Life Sentence For Local Man

ALFRED SEDLAK BREAKS DOWN IN COURT BEFORE LARGE CROWD

Pleading guilty to second degree murder charge in connection with the death of his son, Harry, Alfred Sedlak was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary last Friday morning and that afternoon was taken by Sheriff A. W. Stephens to Lincoln to start serving. Considering his weakness from a self-inflicted gun wound, Sedlak broke up fairly well during the trial but he broke down when sentence was pronounced and he was helped from the court room which was packed with men and women, many of them in tears. The sentence pronounced by Judge Clifton Chase of Stanton, was "life imprisonment subject to parole."

It was Sunday evening, August 6, when Sedlak, 28, was upstairs with two of his children, Harry, 3 1/2, and Helen, 1 1/2, and the little ones were asleep in bed. Mrs. Sedlak and Hazel, 7-month-old daughter, and Miss Ruby Berkley, were downstairs. Sedlak shot the boy and then turned the gun on himself.

Unmailed letters started in June and addressed to his sister in Omaha and to the sheriff revealed family trouble. On the day of the shooting Sedlak finished the letter to Stephens with this note, "I think my time has come, that I have to go—I am going to take my children with me because I don't want them to go neglected."

At first it was thought Sedlak would not live, but he gained strength and was given preliminary hearing in county court Wednesday last week, pleading not guilty to first degree murder charge. In district court trial on Friday Attorney H. D. Addison changed the charge to second degree murder and Sedlak pleaded guilty. The trial opened at 9:30 and sentence was pronounced at 10:50.

Two Main Witnesses.
Mrs. Sedlak, who was in court with her two daughters, and L. W. Kratavil, Sedlak's former employer, gave the principal testimony. Mrs. Sedlak testified that her husband had made numerous threats to take his own and the children's lives but he had never threatened her. She admitted that they had family trouble during their four years of marriage. While Mrs. Sedlak was on the witness stand little Helen crawled up to her and played with her mother's pocketbook. Mrs. Sedlak's parents cared for the infant daughter.

Mr. Kratavil identified Sedlak's signature on letters which explained the slayer's plan. A letter from Sedlak's mother in Germany was also introduced and translated. Mr. Kratavil told of Sedlak's having been a faithful employee and that he had never spoken unkindly of his wife.

H. E. Siman, lawyer for the defense, gave a gripping plea at close of the trial. While admitting the wrong of the act, Mr. Siman explained that all Sedlak had desired was a happy home and his had not been happy so he sought this way out.

In his own testimony Sedlak again explained that his home life was a disappointment and that he wanted to take himself and his children away. When asked if he had more to say, Sedlak replied that he did not. Judge Chase gave the sentence and Sedlak broke down. He had walked into the courtroom alone, but he was weak when he left.

Taken To Lincoln.
Sheriff and Mrs. Stephens and daughter drove to Lincoln Friday afternoon with Sedlak. "He stood the trip well," Mr. Stephens reports, "but the parting was hard for him."

Mr. Sedlak, a native of Germany, came to this country about seven years ago and had lived in Wayne since. His wife was formerly Miss Amanda Daum. The family is living with Mrs. Sedlak's parents, the George Daums, near Pilger.

Car Is Damaged.
The Hogan car had glasses broken and a fender bent Tuesday when the machine turned over at the corner of Eighth and Pearl streets. The machine was coming from the west and in turning sharply, tipped. The Hogan boy sustained minor cuts.

Undergoes Operation.
Roland, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Splitzger of near Altona, underwent an operation for ruptured appendix Sunday at Norfolk Lutheran hospital. He is improving as well as can be expected.

COUNTY'S ANNUAL FAIR NEXT WEEK HOLDS ATTENTION

THE Wayne county fair opens one week from today and will continue three days. Bringing together specimens of the different products of the county is the fundamental reason for holding a fair. It shows work on the farm and in the home, making possible a close-up view of community activities and advantages. No better farm animals or agricultural products will be found anywhere this year, and a visit to the several departments of the show will be a revelation of surprising excellence. The entertainment features which enliven the fair and which are highly necessary, are of course incidental to the main purpose—showing the county's resources and accomplishments. Let people gather at the fair next week, see exhibits, see the program, meet friends and receive appreciation.

FAIR FEATURES BEING ARRANGED

Rural School Chorus Is New On Program This Year In Wayne.

Wayne county's annual fair will be held September 14, 15 and 16 and plans are well under way for the occasion. Exhibits will be of special interest this year, and entertainment features are progressing. Winnebago Indians will be featured Saturday. The pipe of peace ceremony is planned in the afternoon. Congressman Edgar Howard of Columbus, may speak that afternoon and accept the pipe of peace from the Indians. The Indians will present ceremonial dances at the evening program. A musical comedy and a drama are being prepared by local talent for the Thursday and Friday evening features. Vaudeville is also arranged.

A rural school chorus is to sing Thursday afternoon. On this day school children will be admitted free to the fair. Many of the children have learned the songs by what is known as the Fullerton method, that is learning them by phonograph records. Charles Fullerton, Cedar Falls, Iowa, teachers college music director, is author of the book from which the songs are taken. For the past three years teachers have been singing these songs in institutes and using them in their schools. Each year the state department decides on songs for the year and makes records available. The chorus will sing a group of the numbers at the fair. The band will give $1 to each school sending five pupils to sing in the chorus. Should there be less than five pupils in the school the fair will give the $1 if all come.

Teachers have been asked to get pupils together in precincts once or twice before the fair. Leaders have been named in the precincts as follows: Sherman, Miss Ruth Morris and Miss Eva Mae Klumner; Deer Creek, Miss Elizabeth Gemmel and Miss Mabel Behrend; Wilbur, Miss Evelyn Meyer, Miss LaVerne Stamm, and Gilmore Sabs; Garfield, Earl Miller and Mrs. Lloyd Behmer; Chapin, Miss Eleanor Edwards and Miss Helen Witt; Strahan, Miss Eulalie Brugger and Miss Thille Eckert; Hunter, Miss Alma Lautenbaugh and Miss Alice Larson; Logan, Miss Ruth Hanson and Miss Alice Beckenhauer; Hoskins, Carl Finup, Miss Marjorie Mifield and Miss Marian Anderson; Hancock, Miss Irene Iversen and Miss Yleen Neely; Brenna, Miss Lucille Brune and Miss Mildred Moses; Plum Creek, C. E. Gilmeroth, Miss Yvonne Gray and Miss LaVerne Erlsberg; and Leslie, Miss Ina Ruth Johnson and Craig Curley.

Many Reservations.
Many reservations for livestock are being made with Secretary W. E. Von Segger. Some stock is coming from as far distant places as Washington county. Exhibits will be entered Wednesday and until 10 a. m. Thursday, when judging starts.

K. C. Fouts, of Seward, will judge the swine. He will judge the pig club entries. Thursday afternoon, baby beaves, cattle and horses will be judged by H. C. Gramlich, head of animal husbandry at the university in Lincoln. Exhibits will be in Lincoln. (Continued on Page Six)

Fatally Injured In Car Accident

Oil Truck And Passenger Car Collide On Highway Near Wayne On Friday.

When an oil truck and a passenger car collided on highway No. 15, about 11 miles northwest of Wayne Friday afternoon about 5:30, Mrs. Hans Hansen, about 46, of Laurel, sustained fatal injuries. Andrew and Dorothy Hansen and Morris Zook sustained minor injuries and the two machines were badly damaged. Mrs. Hansen died while being taken to Laurel for medical care.

Mrs. Hansen, wife of a Laurel oil station operator, her son, Andrew, 20, and daughter, Dorothy, 13, were in the cab of the oil truck, driving north. Andrew was driving. A passenger car driven by Morris Zook of Allen, was going west. Roy E. Johnson of Concord, was accompanying Mr. Zook to look over some land. The machines collided at an intersection. The oil truck turned over about three times and landed in a ditch. The Zook car turned over beside the road.

The truck cab was badly crushed and Mrs. Hansen suffered internal injuries. Andrew had a cut on the head and Dorothy received several minor cuts. Mr. Zook had one arm cut and bruised. Mr. Johnson was not hurt.

Wayne High Squad Goes Into Training

Coach "Bob" Gibb sent his Wayne high school proteges through their first strenuous practice session Tuesday evening. The drill included calisthenics, passing drill and fundamentals. Monday afternoon brought a short "board talk" and an open discussion on football in general. Equipment was checked out to two full teams, including the "vets" of other seasons and some newcomers to the great American game of "kicking the pigskin around."

All indications are that Wayne high will have a smart and fast outfit on the gridiron this fall. The schedule of games is still incomplete but will be finished out at a near date.

Those reporting for practice are: Brown, Cunningham, Bornhoff, Brugger, Sala, Penhollow, Cartwright and Norton, all letter men, and Fleetwood, Nichols, Barnett, Auker, Cavanaugh, Baker, Wasson, Wright, Peterson, Sevy, Lunders and McQuigan who are showing up well in preliminary workouts.

Married Tuesday At Home In Wayne

Miss Faye Beckenhauer Is Bride Of W. Auburn Behl Here This Week.

Mr. W. Auburn Behl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Behl of Scotland, S. H. C. Caspey, Methodist pastor. Following a reception and wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Behl left for Pontiac, Mich., where they will make their home.

Pink and lavender gladioli and asters in baskets were banked in the Beckenhauer home for the wedding. Mrs. John Volk of Williston, N. D., sister of the bride, sang "At Dawn" before the ceremony. Hermit Stewart played her accompaniment and also played Mendelssohn's march as the bride and party descended the stairs and took places before the improvised altar. Little Eugene Volk led the bride in a suit of black velvet and white silk and carried the wedding ring in a rose. Miss Faye Beckenhauer and her sister, Miss Fanel Beckenhauer, who was maid of honor, followed and met Mr. Behl, Ned Pickett and Rev. Caspey at the altar. The bride wore robin egg blue chiffon velvet, ankle length, and silver slippers. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Fanel Beckenhauer was bridesmaid. (Continued on Page Six)

Anticipate Large Fall Enrollment

No New Instructors Added To Teachers College Faculty This Year.

Monday will see the college upon the hill once more bustling with activity, and honeycombed with perplexed students trying to straighten out their registrations, and hurried faculty members trying to guide them. Registration begins at 1 p. m. Monday and continues all day Tuesday, with regular classes opening Wednesday morning on schedule. Judging by advance correspondence and by the room reservations which have been coming in, Mrs. J. G. Miller predicts a large attendance this fall. Many who have been unable to secure schools will come back to continue their training, and several who were planning to attend other institutions, have been attracted here by the comparatively low cost. Many reservations have come in from western Iowa, particularly in Sioux City, and from South Dakota points.

Chapel program will be held as usual Wednesday morning, with Dr. U. S. Conn making announcements for the new year, and welcoming the student body.

For the first time in at least 17 years there will be no new faces on the college faculty. Miss Jessie Boyce returns after three years' absence during which she worked on her doctor's degree at University of Minnesota. Miss Mabel Schmeiser replaced her during that period.

National Guard Is Kwanis Subject

Rev. H. C. Caspey who recently returned from the Nebraska National Guard camp at Ashland, explained the general work of the guard and the particular work which he carried on, before Wayne Kiwanis club Monday noon. Maurice Wright played saxophone solos, accompanied by his sister, Miss Jeanne Wright. Next meeting, Supt. H. R. Best will bring observations on his summer's holiday in the east, and special music is being arranged.

Reunion Sunday Of Longe Family

About 150 members of the Longe family attended the third annual reunion held Sunday at Bressler park. Families of Albert, Herman, Rudolph, Amos and Ernest Longe and Mrs. Detlef Kai and of the late Theodore Longe and Mrs. Pauline Utecht were in the group. Dave Longe of Emerson, cousin of the above named, and his family were also there. It is planned to hold next year's picnic at the Wayne park also.

Teaches at Cairo.

Voters Give Issue A Huge Majority

STRONG VOTE FOR ISSUE OF BONDS INSURES HEADWAY

By a vote of more than four to one Wayne accepted the proposition to issue bonds in the sum of $25,000 to build a long-needed community house. The federal government's recovery plan will handle the bonds and contribute an additional sum. Also the Wayne Woman's club will add $6,000. Altogether enough money will be available to provide a building that will answer all purposes for many years. The heavy vote for the enterprise testifies to Wayne's public spirit. It reminds one that Wayne is an exceptional town. It is exceptional because its people are actuated by vision, because it is the seat of a growing state teachers college and because it is surrounded by a farming area of unfailing crops and of finest type of citizenship. Wayne voted to take advantage of an opportunity to provide an important improvement and at the same time to extend employment. It will help the town directly. Also it emphasizes Wayne as a live and progressive community.

City Auditorium Project Wins Strong Approval At Polls Tuesday.

Wayne residents signified their approval of the proposed $25,000 bond issue for a new community building, by an overwhelming majority at the special election Tuesday. An unusually light vote was cast with only the Third ward showing a normal turnout. Vote by ward was as follows: First ward, 168 for, 36 against; Second ward, 168 for, 47 against; Third ward, 235 for, 48 against; total favorable vote, 571; total opposing vote, 131.

Now that the bond issue has been approved, city officials will give their attention to procuring federal financing for the project. Councilman J. S. Horney went to Fremont Wednesday to interview the federal advisory board and find out what steps are necessary to gain governmental approval. Mr. Horney made arrangements for an interview with the board, and Mayor Martin Ringer plans to take members of the council, the city clerk and city attorney to Fremont when formal application is made.

As soon as federal sanction is received, council members will devote themselves to finding a suitable lot for the new building. A location near the business district at least 100x150 feet is required for a structure 80x140 feet. Several lots have been offered by owners, including the following: J. W. Morgan property, corner Fifth and Main; Clyde Oman property, corner Third and Pearl; Savidge and Griffith lots, Second and Pearl; Mrs. Alvina Korff property, Third and Pearl; Mrs. Sarah R. Warnock lots, Main between Fourth and Fifth; C. E. Carhart property, Third and Logan; and Mrs. William Canning property, Third and Logan. No investigation of lots has been made as yet.

Reducing Pig Crop

THE Omaha Daily Journal-Stockman says that more than a quarter of the four million pigs the AAAA offered to buy have been converted into grease and tankage and fertilizer. Though it is pointed out that the heaviest runs have come from drouth sections, the best corn areas have been represented in receipts. The Journal-Stockman says in part:

"Farmers generally appear to take what might be described as a passive attitude in the matter. They are ready to let the government have the pigs it wants, have no great confidence that any real good will come from the plan, but hope so, and figure that even if it doesn't there can't be much harm outside adding a bit more to the burden the taxpayer is already carrying.

"In any event, few producers are leaving themselves out of a limb, so far as the hog business is concerned. They may get rid of some pigs, and even a few sows, but they are keeping themselves in position to step right into production again, if the prices and prospects warrant. It doesn't take long to produce a batch of pork. The man with sows and gilts can change his mind almost over night, in either direction, and is always going to be ready to do just that. So outside of any moral consideration, based on the waste of the bounty which nature has provided, we are inclined to question the effectiveness of the plan. In itself, it encourages production."

Communism Is Inconceivable

THE fear of communism if present recovery plans fail to meet expectations seems to underrate the intelligence and stability of the American people. The least fortunate in this country knows how much worse conditions are in Russia. The least fortunate knows enough not to invite a system of rule now fastened on that unhappy land. According to the best information, communism, as practiced in Russia, has no conscience and no sense of justice. It is inconceivable that the most hopeless person in America at this time would wish to become a mere cog in a big, ruthless wheel, to be crushed at the pleasure of the state. We have much from which to recover, and cooperation is necessary to hasten recovery, but our condition at worst is not so distressing as that in Europe, especially in Russia. Whatever experiments are undertaken in the interest of recovery, whatever lapses or disappointments may follow, we still have abundant

New Ruling Made On Pigs Shipped

Beginning with the opening of the markets Thursday morning September 7, only those pigs that are accompanied by a permit issued directly to the original owner will be accepted by the government at the premium rate now in effect at Omaha, Sioux City, St. Joe, Nebraska City, Denver, and Kansas City. This information came direct to W. W. Derrick and to W. H. Brokaw of the agricultural college extension service at Lincoln Saturday afternoon.

reason to spurn the blandishments of communism which would threaten intolerable terrorism and oppression. To this intelligent masses in America would never submit.

Buy-Now Is Urge

A buy-now campaign will not have easy sledding in a farming community unless or until purchasing power of the farmer is increased considerably. A farm can't buy when prices for the things he has to sell are down. The hope has been and still is to increase his prices through the NRA's extension of employment, thus causing enlarged demand and correspondingly higher farm values. Until that is accomplished, farmers will be handicapped in buying the things they need and want. Until then they will be able to do little in helping restore prosperity. Until the buying power of the farmer is brought back, manufacturing will not have an active market for its products. There must be an equal exchange that will include the farmer. The way to bring this about engrosses the earnest attention of persons in places of authority. It fires the solicitude of everybody. On the farmer's prices and buying power all eyes are anxiously fixed.

Sometimes persons traveling along in the evening of life are freed from responsibility by children generously taking over their property on agreement to provide for them during the rest of their days. It is wonderfully thoughtful on the part of the children. It is tough to be burdened by property cares when one is tramping along towards the eternal sunset. This arrangement goes along smoothly for a time. Then the property slips in productive value, or is frittered away through injudicious handling. In due time the children fail to carry out their pledges, and trusting elders find themselves in a perplexing pickle. Conclusion: Hang to your property until the end, thus the better able to help heirs manage it.

We are sure Henry Ford is not averse to the advertising he is getting out of holding aloof from the NRA. No firmer believer in advertising has lived since Barnum. Sometimes he pays for it, and sometimes he gets it for nothing, but anyway it is welcome.

One reason why Wayne is a desirable town in which to live and own property is because it does such things as it did Tuesday—vote bonds for a public improvement.

The Lincoln Journal observes that "a government is in a bad way if one depression, one panic, one period of hard times can wreck it."

Dr. A. L. Bixby quotes a fellow of wide experience as advising people generally to "keep out of politics and go to work."

The depression will not have effected an adequate cure until people quit acting cowardly by "passing the buck."

Religion is hurt by trying to uphold it with narrow intolerance.

arriving at the market up to and including Wednesday, September 6, will be accepted as they have been in the last few days. The new ruling says the shipment, after the sixth, must be accompanied by a letter or telegram from an authorized packer or commission firm directly to the original owner of the pigs. The number of pigs included in the permit must be stated in the letter or telegram.

The permit ruling does not affect pregnant sows, but the minimum weight of these sows has been lowered from 275 to 240 pounds. This change is in effect immediately.

Wheat Growers Sign.

About 25 percent of the wheat growers in Stanton, Wayne, and Cedar counties have now signed applications for triple A wheat contracts in these counties. Farmers may sign up for several days yet by coming in to their designated filing places.

Reports from other counties indicate that from 50 to 60 per cent of the acreage is being signed up at the first filing days, and that farmers continue to fill out the blanks after filing days as they get the necessary figures together.

Western Nebraska counties are now estimating that 80 to 90 per cent of the growers will sign applications. Cheyenne county, leading wheat producing county, is also leading in number of applications signed.

REVERSES.

Reverses tend to make one mean. It takes a good deal of courage to see coveted dollars slip away and income deflated to the point of distress without becoming irritable and spiteful. But the fellow who has lost material ground is no exception to the rule. On the contrary he is but following the universal rule, and when he directs shafts of light on others he is hurting those who are no better off than himself. It is suggestive of barbarism to misinterpret the motives or words of others. It makes one wonder if people are losing with their material losses their sense of right and justice. When one launches suspicions without reason or accuses without ground, he betrays his own weakness or his own state of malevolence. One cannot carry out the spirit of the NRA by injecting into it personal hatredness that seeks to obstruct or tear down others. Let us show we are civilized by giving others a square deal, in both thought and action.

Entertainment And Exhibits
At Twentieth Annual Festival Good.

FIFTY-THIRD YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1933.

NUMBER TWENTYTWO

Gates were swung shut late Thursday evening on the twentieth annual Dixon county fair, and officials report a good attendance and excellent exhibits. Secretary Roy E. Johnson, says the all-county baseball tournament was a big drawing card and was eagerly followed by the crowds. The cattle and horse exhibits were especially good this year, and the hog barn had many visitors. A generous program of free acts, racing, outdoor movies and band concerts was planned for the second and third days of the fair, August 30 and 31.

Tuesday was given over to placing of exhibits, and first round of the baseball game, Maskell vs. Dixon, and Wakefield vs. Concord, was played off that afternoon. Judging of all exhibits began on the second morning and buildings were thrown open for inspection before noon. A concert by Concord Owl band, baseball game between Newcastle and Allen, and Ponca and Maskell, races and free acts filled the afternoon, and the Concord band played again that evening, followed by another program of free acts, movies and concert by Wakefield Legionnaires.

Thursday morning brought continuation of the judging and awarding, with ball games, Newcastle vs. Wakefield, and Maskell vs. Dixon, and the Newcastle parade of all prize-winning stock, races, free acts and exhibits occupied the large crowds which gathered for afternoon and evening. It was warm, sunny, with a liberal supply of dust in circulation, but ideal fair weather and everyone was having a good time. For the evening program, Concord Owl band and Ponca Municipal band played, free acts were staged and outdoor movies wound up the three days of activity.

Feminine interest centered in the women's building where were exhibited farm products, foods, fine arts, school work, flowers and plants, and needlecraft. The rock garden added a cool note to the building with its massed greenery, lily pool and velvety flowers. The quilts and hand-made rugs attracted considerable attention, and the flower display was both large and colorful. Grains shown were excellent, as were potatoes, but the corn was hardly mature enough for exhibiting and the fruit crop showed up poorly. A stalk of corn 14 feet high was entered by M. Mogensen of near Concord.

In the hog barn, heavy-weight honors went to a Poland China sired by the Herken farm of Wayne, and tipping the scales at 900 pounds.

In the baby beef club showing, Earl Evers exhibited the grand champion. Awards were as follows: Hereford, Dale Evers of Laurel, first; Donald Most of Laurel, second; and Clarence Bloom of Concord, third; Angus, Earl Evers, first; Clarence Bloom, second; and Marvin Miller of Wakefield, third. In the Jersey class, awards were: champion cow, champion bull, and first in bull two years or over, bull under one year, cow three years or over, heifer two years or over, heifer one year or over, heifer under one year, young herd, aged herd, get of sire, produce of dam, Rice and Son of Concord. Awards in Shorthorn classification were: champion, cow three years and over, heifer two years and over, heifer one year and over, heifer under one year, bull three years and over, aged herd, by Harry Malmberg of Wakefield. Albert Berg of Hartington showed the Holstein bull under one year, and heifer one year or over, which placed first. Burdette Nygren of Wayne, exhibited the prize-winning heifer three years or over. John E. Carlson of Concord, and Emil Schutte of Dixon, were in charge of cattle exhibit.

First three prizes in the farm team entries went to James Clark of Allen, Edwin Forsberg of Laurel, and Gail Sellon of Hartington. Ed Allen of Concord, showed the winning farm team of mules, and draft colt awards went to Thomas Erwin of Concord, Gail Sellen and Oscar Kordell of Laurel. In the brood mares, Oscar Kardell, Thomas Erwin and Gail Sellen won first three prizes. For white and spotted colts, first awards went to Gunner Bros. of Laurel, and the second and third prizes to Roy A. Johnson of Concord. Oscar Koester of Allen, had the winning mule colt, and Roy A. Johnson won second place in the stallion group. Farm mare awards went to Gail Sellen, Edwin Forsberg and Gail Sellen for first three places. College Grid Team Prospects Bright

Coach Hickman Reports A Hard Schedule Of Games Is Planned.

Football prospects at Wayne State Teachers College are very bright this season, Coach W. R. Hickman reports, with 14 letter men returning and good material among the freshmen. Practice will start this Thursday and continue faithfully each day as the schedule is one of the hardest the college has ever played. Mr. Hickman reports. The Nebraska B team, which is almost equal to the varsity team, is to play here this year and this promises to be the stiffest one arranged.

Wayne's first game, according to the present schedule, will be with Wesleyan university at Lincoln September 29 or 30. Other games are: October 6, Western Union at LeMars; October 13, Kearney here; October 20, Omaha university at Omaha; October 27, Chadron here, homecoming; November 3, Nebraska B here; November 10, Springfield Southern Normal here; November 24, Peru there.

The stadium is completed on the new athletic field, north of the old one, and the road is being gravelled. The new field will be ready for the games this fall and plenty of seating and parking spaces are provided.

Flowers And Plant Exhibits At Fair Inigue Wayneites

To Prof. A. V. Teed, who with Mrs. Teed and Janice May, returned from the Chicago exposition Wednesday last week, by far the most fascinating spot on the widespread grounds was the horticulture building and its adjoining gardens. This quiet and lovely section was restful after viewing the swift-moving and colorful exhibitions in other buildings, and had much to intrigue a botanist.

Here were sheltered the hard-core formal gardens, the rock nooks, the natural flower groupings and scenic effects depicting outdoor life in many parts of the country. One florist had reproduced a western scene with rushing waterfall and mountain flowers, another had desert setting with sand pierced with cacti. Outside the building was a delightful stretch of gardens, including extremely formal Italian stretches, meticulously-kept lawn stretches depending on their rich greenness and garden furniture for color, wall garden bearing lilies, a mill garden with old-fashioned mill and wheel, and a wild flower garden filled with hundreds and hundreds of species. The mid-west was well represented with a rose garden arranged by an Iowa florist.

Elsewhere on the grounds was an interesting Florida exhibit with orange and lemon trees bearing their fruits. Near the Transportation building were examples of the latest railroad equipment, including the Burlington "crack" train from Omaha to Chicago, a Baltimore & Ohio train which included the car from which Hoover made his final campaign speech, a car which will be part of the Union Pacific's 110-mile-an-hour train, and the Royal Scot train from England which makes the longest non-stop run in the world, traveling between Edinburgh and London. The Pullman company displayed a new type car with a folding steel stairway which swings down to admit passengers to upper berths. The Teeds were particularly impressed by the friendliness of Chicago people, and pronounce them splendid hosts.

After a week in Chicago, the Teed family drove as far east as Cleveland, Ohio, and back through southern Indiana, through Springfield, Ill., where they visited Lincoln, where they visited Lincoln's home and tomb, and past the huge power dam at Keokuk, Iowa, where river boats are taken through big locks as in a canal. Their route led through Des Moines, then home after an absence of two and one-half weeks.

Kills Wife And Self At Norfolk

Norfolk, Neb., Aug. 31—Joseph Worley, 48, Longview, Wash., who has been in Norfolk the past three weeks visiting relatives shot and killed his wife, Mabel, 46, and then fired a bullet into his own brain this morning in Mapes park here. He died a short while later. The Worleys were the parents of eight children, five of whom are grown. They were accompanied to Norfolk by three of the children, Jeannette, Harold, about 9, and a 3-month-old infant. Mrs. Jacob Walters of Norfolk is a daughter. They had been visiting his brothers, Jacob and Oscar Worley. Lynn D. Hutton, acting county attorney, announced he saw no need of an inquest.

Unusual Quilting Record Is Made By Pioneer Resident

To Mrs. Mary McMakin has come much local renown as quilt maker extraordinary. In the last 30 years she has pieced together perfect in workmanship. Piece after piece has been joined together with fine, even stitches, and the colorful blocks joined together to form handsome quilts—bedrooms of the future. Just at present this 84-year-old pioneer woman is working on her fifth flower garden pattern, which she says used to be called "Jo's trouble" pattern, and is also making a broken star quilt.

Mrs. McMakin never sees a new pattern without wanting to duplicate it, and usually does, too, say her family. To her credit are quilts in all the popular patterns and several less known, as the basket, flower garden, Irish chain, wedding ring, "T," sweet gum leaf, geosetracks, friendship and winding blade. For her two great-grandchildren, Catherine and Tom Cavanaugh, Mrs. McMakin has pieced three quilts each, using their clothing worn as wee tots, for the pieces. She knows that some day these quilts pieced by great-grandmother will be greatly valued by this third generation.

Quilts are not Mrs. McMakin's only interest in needlework, for she has embroidered four bedspreads and two silk quilts, and formerly turned out many yards of crocheting and tatting. She needs glasses only when sewing and reading, and hears well.

Hers has been a full and interesting life. Born in Kentucky back in 1849, she was brought to Indiana when only two years old, and later lived in Illinois. When about 10 years old during the Civil war period, she became interested in piecing quilts in common with other industrious young misses of her day, and in the next four years pieced six and had started her seventh. After her mother died she lost interest in this work. After her marriage back in Illinois, Mrs. McMakin came to Wayne county to locate, and has called this home for the past 49 years. The Wayne which greeted the McMakins back in 1884 was a mere three-year-old, awkward and gangling. Grass grew up and down Main street, sidewalks were few and uneven, and one climbed to reach the entrance of one store, and stumbled down several steps to the next.

After her husband's death Mrs. McMakin lived in Winsdale for a short time, then came back here with her daughter, Mrs. Grace Cavanaugh. Here, in the Cavanaugh home, dwell four generations—Mrs. McMakin, her daughter, her grandson and wife, the A. T. Cavanaugh, and two great-grandchildren, Tom and Catherine, and one of the most active of these is their senior, Mrs. Mary McMakin, quilt maker.

Stop In Wayne On Long Auto Trip

Wilbur M. Lessman of Pasadena, Calif., who spent the past 10 days visiting his mother, Mrs. Minnie Lessman, and other relatives and friends in and near Wayne, left Saturday for the west. This was his first visit here in four years. During the past month, Mr. Lessman and his companions, Bert Younk and George Hagan, also of Pasadena, have been touring the United States.

Among the many points of interest the young men visited were the Granite dells of Arizona, Coolidge dam, the Lone Star state, New Orleans, Alabama and Georgia. In the last states named they saw the large fields of cotton and rice, and in the Carolinas they saw tobacco fields. While in Florida they visited St. Augustine, the oldest city in the United States, Fort Marion and some of the larger cities. They passed through Richmond, Va., and stopped in Washington, D. C., to visit Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington, and they were especially impressed with the old coach in which Washington rode and with his wonderful grove of trees.

The travelers stopped at Arlington cemetery and saw the grave of the unknown soldier. They then went to Lincoln memorial building in Washington, through Washington monument, which is 500 feet high, to the White House, the congressional library, senate chambers and capitol where they heard the marine band give a concert. They also went to the engraving building where $20,000,000 in paper money is made each day. The men then drove to Philadelphia and while there visited the first capitol building of the United States and saw the old cracked Liberty bell.

While entering New York City they drove through the tunnel beneath the Hudson river. They visited Coney Island, saw the Statue of Liberty and watched large ocean steamers. They visited Central park, New York stock exchange, State Empire building which is 102 stories high and from the top of which they could look all over the city. Leaving New York the travelers passed through Connecticut and Rhode Island. In Boston they saw the Bunker Hill monument and the Boston commons. They then continued their journey to Niagara and viewed the falls from both the American and Canadian sides. Returning, they drove through Cleveland, Ohio, Detroit, Mich., and Chicago, visiting the world's fair at Chicago. They also stopped at Sterling, Ill., to visit a sister of Mr. Lessman.

From Wayne the young men will continue their journey to Denver, Colo., where they will visit Pike's peak and the Garden of the Gods. They plan to stop at Salt Lake city and San Francisco. When they reach Pasadena again they will have covered a distance of 10,000 miles.

All of the sights seen, Mr. Lessman thinks that the Grand Canyon of Arizona is the most magnificent. When here Mr. Lessman had experienced no car trouble and had had only four flat tires on the journey.

Mr. Younk and Mr. Lessman took a trip together last summer when they toured western states and Canada, covering a distance of 3,400 miles. They expect to take another trip next summer.

Mrs. Minnie Lessman, mother of Wilbur Lessman, entertained at a family gathering for the latter on Sunday last week. ### Wayne County's Youth Spotlighthd During Her Annual Fall Exposition

Youth will play a stellar role in Wayne county's fair this year, for boys and girls banded together in 4-H clubs will furnish some of the most interesting exhibits on the grounds, and will be on hand "en masse" to lend life and enthusiasm to the three-day exposition. For as Wayne county's fair is the show-window of her agricultural abundance, then the 4-H exhibits which are part of this display, are proof that her agricultural future is in safe hands.

The 4-H work in this county is under supervision of Dr. William Hawkins, county chairman, who cooperates with the state extension department. There are five units in the county, including baby beef, corn and sewing clubs, each with its own leader and own officers.

The corn and sewing clubs will be represented with creditable exhibits at the fair, and the baby beef pens will be one of the centers of interest. Practically all the baby beaves owned by club members are to be entered, and showmanship contest will be introduced this year, with awards for the best fitted and best shown calves in addition to the grand champion and other awards. Sioux City fair authorities are to be here to sit calves for the Sioux City calf club show.

Baby beef clubs are the most numerous in this county, and number about 58 members out of the 100 boys and girls enrolled in this work. Members are taught the latest scientific methods which will enable them to feed and produce beef at the least amount of expense. They take all care of animals, and make daily feed charts showing loss or gain in weight, how much feed cost, and then write complete story of the feeding when animal is marketed.

Feeding period for the year starts January 15, and usually June, July and August calves are most desirable for the work. Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 are eligible for membership. With all the feed necessary, and with ideal feeding conditions, baby beef work has proven highly successful in this county.

Largest of the quintet is Wayne beef club, which is under the personal supervision of Dr. William Hawkins, with John Claycomb as his assistant. The 30 members now own 47 head of baby beaves between them, and will be well represented in exhibits at this year's fair. The group was organized 10 years ago, and has grown steadily since that time.

Members are: President, Robert McEachen; vice-president, Milton Aukey; secretary-treasurer, Don Lutt; Blaine Aukey, Marvin Muller, Francis Muller, Melvin Nydahl, Theodore Nydahl, John Meyer, Otto Meyer, Lester Lutt, DeForest Roggenbach, Harvey Spilttgerber, Allen Spilttgerber, Leland Herman, Kenneth Baird, Donald Baird, Gene Baird, Arnold Hammer, Mary

Corn Club Active.

Out in Altona, district is a 4-H group interested in raising corn and putting its cultivation on a paying basis. Each member has a patch of corn which he takes entire charge of, and keeps a complete record of the amount of work put on it, the total number of bushels raised, and notes if horses or tractors are used in cultivation.

At the end of the season, total cost of growing the corn is figured up and profit or loss of the work is figured up.

Allen Spilttgerber is president and DeForest Roggenbach, secretary of the 4-H corn club. Other members are Harvey Spilttgerber, Warren Austin and Myron Gilderleeve. In June the entire club attended all-day meeting of 4-H clubs at Fremont.

Stitch-in-Time Club.

Nineteen girls comprise Wayne county's sole 4-H sewing club, and although the group is scarcely four months old, will have a worthwhile exhibit at the fair next week. To be eligible for membership in the Stitch-in-Time club, girls must be between 10 and 20 years old, and be interested in learning to sew.

Meetings are held at homes of members every two weeks and are partly social. During the summer, holders, dust cloths, aprons, laundry bags and special gifts were made. Mrs. Carl Sievers is leader of the club, with Miss Virginia Sandahl as assistant. Officers and members are: President, Florence Suber; vice-president, Edith Sievers; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Sandahl; Gertrude Sievers, Florence Otte, Evelyn Otte, Ethel Tibbells, Irene Aevermann, Laverne Aevermann, Twila Herman, Leora Johnson, Marjory Soderberg, Mary Elnor Ring, LaVerne Olson, Frances Sandahl, Frisquilla Sandahl, Frances Lutt, Joy Lutt and Margaret Renz.

General F. DePinedo, famed Italian fier, was killed when his ship crashed and caught fire.

Less than two weeks hence the government war department will let a contract for $1,000,000 worth of work on the Missouri river navigation project, it was learned Friday. The letting is scheduled for September 11.

River boosters in close touch with the government's program declared the $1,000,000 to be for the project, the cost of materials to be provided for otherwise. Reliable information reveals the job to be let this month will make possible immediate construction between Sioux City and Dakota City, Neb., continuing the work previously under way from Dakota City south. This section of the Missouri job will supply work for thousands of men between nine and 16 months, to say nothing of the hundreds of workers whose hands will be occupied assembling the lumber, piling, steel, ballast, weaving materials and other paraphernalia.

Argentina's signature to the international wheat agreement put the finishing touch to a pact which, the negotiators assert, will rehabilitate the wheat industry and thereby do more toward restoring world prosperity than could any other single factor. What experts here assert that, unless the world's impoverished wheat farmer is put on his feet, there can be no universal prosperity. Frederick E. Murphy, Minneapolis publisher and American representative, is one of those who hold this opinion but he said today that the agreement need not be expected "to work a miracle overnight."

Argentina became the twenty-second nation to sign the pact, the general purpose of which is to reduce production by the great wheat nations and stimulate consumption in the importing countries.

The Teed Wild Flower Garden Is Source Of Interest To Easterners

Right here in Wayne city is a spot which has received recognition in no less publication than the New York Times, and has been the inspiration for several letters from eastern dwellers. It's found in Prof. A. V. Teed's wild flower garden at rear of his home on Nebraska street.

Growing up in the native timber country of Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, Prof. Teed missed the timber flowers when he came to this country, and since he could not go to the timber, he brought the timber blossoms to Wayne. Here in his 20x30 foot space, he has all the more decorative of the flower-tolks which are native to Nebraska soil.

Gardening is Prof. Teed's favorite outdoor sport, and he devotes innumerable hours to his yard and flower plots. The wild garden nook contains some 90 varieties which he has gathered mostly in Nebraska, with a few from Colorado and neighboring states.

Concord, the first and only one he ever found in Nebraska. He labored over it many hours and it lived in its new habitat, but now has retreated by spreading over a large part of the garden. Ten years of transplanting the Colorado columbine, only to have it die, were finally rewarded. The columbine is one of the most difficult plants to transplant or to grow from seed.

Home Owners' Loan Explained By Smrha

Charles Smrha, state manager, announces that applications for loans with the Home Owners' Loan corporation may be made by those who are eligible for such a loan. Applications will be considered only from those home owners who have already lost their homes, or who are not in a position to make their payments and because of that are threatened with the loss of their home. Legislation creating this loan agency does not contemplate the refinancing of all home mortgages, but aims to take care of only those who are in grave danger of losing their homes. Loans will be made to recover homes which have been lost within the past two years. Loans will be refunded or refinanced where the mortgage or lien was in existence June 13, 1933, when the act went into effect. No loans will be made on homes which are not encumbered by mortgages or other liens. No loans will be made on business property which cannot be construed to be a homestead. No loans will be made on homes which are not occupied by the owner except where the owner is temporarily absent and still claims the home offered for security as his homestead.

Loans may be made not in excess of eighty per cent of the appraised value of the property, or so much thereof as may be needed to pay off existing indebtedness. To bring about the refunding or refinancing of the loan it is necessary to secure the consent of the present holder of the mortgage which now encumbers the home. The Corporation will give such a holder its bonds in exchange for his mortgage; the corporation will then make a new loan to the home owner, running for a period of fifteen years. Extension of time of payment may be granted not exceeding three years. In extreme cases payments may be deferred. These loans will bear five per cent interest and will be amortized by monthly payments. In circumstances where monthly payments cannot be made, arrangements may be made for quarterly, semi-annual or annual payments. Where these loans are made on the basis of an exchange of the Corporation bonds for the existing mortgage, the home owner will pay on his new loan with the Corporation interest at the rate of five per cent.

The act makes provision for cash loans on the basis of forty per cent of the appraised value to pay off existing encumbrances, or fifty per cent of the appraised value to take up liens other than mortgages. The funds available for the making of cash loans, however, are very limited. The bulk of the loans must be made on the basis of an exchange of bonds for present mortgages.

Applications may be made with an attorney appointed for each county in the state. The attorney for Wayne county is J. E. Brittain. Geo. Patterson is appraiser for this county. Applications may also be made to the home office of the district in which the applicant resides. Wayne county belongs in Norfolk district. Through the cooperation of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, the holders of mortgages on homes, and the pub-

Wannalities

Wanna laugh? Wanna thrill? Wanna sigh? All three emotions are promised this week in generous servings and separate helpings at the Gay theatre to local folks with generous movie appetites. In fact, it looks like a pretty full week for cinema-fans. On the first three days, Sunday through Tuesday, Zazu Pitts and Slim Summerway, are teamed up in a domestic farce, "Her First Mate." Douglas Fairbanks, jr., stars in "The Narrow Corner" with a jungle island setting and strong love plot. "Baby Face" features Barbara Stanwyck and George E. Stone in a dramatic and colorful story of a baby-faced girl who is hard as steel underneath.

"Her First Mate." Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Here's that fun-proof pair, Zazu Pitts and Slim Summerway in a comedy you'll want to see, and bring the whole family. It's good, clean fun and plenty of it. Slim who visions himself as a sea-buckling master of a deep sea rover, can rise no higher in marlin life than candy butcher on a night boat, but his wife tries to help him by buying a ferryboat. Trouble ensues, but it ends with Mary delighted with the fact that she'll always have her salt water here right in the front yard.

"The Narrow Corner." Wednesday and Thursday.

What happens when a jungle girl yearning for her first love meets a man, escaping from his last? A tense and thrilling situation, you may be assured. The lovely Patricia Ellis has known no other home but an East Indian island, inhabited by outcasts who are safe only in this "narrow corner." To this island comes an Australian youth, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., who is fleeing from the world because he accidentally killed the husband of a woman with whom he was having an amorous affair. There's some excellent characterization. Dr. Saünder, Opium smoker, philosopher and stoic, played by Dudley Digges. There's Frith who is working on a translation from the Portuguese and has come to the lost island to find quiet and privacy for his all-engrossing work. There's old Swan, aged and evil but helpless. He's a smuggler and blackbird, and is grandfather of the lovely Louise. If you like romance, you'll enjoy this thoroughly.

"Baby Face." Friday and Saturday.

Here's drama for those who can take it. The story of a baby-faced, gold-digging man who uses her beauty to bend 12 men to her will, and then discards them as

Live Stock Market In Fair Condition

Live stock markets finished the week in fair condition, after being slow and uncertain earlier in the period. The outstanding sustaining element in the general trade was contracted receipts of cattle and hogs in practically all sections of the country. Movement of pigs on government order was heavy but more orderly than that of the preceding period, and there were reports from most sections that slaughterer kept pace with receipts. More than 125,000 pigs were received and slaughter at Sioux City during the seven days under this reduction plan in August, and there is a general feeling that the September supply will run as high as 600,000. The hog market was not affected by the movement of pigs and prospects that available supplies will be greatly reduced. Prices fluctuated within narrow ranges and on relatively slow trading, and the week's closing prices are practically steady with those of a week ago. Cured hogs products fluctuated with grains, and were largely slow, finishing at lower prices than a week earlier. Fresh meat markets had an erratic week. Early prices were strong, on increased consumer demands, but weakness and declines developed later as supplies were continued to broaden, and at the close there were reports of the best clearances of recent weeks, a condition that suggests that fair markets may be expected next week.

The fat cattle market was 25c lower the first half of the week, but it gained strength and activity the last half and fully regained the earlier losses, finishing steady with a week ago. Closing activity was such as to point toward materially improved demands. The butcher market was strong throughout the period, and prices are quoted largely around 25c higher for the week. Supplies of cows fell sharply, after being excessive for a number of weeks. Stock cattle supplies also moderated during the week, and prices in this department are fully 25c higher for the week. Country demands continued active, and Sioux City yards were well cleared of holdings at the close of the week and in good condition to handle the Labor Day run.

Confidence in Farming Needed.

Omaha Journal Stockman: We are told, on what we regard as reliable authority, that one of the large insurance companies has a hundred million dollars they would very much like to invest in farm mortgages—provided they could have some assurance that in the future state legislation would not be inimical to the rights and interests of farm creditors. Who, outside of the government, is going to loan money on land so long as there is a threat that the forgiveness of debts of farmers, in whole or in part, may be legalized, and required, by so-called farm relief legislation?

It is a serious matter, that should, from the standpoint of self-interest, be the first concern of farmers themselves. Farming is not an exception to the rule that credit is essential to the functioning of business. Farmers cannot afford to permit it to be driven away by legislation of a character that make uncertain if not impossible the full recovery of funds loaned. A permanent loss of credit standing will offset many times over any temporary gains that may seem to come from state action intended to obviate the necessity of meeting obligations in full. Right now complete confidence in farm mortgage investment would, to the tremendous advantage of those who hold title to land, result in a vast flow of funds in that direction, not only because fundamentally land is still regarded as the best investment but also because other forms of investment are by and large open to uncertainty. But there is this fear of land investment that arises from the kind of debt relief legislation passed in some states last year. Putting an end to that threat would serve the farmers of the country immeasurably better than its continuation.

Hog Control and the Price of Beef. Omaha Journal Stockman: Few there are, actually engaged in any branch of the live stock industry, who have any faith in Secretary Wallace's plan of boosting the price of hogs by killing off millions of pigs and piggy sows at this time. The general attitude is one of passive acquiescence. If the plan succeeds, well and good. If it fails, no great harm will have been done aside from the big bill of expense incurred.

"Granting that the removal of 16 per cent of the hog crop is possible during the coming six months, there is still a question whether or not hog prices can rise 25 or 30 per cent," declares the National Provisions Association. "Two important factors enter here. The first is buying power and the second the supply and price of other meats. The program to increase buying power is country wide. Minimum wages, however, are not such as to encourage any very large expenditure for even such a necessity as meat. As the employment program works out it seems to be more of a share-the-work plan than one of increased buying power. Should this be the case, it is not likely that meat demand will be broadened materially, or that there will be the ability to pay higher prices. "The other influence is that of beef supplies, primarily. Cattle have increased steadily since 1928, and the number on farms at the present time is a record. Marketings during the coming twelve months are expected to be larger than those of the period just ended. A large percentage of these cattle are said to be of the planer kind. This means more of the less expensive beef to compete with pork.

"The administration program to increase returns to the farmer via the hog crop is a new venture in production control. Secretary Wallace himself admits the risks and warns the beneficiaries. If it has the majority support of the farm population its success would seem to be in sight. But it means the co-operation of some six million individual farmers who have been in the habit of planning their own programs without interference from anything or anybody other than weather conditions."

NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

The Spirit of '33!

ALL TOGETHER—uniting all forces to push forward to better times—that is the spirit of today. Everyone has a part to do—ours is to provide satisfactory telephone service.

During the last few years, the telephone company, along with most other businesses, has been hard hit. Thousands of telephone lines have been taken out and long distance business has fallen off a third. But by sacrificing earnings we have carried on in a normal manner in so far as our customers were concerned—we have continued to provide good service and keep the property in repair.

As our business fell off and there was less work to do, the remaining work was spread by shortening hours. This many more employees have been retained by the Company than otherwise could have been employed. At the same time, with confidence in the future, the work of making necessary replacements to our property was advanced as much as practicable, thus providing additional work. All this has helped maintain purchasing power, benefiting not only employees but also those from whom they buy products or services.

Today the telephone is ready—ready to help all along the line in winning a new and sounder prosperity. It is ready to serve home and business—ready to provide quick voice-to-voice contacts, in and out of town—for protection, for comfort and convenience for all of its almost limitless uses.

Through good times and bad this Company has but one policy—to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost to the public consistent with the financial safety of the business.
