young Germany has suffered too tremulously from the madness of war to intend to inflict it on others. The chancellor's position is tenable and constructive. Here is an excerpt that shows breadth and depth of vision...

It is reported that the tragedy of tearing up the Wynot branch of the M. & O. railroad is now in progress, and that in due time only the right-of-way will remain. We remember when the line was built, and saw the first train that ran over the newly laid rails. It was for many years a busy and profitable road.

The communist newspaper published at Plentywood, Mont., which delights to magnify human ills, and evidently to make return to prosperity as difficult as possible, gives expression to savage criticism of Milo Reno, head of the Farmers Holiday association, because he called off the farm strike.

While statesmen are trying to help us back to economic health and to put us in shape to acquire needed shelter and food, we are reminded of the many things in life that cost nothing. The very best of life's treasures are free, as witness these lines from John Martin, poet:
In gloomy tones we need not cry,
How many things there are to buy!
Here is a thought for you and me—
"The best of things in life are free!"

Often the first thought to punish another for a magnified injustice or a wholly fancied grievance is to withdraw patronage, and the fact that the result is usually a boomerang, keeps an individual paying more attention to boomerangs than to useful service. There are just as many boomerangs as there are piques, and cultivation of either multiplies the other.

The Omaha Journal-Stockman says steel has been displaced by automobiles as the country's business barometer, adding that automobile production for the month of May will reach 200,000.

Memorial Observance
RECURRENCE of Memorial day, May 30, pays due honor to the soldier dead, sharpening attention to the courage and sacrifices of living and departed war veterans, the while reemphasizing the multiplied horrors and unending costs of armed conflict.

Best Things Cost Nothing
WHILE statesmen are trying to help us back to economic health and to put us in shape to acquire needed shelter and food, we are reminded of the many things in life that cost nothing. The very best of life's treasures are free, as witness these lines from John Martin, poet:

Hitler's Speech
WE like the attitude of Chancellor Adolph Hitler as expressed in his speech at Berlin last week. People who expected radicalism were mistaken. Those who looked for defiance were wrong. As the chancellor urged the rights of Germany, he recognized the rights of other nations, exclaiming: "Germany wants nothing she is not ready to concede to others."

Dedicate Trees To Senior Class
Wayne State Teachers college seniors Wednesday inaugurated a tree-planting ceremony which will take place among the honored campus traditions. The plan is for each graduating class to plant a tree on each side of the path leading up over the campus "meadows," the path followed by commencement, professional on its march to the auditorium. In time, the "senior" trees will make an arch up to Administration building.

Kiwanians Witness "Black Magic" Act
Wayne Kiwanis club gathered for a luncheon meeting in the Hotel Stratton Monday, and during the brief business session which followed, L. W. McNeill instructed a new member, Prof. John R. Keith of the music department at the college, in Kiwanis principles. President T. S. Hook was in the chair and he appointed Prof. Keith to the music committee. Following the business meeting, George Anderson gave a "black magic" demonstration.

begins Serving Term. Sheriff A. W. Stephens went to Lincoln Monday to take there W. J. Littleton of Carroll, who began serving a year's term on charge of embezzlement, to which he pleaded guilty a few days ago.

Case Is Continued. The case in which George Lessman charges Charles Glenn with unlawfully shooting a calf valued at $15 was heard before J. E. Brittain in the justice court this week and the matter was continued until Monday, May 29.

Card of Thanks. We wish to express sincere appreciation to neighbors and other friends for their many acts of kindness and floral tributes at the time of the death of Mrs. Alma Liedtke. Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Liedtke.

Gets Judgment. Omaha.—Judgment of $233.45 was given Miss Lola E. Smith, St. Edward school teacher, by County Judge Bryce Crawford against Joseph L. Harper, a teacher at Irvington. The two had been classmates at Kennard, it was set out, and while Harper was attending Wayne Normal in 1928 Miss Smith advanced him sums of money from time to time. She said only $2 had been repaid, this in 1931.

Crossland and Dr. Paul Crossland met him in Lincoln City. William Crossland of Lincoln, spent Sunday here with his parents. Clement Crossland of Baltimore, Md., will come if possible to see his parents.

Card of Thanks. We wish to thank neighbors and friends for their kind expression of sympathy in our recent bereavement. Miss Hannah Bressler, J. T. Bressler, F. P. Bressler, S. C. Bressler.

Card of Thanks. To friends who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and at the time of our bereavement, we wish to express sincere appreciation. Mrs. Clarence Dullerud.

In Very Ill Here. Donald Denbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Denbeck, has been very ill the past 10 days; at his home here. Three doctors have been called.

PREACHERS' HAY. Remission in paying preachers' salaries during a period of depression is pointed out to us as a growing tendency. When the depression enveloped the world we are told that many preachers accepted a twentyfive to thirty per cent cut in their incomes, but the aggravating development seems to be frequent failure to receive amounts stipulated. Though apparently incredible, it is reported as a fact that some ministers of the gospel have been receiving as low as $10 a month; others as low as $25 a month. One young pastor is said to have been paid only $15 since the first of January. Preachers have material requirements the same as other groups, and if their service is as valuable to a community as popularly believed, it should be paid for in time to prevent embarrassment and to enable preservation of credit and self-respect. The minister should be paid his curtailed income promptly, not in a spirit of giving alms or in dealing out unearned gratuities.

Salem Lutheran Church, Wakefield To Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Three Days Of Special Services Will Mark The Fiftieth Birthday Of Swedish Church; Two Former Pastors Will Return.

Celebrating 50 golden years of service and growth in Wakefield community, Salem Lutheran church will hold special services of worship this Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Rev. J. E. Rydbeck and Rev. E. G. Knock, former pastors of this congregation, and Dr. C. O. Gullean, president of Nebraska conference, will assist Rev. A. L. Peterson. All friends of Salem church are cordially invited to attend as many services as possible.

Salem's history is one of pioneering. In the 80's a Swedish settlement grew up in southeast corner of Dixon county, beginning with Gustus Johnson who came from Farmersville, Ill., in 1881. Many other Swedish folks followed him to this country. Mr. Johnson was instrumental in organizing the church on Ascension day, May 3, 1883, in Park school. The following were elected as officers: Rev. J. Torell, chairman; Gustav Johnson, secretary; John Burman, Alfred Henry and Gustus Johnson, deacons; and C. G. Swenson, C. Peterson and Frank A. Johnson, trustees. Services were held in Wakefield public school the first two years, and the first church dedicated on site of the present church in 1885. The first Sunday school was organized that year, with Mr. Collins as superintendent.

Nine Pastors Have Served.

Rev. F. W. Berquest was first regular pastor of the church, serving from 1885 to 1886. During his term, the first church was completed and first parsonage built. Until Rev. Berquest's coming, Rev. J. Torell of Oakland, and Rev. F. N. Thoren of Sioux City, made occasional visits here. Rev. J. P. Aurichus was second pastor located in Wakefield, preaching from 1888 to 1894, and Rev. J. E. Sjoblom served from 1895 to 1900. Pastorate was vacant from March, 1900, to September, 1901, with Rev. J. E. Rydbeck of Concord, coming regularly for instruction. Rev. N. P. Tuken served from September, 1901, to June, 1905, and during this period the new parsonage was built and plans for the present church made.

The large, frame structure with narrow spire reaching to the heavens, was dedicated on March 11, 1906. Its windows are colorful, and Thorwaldsen's statue of Christ graces the high altar in the chancel. It is a place of quiet and repose.

Rev. J. Rydbeck came in 1905 and helped to dedicate the new church. It was fully paid for at this time. The congregation then numbered: Communicants, 368; total membership, 510. Rev. J. T. Kraft came in 1918 and served nine years. English services were added. Rev. E. G. Knock came in 1919 and introduced the double morning services employing both languages, also junior mission society and ladies' society. Rev. J. A. Martin was called to the church in 1924 and served until 1931, when Sunday was organized that year, with Mr. Collins as superintendent.

he asked
—and we sold him 4 new tires

Goodyear All-Weathers

The “gadget” is a little machine that shows the difference between ordinary cord, used in other tires, and Super-cord, used in Goodyears. That difference is in the stretch and come-back—you can see how Super-cord stretches and comes back, how the cord in other tires loses its life and elasticity. It takes about 3 minutes to tell the story—but as this customer said—“If every car owner could see that demonstration, there wouldn't be anything used but Goodyear Tires.”

LaPorte Cemetery In Wayne County Is Interesting Plot for Visitors

They graded down a little swell in the road out east of Wayne to fill in the cut below it and they cut a little cemetery of pioneer graves off from a forgetting world. This is LaPorte cemetery. To the north there is a steep, narrow little path up the side of the bank with just room for a foot, the only entrance into this little plot with its weather-beaten stones and weed-grown graves. The wind is open but few enter. The wild sifts through the scard, brown grass of yesterday, and struggling to penetrate the tangled undergrowth above it, is grass in little green patches. It seems as though life eternal seeks to rise out of the soil that holds close those who died amid the hardships and suffering of those first years of Wayne county.

Just inside the rustling fence that encloses the ground a lilac bush is growing and blooming again. Over at one corner of the field a pheasant whirs up in startled flight at someone who dares enter the domain of the dead. It is quiet, restful there in LaPorte cemetery and the sprouting trees, the whispering grass, the symbolic evergreen spruce lend the place an impressiveness that close-cropped lawn and well kept shrubs could never give. It reflects the hardy character of those who sleep there and it gives the air of tradition to the first days of the pioneers.

The first grave one comes to is that of Jacob L. Cooper, son of B. F. and J. E. Cooper, born Jan. 10, 1833, and died Aug. 14, the same year. A little further on Wm. Hunter who was frozen to death in a blizzard in November, 1871, awaits the last rest-call. Written there is this: "Wm. Hunter, Company 1, 4th Illinois cavalry. Born June 7, 1829, died Nov. 25, 1871. "Mustered out on earth to answer roll call above." Little yellow moss flowers crawl over his grave and at the foot the evergreen sways in the wind.

Then we find a stone marked "Father" in memory of Geo. Hunter, died July 5, 1888, aged 81 years, 9 months, 16 days. Just south Enoch Hunter rests. On his stone, this: Company 1, 12th Illinois cavalry. In this same plot Patience Kliza Hunter and Minnie Bell Hunter are buried. On these stones are marked, for Patience, died Sept. 24, 1881, aged 10 years, 9 months, 5 days: "These ashes form this little dust. "Our Mother's care shall keep. "Till the last angel hiss and break. "The long and dreary sleep."

And for Minnie Bell: Died August 29, 1879, age 1 year, 3 months, 21 days. "O, think of the home over there." Child of Enoch and Rebecca Hunter. As a tribute to both little girls this: "They the holy ones and weakly. "Who the cross of suffering bore, "Folded their pale hands and meekly. "Spoke with us on earth no more."

A little farther to the south Alice M., daughter of Wm. and Harriet Townsend, was buried. This is carved on the monument: Died November 6, 1879, aged 3 years, 6 months. "All is dark within our dwelling "Lonely is our home today, "For the one whose smile did cheer us. "Has forever passed away."

Another child who died is Clarence E., son of W. H. and M. A. Hunt: Died, Sept. 19, 1882, age 6 years, 11 months, 9 days. His epitaph is one of the most touching in the cemetery. "He died ere his expanding soul "Had ever burnt with wrong desires. "Had ever sputtered at heaven's control "Or ever quenched its sacred fires."

Just above this grave we find this: At rest, children of R. H. and Mary Skiles. "Budded on earth to bloom in Heaven. Baby, born Dec. 22, 1881, died Jan 5, 1882. Harry born Jan. 11, 1883, died Feb. 4, 1884.

One of the earlier graves is that of John, husband of Emeline Engler. Died March 28, 1876, age 68 years, 3 months, 9 days. "Farewell my wife and children all "From you a father Christ did call, "Mourn not for me, it is in vain. "To call me to your sight again." The marking on this stone is almost obliterated by the storms of half a century and the top of the monument lies toppled beside the stone.

Close by this marker is seen, "Our Little Willie," son of A. M. and M. E. Scott. Died April 6, 1883, age 2 months. "Sleep on, sweet babe, "And take thy rest, "God called Thee home, "He thought it best." And around this grave a fringe of iris holds back the advancing tangle of weeds.

The one modern touch in the whole place is the granite marker over Anna Miller's grave. No epitaph is written here, but just north of this another old monument rises to mark the place where Lina, wife

To Put Farm Relief Act Into Operation

While the president is waiting on the world conference in June and the secretary of agriculture is deciding upon the actual method of putting the farm relief act into operation, other state and federal workers are busy compiling figures and facts for the secretary to use. So far as Nebraska is concerned, A. E. Anderson at the state capitol and Harold Hedges at the agricultural college, are compiling the figures. Anderson is federal and state crop statistician. Hedges is connected with the rural economics department at the agricultural college.

Anderson is collecting his material through his regularly organized crop reporting system made up of men in each township of the state, of bankers, and other individuals who help him continually with his regular work. Neither has Hedges had any extra help nor created any extra expense to the taxpayers in his work connected with the collection of the figures and facts.

All of the data collected in Nebraska and in the other states will be used in the "commodity hearings" which the secretary of agriculture is holding. Taking wheat as a typical case, the secretary will have at his disposal a card index showing the acres sown, acres harvested, the yield per acre, and total production by counties for the five years from 1928, to 1933 inclusive.

Couple Married Here Thursday

Miss Emma Jotzke Becomes Bride of Edwin W. Naber At Wayne Church.

Miss Emma Amelia Jotzke of Carroll, and Mr. Edwin William Naber of Cook, Neb., were married Thursday, May 18, at noon at Our Redeemer's Evangelical Lutheran church in Wayne. Rev. H. A. Tackhaus performing the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Naber left immediately after a dinner at the bride's home for a few days' visit in Lincoln and Iowa. On their return they will live at a farm home which Mr. Naber prepared for his bride at Cook, Neb.

Miss Jotzke wore an ankle length dress of pale blue silk with white egg-shell yoke covered with two shades of golden colored beads, light beige slippers and accessories to match. Miss Anna Naber, sister of the bridegroom, wore blue also with accessories to match. Edward Jotzke attended Mr. Naber as best man and both wore dark suits.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Edward C. Jotzke of Carroll and has spent all her life in this community. Mr. Naber is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Naber of Talmage, Neb. He has spent his life on a farm in Otoe county.

Many friends extend sincere good wishes to the young folks.

HERE'S A THREE-WAY HOUSE

THIS house can be built three ways — to suit your pocket book. It's really a "house with a future." Additional rooms may be added at any time without disturbing its architectural beauty. How seldom has that been accomplished in the past!

You may want five rooms and no garage. You may want them with the garage. You may require seven rooms. You can have your choice in this "Key Homes" plan.

Build the home now — the garage later — and then fill in the section in between. That's what people are doing now — planning ahead to make today's dollar count.

All "Key Homes" have been designed to make today's dollar stretch the limit. Copper tubing for water supply, engineered by the American Brass Company, is a good buy today and economical over the years. That's just one example. Let us tell you this new story of "Key Homes." VALUE

A NEW IDEA

CAREFUL planning and engineering by these manufacturers, or experts retained by them, have reduced the cost of the small house and improved its value. Never before could one own a home with less investment and with smaller maintenance bills. All the value of these manufacturers' research knowledge and expense is yours in a "Key Home."

Then we find a stone marked "Father" in memory of Geo. Hunter, died July 5, 1888, aged 81 years, 9 months, 16 days. Just south Enoch Hunter rests. On his stone, this: Company 1, 12th Illinois cavalry. In this same plot Patience Kliza Hunter and Minnie Bell Hunter are buried. On these stones are marked, for Patience, died Sept. 24, 1881, aged 10 years, 9 months, 5 days: "These ashes form this little dust. "Our Mother's care shall keep. "Till the last angel hiss and break. "The long and dreary sleep."

And for Minnie Bell: Died August 29, 1879, age 1 year, 3 months, 21 days. "O, think of the home over there." Child of Enoch and Rebecca Hunter. As a tribute to both little girls this: "They the holy ones and weakly. "Who the cross of suffering bore, "Folded their pale hands and meekly. "Spoke with us on earth no more."

A little farther to the south Alice M., daughter of Wm. and Harriet Townsend, was buried. This is carved on the monument: Died November 6, 1879, aged 3 years, 6 months. "All is dark within our dwelling "Lonely is our home today, "For the one whose smile did cheer us. "Has forever passed away."

Another child who died is Clarence E., son of W. H. and M. A. Hunt: Died, Sept. 19, 1882, age 6 years, 11 months, 9 days. His epitaph is one of the most touching in the cemetery. "He died ere his expanding soul "Had ever burnt with wrong desires. "Had ever sputtered at heaven's control "Or ever quenched its sacred fires."

Just above this grave we find this: At rest, children of R. H. and Mary Skiles. "Budded on earth to bloom in Heaven. Baby, born Dec. 22, 1881, died Jan 5, 1882. Harry born Jan. 11, 1883, died Feb. 4, 1884.

One of the earlier graves is that of John, husband of Emeline Engler. Died March 28, 1876, age 68 years, 3 months, 9 days. "Farewell my wife and children all "From you a father Christ did call, "Mourn not for me, it is in vain. "To call me to your sight again." The marking on this stone is almost obliterated by the storms of half a century and the top of the monument lies toppled beside the stone.

Close by this marker is seen, "Our Little Willie," son of A. M. and M. E. Scott. Died April 6, 1883, age 2 months. "Sleep on, sweet babe, "And take thy rest, "God called Thee home, "He thought it best." And around this grave a fringe of iris holds back the advancing tangle of weeds.

The one modern touch in the whole place is the granite marker over Anna Miller's grave. No epitaph is written here, but just north of this another old monument rises to mark the place where Lina, wife

Quality

BY BUYING NOW YOU SAVE ON USED CARS

Used cars will undoubtedly be higher later on the same as everything else. Since January 1, 1929, our records show that we have DISPOSED OF 923 USED CARS. There must be a reason. Here are some of the reasons:

1. Our cars are priced right.
2. They are properly reconditioned.
3. They satisfy the buyers.
4. GMAC financing charges are low.

We are listing below a few of the cars we now have for sale

1928 Pontiac Coach $150.00

This car has been reconditioned with new genuine Pontiac pistons, rings, and pins, bearings tightened, valves ground, good rubber and a good trunk on it.

1929 Chevrolet Sedan $45.00

This is a nice looking Fordor Sedan and runs just as good as it looks. We have gone all over this car and guarantee it to be in first class condition and it also has good rubber on it.

1928 Whippet Sport Coupe $75.00

This is a nice little car, runs very well and it has not been necessary for us to do any work on it. I am sure that this car is a mighty good buy at only

1929 Whippet Sedan $95.00

This car is in very good shape and would make a nice low priced family car. We have it priced for this sale at —

1926 Pontiac Fordor Sedan $125.00

We have had this car in stock quite a little while and it is a very nice car, runs nicely and is nice looking. It is going out of stock during this sale. Come in and make us an offer on it.

1926 Nash Coach $125.00

This car is good looking and a good serviceable car. It is a car that will give someone who can use a big car a lot of service for the money we are asking for it.

1925 Dodge Coach $35.00

We have just put in a new timing chain, a new battery and done quite a little other work on this car and we are going to let it go for only —

New 1932 Chevrolet Pick-up

This car was carried over from last year and it is a brand new car. We are going to make a very good price on it during the sale as we want to move it. If you are interested, come in and see it.

WE ALSO HAVE SOME OTHER MODELS. COME IN AND LOOK THEM OVER
