will be forgotten. "Ever the right comes uppermost, and ever is justice done." It is some satisfaction to know that this is true, even if the dominance of right isn't always apparent, and belated justice gives the impression of its inability to make the grade.

Said Of Charles E. Hughes.

J. W. C. in Rear Seat, Sioux City Journal: Someone said of Charles E. Hughes, "His bump of humor is a dimple," and Odd McIntyre proposes it as the best descriptive phrase ever applied to Mr. Hughes. How about what William Randolph Hearst called him when the two were running against each other for governor of New York in 1906; "an animated feather duster."

TENANTRY.

Some renters shy at renting farms through fear that they cannot stand the cash plan. If crops are high and prices are low, the old-time cash rate is believed likely to leave the tenant holding the empty sack. When the reward in yield and market value is large, the renter for cash is assured a good deal. However, renting on shares always seems fair. Whatever may be the production or the markets, both parties to the contract run equal chances. If one gains, the other loses. The plan seems equitable to all concerned, and should encourage more people to stay on farms. It should also stimulate more mutual interest in the preservation of soil fertility and in the high development of production. To safeguard the interests of both tenant and landlord, each must look out for the other, both pulling together for mutual advantage. They must go up or down together.

Diesel Makes Its Experimental Run

Monday afternoon was given over to a test run on the recently installed Diesel engine which is the newest piece of equipment at the city light and power plant. The engine was found to be satisfactory, and councilmen and other city officials are of the belief that it will add greatly to the development of efficiency in Wayne electric service.

An expert from the Auburn, N. Y., factory assisted with the installation, which took several weeks. A small crew of local laborers did the manual labor of getting the great machinery in place.

middle. Faithful to public duty. Public-spirited, broad-minded, and known by everyone as fair and square in all business relationships. Whatever temper he possesses he employs to gain steam and resolution. Temper is never on display, never permitted to break down courtesy and good nature.

No. 5. Wayne woman. Her youth does not hinder masterful handling of public duties. Comeliness and courtesy combine with efficiency to make her service eminently satisfactory. She has proved herself fully equal to her task.

No. 6. Wayne man. If he had not had the good judgment to come to America he would now be a subject in one of the Scandinavian countries. Once a poor boy, always honest and unpretentious. Inspired confidence that enabled him to work up to a place of large responsibility. Known, liked and trusted by everybody.

No. 7. Wayne woman. Celtic origin. Vivacious and attractive. An accomplished stenographer. Earnestly applies herself to any task undertaken. Active and popular in younger social set.

No. 8. Farmer's wife in Wayne vicinity. Fine personality, gracious manners. An example of a university graduate with Phi Beta Kappa honors, who is an excellent home keeper. Two children. Active in social affairs of one of the younger crowds.

No. 9. Farmer not far from Carroll. Hard and persistent worker. Accepts vicissitudes philosophical-ly and sensibly. Looks back only to learn; vision focused ahead, resolutely pushing forward, overcoming the usual run of economic barriers. In raising pure bred pigs, he is a top-notch, a prize-winner.

NO CONSCIENCE.

At last accounts Japan had not declared war on China, but there is fairly clear and conclusive evidence, especially to China, that war is in progress. It is also clear that Japan has the mental nimbleness and superior skill of advanced civilization, but that it has no conscience. But how can a nation, more than an individual, develop and grow indefinitely without a conscience? How can a nation, forfeiting confidence in its word, ever expect to regain the confidence of other peoples? Japan doubtless knows the difference between right and wrong, but it doesn't care. It understands certain well known human rights belonging to civilization, but it seems lacking in moral faculties or ethical sensibilities. In contemplating justice, it has nothing with which to think. Therefore, while it functions intelligently, it does so brutally, exercising highest adroitness with lowest cunning and savagery. In every country there are persons who would score advantage without regard to the rights of others, but they are in the minority and they are subject to the higher rules and laws of the majority. Japan sees what it wants and helps itself with no conscience to interfere, figuring that might makes right and that conquest is justified, by need.

Marry Wednesday At Concord Home

Miss Elsa Hallberg Comes From Sweden To Wed Martin Holmberg.

Mr. Martin Holmberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holmberg of Wakefield, and Miss Elsa Hallberg who arrived in Wakefield last Saturday from Sweden, were married Wednesday morning, February 24, at 10 o'clock at the Lutheran parsonage in Concord, Rev. C. T. Carlson performing the ceremony. After a trip to Omaha and other points Mr. and Mrs. Holmberg will make their home southeast of Wakefield.

Miss Hallberg wore blue silk crepe with hat and other accessories to harmonize. She carried a bouquet of lilies. Miss Evelyn Holmberg, who was bridesmaid, wore tile-colored silk crepe. Eben Holmberg of Wayne, attended his brother as best man.

After the wedding at Concord the bridal party returned to Wakefield to attend at noon the marriage of Miss Anna Dahlgren and Adolph Berg in the O. P. Dahlgren home, about 65 relatives and friends being there. Dinner was served at Dahlgrens honoring the bridal parties.

Mrs. Holmberg was in this country four years ago. She returned to visit home folks and just returned. Her father, Jens Hallberg, still lives in Sweden.

Special Work For Brilliant Students

Des Moines Register: Northwestern university is planning to conduct an interesting experiment in precocity. Candidates of exceptional intellectual equipment or boasting of extraordinary youthful attainments are being sought in high schools, to be enrolled for special work at the university.

These students will be exempted from ordinary curricular regulations, and will be largely permitted to follow their own inclinations with regard to work pursued. They will be housed together, and each will carry on his own studies under the stimulus of cooperation and competition with other students whose mental equipment is relatively the equivalent of his own.

Correct treatment of the superior student has long been a formidable problem in pedagogy. Northwestern should be able, in a few years under this experiment to accumulate a fund of reliable data which will be of extreme value.

The Washington Wash

By Strickland Gillilan

Washington, Feb. 20—Your people feel the same way about it—I know without asking. That is, they feel a keen antipathy to the Japanese movement in China; a resentful feeling. Am I right? Or am I correct? The feeling here in Washington, where the Japanese ambassador has only the warmest of friends, is the same so far as I can detect it. The little man Debutchi and his little wife are two of the most popular people in the diplomatic circle. Their popularity has not been in the least impeded by the current feeling against the country these people represent.

Madame Debutchi is a most remarkable woman from a memory standpoint. Not only is she a charming and gracious hostess, but she never forgets anyone she has ever taken by the hand. Let her meet an individual once, even in a long and terribly monotonous factory receiving line, and the next time she sees that person, though it be months and months later, she will instantly call him or her by name and make some reference proving she knows her stuff. What would not many and many a politician give for that ability.

The matter of the unpopularity of the country and the popularity of the country's representatives works both ways—the great popularity of the Debutchis does not alter the general disapproval of Nippon's capers in aggression. Aggressors have few friends.

At Hoover airport in this city are a plane and motor that revolutionize things in aviation. It is called the Champion Rotary, or something like that, as to motor. The engine is a radial two-cycle, the affair with opposed units (I bet my engineering terminology isn't on straight) runs on ordinary motor fuel, has no oil line to get fouled, but gets its lubrication by mixing oil with the gasoline. No valves. It is absolutely vibrationless, very quiet, and has an eleven to one gliding range—that is, if it is a mile up and the motor dies, it can glide eleven miles to a landing. The simplicity of the thing is expected to make this principle of plane construction "the Ford of the air," so that aviation may become more and more common. Its construction is such, as to simplicity, that it has an almost gadgetless instrument board, which is another advantage—there being no use for an oil-

Character Delineations. Honors in the character delineation contest go this week to Earl Lewis who was the only person handing in a list which was correct in all of the nine persons described. He was tenth to report. The persons the writer had in mind in last week's delineations were: 1. Mrs. Ellen Armstrong; 2. C. M. Craven; 3. Mrs. R. H. Jacques; 4. Grant Sears; 5. Mrs. L. W. McNatt; 6. Burr Davis; 7. Mrs. H. J. Miner; 8. Mrs. W. M. Kieper; and 9. Mrs. Geo. Buskirk. Others named were as follows: 1. Mrs. Mary Brittain, Miss Charlotte White, Mrs. H. F. Wilson and Mrs. J. T. Bressler; 2. E. E. Gailey; 4. Judge J. M. Cherry; Frank Erlebein; 5. Mrs. Jack Denbeck and Mrs. P. A. Theobald; 8. Mrs. Carl Surber, Mrs. G. W. Albert, Mrs. W. E. Back, Mrs. L. W. Powers, Mrs. C. William Mellor and Mrs. W. C. Shultheis; and 9. Mrs. E. M. Laughlin, Mrs. C. F. Sandahl, Mrs. Geo. Aistrophe, Mrs. Charles Heikes, Mrs. Lawrence Ring. All named correctly those in 3, 6 and 7.

When Senator Fess, the usually mild, whose fists were never made to scratch and bite, used them and look what happened! Having used previously no fists except pacifiers, unaccustomed as his knuckles were to contact with hard objects, he swatted the desk in front of him something cruel. There was blood. The general impression was that it came from the desk, as Simeon was looked upon as practically bloodless. But when the bandage was placed upon his knuckles instead of on the desk, the amazing truth was out.

So here we are, with the fight just beginning, and one of the principles wearing a bum hand that will certainly soften his blows against the common enemy. When and if he recovers, his friends will see that he enters every subsequent senate session with his hands taped and boxing-gloves on.

When the Japanese-Russian war was on the skids and the peace conference in session at Portsmouth, N. H., many, many years ago, one of the Japanese press gang was Mr. Hanahara. A genuinely good fellow the American and the British journalists labelled him. A particularly strong friendship sprang up between the Japanese representative and the late Richard V. (Dick to his thousands of friends) Oulahan.

In hilarious moments Dick used to tell Hanahara he was no Japanese. "You're the plainest case of gauge, for instance, when oil and gasoline are intermingled. And its ball-bearings would not burn even if the oil were to fail. No, I am not having one of these wrapped up to send you, but I'd like to."

Have you a little favorite son in your state? Then you are to be congratulated. No use to ask it in New York. It is the one thing she has very little except. The thing that is going to have to be decided, with the able assistance of us wise folk down here in the national capital where our ears are always slightly soiled from contact with terra firma, is as to which son is the favorite. Congress, on the Democratic side, is badly torn and bleeding between Roosevelt whom it wants, and Smith which it wonders if it will have to take. There is really a sort of fatalistic feeling that maybe Johnny Raskob and Al will say "Come on, boys. This hurts us more than it does you, but this castor-oil and turpentine will straighten you out in a few days. Of course it doesn't taste like licorice or candy, but the nasty taste will soon die out and the effect will make you glad you took it."

Just how resentful a Democrat will get, to just what lengths he will get in resisting with a Democratic victory teasing him on, has yet to be demonstrated. Of course the lengths were "sumpin fierce" in 1928, but now, how many things have happened since then! With the "wonder boy" having been proved no miracle-worker, which sensible people knew he wasn't at the time, much of the yen to vote Republican will have died like a poisoned potato beetle.

We Republicans are in a bad way, right now, but we may recover. Just as the party was getting ready to start its fight for the presidency, etc., the national chairman, one Simeon Fess, cracks a knuckle, dote-strafing. Borah had thought up some euphonious alliterations, during the night, just had to make a speech. It was the best stuff he had thought up since he unveiled "drippings from the mouth of a hercule" last year. So he said all those things and said them well. He said them acidulously—Borah-cie-acid fairly dripped from his utterances. Great constitutional lawyer that he is, he waved that document aside for the time and said what the people would listen to.

Then Senator Fess, the usually mild, whose fists were never made to scratch and bite, used them and look what happened! Having used previously no fists except pacifiers, unaccustomed as his knuckles were to contact with hard objects, he swatted the desk in front of him something cruel. There was blood. Irishman! Your name is really O'Hanahan O'Hara."

Sometime later Mr. Oulahan married a second time and in due course his son "Cour" was born. Upon his receipt of the news of the new heir of the New York Times star correspondent, Hanahara cabled from Tokio: "Congratulations from the house of the O'Hanahan O'Haras to the new prince of the house of O'Houlihan."

There is a lot of talk these days in various quarters about a chap named Washington. From the way that name is being repeated more and more frequently of late, some anniversary in the life of the person, if any, bearing that name must be imminent. I often wonder if there is anything more than a mere coincidence in the fact that this town has the same name. In fact, I ponder the fact that this town, named Washington, is larger and better known than Bloomsburg, Pa. This leads me to believe there is something significant in the fact that this man Washington is spoken of even more highly than is one Sol Bloom who is promoting a great deal of talk about Washington. As Bloom is a fine fellow, a good game sport, who goes ahead with his work in spite of the things that are said and done to handicap him, it seems to me this is a real tribute after all.

It would be well to look into this matter hinted at in the first paragraph. There may be something historical in the recrudescence of the mention of that name Washington at this particular season. Look into it and let me know.

COUNTY BOARD

Wayne, Nebraska, February 16, 1932. Board met as per adjournment. All members present. Minutes of meeting held February 2, 1932, read and approved.

Report of Frank F. Korff, Clerk of District Court, showing amount of fees received by him for the quarter ending January 1, 1932, amounting to the sum of $408.75, and the payment of the same into the county treasury, was examined and on motion duly approved.

J. M. Cherry, County Judge, orders the payment of a Mother's Pension to Daisy Pippitt of $20.00 per month, beginning February 1, 1932 for a period of six months, for the support of Alice Eugenia Pippitt and Ramona Rose Pippitt, minor children of Daisy Pippitt, all of which is duly approved by this board and the county clerk is hereby ordered to draw such warrants.

Comes now John W. Keyser of Helles Addition and states that for the year 1931 he was assessed with a valuation of $409.00 Intangible A property, which tax amounts to $1.00; that he paid said tax under protest for the reason that such assessment covered pension money and he asks that the county treasurer be ordered to refund such $1.00 tax.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund the sum of $1.00 to the said John W. Keyser.

Comes now C. H. Wallace and says that for the year 1931 he was assessed with a tangible valuation of $160.00 in Strahan precinct in school district No. 17; that he paid said tax under protest for the reason that he should have been assessed in school district No. 69; since a transfer was made on the real estate and he now asks that the difference in tax between the two school districts be refunded to him.

On motion such protest is rejected and the county treasurer is ordered to distribute the funds.

Comes now S. C. Wallace and says that for the year 1931 he was assessed with a tangible valuation of $160.00 in Strahan precinct in school district No. 17; that he paid said tax under protest for the reason that she should have been assessed in school district No. 69, since a transfer was made on the real estate and he now asks that the difference in tax between the two school districts be refunded to him.

On motion such protest is rejected and the county treasurer is ordered to distribute the funds.

Paul Mines is hereby appointed a Member of Soldiers Relief Commission to fill vacancy, which vacancy was caused by the death of Carl A. W. Madsen.

Comes now the Soldiers Relief Commission of Wayne county, and submits the following report of their receipts and disbursements since January 13, 1931 to February 8, 1932, which is as follows:

It was moved by Henry Rethwisch that the following resolution be adopted. Resolved that application for designation as County Depository by Carroll State Bank of Carroll, Nebraska, and that the deposit of the following securities aggregating in amount the sum of $20,250.00 to wit: U. S. First Liberty Loan bonds of 1932-1947 1-4 issue converted.

All with subsequent coupons attached with the Omaha National Bank of Omaha, Nebraska, trustee, by said bank, as a pledge to secure deposits of the public moneys of this County in said bank be and the same hereby is approved as to said securities and the deposit thereof with said trustee, on condition that said trustee issue its trust receipt therefor, as provided for by Section 6193 of the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska for 1922 and amendments thereto.

Resolved, further, that said trust receipt when issued by said trustee shall be deposited by said bank with the County Clerk of this County in lieu of the deposit of said securities with said County Clerk as a pledge to secure the deposit of said moneys in said bank.

Resolved, further that such trust receipt shall contain the following provisions which shall constitute the terms and conditions of the escrow.

I. When the interest coupons attached to said bonds become due, the proceeds of collection shall be applied to the credit of said bank.

The above securities shall be delivered to said bank only: (1) upon the joint order of the County Clerk and County Commissioners or Board of Supervisors of said county with resolution approving substitution of other securities, or (2) upon receipt of certificate of said County Treasurer that all deposits secured thereby have been repaid.

Banker Beats Wall Street War Practices Are Considered

Rev. H. C. Caspey Tells Of Army Duties and Costs In Our Country.

"We are faced with facts that may make war inevitable," insisted Rev. H. C. Caspey in his Monday, February 15, luncheon address before Kiwanis club members at Hotel Stratton. Rev. Caspey discussed the United States' policy for national defense, "stressing the necessity for protection of trade interests, and preparation for national protective measures."

The world has long thought that small armies would help to do away with war, but Monday's speaker pointed out that Japan, now engaged in war, has the smallest regular army in the world, say only Germany, whose army is limited in size. And Japan is involved in war!

Another illusion which the speaker shattered is the one embodied in the statement: "America can take care of herself." America, Rev. Caspey showed, needs to scatter her traders far over the face of the earth. She cannot take care of herself alone. And if she has traders abroad, she must have protection for them.

In steel manufacture alone, he said, 40 commodities from 57 countries are among the imports. In a radio set, parts come from such far-flung points that the finished set has traveled 250,000 miles before it even goes into the trade area. In telephone instruments, and other objects of everyday use, he showed, are incorporated materials which come from all over the world. The citizens who are abroad getting these materials must have protection.

Rev. Caspey mentioned the resolutions passed at the Ohio pastors' conference which attracted so much attention some time back. The pastors resolved never to sanction or support war in any form, and never to give moral or financial aid in any battle. Such resolutions, Rev. Caspey explained, constitute mutiny, for the law makes it incumbent on men over 18 years of age to assist the country in times of war. Not to do so, and to withdraw moral and financial support is, tacitly, to aid the enemy!

Russia was discussed briefly by the Kiwanian, who showed how that country has gone forward in adoption of the latest practices and inventions. It is Russia, he finds, who stands first in preparation for chemical and aerial warfare.

"The attitude of our government," said Rev. Caspey, "is that of our Quaker president—we want and love peace, but we cannot abandon self-protection."

Formation of a Policy. The United States' foreign policy in days gone by has been a very frail thing. For many years, the country had none. After the Revolution, the army was disbanded. Then came the war of 1812, for which the country was unprepared, and in which she suffered enormous losses. In subsequent wars, the country has suffered in loss of life and in expense because of this unpreparedness.

June 3, 1916, the United States began the formation of a modern foreign policy in the passing of the National Defense act. The act was amended in June, 1920 and again in March, 1927. It is so arranged as to provide for a regular army of 125,000 men, a national guard and an organized reserve.

The United States, as above stated, has 125,000 men in her regular army. Japan has 130,000 in hers. Great Britain claims allegiance of 215,000, France numbers 517,000, and Russia has 597,000.

What the Army Does. Our country has 290 soldiers for every billion dollars of her wealth. Russia has 18,821 soldiers per billion dollars of nation wealth. The United States has 1.05 soldiers to each 1,000 population; Japan has 2.88 for the same number. As an insurance policy for protection, the entire army protection costs each individual only $2.75. For military activities our government spends only seven percent of its budget.

In addition to the regular military duties, the United States Army has the following jobs to take care of: River and harbor improvement, prevention of obstruction to navigation—building of bridges, direction of the bureau of insular affairs, preservation of Niagara falls, supervision of the national guards and the reserves, civil government of the United States' island possessions.

In time of war, the national guard, mentioned as a part of the country's military bulwark, joins the regular army in front-line defense. In the country, there are about 190,000 national guards. In Nebraska, the number is around 1,700. The guard is useful in quelling local disturbances which get out of hand, and in saving money by preventing loss of property, as in the case of the Nebraska City strike disturbance of some years ago.

Part of the national guard expense is taken care of by the state, and part of it is met by the national government. Nebraska adds 24 percent of what the government pays toward the national guard. That arrangement makes the state pay $73,132, and the federal government pays $231,598. The cost of the guard is about 40 cents per capita in a year. The existence of such a body gives the country a partly trained force always ready to enter and settle disturbances.

Lead Drive Against Hoarding

Here are the men appointed by President Hoover to direct the campaign for the release of hoarded money in the U. S. into the channels of trade. Colonel Frank Knox, seated, is chairman of the campaign, aided by (left to right) Colonel Homer McKee, director of campaign publicity; James Kelley, vice president of the Pullman Company, who will have charge of one of the 12 districts into which the country will be divided for the drive, and John M. Van der Vries, assistant to Knox.

NUMBER FORTYSIX

Early Paper Tells About Washington

Mrs. A. R. Bruce Has Copy Which Relates Death Of Country's Leader

Copy of the Ulster county Gazette, printed at Kingston, N. Y., January 4, 1800, is lined with heavy black and bears news of the death of George Washington, the country's father.

Proceedings of the congress of Thursday, December 19, state that "the melancholy event which was yesterday announced without doubt, has been rendered but too certain. Our Washington is no more! The hero, the sage, and the patriot of America—the man on whom in times of danger, every eye was turned and all hopes were placed, lives now only in his own great actions, and in the hearts of an afflicted people."

"More than any other individual, and as much as to one individual was possible, has he contributed to found this our wide spreading empire, and to give to the Western world its independence and its freedom. Having effected the great object for which he was placed at the head of our armies, we have seen him convert the sword into the plow share and voluntarily sink the soldier into the citizen."

"When the ability of our federal system has become manifest and the bonds which connected the parts of this vast continent were dissolving, we have seen him the chief of those Patriots who formed for us a Constitution, which by preserving the union will, I trust, substantiate and perpetuate those blessings our revolution had promised to bestow."

"In obedience to the general voice of his country, calling on him to preside over a great people, we have seen him once more quit the retirement he loved, and in a season more stormy and tempestuous than war itself, with calm and wise determination pursue the true interests of the nation, and contribute more than any other could contribute to the establishment of that system of policy which will, I trust, yet preserve our peace, our honor and our independence. Having been twice unanimously chosen Chief Magistrate of a free people, we see him at a time when his reelection with the universal suffrage could not have been doubted affording the world a rare instance of moderation, by withdrawing from his high station to the peaceful walks of private life."

"However public confidence may change and the public affections fluctuate with respect to others, yet with respect to him they have, in war and in peace, in public and in private life, been as steady as his own firm mind, and as constant as his own exalted virtues."

"Let us, Mr. Speaker, pay last tribute of respect and affection to our departed friend. Let the grand council of the nation display those sentiments which the nation feels."

President John Adams replied as follows to the House of Representatives: "I receive with great respect and affection the condolence of the House of Representatives on the melancholy and afflicting event in the death of the most illustrious and beloved personage which this country ever produced. I sympathize with you—with the nation, and with good men throughout the world, in this irreparable loss sustained by us all."

The United States Senate also expressed deep regret in the loss of George Washington and President Adams in part replied as follows: "The life of our Washington cannot suffer by comparison with those of the countries, who have been most celebrated and exalted by fame. The attributes and decorations of Royalty, could only have served to eclipse the Majesty of those virtues which made him, from being a modest citizen, a more resplendent luminary."

"His example is now complete, and it will teach wisdom and virtue to magistrates, citizens and man, not only in the present age, but in future generations, as long as our history shall be read."

On Wednesday last, the paper says, the mortal part of Washington, the Great—the father of his country and the friend of man, was consigned to the tomb.

A silver plate on the coffin which was entombed on the Mount Vernon estate was inscribed: "George Washington, departed this life on the 14th of December, 1799, aged 68. As the many friends gathered at Mount Vernon in the late afternoon to pay final tribute, the procession of cavalry, infantry and clergy was followed by the deceased general's horse with his saddle, holsters and pistols. Masonic brethren and other friends followed. As the mortal remains were placed at rest and the sun was setting, there was hope in the assurance

Pruning Process For Your Roses

How To Develop The Finest Blossoms On Bushes In Your Garden

What to do for the rose garden when spring comes is a problem, particularly when spring comes so late as this year. The covering which was placed over the plants last autumn should be removed, of course, but very gradually. Roses are tender. They should be unwrapped little by little.

If the straw wrapping has been taken off too early, and late frosts threaten to nip the flowers, burp bags may be thrown loosely over the rose garden, protecting the plants against the latest ravages of the wintry season.

Some pruning is advisable, although radical pruning should not, most rose men believe, be undertaken until the flowering season is over. Dead canes should be removed, and only stout green canes preserved. It is on these canes, particularly in the hybrid perpetual varieties of rose, that the season's flowers will appear.

Old wood is worthless save for new growth which may spring from it. Tea roses should be pruned with care, and climbers should not be pruned much in the spring, save to have the dead wood removed.

Tall canes in bush roses should be left in the middle, the shorter canes around the outer edge should be kept to about the same height. All cuts should be made "with a sharp knife or a special rose pruning shears. Cuts should be on a slant, a quarter of an inch above a bud which slants in the direction which you want a branch to grow. This will be, usually, away from the center of the bush.

One rose manual states that tea roses and hybrid perpetuals will bloom the same season although they are pruned clear to the ground. Climbing roses, however, will require a full season of growth before blossoming if they have been killed to the ground.

After pruning, the rose beds should be cleared of debris, raked,

South Sioux City Wins In Contest

Wayne High School Plays Close Basketball Game There Friday

Wayne and South Sioux City high schools meet in basketball on Friday at South Sioux City and Wayne lost by 16 to 19. At the half the score stood 14 to 16 in favor of the opponents. Kenneth Dowling was high point man for Wayne, making 10. Brown and Hughes each made one basket. Hughes and Mellor each made a free throw.

Dowling and Mellor were at forward, Brown at center, and Cunningham and Hughes at guard for the game. Hughes struck a wall just three minutes before the game closed and cut one arm. His injury kept him out of the game the rest of the time and Franklin Victor substituted for him.

The Wayne team may play Randolph here this week. This closes the season with the exception of the tournament.

Business Women To Observe Week

March 6 to 12 will be observed as Business Woman's Week, the observance in Wayne being limited to a meeting of the club March 7, when Miss Helen O'Neill will lead a discussion of possible candidates for president.

The week has been observed nationally since 1928. It began when Miss Emma Dot Partridge of New York City, executive secretary of the national federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs suggested that such a week should be established. Originally, the week was meant to honor women who had distinguished themselves in business and professions. Today, the week is meant to honor these women, but also to emphasize the improvement of the business woman's status through her own efforts.

Member clubs have been instructed by the national organization to stress worthy public movements. Among those furthered by the local club has been holiday charity among local poor.

Wayne Does Well In Work At Midland Forensic Held In Fremont

Wayne high school debaters who participated in the Midland invitation tournament last week, lost to the champions. In the first round Central high school of Omaha won from Wayne, and Central high took first honors in the meet. Wayne entered the consolation and defeated Craig in the first round. Wayne drew a bye for the second round and met Creighton prep in semi-finals, Creighton winning. Creighton took championship in the consolation.

William Studley, James Davies, Lucille Wright and Jeanne Wright are the Wayne students who defeated. Coach W. A. Behl accompanied them.

Herd At Fairacres High In Testing

Wisner, Neb., Feb. 18—There are seven herds of dairy cattle on test in the Cuming-Wayne cow testing association. According to Dale Stewart, tester, there are 158 animals in these herds.

During January, the association averaged 743 pounds of milk and 30.3 pounds butter fat per cow. The high herd is owned by Fairacres farm at Winside. This herd is composed of thirty-five cows with an average of 1,007 pounds of milk containing 37.5 pounds butterfat. The high cow for the association is a pure bred Holstein owned by Fairacres. She produced 2,000 pounds of milk containing seventy-seven pounds of butterfat. Mr. Stewart is also the tester for the Burt-Thurston Dairy Herd Improvement association.

Bloomfield, Neb., Feb. 17—Owen Colvin, 9, son of Harvey Colvin, died today as the result of internal injuries suffered in a coasting accident last Saturday. Owen's sled struck a tree.

Called Home By Death Of Brother

Miss Verna Mae and Miss Helen O'Neill, instructors in the public school, were called to their home at St. Lawrence, S. D., Friday evening by the sudden illness and death of their young brother. Death was caused by an infection which resulted in systemic poisoning. Miss May Gillies and Miss Arline Urban accompanied the Misses O'Neill to Sioux City, whence they took a train for St. Lawrence. They plan to remain with their parents this week.

The first line to feel the effects of returning prosperity will be the dotted one.—Paterson News.

Scribbler Sets Down Week's Impressions Of Things Seen.

The skeptics are all wrong, and modern women like to cook, apparently. The Wayne Herald cooking school and homemakers' institute has brought forth a flood of interested comment from Wayne county women, who seem still to have a fondness for mixing bowls, paring knives and egg beaters.

"The Monday club," said one communication received this week, "wishes to express to Mr. Huse and the business men of Wayne who cooperated with him, their appreciation and thanks for the cooking school conducted by Mrs. Pauline L. Rohrs.

"We feel that everyone attending the school received much benefit and pleasure from instructions given, and that it was a fine service rendered to the women of Wayne and vicinity."

Said Mrs. Grace Buskirk of Leslie precinct: "Those who attended the free cooking school at Wayne were well repaid with new ideas."

Mrs. Lawrence Ring of southwest of Wakefield remarked on the cooking school thus: "Our community was well represented at the cooking school Saturday afternoon and would have been better represented on Thursday and Friday had the roads and the weather been more agreeable."

Speaking of Clothes

Begins the spring clothes rush. We shall be shy about asking for those—those clothes to such fancy names as Allegresse, fawn brown and pebble beach. To say nothing about buying a dress, and being forced to admit to the saleslady that it is hard to talk about colors like ciel, banana, tete de negre, dahlia and beige. It's going to be grand, though, appearing in Roman sandals of elkskin, natural, pebble beach hose, a tete de negre dress trimmed in, shall we say charrreuse, and a peanut straw hat to match! (It had to match, we must admit, for we couldn't think of any more queer colors.)

To The Business Woman

The first week in March is National Business Woman's Week. There will be special programs in some of the clubs, and an informal observance of the importance of women to modern business and professional life.

Some there are who insist on saying that the week "honors women on their advent to business life." Personally, we cannot remember the time when women were very new to business. We had the greatest admiration for the chief telephone operator, the restaurant proprietor, the reporter who "made" the trains, and for a certain trained nurse in our small town. They were successful women who were earning their own livings. We grew up expecting to earn a living by writing. Being in the ranks of earners has been no surprise—we were prepared for it with 16 years of schooling under the direction of individuals who plainly expected us to go out and earn bread and shelter when we were graduated.

What is surprising to us is to be told, on the anniversary of Business Woman's Week, that women are facing a crisis, that the business future of the sex is precarious. We do not believe it. We choose, rather, to believe in the women who have prepared to earn, who are willing to work, and who yet have courage to look ahead. The business and professional women of tomorrow should be pioneers in fields of which we have not yet dreamed!

The B. G. Era

We are now, ladies and gentlemen, in the before gardening era of the year. Rejoice, husbands whose wives are interested in the rose bushes, forsythias and freesias! These are the days when roasts of beef, bowls of mashed potatoes, and delightful pies, hot and juicy, should adorn the table. But wait! The b. g. era ends, spring comes, and there begins the period of refrigerator luncheons, cold meat, fried potatoes, and some airy, chilly stuff known as "ice box dessert" appears on your table. All because the missus has donned Annabelle's old stockings, Junior's cast-off straw hat, and some old gloves and gone out to till the soil around the tulips. So rejoice and eat while you may!

February is a difficult month. One day is so cold and blustery that one must haul forth woolen hose and high galoshes, and prepare to shiver anyway. Around the dinner table, hungry ones wish for hot soup and boiling coffee. But the very next day will be warm enough to send the ladies scurrying for spring hats and bright silk frocks to wear. Strawberries and cream, and new onions sliced thin on buttered bread will seem the order of the day. But not for long. We must have our changeable weather to make it seem like Nebraska.

No one loves a gutter, but the gutters seem to be fairly popular. Florence (Ala.) Herald.

WINSIDE OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY DAY
In observance of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, Winside had flags unfurled Monday, and presented several programs of a patriotic nature. Most notable were the program at the school auditorium in the afternoon, and the Masonic-Eastern Star party Monday evening. The bank closed during the day, and the post office observed the holiday, also.

Freshmen Like Penant.
The only class to have a pennant is the freshman group, which received its banner Thursday. The new emblem is in green, white, and blue, and bears the legend: "Winside High School, Class of 1935." It has been placed at the front of the freshman assembly room.

School Observes Great Man's Day
Edwin Janke, freshman, dropped from the roll Monday of this week. Perfect attendance was had on Monday in the eighth grade for the first time in two and one-half weeks. Bad road conditions, and attacks of the influenza have made it impossible to keep good attendance records.

Graphs of the metal industry have been made as special projects in the seventh grade the past week. Insurance policies are being studied in eighth grade arithmetic.

Rev. W. F. Most and Supt. Hall were visitors in the eighth grade room Friday morning. Supt. Hall judged the Washington displays in the eighth grade Monday morning. Two tables of special handmade material were shown and chalk pictures and hand cut posters were displayed as a part of the Washington bicentennial observance.

Fourth grade had a perfect attendance all last week. Margaret Miller returned to classes in the intermediate grades this week after an absence of two weeks because of illness. Absentees from the intermediate room at different times last week were Donald Jugel, Shirley Loopsack, Laura Weible and Alvora Rasmus. Rev. Most was a visitor in the sixth grade Thursday morning. George Washington posters and hats have been made to decorate the intermediate room all this week.

Examinations have been given in Winside school the past week. Attendance has improved in the past seven days, with freshman attendance better than any other high school class record. There were 72 absences in the high school during the four days which marked the peak of the influenza epidemic here.

Winside basketeers plan to enter the tournament at Wayne this week-end. The Pep club, 22 members, under the leadership of Gerald Cherry, will go with the team Thursday and Friday. Monte Davenport is student cheer leader. Transportation has been arranged for all members of the teams and the Pep club. It was announced Monday.

International and Morse codes, the use of telegraph systems and instruments have been very interesting to high school physics students the past week. Special topics have been studied in the group. In the general science class, practical lessons have been given in the care of furnaces, with particular emphasis on overcoming the smoke nuisance. In Monday's laboratory period, the students made coal gas and coke as an experiment. Thermometers will be studied next.

Messenger service has been studied the past week in the junior business class, and projects have dealt with the development of sound judgment in messenger service. Themes on special subjects were due Wednesday. Sample subjects were choice of a college course, advertising in business, and kindred material.

The business arithmetic class chose up sides last week with Virginia Troutman and Frieda Weible as captains. Winners in the week's contest were Monte Davenport and Clarence Witt. Fractions and multiples will be studied this week, and perhaps another contest will be scheduled soon.

Flang geometry groups chose up sides also last week, when captains were Cecil Jordan and John Brugger. The contest continues through this week, when there will be clipping over material in the book of circles.

Dahm Funeral Held Tuesday
Rev. W. F. Most officiated at Trinity Services in Winside.

The Rev. W. F. Most, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, officiated at last rites Tuesday for August Dahm, who died at Norfolk Saturday. The funeral was held in the church in Winside at 2 o'clock and interment was at Winside cemetery. At the church services, Miss Adelyn Most sang "Face to Face," and Rev. Most sang "The Prayer Perfect." Mrs. A. T. Chapin played the accompaniments. Six members of the Sons of Herman lodge acted as pallbearers.

Surviving Mr. Dahm are two sisters, Mrs. Tom Lorey of Norfolk and Mrs. Albert Bronzinsky of Winside, and two brothers, William Dahm of Norfolk and Henry Dahm of Orange, N. J.

August Dahm was born November 5, 1896 in Schleswig-Holstein, Germany, and came to this country with his parents. The family settled at Orange, N. J., where the one brother still lives. Mr. Dahm was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith as a young boy.

Farmed Near Here.
In 1904, Mr. Dahm came to Winside community to live on a farm for a number of years. Three or four years ago he retired from farm work and went to live in Norfolk. He has been in poor health for some time.

Mr. Dahm was never married, and his only relatives are the brothers and sisters who remain.

Chicken Mousse.

An old favorite with many Wayne cooks, but a new treat for your palate if you have never tried it.

1-2 package (4 tablespoons) lemon jello

1 cup chicken stock boiling hot and free from fat

1 cup finely cut chicken

1 cup finely chopped celery

1 chopped pimento

1 tablespoon vinegar

1-2 teaspoon salt

Dash of cayenne pepper

1-2 cup cream whipped

Dissolve the Jello in the boiling stock. Chill. Combine the chicken, celery, pimento, vinegar, salt and cayenne. When the Jello is cold and syrupy, place in a bowl of

Cracked Ice and Whip with a Rotary Egg Beater.

Mix with the rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick as whipped cream. Fold in the chicken mixture, then the whipped cream. Turn into a mold. Chill until firm and unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with stuffed olives. This recipe will serve six persons.

Stuffed Tomatoes.

Season the cottage cheese with mayonnaise and the stuffed olives which have been chopped in pieces. Stuff the chilled tomatoes with the mixture and serve on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise garnish passed in a bowl.

Burnt Sugar Angel Food.

This recipe makes a large cake

2 cups of cake flour.

2-1/3 cups of sugar sifted with flour, 12 times.

Beat 15 egg whites in a large crock, when partly beaten add a rounded teaspoon of cream of tartar, finish beating until egg whites will not slide when crock is turned upside down. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, then add 2 or 3 tablespoons of burnt sugar syrup, according to the color you want the cake. Stir flour and sugar and 1-4 teaspoon salt in very slowly. Bake in ungreased angel food pan

Home Tried Recipes

Salad Dressing.
(Mrs. H. C. Bierwirth, Randolph)
1 cup hot vinegar
2 tablespoons flour
8 or 10 egg yolks beaten thoroughly

1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup whipped cream

Mix dry ingredients and eggs, beaten thoroughly. Mix with the hot vinegar and cook until thick. Take off stove, add butter, cool, and incorporate the cup of whipped cream.

Five Threes.
(Mrs. H. C. Bierwirth, Randolph)
Juice of three oranges, three lemons, mash pulp of three rather ripe bananas, three cups of sugar, three cups of water. Mix well and freeze. This recipe will make three quarts. If the dessert is liked sweeter, use the juice of four oranges and two lemons.

Fairy Queen Pudding.
(Mrs. H. C. Bierwirth, Randolph)
1 egg
1-2 cup sugar
1 cup milk heated to boiling point but not allowed to boil

2 tablespoons gelatine soaked in 1-2 cup cold water a few minutes

Add the gelatine to the custard and cook. When chilled, add a pint of cream, whipped, and marshmallows and nuts. Set away to chill, stirring occasionally.

Lemon Rolls.
1 cake compressed yeast
2 tablespoons lukewarm water
2 cups scalded milk
4 tablespoons shortening
1-2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
Flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Pour scalded milk over shortening and sugar, stir until dissolved and allow to cool until lukewarm. Add yeast and enough flour, about 2 cups, to make a sponge. Beat well, cover and let stand in warm place over night. In the morning, beat the eggs and add them with salt, to the sponge. Add enough flour to make a dough that will not stick to the hands when kneading. Knead well. Place in a greased bowl, cover, and let rise until double in bulk. Turn out on floured board and roll to 1-2 inch thickness. Spread generously with softened butter and sprinkle thickly with granulated sugar. Grate the rind of one lemon over the sugar and sprinkle with enough lemon juice to moisten the sugar. Shape into a long roll and slice about 1-2 inches thick, pinching the under side of each piece to hold in the juice, thus making the rolls long instead of round. Place in greased baking pan. Cover and let rise slightly. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) until a delicate brown, about 20 or 25 minutes.

Burnt Sugar Cake.
(Omaha World-Herald)
Using 10 to 12 egg yolks or those left from angel food cake.

1-3 cups of sugar
1-2 cup of butter
10 to 12 egg yolks with 1-4 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup of sweet milk
2 cups of flour
2 teaspoons of baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla

Put one-third cup of sugar in a pan with one tablespoon water and cook until light brown, add one-half cup of milk and after the melted sugar is thoroughly mixed with milk cool thoroughly. Cream butter, add one cup of sugar. Put remainder of milk with egg yolks and beat thoroughly. Slowly mix with creamed butter and sugar. Gradually combine flour and liquid. Bake in a moderate oven.

Burnt Sugar Cake.
(Omaha World-Herald)
1-2 cup of sugar
1-4 cup boiling water

Place the sugar in a heavy pan and allow to melt to a deep amber color but not black. Remove from stove and add boiling water. Place on stove again to boil until it dissolves and resembles a sirup. Set aside to cool while preparing the cake.

1-2 cup of butter
1-2 cups sugar
6 egg yolks beaten
1 cup milk or water
3 cups of cake flour
3 level teaspoons of baking powder

1-4 teaspoon salt
6 egg whites beaten stiff
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-2 tablespoons of caramel sirup

Cream butter and sugar together, add beaten egg yolks and vanilla, then mix smooth. Sift baking powder, flour, salt together, add caramel sirup to the butter, sugar and egg mixture, also flour alternating with the milk or water. Fold in beaten egg whites and pour into two greased and floured cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven of 375 degrees for 25 minutes, cool and put together with this caramel icing.

1-3-4 cups of sugar
4 tablespoons of water
2 egg whites
1-1-2 tablespoons of caramel sirup

1-8 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon vanilla

Mix the sugar, egg white, caramel sirup and salt. Place over boiling water and beat with a rotary beater for 7 to 8 minutes, or until a thick boiled icing is obtained. Remove from fire, add vanilla and beat until thick enough to spread. Ice between layers and on top. A few chopped nuts or cocoanut may be sprinkled over the icing.

Spanish Steak.
(University of Nebraska tested recipe)
2 pounds of round steak
1 pint of canned tomatoes
1 onion
6 whole cloves
6 peppercorns
1-2 bay leaf

Dredge the steak with flour. Sear in hot fat in which the onion has been browned. Season with salt and pepper. Place in a baking dish, cover with strained tomatoes and seasonings. Cover and cook in slow oven for two hours or until meat is tender.

Sunday Dinner Menu.
Clear Consomme
Red Radishes
Ripe Olives
Spanish Steak
Baked Potatoes
Buttered Cauliflower
Bran Muffins
Fruit Salad Supreme
Martha Washington Pie
Black Coffee

Spanish Salad.
Another Spanish salad which may appeal to northern cooks. This recipe is simple to prepare, yet very effective. Hearty enough to be the main dish at luncheon.

1 head of lettuce
1 can red kidney beans
1 Spanish onion
French dressing
Ripe olives
Green olives

Slice the head of lettuce in rings half an inch thick. Place a slice of lettuce on an individual salad plate with a thin slice of the Spanish onion on top of it. Heap the cold red kidney beans on top of the onion, and pour French dressing over all. Garnish liberally with ripe and green olives.

To recover $1,250 in gold certificates which were destroyed by fire is a long task the First National bank of Walthill finds. In 1919 the treasury department issued to the bank this sum in gold certificates and the bank received them in the mail. While waiting to be signed by the president and cashier, it was misplaced and found its way into the wastebasket and then into the furnace. Since then the bank has been going through the routine to have the notes replaced, and this can only be done by an act of congress. Edgar Howard has introduced a bill to secure duplicates but no action has yet been taken.

Early Census Lists Work Oxen Among Assets On Nebraska Land

In 1860, which is before history so far as Wayne city and community are concerned, a census of Nebraska's agricultural assets was taken. The counties were listed as North Platte and South Platte, with the following names on the roster: Buffalo, Burt, Butler, Calhoun, Cass, Cedar, Clay, Cuming, Dakota, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge, Douglas, Fort Randall, Gage, Green, Hall, Johnston, Jones, Kearney, Lancaster, L'Eau qui Coult, Merrick, Nemaha, Nickolls, Otoe, Pawnee, Platte, Madison, Polk, Richardson, Saline, Sarpy, Shortz and Washington. The French name of L'Eau qui Coult is a heritage, evidently, from the days of the early explorers in this state.

In 1860, Dixon county had 983 acres of land improved, and the land was valued at $12,380, total. There is not much comparison between the $50,000 farms of post-war days and the county value quoted for 1860!

Dixon county farm implements and machinery in 1860 were worth $1,815. There were 31 horses, 121 milk cows, 142 other cattle and 84 working oxen. The listing of working oxen brings up a picture of the ungainly beasts plodding beneath oaken neck yokes, through the black-furrowed fields.

Days of Indian Corn.
Indian corn was the biggest product of the land in Dixon county, even in the sixties. That crop was listed by the census at 5,020 bushels. Potatoes came next, with a rating of 3,115 bushels, and wheat came last, with only 410 bushels. The livestock was almost as valuable as the land, for the land was listed at $12,380, and the stock was valued at $10,205. And only 341 porters rooted in Dixon county soil in 1860.

Cedar county had 129 pigs, according to the same accounting, but her livestock attained a total value of only $7,575. They raised two bushels of wheat that year, and 2,965 bushels of Indian corn. There were no cats raised, but Irish potatoes, always a standby, totaled 1,380 bushels.

Cedar county improved land amounted to the not very imposing total of 455 acres, which had a value of $8,590. Farm implements and machinery had a value of $1,225. Like Dixon county, Cedar had 225 milk cows, 142 other cattle and 67, and working oxen made a total of 78. There were 72 other cattle.

Sarpy Was First.
First in number of acres of improved land seems to have been Sarpy county, which listed 6,646 acres of cultivated soil. Douglas county was second with its 5,551 acres, and Washington county stood third with 4,407 acres of land cultivated. There were 24,393 acres of cultivated prairie in Nebraska in 1860. Cuming county, in the heart of the best farming section today, had only 194 acres of its land planted and ploughed.

The old stats must have been a very different place from the one over which prairie suns shine and prairie storms rage today. The 1860 census table would, no doubt, stand back aghast at the paving, the graveling, the spending of money for gasoline, and the marvelous farm land improvement of the 1930's.

LEAP YEAR

Once In Four Years

LONG, long ago men decided to set aside one year in four during which the theretofore passive sex might take the offensive in the great game of love. At last, women could enjoy the male prerogative of proposing marriage. 1932 brings us another of these Leap Years. And the advertisers below, in the true Leap Year spirit, humbly address themselves to you who temporarily (or is it permanent?) wear the trousers.

Lincoln's Assassination Subject Of Charlotte White's Last Letter

February, 1932, will long be remembered as a month when interest in American history ran high. Miss Charlotte White, this winter at Oskosh, Neb., writes the Herald her impressions about the time of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, believing that a personal recollection would be interesting in these days of patriotic observance.

Writes Miss White: "As this is Lincoln's month, I wonder if you would not like to have me tell you about that terrible time when we heard that our wonderfully beloved president had been killed. We were living at that time in Sharn, Mercer county, Pennsylvania, and I was teaching in the adjoining township. We were having spring vacation, which I was spending at the home of my married sister in Newcastle, Lawrence county. The war had ended, and we had celebrated the whole day long.

"Newcastle was a manufacturing city and the whistles in the iron mills had been going all through the day. The government of West Virginia had made the most interesting speech on that occasion and everyone was happy because the terrible war was over.

Like Armistice Day.

Remembrance of Armistice day is the description of the evening of celebration as recalled by Miss White. She continues: "The evening George Stuber of Philadelphia, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was raising funds for that organization, spoke at the opera house, and we all went to his gathering money with which to care for the war wounded and the families of the dead. Mr. Stuber was a fine speaker and we all were all interested. He had just come from Chicago, and he had held in his hand a man who had been given him for a small girl in the children. He had auctioned off the gun again and again, until it had brought in between three and four thousand dollars. Some in the audience that evening thought that the same auctioneer should be made so Mr. Stuber auctioned off the gun again, making almost a million money as he had at Philadelphia.

"The next morning, just after we had begun my blind uncle Sam-

When a Hoskins reader asked us to print a recipe for burnt sugar cake last week, we began to search for ways to prepare the delicacy. The World-Herald carried several, and various cook-books yielded more of them. It comes to light that a large number of burnt sugar cake recipes are at hand. Try them!

If there are recipes which you would like to see in the Herald, address your request to the recipe editor, and we will make an effort to find the desired recipe for you. If there are recipes which you would like to share with your friends, send them to us, and we shall be glad to print them in the issue of the paper nearest to the time we receive the material.
