Wedding Is Observed At Laurel

about 150 neighbors and old friends from Laurel, Wayne, Pilger and Stanton attended the 25th anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Knudsen when their daughter, Miss Mabel Knudsen, was married to Mr. W. E. Wiseman on June 14, 1913, and to Wayne after about three years to make their home on farms.

five and one-half miles north of here and 10 miles southeast of Wayne. After 21 years here, they moved to Laurel last March. The Knudsens have seven children and two grandchildren, the former being Harold and Harvey, married, Anna, now Mrs. Perry Johnson of Emerson, Julia, Virginia, Vernon and Don at home. A mock wedding was staged at the anniversary celebration, and ice cream, lemonade, coffee and sandwiches served.

Faculty Hosts At Student Reception

Opening social event of the summer term at Wayne State Teachers College was the all-student reception held in Administration building Monday evening, which drew a gratifyingly large crowd. Due to the too cool weather, the affair could not be held outside in the formal garden as planned, and the receiving line formed in downstairs hall of the main building, then guests filed upstairs where refreshments were served in the hallway, and a program given in the auditorium. Prof. A. F. Gulliver presided over the program, which included: Contralto solo, "Song of Songs" by Moya, and "Auf Wiedersehen, My Dear," sung by Miss Jeanne Smith; vocal solo, "Come Forth, June," Forester, and "Absent, Metcalf, sung by Prof. G. W. Coster; piano solo, "Minuet in B Minor" by Schubert, played by Prof. Albert G. Carlson; address of welcome by Dr. U. S. Conn, in which he pointed out that, as usual, the summer school was made up of slightly more mature, more serious students than during the winter terms and that the students deserved special credit for their courage in going ahead and preparing themselves for the teaching field when the present outlook was so poor. Miss E. Marie Hove, Miss Mamie McCorkindale, Mrs. R. R. Smith and Prof. W. B. Hickman were on the refreshment committee, and Prof. Gulliver and Miss Louise Wendt planned the program.

Three In Family Receive Honors

Unusual scholastic record has been made by grandchildren of Mrs. Emma Baker of Wayne, for out of four who graduated from high schools this year, three received scholarships. These are Miss Gwendolyn Mulvey, daughter of James Mulvey, Miss Louise Carson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carson of Upton, Wyo., and Miss Dorothea Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker of Presho, S. D.

Dramatic Students Plan Productions

Dramatic program for summer session at the college will include a play in chapel and an evening of short plays, under direction of Miss Florence Drake. On Wednesday, July 5, "Home Sweet Home" will be given at morning chapel. This play won first prize at Federation of Women's clubs' meeting here this spring, and includes a cast of five women students. The evening brings fantasy, "Pierrot of the Minute," a historical drama of the French Revolution, "As the Timbrels Pass," and a comedy, "Thank You, Doctor."

Editor Visits Wayne

AUDITED LIST INTO 3,000 HOMES 15,000 READERS

THE WAYNE HERALD

NEARLY 100 PER CENT COVERAGE OF COUNTY FIELD

Editor F. D. Stone of the Hartington Herald, relates experience of coming to Wayne to speak for the Wayne Herald radio program as follows:

If this column were written after the fashion of some of the sophisticated scribbles of the day, it would begin this week something like this: 'Up to times and took care of Wayne to make a radio talk. Stopped at Nedrow's filling station to have gas and oil checked. Traveled at fair rate of speed over state highway No. 15 and had no mishap until we reached Coleridge where at five o'clock a car backed up and tire replaced. Resumed journey and arrived in Wayne shortly before the broadcast hour. Listened to some musical selections, market reports and news items and went on the air. Talked for five minutes, said goodbye and took car for home, arriving at 11 o'clock. To lunch, to nap, to bank meeting and then left to writing furiously. That is about the way one of our clever, modern newspaper columnists would chronicle the important events of one Saturday morning's experience in the life of a county editor. The only difference in the case of a writer like O. O. McIntyre would probably be that he would work in something like the narrative about taking a hot bath, probably would say "I arrived home, to lunch, to nap," etc., but that item was omitted. There was no tub for the editor on that busy and eventful day although the weather, being extremely hot, a tub or a shower would have been most refreshing. To amplify the story a little we did drive over to Wayne on Saturday and delivered a brief address from the broadcasting studio of the Wayne Herald, operated by remote control from station WJAG at Norfolk. As readers of this newspaper are probably aware, the Wayne Herald has been carrying on a number of weeks, and the writer finally fulfilled a promise made some time ago to make a brief talk some day. The trip to Wayne had been postponed from week to week principally on account of the weather, which up until the present time has not been favorable for early morning driving. As far as this writer was concerned, talking into a microphone was an entire new experience. He has done considerable public speaking, but broadcasting was something new and like every strange experience it occasioned a certain amount of nervousness. Only in anticipation, however, for as soon as we were seated at the microphone and started to speak, all nervousness disappeared. There is really nothing difficult about it and studio people are very considerate. The greatest difficulty, we believe, is lack of response—there is none of the mental stimulus which comes from the presence of an audience. About half a century ago, a pioneer Nebraska newspaper man, who afterward attained distinction, established the Hartington Herald. That man was the father of E. W. Huse, editor and publisher of the Wayne Herald, and that interesting fact afforded a very nice approach to the radio speech. It was fitting to go on to show what a close and congenial relationship had always existed between the two newspapers and how many points of similarity existed between them. The Wayne Herald and Hartington Herald, it was emphasized, as republican county seat papers established about the same time and having the same name, have much in common. Reference was made for instance, to the fact that the first standard linotypes in their respective fields were installed by the two newspapers about 25 years ago, that both newspapers had progressed steadily during the period, that the editors of both publications are men of congenial tastes and that both families are composed of newspaper people. These facts were given as some of the reasons for the close contact between the Wayne Herald and Hartington Herald and it was also suggested that a fine understanding existed between Wayne and Hartington on account of the number of Cedar county young people who had attended the State Teachers College. This was the writer's first visit to the broadcasting studio of the Wayne Herald since it was opened and he was intrigued by the efficient way in which such a studio is operated in connection with a busy newspaper office. It is all in the day's work. The broadcast started promptly at 8:30 and closed exactly at 9 and the half hour program contained a lot of entertainment. In addition to the five minute speech, "Uncle Gene" (Editor Huse) gave a talk; his daughter, Dorothy Huse Nyberg, read some up to the minute news items and a Sioux City man performed on the accordion. A number of business firms were also announced during the half hour. For a country weekly to undertake to operate a broadcasting studio is decidedly ambitious, but the Wayne Herald is doing it successfully. Its studio has been in operation for a number of weeks and the results to date appear to be entirely satisfactory. How the busy Herald staff manages to assemble enough talent for a daily program is puzzling, but it does and the broadcast maintains as high a standard as the newspaper itself. And the success of this enterprise is a tribute not only to the Herald but to Wayne. A town has got to be good to justify it—it's beyond the reach of the average small community. That drive on an early June morning was delightful. We have never seen the country look more beautiful than it does at present. Vegetation is fresh and green and of all kinds, including the sweet noted meadowlark and the bold little meadowpecker with the red head flying from the fences as you motor along. The crop outlook in both Cedar and Wayne counties is bright and grain is well advanced. We observed some fields of small grain already headed out and some farmers were crossing their corn. There is considerable difference in the corn. At that early morning hour, farmers were already at work in the corn fields and the cultivators seemed to be mostly driven by boys. The absence of tractors is noticeable; horses are doing the work this spring. Grain is moving to market and we met several loads of corn on the way. Live stock of all kinds is in fine condition and horses, cattle and hogs were grazing in knee-deep pastures. Roads are in splendid shape and we made good time, leaving at 7 and arriving home at 11 o'clock. Coleridge was just waking up as we passed through, there was considerable activity in Laurel and Wayne was already filled with people when we left. The drive, the visit, the broadcast and the sight-seeing were a most pleasant and profitable experience. MISS LOULA AVERY BUYS COFFEE SHOP Miss Loula Avery, teacher in Wayne school for a few years, and August Arth of Carroll, Iowa, visited at the F. M. Griffith home here Wednesday last week when they were enroute to Carroll, Iowa, where Miss Avery bought and is managing the Percolator, Carroll's coffee and sandwich shop. Has Gravel Jobs. J. N. and Henry Einung of Wayne, were awarded gravel projects in the lettings last Thursday by the state board. They were between Broadwater and Oshkosh, Niobrara and Spencer, Ravenna and Merna, Gandy and Tryon.

Nebraska Crop Prospects Given

Extreme Weather In June Reduced Percentage For Season. Nebraska winter wheat production is estimated at 27,310,000 bushels. A smaller planted acreage and heavy winterkill reduced production to the low level of last year and to much less than half of the average production, says the State and Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics. General crop prospects were fair on the first of June but extremely unfavorable weather since June first has injured hay and small grains especially in eastern Nebraska. U. S. winter wheat production is 341,017,000 bushels against 462,151,000 bushels last year. The state is expected to produce 27,310,000 bushels of winter wheat as compared to 24,000,000 bushels last year and the 1927-31 average of 63,297,000 bushels. About 90 per cent of the 2,830,000 acres sown last fall were abandoned, leaving 2,023,000 acres for harvest. The condition is 74 per cent and the estimated yield 13.5 bushels per acre. The low yield on the extremely small acreage for harvest will produce only about 43 per cent of the 1927-31 average production. Most of the winter wheat abandonment took place in the western two-thirds of the state, particularly the western third. Weather conditions during April and the first half of May were very favorable in the western two-thirds of the State but the eastern third, has been very dry. Wheat in western Nebraska has failed to make much improvement despite favorable moisture conditions. The crop in central Nebraska improved during May, but in the eastern third of the State the crop has suffered from drought, especially after the first of June. Corn was planted fully a week later than usual. Heavy rainfall in the western two-thirds of the state and increased farm work due to replacing winter wheat acreage retarded planting. The condition of oats is 82 per cent. Oats were planted about the usual time in the northeastern quarter of the State but somewhat later than normal in most other sections. The crop has suffered injury in east central and northeastern Nebraska, and has not made normal development. Oats in western Nebraska are later than usual but otherwise the condition is good. The condition of spring wheat is 84 per cent. Since most of the crop is grown in the Panhandle district it has had excellent moisture. The crop is late but the condition is good. Barley condition is 85 per cent. Nearly half of the crop is grown in western and southwestern Nebraska where moisture conditions are very good. Rye condition is 72 per cent. Moisture conditions here are favorable for rye in north central Nebraska but the crop suffered much injury during the winter. The crop has suffered injury from drought in northeastern counties. The forecast, 2,033,000 bushels as compared to 2,830,000 bushels last year and the 5-year average of 3,234,000 bushels. Alfalfa condition is placed at 87 per cent; all tame hay, 86 per cent and wild hay, 85 per cent. Stands of alfalfa were thinned by winterkill in western Nebraska and drought has reduced the condition in northeastern counties. Wild hay is generally very promising in all sections except east central and northeastern counties. The condition of pasture is 83 per cent. Grass is excellent in western and southwestern Nebraska. It is very good throughout central sections but poor in eastern counties, particularly the northern section. The condition of fruit crops are as follows: apples, 69 per cent; peaches, 55 per cent; pears, 50 per cent and cherries, 50 per cent. In general, fruits suffered severe injury from extremely low temperatures late in the winter which followed a period of relatively warm weather. Apples in the strictly commercial section of southeastern Nebraska are expected to produce about 40 per cent of a crop or about 58,000 barrels. The set is light but moisture conditions are satisfactory and the quality and size are expected to be excellent. The general crop outlook in Nebraska is not good. Much of the wheat has already been lost. Moisture conditions in the western two-thirds of the state have been excellent but the eastern third of the state has been in need of additional moisture for two months. Corn and most small grain crops got off to a slow start and weather conditions since June first, especially in the eastern half of the state have been extremely unfavorable. Small grain in the eastern third of the state has suffered considerable injury and the final outcome will depend to a large extent on weather in the immediate future. Estimates of crops for the U. S. are as follows: winter wheat conditions 64.0 per cent and the forecast, 341,017,000 bushels against 462,151,000 last year and the 1927-31 average of 620,536,000; rye, 30,374,000 bushels against 39,855,000 bushels last year and the 1927-31 average of 40,371,000 bushels. The condition of all hay is 79.9 per cent; alfalfa, 79.5 per cent; apples, 71.7 per cent; peaches, 55.1 per cent; pears, 64.9 per cent and cherries, 64.4 per cent.

Former Wayne Man Reports Improved Spirit In The East

Things are picking up in the east and factories which have been closed four years, are opening up again," says H. A. Lower of Danville, Ohio, former Wayne county man who visited the Herald broadcasting studio Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Lower are visiting in the M. C. Lower home southeast of Wayne, and also at Bloomfield and Randolph. They leave for Hudson, Kan., first of next week. Mr. Lower came to Wayne county from Danville about 40 years ago to visit his brother, M. C. Lower, who had come in 1882, and here met and married Miss Louisa Moore. They lived on the W. O. Gamble farm nine miles north of Wayne about five years, then returned to Ohio, but have re-visited Wayne on an average of every two years. The Lower's have four daughters, Mrs. T. J. Wakely of Saniago, Chili, Mrs. Joe McDonald of Akron, Ohio, Mrs. Dan Conroy of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. C. D. Mitchell of Millwood, Ohio. As proof of the better times which Mr. Lower believes have resulted from the "new deal," he notes that his sales as representative of a chemical company have increased fully half over last year and that there are far fewer transients on the road. Conditions were pretty bad in the coal fields of Ohio during the depression, but are somewhat improved now. Mr. Lower is enthusiastic about the changes taking place in the world today, particularly in fields of medicine and science. He recalls his boyhood experiences in harvesting grain by hand with a crude wooden flail, and remembers the stir created by coming of the binder and the reaper. And quite as thrilling was advent of the first buggy!

Club Sponsors A Canning Lecture

Representative Of The State Agricultural College Demonstrates Here. About 25 women attended the Canning demonstration sponsored by Pleasant Valley club in Peoples Natural Gas company's office Friday afternoon, and saw Miss Florence Atwood of the University of Nebraska Agricultural College Extension service preserve foods by the most improved methods. Chicken, baked rhubarb and asparagus were canned by the hot pack method. Miss Atwood visited Wayne while on a week's tour of the state, which included demonstrations at Creighton, Center, Bloomfield, Coleridge and Wayne. Miss Ritzpah Douglas who accompanied her, closed the tour with a meeting at Stanton Saturday. Miss Atwood is engaged in field work over Nebraska throughout the college year, visiting the 44 organized counties having county or home agents. A very usable program was carried out this past year, including four-to-six weeks periods on clothing, home-made gifts and cards at Christmas time; care of the sick in the summer; home preservation of the summer meat supply, including cutting, canning and curing of meats; cheese-making, including Cheddar, cottage-processed and Neufchatel; yeast breads and variations; and recreation. These programs were under direction of the county agents. The visitor broadcasts recipes daily under the title of Mrs. True Home-Maker, and is known to many local women for her talks over station KFAB, Lincoln. Over 5,700 women are now included on the mailing lists to receive recipes free of charge, including several in this locality.

For the program Wendel Groskurth played violin, solos, "Weeping Willow Lane" and "America, First and Last." Betty Roberts gave a tarce dance and also a Spanish dance. Evershet Dennis had a reading, "The Sidewalk Announcer." Helen Mabbott read "A Pleasant Half Hour at the Beach" and "An Enjoyable Evening." Mrs. Panabaker served. The lodge plans a meeting at Bressler park in July.

Markets Continue Uneven In Week

Live stock markets continued uneven during the week, and while there were reassuring developments and many instances of stability, and also recoveries from decline, and scattered instances of advances, the general trend of values continued downward, following a similar course last week. This week -- was the hog market that appeared to suffer most, after the cattle market had been weakest the preceding week. The lamb market continued the strong and active member in the list, scoring the only actual advances recorded in the week's uneven trade. Continued light receipts furnished the strengthening feature of the lamb trade. Yearling steep held about steady, but they showed effects of contracted summer demands, and trade was slowest of recent weeks. The cattle and hog markets were adversely affected by continued excessive receipts at leading centers, runs being not only far above recent averages and far beyond demands, but also above normal for this season of the year. These conditions, in the face of heavy holdings of product as a result of recent heavy slaughter, contracted consumptive demands during the week, partly because of excessive heat, weak products markets because of the heavy offerings and slack demands, and continued heavy offerings of live stock during the week combined to give buying agencies the advantage. Despite these adverse conditions, trade carried a fair tone, the bulk of advances of recent weeks was sustained, and good daily clearances of fresh stock were reported. A feature of the general trade was a further widening of the price spread in all departments. The spread for hog prices widened as growing discrimination against shows and thin as well as against weight butchers was shown, and the spread in cattle prices widened as there was growing discrimination against grassy fed and straight grass grades. Hog prices are quoted 25 to 50c lower than a week ago, fat cattle prices are weak to around 25c lower, and stock cattle prices are fully 25c lower. Lamb prices, on the other hand, are a shade higher than a week ago, and are closing the week at the best level of the season. SOCIETY Regular Session. Rebekahs held their regular business session Friday evening at the hall. With Mrs. Stambaugh. Methodist Foreign Missionary society met last Thursday with Mr. Robert Stambaugh. Mrs. C. M. #### Folks Get Ready-Prepare COME BY ALL MEANS!!

And we don't care how fed up you are on so-called "bargain events"—and we don't care how many sales you've attended in the past—all we ask in all fairness to come to this sale. Come, see us sell merchandise, the best money can buy at prices unbelievable. We must sell every article in the store at whatever price it will bring. Beginning Friday, we shall place on sale the entire stock with one thought in mind, to sell out and sell out quickly. Everything must go.

THE STOCK AND FIXTURES. NOTHING RESERVED. - -

Surprised at the drastic steps we are taking in closing out stock and fixtures. Due to Mr. Gamble's ill health, we are giving up this business and pay our obligations in the shortest time possible. Necessity demands quick actions, so prices have been reduced. Remember, no merchant remaining in business could expect such losses. Despite the rising markets on most all commodities, this is the greatest sale. You will undoubtedly agree, this is the best stroke of merchandising ever attempted in Wayne. The crowds will be tremendous, entirely different from any other. Do not think that this gigantic stock will last long. We have a large stock on hand. Our advice is that you come here early. Selection is best. We want everyone to share in the good sale.

Sale Will Continue Until Everything is Closed Out

Tested Recipes

Mrs. E. L. Gale of Des Moines, Iowa, niece of Mrs. E. W. Huse of Wayne, sends the following tested recipes to Herald readers.

Lemon Sherbet.

1-3 cup lemon juice (or partly orange juice)
2-3 cup sugar (or 1-3 cup sugar and 1-3 cup corn syrup)
2 cups light cream
1 junket tablet
1 tablespoon cold water

Dissolve junket tablet in cold water. Warm sugar, corn syrup and cream to lukewarm. Remove from fire. Add dissolved junket tablet. Stir a few seconds. Then let stand undisturbed until set and cool, about 20 minutes. Add lemon juice. Stir well. Pour into tray and put into freezing compartment. When frozen around sides and bottom remove from tray to a cold bowl and whip thoroughly and quickly. Put back into tray in the freezing compartment at once, and let stand undisturbed until frozen.

Orange Ice.

1 teaspoon Knox gelatine 1-3 cup sugar
1 cup water 1 cup water
1 cup sugar 1 cup whipping cream
3 tablespoons White Karo syrup Few grains salt
Pinch salt 1-2 teaspoons vanilla

Boil 2 minutes and cool. Add 1 cup orange juice 1 tablespoon lemon juice
Let congeal, then beat with egg beater.
Cool again, then stir in pan once more with a spoon.
Stiffly beaten whites of egg may also be folded in last if you wish.
Variation: Instead of orange juice, use 1 cup pineapple juice and cut up pieces of pineapple.
Substitute 1 cup grape juice for the orange juice, using a little more gelatine and less sugar.

Lemon Milk Sherbet.

1 teaspoon gelatine 1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup strained lemon juice (or part orange juice)
1/2 cup sugar 1-4 teaspoon salt
BIT of grated lemon rind (very little) 1 pint milk

Soak gelatine in cold water five minutes. Then dissolve in lemon juice, sugar and salt heated together until they boil. Cool and add lemon rind. Four milk gradually into lemon juice, freeze in tray of electric refrigerator, stirring several times during the freezing period.

Orange Lime Sherbet.

2 teaspoons gelatine 1 tablespoon cold water

1 cup water
1-2 cup sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
1 cup strained orange juice
1-4 cup strained lime juice (about 4 limes)
2 egg whites

Soak the gelatine in cold water (the tablespoonful) 5 minutes. Heat 1-4 cup water, sugar and salt to boiling and dissolve soaked gelatine. Add remaining ingredients except egg whites. Put into tray in electric refrigerator. When partly frozen, fold in egg whites beaten until they hold shape. Stir several times during the freezing period.

Butterscotch Parfait.

1-3 cup brown sugar 1 tablespoon butter
1-4 cup water 1 cup whipping cream
1 cup brown sugar Few grains salt
1-2 teaspoons vanilla

Melt sugar and butter, stirring to prevent burning, and boil 1 minute. Add water and cook until butterscotch is smooth and syrupy. Beat egg yolks, add the syrup slowly and continue beating. Cook over hot water until light and fluffy. Chill. Beat cream until stiff. Add salt and vanilla. Combine with chilled egg mixture. Turn into tray and freeze without stirring.

Tutti-Frutti Marlow.

20 marshmallows 1 cup milk

1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-4 cup Maraschino cherries cut fine
3 slices pineapple cut fine
1-2 cup pecan meats

Melt milk and dissolve marshmallows in it. When thoroughly dissolved, cool and add cream whipped stiff. Add vanilla, cherries, pineapple and nuts. Pour into tray and freeze 30 minutes. Stir mixture and freeze.

Banana Marlow.
18 marshmallows
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1-2 cup boiling water
3-4 cup mashed bananas
1 cup whipping cream

Melt the marshmallows in boiling water. Add the banana pulp and lemon juice. Cool. When quite cool and slightly thickened combine with the cream which has been whipped stiff. Pour into tray and freeze without stirring.

Cranberry Frappe.
1-2 tablespoon gelatine
1-2 cup cold water
1-2 cups boiling water
1 pint cranberries
1-4 cups sugar
Few grains salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Cook cranberries in boiling water. Strain. Add sugar, lemon juice and bring to a boil. Add gelatine. Cool. Pour into tray and freeze. Delicious with roast turkey.

Lions were hosts to the Lionesses at a dinner meeting in Trinity Lutheran church parlors Tuesday evening of last week. Places were laid for 41. Singing of Lions songs and an exhibition of "black magic" by George Anderson of Wayne, made up the program. A dinner meeting with election of officers, is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at the Methodist church.

Girl Scouts Have Sale.
Girl Scouts met with Theo Witt Wednesday last week and made plans for a candy and pop corn sale for Saturday evening. The girls cleared $4.15 which will be used to pay concession fee at the Old Settlers' picnic in August, from which the troop hopes to make enough to pay expenses of a week's camping at Crystal Lake. Ardath Francis and Frieda Weible have been appointed to blaze the trail for an over-night hike June 20.

Several Attend College.
A good-sized group of young men and women from this locality has enrolled for summer work at Wayne State Teachers college. Included are Miss Ethel Lewis, Miss Helen Witt, Miss Elsie Eckert, Miss Tina Keert, Miss LeAnne Bruene, Miss Florence Sheelanger, Miss Marian Anderson, Miss Alma Lautenbaugh, Miss Neville Troutman

UNCLES

Uncle: "Fine, now what are you first in, Fritz?"
Fritz: "I am first in the street when it is time to go home."

A tourist was enjoying the wonders of California as pointed out by a native.

"What a beautiful grapefruit," he said, as they passed through a grove of citrus trees.

"Oh, those lemons are a bit small, owing to the comparatively bad season," explained the Californian.

"And what are those enormous blossoms?" asked the tourist.

"Just a patch of dandelions," said the Californian. Presently they reached the Sacramento river.

"Ah," said the tourist, grasping the idea, "somebody's radiator must be leaking."

Little Rosalie, a first-grader, walking with her mother, spoke to a small boy.

"His name is Jimmy, and he is in my grade," she explained.

"What is the little boy's last name?" her mother asked.

"His whole name is Jimmy Sit-down—that's what the teacher calls him."

There once was a driver named Morning.
Who refused to heed any warning.
He drove on the track
Without looking back,
So they're mourning this morning
For Morning.

Uncle: "Well, how are you getting on at school, boys?"
Willie: "I am first in writing."
Fred: "I am first in Arithmetic."
