News Past Week In Concord School

Report cards were given out last Tuesday afternoon. English literature students are making a survey of Milton's literary career, dividing it into three creative periods. The elegy, "Lycidas," and the companion pieces of "L'Allegro," and "Il Penseroso," are being chosen as representative studies of the first period.

Answer roll call in club meetings. In agriculture pupils have been giving reports on useful birds. Material was taken from farmers' bulletins. Hallowe'en decorations and masks were made this week. The third grade finished its study of Japan.

Perfect spellers this week were J. C. Arnold and Verdel Erwin in the second grade and Gerald Olson, Irene Salmon, Jean Germaur and Lois Bieh in the third grade. Intermediate Room. The memory gem this week is "Life's battles don't always go To the stronger or fayer man, But sooner or later the man who wins Is the fellow who thinks he can."

Former Minister Of Concord Dies

Rev. J. E. Erlander died Thursday morning last week in his daughter's home at Sweetburg, Neb., at an age of nearly 84 years. He was in his usual vigor the evening before and had listened to a radio address. At 7 o'clock the next morning his daughter found him still asleep and did not disturb him. She returned at 8:30 and found that her father had passed away.

Mission Conference Proves Inspiration

The Mission Conference Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday last week at the Concordia Lutheran church was inspirational from the beginning to the end. Messages from the word of God were delivered Monday evening by Rev. Arthur L. Peterson of Wakefield and Rev. N. H. Pearson of Bristow and on Tuesday evening by Rev. C. A. Strandberg of Hamilton, S. D., and Rev. Arthur E. Olson of Wausa.

Germany tottered and value of the mark depreciated until it took 25,000 to buy an ice cream cone. Lots of money was turned out but it had no value of exchange for, as Mr. Carlson showed, inflation takes the value out of currency.

The Chinese war and breakdown of that government, which started eight years ago, the Japanese and Russian trouble followed and all these affected the United States. When England's credit dropped France withdrew her gold from banks of England because she knew she would lose a billion dollars by depreciation when England changed from the gold to silver standard.

The Reformation. A few of the relief measures which are helping the country out of the unfortunate conditions were mentioned by Mr. Carlson and their operation explained. One of these is the Reconstruction Finance Corporation on the board of which are seven democrats and two republicans.

Home Loan Bank. Knowing that "you can't save a nation unless you save homes," Hoover promoted the home loan bank in November, 1931. Garner and some democrats blocked this until the bill went over their opposition in July, 1932, and became effective October 15, 1932.

Training School Wins. Emerson eleven went down to defeat at hands of visiting Wayne Training school gridsters Wednesday evening with a score of 19 to 6. The game was scheduled for Friday, but shifted ahead because of the two-day vacation.

fidencis is gaining; and this will gradually lead to prosperity. In a further effort to see that no American wants for necessities of life, Hoover has launched the greatest relief program ever known. And this is through community organization which does not mean great expense.

Confidence Restored. Since the United States has proved that it will not go off the gold standard, said Mr. Carlson, more than $200,000,000 in gold has flowed into this country's banks from other nations for securities.

Wayne County Farmers Anticipate Plenty of Corn For Winter Feeding

No matter how that jumpy fellow, Dale E. Market, evaluates the 1932 crop, Wayne county farmers are confident that it's a crop worthy of the best Nebraska corn traditions, and see in this abundant harvest plenty of feed for stock during the winter months.

There's not much visiting about nor many unnecessary trips by farm folks these days, all hands are needed in the fields and kitchens.

Narrow corn wagon's move slowly up and down the rows while their heavily-gloved cotton strips the parched husks from yellow ears and tosses them into the box, leaving the brittle stalks crushed and denuded in their wake. Twelve clock brings a hail from the kitchen door as a welcome tolling bell, and the hungry pickers sit down to well-laden tables to fill up on substantial "hungry-man" food. Then back to the field till dusk, with wagon after wagon heaped with yellow food circling barnyard-ward to appease the appetite of yawning drabs. And the buskers push steadily on, bent on finishing up before stormy weather.

Meals Are Generous. A sketchy survey of Wayne county reveals that the corn yield is unduly heavy, the quality is all that could be desired, and that buskers are being paid on an average of 1 1/2 to 20c per bushel. Most all farmers expect to finish the harvest about Thanksgiving. The average experienced worker can husk from 75 to 85 bushels per day, and an expert can do 99 and more.

In the rich farming section around Atlanta, corn husking is in full swing. Adam Spill reports a good average on his farm lands, and he and his sons are handling the harvest themselves. Harry Bennett's men are averaging 95 to 100 bushels per day, and are working their house-guests, the Sandalls of Bassett, were luncheon guests Friday afternoon at Lawrence King's. Saturday dinner guests in the Leasie King home and were at C. A. Burt's that evening for supper. The visitors spent Sunday night with the Geo. Alstropes and left for home Monday morning.

Sunday pheasant dinner guests at W. C. King's were the Geo. Buskirk family, Mrs. Etta Dawes and Mr. and Mrs. Gus M. Johnson and Ruth. Others were unable to attend because of muddy roads.

Mrs. Edgar Larson entertained twenty ladies informally Tuesday afternoon to celebrate her birthday anniversary. On Wednesday afternoon a luncheon was served each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson spent Sunday afternoon and evening at Cliff Munson's. Evening visits also were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Nelson and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Michael, all of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Seastedt, Lois Richard and Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. and Mrs. Nebel, all of Union and Mr. and Mrs. Moffatt drove up from Omaha early Saturday morning to hunt pheasants. They were guests at Jack Soderberg's home, the ladies spending the night in the C. A. Soderberg home. All returned home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ruback and their guests, Misses Helen Campbell and Artyce Leiser, visited Wednesday evening in the Henry Busch home. The ladies were luncheon guests Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Lawrence King and spent the evening at C. F. Sandall's. Friday the girls walked to Wayne to visit Mildred Agler and in the afternoon accompanied Mrs. Ray Agler and Marion and Dorothy Davis to Norfolk where the three best named attended Rev. Dunning's special meetings and the others were supper guests in the Leasie Swann home. Saturday and Sunday Mildred Agler spent in the Ruback home.

Interest Increases In Poultry Business

Lincoln, Neb. —Farmers are showing an increased interest in poultry now, reported J. H. Claybaugh and Paul E. Hoff, of the Nebraska College of Agriculture Extension Service, upon returning from a poultry house remodeling tour of the state. Claybaugh and Hoff, together with county extension agents, assisted in the remodeling and construction of six houses, while hundreds of farmers observed the methods in order to improve their own poultry housing. In remodeling the houses straw lofts were added to make them warmer. About one foot of straw was placed on the wire netting, which is supported by rafters. The south windows were changed to improve the lighting. Nests, rosters and dropping boards were remodeled to conform to the plans recommended by the Nebraska College of Agriculture. It cost $1.50 for new material to remodel one 14 by 16 foot house. A straw loft, nests and dropping boards were installed using much material already on the farm. None of the jobs cost more than $15 for material.

Lets Plan A Jolly Halloween Party

What's more fun than a Halloween party, especially when one is very young, and parties are much anticipated? Here are just a few suggestions for entertainment and decorations.

Why not have a pumpkin vine running the length of the table? This is fashioned from green wire and green crepe paper leaves, with wee pumpkins on the ends, and a large one in center is filled with 'magic' seeds. These seeds are fortunes rolled into tiny bead-shapes, and are fastened to long green strings which run to individual places.

An attractive centerpiece can be made by running Christmas tree lights through the bottom of pumpkins, and using the lights in pumpkins as half-opened corn husks. A witch-doll makes an amusing centerpiece. Her skirts are of black crepe paper, her hat is of stiff black paper, her hair is of white wool, and her head might be a white onion, or white cloth stuffed, and features painted on. Strings leading to the hat box are attached to black paper witches on conical bars. With melted chocolate you can mark faces on orange lollypops, and these, too, can be dressed in witch robes and hats.

For a children's party, why not make brown paper jack masks, cutting out eye and nose slits, and adding long pointed noses and floppy ears? Red crepe paper hair and yellow paper curls may be added. Little folks will enjoy throwing orange bean bags with funny painted faces, at a hollowed-out pumpkin with jack-o-lantern face. Each child is allowed five shots, and scores 10 points per hit. A Halloween favor may be given the winner. Then it's always fun to pin a tail on the black cat, bob for apples and bite apples suspended on strings.

For serving oranges may be scooped out and filled with fresh fruits for the first course. Baked ham is tasty with orange sherbet, or cider jelly and scalloped potatoes, butter rolls, pumpkin tart, coffee complete a luncheon menu. Orange ice cream sliced topped by black candy witch may be substituted for the tart. For light refreshments, orange bread, sand-wiches with raisin and cream cheese filling, doughnuts and cider are most appropriate. Hot cider with spices makes a delicious evening drink.

Epitaph!

Sam Tupper said his car couldn't skid, This monument shows it could and did. In parts of Hungary, farm laborers are paid in vegetables and there are occasions, we suppose, when one will ask for an increase in his week's celery. What Is More Appetizing Than Hot Breads These Chilly Autumn Days?

With ovens heated for practically every meal, it's no trick at all to stir up tasty muffins or light-as-a-feather biscuits, and how the family, from first-grader Patsey to dad and granddaddy, do enjoy these. The following recipes are candidates for your recipe cabinet:

Fruit Sandwich Bread.

- 3 cups flour 4 teaspoons baking powder 1-3 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons shortening 1-3 cup sugar 2-3 cup finely chopped figs Grated rind 1 orange 1-2 cup chopped walnut meats or almonds, optional. 1 egg About 1 cup milk Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Work in the shortening, add the sugar, figs, orange rind and nut meats if used, and mix to a dough with the beaten egg and milk. Knead slightly on a floured board, turn into a well-greased baking pan, set aside for ten minutes, then brush over with softened shortening and bake forty to forty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

Prune Bread.

- 1 cup white flour 4 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt 1-2 cups whole wheat flour 3 tablespoons shortening 4 tablespoons sugar 1 cup prunes About 7-8 cup milk Sift together the white flour, baking powder and salt, add the whole wheat flour, work in the shortening, then add the sugar and the prunes—which have been soaked for several hours in cold water, then cut small, discarding the pits. Mix to a light dough with the milk and turn into a well-greased bread pan. Bake one hour in a moderate oven. If desired, dates may be substituted for the prunes, in which case omit the sugar.

Potato Biscuits.

- 2 cups flour 4 teaspoons baking powder 1 teaspoon salt 1-4 cup shortening 2-3 cup mashed potatoes Scant 2-3 cup milk Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; work in the shortening and potatoes; and moisten with the milk, making a light dough as soft as can easily be handled. Roll or pat out on a floured board about half an inch thick. Cut into rounds, place on a slightly greased pan and bake in a hot oven.

Fruit Graham Bread.

- 1-1-2 cups Graham flour 2-3 cup cornmeal 1-2 teaspoon salt 4 teaspoons baking powder 1 cup raisins 1-4 cup molasses 1 egg 1-1-3 cups milk Heat thoroughly without sifting the flour, cornmeal, salt and baking powder. Add the raisins and mix to a soft batter with the mo-

Etta Kett's Weekly Quiz

- 1. Should members of the family ever leave the table before everyone has finished? 2. What are the proper uses of 'lay' and 'lie'? 3. What are the characteristics of good letter-writing? 4. How should business letters be begun? 5. How should one end business letters? 6. What should one remember in beginning and ending general correspondence? 7. What are the so-called courting letters? 8. What is the proper use of 'sr.'? 9. When should one use 'second' in place of 'junior'? 10. How does one address a letter to a pastor?

Answers.

- 1. No unless children are tired, older ones find themselves exhausted, or young people have engagements. 2. In present tense, hens/lay and people do not. 3. It should be clear, distinct, with lines well spaced and margins clean. 4. With 'Sir.' 'My Dear Sir,' or 'Dear Sir.' when writing in first person. When addressing a firm, use 'Gentlemen' or 'Dear Sirs.' 5. With 'Yours truly,' 'Sincerely Yours,' or 'Very sincerely yours.' 6. Letters should begin and end with the same degree of formality. For instance, 'My dear,' 'Dear,' and 'Dearest,' are beginnings of graduated ardour, and should be used with these endings, 'Very sincerely yours,' and 'Affectionately yours,' and 'Loveingly yours.' 'Yours' must always be used before or after the description of how 'yours' is feeling. 7. Those written to former hostesses, those acknowledging courtesies while visiting a strange city, letters of congratulation or condolence, and letters expressing thanks for gifts. 8. One should never address the elder of two men bearing the same name as 'sr.' for he has the right to the name. 9. When a man has both a son and nephew named after him, the son is 'junior' and the nephew is 'second.' If three generations bear the same name, the grandson uses 'third' after his name. 10. 'The Rev. C. H. Smith,' 'The Rev. Mr. Smith,' 'Dr. C. H. Smith' if he has the title.

DISMISS SCHOOL FOR INSTITUTE

Rev. William Kearns Talks On European Tour At Assembly Thursday.

Wayne city school will be dismissed Thursday and Friday of this week to enable faculty members to attend meetings of the state teachers association at Norfolk and Lincoln.

Rev. William Kearns of St. Mary's Catholic church, spoke at assembly period last Thursday afternoon on his summer trip to Europe, dwelling especially on the preparation for foreign travel, life on shipboard and his travels to Dublin, Cork and to the Killarney lakes.

In preparation for the Danvers music appreciation series which began last week, Kermit Stewart interpreted the first lessons Thursday morning and junior and senior high school students listened to C and D series the following morning.

A pep meeting was held in high school assembly Friday morning preceding the game with Bloomfield that afternoon. Cheerleaders led the student body in songs and yells.

MAYTAG ROLLER WATER REMOVER

'Why it's almost a washer itself!'

It's true. The Maytag Roller Washer Remover is so thorough in pressing the soapy water out of clothes that it is really another cleansing operation.

When you consider that this more completely does the work of the famous Gyrotator water action—that the entire Maytag method of cleansing is as gentle as it is thorough—you begin to see why users are enthusiastic about Maytag.

Try a Maytag in your home. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it. Phone for free home demonstration.
