

Score High When Market and Business Tides Run Low—Other Paragraphs Suggested as the Procession Passes.

When markets run high and business booms the salaried man feels sorry for himself. He thinks he is not reaping his full share of the harvest. With inflated prices, he must practice increased self-denial. He yearns for profits like those falling to the fellow who is venturing on his own hook. But when the pendulum swings the other way and values slump, his turn arrives to score advantage. If he has a job and is sure to hold it, he is comparatively free from responsibility and anxiety. The man safely ensconced in a salaried place is lucky, until conditions shift advantage to investment and ownership.

Not Restricted to April 1. In some respects, fooling people has not been restricted to April 1. In getting business, figuring on markets, making collections and trying to do other things touched by the economic disorder, everybody has been fooled before and since the appointed time.

Issues Enliven Interest. If it had not been for two issues before voters at the municipal election—the question of perpetuating the band and that of releasing the farm group—the election would have been a perfunctory performance with but a small fragment of the electorate participating. To insure healthy government, voters must take part in shaping policies either through referendum or through candidates.

Spring Clean Up. Fire and the junk heap have swallowed a good deal of rubbish the last week, and returning vegetation will find yards and alleys in presentable shape. Ridding premises of ashes and filth makes for health as well as for sightliness. It also reduces the fly nuisance. In addition to cleanliness, we see the spreading of new paint, thus freshening and preserving worn surfaces. Altogether a more attractive town will be evolved.

Farming in Russia. Communist authority in Russia which confiscated the farmer's stock, has lately decided that he may have his cows, chickens and a few other things. The soviet government discovered that it was not wise at this time to take everything the agriculturist possessed. It may do so later. Nationalization as practiced here the communist plan leaves little for its people to work for or hope for. "Under democracy," observes an author, "the farm may belong to the farmer, but under communism the farmer seems to belong to the farm." An American would wrangle under the kind of liberty prevailing under the soviet regime.

Free Hacks. The fellow who gives liberally to nerve relief and satisfy other demands is likely to grow into being considered free and easy prey. After he has been plucked and stripped by relatives and others for a series of years, and after he has been planted under the usual quantity of common earth, with one daisy fluttering at the head and another at the foot, he will, as the "surprising meagreness" of his estate is revealed, be referred to in a tenderly sympathetic fashion as a really good fellow with good intentions, but with no judgment, no power of restraint and no capacity to manage his affairs or look out for his future. The fact that his emotions had been ripped and shredded by pleas for worthy and unworthy charity, to which he yielded, by pleas for everything from buying a new cat for a neighbor to sending trying pans to the Hotchkiss, simply excites a wave of the hand and a condescending apology from a drawn mouth. "It's too bad," exclaims one of his benefactors to a score of others who assent, "but he just couldn't save and get ahead; too wasteful and too easy."

Band In Concert At Norfolk Station. Wayne municipal band, directed by Prof. F. C. Reed, gave a concert from radio station WJAG, Norfolk, Sunday afternoon and many from this vicinity enjoyed listening in Stanley Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, gave a good talk favoring the band. The Norfolk announcer also commended Wayne highly on the success of its musical group.

Couple Married By Wayne Pastor. Mr. Leslie G. Jewell of Dixon, and Miss Evelyn A. Lamberton of Concord, were married April 2, by Rev. W. C. Feidenreich at the St. Paul Lutheran parsonage.

SEASON LATE BUT SOIL IS EXCELLENT FOR SPRING WORK

FARMERS are in their fields turning rich, moist soil and are thus getting ready for the growing season. The ground is in excellent condition, wet to an unusual depth, and the promise is for a good year for agriculture. The season is late, but delay will prove no disadvantage in the presence of later favor from the elements. Everything so far indicates return to a normal yield, and nothing is more pressing needed. And farmers are optimistic. They are turning to their tasks with renewed determination and old-time energy, confident of due reward and a future of greater plenty. With big crops, this county will abundantly share in returning prosperity.

Stephens to arrest everyone found driving a motor vehicle without a license, everyone driving with an old license and everyone using one license for more than one vehicle.

CARELESS BOYS CAUSE INJURIES HERE ON SUNDAY

Two Are Sentenced Here In County Court On Liquor Charges.

TWO YOUNG WOMEN HURT

Driving through Main street in Wayne Sunday evening when intoxicated and endangering lives and property brought Raymond Pehrson and Ivan Nelson of Laurel into county court Monday. Fines and sentences were imposed on each.

Raymond Pehrson was charged with intoxication, operating a car while intoxicated and transporting liquor and his car was declared a nuisance. Pehrson pleaded guilty to the first three counts and the court confiscated the car and will sell the same, putting the money into the school fund. Defendant received a fine of $10 on the intoxication charge, a sentence of 30 days on the charge of operating a car when intoxicated and a fine of $100 on the count charging transportation of liquor. His costs are $8.20. Pehrson's license to drive was suspended for a year. He was lodged in the county jail to serve the time.

Nelson was charged with intoxication and possession of liquor, to both of which he pleaded guilty. He was given a fine of $10 on the first count and $100 on the second count. His costs are $8.20. His fine was replenished so that he has a period of time to pay the amounts.

The Laurel youths, Pehrson driving, were coming into Wayne from the north. They were on Main street and in the intoxicated condition were unable to drive properly. In an attempt to pass other cars on the street they struck three. The Dr. L. W. Jamieson and Ivar Jensen sedans, which the youths tried to pass, were struck and each machine had a fender broken.

The Laurel car, in passing the Denkinger coupe, at Eighth and Main, turned the latter machine over and injured Minnie Denkinger and Eleanor Martin. William Denkinger was taking his sister and Miss Martin to the Methodist church where the three young folks were going to sing with the college glee club. The Denkinger machine was turned over, Minnie Denkinger had her face and arm cut somewhat and one side was badly wrenched. Eleanor Martin had a deep gash on one hand and the large finger to the bone. One of her sides was also wrenched. William was not hurt.

Ivan Nelson sustained a bad cut on the head and he was taken to the Wayne hospital to have this closed.

The Denkinger and Pehrson cars were badly damaged. The Laurel machine is in the hands of officers and will be sold.

Campfire Plans Made By Scouts

Hope To Entertain Members Of Logan Valley Troops At Wayne College.

Wayne Boy Scouts will gather around their first campfire Friday evening, April 22, when the two local troops will play host to boys from Logan Valley district at the training school gymnasium. Boys plan to come here from Randolph, Bellevue, Sholes, Emerson and Winside to sing troop songs, and participate in an evening of stunt-making.

R. E. Larson and Art Ahern of the local scout committee went to Coleejege on Monday to reorganize a troop which had lapsed activity. Under its new organization, the group will be sponsored by the Coleejege American Legion post. There will be 20 members in the newly organized troop, although it is hoped that more members may be added soon.

The organization of cub troops in Wayne has been discussed in some quarters this spring, although no definite action has been taken. It was decided at last week-end's merit badge show in Omaha that any troop wishing to sponsor cub troops would do so on their own responsibility. Cub troops are for boys under regular scout age, but interested in the work. They are trained under the supervision of active members of scout troops, and given all the advantages of the older organization.

The new owners are skilful business managers and the public is assured the same high standard pictures as Wayne patrons have enjoyed in the past.

LESS TRADE GOES TO FAR MARKETS FROM THIS AREA

A Herald representative traveling through the surrounding country has noticed absence of parcels from foreign catalogue houses. In former years these packages were frequently observed in containers provided for the purpose near mail boxes. A farmer explained that prices were found equally low in local stores and that there was no temptation to send away for goods. The Herald's representative was pleased to note manifest appreciation of values and service in Wayne. She hears many good words for this point as a trade center—finds growing popularity in a widening trade area. Such reports are encouraging.

Better Honey To Appear This Year

Ames, Ia.—Honey producers in Iowa, face a favorable outlook for 1932, following two years of drouth and short honey crops, according to F. B. Paddock, state apiarist in the Iowa State college extension service.

Shortage in honey crops has existed for two seasons all over the country. Mr. Paddock said, with the result that stocks are cleaned up and buyers are reported to be looking for honey in small lots. The shortage is national in scope, he said.

"Indications for 1932, however, point to a return to normal honey flow and adequate supplies of nectar," he added. "The demand for honey is gradually increasing."

Beekkeepers have permitted stocks of bees to become depleted in numbers and quality and equipment to lapse into poor condition, due to the drouth. Mr. Paddock said. He considers that the main problem facing the honey producer is "to use good bees, good equipment and good methods, to keep production costs as low as possible."

Modern Art Contrasts With Old Masters At Exhibit And Tea

Declamatory Contest This Evening Features Group From The Grades.

Subjects of the modern artists who deal in line and in new color effects will be among those shown at the exhibit to be held at the public school Friday afternoon, April 15. The announcement has been made by Miss Maude Curley, who is supervising plans for a tea to be held that afternoon for the public in the kindergarten and first grade rooms at the south end of the first floor corridor in the public school building. The tea, the lecture and the exhibit are open to the public, although an admission charge of 15c will be made to defray expenses.

At about 2 o'clock the pictures will be ready for viewing, and anyone who wishes to see them is free to come, as the affair is entirely public. There is no obligation to purchase prints and the affair will be commercialized in no way. It is being held in order to give the children, their parents, and the general public an opportunity to see a fine collection of pictures.

One hundred fifty prints will be displayed. If a large group gathers, the lecture by Mrs. Maybelle Thompson Mason of Norfolk will be given in the high school assembly, where special subjects can be displayed. If the group is small, Mrs. Mason will give her address in one of the display rooms. Tea will be served to all in attendance at the close of the lecture part of the program.

Exhibit All Types.
Among the 150 prints to be shown there will be examples, as already mentioned, of modern artists as well as of old masters. Notable among the moderns will be such pictures as "King Lear" by Aubrey "Air Castle" by Marie Perrault, "Tales Indian" by Cousé and "California Hills" by M. Braun. Modern artists will include Bruce Crane, Gardner Synons, Wendt, Renoir, Van Gogh, Sisley, Degnis, Monet, Pissarro and Cezanne.

The old favorites will be shown, too. "Mona Lisa" will smile down from her frame as she has in every exhibit ever held here, and such charming paintings as "The Madonna of the Chair" will not be omitted.

Mrs. Masato will talk. Mrs. Mason, who has been art supervisor in the Norfolk schools for about nine years, has given her talks at the same exhibit, the particular one so familiar with the local Drawing Group when the people send out. Special arrangements for the school child made whereby they can see the pictures will be enabled to. Small slips will be given to study the history of the picture, and something concerning the artist who created the picture, and the way observers will be able to find out something about the background of every school picture, and every genre will be on exhibit.

Added New Pupils.
Eakin of Laurel and Johnson of Wayne are new pupils who entered the first grade this week.

Fourth grade folks are intrigued with temperature keeping this week, for they are making a chart of room temperature. The temperature is read by two persons, very half read by one, and an average being taken for every day of the week. Luck, nor designs have been made with crayons in the fourth grade with class this week. The spelling class in the same group seems to contest the spelling out in favor of the Nibbe class. Seed Loans May Run Three Years

Secretary of agriculture Hyde has ruled that seed loans authorized under the provisions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act may be extended as follows:
"Those of $100 or less must be paid this year; those of $200 must be paid in two years; while all over $200 will run for three years."

This makes considerable difference in the outlook for the borrowing farmer whose credit was curtailed and who was unable to procure seed loans from other sources.

SAFEGUARD the health of your family by keeping food always at a temperature below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. That's what government food authorities advise. And you can—with certainty—when your refrigerator is Electrolux!

For Electrolux produces cold constantly—without machinery. It is the big new idea in automatic refrigeration. There's no alternate stopping and starting of its chilling process. A tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water take the place of all moving parts. Foods keep fresh longer in Electrolux. And because Electrolux has no moving parts—nothing to vibrate—it is absolutely silent.

Make it a point to see Electrolux today. Prices are no higher. Terms are liberal. Its cost to operate is probably far less than you now pay for refrigeration. And should your Electrolux ever require adjustment, you may expect the same prompt and efficient service you are accustomed to receive from your gas company.

Coming NEXT Today's statewide primary will choose nominees for the two major political parties. Every man and woman entitled to vote should take advantage of the privilege. Wayne county will be represented on the state ticket by one candidate—Philip H. Kohl who is asking for the democratic nomination for railway commissioner. If for no other reason, democrats ought to take long enough time from routine work to go to the polls and give their fellow-citizen and co-worker the support he needs and deserves. In all the years of his political activity, this is the first time Mr. Kohl has entered the field for a place worth having in dollars and cents.

Among candidates for governor is Dwight Griswold of Gordon, who is out for the republican nomination. Mr. Griswold has been active and influential in state affairs, and he is the only republican candidate in the north part of the state. To have the nomination come north of the Platte for a change would be refreshing.

Against Governor Chas. W. Bryan is pitted William Ritchie, Jr. of Omaha, for the democratic nomination. The campaign between the two has developed into a spirited contest. Mr. Ritchie has been taking considerable of the wind out of the present incumbent's sails, and the house of Bryan may crumble before the rising strength of his stalwart Omaha adversary. Members of the Wayne delegation who waited all one day in Lincoln to see the governor about some road building, and who had to come home without an audience with his highness, will not be disposed to rend their garments in his support at this time. If we are not mistaken in the temper of the democrats who do the nominating, they will see that the governor meets his Waterloo with a passport to steady retirement.

Triumph of Altruism. The Herald wishes to call the world's attention to an example that as closely approaches altruism as one will find in an existence where the dollar is expected to be the controlling influence. At a time when people everywhere have been engaged in a severe struggle against unfavorable conditions, voters of Wayne invite Mammon to get behind them while they go to the polls and register in behalf of the course of justice, relieving a neighboring farm group from an unfair burden and approving continuance of the Wayne band.

When voters asked for release of farm lands from the local school district, they told the world that they would not permit a few extra tax dollars to stand in the way of right. When they put the stamp of approval on the band, they refused to surrender to the toils of cold materialism. Not only the farmers released will appreciate the magnanimity of Wayne, but farmers everywhere will know that Wayne has the courage to make any concession necessary to insure a square deal. They will know that the same treatment accorded to farmers south and southwest of Wayne is here awaiting farmers in every direction.

The attitude of Wayne voters on the two points involving sacrifice of dollars inspires confidence in the quality of our citizenship. It means right cannot be immolated on the altar of gold. It means that one actuated by good principles is not going to be boiled in oil or burned at the stake. It means that if communities like Wayne are in the majority, racketeers and gangsters have small chance to dominate society. Sinister motives and evil ways may threaten a community like Wayne, but they cannot crush the spirit of right or turn the tide of wholesome progress.

Referring to Chicago's failure to pay its school teachers, an editor says: "Can any city, great or small, allow vicious indifference to such a state of affairs to suggest the thought that those who serve best fare worst?" One thing Chicago should do to be consistent would be to pay its loyal teachers and balance its budget before opening its Century of Progress Exposition.

In order to balance the national budget, the administration at Washington cannot consistently yield to proposed inroads on the federal treasury. Economy is preached in one breath and yearning for a selfish appropriation is whispered in another. The way to put the lid on public expenditures is to put it on, spreading the spirit of retrenchment evenly over the country.

We are profoundly touched by the gracious heart-bursts of propagandists who pour their stories into our editorial hopper with assurance that they may be used freely, without cost or obligation.

A newspaper is a public service institution. What you may think of the editor is of small importance compared with that you think of the newspaper and the good you can derive from its service.

David Lawrence says congressmen are often in doubt as to the wishes of their constituents and that they should receive frequent communications reflecting the home view.

Our Independence.

Dr. A. L. Bixby: In the matter of industrial statistics Dr. Conn of the Wayne college gave the Hiram club some appalling facts to mull over. It would appear from his showing, that the United States government, all by its lonesome, has an indebtedness that totals the staggering sum of $30,000,000,000. Add to that our state, municipal, township and individual obligations, and this continent, if put up at auction and sold to the highest bidder for cash, wouldn't pay our local bond and mortgage holders, nor sitting pretty, in an attitude of watchful waiting, to exceed 20 cents on the dollar of their perfectly valid claims. How is civilization to wiggle out of this unpleasant predicament? The doctor didn't say, but he did recommend that we forgive our enemies on the other side of the Atlantic, wash our smutty hands, made so by our association with the riffraff of the eastern hemisphere, break away from all European entanglements, shimmy on our own side from now until the cows come home, and vow a vow never again to play in the back yard of our ungrateful neighbors. They coaxed us into war, and have since filched money enough from us to pay for half a dozen wars, and have gone into bankruptcy with the foul purpose of repudiating multiplied obligations to predatory fathers of finance.

All of this money that we lent
Displayed a rotten guess;
Now patriots of high percent,
A "hundred," more or less,
Are sitting on the side-lines, glum,
Holding the sack and howling some.

Now isolation is our hold,
The best, it seems to me;
To cut the European cords
Is not a bad idea.
They stole our confidence, and then,
Our gold and silver, yen by yen.

Our men of finance don't know beans—
They fell for foreign bloats
Who have our money in their jeans;
We have their worthless notes,
And little now to do or say
But groan about it night and day.

Perhaps the people can afford
Another war, and we
Again will buckle on the sword
And cross the briny sea.
Fear will inspire our men of war,
Exactly as it did before.

And there will be the fume and fret,
The toll that war demands;
And then the aftermath of debt,
Depression on all hands;
Then the same prate that cooks our goose
When economic quacks "cut loose."

But isolation will not cure,
It is of little worth;
We're here to labor and endure—
God's country is the earth,
And we may well bear this in mind,
He saves himself who helps mankind.

News For Small Boys.

Omaha World-Herald: Small boys and their fathers will be heartened by the news that came out the other day—the news that circuses are getting ready for their annual tours. Hard times lose meaning somehow when the old joys are still permitted to remain. It won't be so bad, this summer, now that we know the elephants are coming.

The modern age has given us nothing to equal the good old circus for entertainment. There is nothing else which so lifts us from the everyday and carries us into fields of romantic adventure. Everything connected with the circus has that amazing quality of strangeness and newness about it, that persists year after year. It makes no difference that the elephants are the same, the giraffes change not in appearance, the seals have no new balancing tricks and the clowns cling to the same old slap-stick buffoonery. We know exactly what the aerialists will do, how the tight-wire walker will perform and how many falls the tumblers will escape. We know how unsatisfactory is the lemonade, how sweltering the heat under the big top, how blaring the band, and the girth of the fat girl. The very charm of the circus is the fact that it never changes, from Dexter Fellowes who comes in advance to tell us of its marvels, to the wild west show which winds up the performance at an extra charge of 25 cents.

What boots it that a presidential campaign will be on? The fundamental thing which convinces us that all is right with the world is that the circuses have left their winter quarters, are organizing for their annual debuts in New York, and will sooner or later arrive mysteriously during the night, pitch their tents in our midst, and invite our admiration and amazement once more.

Demanding Reduction.

Lincoln Journal: With President Hoover at one end of capitol avenue demanding that a drastic reduction of federal expenditures be made by congress and Speaker Garner at the other end declaring that it will be done, the average layman is likely to wonder why the two party leaders are making faces at one another. It gives hope, however, that after the politics of the affair have been properly attended to, reductions consistent with the needs of the service and of the hour will eventually be made.

The government is cutting appropriations to the Interior Department. And so are we.—Thomaston Times.

DUTY.

To promote good government and preserve and strengthen civilization there must be increasing sense of responsibility on the part of officials of all degrees of authority. People chosen to make laws and to execute them must not allow narrow partisanship or immediate self-seeking to interfere with the course of duty or justice. Persons from the lowest to the highest stations intrusted with official powers must look beyond present personal advantage to the future and general welfare. Sound judgment is needed, especially at this time, to see that high standards are kept up and that laws and customs are maintained. The world needs wisdom and foresight, and due recognition of human rights to insure orderly and progressive government. Officers in all branches of service should have conscientious concern for the public at all times, not just when they are trying to be elected.

MERCY. So often the guilty escape, so often the net of justice is not evenly spread or uniformly effective that a newspaper feels justified in shielding innocent members of a family if one in the group happens to fall into the meshes of the law. Ordinarily a newspaper should deal equally with public offenders as a support to courts and enforcement officers, but sometimes publicity does unwarranted injury to persons who are leading upright and useful lives, and who have hard, uphill pulling without unnecessary obstructions. If in singling out one for public rebuke as the result of court action, serious injustice is done several, more harm than good is manifestly accomplished. And a newspaper to be of great service to a community, must do more than give the news. It must, as it should, protect as far as possible the innocent and defenseless from being crushed under the force of another's sins. A newspaper assumes greater responsibility when it yields to mercy than when it doggedly sticks to a rule regardless of how many blameless hearts are made to ache and suffer.

on the republican ticket are these men: John H. Miller, Harry A. Foster, George C. Porter, George L. Jackson, Cyrus B. Wall, Richard Fredrick Wood, H. E. Glatfelter, James Alfred Little, Lloyd Dort, Henry F. Kieser, Ralph C. Lawrence and Orville A. Andrews.

On Congressional List. For congressman in the third district, H. Halderon is placed on the ballot.

On the legislative ticket for the republicans, there are named the following: For state senator, Eleventh district, J. C. McGowan; for state representative, Forty-fifth district, Donald P. Miller.

The republican commissioner district ticket lists for county treasurer, in the Second district, W. H. Rees and Henry Retzwich, both of Carroll.

On the precinct ticket, there must be three delegates to the county convention, but the republican ballot lists no names.

Democrats Name Choices. Democrats name on the national ticket: For President, William H. Murray, Franklin D. Roosevelt, John N. Garner; for vice president, James Pearson; for delegates at large to the national convention, a choice of six from the following list: T. S. Allen, L. J. Dunn, George W. O'Malley, Keith Neville, Dan V. Stephens, Richard L. Metcalfe, Webb Rice, Earl M. Marvin, Gilbert M. Hitchcock, W. H. Thompson and J. J. Thomas.

The space for the Third district alternate delegates to the national convention has been left blank on the democrat ballot. There must be two names chosen.

National committeewoman for the democrats, Evelyn A. Ryan; national committeeman, Arthur F. Mullen, vote for one of each.

The democrat state ticket lists the following: For governor, George Walter Olsen, James Franklin Christie, Charles W. Bryan and William Ritchie, Jr.; for lieutenant governor, Henry F. Schepman, Bennie Nelson, W. F. Porter, R. E. Watzke, C. F. Eushausen and Walter H. Jurgensen; for secretary of state, L. A. Larson, Harry R. Swanson, Fred C. Ayres, R. O. Chambers; for auditor of public accounts, William B. Price, Horace M. Davis, H. A. Blomquist, J. W. McKissick and O. H. Olson.

ple ballot are these names: Legislator ticket, for state senator, Eleventh district, Watson L. Purdy; for state representative, Forty-fifth district, Frank J. Kloppe; for county commissioner, second district, J. F. Stanton and Dr. A. Texley of Carroll. Coal Stabilization. Lincoln Journal: Now it is the soft coal industry which is seeking aid of the government to end the demoralization within it that its spokesmen say the owners and operators are unable to prevent for themselves. It is proposed in legislation now pending before congress that a coal commission be created, which shall control production, among other things, and prevent the waste of natural resources that has been going on for years.

The basic difficulty is the same as that which is troubling the oil business, too many sources of production that are worked too many days which results in flooding the market to a point where there is no money in it for producers. In addition this sort of competition has forced a bad labor condition. Coal is also faced with competition from oil and gas as fuels.

In order to make the proposed legislation constitutional the proposed bill declares that its purpose is to conserve a natural resource. It provides for the licensing of operators and shippers in interstate commerce; it proposes limitation upon exports, and in an indirect way upon production. In addition it permits mergers and associations all working toward the common end. The bill also aims to improve the condition of miners by appropriate legislation.

Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, where coal mining is a major industry, is backing the legislation. He says that while the intention is not clearly expressed it is the evident intention to control prices, but that fact does not appear to detract from the warmth of his support of the proposals. Several heads of large mining corporations have been before the committee in charge of the bill, and they are frank to say that the business has grown to such proportions as to become unwieldy and that if the government does not undertake regulation the whole industry will drift into chaos and collapse.

Conservation of natural resources is a laudable enterprise for the government to undertake, but whether such steps should be taken as the coal industry wishes is another question.

England Budget Balances. Lincoln Journal: England comes to the end of its fiscal year with a small surplus but that was achieved only after a desperate fight to balance the budget. This fight resulted in a political upheaval that was nation-wide and the seating of a coalition cabinet. The government accomplished this surplus by stringent economies and by levying a heavy income tax, the rate of which was equal to the peak year 1922-23 when England was heavily burdened by war obligations. Great Britain's exemptions are $485 for a single man; $730 for a married man, $245 for the first dependent child and $195 for each other child. The rate is about 23 percent and heavier on the higher brackets. The English have gone to extremes to balance the budget. Congress is faced with some such procedure.

Crime Levies a Tribute. Sioux City Journal: The underworld has levied a heavy tribute upon the American people. Practically all crime is committed for the sake of gain. There are homicides, of course, in which the motive is different, but in an overwhelming majority of cases laws are violated for the sake of loot. In the last two years there have been 2,000 abduction and extortion cases in this country with several millions of dollars collected from victims. Bank and highway robberies, burglaries and lesser thievery make up a heavy percentage of the crime for gain committed daily.

Someone asked, "how can this monster be controlled?" There are answers to that question. The greatest requirement is for society to fight back with all its strength and courage. The lawabiding public has got to be hardboiled to ward the underworld if it is to cease paying this heavy tribute to crime. Better law enforcement, improved court practice, swifter and surer punishment—these are the answers to the question of what can be done to control this monster.

A good deal has been heard about prison reform. There has been too much of it already. If we had in this country the European idea of what punishment meant, a part of the problem would be solved. When we catch and convict the meanest, cruellest criminals and send them to prison we see to it that they are well fed, well housed, made comfortable and entertained. If criminals had to suffer in prison they'd hate it. We Americans go to extremes to weaken the strongest corrective weapon we have, which is punishment. We've got to punish till it hurts if we are to get anywhere in controlling crime.

Dog Leads Way. Osmond, Neb., April 1—A shepherd dog, 24 years old, belonging to the Ed Purdie family, died of old age Tuesday. This aged animal which was always waiting on the porch each morning to greet the family when they arose, was missing that morning and a companion, another old dog, which whined in a peculiar way, led one of the family to an out house where Shep was found dead.

Bread and Water Diet. Tekamah, Neb., March 30—John Peterson of Lyons, was eating bread and water meals in the county jail here today. For ten days he'll have that kind of meals. Then, for ten days he'll get the regular fare.

Then for ten more days he'll eat bread and water again. He pleaded guilty to stealing grain and was given 30 days in jail, with the bread and water diet, added.

Child Badly Burned. Beemer, Neb., March 30—Betty Worrel, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Worrel, is a patient in the University hospital in Omaha, following an accident about seven weeks ago when she pulled a pot of hot coffee from the stove and burned her side and arm. The burns failed to respond to treatment and she was taken to the hospital.

Republican Candidate For STATE AUDITOR.

DO YOU KNOW? That in my legislative service (two terms in the House representing Cass County) my voice and vote was for economy in government, State and County — on every issue — for real tax reduction, then and always.

I KNOW! That tax-reduction is today your first demand on government!

If I am elected Auditor I will be a member of the State Board of Equalization which orders the state tax levy of you — and on every citizen. As in the past I will stand firmly for the relief of the farm from present indefensible high taxes.

Balance Of Trade Favorable In Year

Figures recently released by the London board of trade indicate that world trade in 1931, decreased about 27 percent compared with 1930 and by approximately 41 percent compared with 1929. The term "world trade" in this case, of course, means the commercial transactions between all nations which includes imports and exports as well as internal business. Of sixteen important countries Australia showed the largest percentage of decrease in imports in 1931. It is claimed that Australia's new tariff rates are responsible for this decrease. It will be recalled that Australia has had very serious financial reverses, having in a number of cases repudiated her foreign loans. In attempting to recoup her losses Australia has increased many of her tariff rates to the highest figures of record, the proponents of the tariff claiming that free trade has ruined the country.

The United States, British India, Germany and Czechoslovakia are the only countries of the sixteen reporting which show favorable balances of trade for all three years, 1929, 1930 and 1931.

Experiments Lead To Better Types

St. Paul, Minn.—The Minnesota agricultural experiment station is trying to aid farmers to decide what kind of hogs will make gains at the cheapest cost and sell for the highest price when marketed. It is making tests in order to find the answer to the question suggested in connection with the swine record of performance project under rules outlined by a national committee.

According to a statement by E. F. Ferrin, P. A. Anderson and Don Johnson, of the animal husbandry division at University farm, the problem is a complicated one and calls for investigations as to how the hogs grown by farmers today meet modern market demands and how costs of production and carcass values vary. The problem really is to select the most profitable type or the type which makes cheap gains and carcasses of high value.

The tests which have been carried on for three years show that there is a wide variation in the rate of gains and considerable variation in the amounts of feed necessary to make gains and also in the carcass values of different types of hogs.

The tests will be continued until definite information which can be practically applied on the farm is available.

Hoarding Business Has Bad Results

If you have any money hoarded, that is buried in a can or stuck behind the clock or pushed between the mattress, you can be assured that your neighbors know all about it. You can be further assured that everybody in town also knows about it. Especially if you live in the country or in a small town. Every time a farmer sells a load of hogs or other farm products and gets paid for it and doesn't put the money in a bank it is soon whispered around town that he is hiding the money some place around the farm. If a town man draws any considerable sum out of the bank and doesn't immediately redeposit it it is soon told all over town that he has some money hidden.

You can't hide money and keep it a secret. Some crook or gangster is going to find it out sooner or later.

One story of a couple in southwestern Iowa will illustrate this point. These good people had drawn out of the bank some $14,000. Some local "toughs" found out about it. They invited in some outside help, went out to the farm house, tied the farmer and his wife up, burned their bare feet with hot irons and robbed them of the $14,000. Hoarding is bad business any way you look at it.

Demands for Tax Cuts

Sioux City Journal: The nationwide movement demanding a reduction in taxes is none the less significant because at the present time increased taxation is necessary to balance the federal budget. Delegates from 16 states and 62 chambers of commerce in a meeting in Chicago warned the federal authorities against the very thing that congress and the administration find themselves obliged to do.

It was taken that this expression by business men had to do with the principle of taxation in connection with governmental expenditures rather than with the solution of the revenue problem now before congress. That is to say that the protest was aimed at the errors of policy of the federal government with reference to the spending of public money instead of an attempt to evade the financial emergency faced by the country at the present time.

This is seen in the announcement that business was willing to pay taxes "within reason." That evidently was applied to the present emergency, for of course, business executives are bound to realize that the budget must be balanced and that more revenue for that purpose is required.

Tax reduction, under our form of government, cannot come ahead of a decrease in federal expense. Under the law public service must be continued by departments, bureaus and the like until such are legally restricted or abolished. Executives have no right to end the existence of bureaus created for specific purposes. Economy may be and frequently is practiced through regulatory processes, but when legislation creates a federal agency it must function even if the operation produces a deficit.

The individual may suffer a decrease in income and adjust his expenditures to fit the case. The federal government is not so flexible in its fiscal affairs. It must provide the public service and demand the money to meet the charge. So economy must precede tax reduction. That is the place at which to begin. The federal government, especially the executive branch, is not permitted to live within its income but must demand revenue with which to pay for such service as has been created.

Speaker Garner has appealed to the house to unite on a tax bill that will raise the revenue required. The house must do that. It will mean increased taxation. Meanwhile President Hoover has warned against the movement for a soldier bonus, which the American Legion has refused to endorse. The American people must remember that if taxes are to come down, expensive public service first has got to be cut.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. P. A. Davies, pastor) "Trying to live without Christ and His message is like trying to make bread without leaven." Our annual canvass for the Christian Science Society. 401 Main St. April 10: Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Services, 11 a. m. Subject: "Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" Golden text: Psalms 68:20. Services through KFAB at 12:30 to 12:45 noon, Monday and Thursday. The public is cordially invited.

The subject of the lesson-lesson in all churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, April 10, is: "Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" The Golden Text is from Psalms 68:20. "He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death."

A scriptural passage used in the lesson-lesson is from Isaiah 35:4-6; "Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; He will come and save you. Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb shall sing; for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Man governed by his Maker, having no other Master, planted on the Evangelist's statement that all things were made by Him (the Word of God), and without Him was not anything made," can triumph over sin, sickness and death (page 231).

Tax Reduction Is Pledge of Ritchie

"Expenses Must Be Pared To The Bone," He Says—Opposes Code Law.

Tax reduction formed the keynote in the speech of William Ritchie, Jr., at a democratic rally held in the city hall at Wayne Monday night. "Taxes are too high—not only in Nebraska but throughout the country in general. In 1890 the average tax was $13.50 per head. Today it is over $105," the speaker declared.

Mr. Ritchie whose home is in Omaha, is opposing Governor Bryan in the race for the democratic nomination for governor in the state primary election next Tuesday. He was introduced by Fred S. Berry of Wayne who said that although he was on the opposite side of the fence that he has known Mr. Ritchie for twenty-two years and he could vouch for him as being a "darn good fellow." R. O. Chambers of Minatare, candidate for nomination for secretary of state on the democratic ticket presented Mr. Ritchie on the program. About 100 attended the meeting.

After explaining the increase in taxes Mr. Ritchie went on to show how the state government is supported. Taxes come from four sources he showed: Taxes from real and personal property, gasoline taxes, federal taxes received to match state appropriations for roads, schools and public works, and fees and licenses received from corporations or similar organizations. Mr. Ritchie was emphatic in his assertion that taxes on real and personal property must be reduced and was equally opposed to either a raising or lowering of the gas tax.

He then charged that one of the biggest factors in the increase of taxes came from the cost of running the government under the present code system. "Official salaries and civil administrative salaries under the code are the big factors in appropriation increases," he declared. He then went on to explain how the code worked. The code provides a centralized administration in which administrative duties fall to the department heads or their assistants. Nebraska has in addition to this code its constitutional officers as well, which causes duplication of work and increased expense, Mr. Ritchie brought out.

Under the old regime prior to the introduction of the code law all state administrative duties were carried out by the seven constitutional officers. Other duties were performed by committees made up of these same seven officials. There were only three boards in operation at the time whose members were not drawn from these men. In 1920 agitation for repeal of the code was started, but the constitutional convention that met in that year failed to do away with the code, and not until 1923, when a republican legislature voted to repeal the code and split up the administrative offices, was any definite action taken. "Governor Bryan vetoed that bill," Mr. Ritchie declared, "and we have had it ever since."

Mr. Ritchie also attacked the present system of administering failed banks. He believes that when a bank fails the depositors should be called in and under court supervision elect a receiver. If the court examination, finds the elected one responsible and worthy, then he is to administer the receivership. "This places the control of failed banks where it belongs—in the hands of the depositors."

"I favor good roads and I favor a consistent good roads program," Mr. Ritchie declared. "I do not, however, favor an increased gas tax," he added. According to his opinion there should not be any bond issue floated to build roads. "Keep within your means," he warned. He also favors a road planning board that should decide where the roads and highways should be built and he stated that it was then up to the governor to see that these plans were carried out, and in the most economical way possible.

R. O. Chambers who gave a short talk before Mr. Ritchie was introduced based his talk on reduction of taxes and formation of a civil service department for state employees. He believes that real estate valuations should be lowered and through the agency of the equalization board. The secretary of state, being a member of this board, could use considerable influence in getting these evaluations decreased. "Nebraska is cursed with a double government," he went on. The code and the constitutional officers cause a duplication of work and multiplication of salaries, according to his belief. "I have no fight with the code law," he said, "but I do not believe that officers, through their power of appointment, should build up political machines at the expense of the people," he concluded.

Ideas Scurry Like Old Leaves Before April Winds—Have You Voted Yet?

Wind and Nebraska are not much separated, it seems. We have all varieties, hot, cold, damp, dusty, chilly, warm, desirable, undesirable, and the kind that blows ideas clear out of one's head.

Good manners may seem to be rather an artificial veneer to conduct, but they are neither artificial nor a veneer if they spring from an earnest desire to be thoughtful of others.

Says the New York Times: "It is estimated that 10,000,000 trees will be planted by citizens of this and other countries in the campaign recently initiated by the American Tree Association as part of the George Washington Bicentennial celebration this year."

Go And Vote! Tuesday, April 12, is the day you can leave floors unswept, dishes unwashed, beds unmade and crossword puzzles unsolved, for your one duty is to go and vote.

How did you feel the other day when someone did something particularly stupid and then shrieked "April Fool!" If you weren't even tempted to snarl back, "April fool, yourself!" but felt only the mellow glow of love for all humanity, it is supposed to prove that you have a sense of humor.

AUDITED LIST INTO 3,000 HOMES 15,000 READERS

FIFTY-FIRST YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, APRIL 7, 1932.

NUMBER FIFTYTWO

Add New Titles At City Library

Increase Number Of Books For Children Who Are In Reading Groups.

Invertebrate readers will still read, although fair spring weather is calling many persons away from the book shelves and out-of-doors.

A few new books on the pay shelf include "Judith Paris" by Hugh Walpole. If you haven't already done so, and before you read the new book, get "Rogue Herries" and prepare yourself for "Judith Paris."

Ben Ames Williams' "Honey-flow" and Zane Gray's "Arizona Ames" are also on the pay shelf. Both by popular writers, they promise to be much in demand.

Children's Art Book. For children, but equally delightful for their elders is "Art for Children" by Ana M. Berry, a 1932 Junior Literary Guild selection.

"The Call of the Wild," Jack London's classic, has been purchased in a Modern Reader edition, and will be enjoyed by a new group of boys and girls.

Also for children are "The Garden of the Lost Key," by Hooker; "Barbara Winthrop, Graduate," by Helen K. Broughall; "Lost, a Brother," by Emile Benson Knipe and Alden Arthur Knipe; "Gustavo Gold," by Arthur C. Parker; "Little Konrad the Swiss Boy," by Helel L. Campbell and "Chatt Roland" by Layton Righter, who dedicated the book to his son.

Choose New Titles. "Jim Spurling, Leader," by Albert W. Tolman, is a book for boys, and "All Around the Town," by Marjorie Flack, would be enjoyed by boys and girls alike, for it deals with life in the city, and the adventures of children in New York.

"Children of Tyre," nicely bound in orange and black, would attract any child. It was written about Tyre by Louise Andrews Kent, for her small daughter, Posy, to whom the volume is dedicated. It is illustrated in effective black and white.

Several other titles have been added to the library shelves. Among them is Ludwig Lewisohn's "The Golden Vase," a much shorter volume than is usually expected from his pen.

The 1923 annual report of the Nebraska state board of agriculture has been received and will be added to the library shelves this week.

Gets Appointment In The Philippines

Paul "Swede" Anderson who was graduated from the Wayne State Teachers College last spring with an A. B. degree, has received an appointment to teach in the Philippines the coming year.

Mr. Anderson's home is South Sioux City. When he was a young lad he joined the navy and served four years. He later returned and decided to go through high school, which he did. He then came to the Wayne Teachers College and finished the degree course, making his own livelihood through the four years. He has taken post graduate work this year at Wayne up until he received the appointment to the Philippines.

Besides doing well in his school work and earning his way, Mr. Anderson starred on the football team here and took part in other school activities.

TALK INSURANCE ON UNEMPLOYED BEFORE KIWANIS

High School Debaters Give Proposals For and Against Plans.

Kiwanians were treated with a lively debate on unemployment insurance at their weekly meeting at Hotel Stratton Monday noon.

Stanley Davis and James Davies, two Wayne high school debaters, were introduced by President E. J. Hintemeyer who also announced the question for debate, Resolved: "A system of unemployment insurance should be adopted by the several states as a means of relief for unemployment in times of depression."

Stanley Davis, the affirmative speaker, opened the debate by sketching in a background of the various systems of unemployment insurance beginning with their inception in Germany in 1896 to the present dolo system used in Great Britain. He described the results of unemployment and based his argument that unemployment insurance was necessary as a relief for these degrading results.

"There are two general plans in operation today," the speaker declared. One is similar to the dolo and the other is charity. "Many men are too proud to accept charity," he went on to say, "and therefore turn to crime as a means of sustenance." Unemployment insurance will operate to minimize such crime and provide a way by which workers can live during enforced idleness, that is, on the average, a ten week period.

Of the most feasible plans presented to relieve unemployment the one that thrusts the burden on the employer is the best, it was brought out. Since the employers as a class, while only constituting two percent of the population, control ninety-eight percent of the wealth it is only fair that they bear the burden of the unemployment insurance, Mr. Davis argued.

In presenting his argument against such insurance James Davies opened with the statement that unemployment insurance is unsound in theory and therefore undesirable. If the burden is shifted to the employer it becomes incident on the consumer, he showed. When such a thing happens taxes increase and purchasing power is decreased. "This," the speaker emphasized, "will only add to the horrors of unemployment." In addition to the burden being wrongly placed such insurance does not meet the three requisites of an insurance policy and consequently is not the proper solution for the unemployment question, he added.

President Hintemeyer also made an announcement of interest to Kiwanians with reference to the district meeting to be held in Norfolk. All officers, directors and members of the membership committee are expected to be at this district meeting in Norfolk at 6 o'clock Thursday evening.

Russell Tutard of Omaha was introduced to the club as an out of town visitor.

Comes From City To Identify Man

J. J. Hillensbeck Seeks Name Of Party Sending Letter From August Moeller.

In an effort to identify the person who delivered for the late August Moeller of Wayne a letter to O. J. Hillensbeck of Omaha the last of November, Mr. Hillensbeck and R. W. Brennan were in Wayne from the city Saturday. Mr. Hillensbeck had just moved so the person bringing the letter to the city left the epistle to a friend of Mr. Hillensbeck and the latter did not thus learn his identity.

The letter, to which Moeller's name is signed and which is dated early in November, says the writer does not have long to live and that he wishes Hillensbeck to have his Wayne county farm and his money. The letter also asks Hillensbeck not to farm the land. The bequeath, the letter states, is made because Hillensbeck saved Moeller's life.

Mr. Hillensbeck says when he first received the letter it was hard to recall who Moeller was. He remembered that 20 years ago he saved Moeller's life at the stock yards in Omaha. Moeller had shipped cattle to the city and was being trampled in the yards by some of the animals when Hillensbeck, a youth of 20 then, came to his rescue. Mr. Hillensbeck says he took Moeller to the Webster street station and started him on his homeward trip.

School Men Meet At College Here

Dean H. H. Hahn Presides At Annual Convention Held In Wayne Friday.

About 100 attended the annual meeting of the Northeast Nebraska School Men's association here Friday at the State Teachers College.

Dr. W. E. Sealock of Omaha University was unable to be present because of illness. Charles Bowers of Lincoln, general secretary of the Nebraska State Teachers association, took his place and spoke, bringing greetings from the state organization.

Supt. C. Ray Gates of Grand Island addressed the group on "Changing Schools In a Changing World." He stated that with the continual introduction of more machinery, laborers must be able to adjust themselves to changing times. They may have to change work three or four times in a life period.

Supt. Gates thinks there cannot be enough work for all on full time so that it will soon be necessary to shorten the working period. He believes it is better to have all the people working 80 percent of the time than to have 80 percent of the people working all the time. And if the working time is decreased there must be provision for ways of spending leisure time. Workers must be educated to use their spare hours profitably in reading, exercise or some other ways that will benefit themselves.

The round table discussion in the afternoon showed that school districts are hard pressed in financial affairs and that many are having to cut expenditures.

One of the features of the evening program following a banquet at the college cafeteria was a half hour of music, Prof. L. F. Gregory playing the violin and Prof. Albert C. Carlson the piano.

Bridge Parties For This Season

New Dainties To Serve When Games And Scores Mount.

With the close of Lent, spring parties should begin dotting the social calendar, and hostesses should be serving all the delectables they can call to mind. Spring flowers, new clothes, and delicious things to eat make parties a pleasure, so why not plan some? Here are suggestions for after-the-games luncheons which have all the necessary appeals.

For a small group, open face sandwiches are easy to prepare. Plan to have white bread rounds thickly spread with orange marmalade, dark bread spread with cream cheese, green peppers and butter, and deviled ham or some spread bread between thin slices of rye.

Another sweet canape which should make every one anxious to have a second helping is made thus: Cut circles of white bread, spread with butter, top with plum butter, and center with whipped cream. This canape, of course, must be eaten with a fork and may take the place of any other sweet in the little meal. Have tea or coffee or both to go with the sandwiches, and do not forget the salted nuts and assorted candies.

And a New Sweet.
Something new in the way of a sweet to be served with the after-bridge refreshments is a cookie ring which is made with the following ingredients:

- 1 1/2 lbs. chocolate cookies (1 1/2 inches across)
- 1 pint whipping cream
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Whip the cream and flavor it with vanilla, a sprinkle of salt, and a little powdered sugar. Spread the cream between cookies, sandwich fashion, and set the cookies, on edge, in the refrigerator tray, cover with the remaining whipped cream, and garnish with cherries. Freeze, slice and serve with a chocolate sauce. Black coffee is a nice accompaniment to this rich dessert.

From the Herald of April 6, 1916: "Girls who graduate from high schools within the next two months are now thinking about gowns for public functions. In looking out for this comparatively unimportant consideration of the graduating season, we would urge the exercise of judgment consistent with refined brains. The cost of the dress worn has no weight with people whose opinions are most desirable. Avoidance of undue extravagance will indicate highest culture and reflect soundest sense." Charles Evans Hughes was being boosted for president of the United States in 1916.

President Demands Bureau Elimination

In a special message to congress, President Hoover urged early action on the bill to permit efficient reorganization of the entire executive branch of the government, bringing the subject to the attention of congress in such an emphatic way that it can hardly be ignored.

There is an astounding number of congressional commissions, independent offices and federal establishments carrying on the business of the government at Washington. According to the congressional directory there is now in force ninety-six different offices and boards.

Every administration creates commissions of one sort or another. Roosevelt named 107 boards and commissions, Taft 63, Wilson 150, Harding 44, Coolidge 115, and President Hoover 44.

Of the forty-four commissions set up under the Hoover administration twenty-four were created by congress. Of the twenty created directly by the president or upon his recommendation twelve have completed their work and have been released and only two are other than temporary. Only four of those created by President Hoover have been paid by the Federal government, the remainder either cost nothing or rely upon public support.

From the very beginning of his public service President Hoover has insisted upon the reorganization of these boards and commissions—not only to eliminate duplication but to bring about drastic savings of public money.

Memorial Gardens Will Be Planted

This is the time of year to think about planting flower gardens. Every back yard, every strip of fertile soil is a potential flower garden and may be made to bloom in honor of the father of his country in this bicentennial year. Even as little as 50c worth of seeds will plant a garden anyone may be proud of and which will give joy to hundreds of passersby.

In a nation-wide broadcast at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, March 17, the secretary of agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, officially opened the bicentennial flower garden campaign which is sponsored by the United States George Washington Bicentennial commission.

The United States marine band orchestra played a program of appropriate music, and Congressman Sol Bloom, associate director of the commission explained the proposed plan which is, to have every vacant space all over the country bloom with flowers this summer in honor of the bicentennial year.

The garden clubs of America are cooperating in this plan as well as school garden clubs and other floral organizations. The bicentennial committee in each state is promoting interest in planting flowers in honor of this great celebration.

The United States department of agriculture is cooperating also and horticultural experts attached to agricultural colleges in each state are doing effective work in promoting this activity, through the schools of each state.

In consequence, hundreds of amateur gardeners will plant colonial flowers, annuals and perennials, which were familiar in the time of George Washington and which will bloom each year as a permanent memorial to his memory.

Orderly Marketing Is Found Favorable
During the fourth week in March grain prices in Chicago in many cases made new season lows. The reason given by members of the Chicago board of trade is that the grain stabilization corporation contemplates dumping its wheat in foreign markets.
By watching the action of the gamblers on the Chicago board of trade it is very easy to follow their machine like attack on the marketing act and the farm board. They flash dangerous and demoralizing rumors over their private wires from coast to coast, tending to create unrest in the minds of speculators and then follow these rumors up with the bear attacks on market values.
James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, issued the following statement relative to the situation:
"The rumors for the last two days to the effect that the grain stabilization corporation contemplates dumping its wheat in foreign markets are untrue."
"Last July a definite policy was announced as to how sales would be made from July, 1931 to July, 1932. This sales policy was to limit sales in domestic and foreign markets to an accumulative maximum of five million bushels per month, with the right to sell wheat to foreign governments or their representatives in addition to the five million bushels per month."
"The result of this orderly sales policy has been that every bushel of wheat sold in the United States since last July has brought a price considerably above the world market price partly for wheat."
"This program has worked to the benefit of the American farmer and no change is contemplated."

It is not really a tax bill. It's a vacuum cleaner.—New York Sun.
Sheriff's Sale.
By virtue of an Order of Sale, to me directed, issued by the Clerk of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, upon a decree rendered therein at the April 1931 term thereof, in an action pending in said court wherein the State Bank of Madison, Madison, Nebraska, a corporation, and William L. Dowling, were plaintiffs and Carl H. Leonard, et al, were defendants, I will, on the 2nd day of May, 1932, at 10 o'clock a. m., at the door of the office of the Clerk of said Court, in the court house in Wayne, in said county, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to-wit: The East Half of the Northeast Quarter of Section Thirty-four (34) Township twenty-six (26) North Range Five (5), East of the 6th P. Hubert Fleer Goes To City Hospital
Hubert Fleer is in a Norfolk hospital suffering from severe pelvic injuries incurred Thursday when he was caught between a truck and a tree while working with wood on the Fleer farm six miles southwest of here. He had gone to the farm and was working with Gilbert Kallstrom when the accident happened. Young Fleer was standing back of the heavy truck, which had been stuck in the mud, when the machine suddenly released itself from the obstruction, crushing the man between the back of the truck and a tree stump.

Orderly Marketing Is Found Favorable
During the fourth week in March grain prices in Chicago in many cases made new season lows. The reason given by members of the Chicago board of trade is that the grain stabilization corporation contemplates dumping its wheat in foreign markets.
By watching the action of the gamblers on the Chicago board of trade it is very easy to follow their machine like attack on the marketing act and the farm board. They flash dangerous and demoralizing rumors over their private wires from coast to coast, tending to create unrest in the minds of speculators and then follow these rumors up with the bear attacks on market values.
James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, issued the following statement relative to the situation:
"The rumors for the last two days to the effect that the grain stabilization corporation contemplates dumping its wheat in foreign markets are untrue."
"Last July a definite policy was announced as to how sales would be made from July, 1931 to July, 1932. This sales policy was to limit sales in domestic and foreign markets to an accumulative maximum of five million bushels per month, with the right to sell wheat to foreign governments or their representatives in addition to the five million bushels per month."
"The result of this orderly sales policy has been that every bushel of wheat sold in the United States since last July has brought a price considerably above the world market price partly for wheat."
"This program has worked to the benefit of the American farmer and no change is contemplated."

Truck Competition. The Omaha World-Herald: The United States bureau of public roads recently completed analysis of a traffic survey on federal highways in 11 western and midwestern states in 1930. The purpose of the survey was to guide the bureau and state road departments in the preparation of road programs during the next 10 years. A great deal of the information developed is interesting not only from the standpoint of highway improvement but in its bearing on other problems growing out of a rapidly expanding motor traffic as well. Here are some of the facts found out about trucks. The average daily travel of trucks is 103 miles. About half of all trucks were found to be city owned, but there was a definitely greater use of the highways by rural than by urban trucks. Trucks of less than three tons capacity constituted 85 per cent of the truck traffic and less than 6 percent was of five tons capacity or over. Eighty six per cent of all trucks were operated in the service of their owners, 8.7 per cent were operated as contract haulers and only 5.5 per cent were operated as common carriers. Overcome By Monoxide Gas. Beemer, Neb.—Wallace Elders, truck driver, of Beemer, was found by another truck driver, almost overcome by monoxide gas in his garage. He was taken to a hospital and recovered. Mr. Elders was greasing his truck when overcome.

Do you know—that I supported reduced taxation during all the years of my membership in the legislature? If elected Railway Commissioner I will work to reduce to a fair level the rates you pay for public service, which is another field of urgent "tax-reduction".

Much as I would like to be in Nebraska for the primary, I do not feel I should neglect the duties entrusted to me in Washington. My name will appear on the Democratic primary ballots, April 12. I ask the support of those who believe I have fairly represented the people of our district in the Congress.
