FIFTY-SECOND YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 25, 1932.

NUMBER TWENTY

INDIANS WILL BE FEATURED AT FALL FAIR

Portray Life Of Hiawatha At Close Of Festival This September.

OTHER WORK PROGRESSES

'Life of Hiawatha' is the title of the pageant which 30 Winnebago Indians will present as the feature entertainment the last evening of the Wayne county fair, September 17.

Work on other pageants for the fair is progressing. 'The Birthright of the American Child,' the production for Thursday night September 15, is in charge of Mrs. P. A. Milner and Dr. W. M. Hawkins.

Part one, 'Heritage,' has Mrs. L. W. Edin and Mrs. Ray Larson as chairman, and Miss Genevieve Wright as director.

Part two of the first pageant is entitled 'Country,' and Mrs. Henry E. Ley and Mrs. J. M. Strahan are chairmen.

Part three of the first pageant, 'Nation,' is in charge of Mrs. D. S. Wightman and Mrs. J. R. Miller, the latter having charge of dances.

'Our Heritage from Washington' is the title of the second night's pageant. A number of pictures will be portrayed by local characters.

'America the Beautiful,' 'When You and I Were Young,' 'Star Spangled Banner,' 'Old Kentucky Home,' 'Dixie' and 'America.'

Committees meet this Friday to plan the baseball schedule for the fair.

Relatives Guests Here On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Weishauser entertained Sunday at dinner with the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clausen, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Clausen and daughters, John Clausen of Pender, Mrs. Edna and Otto Weishauser of Wakefield, Emil VonSegger and son of Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clausen and family of Pender, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hennold and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hollman and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mueller and family of Pender, Mrs. Anna Weishauser, Mr. and Mrs. John Clausen of Magnet, Mr. and Mrs. August Roebler and baby and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clausen, the last of Anaheim, Calif.

DOGS IN PARADE EXPECT TO MAKE BIG IMPRESSION

WE like well behaved dogs even if they have fleas, and so that part of Friday's parade which proposes to feature different canine specimens is especially interesting to us.

COUPLE MARRIES AT CHURCH HERE

Miss Evelyn Heikes Bride Of Lawrence Wamberg Sunday Evening.

Miss Evelyn Heikes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heikes of Wayne, and Mr. Lawrence Wamberg, son of Mrs. Lalia Wamberg of this place, were united in marriage Sunday evening, August 21, at 8 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church, the double ring ceremony being performed by Rev. W. C. Heidenreich in the presence of about 100 relatives and friends.

Several baskets of multi-colored flowers decorated the church which was lighted only by the soft glow of tall white tapers on the altar.

Miss Heikes entered the church with her father who gave her in marriage. The bride wore white crepe remaining with white velvet trimming. Her gloves and slippers were of white, and she carried a white prayer book.

Mr. Wamberg was attended by Everett Heikes, brother of the bride. Ushers were Marion Auker and Herman Eickhoff.

Following the marriage service, Miss Will sang 'I Love You Truly,' while congratulatory notes were extended to the couple. The guests then went to the church parlors, which were decorated in the bride's colors of amber and green.

Mr. Wamberg has lived near Wayne since 1915. She was graduated from Wayne high school and attended the Wayne State Teachers College and National Business Training College in Sioux City. She has been employed as stenographer in Sioux City the past two and a half years.

Mr. Wamberg has always lived in Wayne. He is a graduate of the Wayne high school, where he and his bride were schoolmates. He has been employed the past four years in Wayne in the grocery business, being with the Larson grocery now.

Out of town guests here for the wedding were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartels and W. A. Heikes, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George Heikes, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Heikes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wittler witnessed the ceremony.

Couple Married At Nearby Church

Miss Viola M. Haines of Carroll, and Emil C. Brader of Winslow, were married at Theophilus parsonage at Winslow Saturday, Rev. A. A. Hofner officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wittler witnessed the ceremony.

HERALD PLANS PICNIC FRIDAY FOR CHILDREN

Everyone Is Invited To The Parade And Program To Be Staged.

CHO-CHO TO BE FEATURED

Cho-Cho, acclaimed the funniest and most loved health exponent in America, will be the feature entertainer at the picnic which the Wayne Herald is staging Friday, August 26, for everyone.

The parade, which will be led by Cho-Cho and the Wayne municipals band, directed by Prof. F. C. Reed, prizes will be awarded. Callithumpians, 4-H members, decorated bicycles, dogs of all varieties and sizes, ponies and other pets, living ads and attic dress-ups will be entered.

Fashions of yesterday and today will be portrayed in the parade by a group in charge of Mrs. H. R. Best and Miss Charlene Brown. Kenneth Carlson, ventriloquist, will also join the parade and entertain.

Boy scouts, with Henry E. Ley, Gayle Childs and Prof. A. F. Gulliver in charge, will have the callithumpian division of the parade. Dr. W. M. Hawkins will direct the 4-H division. Mrs. Willard Wiltse and Miss Gladys Vath have charge of girl scouts in the living ads.

The parade, in which all children are urged to participate, will form at the city hall Friday morning at 10:30. Every child is invited to enter one of the groups and prizes will be awarded by judges, whose names will be given next week, and every child entering the parade is eligible in the competition.

Families are invited to bring their picnic dinners to the park at noon. The Herald will furnish a treat for the children.

Cho-Cho, the health clown, and Kenneth Carlson, ventriloquist, will entertain after groups have had picnic dinner. Their features will be at the park about 1 o'clock.

The Herald hopes all children and adults will be in Wayne Friday for the parade and program at the park.

DANCE WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

Firemen Complete Plans For Big Pavement Affair Here Today.

Everything is in readiness for the firemen's big pavement dance, which will be held in the Wayne business district tonight.

Dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock, with music provided by a 22-piece orchestra, Reed's Original Syncopators. A vocalist from Omaha will also appear on the program.

Dancing will be on the pavement on Third street, between Logan and Main streets. The pavement will be cleaned and covered with water glass to make it satisfactory for dancing.

A meeting of the dance committees was held Tuesday evening to complete plans for the affair. Plans were made for several refreshment booths, which will be operated in connection with the dance.

Wayne Federal Building Listed

Five Nebraska Post Office Projects Recommended To Secretary.

A $75,000 post office building for Wayne is included on the list of projects from which the federal government will plan the public building program authorized in the Garner relief measure.

Wayne Woman Is Accident Victim

Mrs. Floyd Kingston Hurt When Car Overturns Near Dixon.

A deep gash on her right leg was suffered by Mrs. Floyd Kingston when the automobile in which she was riding with other members of the family overturned near Dixon, Neb., Sunday night.

The accident occurred when part of the new grade between Dixon and Wayne caved in as the Kingston automobile passed over it. The car was thrown on its side in the ditch. Several windows in the car were broken and the fenders were damaged.

Mrs. Kingston was brought to the Bentback hospital here, where five stitches were required in the cut. She was still at the hospital Wednesday.

Others who were riding in the car were Mr. Kingston, who was driving, and their children, Kenneth, Robert, Sally and Timothy, and Miss Mildred Hill of Dixon. They were returning from Ponca at the time of the accident.

BAND THIRD IN LEGION EVENT

Wayne Musicians Receive Prize In Contest At Norfolk.

Wayne's municipal band, sponsored by the American legion post, took third place in the band contest held in connection with the state legion convention at Norfolk Tuesday evening.

Directed by Prof. F. C. Reed, the band presented a snappy appearance as it passed before the reviewing stand and 5,000 spectators who gathered in Athletic park to watch the bands and drum and bugle corps in their annual competition. The Wayne band received a $25 prize.

First place in the contest was won by the Atkinson band, second by Madison and fourth by Stanton. Only American legion sponsored bands competed in the contest.

In the contest for bands in which at least 85 per cent of the members were Legionnaires, the Wakefield band was the only one to qualify and received a prize of $100.

More than 100 Wayne residents attended some or all of the sessions of the three-day convention. Many went especially to see the parade Tuesday afternoon.

Carroll Orr of Wayne, was named a member of the nominations committee for the convention. Mrs. Harry McMillan was named a member of the credentials committee for the Auxiliary.

Wayne delegates from the Legion were L. W. McNatt, Rev. Harold Caspey and H. G. Hostetter. Alternates were Carroll Orr, Paul Mines and Dr. William Hawkins.

Delegates from the Wayne Auxiliary were Mrs. Harry McMillan, Mrs. Eric Thielman, Mrs. W. H. Phillips, Mrs. Frank Heine and Mrs. J. Jacobsen.

Among those who attended the convention in addition to the delegates and alternates were Martin Ringer, L. W. Vath, Russell Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mrs. William Piepenstock, W. D. Hall, J. M. Brisben, Dr. J. C. Johnson.

Former Resident Of County Passes

Mrs. Frank K. Owen Dies After Long Illness In Idaho.

Mrs. Frank K. Owen of Ashton, Idaho, resident of Wayne and Carroll about 25 years ago, died August 9 after an illness of several weeks with influenza and complications, aged 65 years, 8 months and 20 days. Funeral services were held August 11 at Ashton.

Mrs. Owen, whose maiden name was Miss Florence Nightengale, was born at Alexandria, Neb., and was married to Frank K. Owen September 19, 1893, at Fort Collins, Colo. Besides her husband, Mrs. Owen leaves two children, Harry Owen and Mrs. Kathryn Geobel.

Deceased was a sister-in-law of Mrs. L. M. Owen and Mrs. Anna Owen of Wayne.

Two Real Estate Changes Recorded

Two real estate transfers were recorded at the county clerk's office during the last week. They were:

Wilhelm Peterson and wife to Hans Peterson, August 20, for $1 and other considerations, the southwest one-fourth of section 29, township 26, range 2.

COUNTY BOARD APPROVES TAX LEVY TUESDAY

Assessment Is Reduced By Commissioners—Town Levies Fixed.

SCHOOL FUND DOUBLED

A tax levy of 2.63 mills for county purposes for the current fiscal year was ordered by the Wayne county board of commissioners at its meeting Tuesday.

Based on a valuation of $30,675,675, the levy is expected to raise approximately $80,000. Despite a drop of several millions in the valuation of taxable property, the levy is below the levy for last year, which was 2.66.

In making the levy for this year the board increased the general fund levy from .88 of a mill to 1 mill and the bridge fund levy from .75 of a mill to .78 of a mill. The mothers' pension fund levy was fixed at .1 of a mill instead of .015, the levy for last year. There also was a slight increase in the soldiers relief fund.

The county levy to provide free high school tuition for rural pupils was doubled this year, being fixed at 1 mill as compared with one-half mill in 1931.

Approval was given of the state tax levy for 1932, which is 2.37 mills as compared with 2.04 mills last year. The increase is in the general fund for state purposes, which was increased from 1.93 mills to 2.26 mills this year.

Levies for the various towns which have territory under the jurisdiction of the Wayne board were ordered in accordance with the requests of the town boards. The levies for the various towns follow: Wayne, 19 mills; Winslow, 19 mills; Carroll, 18 mills; Hoskins, 14 mills; Sholes, 5 mills; and Wakefield, 13.1 mills.

Statistics compiled by Miss Bertha Berres, county clerk, showed that of every dollar paid by Wayne county residents for state and county taxes this year, $2.6 cents are for county purposes and $7.4 cents for state purposes.

Valuations of taxable property in the various precinct of the county and in the towns and school districts were examined and approved by the commissioners.

NORMAL COLLEGE GATHERING HELD

Bronze Bust Of J. M. Pile Will Be Placed Soon In New Hall.

About 150 attended the annual reunion of students of the former Nebraska Normal College at the Wayne State Teachers College campus Sunday, former students and their families comprising the group. Dinner together at the cafeteria, business meeting and program of short talks made a most pleasant occasion and plans were begun for next year's reunion which will be held at the college campus the third Sunday of August, 1933.

Officers of the association were elected as follows: Mrs. Harry Anderson, Wakefield, president; B. W. Wright, Wayne, vice president; Mrs. Ella Roe, Carroll, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. John McIntyre, Mrs. S. B. Whitmore and Mrs. Jessie Reynolds, historians, are to be assisted by Dr. U. S. Conn and James Pile in compiling a history of the Nebraska Normal college and in having it put into booklet form.

The association voted to sponsor a movement to buy a bronze bust of the late J. M. Pile, who founded the Nebraska Normal College, and have this placed on the mantle in the new hall which is a memorial to him. The former students started the fund Sunday at their meeting and contributions will be gathered the coming year. It is hoped the bust will be bought and unveiled at next year's reunion. Those who wish to contribute to the fund may send gifts to Mrs. Harry Anderson at Wakefield, to B. W. Wright or S. E. Whitmore of Wayne, or to Ed. Lundak of Pierce.

Following the business, Dr. Conn, James Pile and Mr. Lundak spoke briefly.

Dr. and Mrs. Conn extended every courtesy to the visitors, who came from as far distant places as Omaha. The group was invited to dine in the cafeteria and the Conns had coffee prepared for them.

Officers of the association the past year were J. J. Steele, Wayne, president; Mrs. Harry Anderson, Wakefield, vice president; Mrs. Myra Andrews, Stanton, secretary.

WAYNE'S DEALERS OFFER BARGAINS IN TODAY'S PAPER

SPECIALLY attractive bargains for Friday and Saturday are offered by Wayne dealers in today's Herald, and the importance of making one's dollars stretch as far as possible should prompt careful heed. By surveying foreign fields for buying opportunities, one will find no advantage in price or quality not available here. Wayne merchants are careful buyers, and they understand the wants of surrounding communities. It is time to fit out children for school, and no trade center can give more of the right things for less. It will be noted that Herald advertisements do not deal in mere generalities. They quote prices, have the qualities to show and invite closest comparisons. When in town this week, inspect mercantile stocks and see if you can do as well elsewhere.

WAYNE SCHOOL TO OPEN SOON

Four New Instructors To Appear In Faculty Group Here.

Four new instructors will appear in the faculty group of the Wayne public school when classes are resumed September 5, Supt H. R. Best announced.

Promises of an exceptionally large enrollment together with a strong teaching corps should make the coming year one of the best the Wayne school has experienced, Supt. Best said. Registration dates for high school classes will be September 2 and 3.

New instructors this year will be Miss Hazel Reeve, Brock, Neb., third grade; Kermit Stewart, Eagle, Neb., music; Miss Marian Marsh, Auburn, Neb., English, and Miss Audrey Carr, Stapleton, Neb., English and French.

Other instructors will be: Miss Minnie Will, Wayne, kindergarten; Miss Coila Potras, Lyons, Neb., first grade; Miss Ruth Ross, Wayne, second grade; Miss Eva Glimsdal, Winnetoon, Neb., fourth grade; Miss Louise Eggert, Hebron, Neb., fifth grade; Miss Loula E. Avery, Mitchell, S. D., Miss Florence Peterson, Bertrand, Neb., and Miss Maude Curley, Allen, Neb., junior department; Miss Mildred Clark, Hastings, Neb., mathematics; Gayle Childs, Wayne, science; A. W. Behl, Scotland, Neb., history; Leonard Good, Wayne, commercial; Ray Holder, Wayne, science and athletics; Miss Anna Geisler, Wayne principal, and Mr. Best, superintendent.

A number of pupils have interviewed the superintendent during the past week relative to entering the Wayne school. In a few cases it was imperative that in case they attended in Wayne that they be given an opportunity whereby they might earn a part or all their expenses. It is requested that in case there are any people in Wayne who would like to hire a high school pupil for part time work that they get in touch with the superintendent.

Practically all equipment has been placed for the coming year. In a few cases due to factories being on part time work it has proven a little difficult to obtain equipment. Notice from the factories indicates that it will be here for the opening of school on the fifth of September.

Mr. Best said there have been a few cases where pupils have hesitated to enter school due to the fact that they were compelled to husk corn later in the fall. There is a possibility that it will be necessary this year to allow for a period of absence for individual worthy cases with the opportunity to bring up the work later. Above all pupils are advised and encouraged to enter school immediately with the opening of school in September. Later if necessary, arrangements can possibly be made for time off.

The one hour supervised study period will be used as in the past in high school. This has proven very effective and results have more than proved its worthiness as an educational procedure. The schedule for the entire school has been developed and while substantially the same as in past years includes some minor changes. The inclusion of an added elective for the freshman year will add somewhat to its scope and breadth. Parents desiring to go over the work with their children previous to registration next week may obtain a course of study by writing or sending to the superintendent's office.

Present prospects for activities are very encouraging for the coming year. With a fine nucleus about which to build in practically every line of activity the possibility of a very good year along these lines can well be expected. With some (Continued on Page Eight)

WAYNE COUNTY ROADS ARE TO REMAIN OPEN

County Officials Prepare To Prevent Traffic Interruptions.

MARKETS ARE ACTIVE

Highways leading to Wayne county markets will be kept open at any cost, county and city officials here announced Wednesday after a conference which plans were made to prevent any interference with traffic by picketing forces.

A group of 100 men, supposedly vanguards of picket forces, visited Wayne Tuesday and left after a brief investigation here, stating that they would return on Friday morning to organize the county for the purpose of carrying on the farm holiday movement.

While not opposed to the farm holiday movement as planned by the national organization, Wayne county and city officials have evidenced a strong dislike for the forceful tactics applied in the surrounding territory.

If attempts are made to picket roads leading to Wayne county markets, every force at the command of county and city officials will be called into action to keep the roads open, they announced.

'Blocking of roads in Wayne county absolutely will not be tolerated,' county sheriff A. W. Stephens said. Extra deputies will be added to the sheriff's force if necessary, it was decided at the meeting of the officials.

County attorney H. D. Addison and Martin Ringer, Wayne mayor, took similar stands on the picketing question, stating that 'every foot of their ground' would be employed to prevent any interference with the normal activities of the county residents.

'Steps will be taken to prevent any interference with the free acts of any of our citizens and to prevent any molestation or destruction of private property,' the county attorney said.

Tuesday marked the first appearance in Wayne county of farm strike workers. They came here Tuesday morning from Wakefield, where they ordered all produce dealers to stop purchasing or shipping farm produce.

No attempt was made in Wayne to enlist the produce dealers in the movement and they were not requested to stop purchasing produce. Only a few names were obtained on petitions circulated by the strikers to enlist new members in the movement.

After leaving Wayne, they stopped at Winslow and Hoskins, but no definite movements to halt the exchange of farm produce were made in these towns.

Produce business in the towns surrounding Wayne county on the north and east is reported practically at a standstill as a result of the activities of the farm strikers.

At Concord strikers are said to have prevented the shipment of two carloads of hogs Monday. Allen produce dealers ceased operations Tuesday as a result of the strikers' activities, it was reported. Wakefield and Laurel produce dealers were reported to have stopped purchasing farm produce Tuesday.

Farmers in the towns south of Wayne county will be organized on Friday afternoon at Norfolk, leaders of the strikers predicted.

Allen Team Is Defeated Here

Seven-Run Rally In Fifth Gives Wayne Club 15 To 9 Victory.

A seven-run rally in the fifth inning gave the Wayne baseball team a 15 to 9 victory over the Allen nine in a game played here Sunday.

C. Sherry hit a home run for Wayne with three men on bases to start the scoring in that inning. In addition to Sherry, Cook and Frang hit circuit blows for Wayne, while Krause connected to a home run for Allen in the fifth. Holstein, Wayne pitcher, held the rivals to nine scattered hits. Kopp of Wayne was umpire.

The victory was Wayne's fifth in 10 games. The Wayne club will play a return game at Allen Sunday afternoon.

The summary follows:

Many New Books Accessioned Here

Whether you browse about and choose your literary food as fastidiously as a gourmand orders a dinner, whether you prefer to have your reading diet handed out like a plate lunch, whether you enjoy the light fanciful things of fluffy dessert type, or the pithy, stimulating volumes which are comparable to whole wheat bread and spinach, there's a banquet in store for you among the new books just received at the city library.

Mrs. E. S. Blair, librarian, has been busy cataloging these newcomers and believes the collection represents as varied and worthwhile an assortment as could be obtained.

Pearl S. Buck's third novel of Chinese life, "The Young Revolutionist," concerns Chinese youth, torn by strife between the old and the new, aflame with patriotism, blindly devoted to ideals only half understood, and envisioning a new, unified China. In "The Good Earth," Mrs. Buck wrote of the Chinese family, and the novel stepped at once into the big seller group. She writes simply, sympathetically, without any false coloration, or exploitation of Oriental peculiarities. Born in China, she learned the language when a child, and knows and loves the Chinese people.

In view of the resistance by Chinese boys in the recent Shanghai invasion, "The Young Revolutionist" is having wide popularity. The whole family will enjoy it.

Here's a man's book primarily—"The Story of San Michel"—autobiography of Axel Munthe, noted physician and adventurer in humanities. Choice anecdotes from his colorful career, candid facts about medical ethics, humor, pathos, readiness and romance, are all woven into a most dramatic narrative. Don't miss it.

Grace Livingston Hill's latest romance, "Happiness Hill" will be good news to feminine readers. More about the five Challenger children—it's a good reading.

When a writer can report contemporary life in a distinctly readable and seemingly accurate volume—you can just be certain that book won't stand idle on shelves. Frederick Lewis Allen, associate editor of the Harper's Monthly, has written an informal history of the 1920's, from the Armistice to the panic of 1929-30. Fashions, events, crazes, politics, economics, sociology—the whole epoch we've just lived through—seen through the historian's eyes. Flag pole sitting, Mah Jong, Red Grange, Bryan and Scopes, Cude, halitosis, Lindbergh's flight—yesterday in vivid retrospect.

Sigrid Undset's new Norwegian novel, "Burning Bush," is among the new arrivals. It takes Paul Selmar through the World War as neutral Norway saw it. Mme. Undset won the Nobel prize in literature in 1928; she lives quietly in her mountain retreat, writing her beautiful and powerful novels in the quiet of night. Her works are of a limited and cultural appeal.

The business man, the professional man, and the student of economics will relish Charles A. Beard's interpretation of the present American crisis in "America Faces the Future." He quotes the best thinkers of the time—Nicholas Murray Butler, Andre Maurois, Gerard Swope, Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gov. Phil F. LaFollette—on intelligent planning of our future, which he maintains is necessary to prosperity. A keen analysis of our times and problems.

Clear Thinking Is Need Of Day

Rev. W. E. Braisted Speaks On Eighteenth Amendment Here Friday.

"There is much need for careful, clear, honest thinking today on asserted phase of human living," declared Rev. W. E. Braisted in addressing the W. C. T. U. Friday at the home of Mrs. S. A. Luigen.

"Nowhere," he continued, "more than on the question of legalized liquor traffic, now outlawed by the Eighteenth amendment."

"That conditions are unsatisfactory, all agree. That is the lawlessness of the traffic and the use of that same alcoholic liquor that makes the bad conditions, no sane man can deny. The lawless business for the stimulus and profits; that and not the prohibition laws is the sole responsibility for the conditions."

"The Eighteenth amendment went into the constitution after 100 years. This business never has been law abiding. Everything has been tried and failed."

"The Eighteenth amendment was ratified by a larger number of states than any other one adopted. Only two refused to ratify this. The suffrage amendment was not ratified by ten. And the final demand for prohibition was economic at last. Education, ethics, health, safety, religion sought the best and highest type of living for all."

"Now we are told that we must legalize this lawless business to get prosperity. Most other nations have legalized liquor and they are experiencing the same depression. That is a claim ridiculous in the face of it. Figures show that per million dollars invested in liquor business, 78 wage earners were employed; whereas the average of all industries per million dollars invested is 308 wage earners. The indirect cost in crime, pauperism, insanity and courts is almost inconceivable."

"As to revenue by taxation, it merely passes it from the big incomes, personal and corporate, to the poorer drinking mankind, robbing his families and debauching himself. Dollars spent for liquor are not spent for groceries, education and other worthwhile values for the individual, family and public. The entire revenue, even raw material and taxation, is but very small percentage of the far larger expenditure to fill the coffers of this business that has absolutely not one redeeming value."

The Bailey novels—"Wild Wind," "Burning Beauty," "Silver Slippers," and "The Blue Window"—with their charming heroines and skillful plots, pass the most stringent parental examinations.

A beautifully bloody, clammy mystery for amateur criminologists—"The Pulitzer Prize Murders" by Dorothy Heyward. Three deaths follow in the wake of a Pulitzer prize manuscript. The settling of a well-known literary colony with a haunted house. By the co-author of the play "Porgy."

In "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," Warden Lawes speaks to the crime story addict, the psychologist, and the reader of inquiring mind. During his 42 years as warden of this famous prison, storms of controversy have centered around his methods of reform. Honor, tragedy and adventure are woven together in this remarkable human document. He has endeavored to influence prisoners toward a sensible and sane perspective of life, to face responsibility to those outside, and to do time without brooding about the years still owed the state. Men are encouraged to adopt hobbies and enter into sports because idleness helps to spread evil influence.

"Arizona Ames," quick on the "draw," sinister and gorgeous Utah wildness, a tense battle, between rival outlaw gangs, and a beautiful English heroine make Zane Grey's "Robber's Rost" good meat for the Western fans. Full of action, depicting the roaring '70's when every man was his own law.

The crumbling of the old romantic Southern civilization after the Civil war, and birth of the new South is the background for T. S. Stripling's novel, "The Store," which was the Literary Guild's choice for July. Colonel Millades Varden strives to restore the gracious, colorful traditions. The struggle between blacks and whites, crooked politicians, and incoming commercial factions are handled shrewdly, wittily. This novel follows "The Forge" in a trilogy; each is complete in itself.

"The Young Mrs. Mings" is a "grand old girl" of 80 who says "I may have one foot in the grave, but as long as I'm able I hope to keep the other under a card table." She is the despair of her busy, bossy family; resents hot water bottles and bed jacket gifts. Elizabeth Corbett's light, witty dialogue makes this decidedly entertaining.

Current drama is represented in the new group by "Of Thee I Sing," the Pulitzer Prize play of Kaufman, Ryskind and Gershwain. Its biting satire on American politics and the public's indifference to them made it the success of the New York season. It's good reading, too.

Another Russian expose, but written from the viewpoint of a "well informed citizen of Des Moines trying to tell a fellow citizen of Iowa just what he saw in Russia." Jay N. Darling is the author of "Ding Goes to Russia," and its a clever account, rich in humor. Should interest everyone.

Several interesting publications by the U. S. government have just been received, including "Conservation in the Department of the Interior," by Secretary Wilbur and W. A. DuPuy; "Wakefield," folio—waxage of the birth of Washington, by Percy Mac Kaye; and "Dresses of the Mistresses of the White House," with photos of the figures in the U. S. National museum. "History of Olympic Games, Ancient and Modern" by Hugh Harlan, is published by the Bureau of Athletic Research, and includes early Olympics, all records, and the program for the 1932 meet in Los Angeles.

Recent gifts to the library are: "By Dog Sleed for Eyrd," by John S. O'Brien, recopied the thrilling journey of a rescue crew in case of accident to Eyrd's play; "The Ministers Working," by Harriet Beecher Stowe; and "The Hotel," by Elizabeth Bowen.

Nebraskans Plant Many Trees.

Lincoln, Neb.—More than 100,000 trees were distributed by state forestry departments this year with Nebraska among the leading states, with planting of 850,000 seedlings.

In Defense of Apaches!

The apaches, notorious lower world habitués of Paris, fade into obscurity alongside American gangsters, says Maurice Chevalier. The Parisian chatter isn't really a bad man to the general public; he seldom shoots people outside his own group. But the killer is almost always caught, so apaches think many times before resorting to a knife play, the singer points out. And the apaches don't even overdose in America—they don't throw the girls around as they do in American take-offs.

The Farm Problem

ALL agree that farmers deserve higher prices, and no one questions their right to withhold products from market. On the contrary, however, it is recognized as dangerous and subversive of good—clearly outside the laws and constitution of the country—to employ coercion or force, to interfere with the orderly activities of other farmers or other groups. A voluntary "vacation" in the matter of marketing produce, emphasizing attention to an underpaid industry, turns possible benefit to certain loss when defiance of authority seeks to rule with use of strong-arm methods to the displacement of peaceful processes. The farmer who is patching along and making ends meet on cream and poultry checks, hoping for better markets when his major crops are ready to turn into money, is made to suffer acutely if he is to be manhandled out of his only source of income. Better prices for agriculture and its kindred lines mean healthier arteries of trade, and everybody is in sympathy with any effort operating in that direction, but without violence and without trespassing on human rights as guaranteed under the constitution.

In this middle west where one group is dependent on every other group, there is liveliest sympathy and helpful consideration one for another. If one line of endeavor is injured, all are hurt. It is a question what group has suffered most from economic sickness. Proximity of one's own ills makes them seem bigger than the other fellows. The past few years have been an uphill task for everybody, and it will require considerable time after satisfactory price levels have been reached to get back to easy traveling.

But the worst would appear to be over, and it would seem to be the height of indiscretion to follow radicalism that precipitates violence, hindering the economic recovery in which all are interested. Any lawful and orderly movement to establish parity of prices wins approval, but when it tramples under foot the rights of fellow workers, it excites indignation and resentment.

Bridge At Ponca

THE bridge over the Missouri at Ponca is winning attention that was expected forty years ago. Then it was a railroad bridge which never materialized; now it is a gas bridge, biggest in the world. With its coal mines, volcano, plesiosaurus and natural railroad crossing, we had long expected Ponca to score distinction, but we did not suspect it would be a huge river structure to convey natural gas to the north from far southern fields. There is no demand for that coal-smelling lignite, anyway—and from the way highways are improving and trucks and automobiles are multiplying, it looks as though fewer instead of more railroad bridges would be required. A gas bridge would seem to be the latest thing out.

J. W. C. of the Rear Seat, Sioux City Journal, quotes modern and ancient authors to show that we ought to be exalted under the force of adversity. After quoting a present-day philosopher, he digs into the past with this report: "Seneca told how 'great men rejoice in adversity just as brave soldiers triumph in war.' Bacon said 'prosperity is not without many fears and distastes and adversity is not without comforts and hopes.' Shakespeare alleged that the 'uses of adversity' are 'sweet.' Carlyle admitted that 'adversity is sometimes hard upon a man' but added that 'for one man who can stand prosperity there are a hundred that will stand adversity.' Yet everybody (including philosophers—and columnists) has a horror for adversity and longs and strives for prosperity."

Governor Bryan makes happy and confident reference to his own political prowess, according to a Lincoln Journal report. He is quoted as saying he thinks "he can pull Roosevelt through in Nebraska this year by a big majority." As to himself, the governor is quoted as expressing the belief that he practically has no opposition, and that a majority modestly estimated at 150,000 would not disappoint him. Also the governor said he would help other democrats on the ticket, though he could not be expected to give his good measurement to his party candidates who had opposed him in the past. And his confidence is doubtless based on what he thinks he has done in the way of executive leadership, and he will tell the world all about his official achievements before election day.

"Two Nebraska dogs get into the news," says the Omaha Journal-Stockman, "one, a collie, saved his master from an angry sow; the other, a bull dog, saved his master from a mad bull. Outside of a loyalty constantly expressed and never limited, it is incidents like these that give the dog a place in the affections of man. More than any other animal he enjoys the friendship and confidence of man, and more than any other he deserves it. A dumb, cowardly, spoiled cur has no place anywhere, but a well-bred, well-behaved, intelligent, courageous dog may be not only a great asset but a constant satisfaction and pleasure."

Vice Presidential Candidate Garner says the democratic ticket is already victorious. Nothing left to be done but count the ballots as soon as voters have an opportunity to deposit them in their respective polling boxes. We always feel sorry for anyone who expresses such positive assurance because in case of failure the distance to fall is made too far for painless lighting.

If you want to experience the usual wait preliminary to a parade, you should come to town early Friday morning. The parade will organize promptly at 10.30, and it should be moving up Main street by 11.

Strict attention to law enforcement on the part of city and county officials will be supported by all citizens who wish to maintain Wayne county's reputation as a high-minded and law-abiding community.

The Omaha Journal-Stockman says the old law of supply and demand is really the only law that will help agriculture and place it where it deserves to be.

It is strange but true that when harmony and conciliatory methods are most needed they are least in evidence.

Bumper Corn Crop.

York Republican: The estimate of the Nebraska 1932 corn crop by the state and federal division of agricultural statistics is a quarter billion bushels, 249,435,000 to be exact. Last year the crop was 170,714,000 bushels.

Once more Nebraska soil, climate and rainfall have collaborated to bring forth a great crop. Notwithstanding market prices and depression, in spite of complaints and pessimism and tears, the elements have produced something that will inflate the pride of every good citizen.

With corn filling the granaries and overflowing on the ground this fall, folks who live in Nebraska may stick out their chins and put their hats at a cocky angle. For the good old state has proved again that she can produce the goods.

Some Real Price Advances.

Omaha Journal-Stockman: While economists may be divided on many points they are agreed on one thing, that the return of better times will come through better prices in commodity markets. For this reason they are watching the prices of farm products and other basic materials rather than the antics of the stock market.

Recent commodity advances indicate improvement from the low point of May. Articles that show gains are beef, eggs, cheese, sugar, coffee, wool, cotton, cotton goods, hides, leather, rubber, tin, copper, silver, linseed, cotton-seed oil and southern pine lumber.

According to the department of commerce survey, increases from the May low range from 1.2 per cent for copper to 29 per cent for cottonseed oil. Among agricultural commodities, hides with a gain of 18 per cent head the list. Since the department's figures were compiled further advances have taken place. Lead, for instance, has advanced $13 a ton in the last month.

The shift in sentiment in the last two months from pessimism to optimism has been marked. Incidentally, the change can be traced back to the time of the advance in hog prices. That a change for the better in economic conditions is taking place, however slow it may be, is definite good news.

About Billboards.

Lincoln Journal: Decision of a New York high court, defending the right of a highway superintendent to screen an offensive billboard from the view of people going along the highway, will interest travelers, roadbuilders and advertisers alike. Not only was the act of the highway superintendent upheld, but the billboard was definitely named in a court opinion as among "public nuisances or quasi-nuisances." Further it was held that no owner of adjacent property has "the vested right to be seen from the street." The highway superintendent was held to be within his rights in screening from the travelers' views "obnoxious sights," and in moving to make highways free from sights which would offend the public.

It appears that in this case a screen had been erected where a huge billboard attracted the attention of drivers at a dangerous curve. The screen, painted green, destroyed the effectiveness of the board. The screen served the same purpose as warning signs and barriers. Tree planting or flower ornamentation of highways may go ahead, even tho' billboards may be hidden. In fact the high court's decision was a knockout blow for billboards.

A lower court had decided against the highway official. It had held he had no right to erect screens unless they contributed directly to a highway purpose and the screen served no such purpose; that the right of the owner of the property was thus infringed upon. The high court overturns these contentions.

To those travelers whose view of the countryside has been limited by ugly and obnoxious advertising the decision of the New York court points the way to possible relief. Will it come to the point where the countryside will be blotted out by screens erected to hide the picture of the adoring bovine grazing with soulful eyes on her lord and master?

BOYS.

In their early teens when boys begin to feel like men, and to develop visions of doing big things out in the world, they sometimes leave comfortable homes, their intentions and destinations unknown to their parents. The boys who cut loose from home restraints to gain independence for his cramped soul and opportunity for his budding genius, usually finds after the first night out that the world is more chilly and indifferent than his imagination had pictured it. The bed is harder than the one to which he had been accustomed. The cordial interest of his father is missing. A chill comes over him as he recalls his mother's kindly counsel and solicitude. Lack of care in providing things he liked to eat adds to his distress in the cold, outer world. So realizing that puddling his own canoe among icy strangers is not measuring up to his expectations, he yearns to return to his parental fireside and again be assured of genuine comradeship and unselfish devotion. After he gets back as he usually does, home folks seem more precious and home comforts more attractive. He finds a home welcome that is offered nowhere else in the world. In a short time, through bitter experience, he gets rid of many false notions.

Daughter Is Born.

A daughter, weighing 8 1/2 pounds, was born this Thursday morning, August 25, to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Drake of Lincoln at the home of Mrs. Drake's parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Hess, here at Wayne. The little one will be named Jean.

COMMUNISM.

From an unknown source we have been receiving copies of a communist newspaper published in Montana, and we don't like its threatening tone, its evident purpose to inflame prejudices and to array one group against another. It brands republicans and democrats and even socialists as belonging to capitalist parties, and shouts that a communist vote means a vote for "exemption of poor farmers from taxes, and no forced collection of rents or debts." This communist organ magnifies ills and reveals in human miseries in the apparent hope of turning the popular tide in the direction of bolshevism. It snatches the cause of any dissatisfied group as the basis for denouncing the American system from A to Z. It takes advantage of the present order of economic trials to preach the doctrine of the reds and try to make people think they are within the tentacles of a monster octopus. Its manifest purpose is to saddle a counterpart of the Russian system on the United States. People are not satisfied with prevailing conditions; but they have faith in themselves and in their government to bring about changes in an orderly manner, and they are too intelligent and too carefully discriminating to be tricked into a system of terrorism that would destroy independence and establish an iron rule that would be equal in tyranny to that of any ancient despotism. Communism which now seeks to grow on unusual discontent, would be more dangerous if it had more followers.

Company Moves To New Quarters

Omaha Cold Storage Will Operate in New Plant Next Monday.

The Omaha Cold Storage Company will be installed in its new quarters in the just-completed Graham building at First and Pearl streets next Monday morning, August 29. According to Richard Pinkham, manager of the Wayne unit, the organization has outgrown its old plant east of the Boyd Hotel. The south half of the Graham building has been designed especially to meet the station's needs, with the most modern mechanical devices and receiving facilities.

The organization will continue to be cash buyers for cream, eggs and poultry and, in addition, buy sweet cream for the Graham Ice Cream company. A gravelled driveway on the south side of the building will enable producers to drive right up to the side door and unload under a permanent canopy. Flood lights are installed for night use.

The Wayne unit is a part of the Omaha Cold Storage Company which was organized in Omaha 33 years ago. P. C. Hyson has been head of the firm since its founding, and holds the position of vice-president and general manager. This unit is under the Norfolk branch, which has grown to have one of the largest pay rolls in the city. B. S. Wilcox has managed this branch for the past eight years.

Richard Pinkham will continue as manager of the Wayne station, and has just completed the installation of his equipment in the new quarters. He has served in this capacity for the past three years, coming to Wayne county in 1912.

Return From Trip To Eastern Points

A three-week trip to Illinois and nearby states passed most interestingly to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bastian who arrived home Monday after traveling 2,900 miles, all of paved roads excepting 150 miles. Crops in the sections visited look wonderful, the Bastians report. Conditions are not so good in the mining districts, but many mines are opening again and putting men back to work. The Bastians had interesting trips to a corn canning plant at Morton, Ill., and pottery mills at the same place. In Mount Carroll, Ill., the Bastians visited the Rev. H. J. Fetterolf, formerly of Wayne, and Mrs. Fetterolf and two young sons are at home. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fetterolf and baby were there visiting from Pennsylvania, and Miss Vera Fetterolf was there from her teaching in Virginia. The Bastians went from Mount Carroll to Brookville, Dixon, Gridley, El Paso, Pekin and Peoria, Ill. They stopped in Bloomington and Galesburg, Ill., with relatives of Mr. Bastian, and enroute home came through Canton, Ill., and New Market and Shenandoah, Iowa.

Business Is Improving

Omaha Journal-Stockman: It is too easy to say that because prices of stocks and bonds have scored substantial advances the country is now on the highway to recovery after three years of depression. The stock ticker does not register the pulse beats of the nation. Brokers and speculators are apt to be over-enthusiastic by unduly gloomy according as their particular investments succeed or fail. The opinion on this point of a conservative man of business is more trustworthy than is the opinion of a stock market operator so that the declaration a few days ago of Paul S. Willis, president of the Associated Manufacturers of America, that "the ills of the nation are lessening," is entitled to considerable weight. He is in a position to really know what he is talking about. Describing the factors responsible for this improvement, Mr. Willis said that surplus stocks, the result of tremendous over-production in boom times, are almost used up; that the public has become tired of "specials" and bargains" offered everywhere and that the government's measures to aid business through such organizations as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation are accomplishing much. For two or three years we have been so accustomed to accepting the fact that conditions were extremely bearish that it may take us some time to recognize and properly appraise conditions that are more favorable. Mr. Willis' sizing up of the situation is encouraging without having the very general fault of being unduly optimistic.

Party Sandwiches

Ham and Chicken — mix equal parts finely chopped chicken and ham. Season with chopped olives, chopped onion, salt and pepper. Spread on buttered white bread. Brown bread and Cheese cut brown bread very thin. Spread with a cheese and butter mixture, and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Cucumber and Pimento — chop cucumbers, add little chopped pimento and moisten with mayonnaise. Spread on buttered white bread. Orange Cheese — mix equal parts of orange marmalade and cream cheese. Add a little cream to make a smooth paste — spread on buttered whole wheat bread. Open sandwiches — cut bread in thin hearts and diamonds. Mash a cream cheese to paste with little cream and season with salt, paprika, and dash of cayenne. Spread on bread and toast quickly in hot oven. Mosaic Sandwiches — use small piece out of top slice of sandwich in fancy shape. Fill with piece of brown bread the exact size, or a nut, chopped olives or piece of pimento. For brown bread sandwiches, inlay white pieces. Broiled Sandwich — cover slice of bread with tomato, add thin slice of cheese and top with strips of bacon. Add bit paprika and a little chili sauce. Broil under flame.

Frills On Boys

Sioux City Journal: Dr. Josephine E. Young, of Chicago, a specialist on child diseases, went into psychology when she told the woman's club in that city that frills on a boy slowed up his mental development. She had found that peculiarities of dress proved an embarrassment to boys and distracted their attention, making constructive mental effort difficult. The emancipation of the American boy is very real today. For some years now he has escaped being a little Lord Fauntleroy, and he is all the better for it. With few exceptions, no boy, however small, appears in stiff, wide collars, velvet breeches and with his hair done up in curl papers. Here and there a mother may be found who is determined to curl her little boy's locks around her fingers, but in time the youngster asserts himself, gets a shingle and becomes more a man type. Thanks to the clothiers of the country who have fashioned garments for boys that are sensible in appearance and good as to utility, the American boy is now free from the frills that in the older days made his father wonder at times whether he was male or female. Boys of today are dressed almost like their fathers. Suits, shirts, "undies," headgear, shoes and all the rest are almost exact duplicates of dad's. The modern boy is what he ought to be in appearance, a miniature man. And if one were speaking of evolution one might cite this as one of the best steps forward the human race has taken in years. The bulls of Wall Street are making a brave effort to emulate the hogs of Chicago. Albany Knickerbocker Press.

Methodist Episcopal Church
(Rev. Harold C. Caspey, Minister)
The worship services will be held Sunday morning at 11 and in the evening at 8. The vacation time is about over and it is a good time now to get back to the church-going habit. It is helpful to the church when its members attend and it is helpful to the individual. Come next Sunday. The church school meets at 10 Sunday morning and the Epworth League at 7 in the evening.

Friday of this week the local conference will be held at the church at 8. This is the annual business meeting of the church and will be presided over by the District Superintendent, Dr. C. G. Goman from Norfolk. All members of the official board should be present and reports should be made by all officers.

Thursday, September 1st the Woman's Home Missionary Society will meet at the home of Mrs. W. C. Andrews.

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. P. A. Davies, pastor)
We have our usual services at the church next Sunday morning. Vacation is over and it is hoped that all will be back ready for a fresh start. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Morning worship at 11 a. m. The pastor will bring the message, "C. E. services 7 p. m. There will be no evening service until the first Sunday in September.

The pastor and his family spent two delightful weeks in Minnesota. Our vacation there was spent at four places, Big Stone lake, Maple lake, Ten Mile lake and St. Cloud. While at the latter place it was our privilege to officiate at the wedding of a niece.

The last portion of this week will be spent in Fairbury, where we held a pastorate for almost 8 years. We expect to meet many friends for we go to attend a large county Sunday school picnic, an outstanding annual affair of Jefferson county.

Sunday, August 28, 1932.
10:00 a. m., church Bible school. Welcome and classes for all. Adult study "Giving in Church Life."
11:00 a. m., morning worship with gripping message, subject: "Some Startling Sayings of Jesus Concerning God." Welcome.
7:00 p. m., the young people's union. Discussion and Fellowship. Topic: "Why Do Some Approve of Christ, But Reject Organized Christianity?" Yes, why?
8:00, the evening worship, inspiring and helpful. Subject of the message: "The Living, Victorious Christ." The interest in this August series on Christ Jesus, has been most encouraging.

Miss Gretchen Teckhaus, whom we love to hear, has consented to sing at this service. Thanks, in advance, Miss Teckhaus.

Thursday night, September 1st, the Bible study and prayer group will meet, promptly, at 7:30 p. m. and the advisory committee; that is, all elected officers of the church and Sunday school, are called for important meeting Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Will every member of this committee please plan and make special effort to be present. Some important business and plans for the fall and winter need our care, prayer, and best planning.

Sunday, September 1, is Labor day. There will be a special appropriate service that evening, with a vital message. You will be most cordially welcomed.

Please note other announcements of a special afternoon meeting as being arranged through Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Young. It ought to be interesting and helpful.

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, August 28.
The Golden Text is from Hebrews 12:8: "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever."

A scriptural passage used in the lesson-sermon is from Isaiah 9:6 and reads: "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Jesus was born of Mary. Christ is the true idea voicing good, the divine message from God to men speaking; to the human consciousness. The Christ is incorporeal spiritual—yea, the divine image and likeness, dispelling the illusions of the senses; the Way, the Truth and the Life, healing the sick and casting out evils, destroying sin, disease and death." (page 332.)

Maintain Educational Standards.
Omaha Journal-Stockman. Although the depression that has beset the country, particularly the rural districts in its grip for the past three years has compelled many economic readjustments, there has been grave danger of lowering our educational standards. The country school system has been subjected to a terrific strain and fortunate indeed have been those districts where no backward steps have been taken.

Discussing this nationwide problem, Dr. Kerr assistant superintendent of schools in Oklahoma, found the districts facing a serious situation. Of course the financial problem is important and not all due to the depression. Before the depression many districts were having difficulty. Some are now fewer pupils. Wealth has been concentrating in the cities and small districts do not have the taxable value to maintain the schools.

Another difficulty is financial differences within the district. Groups are fighting for control of the schools and the pupils suffer. Then some have the idea that the schools are not returning value for the cost. Dr. Kerr maintained that we have no right to condemn the schools as long as they are performing the functions for which they are established.

Finally he urged, and the advice applies to practically every school district in the land, that those interested in schools help keep the trained, experienced teachers on the job and not drive them out of the profession during these depression years. Then when prosperity returns we will still have a fine school system holding our schools on a high standard and will not have lost ground which will take years to regain.

Morocco Worker Speaks In Wayne
Home from Morocco mission fields on his second furlough since 1901, Victor Swanson spoke to a group at the E. B. Young home here Tuesday evening, giving interesting information about the country and his experiences. A native of Sweden, Mr. Swanson lived in this country most of his life until he went to Morocco. He came to Wayne Tuesday and plans to go to Stromsburg to visit a sister.

A complete translation of the New Testament has been compiled by Mr. Swanson, the first such translation to be made in Arabic. Mr. Swanson has the book in a volume which he wrote by hand. Dots mean much in the Arabic language and wrong placing of a dot will change the meaning of a passage. "Let not your heart be troubled," from John 14, will read "Let not your heart be wormy," when a dot is misplaced. Each page in the Bible translation represents 10 hours of work. The book is read from right to left.

Mr. Swanson's wife, son and daughter are in North Carolina visiting.

Young Couple Is Married In Wayne
Miss Lucille E. Bailey and Edward H. Luce, Sioux City young people, were married by Justice of the Peace James E. Brittain in the office of the county judge here on Wednesday. Mrs. Marie Brittain and Martin Bailey witnessed the ceremony. It was the first marriage ceremony to be performed by Mr. Brittain since he was elected justice of the peace.

No Fire Alarm Reported Here In Sixty Days

This should be good news to fire adjusters. There hasn't been a fire in Wayne in 60 days, the last local alarm having been on a roof blaze of minor consequence. It is the first time in five years that two months have passed without a single local fire alarm being turned in.

Reunion Is Held At Winside Home

Members of the Meyer family held a reunion Sunday at the Ed. Nieman home at Winside for Mrs. Lars Larsen and family of Canby, Minn., who have been here visiting. Coe of Wakefield, were the physicians. She suffered an acute attack of appendicitis. Her condition is reported as good.

Notice To Farmers.

The National Farmers Holiday movement, which is being organized to enable producers to receive more for their products, does not favor acts of violence and picketing. The plan of the Holiday movement is to build thoughtfully and carefully in each state a business-like unit which is designed to function peacefully in a concerted effort to bring cost of production prices to farmers.

Having attended at Des Moines the meeting of the Farmers Holiday organization, I voice the sentiment of the association in saying that no sanction is given to violent and forceful picketing nor to efforts tending to force farmers into a strike. When the proper time approaches Wayne county will be organized in a sane and business-like manner for orderly marketing.

The national association realizes that farmers must have immediate returns from their produce for living costs. The aim is to do marketing in such manner to benefit every farmer.

exceptionally good material coming in with the freshman class the future should likewise be well insured. Excellent equipment has been provided for the coming year—regardless of the fact that receipts may be a little short with less activity on the part of the school activity fund to meet expenses. With careful buying and economy it will undoubtedly pay out as always in the past. Mr. Holder, the athletic coach, has spent a large part of the summer attending the University of Nebraska coaching school and is planning to begin football practice immediately upon the opening of school in the fall.

Westervelts Come To Wayne This Fall

Housed in one of the grand old southern mansions on the Presbyterian Theological Seminary grounds in historic Columbia, S. C., is the interesting Westervelt family which is composed of Dr. and Mrs. Westervelt and twelve young men, sons of missionaries in Africa, who will visit Wayne this September.

Unable to endure the trying climate of Africa, Dr. and Mrs. Westervelt returned from the African mission fields and founded a home for sons of missionaries where the youths could pursue their studies in schools fitting them for usefulness in foreign mission fields.

Mrs. Josephine Westervelt is author of many instructive volumes on life in Africa, one of the best being "The Lure of the Leopard Skin." Her writings have had a great influence for good.

The Westervelts and the missionary boys, all but one born in Africa, will be in Wayne September 2 to 5. They will give a radio broadcast from WJAG, Norfolk Saturday afternoon. That evening they give an open air concert of song and band selections from 7:30 until 8:30 on a roped off section of the main street here.

A meeting will follow at the Baptist church where talks, music and showing of curios will be arranged. The visitors will open the Methodist Sunday school exercises September 4 and that afternoon will conduct a union church service in one of the local churches. They go to Concord for union service that evening.

In the group of boys are two pair of twins. Each of the youths is talented in music and speaking. Several leave soon for Africa, one goes to Central America and another to China. Their visit here will afford local people a treat.

Shot By Own Gun At Meadow Grove

Meadow Grove, Neb., Aug. 19.—W. C. Frye, 46, was accidentally shot late Wednesday afternoon by the discharge of a shot gun which he was dragging behind him while he was hunting. The shot entered behind his left ear, going toward the forehead, tearing away skull and leaving the brain exposed.

The attending doctor reported the injured man's condition good, Thursday morning. He probably will recover.

Mr. Frye, whose home is at Chadron, has been visiting at the home of his brother, Lowe Frye, eight and one-half miles northwest of Meadow Grove for two weeks.

He was carrying an armload of roofing eels and the gun through a corfield.

He belongs to Elks lodge, and formerly ran the Oxnard hotel at Norfolk.

Mr. Frye was feeling cheerful and was sitting up Thursday morning.

Less Buttermilk For Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., With nearly 11 per cent of the cows on test dry, buttermilk production in Nebraska dairy herd improvement associations hit another slump in July, according to the monthly dairy news letter issued from the College of Agriculture extension service.

The average production for the month, 26 pounds a cow, was 2.5 pounds below the June average and one-tenth of a pound lower than for the corresponding time last season.

The report shows that Nebraska farmers who are members of the associations are again doing heavy culling. They sold 30 cows as unprofitable in July which exceeded the number for the previous month. Twelve cows were sold for breeding purposes while three purebred sires were purchased by association members.

Tendency Is Up In Farm Prices

Lincoln, Neb.—Somewhat higher hog prices, firm prices for the best grades of cattle, seasonal firmness in butter prices and higher egg prices seem probable for Nebraska farmers during the next 30 days, according to the monthly economic situation report released from the Nebraska College of Agriculture by Prof. Harold Hedges of the Rural Economic department.

In predicting possible higher hog prices, the report says seasonal weakness may develop toward the end of the period. Late August or early September more often than not is the period in which the seasonal peak in hog prices occurs. In the past 20 years, the September top price for hogs at Omaha has been above the August top nine times, has equaled it once and has been below it 10 times.

Seasonal weakness in corn prices is probable. Only three times in the last 15 years has the September average price for No. 3 yellow corn at Chicago been higher than the August price, the report says. The present visible supply of corn is the largest since 1928, especially in view of the limited demand. Wheat farmers over the state are likely to receive steady prices for their grain although the price may go down a little. A possible strengthening factor would be further speculative support, such as has been in evidence during the recent price upturn.

Hedges indicates prices for best grades of fed cattle should continue firm during the 30 days with other classes in a less favorable position. The August 1 report on cattle on feed in the cornbelt indicates 5 per cent fewer cattle in feedlots than a year earlier.

The Nebraska farm household may also be benefited during the period through the sales of eggs. The report says higher prices appear probable. Steady to weak poultry prices, however, are in prospect. Storage conditions of poultry are also more favorable than last year.

Seasonal firmness in the butter market is also expected. In the past 20 years, the September average price for 92-score creamery butter in New York has never been above the August price.

Home Tried Recipes

- Plum Conserve. (Fairbury Journal). 20 plums (halved and pitted), 2 cups sugar, 3 oranges (peel and white rind removed), 1-2 pound nuts, 45 minutes sugar and oranges, add nuts and cook ten minutes longer.
- Good Dill Pickles. (Mrs. Ben Meyer). Let pickles stand overnight in cold water. Pack in two quart jars with layer of dill, 2 green peppers or 2 teaspoons black pepper, 2 bay leaves, 2 slices of horseradish. Let this boil: 6 quarts of water, 1 pound salt, 7 tablespoons alum. Then add 1 quart vinegar and boil again. Pour over pickles. This covers about 12 quarts.
- Sweet Pickles. (Mrs. Ben Meyer). Wash cucumbers and place in water with enough salt to make them just right to eat. Let stand 88 hours. Take them out and pack in kettle. Pour boiling water over them and let simmer for five minutes. Then pack in jars and turn upside down to drain all water off. Boil enough cider vinegar to cover. Add alum and mixed spices. Put 2-3 cup sugar to every quart of pickles and cover with boiling vinegar and seal.
- Butter Horn Rolls. (Mrs. C. K. Corbit). Beat three eggs. Scald one cup milk. Pour over, one-half cup lard and butter mixed. Cool. Add two eggs. Add one-half cup sugar. Soak one cake of compressed yeast in less than one-third cup of lukewarm water. Dissolve and add to above mixture. Stir in four rounded cups flour. Mix at night and set in kitchen or some place where there is no draft. Mix down in morning. After two hours divide in two parts. Roll out like pie crust (not as thin) and divide each half into 16 parts and roll from outside into center.
- White Cake. (Mrs. J. Corbit). Cream one-half cup butter and add gradually one and one-half cups sugar. Three scant cups of Swans Down cake flour. Put two rounded teaspoons baking powder in one of the cups of Swans Down. Add a little flour to butter and sugar mixed. One cup of cold water. Add water and cake flour alternately. Add the cup of mixed Swans Down and baking powder last. Beat well after each addition.

Over 5,000 Attend Winside Reunion

Parade, Ball Games, Stunts and Paved Dance Draw Huge Crowd.

All previous attendance records were broken last Thursday when the Old Settlers' picnic brought crowds totalling over 5,000. Last year's attendance was about 4,000.

It was a big success and we're mighty pleased about it," stated William Brune, general chairman of the event. "The whole county was well represented." These reunion picnics have been held in Wayne county for 35 or 40 years, originally at a grove northwest of Wayne, and later taken over by Winside as an annual celebration.

The program opened with a calliothump parade at 10:30 in the morning. Prize winning stunts were put on by Benishoff Garage, Pierce Boosters, Weible Merchandise Co., Norfolk Boosters, Thorvald Jacobsen, L. J. Bartlett and the Brunada theatre. Judges were Mrs. William Brune, Mrs. Louie Kahl and Mrs. A. C. Gabler.

The Winside and Wayne bands were in the line of march, also the Winside whistler club, a large delegation from the Norfolk Whistler club, and members of the Pierce "Red Shirts."

Winners in the whistler club competition were Dr. E. M. McIntyre, Lauritz Hansen and Frank Kurrelmeier.

Family picnics were held in the afternoon. A double-header ball game was the feature of the afternoon program. The Neigh Legion team beat the Winside Legionnaires; the Sioux City Canaries outscored the Gilchrist Union Giants. Free acts were provided both morning and evening, and races and contests arranged for both children and adults. At seven, a water fight between two representatives from Carroll and two from Winside resulted in victory for the Winside duo.

A free pavement dance drew throngs of dancers and onlookers during the evening.

Large Crowd At Church Program

More Than Seven Hundred Attend Festival Of Parish Here.

Our people here as in other churches are going to do their best to finish up the work of this year in all departments. We urge every one to help in this fine piece of work, for in helping the church we help ourselves, our homes, and our community. It is fine to know that people in this community will do their fine part.

This pastor wishes one and all to know that he will always be at the service of any one without any cost. A letter, a telephone call or a telegram will find the writer ready to serve you without cost other than actual cost of travel. Whether you or your friends, are members of a church, or no members of any church at all, this pastor wishes every one to know that he is now and always ready to serve in any capacity a minister of the gospel can serve you. Please keep this in mind for the future.

can you afford not to have a Maytag?

Washings that cost a small fraction of what you're used to paying... clothes that last longer because they're gently and thoroughly cleaned, then purified in fresh air and sunshine... the convenience of being able to wash one garment or a tubful in a few minutes... a permanent piece of household equipment that will give you the benefits for a lifetime... that's what you get when you invest in a Maytag.

It is the extra care taken in building the Maytag that results in its smoother operation, its gentler, thorough cleaning, its long life, its extra years of faithful, free-from-trouble service. This extra quality in the Maytag is what makes it such a paying investment. Come in and let us demonstrate the Maytag. Or phone for a home demonstration. Protection and economy in every drop

More gasoline per mile and less power from your motor—as your mileage creeps up from five thousand to twenty-five thousand miles—is the price of lubrication neglect—the use of inferior oil, dirty oil, insufficient oil or oil of wrong grade.

Thoroughly dewaxed new Polarine meets every specification of automotive experts. It flows freely at low temperatures, holds its body at high heat, contains no harmful ingredients, does everything oil can do for your motor.

To lengthen the useful life of your motor, to keep repair bills low, to prevent loss of motor power, to keep down gasoline cost per mile—to secure operating economy—requires high quality oil of correct grade, replaced with clean oil at regular intervals.

Consult the Polarine Chart. Use the correct grade of new Polarine and you will get finer performance at less cost. 25¢ A QUART FOR EVERY GRADE, at Red Crown Service Stations and Dealers Everywhere in Nebraska.

Yet when the market shows the faintest flicker of activity there is an old-time stampede to the buying windows. Unless wise men appear to direct the republic and its industries, men who know that a nation lives by the jobs of its citizens and not by the profits of its speculators, there will be danger of another calamity before the wreckage of the last has been cleared away.

RECIPES

Dainty Surprises For The "Extra Special" Occasions.

Birthday dinners, showers, away-from-school parties, this is a festive season and a busy one. Here are a few recipes which will add interest as well as tastiness to your table:

Grape Royal
1 package gelatin.
1 pint grape juice.
1 quart vanilla ice cream.

Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Heat grape juice and pour over gelatin; pour all into a chilled fruit moule. When set, turn out on large-service plate, fill center with vanilla ice cream. Garnish edge of ring with grape leaves.

Cherry Ice Cubes.
Place maraschino cherry, green cherry or mint leaf in each compartment of the ice tray, and fill with water with vegetable coloring. Serve in lemonade or grape juice.

Paradise Salad.
1 cup pineapple.
1 cup green grapes or Royal Anne cherries.

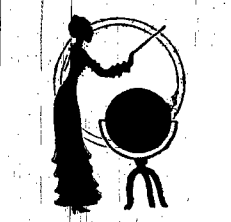

1 banana.
1 1/2 pound marshmallows.
1/2 cup English walnut meats.
1 cup fruit-salad dressing (below).
1 cup whipping cream.

Dice pineapple, seed the grapes of cherries and put them in halves. Peel and slice bananas, cut marshmallows in fourths, combine fruits in mixing bowl and chill. Whip cream and add half to dressing. Add nuts to fruit mixture and arrange on lettuce leaves. Add remaining dressing, topping off with small portions of whipped cream.

Fruit Salad Dressing.
2 egg yolks.
2 tablespoons sugar.
1/2 cup lemon juice.
1 tablespoon flour.
1/2 cup strained honey or maple syrup.
1/2 cup whipping cream.
Mix honey, flour, sugar and cook in double boiler for ten minutes. Add lemon juice and beaten yolks slowly and cook for five minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and cool. Add whipped cream to dressing before serving.

Cream Cheese Loaf
Slice a loaf of bread in four pieces lengthwise, each 1-2 inch thick. Spread one slice with mayonnaise and thinly sliced tomatoes. Cover with sliced bread and spread with mayonnaise and a cheese spread topping with lettuce. Spread third slice with mayonnaise and chopped pimento. Top with remaining slice. Soften three packages of cream cheese with sweet milk and ice the entire loaf; chill; serve at the table.

AUTUMN Brings A New Mode

—And here is how Wayne merchants, fresh from Eastern buying trips, busy unpacking new fall garments, interpret feminine fashions for the new season:

THE VICTORIAN INFLUENCE — bringing high waisted, broad shoulders, narrow hips; cape collars, leg o' mutton sleeves, higher necks; bead and button trims.

PRINCESS LINES IMPORTANT — In frocks and coats; very smart in velvets.

THE RUSSIAN VOGUE — is responsible for fur details and peasant sleeves.

THE HATS — Spanish sailors, English boaters, toques, berets and bandana-like turbans, all dipping sharply over one eye. Emphasis on trims.

COLORS — Black, Brown, Wine tones, Woodsey Greens and Navy. Beet-root is a rich dark wine tint.

CONSIDER VIRGO THE SIXTH SIGN OF THE ZODIAC

If you were born between the dates August 24 and September 23, your symbol is Virgo, represented by the Virgin. You love system and harmony in all your relations; you have a keen mind and analytical habits which make you outstanding in law or educational work. Guard against becoming faddish over trifles.

Ruled by Mercury, you have a clear, thoughtful, often too critical, outlook on life. You work tirelessly, are slow to anger, and delight in systematizing things. You dislike extremes; are most fastidious in choice of friends. You could afford to cultivate your emotions, and develop a trifle more enthusiasm towards others.

Simple Methods To Remove Stains

Many a garment has been ruined because the wrong cleaning agent was used to remove stain or scorch, so it is well to have on hand a list of mediums for use in case of emergency.

FOR SCORCH—If the fabric is washable, soap and water are sufficient to remove slight stains. If this is not successful, wet spot with water and expose to sun for a day. For stubborn spots on white fabrics, dampen white cloth with hydrogen peroxide and place over stain; place clean cloth over this to protect iron, then iron with medium warm iron, replacing top cloth if liquid soaks through. Repeat operation if necessary.

MILK AND CREAM SPOTS—If washable material, rinse in cold or lukewarm water followed by hot water and soap. If stubborn, use carbon tetrachloride, gasoline or other grease solvent. For fabrics which ordinary laundering would injure, first sponge with solvent, allow spot to dry, then sponge carefully with water.

CHOCOLATE AND COCCA—Use borax and cold water; bleach if necessary.

GREASE AND OILS—Use French chalk, blotting paper or other absorbent; or warm water and soap; or gasoline or benzine.

IODINE—Use warm water and soap; alcohol; or ammonia.

SHOE POLISH—For black shoes, use soap and water; or turpentine. For tan, alcohol.

PERSPIRATION—Use soap and warm water; bleach in sun or with Javelle water.

Artificial Flowers New Decorative Note

Perhaps it is the Victorian influence, which is much noted in fall fashions and interior decorations, that is responsible for the new importance of artificial flowers for the home. Certain it is that the Victorians delighted in "made" flowers for their own decorative beauty, rather than the naturalness of their form and coloring. Flowers were carefully chosen to harmonize with the interiors, and to complement certain vases or bowls which they treasured.

The new blossoms are very beautiful in themselves, some are strict replicas of the garden blooms, others so fanciful and so modernized as to be purely the product of an artist's imagination. Paper, wax, downy feathers, sea shells, glass, metals, linen, fish skin, and mother-of-pearl are utilized with very lovely results. Graceful calla lilies of wax for the more formal grouping, are striking in mirror glass or glossy black vases. Gleaming copper color columbines strike a distinctly modern note in an amber or blue bowl. Dull pewter blossoms and mother-of-pearl lilies lend themselves to the mantle or buffet grouping. Such floral decorations should add much brightness to the home during the "stay-in" season.

Unusual New Home Device Introduced

The new season brings an unusually varied and ingenious assortment of household and mechanical innovations. Here are just a few, selected at random:

Glass blackboards are now on the market and are expected to replace slate in the schools. The glass is unscratchable and will not fade. By a new process the rich black coloring is given all the way through.

Tinted fingernails for the evening are detachable, and are enjoying a certain popularity in Los Angeles. They fit snugly on top of the natural nail, held by adhesive cement. Made in color combinations to match one's gown, rouge or lipstick.

Black or grass-green wrappings may enclose food on the grocery store shelves as the result of recent tests by the U. S. department of Agriculture. These colors prevent spoilage of oil-bearing foods.

A beach dressing bag which completely envelops the bather while he or she changes is a new wrinkle on the market. It's a heavy duck bag, with fasteners upon which to hang one's clothes; coat and shoes must be removed before entering.

Music shortens the wait of telephone patrons in an English exchange. Though service there is slower, delays are made less irksome by the operator switching calls to a phonograph program until the party is located.

There's a new night light just out which clamps under the bed frame and throws a soft glow over the entire floor space. It is especially useful when there are children in the family.

New food molds are in the following shapes: baby grand sky-scrapers, jewel caskets, little fishes and plump piggies. These are from Germany, and make your mousies, ices and jellies doubly interesting.

Mothers can hear every coo and every sputter babies let forth, while they do the kitchen work, by means of a new amplifier attached to the crib. This has a loud speaker to hang in the kitchen.

Any housewife can tell you that nothing's hotter than a baked potato—hence the clever new baked potato racks which hold six potatoes on metal prongs, and are long and slender so that they don't monopolize the oven.

A portable electric drying rack should be especially welcome to mothers with small children. It resembles a radiator and has a rack above it to hold the garments as they dry.

There's a new air moistener just introduced which re-vitalizes the over-dry indoor air and adds the proper amount of moisture. It operates electrically.

Strange Tricks Are Used By Composers

Musical genius sometimes employs unique methods to bring forth its brain-children. The composer glorified in history usually composed in the dead of night, or found inspiration by the lovely sea, or from a lovely woman. But the present-day song writer must find his inspiration in a machineized world, amid sky-scrapers and city noises, making use of modern inventions.

For instance, Rudolph Friml composes with such spontaneity that he often forgets parts of the song before the end is reached. Therefore he plays every piece into a dictaphone and hears it back to record it on paper.

Victor Herbert, who gave us so many lovely melodies, was an exceedingly poor pianist.

George M. Cohan and Irving Berlin can't play the piano, but pick out tunes with one finger and simple chords.

Sigmund Romberg hires a complete orchestra to play pieces for producers whom he is trying to interest. The entire score of "Rosalie" was sold in this manner.

SPECIAL DURING AUGUST

Parents, see that your children's teeth are in perfect condition before school opens in September.

It is an established fact that children cannot do so well in their studies if they are hampered with aching teeth.

Small defects may be easily removed and save later annoyance and cost. When entering school, every child needs and deserves the support of sound, healthy teeth.

During the month of August, preliminary to the opening of school, all school children's teeth will be cleaned at half price.

Wayne Women Enjoy Hobbies

To those who have discovered the delights of a hobby, days never run quite long enough, and life takes on ever-growing zest and color. There's a "heap o' sense" in keeping the mind keen, and the spirit buoyant by cultivating special interests in addition to your home or business duties. Many a busy man or woman who believes he has no time for indulging in hobbies would enjoy an invigorating gallop as much as anyone if only something would boost him into the saddle of a lively hobby horse.

It's a great relaxation. Consider President Hoover translating a Latin treatise into English in his spare moments; or Dean Roscoe Pound of the Harvard law college editing reports on a botanical survey of Nebraska! And Charlie Dawes composes a music good enough for Rachmaninoff to play!

Interviews with a representative group of Wayne women revealed that hobbies play an important though often little known, part in their daily lives. Graciously they discussed these leisure-hour interests and the factors which led them to take up these particular hobbies.

Books, particularly those telling of pioneer life on the mid-western plains, appeal to Miss Margaret Schemel, and she has the nucleus of a collection of pioneering books, to which she plans to add as new volumes appear. Fine needle art also interests her, and she hopes to acquire several new pieces on her present trip through the south. Kentucky, with its unique needle-crafts, and the very fascinating work of the North Carolina mountaineers promise rich fields to the collector.

Plays, pageants and short stories take form quickly and surely under the talented pen of Mrs. S. A. Lugen. While her home and social duties more than fill her days, she can always find time to write pageants for the fair, plays for her clubs, school dramatic groups, or special services for Sunday schools. While practically all her writings have been done for some definite production or event, so well have these been executed that practically every manuscript has been accepted for publication. Mrs. Lugen says this is just "luck," but her friends maintain it's a combination of talent and hard work. A writer must either have a definite objective in view, and a certain time set when the work must be finished, or else have definite writing hours, she believes. Just at present the landscaping of a new home is taking a generous share of her leisure, but she has found time to write the pageant for the 1932 county fair and supervise its production.

Music to Mrs. Rollie W. Ley, provides the relaxation and recreation. Nothing is quite so restful to her as to sit listening to a well-conducted symphony or concert.

Speaking of hobbies, Josephine Ley's canine collection deserves special mention, for she has no less than 90, counting the lively Chow which answers to the name of Ching. In two short years she has acquired a most varied and fascinating assortment, including metal dogs, celluloid dogs, a fluffy white aristocrat, stuffed cloth

"pooches," one brimful of bath salts, another with thimble-cap and spool of thread, a Scotty, a pug, a whole pack of hunting dogs, a dachshund, a coach dog, china dogs, and a lean, black canine singing master.

Mrs. Winifred Mah's chief interest is her young grandchildren, but she finds much enjoyment in fancy needlework, and has pieced three quilts and is at work on a new early American pattern.

Mrs. U. S. Conn's interests are so diversified that she finds it difficult to choose any one as a hobby. Choice gladiol, phlox and iris are Mrs. Fred Blair's delight, and she spends many an hour in her colorful garden plot at the rear of the Blair home. She repudiates the theory that "anything will grow for some people." The surest formula is to buy the best varieties of seeds and plants, and apply much good hard work, she believes. Mrs. Blair enjoys being out in the open among her flowers and seldom picks bouquets for her home, preferring to enjoy the blossoms in their natural habitat. Last year she gathered chrysanthemums for the church the last week in December, and had scilla in bloom early in March, so her garden yields almost year-around pleasure. Just now, the salmon pink phlox are blooming in vivid profusion, and the white hydrangias are generously flowering.

Methodist Church. (Rev. David Simpson, pastor) In 1920 a young man from Omaha was acclaimed Omaha's perfect young man, well educated, handsome and advanced in boy scout work. It was easy to predict a brilliant future for him. Shortly after he entered West Point military academy and became an army officer. Last week he was sentenced to the penitentiary for bank robbery and the early promise of his life has been wrecked. It is the old, familiar story. With health and education and influential friends he could have been an influential man. Now he is a convict. Liquor, gambling and lust brought about his downfall. He repented what he had sowed.
