

SUMMER TERM TO OPEN SOON

Registration At Wayne State College Begins Saturday Of This Week.

Wayne State Teachers College summer session opens this week Saturday and it is estimated that attendance will be about the same as last summer.

Registration for the first period will be conducted Saturday, June 3, beginning at 10:30 a. m. and closing at 5 p. m.

Chapel will be held each Wednesday at 8:30 a. m. Miss Kathryn Haganir who is taking a Mediterranean cruise this summer, Miss Amy Chateaufort who will visit home folks in New Jersey, and Miss Maybeth Bowman who is visiting in Utah, will not be teaching this summer.

All dormitories are open for the summer and a number of rooms are spoken for now. Budget committee announces lecture course for the summer period.

Cornish players open the program June 5. The Quartets trio comes June 22. Josephine Luchessa sings June 29.

Miss Mildred G. Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ross of this city, will become the bride of August G. Olson of Chicago, at a prettily arranged ceremony in the Ross home this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The bride was born in Dixon, and is a graduate of Wayne high school and of the Wayne State Teachers college. She taught at Liberty consolidated school near Newman Grove and has been on the faculty of Wakefield school the past four years, teaching the second and third grades.

Following the ceremony, a three-course luncheon will be served, then Mr. and Mrs. Olson will leave for Sioux City where they will stop over before going on to Ames, Ia., for a brief visit, and then to their home in Chicago.

The bride was born in Dixon, and is a graduate of Wayne high school and of the Wayne State Teachers college. She taught at Liberty consolidated school near Newman Grove and has been on the faculty of Wakefield school the past four years, teaching the second and third grades.

Guests at wedding will include members of the immediate family, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wert of near Wayne, Miss Margaret Mumberson of Norfolk, Miss Stella Ogan of Madison, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ross and Shirley of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Olson and son of Ames, Iowa, Mrs. H. C. Capsey and Miss Alice Ross of Lander, Wyo.

Mrs. Olson's going-away frock will be of grey silk crepe with matching accessories.

Cars Collide Monday. Cars driven by Mrs. J. C. Carhart and W. C. Fox collided Monday afternoon at the hospital corner on Main street and the machines were damaged somewhat.

ROA DISCUSSED BY ANIANS AT MEET MONDAY

Following the program on Monday, Kiwanians discussed the building of state highways with ways to accommodate west and northwest parts of the county under main consideration. A concluding motion directed the road committee to use its best endeavors to speed up action on any proposed highway offering possibilities for earliest construction.

REV. H. C. CAPSEY IN RADIO TALKS

Memorial And Poppy Days Are Featured In Herald Broadcast Here.

Miss Jeanne and Miss Betty Wright played piano numbers for the Wayne Herald radio broadcast last Thursday. Wisner talent furnished the program for Friday, Mrs. Lee Harvey, accompanied by Mrs. Clara Butterfield, sang, "The high school quartet including John McGuire, Owen Kane, Jr., LeRoy Schwarzl and Albert Schmidt, sang, Editor and Mrs. H. H. Humphrey accompanied the group.

Miss Trella Morris, who instructs in tap dancing, gave a radio tap dance Saturday morning. Miss Ruth Morris played her accompaniment.

Miss Louise Rickabaugh sang two selections for Mrs. Robert Perrin who was 90 years old Saturday. A poppy day period was also featured on Saturday's broadcast.

Rev. H. C. Capsey, Methodist pastor, then spoke on "Poppy Day." He said "Millions of Americans will wear the little blood-red poppy of Flanders fields today, in memory of those gallant American boys who sacrificed their lives in the World War. The wearing of the poppy is no empty dream. The idea sprang up as naturally as the little wild poppy grows in the fields of France and Belgium. It took root spontaneously in England, Canada, France and the United States until the flower became the almost universally recognized symbol of World War sacrifice.

"The little poppy was the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction along the battle front. It seemed to be the one immortal thing in that region where death reigned and so the soldiers of all nations came to connect the poppy with thoughts of their dead comrades.

"The little red poppy," Rev. Capsey said in closing, "stands for sacrifice. It represents a blood memorial for those who died. It means help for broken bodies and injured minds. Everyone can have a part in this memorial and in this service."

Hazel Capsey and Dolores McNatt sang after Rev. Capsey's talk, and Mrs. L. W. McNatt read a poem written by Mrs. W. H. Phillips.

Memorial Feature.

Memorial day feature was sponsored on the radio hour Monday by William Beckenhauer. Rev. H. C. Capsey spoke. Miss Dorothy and Miss Opal Beckenhauer of Wakefield, sang selections.

"When at the close of the Civil war three women went to Friendship cemetery in Columbus, Miss., to clear the graves of the soldier dead and place on them wreaths of flowers," said Rev. Capsey, "they did not know the momentous thing they were doing. Their action led to the first public observance of Memorial day at Columbus April 25, 1868.

YEAR'S BUDGET ADOPTED HERE

Council Cuts Substantial Sum From Estimate For Needs Of City.

The city council in its meeting Monday night put the helm of the city government over the budget and steered its way through three important matters. One was a reduction in the estimate for the city budget of $18,400; another, a proposed budget of $6,000 from the Wayne Woman's club toward building a city auditorium; and the other, granting building permit to Sam Sadden to erect a filling station on the empty lot at the northeast corner of Third and Main streets.

In pruning the budget estimate down savings were effected in the operation costs of the light plant, the water plant, the musical and amusement organizations and in the general fund. The amount to be used for interest on bonds and the sinking fund was the only item raised. Next year's estimate is placed at $30,000 instead of this year's $20,000. This step was taken in view of the fact that the bonded indebtedness, in round numbers is now $465,000 and the increase will serve to retire it in a shorter period of time.

Estimates in Detail. Following are accepted estimates for 1933: Light plant, $39,000; water plant, $9,000; parks, $2,000; library, $3,000; bonds, interest and sinking fund, $30,000; sewers, repairs, etc., $1,200; streets and alleys, $6,500; fire department, $2,000; highways; upkeep on roads leading into city, $1,200; musical and amusement organizations, $2,000; general fund, salaries, supplies and incidentals, $15,000. The estimates for 1932: Light plant, $60,000; water plant, $11,000; parks, $2,000; library, $3,000; bonds, interest and sinking fund, $30,000.

Hearing In Case Is Set Saturday

Peter Christensen of Carroll, charged with contempt of court and with failure to disclose assets, will be tried in Wayne county court Saturday morning at 9. Mr. Christensen and George Bodendsted had an oil station at Carroll some months ago. The state is suing them for $375.15 claimed due on gasoline tax. The Quaker Petroleum Co. is suing for $216.24 and the Continental Oil Co. for $730.59, claimed due on gasoline and oils bought.

Hearing was set for last Saturday and Christensen failed to appear. Contempt of court action was then filed. Defendant appeared Monday and the cases were continued until Saturday.

Annual Poppy Sale Is Well Supported

Members of the American Legion auxiliary, directed by Mrs. E. E. Gailey, held their annual poppy drive last Saturday, and netted about $126 which will be used for rehabilitation work among veterans of the World War. The residential districts were canvassed that morning, and poppies sold on the streets during afternoon and evening. Mrs. Frank Heine and Mrs. Gertrude Phillips served as subchairs of the drive, and several local girls assisted.

HOLDS OPEN HOUSE HERE ON BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Ellen Perrin was 90 years old Saturday and held open house for friends that day. A number called, and Mrs. Perrin also received many messages of congratulation. Mrs. Harry Luckey, her daughter, and Mrs. Alice Rickabaugh served the guests.

Plan Kittenball Series of Games

Wayne Leagues Organized This Week With Number Of Players Entered.

Wayne Kittenball leagues, sponsored by the Young Business Men's club, were organized on a city-wide basis last Friday evening when managers and representatives of various teams met at the Beckenhauer parlors. Ray R. Larson was chosen president of the leagues, Bill Holmes, secretary-treasurer and Willard Wittke, secretary of schedules. A set of rules governing the players and the playing season was also adopted.

Those definitely planning to enter teams for the season's opening day, Monday, June 5 are: League 1, Chicago and Northwestern railroad, the American Legion, Post Office and the Logan Valley dairy; League 2, U and I store, the Wayne Cleaners, Kiwanis club and Young Business Men's club. Later two other teams made up of students at the college summer session are expected to enter with possibilities of enough to form three leagues.

Each team will be scheduled to play two games each week and playing nights were set as Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Watson Gough will be chief umpire and arrange for two umpires at each game.

At the end of the season the champion team in each league will play a championship series and by this time it is expected that some fast kittenball will be seen. For those who have never seen a game it might be explained that kittenball is played like baseball except that the diamond is half the size and a larger, semi-hard ball is used.

These rules, in brief, will govern the playing in the leagues. Each team must play 24 games, the season officially opening June 5. Each club roster cannot include over 15 men who must be registered at the college or live in Wayne. Every player must be under contract and his name handed in to the secretary before the season's opening. A player can play only on one team unless released and then he cannot go back to the team releasing him. A fee of 10c is charged to release or sign on a player after the season's opening.

"A player plays in the championship series he must have been a member of one of the champion teams for at least six games before the close of the season. Games are called for 7 p. m. sharp and notification of inability to play as scheduled must be made to opposing team captain by the captain of the team unable to play on or before noon of the playing day. All games will be played under the rules found in Spalding's "Official Rules of Playground Baseball."

Managers or captains of kittenball teams are urged to hand the lists of names of their players to Bill Holmes at the Herald office no later than Saturday noon. Failure to do this will mean payment of the 10c fee per player or loss of the first scheduled game.

Scout Council Plans Camping

Girl scout council met Monday evening and considered plans for a benefit picture show in June, the funds to be used for the girl scout camp this summer. Camp dates will probably begin July 24. Miss Elizabeth Beeler, field director, who spends two weeks the last of June at the Sioux City scout camp, will be in Wayne to meet with scouts and leaders Monday and Tuesday, July 1 and 2.

SPEAKER URGES MORE DEFENSE

Robert D. Flory Outlines Proposed Legislation Asked By Legion.

"Some say another great war is not possible, but nations are better prepared for war today than ever before, with the exception of the United States," said Robert D. Flory of Albion, national vice-commander of the American Legion and former state commander, in his Memorial address at the Gay theatre Tuesday morning. "In case of war, we would be in the same fix in this country that we were in the World War—dependent upon the Allies for war implements for 17 months before we could get our machinery in order. Fully 80 per cent of our World War casualties were caused by not knowing how to take care of our men. Our officers and men were untrained—we pitted officers with 90 days of training against those with eight or 10 years of active service.

"It is so easy to forget the past 150 years of strife, the Civil War, the Spanish-American war, and the great World War and their many tragedies and suffering. The generation coming on will not remember the World War, but we offer ones do and should profit by it."

Commenting on the legislation for national defense which has been urged by the Legion, Mr. Flory recalled the National Defense act passed in 1920 which provided for a national guard numbering 150,000 men, and the Universal Draft act which would provide for taking over factories and all utilities in case of war, thereby removing all profits. This act was first brought up in 1922 and has passed the house several times, but never been able to hurdle the senate, due to the influence of wealthy easterners. These men grouped together in the National Economy league and sought to reduce taxes, recommitment.

Marriage Of Local Girl Is Announced

Friends of the former Miss Alice Philbin have just learned of her marriage to Mr. George Hollman, which took place in Vermillion, S. D., on May 26, 1932. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Neely attended the couple. The bride was born at Butte, and attended high school here in Wayne, making her home with her mother, Mrs. A. Philbin. The past year she has lived at the Neely home. Mr. Hollman is the son of Mrs. Sophie Hollman of northeast of Wayne, and has been farming the home place. The couple moved into the Claycomb house near the Hollman farm Monday, and Mr. Hollman will continue to farm.

Filling Station To Be Built Here

Construction of a new modern filling station on the corner of Third and Main streets in Wayne will be started within 10 days by Sam Sadden, who owns the lots. The Phillips "66" company has leased the property for 10 years. Mr. Sadden plans to use 50x80 space for the station. The structure will be all brick and the type design used by the company. Mr. Sadden may erect another building later on the 50 by 70 lot which will remain east of the station. Theobald Lumber company will furnish the material and labor.

MASONIC LODGE ELECTS OFFICERS

Masonic lodge elected officers Friday evening as follows: Ralph L. Crockett, master; Henry E. Ley, senior warden; Dr. W. M. Hawkins, junior warden; Judge J. M. Cherry, secretary; and L. B. McClure, treasurer. Others will be appointed and all will be installed June 9.

ROOSTER DAYS TO BE IN WAYNE ON FRIDAY-SATURDAY

FRIDAY and Saturday of this week have been designated in Wayne as "Rooster" days, when a price above the market will be paid for barnyard songsters. Certain produce buyers and a number of business houses, listed elsewhere in the Herald, are cooperating to help farmers get rid of their roosters at an advanced quotation. Rooster scrip will be issued by produce men, and this scrip will be as good as cash at places of business mentioned. Dealers are offering many special bargains according to advertisements in the Herald. It does not take a chicken expert to know that roosters are good for nothing at this time except to help out the food supply, and that the sooner they are immolated on the altar of the human appetite, the sooner will savings be effected. The cry now is to rid flocks of useless roosters and the above market price is offered to speed up the riddance with increased pecuniary advantage to chicken owners. So, bring the old roosters to Wayne Friday and Saturday and score extra profit.

CIVIL VETERANS KIWANIS GUESTS

Music and Address Appropriate to Memorial Day At Club Gathering.

Memorial day spread its softening mantle over Kiwanis meeting Monday noon as a program appropriate to the day was presented. A. J. Hyatt and R. P. Williams, sole survivors of Casey post, G. A. R., were honor guests of the club, and were accorded a rising salute. Miss Dorothy and Miss Opal Beckenhauer of Wakefield, sang three songs that originated in the Civil War period. They were "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," "We Shall Meet But We Shall Miss Him" and "Just Before the Battle Mother." They were presented by their cousin, William Beckenhauer.

P. L. March introduced Mrs. S. A. Lutgen who gave an interesting and informative explanation and history of what she said was termed the greatest painting of all times, "The Last Supper." This painting of Leonardo DaVinci, an Italian artist sculptor, mathematician, poet, author, astronomer and scientist of the middle ages, was done life size and took 45 years to complete. It pictures Christ and the twelve apostles in the little "upper room" in Jerusalem on the eve of Judas' betrayal. DaVinci believed that each apostle represented a type and he searched long for the originals for his painting and into each one put all the mastery of his brush, and the keen perception of his mind.

It is interesting to know that the room he chose to represent the upper room was the dining room in the monastery at Milan and in getting the table to look exactly as he wanted it he spent ten years. Mrs. Lutgen used a reproduction of the painting to illustrate her talk and looking at the picture the disciples from left to right are: Nathaniel, the beautiful, witty follower, then James the lesser who was wealthy and modest. Next to him Andrew, who found the lad with the five barley loaves and fishes and the first to suffer martyrdom. These constitute one group. Peter the brave and strong is grouped with Judas the betrayer and thief and John, the youngest of the disciples and to whom Christ gave, from the cross, the charge of keeping Mary, His mother. John is the symbol of love. The Christ was painted ten times before the master was satisfied and then with his eyes downcast.

In the group to the right of Christ, Thomas the doubter, impetuous James the greater, and Phillip of the weak face and slow comprehension are seen, followed by Matthew the wealthy tax collector, Thaddeus of whom nothing is known and Andrew who headed a Jewish sect and who was a master of organization.

A painting so familiar in outline becomes vividly stamped on the viewer's mind when it is so described. The spirit that moved the artist evinces itself and each figure and detail carries a significance that otherwise is lost. It drives home the conviction that painting after all is not merely a matter of daubing a canvas with oil paint. For, as Mrs. Lutgen said, "The teaching of this painting is still as strong today as it always was, and will perpetuate for centuries. The original for Simon Peter, Thaddeus and Andrew was a grey-headed fisherman and accounts for the similar appearance of these three in the painting. The motif (Continued on Page Seven)

PLAN PROGRAM FOR BIG CLASS

Herbert L. Cushing of Lincoln, Addresses Eighth Graders Friday.

Annual Wayne county eighth grade promotion exercises will be held Friday, June 2, at 2:30 at the Gay theatre with Miss Pearl Sewell presiding, and 128 will receive diplomas. Herbert L. Cushing of Lincoln, deputy state superintendent, will give the address.

During the address played by Leona Hagerman of district theatre and take places reserved for them. Rev. H. C. Capsey will give the invocation. Donald Grief, seventh grader in district 15, will sing, "Henry Vanhemp, eighth grader in district 40, will give a reading, "The Synthetic Milking Machine." Wilbur Radfield, fifth grade pupil of district 21, will present a yodelling number. Fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the Sholes school, directed by Mrs. Faye Hegstrom, will demonstrate the Knighthood of Youth work. Mr. Cushing gives his address, and the program closes with group songs by the class and with presentation of diplomas and announcement of honors by Miss Sewell.

The eighth graders meet at the court house Friday at 1:45 to march together to the theatre.

Is Found Guilty On Liquor Charge

Liquor and a goat led to trouble for John Ulrich last Saturday. The Ulrichs have a goat, Mr. Ulrich, who had too much liquor, tied the goat in a neighbor's yard. The neighbor objected and Ulrich declined to abide by the request to take the animal home. An officer was called to arrest Ulrich for intoxication. As Ulrich was trying to resist being taken to court, his wife came to his help by using a ball bat on the officer. The two were almost too much for one to handle, but the officer managed to get Ulrich to his car and lodge him in the city jail. Ulrich was still unruly and he broke the jail window and bent some of the bars. He was then taken to the county jail and was given time to calm down.

Ulrich was tried in county court May 27 and was found guilty of intoxication. He was assessed a fine of $25 and costs of $11.58. And he appealed to the district court. X-ray of Ulrich's head was taken and the picture shows no broken bones.

Cases Are Filed In District Court

Replevin action was filed in district court May 26 by Mrs. Mary Nielsen of Norfolk, against Sheriff A. W. Stephens. Mrs. Nielsen seeks to regain the car which the county seized some months ago with stolen harness and liquor. Mrs. Nielsen claims the car was hers and not the property of the man driving it.

E. H. Luikhart, receiver of the Security State Bank of Wakefield, has filed suit on stockholders' liability against Fred S. Ueicht, et al. John Ulrich's appeal on liquor charge was filed in district court.

Car Is Wrecked Here Early Monday

John Gathje, who is employed at the Ed. Cauwe farm, wrecked his car about 2:30 Monday morning when he fell asleep at the wheel and smashed into the corner of a truck parked in front of the C. C. Powers residence on south Main street. Mr. Gathje was not hurt.

Power Off Last Sunday

Lights flickered, dimmed, then faded out about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, leaving Wayne folks radioless in the semi-darkness of a rainy spring day. A pole out west of town was blown over by the wind, and power shut off for about 15 minutes.

Along The Way

(By Bill Holmes)

There's an old saying, "It takes all kinds of people to make a world," and necessarily, there are all kinds of people in it. And their interests are as varied as the number of people. A visit around the routes is enough to prove it.

Here in Wayne county nearly every farm or farm home has something different about it. As Marion Pullen's, for instance, Mrs. Pullen is raising over 600 chickens, and Mrs. Pullen says they are the farmers' living. "I'm going to have five in about two weeks," she said. Here is assurance that the winter is definitely a thing of the past for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Olson, who haven't been married so very long, are Herald readers as their parents are. "We like the Herald," Mrs. Olson explained, "because it has all the Wakefield news and everything else that happens in it."

Over at Anton Borg's there is a grove of fine, big trees and they'll make enough firewood for years to come. Roy Sundell has his front yard sodded and he solved the grass cutting problem by turning half a dozen sheep into it. Mr. Sundell was one of the many farmers who said, "The rise in prices has given more confidence to the farmer and he believes the farm picture will be much brighter next fall."

On the Ring place, tenanted by E. E. Erickson, a new six-room house is being built to replace the one destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. Rising, as it does on the ashes of the fire, it symbolizes the new hopes and cheerful outlook of Wayne county farmers. And an example of a farmer's being a jack of all trades, was seen as Elmer Lindquist was fitting some sheet tin around a shaft on his planter to enable him to finish his corn planting.

Mrs. Arthur Munson chooses brown leghorns to raise. There are not many flocks to be seen along the routes, but Mrs. Munson declares they are the best layers. In one corner of the yard a little wren house was perched precariously atop a pole and it looked as though it had its summer renters back in it. At Carl Sundell's a perfect illustration of the old saying "fally as a goose" was seen. Beside one corner of the barn a goose was setting on a nest of hay and vigorously hissing and flapping at everything that came within five feet. Finally, when forced to raise clear of the nest one saw nothing but feathers. The goose was pugnaciously defending an empty nest.

The Harry Robinsons who lived for the past 15 years in Martin, S. Dakota now back on their old home place. They have begun already to build up a well improved farm by sodding the yard.

Wm. Victor raises purebred hogs. His pens were full of sows with litters but out in the front yard a single snow white rabbit keeps vigil in a little pen. It was the only one seen along the way.

Pete Lundgren, who came over from Sweden a short nine years ago, when talking a little about Americanization said, "The reason people don't get more done than they do is because either they don't want to or they don't try to." This might easily apply to almost anything one can think of. A short way up the road a brown rat-like figure was seen skulking along in the alfalfa fringing the road. Then a streak of fur bolted out of that fringe at a turtle dove feeding in the road. A flutter of feathers—the distraught cries of the companion bird—and the mink dragged the stricken bird back into the alfalfa. How suddenly tragedy and death strike a discordant note in a scene of peace and quiet.

Vernon Rebensdorf who is a new

Herald reader has the system for planting corn. He hooks a four row planter behind a tractor and plants 80 acres in a day and a half. That is speed. Lawrence Ring voiced the opinion that this fall will see the turning point upwards, in the farm picture. Down one entire side of his yard one can see a row of bridal wreath along the fence.

Fred Victor's barnyard is a big one. There are 15 or more buildings on it and every one in use. P. C. Hammer always has a few turkeys in his chicken flocks. These birds with chicken bodies and turkey necks and heads are meatier than a chicken and their meat is whiter. He also has three baby beaves, a Hereford, a Shorthorn and a black Angus, that his sons and daughter are raising for the 4-H prize.

Judging from what can be seen, John Geewe is raising the biggest herd of swine. Hundreds of Hampshires and Spotted Poland-Chinas were feeding around the pasture.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frevert have a fine, big modern home and surrounding it a big garden and rows of evergreens. Mrs. Frevert, while talking about the farm situation said "People are still traveling at too fast a pace. They'll have to learn to work more and play less before things change much." Mr. Frevert believes that one of the best tonics for the world's ailments is more hard work and staying home a little more.

Albert Killion is one of the many farmers who has taken up feeding sheep. With the price of wool at 20 cents a pound and a good market always for lambs, he feels that the prospects for the coming year are the best they have been for some time. A short way up the road, Herbie Hansen was ingeniously planting popcorn with his planter. By mixing in about an equal amount of moulded field corn that wouldn't grow anyway he found that the popcorn worked nicely in his planter.

Wm. Fehrs, who retired 33 years ago from active farming said, "If things don't get better pretty soon I'll have to go back to work, but everything looks better now." Mr. and Mrs. Fehrs keep busy fixing little things around the place and in tending their garden. Another way up the road everything was in order was Chester Hansen's. Along the west side of the grove two rows of trees have been planted.

In Herman Huntemann's yard is a big patch of horseradish. In fact, north of the house the yard is all grown up with it. It was topped with fragile, yellow-white blooms that somehow didn't seem to fit the strong root in the ground. John N. Johnson, who is the father of the Johnson triplets, is one farmer who won't be rebuffed by adversity. He is carrying on this spring again with just a little more spirit and he thinks the farm situation is the best in years.

Henry Tarnow is another farmer who is feeding sheep. His parents were among the first to settle in Wayne county and his mother, Mrs. Lena Tarnow, still lives a little east of his place in a new, modern home. Henry has an airlead dog that has a penchant for green onions, and he eats them just like meat. Herman Baker was dragging a corn field on the day we passed. What a contrast to 15 years ago when he was a doughboy in France, fighting in the Argonne. Mr. Baker was wounded in the shoulder then and it bothers him even now. Mrs. Baker said, "The first thing I do Thursday morning after the Wayne Herald comes is to sit down and read every word in it." Mrs. Baker has been away from home but little but the Herald has brought the world to her.

One of the best upkept farmyards along the way is that of Carl Doose. There's not a stick or stone in the barnyard. The house is surrounded with a well-kept lawn and along the west and north side new groves of trees and evergreens are growing. William E. Korth thinks he has as good a corn planter as made. To the sceptic he jacks up one wheel, trips it a hundred times and drops corn out 98, which is about as perfect as machinery can be made to work.

Carl A. Swanson thinks that the man in the city who has a salaried position is the best off during times of depression and the city worker out of work in the worst. He too, voiced the opinion that business is on the upgrade and after a number of reversals is going ahead. It was here that a chicken with one foot turned backwards and greatly enlarged, was hobbling. Undersized, thin—it seemed as though all its growth was going in to that deformity. How like a human character in which an evil far outgrows the good.

Henry Greve advises farmers to raise their own pigs. "You can't always come out ahead by buying hogs in the fall to feed," he said. But over a ten year period he thinks that hogs are the best investment a farmer can make. Incidentally he devised a way to keep his sons on the farm. Five years ago, he bought them each a few ewes, furnished the feed for the wool crop and told his sons to raise sheep. Today they have over a hundred ewes and a hundred lambs and have cleared aggregately, nearly a thousand dollars. Around the corner at H. R. Worth's, Mr. Worth was repairing a gas motor and he says that the farm prospects are brighter and there is a chance of their getting even more so.

Across the road was seen one of the finest gardens along the way. It was on the Henry Hilke place. And then down the road to Rev. W. A. Gerdes'. Here is a minister who knows baseball from the big leagues down, whose hobby is hunting and he has two thoroughbred spaniels, and who is equally as conversant on religion or politics. Frank Longe has the idea for keeping corn in open ricks. He caps it with loads of hay, weighed down with logs. It provides a watershed for the rick.

Henry Korth thinks that hogs should be even higher than they are. "We had to sell what we had here last cost, and we are entitled to make up for what we lost, some way," he said. Carl Brudigan lost a number of his hogs through a sort of pneumonia, but he is going ahead with raising a new lot, and he is another believer in raising purebred stock. Herman Longe is a criterion of an every day truisim. Although he has lost in bank failures and value shrinkage his attitude is still one of hope and courage, in direct contrast to the pessimism of some of the younger farmers. Age's experience bolsters courage and matures judgment to do away with the panicky feeling that comes with hard times.

Rudolph Longe has taken over the charge of a neighbor's mare that has the bad habit of kicking most everything it comes to. Recently he pastured it with some lambs and it kicked one of them to death. A chronic kicker is never much good for anything. Herman Thompson is another farmer who is feeding sheep. His last wool crop averaged about nine pounds per head. And he has a vineyard that produces about 30 bushels of grapes each season.

Rudolph Hammer, between shelling corn and routing the rats out of his outbuildings, says he has been busier than he was in corn planting time, and he's sure we've reached the millennium, too. Fred Melne said that things had better get better or there won't be anybody left when they do, but his corn is coming up in good shape and he feels encouraged. Mrs. Melne who has been on the farm 51 years and who has worked in the fields for 27 of those has been sick for some time, but she's going ahead with her chicken raising. She values health as the greatest asset one can have.

Reinhold Wiese is living in the William Harrison house and what a show place that must have been a few years ago. It has 38 rooms in it and 48 doors, a steam heat plant and about every other convenience one could put in a house. The barns around it match its colossal size. C. H. Leonard is feeding 250 head of fine cattle but not farming quite as hard as he was. He was the first one seen cutting alfalfa, and he had a good stand, even last week.

C. A. Kinney, who has farmed for 38 years in Wayne county and has extensive holdings says this: "This land is the finest in the state. It has a firm, heavy subsoil that grows anything better than they can grow it anywhere else. We've never had a crop failure here in 38 years and only one crop was short." That is truly an enviable record. He thinks that land values will never be as cheap as they are right now.

Mr. Kinney's two married sons, John and Charles, Jr., are farming on their father's land, and it looks as if they were going to be able to "wear their father's shoes" in good style.

Out in back of Ruddy Longe's yard is an open-sided, thatched roofed building that became the home of two or three hens that wouldn't stay penned up. Catching them and penning them up does no good for they go back to the woods and the outbuildings at the first chance and they're as wild as turkeys. One hardly expects domesticated, staid old biddy to "go native" like this, but perhaps it is another proof that, after all the veneer of civilization is a bit thin.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Phillips were in Sioux City Saturday before last. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Phillips attended baccalaureate exercises at Norfolk high school Sunday evening, May 21. Their son, Maurice, was a member of the class. Rev. and Mrs. Fritz Miller of McNeely, S. D., visited the former's parents here from Wednesday until Saturday last week, on route home from Milwaukee, Wis., where they were with Mrs. Miller's parents for a month. Maurice Phillips was a member of the graduating class of Norfolk high school this spring, and was the youngest of a class of 127 which received diplomas May 25. He was awarded membership in Quill and Scroll, national journalistic society, for superior work done in journalism during his school career. Five thousand students marched in Berlin's bonfire parade "singing Nazi songs and college melodies." Such as "Keep the Home Fires Burning?"—New York Herald Tribune.

GOLDEN RULE

Store-wide WEEK Store-wide Sale

OUR GOLDEN RULE WEEK means more to you than ever before for prices are rising. Every day we are receiving advances. There is hardly a single item featured in this sale that has not gone up from 10 to 20 percent since it was bought. It would be more profitable for us to allow this merchandise to be sold in the regular way at regular prices, but Golden Rule Week is an institution with the Brown-Ekberg Company. For years we have devoted a week to special selling, and under no circumstances would we do away with it for the sake of immediate profits. We emphasize, therefore, the fact that you should come and supply your immediate needs.

In spite of all the publicity given on propaganda for world peace, there probably will be the usual chines, horses and mules are taking the lead. The report adds that the level of prices for goods which farmers buy, was kept down, and therefore increased farm prices made equally increased buying power. But farm prices are still below the pre-war level, and industrial heads will be wise to avoid commodity price advances until farmers catch up and recover some of their lost ground.

The laconic expression, "Get fast action and cut the speeches short," was the instruction issued by President Roosevelt as members of the United States delegation sailed for the London conference. The conference has a lot of business to do, and the sooner it is done, it is believed the sooner will the world feel relieved. These four propositions before the meeting are considered paramount: "Revive trade by stabilizing monetary exchanges and lowering tariff barriers; raise prices of silver, wheat, and other basic commodities by international action; create employment by simultaneous governmental programs of public works construction; revive private business and raise prices by central banks' credit expansion."

The railroads have awakened to the need of combining speed with comfort in competing with automobiles and airplanes. The Union Pacific is installing a train that travels at a maximum speed of 110 miles an hour. We would be willing to travel that much slower than an airplane in view of the assurance that if anything happened we would already be on the ground and would not have to sail through space with certain consequences before anyone could figure out the damage done.

The fellow who gets into business for himself in the belief that his investment licenses him to be off the job at his pleasure, is seriously mistaken. If he makes a success, he must stick closer to his last than the most faithful employee. Proprietorship not only increases the burden of responsibility, but it means putting in time without regard to limitations known as "regular hours."

Investigation of the Morgan banking house is revealing a lot of distinguished individuals who showed doubtful judgment by accepting stocks handled by the big company, and in the group Secretary Woodin of the treasury department appears. Therefore, his resignation as secretary of the treasury is being discussed with the predominant opinion favoring his retirement.

A welcome rain Sunday put the ground in shape for the spell of sunshine and heat that followed. Vegetation is now growing luxuriantly. From past observation of weather habits, we conclude that a fall of moisture once a week will be the rule, and this arrangement will be very satisfactory.

At the rate automobiles are killing people, the argument that wars are necessary to reduce overpopulation falls flat. The fear of overpopulation is being removed by carelessly driven cars.

SECURITIES.

A new securities measure has been signed by the president, and it is now law. It requires the absolute truth in connection with the sale of securities, and it makes the unsophisticated and credulous less easily gulled. As prosperity ascends, opportunities to invest in the stocks of numerous new ventures may be invited as they were when business was at high tide before. Doubtless there will be sound as well as worthless investments offered in the future as in the past, but with lessons learned, extraordinary precautions should be taken to avoid unnecessary risk and many possible losses. The best and surest investment is in property, especially in land, in one's own neighborhood. It is surest because its value is best known and its future is most easily watched. Stick to home investments and play safe.

Young Business Men In Meeting

Wayne Young Business Men's club met last evening at Hotel Stratton with A. J. Hyatt and R. P. Williams, Civil war veterans, as special guests. President Burr Davis called on each for talks and the men responded briefly. J. R. Miller and L. E. McClure were elected for offices of directors.

The club voted to investigate the state's aid in eradication of creeping juniper. A committee was named to get information which will be sent in a bulletin issued by the club to farmers of the vicinity. Don Beckenhauer, H. D. Addison and D. S. Wightman have charge.

Finish Courses At University

Miss Harriet Craven receives a master's degree at the state university in Lincoln next Monday. William Horsham of Wayne, also receives a master's degree. Miss Evelyn Felber, Miss Jane VonSeggern, Miss Miriam Huse and Franklin Phillee receive bachelor degrees. Lester Krotcher receives his doctor's degree from the medical college. Walter Earl and Horace Albert also finish courses. Miss Marjorie Ley will finish next year, and William VonSeggern will complete his work later.

Form Tennis Club For Wayne Players

Local tennis enthusiasts have grouped together in a tennis club, with D. H. Larson as chairman, and Frank Korff as secretary. The members are having two double courts, smoothed off on the lots east of Bressler park. These should be ready for play in a couple of days. About 25 members have already signed up, and more will be added.

Double Wedding Here Next Sunday

A double wedding will be performed Sunday, June 4, at the Methodist parsonage in Wayne by Rev. H. C. Capsey. Mr. Howard Keck of Crofton will marry Miss Mary M. Merchen of Crofton. Both are teachers. Mr. John Byron Lisle of Dixon, will marry Miss Mildred L. Church of Emerson. The former is a farmer and the latter a teacher.

Wayne Band Opens Weekly Concerts

Wayne band, directed by Prof. F. C. Reed, gives its first weekly outdoor concert this Friday evening, June 2, at Bressler park.

To District Meet.

Among those who went to South Sioux City Wednesday to the district L. O. O. F. meeting are A. E. Davidson, Geo. Bornhoff, L. E. Panabaker, Oscar Johnson, Henry Soules, Harvey Hostetter, Wm. Buetow, O. S. Roberts.

NEED OF REASON.

The closing of school finds a lot of young persons, trying to find jobs—a lot of parents anxious to direct their children into lines of useful activity. But both children and parents should be patient. Speaking harsh words leaves an impression that may be forgotten but never forgotten. A child must be controlled, must be directed, but the immaturity and instability of childhood give ground enough for the exercise of moderation on the part of adults who have had experience. The youth errs frequently in getting his bearings and finding his limitations. Early reasoning with children, early inculcates the reasoning habit and early overcomes the indiscretions of undeveloped mentalities. Some adults reason with a child at any time, early or late. Incapacity for logic shows dangers involved in fixing rules to follow without explaining the ways and wherefores. A child must know why he is to do a thing or why he is not to do it in order to weave a human structure of sound judgment. Talk things over logically with the children, and if you are up on a high pedestal of self-sufficiency, get down where your children can understand and where confidence—an essential to freedom of reason—may be won.

Emergency Relief Work Under Way

Nothing new has developed in the past week so far as Nebraska is concerned in the administration of the agricultural emergency relief act. Secretary Wallace and several men whom he has appointed to assist him have been working out general policies and getting ready for their commodity hearings during the next few days.

Advantages of the agricultural adjustment act are not limited to wheat, corn, hogs, and dairy products alone, according to information which has been sent out of Secretary Wallace's office. The commercial orchard men in southeastern Nebraska and poultry raisers all over the state, vegetable growers around Lincoln and Omaha, sugar beet growers in the Platte Valley, and possibly other producers may be benefited directly or indirectly under the flexible provisions of the act. Certainly, any rise in prices of wheat and corn, hogs and dairy products will tend to raise all farm prices.

No processing taxes that might be levied under the act on wheat or corn will affect these grains or other basic commodities used as feeds for livestock. The term "processing" means the milling or other processing except the cleaning and drying of wheat or corn for market, but it does not include the grinding or cracking of grain for livestock feed.

Poultry prices have been relatively higher than other farm commodity prices during the last ten years, but not up to pre-war exchange values. While poultry prices are not included in the list to be directly affected by the act, the provisions of the act if used should react to the benefit of the poultry raisers.

WAYNE MARKETS. June 1, 1933.

effect. This sort of salad may be served in individual molds or in one large mold garnished with the following dressing—which is delicious on any type of fish salad.

- 1-3 cup sugar
4 egg yolks
1/2 tablespoons flour
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1-4 teaspoon celery salt
1-2 cup vinegar
1-2 cup pineapple juice
1-4 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons butter.

Instead of serving tomato aspic salad you might serve stuffed tomatoes. These may be stuffed with canned crab meat, lobster or shrimp. Or you may mix these ingredients and blend with mayonnaise, adding chopped celery if desired. Instead of the fish, cottage cheese mixed with chopped almonds and topped with mayonnaise is very good.

Eggs, hard boiled and stuffed are always enjoyed. The yolk should be creamed with butter and spices—chopped herring, anchovy paste or chopped green pepper are delicious creamed with the yolks. Slices of hard boiled egg sprinkled with lemon juice and dusted with red pepper are an attractive and appetizing garnish for salads or meats.

Individual meringues filled with ice cream or fresh fruit are an acceptable dessert to serve with a cold buffet. Frosted cup cakes, fancy cookies, pastries filled with chopped nuts and figs, sliced cake or spice drops are also suggested.

Have your china and silver all in readiness—your flowers arranged, and the assembling of the meal itself is an easy matter. The service is simple, since everyone helps himself.

It is a good plan to serve a hot drink with this meal as it furnishes just the proper contrast to the cold dishes.

LOCALS A beverage and simple dessert may be completed when they form the main part of the menu. Among the most spring-like of all salads are those made of vegetables—one particularly delicious combination consists of cooked fresh peas, carrots, cauliflower and green beans. The vegetables should be cut in small pieces and tossed in French dressing or mayonnaise. This salad may be served in a huge bowl on a bed of lettuce or on individual service plates on cup-like beds of lettuce. Individual preference as to combinations of spring vegetables provide variety in the service of this type of salad. Frozen Fruit Salad. Add 1-2 pint of boiling water to one package of lemon and one of orange flavored gelatine. To this add 1-2 pints of the juices from cans of the following fruits—pineapple, peach and apricot. To this add the juice of three oranges and one lemon. When the gelatine begins to set add the fruit. Pour in one large or several individual molds and chill. Remove and place on lettuce leaves and pour a generous portion of mayonnaise over the mold. Pear Salad. Hollow out the centers of halved canned pears and fill with Philadelphia cream cheese, sprinkle with crushed pecans and place two pears on each service plate on lettuce leaves. Serve a piquant French dressing with this salad. Beet and Herring Salad. Chop beets very fine and add about two tablespoons of finely chopped dried herring and one chopped onion. Blend in a dressing of highly seasoned vinegar and allow to stand for several hours. Serve as a relish dish or with portions arranged on lettuce leaves. Macedoine Salad. 1 can string beans 1 can peas 1 can red kidney beans 3 cucumber pickles, chopped 1 can pimento chopped 1 cup salad dressing Drain peas and beans, slice beans and add other vegetables—serve on lettuce leaves. Fresh cooked vegetables may be substituted as wished. Raw Carrot Salad. 2 cups carrots ground fine. 1 cup diced apples 1-4 cup chopped nut meats 1 cup chopped cabbage Mix with the following salad dressing and serve on lettuce leaves: Salad dressing 3 teaspoons sugar 2 teaspoons flour 1-2 teaspoon mustard To these add 2 eggs well beaten, 1-2 cup water to 1-2 cup vinegar. Cook until thick. When cool add 1 cup of cream sweet or sour, whipped stiff. Raw Spinach Salad. Have you tried serving spinach with French dressing as a salad? It's delicious and a change from the more familiar salad greens. Wash spinach well and drain. Remove the stems and chop spinach medium fine. Add one bunch spring onions chopped fine and toss with French dressing, strongly flavored with garlic. Other Salad Suggestions. Tomatoes, peeled and hollowed out are delicious stuffed with cottage cheese and chopped almonds. Serve on lettuce with French dressing. Cucumbers and radishes sliced paper thin are an appetizing salad combination. Fruit salads offer many delectable combinations such as fresh pineapple with strawberries and bananas; oranges and bananas with mayonnaise; a variety of melon balls served with French dressing on beds of lettuce; prunes stuffed with cream cheese and served with mayonnaise. Combination crabmeat, shrimp and hard boiled egg with mayonnaise on lettuce. Salmon with chopped cucumber,

Salads Take First Place This is the time of year when the heavy rich foods of winter are discarded in favor of lighter, more piquant dishes. Foods that are pleasing to the eye as well as to the palate—foods that build energy but do not create heat—these are first in favor. For this reason nearly every dinner or luncheon menu would feature a salad—for salads are the most spring-like and tempting of dishes. And it is fortunate that there are so many types of salads—some so complete and substantial that a whole luncheon with

Recipes

Green Gage Plum Ice.
 2 cups sugar
 1-1/2 cups water, hot
 1-2 cup orange juice
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1 pint green gage plums
 Refreshing and ever so pleasing is the flavor of this frozen mixture. Dissolve sugar in the hot water, bring it to the boiling point, then cool. Force the plums through a sieve, and combine their pulp with the fruit juices. Add the sugar syrup. Follow the usual rules for freezing ices.

Crabmeat Salad.
 (6 servings)
 1 level tablespoonful Knox sparkling gelatine
 1 cup crabmeat
 1-4 cup cold water
 1-2 cup celery chopped
 1-2 green pepper, finely chopped
 2 tablespoonfuls chopped olives
 3-4 cup cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise
 1 teaspoonful salt
 1-4 teaspoonful paprika
 1 large tablespoonful mild vinegar or lemon juice
 Few grains cayenne
 Soak gelatine in cold water about five minutes and add to hot cooked salad dressing or hot mayonnaise. Cool and add crabmeat, separated into flakes, celery, pepper (from which seeds have been removed), olives, salt, paprika, vinegar and cayenne. Turn into well individual molds and chill. Remove from molds to nests of lettuce leaves and garnish with slices cut from pimientos, diamond shaped pieces cut from green peppers, celery tips and watercress, and sprinkle top with paprika.

Eggs In Aspic.
 Boil hard as many eggs as needed. Chill. Peel and split. Take out yolks. Mash yolks and add mashed saffron, grated onion, a few drops of lemon juice and mayonnaise to make a savory mixture. Fill the halved whites and put together to look like whole eggs. Make an aspic of clear consommé. Heat the consommé, season highly. To each pint of consommé, add one tablespoon gelatine dissolved in a little cold water. Strain. When cold but not set, conceal the eggs in the aspic, in individual molds.

Walnut Slices.
 (Mrs. L. W. Ellis)
 1-2 cup butter
 1 cup flour
 1-2 cup shredded cocoanut
 1-2 cup browned sugar
 1-2 cup chopped nut meats, preferably pecans
 2 tablespoon flour
 1-4 teaspoon baking powder
 1-2 teaspoon salt
 2 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Work the butter and flour until smooth as for pie dough. Press this mixture firmly into bottom of 9x12 loaf pan and bake to a delicate brown (about 15 minutes in medium oven). Take all the other dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Then add the unbeaten eggs and stir until thoroughly mixed. Then add vanilla. Pour this on top of the crust in pan and bake 25 minutes in medium oven. When cool spread with powdered sugar icing which is made by combining 1-2 cups powdered sugar, 2 level tablespoons butter and about 1-4 cup milk (uncooked). This recipe makes about 30 cookies.

French Lettuce Dressing.
 (Mrs. L. W. Ellis)
 2 lemons
 2-3 cup sugar
 1-2 cup water
 1 medium sized onion cut very fine
 Boil all together until thick and let cool.
 Then add 1 large bottle catsup, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 cup Mazola oil.
 Add oil slowly and beat with Dover egg beater until smooth.
 This makes about one quart of dressing which is delicious over lettuce. The dressing will keep indefinitely when covered and placed in ice box.

Hawaiian Nut Crunch.
 1 cup heavy cream, stiffly beaten
 1 cup crushed pineapple, well drained
 1 cup boiled rice
 Few grains salt
 2-3 cups crushed nut brittle
 8 marshmallows cut into eighth
 1-2 cup sirup from pineapple
 Combine all ingredients in order given, turn into refrigerator tray and chill thoroughly in freezing chamber of automatic refrigerator. Serve in sherbet glasses, with additional crushed nut brittle sprinkled over the surface. Serves six.

Butterscotch Parfait.
 1-3 cup brown sugar
 2 tablespoon butter
 4 tablespoons water
 2 egg yolks
 1-2 pint heavy cream
 1-8 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Place sugar and butter in heavy pan over moderate heat, stir until melted, then cook one minute. Add water and continue cooking, still stirring, until mixture is again melted and forms a heavy syrup. Beat yolks light; pour syrup slowly over them, beating while pouring. Cook in double boiler, stirring and beating, until light and fluffy. Chill, fold in stiffly beaten cream, salt and vanilla; freeze in automatic refrigerator at least four hours.

Angel Parfait.
 Soak one-half teaspoon gelatine in one tablespoon cold water. Boil one cup sugar with one-half cup water until it spins a thread. Add the gelatine to this syrup and pour it over the whites of two eggs, beaten stiff. Beat. When cool add about a dozen cut crystallized cherries, one ring chopped crystallized pineapple and one-half cup chopped pecans. Flavor with one teaspoon vanilla. Pack into mold. Freeze in ice and salt for three hours. Or in trays of automatic refrigerator.

Florida Salad.
 Use individual molds. Make four cups of ginger ale jelly. Pour a little into each mold. When cool, add half of pear and a red cherry or two. Fill with the jelly. Chill and serve on lettuce with fruit salad dressing and cheese. If a fruit of more pronounced flavor is liked, halves of peaches or apricots may be used instead of pears. A dash or two of lime juice should be added to the dressing, and no vinegar need be used.

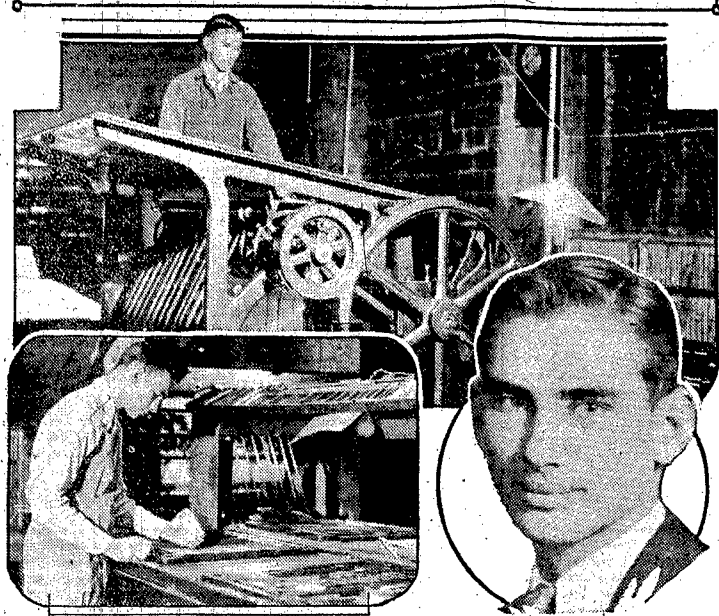

Bradford Cocktail.
 2 cups grapefruit juice
 2 teaspoons commercial sherry
 1 cup white grape juice
 3 tablespoons maraschino sirup
 8 maraschino cherries
 Blend all ingredients except cherries, chill very thoroughly, pour into small glasses, add a cherry to each and serve as an appetizer for luncheon or dinner.

Give a Kitchen Shower.
 If you're entertaining with a kitchen shower for the bride-to-be, or with a folksome of bride and want to vary your serving, why not carry out a kitchen theme? Use a large red or blue bandana for the luncheon cloth, or make a cloth of four regulation sized ones sewn together, serve salad in an old-fashioned wooden chopping bowl, and use measuring cups for coffee or tea. The nut cups might be heart, spade, diamond and club-shaped cookie cutters, and for plates, new pie this would be novel.

Hereditary Both Ways.
 "What do you mean by coming in so late?" demanded the angry parent.
 A sudden thought came to the boy.
 "Oh dad," he said, "I forgot to tell you—I knew you wouldn't mind I was sitting up with the sick son of the sick man you are always telling mother you sat up with."

Student Travels 5,000 Miles to Publish Newspaper While Getting College Degree

To complete work for his bachelor of arts degree at Midland College, Fremont, Neb., and at the same time publish The Oakland (Neb.) Independent, weekly newspaper with 1,200 circulation, Norman Carlton, 22, travelled more than 5,000 miles this year. In addition he found time to be an honor student, president of a national honor fraternity, judge of the student court, all-conference quarterback in football and all-conference guard in basketball, a record which led Midland students to select him as the college's most versatile student and also its most popular man for the second straight year. The pictures above show Carlton as his fellow students knew him and also as he appeared while at work on his newspaper.

Gas Reductions.
 Effective June 1 the Standard Oil Company will make a reduction of 2c per gallon in its normal tank wagon and service station prices on Standard Red Crown gasoline and at the same time will put into effect the following differential on premium and third brand gasoline.
 The normal price of Red Crown Ethyl (premium brand) will be 3c above the normal Standard Red Crown price.
 The normal price of Reliance Gasoline (third brand) will be 1c less than the normal Standard Red Crown price.
 These differentials will apply on both tank wagon and service station prices.
 This adjustment will result in a decline in price at many stations throughout Nebraska. There are a number of localities where, owing to the disorganized situation, gasoline of the different brands has been selling at less than its cost. In an effort to stabilize these prices and to level out the inequalities in the price structure, we are making the above adjustments which will, of course, result in some prices being advanced, where they were below normal.
 Tank wagon deliveries of gasoline outside of the station town, for normal distances, will be the same as the tank wagon price under normal conditions.
 Under normal conditions service station prices will continue to be 1c above the tank wagon prices.
 No discounts of any nature are to be given from our posted service station price to any accounts, regardless of quantity. This has been our policy in the past and will continue to be our policy.

 The council discussed the matter of parking cars at night, without lights outside the fire district and decided that Marshal W. A. Stewart should be advised to check up on all cars so parked. A city ordinance provides that cars parked outside the fire district at night must have parking lights on and car owners are warned to comply with this ordinance.
 The application of Peter "Pete" Petersen for a license to operate a pool hall at 118 Main street was granted. The council also moved to accept the applications of Miss Grace Kiker and Miss Helen Swanson for positions as supervisor at the park this summer. These positions carry an aggregate salary of $50 a month.
 It was also brought out that 1-2c of the 4c per gallon state gas tax goes to counties for county road work. Of this amount 10 percent is prorated among cities for the upkeep of streets and alleys. The city of Wayne will receive approximately five-eighths of the amount allotted to Wayne county.
 It was brought out that the funds covering the upkeep of the band are sufficient only to last another month.

But for our safety this must be shared by all other nations as well as ourselves or we invite aggression. Let us seek that which is more important, the spiritual disarmament and the banishing of those things which make for enmity among nations. When men everywhere are conquered by the gospel of Jesus, when selfishness and passion shall give place to brotherhood and understanding, then we shall have peace. This gospel and its ideals alone can unite the world and make it safe.  Richard Pinkham sang patriotic and religious solos as the special music for Memorial day broadcast. Mrs. H. A. Welch was his accompanist.
 Supt. H. R. Best, Legionnaire, gave the radio address Tuesday. "Throughout the United States loyal and patriotic citizens are paying homage to those who have paid the supreme sacrifice in wars, both past and present. est and sinking fund, $20,000; sewers, repairs, etc., $12,000; streets and alleys, $6,500; fire department, $2,000; highways, upkeep on roads leading into city, $1,200; musical and amusement organizations, $2,400; general fund salaries, supplies, incidentals, $20,000.

The estimate represents the total amount that the city may spend in any event and the mill levy is based on these figures. However, the total expenditures for the fiscal year were only $59,198.98 and this year Wayne will get a reduction in taxes. The finance committee's report showed the collections and disbursements statement standing at $37,306.16 for the period beginning November 12, 1932, and ending May 15, 1933.

The proposed city auditorium toward which the Woman's club is willing to donate $6,000 must be built according to the conditions written into the presentation document. These are that the city council must vote a bond issue to cover cost of building not later than the spring election of 1934; the club is to be provided a room or rooms sufficient for the club's use; the building is to be used free by the Woman's club for any purpose desired; the Woman's club is to be provided free lights and water as long as their lease exists; the number and kind of rooms shall be stipulated in accordance with the wishes of the city council and Woman's club working together; for $1 the club is to get a 99 year lease renewable by heirs.

A committee of band members that included Kathryn Lou Davis, Lawrence Wamberg, Stanley Merchant, Benny Kay, Lloyd Erlebein and Marion Jones, waited on the council and asked for permission to accept the gift of the use of an amplifying apparatus from L. E. Peterson. The loud speakers will be installed at the park bandstand and taken with the band when it fills out-of-town engagements.

The council discussed the matter of parking cars at night, without lights outside the fire district and decided that Marshal W. A. Stewart should be advised to check up on all cars so parked. A city ordinance provides that cars parked outside the fire district at night must have parking lights on and car owners are warned to comply with this ordinance.

"Throughout the United States loyal and patriotic citizens are paying homage to those who have paid the supreme sacrifice in wars, both past and present. The greatest homage which we are able to pay is through the reiteration and a re-emphasis of the high ideals which motivated them in war," Supt. Best began.
 During the World war close contact with the actual situation gave soldiers a perspective of the situation as a whole, a more sane viewpoint, which elsewhere was so generally lacking. Each side was imbued with the idea that his was the sword of the Lord. The fighting was thus so completely neutralized that it eventually had to be settled by a blockade.

"The wounds to civilization were so great and so disastrous that we do not know whether they will prove fatal and our present civilization sink into oblivion. Today we are giving more credence to the words of that noted economist who stated in 1914 that 'the world can not finance a world war.'"

"What were the motives uppermost in the minds of the soldiers, besides God and country? First, to make the world safe for democracy? Second, that this was a war to end war. What has become of democracy? A casual observation might make one wonder if it had not completely vanished from the face of the earth. And war has not ended, and the specter of another general European conflict continues to stare at us.

"Es ist alles vor nicht," a German peasant told Mr. Best in speaking of war in 1917. And "today people are beginning to demand facts and not propaganda concerning causes of war," Mr. Best added.

"Today through this last great sacrifice, the great masses of the people have become at last conscious of the necessity of outlawing war. This consciousness is the outcome of their great sacrifices. This campaign to abolish war is our debt to those who have passed on."

In closing Supt. Best quoted from Major General John F. O'Ryan who said "The American people can end war in our time if they get on the job. Let us wage peace! I would be a traitor to my country if I did not do everything in my power to abolish war."

mending heavy slashes in veterans' relief. For their work, fully $150,000 out of $220,000 raised came from New York and Massachusetts, the home states of multi-millionaires. The wealthy minority has been paying 80 percent of our income tax which has gone to veterans' relief, and naturally they oppose continuation of the tax.

An audience almost filling the Gay theatre heard the Tuesday morning program, which consisted of Wayne Municipal band number "America," sung by all; prayer by Rev. H. C. Capey; "The Gettysburg Address" by Llewellyn Whitmore; "Joy to the World" played by the band; address by Mr. Flory; "Star Spangled Banner" by the band as closing. A. J. Hyatt and R. P. Williams, Wayne's only remaining Civil war veterans, were accorded places of honor on the platform, and the flower girls sat together in the audience. Commander C. A. Orr of Irwin Sears post presided.

Procession To Cemetery.
 Led by the colors, veterans of America's conflicts fell into line and marched to Greenwood cemetery for memorial services. Flower girls, directed by Mrs. J. C. Johnson, decorated the graves, and made a line on either side of the gate for the ex-soldiers to pass through. Commander Orr and Rev. H. C. Capey, chaplain of the post, conducted G. A. R. services at the soldiers' and sailors' plot, and the Legion services over the grave of E. R. Love, Legionnaire who died in April. The band played, and final salute was fired by the Legion squad, A. L. Swan, Harvey Hostetter, Frank Heine, Frank Griffith, Eric Thielman, Ray Ash, Henry Kugler and L. W. McNatt, in charge of C. J. Ferrin. Taps concluded the services.

Mrs. Anton Lerner headed the committee from the Auxiliary which made poppy wreaths for soldiers' graves, and Mrs. Walter Bresler, Mrs. Lerner, Frank Heine and A. L. Jacobsen placed about 78 wreaths Tuesday morning. The flower girls were: Dorothy Reibold, Irmajan Dunn, Mildred Franzen, Marcella Brigger, Anita Anderson, Alice May Foster, Loretta Mahake, Fannie Martin, Maxine Martin, Katherine Kille, Wilma Jean Hoguewood, Nona Jarle Hall, Mildred Dawson, Betty Wilson, Ruth Wilson, Beryl Wilson, Ann Ahern, Helen Jacobsen, Lorraine Johnson, Virginia Lewis, Wilma Heidenreich, Barbara Heine, Cleomine Heine and Mary Sharer.

for James the lesser and Mathew, was also the same. The original for the Christ was a choir boy. Artists select models as nearly as possible like the one whom they are trying to paint. This is brought out very strongly in the picture. Mrs. Ludge in opening her talk told how the picture "The Spirit of '76" originated. It was painted by a Cleveland artist for a celebration held there and for his models the artist used a neighboring grandfather, father and son. A study of this painting also reveals a striking likeness between the three figures.

Rev. George Almond, Omaha, and his son, Rev. George Almond, jr., of Neigh, were guests of Rev. H. C. Capey. Walter Peterson of Oakland, Calif., was the guest of C. O. Mitchell.

FIFTY-THIRD YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1933.

NUMBER EIGHT

Speaker Urges Graduates To Keep Out Of Debt And Think Independently.

An impressive and dignified procession wound its way up over the "Marchway" on campus hill Thursday morning and filed slowly into auditorium for the ceremonies which culminated two or four years work for the black-robed marchers. This was a new tradition, that of the formal procession, brought to Wayne State Teachers college and incorporated into its customs. The perfection of that May morning drew many visitors to the campus to witness the march and exercises which followed. Led by Dr. U. S. Conn and Former Governor S. R. McKelvie, speaker of the day, and the black-robed faculty, with a master's white emblem showing here and there, and the black or purple velvet band distinguishing the several holding doctors' degrees, the candidates fell into procession, two by two, and marched over the hill, past the college band which was implanted in front of administration building, and into an auditorium crowded with friends and parents and fellow-students.

Alma Mater opened the program. The little symphony orchestra, directed by Prof. John R. Keith, played two numbers. Rev. P. A. Davies gave the invocation, and Miss Jeanne Smith sang. Following Mr. McKelvie's address a vocal cascade sang one number, then Dr. U. S. Conn, assisted by Dean H. H. Huhli, presented diplomas to graduates of the four and two-year courses. Rev. W. E. Braisted gave the benediction. College life was at an end for 179 young men and women.

Present State Award.

Rev. F. Harold Essert of Dixon, was presented a check for $100 by E. S. Berry of Wayne, representing the state bar association. Rev. Essert won first place in the essay contest sponsored among teachers' colleges annually, first having won first place in the local competition. He will receive a gold medal for the local contest. Kenyon Lewis' essay was judged second, and he will be awarded a silver medal.

"These are times when we should face the truth should not deceive ourselves about what is going on about," said Mr. McKelvie in his address. Tracing the development of our government from the first constitutional convention down to the present day of stress and anxiety, the speaker pleaded for a return to the principles set down in our constitution, and for less governmental interference. "Government touches every phase of our life government is going too far—we are asking government to go too far by asking it to order our lives and to insure our futures. Such is beyond the purpose of our form of government."

Constitution Was Inspired.

When we study our constitution and its makers, said Mr. McKelvie, we feel that they were inspired in their work, seemingly by some supernatural power. We must recognize that this was the greatest document of its kind ever struck off by hands of man, and it is the things written into that constitution which have enabled men to do the things that were in the minds of our founders. For 133 years our nation was torn by many conflicts but always emerged victorious, from the time of Washington through the presidency of Theodore Roosevelt, our nation was served by great statesmen who never departed from those fundamental principles written into our organic law. And our nation grew and prospered. If this same watchfulness had continued, our nation would not be in the situation it now finds itself and you young people would not be going out today wondering what the future holds for you and somewhat doubtful of what lies ahead. Here Mr. McKelvie paid compliment to Dr. Conn, the faculty, and to the parents of graduates over the state who have had to make sacrifices to give their children the education they couldn't have in order to make life easier for them.

Our nation's history has been one of radical changes, he continued, but these were accomplished by law rather than violence. The usual method of progression in other lands is for a leader to pay court to the people, then become a tyrant over them when he attains power. This was demonstrated in Germany—Hitler courted the common people, then tyrannized over these same classes. Russia which was to be the land of freedom, is now ruled by one percent of the people, and only one percent can vote. But while we have accomplished changes by law in this country, we have built up so many laws that we can't enforce them, and thereby have weakened our entire governmental structure. Somehow the American nation has never learned to discard laws when they become unpopular or obsolete. How many laws have ever been repealed? Just one important one—the prohibition amendment—which is now in process of repeal! The federal farm board act, the agricultural marketing act, the Nebraska code bill—all are unpopular but none has been withdrawn. Why?

Because we don't repeal laws—we simply make more!

The speaker remarked that his sympathies are with those who are bearing our burden of government today, and who deserve our support 100 percent. They are struggling with a government debt so huge that 40 percent of our national income goes into taxes. How can we expect to get ahead as individuals when $2 out of every $5 goes into cost of government? Our forefathers considered the way to get ahead was to be industrious, and thrifty, and this Wayne county has been farmed by men who followed this very adage and kept out of debt. But most of us were not so wise. Mr. McKelvie's advice to the graduates was: Be careful about getting into debt, and if you must, make it on something which will enable you to earn it back.

"Upon the dome of our state capitol in Lincoln stands the statue of a man sowing, based upon the parable of the man who sowed seed along the wayside and the birds gathered it up, sowed seed among the rocks and it didn't grow, threw it in with the thorns and it was choked out, and then planted it in fertile ground and it produced abundantly. For whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he reap." This was his concluding message to the graduates of 1933.

In introducing Mr. McKelvie, Dr. U. S. Conn pronounced him a friend of education, and said he had always believed the ex-governor to be a special friend of the teachers colleges of Nebraska.

Store Is Entered
And Money Taken

The L. W. McNatt hardware store was entered Thursday night and about $5 in cash taken. Some damage was done to the safe lock. The intruder gained entrance by breaking and opening a window in the back of the store.

Wed In January.

Mr. Fred Schneider, graduate of Wayne college and teacher at Pilger, and Miss Ellen Woehler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woehler who live north of Pilger have just announced their marriage which took place January 28 at Fullerton. Mr. Schneider has taught at Pilger since 1931 when he was graduated from Wayne college.

Personal

Prof. and Mrs. E. J. Huntener, Miss Marcella and Jean were in Sioux City Friday to see "The Desert Song" presented by a cast of 65.

Mrs. E. J. Huntener and Miss Marcella went to Omaha Wednesday to spend a few days with the former's mother, Mrs. T. W. Moran. Thomas Parker of Stuart, Neb., visited last Thursday and Friday in the Henry Frevort and Henry Barclam homes here. He formerly lived at Oakdale and was on his way there to visit.

Mrs. John Overocker of Norfolk, and Mrs. Harry Overocker of Fremont, came Friday, to spend the week-end in the Dr. W. E. Vail home. Their husbands came Sunday to spend the day and the women returned with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harrington and sons, John and Paul, left Saturday for Lexington, Mo., to attend commencement at the military academy from which Mr. Harrington was graduated. This was Mr. Harrington's first visit there since he finished school. They returned Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Good and son left last Thursday. They will visit this week in Lexington and next week in Chappell. They then go to Greeley, Colo., where Mr. Good attends school this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smalley are living in the Good residence during their absence.

Mrs. Roy Carter and Mrs. Jack Liveringhouse and Evelyn of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. L. C. Walling of O'Neill, and Mrs. John Dennis were in Norfolk Saturday. The California folks are spending six weeks here with the women's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Panabaker. Mrs. Walling was here a few days and left Saturday night when Mr. Walling and son came for her. The California folks were Thursday evening dinner guests in the Lloyd Fitch home. They and the Panabakers spent Sunday in the J. O. Harman home at Pierce.

No Romance Here? Then Just Read
Life Stories of Eighth Grade Folks!

There's material for a novel in every life if it could but be ferreted out and put into print, say the literary folks. Romance, adventure, color—these live, not in fancy, but in the people whom we meet daily, in our neighbors' lives and those of local business folks and their families.

This spring, Miss Maude Curley asked her eighth graders to write their autobiographies, bringing out their early recollections and their rather brief histories. Many unusual facts were brought to light. For instance:

Bob Merchant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Merchant, wrote of the pioneering experiences of his grandparents out in Johnson county, near Gordon, when the young couple and their small children lived in a sod dug-out. When it was necessary to call the neighbors in an emergency, the farmer would hang a piece of red cloth on the clothes line as a signal. There were seven children in the Auker family and they were named according to the alphabet, Art, Bertha, Clarence, Delpha, Edward, Frances, Guy, Robert and Irwin.

Verba Emily Berry, daughter of Mrs. Eric Thielman, wrote that her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Horsham, came from England in a sail boat, landing at Quebec after 4 days' journey. They came from a town called Horsham after Mr. Horsham's ancestors. Pioneering on the plains of Madison county meant burning hay and corn for fuel, and many other hardships.

The biography of Lois Thompson, daughter of Mrs. A. C. Thompson, tells of the thrills of starting to county school for the first day, wearing a pongee dress with embroidery on it, and carrying a dinner pail. Miss Ida Hinrichs was the teacher—she is now Mrs. W. P. Canning of Wayne.

Dorothy Heidenreich tells of her Grandfather Heidenreich coming from Germany to Lena, Ill., and her Grandmother Folsom coming from Sweden. Dorothy was made a life member of the Missionary society of Bijff, Ill., at the rather tender age of one and one-half years. Dorothy is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Heidenreich.

Arlene Petersen was named after an opera by that name by her parents. The grandmother of Margaret Mau, Anna Mjeller, was born in the same house as her mother had been, back in Dittmarshen, Germany, and her grandfather, Richard Hansen, embarked for America on the same ship as did the Mjellers four years later.

Delores McNatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. McNatt, writes that her great grandfather, Richard Knickman, was a manufacturer of wooden shoes in Germany. Delores started to school in Lincoln, and never liked the principal because one day she "overheard a spunking."

Anson Mau was born on the same farm in Dixon county where his father had been born also. "In the spring of the year we would play marbles and throw rubber balls at the teacher and he would chase us and throw them at us," he writes. Ray Bonawitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bonawitz, hopes to be a graduate of Wayne high school, and to go to Wayne college and play basketball, football, tennis and other athletics. He also hopes to have a chance to play against the same team that broke his cousin's nose and cracked three ribs so he can give them "some of their own."

"The census of 1919 was increased by the birth of an 8 1-2 pound girl named Wilma May Baker," another biography opens. Wilma is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker.

Jim Ahern's grandmother, and grandfather on his father's side were born in northern Ireland and came to Dubuque, Iowa, to locate. Jim was born "on a bright and sunny day of October which happened to be the 23rd in the year of 1919."

Archie McPherron's grandfather was born in Norway and worked in a glass factory at the age of 6, and went to school at night from 9 o'clock. The children got so tired they would go to sleep, then the teacher came along and hit them on the head with a stick. When he was in the fifth grade he plowed 35 acres of land and harvested 60 acres alone.

LaTwie Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin, writes briefly of her early life, beginning at Tekamah where she was born and followed by a long illness and operation in an Omaha hospital.

Rodd Peck has enjoyed a goodly number of pets in his few years, for he has owned 12 bull dogs and a number of cats.

Verona Hahlbeck writes of early pranks which included amateur barbering and running-away.

Eva Liveringhouse found she could get many of her demands by crying, and one day her mother laid her in her buggy and she cried so hard that her mother broke the spring in shaking it to quiet her. Eva hopes to be a nurse.

Marie Thies is ambitious to be a nurse in some large city. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thies.

Helen Westerhouse's grandfather, Louis Thies, came to this country from Germany in an old wooden boat, part sail and part steam driven. Her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Sydow, came to Nebraska by wagon, and farmed with oxen. Her ambition is to be a stenographer.

encouraging to the producer and seller.

The reactions that followed establishment of new tops for the season in all divisions were recorded early in the week. Closing days brought stability all along the line and returning strength for hogs and sheep. The cattle market continued slow the last half of the week, but declines of earlier rounds appeared halted.

The encouraging features were returning strength for hogs and lambs late in the week, with lambs closing on a par with the highest levels of the season, and highest since in April last year, and with hogs 10c and 15c higher than at last week's close and within that much of the season's highest point of last week. Still other encouraging features were found in that the stability that prevailed came in the face of materially increased receipts in practically all departments and in all sections of the country. There also was much encouragement in the fact that grain markets turned toward stability after early weakness and that this gave support to the hog products trade. Such items as wool and hides and several other by-products again recorded new high prices for the last year or more.

The fat cattle market is quoted 25 to 50c lower for the week, with Tuesday recording the bulk of the loss, after which day the market held about steady. Sioux City's top again landed at $7.00, and the bulk of desirable cattle sold between $5.00 and $6.25. Butcher cows are steady, and heifers are about 25c lower, while stock cattle are fully steady to strong on continued broad country demands. The hog market was mostly on a strengthening basis after Wednesday, with the price spread continuing narrow, and with shipper demands improved. Lamb prices strengthened after Tuesday and were back to a par with the season's high day on the Friday session.

John Thompson shows forgiving spirit in his autobiography for he writes, "I can remember the time one teacher slapped me. She was a good teacher though." John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chelsea Thompson.

Gerald B. Wright notes that his mother was formerly Miss Veda Pilger, granddaughter of the founder of Pilger, Neb. When Gerald was three years old, "a horse fell down in a well behind Hahlbecks house and Verona Hahlbeck fell down their back porch steps." "I am now in the eighth grade. In a short time I will be an old man and now I will have to be planning for my future." Gerald's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Buret Wright.

Donald Conyers was born in Arco, Idaho, and traveled in California, Oregon, Texas, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Colorado and Wyoming during his first five years in school.

Lucille Cross' mother, the former Dena Ratemaker, came across the ocean from Germany when only 8 years old, and lived with her aunt, Lucile had a brother in the World war who didn't see her until she had reached her second year.

One of Norma Fuesler's great grandfathers fought for the north in the great Civil strife, and the other was allied with the southern army. Her great, great grandmother on her mother's side, Margaret Armoo, lived to be 108 years old. When Norma was born, her parents couldn't decide which to name their first-born, so they drew slips of paper and the first one pulled was "Norma." Her childhood recollections include an attempt to cut off the cat's tail. Norma's ambition is to play the violin and to travel around the world.

Betty Wright's grandfather came from Ireland with his parents when a boy of 13 years. He married a Vermont woman, and Betty's other grandparents were from Missouri and Kentucky. To them Betty owes her Irish-New English-Southern ancestry. Betty is Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wright's daughter.

Ardath Johnson traces her ancestry back to great grandparents in Norway. She explains that the reason her great grandfather's name is Anderson, is because his father was called Endre back in Norway, and so his son was known as Endre-son. When the family came to America, their name was changed to Anderson.

Hazel Capsey tells of her baptism at the age of five months. She stuck out her tongue at the bishop, and he advised her to keep it in as she would have real need of it later on. When eight months old she was taken to England with her parents, and next time they went to the island, she was left with a woman who made her a dress with "16 scallops around the bottom and 500 French knots." Which must have made quite an impression on the wee girl.

And from these biographies one gains a composite picture of our entire Wayne county—with the hardy folks from Sweden, Denmark, and Norway, the sturdy, well-balanced German people, the jolly Irish and the disciplined English coming here to found their families and make their contributions to the social and cultural life of Wayne county.

School Meeting Will Be In June

Annual school meeting will be held Monday, June 12, according to Miss Pearl Sewell. Officers will be elected, reports given, teachers elected, and other business transacted. Miss Sewell reports that teachers' wages in rural districts range from $50 to $65. Miss Sewell gives the following information about the meetings:

The three members of the board should each have his books ready for the immediate transaction of business at that time.

The moderator in each district will act as chairman of the meeting and the director will act as secretary.

When a moderator is absent from a district meeting one should be appointed. The director is clerk of the meeting, and has no right to preside in the absence of the moderator.

Newly elected members do not take office until the second Monday in July following election.

Only citizens of the United States are entitled to vote in school elections or to hold school offices.

The moderator has a right to vote at school district meetings on all questions pertaining to school matters. In cases of a tie vote, however, he would not cast a second vote to break a tie. Another ballot should be taken.

A person transferred from one district to another for school purposes cannot legally hold office on the school board to which he has been transferred.

Applications for transfer should come in not later than the second Monday in June.

Within ten days before the annual meeting the census should be taken. Directors should be careful to get names of all persons of school age as part of the state apportionment is divided according to the census. Names of children who will have reached the age of five years on or before September 1 of the current year may be included.

The district board shall not be compelled in their respective districts, to admit any child during the year, who had not reached the age of five years on or before September 1 of the current year.

All of the necessary reports should come into this office within ten days after the annual meeting.

Judgment Given In Bonding Case

Lincoln, Neb.—A judgment of $3,775 was awarded against County Treasurer James J. Steele of Wayne county, to the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance company to reimburse it for the amount it had to pay Wayne county as his bondsman.

Steele deposited $67,758 in the

Citizens National bank of Wayne, which had been designated as county depository, and later failed. After the failure, the insurer on the bank's bond paid in $30,000, and the plaintiff the remainder. Dividends from the bank reduced the loss to $3,775.

Steele denied legal responsibility for excess deposits and that payment by the insurance company was voluntary. The combined capital and surplus of the Wayne county banks, which measured their legal capacity to take county deposits, was much less than the county funds in the treasurer's hands. He asked the county board to allow him to deposit outside the county but they failed to delegate the authority to him. He said he was under necessity to deposit them in depository banks in excess of the bond and that because of this, he was relieved of liability.

Recover Machine
Taken At Fremont

A. T. Cavanaugh's car was taken Thursday night from parking in front of a Fremont hotel. Mr. Cavanaugh went to Fremont on Thursday to attend the state insurance underwriters' convention. The car was locked. The machine was missed Friday morning. Police located it abandoned in Lincoln on N street. Aside from having been driven hard and the lock being jimmied somewhat, the machine was all right and Mr. Cavanaugh drove it home Friday evening.

Stock Show Trips
For 4-H Champions

There's a great surprise awaiting the 4-H club member of this state who puts just a little better finish on his baby beef, pig or lamb and completes his records a little more painstakingly than "the other fellow." After the projects are all closed this fall this club member will be notified that he has won a prize trip to one of the leading livestock expositions of the country.

This valuable aid to club work announced by the national committee on boys and girls club work of Chicago has again been secured from Swift and company, its sponsor of past years, and should spur club members to carry on in spite of discouragements they may meet. Selection of the winner is to be

JUNE--A Month of Brides

Envisioning Banks of Fragile Flowers and Fernery, a Bevy of Pretty Girls in Pastel Frocks and a Shy, Lovely Bride in Misty White, June Belongs to Brides.

And majority of June's social affairs center around the bride and her party! First, the engagement party at which news of the approaching marriage is told. A dinner or luncheon party is given by the parents. Centerpiece might be a large white paper bell tipped, with colored lights streaming from inside, a love-nest cottage of cardboard, a wee trellis with doll-bride under it, or a cupid shooting arrows into glowing hearts. Or a large gold paper ring might be constructed, with a single round electric light bulb glowing for the diamond, and a wee bride and groom on either side. Announcement may be written on the place-cards, or on wee white cards in envelopes.

A cottage centerpiece may be used for a shower party, with the gifts carefully wrapped and concealed under the lid. Or wee toys, replicas of the real gifts, may be in the box, each with directions how to find the gifts. Favors might be small paper flowers planted in real diminutive flowerpots, which are filled with small candies. The flowerpots might be used for the dessert course instead. Small size earthen flowerpots are filled with ice cream, then a paper flower on meat skewer is thrust into the cream.

The shower might be all kitchen utensils, or the guests might combine to buy enamelware. Again, a bathroom shower is much appreciated, and calls for towel sets, cream and lotion jars, even scales. There gifts might be presented in the clothes hamper. For such a shower why not use bright oilcloth table runners, gay china and glassware, and a centerpiece of blazing red heart thrust with red salvia sprays. Soap dishes would make amusing nut cups. For individual favors, why not dress up 10c toilet articles, such as tooth paste and soap, in crepe paper frocks.

If it's a bridge shower, tuck a small gift in a sealed card box and be sure the bride has to open it. And prize for the guest of honor may contain several gifts. A bridge-accessory shower would please any bride. Ask the guests to bring cards, pads, pencils, table covers, linen sets and glassware service. A table might be set with the gift linen and glassware and the bride seated at this table for serving, and a telephone message inform her that setting was for her.

For a "beauty shower," gifts of bath salts, creams, powders, perfumes and other needs might be wrapped in pink and tied with silver, then hung to the branches of a small evergreen tree which is abloom with clusters of pink paper blossoms. The honoree gathers her gifts from the tree one by one.

For a kitchen or linen shower, a rainbow shower is attractive. Cover the table with pale paper or linen cloth, and over it bend a rainbow made by hanging a six inch fringe in rainbow colors from a curved wire. Favors at each plate might be little pots of gold holding violets or rainbow-colored candies. Wee rainbows may be painted on the place cards. The gifts, wrapped in rainbow colors may have little cards directing the bride-to-be from one to another. Again, the bride may follow a silver cord from room to room, indoors and out, seeking her gifts.

Etta Kett's Weekly Quiz

For the Bride-To-Be.

1. What decorations are appropriate for the church wedding ceremony?
2. What music should be provided for the church affair?
3. Who are the members of the family seated?
4. How soon before the ceremony should guests arrive?
5. What is order of procession?
6. Who accompanies the bride?
7. In what order does the bridal party leave the altar?
8. If there is no reception, where does the bride couple receive congratulations?
9. How may the house be decorated for a home wedding?
10. What is order of procession for a home wedding? How do the men dress? What follows the ceremony?
11. How do members of the family line up for the reception?
12. Who cuts the bridal cake?
13. When does the bride throw her bouquet?
14. How is table arranged for the home wedding?
15. What are appropriate refreshments for a home wedding?
16. Who pays the wedding expenses. What does the bridegroom pay for?

Answers To Etta Kett.

1. Green branches may be arranged as a hedge on the chance with white flowers for the altar. Palms and ferns may be used, and calla lilies or Easter lilies make very effective groupings.
2. At church, organ music is best for the march. A piano is used for the home wedding, and one or more solo numbers are effective.
3. Front pew to the left is reserved for the bride's mother and her immediate family. The aisle seat next to her is left vacant for her husband who will take it as soon as he has given away the bride. The bridegroom's parents occupy the front pew on right side.
4. Anywhere from an hour to just before the actual time of the ceremony for the church wedding.
5. Clergyman enters from the vestry and takes his place facing the assembled guests. Bridegroom follows him and stands in front and to the right. Best man follows and stands close to the bridegroom. The bridal procession starts from vestibule, with ushers first, two by two, then the bridesmaids in twos, matron or maid of honor alone, flower girl or ring bearer alone, then bride.
6. Her father or nearest male relative.
7. Bride and bridegroom leave first, followed by maid or matron of honor, bridesmaid and ushers.
8. In the vestibule.
9. With green branches fastened against the mantel or wall, baskets of white blossoms, or pastel flowers. Silk ribbons may be stretched to make a path for the bridal procession, either held on standards or held by small children.
10. There is no recessional, the bridegroom kisses the bride, and they turn to receive their guests.
11. Bride's mother receives at entrance to the room, bridegroom's mother and father are next, then the bride and groom. Guests wish the bride happiness, and congratulate the groom.
12. The bride, always. She cuts the first piece and shares it with her husband. Then guests cut pieces for themselves.
13. When she leaves to dress she throws the bouquet to her bridesmaids, or to unmarried girls.
14. White cloth with white flowers, candles and the wedding cake.
15. Coffee, very thin sandwiches, wedding cake.
16. Bride's family pays for invitations, announcements, or fee, fee for church, decorations, flowers for bridesmaid's bouquets, conveyance to the church for bride and her family, and for conveyance of couple to house after the ceremony and to train. Bridegroom pays for the wedding ring, clergyman's fee, and expenses of the wedding journey.

Immediate members of the family and most intimate friends come just before the time set as space is saved for them, fenced off with white satin ribbons.

Recipes

Appropriate for the Bride Breakfast, Dinner or Afternoon Serving.

- Almond Finger Biscuits.
- 1-2 cups flour
 - 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
 - 1-2 teaspoon soda
 - 1-8 teaspoon salt
 - 1-2 cup butter
 - 1-4 cup sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 1 tablespoon water, warm
 - 1-2 cup, finely chopped, blanched almonds
 - 1-4 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 3-4 cup confectioners' sugar
- An Australian hostess finds these dainty and attractive biscuits are pleasing with the afternoon tea. Sift the flour, soda, salt and cream of tartar together. Cream the butter and sugar together, adding the egg yolk beaten with the hot water. Combine flour and sugar mixtures well. Roll the stiff dough out one-eighth inch thick. (Make an icing of the egg white, vanilla extract and confectioners' sugar. Spread the frosting over the dough and sprinkle this surface with the almonds. Cut dough into strips half an inch wide and three inches long. Lay them carefully on a baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven—385 F.—ten to fifteen minutes until well risen and of delicate light brown color.

Creole Ice Cream.

- 6 cups thin cream
 - 1 cup maple syrup
 - 1-2 cup granulated sugar
 - 1 cup blanched almonds, chopped
 - 1-2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 tablespoon vanilla extract
 - A little caramel coloring
- Bring cream to scald in double boiler. Put sugar in saucepan and heat until it melts into a dark brown sirup. Be very careful not to scorch. Add to it slowly two cups of the scalded cream. As soon as the sugar has dissolved, add the maple sirup, nuts and salt, and turn back into remainder of the cream. Mix well and cool. When cold, add the vanilla flavoring and sufficient caramel coloring to make the shade of coffee with cream. Then freeze as usual. Lightly brown the almonds in the oven before chopping them adds to the flavor of the ice cream.

Program Is Held On Memorial Day

Randolph Priest Gives Address Tuesday at Methodist Church Here.

Memorial day was observed at Carroll Tuesday when a program, sponsored by the Legion, Lions club and Auxiliary was held at the Methodist church. Rev. Father Tevis of Randolph, gave the address to a large audience. Services at the cemetery followed and the Legion conducted rites over the grave of Roy Reed, World war veteran.

The program at the church was as follows: "Field of Glory," "Spirit of America" and "Soldier Boys," selections by Carroll Lions club orchestra which consists of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Jiraneck, J. L. Laurie and C. F. Montgomery. "America" was sung by the audience, and Rev. E. L. Williams gave the invocation. The Welsh quartet, including Ivor Morris, Lloyd Morris, Irwin Jones and Barney Hill, sang "Rest Thee Dear Comrade" and "Under the Flag They Died For." An overture, "The Buglers," followed by the orchestra. After the address by Father Tevis, Mrs. Darwin Jones sang a solo and the quartet sang "Soldier Rest." Rev. David Simpson offered the benediction and the orchestra closed with "Our Boys." The Legion attended in a body and the church was decorated with flowers and flags for the occasion.

At the grave of Roy Reed the ceremonies included a short talk by Rev. Simpson, decorating of the grave by the Auxiliary, taps, benediction by Rev. Williams and decorating graves of other veterans.

Mrs. W. C. Logan had charge of placing wreaths on graves of veterans and she had this done by daughters of war veterans. The girls in the group were Doris Evans, Delores Cochran, Ila Jean Roberts, Irma Christensen, Opal Petersen and Doris Simpson.

Civil war veterans buried in Carroll and Bethany cemetery are Samuel Williams, Thomas DeLong, T. P. Groat, Marcellus Merrill, Andrew J. Honey, Joel Hancock, Eli M. Thompson, M. J. Root, Wm. F. McCabe, Amos Root, Wm. C. Williams. World war veterans in the two are Frederick Hansen, Roy Reed, Clifford Pettys, Clarence Layton, Will Abrams and George Jones. No veterans were buried in Carroll the past year. Mrs. Groat, widow of a veteran, died the last year. Mrs. Sarah Williamson is the only surviving widow of veterans remaining here, and there are no Civil war veterans.

Stores closed Tuesday, at 1 for the services.

Company was assessed with $813.08, being premiums written for said Company during year 1931, tax amounting to $22.70 in Hoskins Village; that W. A. Gutzman, agent, did report the sum of $813.08, but such amount included certain aggregate premiums as written under combined automobile policies wherein a portion of the liability was assumed by the Great American Indemnity Company, a separate and distinct insurance company, and that a certain portion of the said aggregate premiums was paid to said company for assuming said liability. They further state that said amount of $813.08 was reported as an error and that the actual amount for said company was $243.98, the balance of $569.10 being premiums for said Great American Indemnity Company; that the Great American Insurance Company of New York has paid under protest taxes of $22.70 based on figures filed in error and said company now asks that the county treasurer be ordered to refund the tax on the amount reported in error.

On motion such protest is rejected and the county treasurer is ordered to distribute the tax. On motion the following claims were audited and allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the respective funds as herein shown. Warrants to be available and ready for delivery on Saturday, June 3, 1933.
