Urge Wayne County Boys To Apply For Places In Big Camps.

io Apply For Places In Big Camps. Four Wayne county boys have already applied for membership in the Citizens' Military Training camps to be held this summer. Those whose applications have been received are William Mellor, Charles Ingham, Hamer Wilson and Robert Wilson. Up to 10 appli-cations may be received from this county, although, if applications over the state reach a large total, the number for Wayne county may be cut to five. Application blanks were sent out only last week, and it was report-ted Monday that 35 percent of the blanks had been filled out and re-turned to headquarters. "Boys who wish to altend the camps should apply at once," warn-ed Faul Mined, county chairman in charge of the work," for inferrest in the camps seems greater this year than any other."

Lutgen draw large attention to a change in ownership of two important Wayne institutions. In physical develop-ment and in community service, both attained standards of excellence fully reaching original drdams. Each re-flects the stardy pioneer spirit, overcoming obstacles and looking ahead with firm resolution. Fruition amply warranted their efforts, giving to the community two permanently valuable improvements. Mr. Gailey, the first to sell, acquired the old Crystal theathe when the motion picture was far less perfect than it is today. It was before sound was introduced, and when one improvement after another came, including the talking accompani-ment, it will be recalled that Mr. Gailey was quick to act. In time he put up the spacious, finely appointed Gay, and he saw that the support of patrons was rewarded by latest facilities as well as latest and best picture productions. Whatever he may do in the future, he will be remember-eed as a liberal contributor to the substan-tiah improvement and stirring activity of the community. Dr. Lutgen's ambition to found a hostiah improvement and survey the community. Dr. Lutgen's ambition to found a hos-pital was first realized in a small way. But from a small beginning evolved a mod-ern building supplied with every conven-ience and latest appliances. It is a pro-tage a ern building supplied with every conven-ience and latest appliances. It is a pro-duct of indomitable will and courage—a triumph over the usual series of barriers in-cident to pioneering. Often a community gives a bonus to secure a hospital. Dr. Lutgen asked for nothing beyond patron-age arising from the needs of the people. Frequently services were given without Frequently services were given without compensation. The institution is here, and it will stay, and its founder has the satisfaction of knowing that his years have resulted in something of imperishable value.

value. Illusions SIR Oliver Lodge reports Everywhere sage from his son who was killed in the war, and in response to a question as to the existence of illus-ions beyond, the answer came that mortals, too, were living in a state of illusions. And the departed spirit is probably correct in so referring to the world. We are fool-ed by everything and everybody so often that we have learned even to fool our-selves. Some illusions are soothing; some are terrifying. They disappear only to be followed by others. The real is so often camouflaged, so often passes unob-served or fails to penetrate understanding that we grope along like one in the dark, uncertain of footsteps, doubtful of where we are going or when we will arrive. And perhaps; it is just as well that we are not sure of much of anything. In the next world perhaps we will work out of illusions and into sharpened comprehension of the real as we develop step by step.

She Party RECURRENCE of the party Primaries didates renews emphasis of the imperfections of the system. It is impossible for voters to know many candidates and thus to express preference intelligently. Below governor on the state ticket especially, a citizen would be a wonder if he were able to know the relative qualifications of candidates. In voting on most names that appear, one en-gages in a wild guess. For county candi-dates, discrimination is possible, and choice is usually based on reason. Whether the primary is better than the old convention with its slate-making and log-rolling, is a question over which sharp differences of opinion are held. Fault could justly be found with either system, but doubtless the primary, will remain until something bet-ter is discovered. The Party RECURRENCE of the party primary will rem ter is discovered.

primary will remain until something bet ter is discovered. The World-Herald quotes Silas Strawn, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, on his return from abroad, touching the state of mind in Europe as compared with that here. People abroad are having a harder struggle than those in this country, but are exhibiting less hys-teria. The World-Herald comments in part: "Hysteria never gets alyone any where. Fear and lost faith are deadly poisons, Without courage, without hope, nothing is ever achieved. That as virile a people as durs, as well trained and educat-d, inhabiling such a continent as ours, with every facility for self-help ready at hand, should stampede mobilke to the caverns of floom when there is man's work to be done and every opportunity for do-ing it, is something that in later years with amaze our children and make them feel shame for their fathers." According to primary results, demo-trats are more numerous than usuat. Wayne county which is normally republi-sie at or luck. But the strength of a can-gary the democrats a considerable lead. The outcome suggests that the party in power during unpropitious times is out or luck. But the strength of a can-gary the democrats a considerable lead. Spring weather of the past week has given strong impetus to farm work, and gratifying progress has been made. A big crop of everything will be raised if some unforeseen calamity does not inter-fere, and everybody agrees with every-body else that a big yield is needed to safeguard the future and raise people's spirits spirits

Many persons still hold to the supersti-tion that to walk under a ladder bodes bad luck. One still shudders when a black cat crosses his path, or when he sees the moon over the wrong shoulder. But experiencing any one or all of these would seem proper as an excuse for ill fortune.

Governor Bryan has again captured the nomination for governor, and latest returns indicate that Dwight Griswold of Gordon, will be the republican nominee. If Bryan will be the republican nominee. If Bryan is not too largely aided by the country's hard luck, the stalwart north Nebraska candidate may defeat him.

The Chilean volcano, Tinguiririca, has been throwing out hot ashes and terroriz-ing cities of the neighborhood. Ionia vol-cano in Dixon county may be expected to kick up a sympathetic disturbance if it is still im existence.

A movement for a graveled highway be-tween Wayne and Carroll is reported in prospect. It is one of the urgent needs of the time.

Battling Insects.
(Sioux City Journal.)
The federal government will ally itself with farmers over a wide area this spring to battle the hordes of insects expected to assail crops with unusual force. Entomologists advise that weather conditious for the last three years have been particularly favorable to insects, and that the pests this year may be more formidable than for a long period of years.
The general public in this country may not realize it, but there is a constant battle under way between science and the insect world. Even in normal times, when no scourge theatens, the bureau of entomology is constantly on the alert to preti severy reason to believe myriads, of destructive insects will make a combined assault upon crops, it is urgent that all possible steps be taken to meet and control the danger.

In ten years more than two thousand cases of abduction of men, women and children have been reported. Detectives with experience of national scope esti-mate that the public hears of but one in ten cases. That estimate would raise the total to twenty thousand.

total to twenty thousand. Kidnaping has received serious atter-tion from the public and this has been re-flected in the newspapers in every part of the country. The Lindbergh case came as the climax and aroused public indignation to a point where action may follow. The Kansas City Star asks: "Must America bargain with its public enemies to restore a child to its parents? Must the child be sacrificed before a na-tion is aroused to its own ignominy?" Editor and Publisher says: "It required the theft of the most fam-ous baby in the land to move federal legis-lation hysterically to the point of enact-ment," Weeks have passed since the Lindbergh total to twenty thousand. Bridge Supper-Easy To Prepare Give Simple Menu From Successful Affair Of Informal Type, 1 Ideas for snart parties seem to belong to, the stick pages of the stylish magazine. In practice it isn't half so easy to assemble the elements of a party, and carry od' your ideas. A young hostess, however, recently achieved a charming Sonday night affair for four couple of friends, and this is the way she flid it. Supper was served at a long table which was covered with an erru lace kalle ohr. At eleh end of the table were candiesticks which held tall pair tapers, which which held tall pair tapers, which when held tall pair tapers, which were lighted at the beginning of the mepi and served as the only flum-ingtion. For a contexpice, a low befor held pink sweet peas and greenery. The table was set in creamy chinal and rose-colored cry-stal creany china and ross-colored cry-stal. Chicken chow mein was the piece de resistance of the little meal. One dan learn to make it. or purchase the ingredients, ready, to heat, in tims. Either way will make a successful dinner. With the chow mein were served cheese crackers' nut bread sand-wiches huge ripe dives and tea. For dessert, there were little cho-colate cakes haden with frosting. If you can't find cheese crackers in the shops, grated on top of or-dinary soda crackers, which, when brownet in the oven, will taste very good.

Simmer until tender, salt, cover with the followin y good. I will taste ollowing supper, the guests it a long evening playing cards, they went home agreeing that ind len kyod themselves quite ensely. You might try it? We v it works!
