PRESIDENT DEMANDS INTERFERE WITH OLD-TIME IDEAS

IF PROGRESS were left to the decision of those with whose selfish interests it interferes, there would be no progress. An Omaha man who has just passed his eightieth birthday, ran a lively stable in the metropolis fifty years ago, and when he reviews things that have happened to means of transportation since then, he is filled with regret. To this old-timer and doubtless to others who were engaged in the lively business, the "good old days" were doomed, never to return, when automobiles were introduced.

Visits To Isle Of Porto Rico Are Vividly Recalled By Wayne Women

The recent visit of the nation's "First Lady" to our island possessions in the Caribbean focused attention on these little-known islands and awakened sympathetic interest in their brown and black inhabitants. Several Wayneites have visited the Virgin Islands and Porto Rico, and recall with enthusiasm the colorful Spanish cities, the dusky natives and the tropical inland country. Among these are Mrs. P. A. Davies who was sent to Porto Rico by the Presbyterian church, Mrs. Walter Pries who visited the islands recently, and Miss Velma Brown who taught in Porto Rico.

Mrs. Davies, as Miss Inea Godward, daughter of a Presbyterian missionary, was sent from Elbow Lake, Minn., by the Red River Presbytery, and landed at San Juan on February 6, 1900. She sailed on the "Burnside," an army transport which was formerly the Spanish boat, Larifa, captured in the Spanish-American war. Only 200 soldiers on board and 13 first class passengers—the boat was not well laden and the voyage was one of the roughest on record. Landing at San Juan, Mrs. Davies visited historic old Morro castle, the governor's pink residence known as "Casa Blanca," then went on to Mayaguez on the west coast of the island where was located the Colegio-Americano, Presbyterian-supported school in which she was to teach.

Her fourth, fifth and sixth graders were from all sorts of homes—rich and poor—and included all variations of colors, from light brown to deepest black. At once she began learning the Spanish language as classes were conducted in both Spanish and English.

Only a third of the island's children could go to school at this time. Besides the youngsters, Mrs. Davies taught a class of well-to-do young ladies who wanted to learn English, one of them being the French vice-consul's daughter. She also had a class of young business men who wanted English for business purposes and included the vice-president of a bank, clerks and the like. More so than the government teachers, Mrs. Davies came in touch with native families and found the better class to be well-educated and very delightful. The sons of wealthy families were sent to America for business education and to learn English, but the girls were guarded closely at home, and attended private schools on the island.

Higher class women were carefully sheltered, and soon became fat and shapeless as they spent the days rocking and visiting and doing fancy work. When they went out, it was with their husbands or riding with their children. The young American teacher found it necessary to conform to these rigid rules, also, and to go chaperoned to social affairs. Often a man would have a dozen or more unmarried or widowed relatives dependent on him, and all would live together in apparent harmony. A well-bred woman could not do hand-work for hire, nor could she clerk or nurse. Coming of American rule has changed much of this—now native women are teachers and nurses. A woman of position could not carry a package on the street—she must take along her servant for this. And when Mrs. Davies went to the community market to buy food-stuffs, she had to take along a servant woman who would pick up the things she pointed to, and pay for them. All the white woman could do was to make the bargain. The dusky natives would squint by their little pile of fruits or vegetables and shout back and forth to one another, bargaining excitedly with anyone who stopped to look at their wares. Meat was killed in early morn and must be taken home at once and cooked as there was no ice.

Of a Friday evening, the cavalry band played in the public square, or plaza, and here was done the courting of the seniors and senioritas. The dark-eyed girls and their chaperones walked slowly back and forth and the swarthy young men walked a nearby route, and as they passed they exchanged eloquent glances, bowing and speaking, but never stopping to chat. The young folks were amazed that Mrs. Davies did not understand the language of flowers of the handkerchief and of the fan—they used these as romantically as did their Spanish ancestors of old Madrid.

The flat roofs and graceful little balconies were scenes of many old-time courtships, with the seniorita and her chaperone above, and the young man loitering below.

Neither could the native young folks understand why Mrs. Davies had come to this far-off island to teach—they strongly suspected that her family did not love her.

In connection with the school were church activities, into which the American teachers entered with enthusiasm. One of the Porto Rican church goes offered to supply the church with collection plates, and after considerable wait during which the man hunted for just the right kind, he brought them down the aisle one morning, all glistening tin, and imagine the consternation of the American women when they saw written around the edge of each—"Who killed Owen Robin?" It was difficult for even a young missionary to keep a straight face.

Hold School on Beach.
After a time a school was opened down by the seashore, reached by a horse-drawn tram. An old store-building was found, its only opening being a big door on the street. Passersby stopped to watch, and tourists came to peer in, while the young teacher—one of the youngest missionaries ever to be sent out—struggled to teach excitable, fiery-tempered children their ABC's. Quick to learn, quick to memorize, lovable and excitable they were. The poorer children often had only a ragged garment with one button on the back, but never, never were they without shoes. Rather than come shoeless, they would stay at home. Small children ran clothless, their little bodies tanned deep brown—boys up to ages of 12 often had never worn clothing. The store-school was crude, ill-lighted, and centipedes crept along the floor, and scorpions from behind the blackboards while the young American teacher held classes.

The white residents always wore white clothing—the laundresses pounded the clothing with sticks and hung it on bushes to dry—colored fabrics couldn't stand this, of course. One of the most delightful recollections of Mayaguez was a party on a French man-o-war, followed by a party for the officers at the French vice-consul's home. This included "forfeit dancing" with one or two couples dancing while the others clapped. The native senioritas were afraid to shoot the sunrise gun on the man-o-war and said, "The young American girl is not afraid," so afraid or no, Mrs. Davies had to fire it.

Food included plenty of chicken, fruits such as avocados, guavas, coconuts, bananas, oranges, grapefruits, pineapples, mangos and breadfruits. When traveling about, one would hire a peon to climb up a tree and cut off a coconut with his machete. After one drank the milk through a hole, the peon would cut off the top and make it into a spoon so that the soft part could be eaten.

Much Poverty.
Most of these natives were terribly poor—they lived on fruits and rice and beans, and built rude little shacks with palm-thatched roofs. Discarded American tin cans were treasured, and often were used to cover the roofs of the cottages. Hammocks were made of cactus rope and palm leaves woven into mats and rugs. Coconuts were allowed to harden and then cut up to dishes, and gourds were utilized for table use also.

All cooking was done over charcoal and incessant work over these pipeless stoves often meant blindness for the cook.

In contrast to this primitive living, the wealthy folks lived in luxury. Very few rugs in their houses for dust, fleas and moths would collect—tile or wooden floors were uncovered. Houses were built in arches to withstand earthquake shocks.

Mrs. Davies and a friend rode by burro from San German to Guanica on the southwest coast, becoming soaked wet and drying out three times during the trip. They created no little stir at Guanica for they were the first American women to visit the town!

Few doctors and nurses at that time, no orphan asylums, few hospitals—the sick and afflicted roamed the streets and begged. Now that has been done away with for the government has established hospitals, and churches have organized asylums.

At end of her period of service, Mrs. Davies rode from Mayaguez to Yauco in an army ambulance and then traveled by narrow-gauge railway to Ponce, from where she took steamer for New York.

Teaches In University.
Miss Velma Brown, now supervisor in the training school, taught geography in the University of Porto Rico at Rio Piedras, near San Juan for three years. This was a government school maintained by the local legislature, and the student body included natives of all shades, varying from olive to ebony, from the small-boned Spanish folks to those of negro blood.

It was while attending college at Aberdeen, S. D., that she became interested in Porto Rican life, and secured an appointment on the island. She found the native young folks quick to learn, alert, and good workers, in spite of the warm, lazy climate.

On the faculty were Americans, called "continentals," pure Spanish folks and colored. The Spanish held aloof from the blacks and were very careful to keep their strain clear.

Evenings the Porto Ricans gathered on the plaza, or public square, promenading slowly to music. Their homes were small and crowded and they swarmed into the open at sundown. The business life of the island, says Miss Brown, ceases at noon until two or three o'clock while the inhabitants take siesta. Shops are closed, everyone stays indoors out of the heat and rays.

But sundown finds them ready for dancing, music or the movies. February is a month of fiestas, with crowning of the queen and dancing in the plazas—all very gay, very Spanish, very colorful. The Spanish girls are beautiful, in Miss Brown's opinion.

Porto Rico is a land of lovely tropical vegetation—trees with velvet flowers, and plants gorgeous in coloring and fragrance.

When the United States took over the islands there were no public schools—one was established next year and within 12 years there were fully 1,000 government schools. Education has brought better living conditions to the natives—they're very anxious to secure education, and determined to make good when they come to the university. After nine weeks' probation, they are sent home for not standing up well in scholarship. Students enter on probation for nine weeks, and are sent home if their scholarship is poor.

The teachers at the college were included in monthly social affairs at the governor's pink palace, and also in functions when the fleet came in and brought a round of parties in homes and on board ship. Very formal they are, these Porto Ricans. They dress in formal attire for evening dinner in the better homes—never do you see a man coming to table in business suit, or a woman in sports costume. The women lead lives of ease, spending their time with needlework or making lace, leaving the housework and care of children to the peon class.

Politics Warming Up

PARTY leaders in Washington are evidently getting ready for the November elections. In the United States Senate, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, turns back to the Hoover cabinet to fix responsibility for the air mail difficulties, and Senator Fess of Ohio, rises to the defense of the former administration.

In a speech accepted as a keynoter for the coming congressional campaign, Chairman Farley of the democratic national committee construes any opposition to present public policies as an attempt to gain undue advantage. He cannot understand as constructive any criticism that is unfavorable. He feels enough has been done for the country by the administration to justify unanimous approval.

Simultaneously, the voice of Senator L. J. Dickinson of Iowa, is raised against the NRA which he charges with an attempt to "Hitlerize American industry." Dickinson says NRA has increased the cost of living without corresponding increase in buying power, and that to enforce its provisions will require an army of government employees.

In Nebraska mostly democratic leaders are in the spotlight, and this week the biggest show was put on in the course of a public meeting called by the league of Nebraska municipalities. Governor Bryan and Arthur Mullen, Nebraska's democratic national chairman, now resigned, engaged in sharp disagreement over causes of delay in the Sutherland and Columbus projects. Mullen is so out of tune with the governor that he says he will file for the United States senatorship if necessary in order to defeat the governor's latest aspirations.

Silent republicans, relishing the clash from the side lines, may entertain a suspicion that a popularity contest between the two democratic stalwarts would be so evenly matched that a republican would capture the prize. Altogether, differences between and within political parties are growing, and a lively and enlightening campaign is in prospect. President Roosevelt is sincerely endeavoring to haul the country out of the depression bog, but he is hindered by some unwise advisers. He would seem to have more to contend with in modifying the politicians and professors within his own party than in meeting the criticisms of disagreeing members of the opposing party. As a rule, people have confidence that the president is sufficiently conservative to avoid hurtful radicalism.

Under Code

JUST about the time the national code was clamped on the newspapers, cry of an attempt to inject censorship of the press into operation of the NRA was heard in Washington. Senator Dickinson of Iowa, believed he saw in the maneuver of General Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, in connection with restrictions on telegraph companies, an attempt to throttle the freedom of the press. Dickinson charges that failure to work censorship into the newspaper code has led to another way to accomplish the same end. Whether ground existed for the suspicion or not, a remote view cannot well determine.

In applying the newspaper code which went into effect March 12, some advantages as well as some disadvantages are seen. The plan to bring the newspapers into closer contact and closer understanding with the government without exercise of dictatorship in any quarter would seem constructive. The code forces cooperation among newspapers, and dulls the sharp edge on competition. Whether this bodes for good or ill, time will tell.

It is pointed out that under the code the cost of producing newspapers will be increased. Costs of materials entering into production are said to be tending sharply upward, and like divergence of prices for factory and farm products, the altitudinal capers of the things a publisher must buy and the cold indifference shown for the things he has to sell at even lowest price levels, would appear to constitute a major problem. Like farmers and others in similar boats, publishers will have to wrestle with untoward fate until parties of values are ironed out. In the meantime if any publisher discovers how to increase his prices at once in harmony with increased costs of production he will be hailed as a wonder.

Indians In New Deal

NOTHING is said in connection with the New Deal about getting the Indians ready to give the country back to them, but according to the Omaha Journal-Stockman they are not to be left out of the program. That newspaper says they are not to be educated to act and live like white people, but are to be reinstated as Indians. The Journal-Stockman explains: "The old deal sought to raise them through education at boarding schools to go out into the world and be assimilated, but when they got their education there were no jobs, and so they went back to their Indian homes considerably peeved and worse off than if they had stayed at home in the first place."

"So part of the New Deal is to close a lot of government Indian boarding schools, which pleases everybody but the government job holders affected. "Emphasis will be put on community life. There will be community schools, the squaws will have their usual occupations unaffected by modern civilization, and the bucks will not be molested in pursuit of the pleasures of the primeval man. "All of which may be good for the Indians. At least, it is said they are gratified at the outlook. It fits in pretty well with the Tugwell idea to return the farming industry to the simple paths of a former era through regimentation, when farmers rode to market behind the yoke of oxen, and grubbed stumps out of the fields in idle moments."

Roger W. Babson, economy expert, offers as his latest conviction that effort and expense should be turned to developing demand and consumption rather than to curtailing production. In the matter of shorter hours, Babson would substitute for every proposed plan one that would call for eight months' work in the north followed by a trip to the south for four months' loafing. Likewise, he would have southerners apply themselves to their tasks for eight months and then journey to the north to spend four months in idleness. Laborers would thus have change of climate every year and a period of recreation long enough to send them back to their jobs with renewed vigor and spirit. Babson would have employing institutions shut down while their helpers were gone. This is a beautiful theory, but each person following the program would have to be safeguarded by a comfortable surplus to stand the leisure. That kind of Utopia might be made possible through government aid if such paternalism hasn't played out before the country gets around to it.

The poorest, humblest citizen is better off than Samuel Insull with millions at his command and with no safe refuge that he can call home. On the high seas, he is dodging capture and prosecution. Better to be poor and honest and free with nothing to conceal and nothing to fear. Mussolini is proposing a sixty-year program for Italy, extending the plan far enough so that those at the finish will have no first-hand knowledge of the beginning. Russia's five-year plan was too short to afford any such means of escape or relief. A point involving Kansas history is being discussed by old-timers at Lincoln. The question is whether a foot and mouth disease remembered to have prevailed in Kansas fifty years ago afflicted the cattle or the politicians of the state.

Tuesday, the last day of winter, was as warm as late springtime, and Wednesday, the first day of spring, was as cold as mid-winter. That is the way March keeps up its reputation.

Horse Thieves Return

Lincoln Journal: An ever increasing demand for horses has been changing things in the middle west. The demand has meant prosperity for more than one Nebraska rancher. One particular ranch in the western part of the state, which scarcely paid expenses even during the boom times of six or seven years ago, paid a substantial profit this year. Horses, which had been valueless, apparently, for a number of years, sold for good prices. The return of the horse has brought another development: It has led to the return of the horse thief. Today's horse thief is not the crude operator of earlier days. He uses modern methods. Equipped with a truck he drives into a pasture. The bright lights dazzle the animals and they stand still. Two or three of the best are driven into the truck and by daylight it is many miles away. Trucks are hard to trace along well traveled roads. A few years ago horse stealing was an almost unheard of crime. Horses were not worth stealing. But the upturn in values, a welcome development in horse raising areas, has brought with it that scourge of an early day, the horsethief, and he is more of a menace than ever.

May Interest Farmers

Norfolk News: If the statements of opponents of the Wagner Trades Disputes act are true a careful study of the measure from the standpoint of the Nebraska farmer should be made. Opponents charge that it would force all employers of two or more persons to submit to the closed shop dominated not by local but by national unions. And they insist that it would apply to agriculture. "The bill would apply to farmers and to all other persons employing more than one individual," says a statement issued by the automobile industry which is opposing the bill, "and would have a disastrous effect upon American agriculture if employees of the American farmer are to be subject to union labor dominance. In addition it would result in a much wider spread between what the farmer can get for the products of his labor, and what the city worker gets for his labor. The Wagner bill would place still greater hardships upon the rural population of the country."

This statement, coming from opponents of the measure, may be biased. But the charges are important enough to agriculture to make it worth while to get the facts and place them before the farm organizations. Nebraska farmers are not likely to relish letting a walking delegate tell them when the hired hand is to get up and go to work.

AT EIGHTYONE.

Dr. Holmes Dyingser, professor of philosophy at Midland college, Fremont, celebrating his eighty-first birthday, champions the cause of youth and still imbues the spirit of youth despite his advanced age. At this juncture, looking back over a long series of years, he declares: "Young people of today are just as good and promising as were the young people of my generation." Then he adds: "If there are any defects in boys and girls today, the parents need to take the blame." He says his daily contacts with youth inspire his usefulness and prolong his life. Besides teaching twelve hours every week, he preaches nearly every Sunday. Though he began his teaching career sixty-three years ago, he has no notion of giving up. "Touching this point, he says: 'I get so much fun out of working that I have no desire to retire.' Dr. Dyingser has evidently clung to an effective combination—association with youth and plenty of work—to ease the weight of years and to preserve qualities of content. His philosophy is a refreshing influence on youth as well as on older ones who think they have served long enough to quit. The fellow who withdraws from responsibilities on the assumption that he has earned a rest, usually finds that he has on his hands more rest than he needs or wants."

Hendersons Enter Picture Making

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henderson of Omaha, who were for several years with the Walter Savage Arrangement company, are taking part in new Hollywood motion pictures. Mr. Henderson was guest on a ship in the Sacramento river during filming of "Mandelay," which stars his son, Lyle Talbot, and Kay Francis. Miss Francis invited Mr. Henderson to take part in the scene and he did. Mrs. Henderson has a part in "Dancing Men," another picture just filmed.

Randolph and Pierce Young Folks Wed

Mr. Walter W. Bauer of Randolph, and Miss Linda E. Carstens of Pierce, were married March 20 by Rev. E. H. Boelling. They will live near Randolph.

Aid at Carroll

Ladies Aid of St. Paul church at Carroll meets March 23 at the parlors, the date having been changed from announcement in the Carroll department. Covered dish luncheon was served. The women will clean the church.

Wed Tuesday At Wayne Parsonage

Mr. Edward D. Hammer of southeast of Wayne, and Miss Ethel M. Belz of Jackson, were married Tuesday morning at St. Paul parsonage, Rev. W. C. Heidenreich performing the ceremony. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hammer afterward.

Man Is Speaker To Club Leaders

Walter Tolman of Lincoln, assistant 4-H club leader for Nebraska, was in Wayne Tuesday to conduct training work for Wayne county's eight club leaders at the city hall. Plans were outlined for work in the livestock, poultry and sewing clubs for this year.

SURVIVAL

A minister who passed away recently reassured his family by saying the change was less dreaded as the end came near. He had implicit faith in the religion which he had taught and lived, expressing satisfaction over the prospect of being reunited with kindred ones who had gone before. This minister of the gospel was confident that death was only transition, and doubts did not beset him and trouble his mind. Truly, absolute belief in immortality gives more comfort than any other one thing in the world. Naturally incredulous persons require, as did the old disciple, Thomas, more proof than others. But putting two and two together, using some of the sense employed in creation, using instead of separating science and religion, considering the phenomena we know but cannot understand, the reasoning that supports continuity is more convincing than any that can be arrayed against it. While the ugliness of one character suggests annihilation, the beauty of another lifts thought to supernal heights. While one person's soul is dwarfed by complete absorption in material considerations, another soul reflects sublimated spiritual truths. While the prevalence of much crime on the one hand tends to bewilder believers, the high intelligence and finely developed human sympathies on the other hand stimulate hope. The fact that every normal person desired to live on and that no work undertaken is ever finished, this side of the grave lends strength to the affirmative. The utter uselessness of creation without survival with preserved identities is apparent.

College Students To Present Opera

The comic opera, "Pinafore," by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented by students of the Wayne Teachers college music department March 27 at 8 p. m. in the auditorium, under direction of Prof. John R. Keith. A cappella choir and orchestra assist. Leads are taken as follows: Josephine, Lois McDougal; Buttercup, Ethel Barr; Hobe, Kathryn Green-slit; Ralph Rockstar, Arnold Peterson; Sir Joseph, Arthur Rowden; Capt. Corcoran, Delmar Fitch; Dick Deadeye, Robert Gulliver; Boatwain, Edmund Sedivy; Boatwain mate, Oscar Olsen. Others who will appear in the opera with the leads are Harold Spodgrass, Ronald Young, James Davies, Robert Kiltz, Maurice Carlson, Arlington Prince, Robert Sexton, Harold Everhart, Clarence Heyne, Robert Stoenberg, George Almond, John Christensen, Jeanne Wright, Grace Kiker, Frances Kiker, Lola Thomas, Janet Hoffman, Josephine Ryan, Mary Ellen Gulliver, Irene Ross, Joyce Schwarm, Mary Cook, Vida Gaff, Gladys Spurlock, Evelyn Fish, Grace Walters, Gretchen Thornton, Patricia Sweeney, Maxine Jones, Lucille Garvin, Esther Spangler, Lucile Wright, Louise Palmer, Evelyn Wendt, Mary Perdue, Helen Jones, Lucille Burns and Virginia Lecron. Scene of the opera is quarter-deck of his majesty's ship, Pinafore, off Portsmouth, England. Sailors are busy scrubbing decks for arrival of Sir Joseph Porter, knight commander of bath and admiral of the navy. Little Buttercup comes aboard with a stock of "snuff and excellent jockey." The handsome young sailor, Ralph Racketstar, is in love with the captain's daughter, Josephine, who is betrothed to Sir Joseph Porter. In the meantime Ralph plans to elope with Josephine but the plot is overheard by Dick Deadeye. Sir Joseph complains that Josephine does not favor his suit, for Josephine's heart is still set upon Ralph. Dick Deadeye reveals the elopement plan and he and the captain capture the couple. Little Buttercup discloses a secret, that the captain and Ralph had been exchanged while they were babies. Whereupon Sir Joseph sends for Ralph and makes him captain and reduces Corcoran to Ralph's station in the navy. Since it is out of the question for one of Sir Joseph's ex-wife's a second, he consents to the marriage of Ralph and Josephine. The captain consoles himself with Little Buttercup.

College Students To Present Opera

Pupils of Voice Department Choir and Orchestra Are In Program Here.

Invitations have been issued to high school girls of Wakefield, Alton, Laurel, Belden, Randolph, Carroll, Winside, Wisner, Pilger, Pender, Wayne high and college high schools to attend fourth annual play day event at the college this coming Saturday. Women's athletic classes will be assisted by W. A. members as hostesses for the day, and Miss Esther Dewitz is sponsor. Round-up theme will be carried through the program this year, and guests are invited to dress as cow-girls and "show up" at the "Running ranch," accompanied by their "outrif foremen." The program opens with a 12:45 o'clock luncheon at industrial building, for which guests will bring their food and be served hot soup and coffee. Swimming will be optional, and there will be stunts and contests during the afternoon. For the posture parade, Mrs. Elmer Mortensen, Miss Florence Drake and Mrs. T. C. Cunningham will serve as judges, grading contestants on general body carriage and taking into consideration ease of motion, lightness of walk, ability to toe straight ahead, erectness of carriage and body balance.

Youth Is Injured In Fall From Car

Harvey Reeg suffers fracture of skull Sunday and is unconscious time.

Harvey, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reeg, suffered a fractured skull Sunday when he fell from a car. The lad was unconscious 24 hours. He is apparently out of danger now and is improving. Harvey was riding in the rumble seat of a car. He stood up while the car was moving and fell from the car, fracturing his head when he fell. It is not certain whether he suffered the injury by striking the car or the ground. The lad is being cared for at the Bentback hospital in Wayne.

Suggested Mixtures Beneficial To Hogs

A good many requests have come to G. H. Liggett's office for a simple mineral mixture for hogs. The department of animal husbandry, University of Nebraska, suggests this mixture as best suited: Two parts ground limestone, two parts steamed bone meal, and one part salt. This mixture should be kept before the hogs at all times. There have been a few farmers who have mentioned that in the past they have had some hairless pigs. Anyone having this difficulty should use iodized salt in place of regular salt in the above mixture to prevent repetition of this malady which is really goitre and is due to iodine deficiency in the ration.

Annual Feeders Day Planned At School

Annual feeders' day at the college of agriculture will be held on Friday, April 20. This will be the 22nd event of its kind. H. G. Gramlich, professor of animal husbandry, who is in charge of the meeting advises that there will be a number of outstanding speakers on the program, and in particular that the department of agriculture is sending a man to discuss the AAA in wonderful style. As usual arrangements are being made for a separate program for the ladies in the afternoon and at least one out-of-state lady will speak on this program.

Kiwanians witnessed a most absorbing "talkie" performance at noon meeting Monday, through courtesy of C. L. Pickett and the Northwestern Bell Telephone company. T. N. Withrow of Norfolk, showed three films by means of a portable moving and talking picture machine, the first showing the party radio telephone is playing in aviation, by increasing safety of travel. The second showed a unique telephone exchange in San Francisco's Chinatown, and traced a call put through from there to Limehouse exchange in London. The third, entitled "The Gateway of the World," showed how the telephone opens new gates, tears down all barriers, and unites far corners of the earth. President J. C. Johnson presided and Kermit Stewart led group singing, with J. E. Brittain at the piano. Prof. O. R. Bowen introduced C. E. Carhart who had recently been elected president of the state lumbermen's association. A directors' meeting was announced for that evening.

for 1933, total corn contracted acres, number of litters owned by producer when farrowed in 1932 and 1933, number of hogs produced for market in 1932 and in 1933, number feeder pigs purchased in 1932 and in 1933. Each county will be allotted a certain amount of money for benefit payments on corn and hogs. If one man gets more than his share, the other signers get less. The county allotment committee will allow about a week's time after the material is published for contract signers to ask for correction of figures in their own or their neighbor's contracts, G. H. Liggett states.

An introductory heading will be printed above the names and figures. Some changes may yet be made in the information to be published. It is not likely that any change will be ready to print the list before the middle of April. A committee of the Nebraska Press association and the state corn-hog administration is working on plans for handling the publication in a satisfactory manner in all Nebraska counties.

Nature Lecture Is Given Before Club

Prof. Charles R. Chinn chose "Study of Nature" as his topic for address before mothers' department of the Norfolk Woman's club Wednesday afternoon. He explained how to answer the innumerable questions a small child, as well as the older one, should ask. One trouble about present protestations of peace is that they can't be heard clearly over the noise of armament construction—Virginia-Ilmout.

Recipes

Scrapole. Select 3 pounds of bonny pieces of pork. Simmer in 3 quarts of water until the meat drops from the bone. Strain off the broth, remove the bone, taking care to get out all the tiny pieces, and chop the meat fine. There should be about 2 quarts of broth, and if necessary add water to make this quantity. Bring the broth to the boiling point, slowly add 2 cups of corn meal, cook the mixture until it is thick mush, and stir almost constantly. Add the chopped meat, salt and any other seasoning desired, such as onion juice, sage and thyme. Pour the hot scrapole into oblong enamel-ware pans which have been rinsed with cold water. Let stand until cold and firm, slice, and brown in a hot skillet. If the scrapole is rich with fat, no more fat is needed for frying. Polenta. This dish, which is common in Italy, differs little, except in name, from corn-meal mush, though it is served in very different ways. Sometimes cheese is added during the cooking. Polenta is often reheated either with tomato sauce or a meat gravy left over from a meal, or with a meat gravy made from a small amount of meat brought for the purpose, or with half tomato sauce and half meat gravy. In any case, the dish is improved by sprinkling the cooked polenta with cheese. When the polenta is to be reheated in gravy, it is well to cut it into small pieces.

Tamales Plo.

2 cups corn meal 2 teaspoons salt 2 cups cold water 4 cups boiling water 1 ounce suet 1 onion, chopped 1 pound ground beef 1 cup canned tomatoes 1-2 teaspoon pepper 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Mix the corn meal, salt and cold water, until smooth, add the boiling water, stirring constantly, then cook over hot water for 1 hour. Render the suet and cook the onion in the fat for a few minutes, add the beef and the tomato and simmer until the red color disappears from the meat. Season with salt and pepper. Place a layer of the mush in a greased baking dish, add the meat mixture and cover with the rest of the mush. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) about 30 minutes or until the mush is lightly browned. Serve from the dish. Salt Pork Spoon Bread. Chop or grind 1-4 pound salt pork. Then try out the fat until the cracklings are slightly brown. Cook 1 cup of corn meal with 2 cups of water, stirring constantly. Add to this 1 cup of milk (fresh milk, or evaporated or dried milk made up with water), then the fried salt pork, fat and all. If possible add 1 or 2 beaten eggs. Pour into a well-greased hot pan or baking dish and bake for 40 to 50 minutes in a hot oven. Or bake in a skillet on top of the stove in a thinner layer. Baked Indian Pudding. 1 quart milk 1-3 cup yellow corn meal 1 teaspoon salt 1-2 cup molasses 1-2 to 1 teaspoon ginger Cook the milk, corn meal, and salt in a double boiler for 20 minutes. Add the molasses and ginger, pour into a greased baking dish, and bake in a very moderate oven (about 300° F.) for 2 hours. Serve hot with vanilla ice cream, or chill and serve with cream. Baked Beans. 2 cups dried beans 1-4 pound salt pork 2 tablespoons chopped onion 1 tablespoon molasses 1 teaspoon mustard Salt to taste Soak the beans overnight in water to cover. In the morning add 2 cups more water, and cook until almost tender. Score the rind of the salt pork, put half the pork with the onion in the bottom of the bean pot, and add the beans. Mix the molasses and other seasonings with a little hot water, and pour over the beans. Add just enough more water to cover. Place the rest of the salt pork on top, cover the pot, and bake the beans very slowly for 6 or 7 hours. Add a little hot water from time to time to replace that which cooks away and is absorbed by the beans. Keep the lid on the bean pot until the last hour of cooking. Then uncover and allow the beans and pork on top to brown. Hopping John. 1 cup dried beans 1-2 cup diced salt pork 1-4 cup chopped onion 1 cup cooked rice Salt and pepper to taste Soak the beans overnight in water to cover. In the morning add 2 cups more water, and cook until tender. Brown the salt pork and add to the beans. Brown the onion in the salt pork fat. Mix all the ingredients, and add salt and pepper to taste. Continue cooking for 10 minutes, and serve at once. For variety, sprinkle grated cheese over the Hopping John and serve with catsup or tomato sauce. Or brown the uncooked rice in some of the salt pork fat and add it to the beans during the last 20 minutes they are cooking. Scalloped Beans. 2 cups dried beans 1-4 pound salt pork, diced 2 medium-sized onions, chopped 4 tablespoons flour 2 cups water Salt and pepper to taste 1-2 cup bread crumbs Soak the beans overnight in water to cover. In the morning add 2 cups more water, and cook until tender. Brown the salt pork and add to the beans. Then brown the onions in the salt pork fat and add to the beans. Mix the remaining fat with the flour, stir in the water, and mix with the beans. Add salt and pepper to taste and put the mixture in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle the bread crumbs over the top. Bake in a moderate oven (350° to 400° F.) for 20 minutes. Serve from the baking dish. Good Samaritan Hospital. Ray Link of Carroll, underwent a major operation Wednesday night last week. Miss Dorothy Gildersleeve, surgical patient, is improving. Mrs. Arthur Brummond of Winneke, surgical patient, is doing nicely. Carl Nuss returned home last Thursday after recovering from an operation. Erna Jacobsen, medical patient, was dismissed Friday. Billy Peterson of Altona, was admitted Tuesday for medical care. Mrs. Mary Barnes, medical patient, was dismissed Monday. Mrs. C. L. Hazenwood, who is injured in an accident Monday, in order that the gravy may be well distributed through the dish. was brought to the hospital Tuesday for care. She has broken ribs, cuts and bruises.

YOUR MONEY BACK IF ANY GASOLINE GIVES YOU GREATER MILEAGE

Skelly Announces NEW AIR-MIX TAILOR-MAKING that Gives You Greater Mileage All the Year Around WITHOUT CARBURETOR ADJUSTMENT

BURN THE CORRECT AIR-MIX . . . LESS GASOLINE

Last week, Skelly made this important announcement: Now, forget carburetor adjustments. Let Skelly change the gasoline. Skelly's new principle of tailor-making gives your motor the correct 7600-to-1 AIR-MIX—7600 gallons of air to 1 gallon of Tailor-Made Aromax. This means more mileage—maximum mileage, the year around. So efficient is this new tailor-making principle that Skelly dares make this money-back guarantee: Your Money Back "Buy 8 to 12 gallons of Skelly Aromax. Compare the mileage under fair conditions and good carburetor adjustment, with any other gasoline you have used. Then, if any other gasoline at any price gives you greater mileage, Skelly will give you your money back." That is the fact, square guarantee Skelly makes, so that without losing, you can find out which gasoline is the most economical. Test Cars Prove Economy In hundreds of thousands of miles of testing, Skelly test cars prove that a gasoline gives economy only when the AIR-MIX is correct. These results agree with the findings of nationally known engineers that your car works most efficiently when the carburetor is mixing about 7600 gallons of air to 1 gallon of gasoline. The gasoline must be changed, with variations of temperature and altitude, to maintain this correct 7600-to-1 AIR-MIX. Gasoline Changes in Weight Gasoline condenses in cold weather, expands in warm. For that reason, it is heavier in winter, lighter in summer. This forces carburetor adjustments. Correct tailor-making overcomes this change in weight, gives correct AIR-MIX the year around, makes carburetor adjustments unnecessary, gives maximum economy. These findings confirm the results proved by oil technologists in some of the nation's leading laboratories. Prove AIR-MIX Results Back of this guarantee is Skelly Oil Company's record of dependability and research. Skelly first gave both high test and high antiknock in one gasoline. Skelly was the first to tailor-make gasoline. Skelly was the first to guarantee easier starting. Only Skelly has the test-car facts to support a money-back guarantee on mileage. You can't lose on this Skelly money-back guarantee. If Skelly loses, Skelly pays you. But you win when you find the gasoline that is tailor-made to give correct AIR-MIX—greater mileage—the year around. Begin saving right away. Buy 8 to 12 gallons of Tailor-Made Aromax, and make your money-back test now.

TO ONE GALLON OF GASOLINE 7600 GALLONS OF AIR

Schoolmates Of 46 Years Ago Meet At Clyde Oman Home On Wednesday

The children planned a surprise for teacher yesterday. Rather grown-up children they are, yes, and perhaps it had been 46 years since they quarreled and teased and romped together back in Brenna center school, but certain it is that they cast aside the intervening years and had a grand time together when they gathered at the Clyde Oman home and surprised their long-ago teacher, Mrs. Perry Benschoff.

Back they went together in memory to that little frame schoolhouse, in through the doorway to the familiar wooden seats, with Miss Mate E. Pittenger, employed in the schoolmarm's seat, invested with proper authority and dignity. And there they relived the many humorous incidents, the little tragedies and heart-breaks which belong to school days, and are so very dear after one has left them behind.

Emma Benschoff was at the party—she's now Mrs. Ed. Lindsay—then there was Mabel Prescott, now Mrs. Oman, Mae Prescott, now Mrs. Harry Tidrick, and Edith Tidrick, now Mrs. True Prescott.

And the ex-boys were Henry Lage, True Prescott and Hugo Splittgerber. Some of them were too far away to get back. Maude Benschoff is now Mrs. Art Auker and lives at O'Neill. Halsey Moses and William Splittgerber were absent. Ed Moses, now Mrs. Chubb, was in Chicago, and Jancy Dillard was just heard of in Oklahoma. Hilda Splittgerber, now Mrs. Phil Damm, was absent. And out of the entire class, only one, Ed Perrin, has died. Others present at the reunion were Mr. Oman, Mr. Tidrick, Mrs. Lage, Miss Edythe Prescott, Mr. Lindsay, Miss Florence Montgomery and Mr. Benschoff. Good solid citizens they have turned out, whether credit goes to their teacher or to good, firm home training, or to the very wholesomeness of Nebraska farm life. Never a one in trouble with the law.

"It's because the training you get in a country school is a little better than anywhere else," says Mrs. Oman. "The teacher is closer to them, more concerned over their welfare." And she hopes every one of her grandchildren get their education in the rural schoolroom!

Re-Live Closing Day. Remember, from your own school days, the exciting, long-anticipated picnic and program which closed the year? Remember your crisp starched pink dress, your pigtailed loops under each ear and caught by big ribbon bows, and the sickening uncertainty as you stood up to recite your piece, looking fixedly at a spot over the teacher's head as you struggled for the words?

Well, these young-hearted folks re-lived closing day at Oman's, with their much-loved teacher as center of interest. It began with a picnic lunch everyone brought baskets—and they sat down to creamed chicken, scalloped potatoes, sandwiches, carrot and pineapple salad, nut salad, pickles, plum butter, hard-boiled eggs, ice cream, several varieties of cake and salted nuts. And the only dishes which would have been found on good weather, to have all possible time on the playground. The school year was divided into three terms, running from September to middle of November, next to March, and then from April into June. Miss Pittenger taught the four or five months of winter term in 1887-88. Her salary would not compare so badly with those of many rural teachers today, for she earned $30 per month, and paid out from $1.75 to $2.50 a week for room and board! The lowest salary ever paid a teacher of Brenna center school was $25.

Miss Pittenger's girl pupils, Mabel, Mae, Edith, Maude, Edie, Janie and Hilda, usually came to school in plain little woolen frocks during the colder months, and always wore long-sleeved gingham aprons on top. "And not a girl smoked, either," says Mrs. Oman. When a girl became tired of school, she said to her mother, "I'm not going to school another time—I've been through the books again and again, and I'm going to quit." And she probably did, and remained at home until she married.

Brenna center school was built in 1883 but burned down about 1893. The building was rebuilt and moved a mile east and mile south, hence re-christened No. 81. Miss Charlotte White preceded Miss Pittenger as teacher, then came Miss Etta Welch, later Mrs. Fred Phillips, Miss May Chase, Miss Emma Slater and Miss May Davies.

Now Mrs. A. A. Welch, Mrs. Marie Wolfe taught the A. B. C.'s and three R's to neighborhood boys and girls for 14 consecutive years.

Married In December. For the past ten years, Mrs. Mate Pittenger Magill has made her home in Mobile, Ala. Her marriage to Perry Benschoff of Van Passell, Wyo., early resident of near Wayne, took place December 22 at Mobile. The couple visited with Mrs. Gurney Pittenger at Norfolk, and with Mr. and Mrs. Art Auker at O'Neill, en route home, and are now spending several days with Wayne and Winside relatives and friends.

One-Arm Driving Barred. "I wonder why there are so many more auto wrecks than rail yard accidents?" "That's easy. Did you ever hear of the fireman hugging the engineer?"—Washington Laborer.

Mjad the Ceiling. "Oh, John, the baby has swallowed the yeast." "Umph, you were always predicting he was bound to rise."—Phil H. Armstrong in the Florida Times-Union.

Costly Delusion. "My wife had a dream last night and thought she was married to a millionaire." "You're lucky! My wife thinks that in the daytime."—Pearson's Weekly.

Writing in on a Correspondence Course. My friend laughed when I spoke to the waiter in French, but the laugh was on him. I told the waiter to give him the check.—Avgwan.

Spelling Contest Planned In April

Miss Pearl Sewell Arranges Event To Select Champion Spellers of County.

Wayne county spelling contest is planned for Saturday, April 7, in Wayne, Miss Pearl E. Sewell announces. Two students from each rural school and one student from fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades of each town school may enter. No pupil who has been in high school is eligible.

Both oral and written contests are arranged and each pupil may enter one or both. The contest will be conducted by the state director. The interstate contest will be held in Shemandoah, Iowa, Friday, April 20, the World Herald contest in Omaha Saturday, April 21, and the Tribune contest in Sioux City Saturday, May 5. Two from each county may enter the Shemandoah and Sioux City contests and one the World Herald contest. For these 1,000 words from the spellers will be selected and all students who stand up on these receive diplomas. Winner receives a loving cup. Sioux City offers $250 to the champion. The state champion in Omaha will be sent with her teacher to Washington to the national contest, all expenses of travel paid. Cash awards will also be made. Winner of the national contest receives $500.

Sees Girl Scouting As Valuable Group

"The ultimate elimination of war cannot fail to be hastened by such agencies as the girl scout world association, in the opinion of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and winner of the Nobel peace prize in 1931.

The aims of the association which Dr. Butler commends and which includes twenty-nine nations, are always stressed in March, international month of the girl scouts who have chosen this time to repair and strengthen the ties binding them to foreign sister scouts who share their code and program.

"The work of the girl scout international organization, with its code and program," Dr. Butler declared, "cannot fail when wisely conducted, to have a distinct influence for good upon the progress of the world toward international cooperation and ultimately toward the elimination of war."

The practical methods used by the girl scouts to achieve a broad world-mindedness which is the declared objective of the world association, form an excellent supplement to the work of the Carnegie Endowment. In its division of intercourse and education, the endowment maintains junior international mind alcoves, a special branch which provides libraries in small communities with books describing the daily life, customs and histories of foreign peoples. The girl scouts, through their international post-box, try to establish direct correspondence between American girls and those of other countries. The Carnegie Endowment has organized international relations clubs in every continent. The girl scouts maintain an international home, "Our Chalet," at Adelboden, Switzerland, where hundreds of European and American girl scouts, many sent by special scholarships, meet every year to exchange ideas and to enjoy the program they share. Thousands more gather at international rallies in various countries or in camps, where they meet on the common ground of their scout membership, leaving behind all prejudices of race, religious, social standing and even oriental caste.

Outstanding Workers Will Be Selected Where is the outstanding corn-hog precinct in Nebraska? Who are the temporary precinct committee men who have come the nearest to signing up their neighbors 100 per cent? The state corn-hog administration at Lincoln would like to know where the 100 per cent precinct is located. There is no contest on, nor any prizes to offer, but if any committee has signed up every one in the precinct, the committee men deserve the recognition. To begin with, the state corn-hog committee would like to hear from those with more than a 90 per cent sign-up. Total number of farmers in the precinct should be reported. Total number of farmers signing corn-hog contracts should be listed next, then the total number of contracts and the base corn acres, contracted corn acres, and base hog numbers should be given. Any special methods used by the committee men to get the high sign-up would be interesting to other committee men who have been working hard on the job.

LITTLE AMERICA AVIATION and EXPLORATION CLUB
LITTLE AMERICA ANTARCTICA
With Byrd at the South Pole
by C. A. Heltje, U.S.N.A. President
No Word!

IT is now February 26. For ten days the Club has received no direct word from Arthur Heltje in Little America. The interruption is due to several things. One of these is the fact that the engineers are changing the radio equipment at Little America and installing directional antennae so that future messages, stories and broadcasts will come through perfectly. Messages are now being received by Admiral Byrd and his men on the ice but they are unable to send messages out. We should be receiving our stories in another few days now and we bet they will be exciting stuff!

There is lots going on down in the antarctic. The last of the supplies are being brought in from the various caches on the ice and the winter quarters are being made as comfortable as possible. Captain Allan Innes-Taylor, in charge of Admiral Byrd's dog department, has left with three other men for a 300 mile journey back toward Carmen Land to establish a food base as part of the scientific program of the expedition. A crack which is developing in the ice in back of Little America is causing the Admiral some concern and he is taking his usual early and wise precautions. When Arthur's stories start coming through again, we hope he will tell us all about that dog sled journey so you may mark it properly on your Club maps.

This delay gives us a chance to tell you about an interesting member of the Club who is not on the Expedition but is a very important member of it. This is Richard C. Hoyt who, with his radio receiving set, constitutes the northern end of the 10,000 mile air line that transmits the stories from President Abele and Lieut. Comdr. George Noville, who are collaborating in keeping the now 12,000 Club members informed about the doings down at the bottom of the world. From midnight to 8 a.m. every night except Wednesdays, Dick Hoyt is glued to his set, high in the radio room of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company, on Broad Street, New York, and receives Abele's stories, expedition news bulletins, messages to families and all the other "word traffic" which goes on, between this scientific Expedition and the outside world. Hoyt is a cartoonist, a photographer, a wood-carver and, he says, a fairly good sailor. In addition to being an expert radio operator. And what do you think he does on his days off? He is an amateur wireless operator. His capacity his name is "WREFF" and he is an active member of the Naval Militia.

This week we had a most interesting visit from D. G. Shook, in charge of the expedition mail bureau at Washington, and he asked us to specify to the Club members how they can have letters or envelopes addressed to them, actually sent to Little America.

Those who wish to receive or send officially stamped letters from Little America may send as many letters as they desire addressed to themselves or to friends. The addressed letters should be left unsealed and should be inserted in another envelope with the usual domestic postage affixed. Enclose a postal money order for 53 cents payable to the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. The outside envelope should then be addressed to the Byrd Antarctic Expedition II, care of The Postmaster, Washington, D. C. Do not address these letters to the Club. We are simply telling you about this mail arrangement for your information and to render additional service to the Expedition. All the letters you send addressed to yourself or your friends will be packed at Washington and sent to San Francisco by train. Then they will go by steamship to New Zealand where they will be placed on board the Expedition's flagship, Jacob Ruppert, and the Bear of Oakland, which will take them next December or January to the Ross Ice Barrier. There they will be unloaded and hauled by dog team to Little America and returned to you and the other recipients. By that time they get back they will have traveled almost 25,000 miles and, with the beautiful stamp and the interesting official cancellation from the Little America Post Office, they will make a wonderful souvenir for years to come.

Readers of these stories are applying for membership cards and the free map of the South Polar regions faster than we can take care of them with the Club's small staff. We have 12,000 members all ready and pretty soon we shall be one of the biggest Clubs in the world. In addition to the lapel button which we expect to send out in the near future, we are going to send diagrams of some of the equipment being used on this great Expedition. In the meantime, if you would like to join the Club, without cost, and receive one of the free working maps so you can keep track of all the Expedition flights, exploration trips, etc., simply send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Arthur Abele, Jr., President, Little America Aviation & Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 4411 Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

This Is Better.

Omaha Journal Stockman: There is a good deal of cheer in current business reports, and the most of it should be made for by encouragement of those who are still worrying. Among all other reports, that having to do with freight car loadings is perhaps the most significant. For the first week of March such loadings were the largest for any week this year. Compared with the same week last year the increase was a matter of 25.5 per cent. Every freight car loaded and shipped, of course, means business.

Another report that was regarded as significant was that showing a substantial increase in the output of automobile factories. February operations gained 68 per cent over January and 82 per cent over February last year. Whatever the explanation, car sales are good. It may be, as some claim, that people do not know what else to put their money into, shying at the usual investment offerings, and figuring that they might as well have one of the bargains in autos now available.

Then there is the current Dun and Bradstreet report: "Increased payrolls, the release of funds by reopened banks and the commencement of PWA activities are providing a powerful stimulus to the current trade revival in nearly all districts. So long have been the strides toward recovery that manufacturers now foresee shortages of merchandise within the next six months. Moderation of the weather was one of the strongest single factors, releasing an avalanche of demand for spring goods."

These are only a few of many favorable reports. It is a pleasure to record them. We hope they are just a beginning.

Corn Loans Filed.

To date 438 corn loans have been filed in Wayne county. These represent 518,807 bushels and at 46c make loans of $238,463.15.

taken up in science 6 class, and interesting drawings have been made by the pupils. The Knighthood of Youth club met Thursday and elected Margaret Larson as president.

Fifth grade folks have been learning about silkworms and Virginia Mesnard brought cocoons for the children to see.

Among the Lower Grades. Fourth graders have been bringing samples of cloth to school as part of their clothing project, and are assembling the samples in notebooks. Last week they drew pictures of silk, wool, cotton and linen fibres under microscope. Paul Peterson had his 10th birthday on Thursday and brought candy bars for the children.

Bobby Chan Meyer and Nancy Nicholaisen each had birthdays March 13, and brought candy for their classmates.

Holland is proving most absorbing to second graders. Last week Nancy Mines told stories about Dutch Christmas celebrations, and Marilyn Stratan, dressed in Dutch costume with wooden shoes, gave a Dutch dance for the children. Eugene Fox brought a china Dutch boy and girl for the display, and Carolyn McClure read from Carpenter's "Around the World." For sight reading, "The Dutch Twins" are being eagerly followed, and Dutch boys and girls were colored last of the week. The sand table has been marked off into tulip beds with paper tulips growing in colorful uniformity.

A health contest on "How I get ready for school" has been started between first grade boys and girls, and the winners will be taken on a picnic by Miss Coila Potras. Highest on the reading chart are Jacqueline Wightman, Richard and Howard Sala, Preston Hancock and Richard Best.

Kindergarteners have a health chart on which they record every night that they get 10 to 12 hours sleep.

Hans Madsen Buried Friday Afternoon

Machines Collide Monday At Intersection Two Miles North.

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Hammond who make their home with their daughter, Mrs. C. J. Shuck in Wayne, and Frank McGuire of Pender, sustained injuries and their cars were damaged Monday morning about 10 o'clock when the machines collided at the corner two miles north of Wayne. Mrs. Hammond, who was unconscious for a time, suffered two broken ribs and a severe cut on one side of the head. Rev. Hammond had a couple face cuts. The three were considerably bruised and shocked.

Rev. and Mrs. Hammond were returning after being at Newcastle Sunday, the former to fill the pulpit of his church. They were coming from the north. Mr. McGuire was returning home after spending Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. Henry Kieper. He was alone and was coming from the west.

Impact of the collision threw Rev. and Mrs. Hammond out of the right car door window. All glass in their machine was broken and the top of the car was torn. The McGuire car had a wheel broken and also had some glass shattered. Neither machine turned over.

The accident victims were brought to Wayne for medical care. The Hammonds are with their daughter.

Couple Married At Woehler Home

The marriage of Miss Alice Woehler and Mr. Herbert Wehrer took place at 2 Wednesday afternoon, March 14, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Woehler, 10 miles southwest of Wayne. Rev. M. A. Jensen, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church of Pilger, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore light blue with grey accessories. Miss Nora Woehler attended her sister and wore brick red with black accessories. Merlyn Wehrer was best man.

Three-course dinner was served to 80 guests after the wedding. Mr. Wehrer is a graduate of Pilger high school and attended Wayne college. Mr. Wehrer, son of Mrs. Mary Wehrer of Wisner, attended Wisner school and has been farming since.

The young folks will live five miles north of Wisner.

Wayneites Have Picnic In West

Sixty Former Residents Of This County Gather In Long Beach March 10.

Sixty Wayneites were in Bixby park, Long Beach, Calif., Saturday March 10, for picnic dinner, writes Miss Laura Lyons to the Wayne Herald. A talkfest was most interesting afterward. The group responded to invitations sent out by Miss Lyons, secretary for the organization.

W. R. Olmstead, formerly of Carroll, gained distinction for coming the greatest distance, from Bakersfield. His stepson who is attending college saw notice of the picnic in the Los Angeles paper.

Mrs. Bert Brown and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Carter, Lucrecia and Stanley were over from Wilmington. Edith Carter was ill and the group missed her and her sister, Josephine. Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Cherry were present. They are not very well and the latter's sister, Roda Miller Vreeland, is at their home after an operation.

H. E. Griggs and daughters, Iris and Lyda Baraldi, Mr. and Mrs. L. Pittinger and the latter's daughter Dorothy Needham Marsh, Mrs. E. W. Cullen and son, Edward, Mrs. D. C. Hogue, Maude Grothe Davis, Herbert Sonnenke, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sonnenke, Don Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Grothe, Suzann Wightman, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Miner and Ellis, jr., were in the group. Also W. O. Hanssen, Geo. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Chase, May Miller, Amanda Person, Anna McLeod, Mrs. Chase Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gaertner and daughter and grandson, Jennie Davis and Lucian.

Myrtle Leary, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ulrich and son, Gordon, brought Ernest Meyer, who with his brother and sister, Dorothy Barnes, lives in Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Howard and son, Wayne, and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ingham, Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Skeen, Mrs. Ella Piepenstock Miller, I. W. Alter, Eva Alter Hahn and daughter, Helen Jean, also F. E. Moses were in the picnic party.

Miss Lillian Lookabill, who teaches in Los Angeles and who taught her in the Flag school in Wayne county some years ago. Mrs. C. E. Williamson accompanied her sister, Miss Lookabill. Miss Lyons will be a guest of the two before Mrs. Williamson returns to Lynch, Neb., after visiting her son, Virgil.

Magnus Jensen, formerly of Winside, is fireman and was on duty so did not get to attend the picnic. The firemen had memorial services for two who lost their lives on duty.

A very pronounced jolt was felt in Long Beach March 9, just about a year from date of the hard quake. First Presbyterian church held prayer service Saturday.

The U. P. is bringing the new stream-line aluminum 110-mile-an-hour train this week for demonstration in California.

Long Beach band has ceased to play for a few months to cut expenses. The new post office and city hall are being rebuilt, Miss Lyons reports. City employees are paid only in paper now, she adds and this works hardships.

G. A. R. and allied organizations plan California and Nevada convention in May at Long Beach, Miss Lyons is first delegate for the Woman's Relief corps.

Weather has been like summer in Long Beach. Many were on the beaches for the week-end.

Melvin is president of the Verdigré organization.

Speaks To Group About Communism

Dr. Conn Warns Against Propaganda Being Spread Through Country.

Nations are like individuals, some trustworthy and others not, stated Dr. U. S. Conn in addressing Wayne chapter of the A. A. U. W. Thursday evening at the Mrs. Winifred Main home. This fact makes it imperative for cities to maintain police forces and this will also make nations maintain a police force, an army and navy, he added. So adequate defense does not mean that one favors war. It means that a country cannot be without protection when all cannot be trusted.

But greater than the danger from without, Dr. Conn asserted, is the danger from within, the insidious propaganda being spread by communists. Russian communists have paid organizers in this country whose mission is to sow seeds of discontent. They are trying to inject their propaganda in school teaching, Dr. Conn added. Many, with a plea of being progressive, are unwillingly being used as tools to promote communism. Texts emphasize human frailties of historic characters and pupils come to doubt these leaders. Pupils are led to degrade character whereas they should be inspired by the god in lives of each hero. Ways of crime are explained in texts and these shake confidence students have in honesty of the people. Less than one percent of office holders have been proved dishonest and the worthy characters should be held up as examples rather than explaining methods of this small percent. This teaching is like painting a beautiful picture and then smearing it and ruining the lustre, Dr. Conn added. Pupils begin to doubt government officials. Their doubt then reaches to their homes and churches and they become skeptical of everyone. Such emphasis contributes to the communistic program.

Some individuals, who say they are progressives, profess to be teaching the truth. The truth is easy to ascertain in mathematics and in social science and history fields are opposed. These fields are fruitful for communism. For there is no end to conclusions. The material and directing influence of the teacher are therefore important. The man on the street who is disloyal does little harm except with himself. The teacher who moulds opinion of keen, active young students can do untold injury when his so-called progressive views take on the teachings of communism.

Youth is the same today as ever, Dr. Conn stated, romantic, full of life, and liking entertainment. Any disloyalty among young folks is not natural to them—it is the work of propagandists.

Communism pictures equality in division of property, but in Russia, the stronghold of communism, the army, officials and police exact from peasants everything except a bare existence. These officials live well. They are well fed. The peasants are mere machines and live a terrible existence, Dr. Conn was informed by a young engineer who spent several years in that country. Russians have the greatest army in the world and yet their propaganda discourages adequate defense in this country.

Government here has its weaknesses but it should be improved by friends of the country rather than by enemies. There are, Dr. Conn said, two essentials: First, to have a well educated, well informed citizenry; and second, to have citizens who are loyal to institutions and government of this country. "Our greatest defense is in the hearts of the people and their attitude toward the government," Dr. Conn concluded.

Wayne high school quartet, Everett Dennis, Frank Gamble, Donald Wright and Robert Cunningham, accompanied by Marian Seymour, sang "Cornfield Melodies" and "The Old Grey Robe" before Dr. Conn's talk.

Election of officers preceded the program. Those named are: President, Miss Beulah Rundle; secretary, Mrs. J. T. Bressler, jr.; education chairman, Miss Ida Fisher; membership chairman, Miss Miriam Huse; and social chairman, Mrs. C. E. Wilson. Those whose terms hold over are: Vice president, Mrs. H. D. Griffin; treasurer, Mrs. D. S. Wightman.

The state meeting was announced to be in Crete May 4 and 5. The association plans a tea for senior girls of the college and high schools. It was voted to make an award to the college girl who is outstanding for scholarship, character and leadership.

Dr. and Mrs. Conn were guests for the evening. Mrs. T. C. Cunningham joined the chapter. Mrs. F. W. Rash, a member in Iowa, was a visitor.

At conclusion of the program Mrs. J. T. Bressler, jr., Miss Ruth Paden, Miss Jessie Boyce and Miss Lenore Ramsey served from a table attractive with cut flowers and St. Patrick symbols. The St. Patrick colors were also carried out in the luncheon.

Interesting Years In the Virgins Recalled By Mrs. Charles E. Wilson

Wayne folks have traveled far, have seen many fascinating and out-of-the-way places, but few have lived in a more picturesque spot than the Charles E. Wilsons who spent three years at St. Croix in the Virgin Islands, with Prof. Wilson was entomologist with the United States government.

These are the islands, you will remember, for which the United States dickered with Denmark for 50 years and finally succeeded in buying for $25,000,000. The casual visitor will wonder just what the government received in payment after viewing these rugged, mountainous, unproductive islands, but international relations entered into the deal, as the government was reluctant to have an unfriendly power get possession of these strategically located islands and establish a naval base there, so near our shores.

Of the three main American islands, St. Croix is the largest, then St. Thomas with the only perfect harbor in the western hemisphere, and St. John the smallest. Although there are about 100 islands in America's holdings, most of them uninhabited.

One would naturally expect that the islands took their name from the Queen of England, or from their beauty, but they were named by that same Christopher Columbus who was responsible for so many namings in this hemisphere. When he saw the hundreds of islands back in 1492, he was reminded of the old legend of St. Ursula and her thousand virgins, who were murdered by the Huns and buried near Cologne, so he named the Virgin Islands.

They're very hilly, all three of the larger ones. St. Thomas is the most interesting, with its narrow-flecked harbor and three hills rising above the lower town, one topped by the governor's mansion, another by legendary Bluebeard's castle, and the third by the old castle built by Santa Ana of Mexico who fled here after storming the Alamo, and built this well-fortified castle. The Wilsons were fortunate in being entertained in this castle, now the home of a banker, and found it beautifully furnished with native mahogany furniture. Above it is a large cigar town which Santa Ana built to supply himself and all his followers with water during a year's siege, should he be attacked—the cistern now serves the local fire department!

These islands have known many owners in their history, coming under Spanish, British, French, Dutch and Danish rule before coming into American possession, but English has been spoken most generally, and the Danish officials sent out to govern them have had to learn to speak English. The architecture, with bright pink, blue and yellow houses topped with red tile roofs, is essentially Spanish and very colorful with the tropical background. The white residents build houses of stone with 12 to 18-inch walls because of the frequent hurricanes, and when the wind comes, closes their inside shutters which take the place of glass windows. When hurricanes threaten, there are solid wooden shutters on the outside which are hastily closed. As long as one keeps in the shade or in-ried by mosquitoes which only attack negroes. It comes on slowly, making huge growths on the limbs. Then there's dengue, or break-bone fever which mosquitoes carry. Its victims feel as though every bone in their body was breaking. St. Croix also had a leprosy colony. Education was compulsory on the islands, and high schools were provided. Next to the experiment station was the estate of Alexander Hamilton, and his mother and aunt were buried in the grounds. Mr. Hamilton was born at Nevis in the British West Indies and educated in the United States. He came to the United States with the idea that all these islands should be made a part of the United States—a dream which was realized in 1917!

'Tis God's Will. How often in the confines of my learning I have sought for answers which I have not found. I have gazed upon the lovely starlit heavens And have wondered why the poppies spring from ground. I have dug the soil in silent meditation, I have noticed snow flakes falling on the earth; I have watched the rain that pattered on the hilltops — I have felt the glory of its work and known its worth. I have lived upon the edge of a volcano. I have studied lava in its white hot form. I have sought the answers to the problems of tornadoes And have tried to learn the secrets of a storm. I have tried to learn the whys and whats and wherefores, I have entered doors, and found them dark inside And have wondered why the moon attracts the oceans. So I've watched the fall and rise of many a tide. But the answers never came with all my learning Though once upon a time when all was still I heard a voice which seemed to break the awful silence; I heard the wondrous answer, "'Tis God's Will." LEGAL NOTICE

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. In the Matter of the Estate of Orren W. Gudgell, Deceased. To All Persons interested in Said Estate, Both Creditors and Heirs: You are hereby notified that on the 13th day of March, 1934, the Smith-Hovelson Lumber Company, a Corporation, petitioner, filed its petition in the above matter setting forth among other things, that Orren W. Gudgell, a citizen and resident of Juneau County, Wisconsin, died intestate therein March 12, 1907, seized and possessed of the following described real estate in Wayne County, Nebraska, to-wit: North-half of Northeast Quarter (N 1-2 of NE 1-4) of Section ten (10), Township twenty-seven (27) North, Range one (1) East of the 6th P. M., and other lands. That said Orren W. Gudgell left surviving him no child or children or the issue of any deceased child; that he left surviving him certain brothers and sisters, but under the intestate laws of the State of Nebraska, said brothers and sisters inherited no part of his said real estate or other property, and that his sole and only heirs-at-law were his widow, Mary Alice Gudgell and his father, Milton Gudgell, and that said Mary Alice Gudgell and Milton Gudgell each inherited an undivided one-half interest in said real estate on said deceased. Said petition further alleges that said Smith-Hovelson Lumber Company derived title to a part of said real estate by mesne conveyance from said heirs on February 14, 1916. That the prayer of said petition is for a decree determining the time of the death of decedent and the degree of kinship of said heirs, and the right of descent of said real estate, barring the claims of creditors to said deceased and for such other and further relief as may be just and equitable. That said matter is set for hearing before the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 30th day of March, 1934, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Dated March 13th, 1934. (Seal) J. M. CHERRY, County Judge. m1513

bers will quilt at home of Mrs. E. E. Gormley. Next regular meeting will be April 20, when an all-day quilting is planned at home of Mrs. I. F. Gaebler.

Henry O. Awiszus Dies On Thursday

Little Son of Family Nearly Is Buried at Winside on Saturday Afternoon.

After a lingering illness, death came Thursday to little Henry O. Awiszus, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Awiszus of southwest of Wayne. Funeral services were held Saturday, March 17, at the Gaebler & Neely chapel in Winside in charge of Rev. H. E. Hopmann of Wayne. Burial was in Winside cemetery.

Henry Otto was born on September 30, 1928, and was thus aged 5 years, 5 months and 15 days at death, which was caused by diabetes.

Surviving are the parents, also four sisters, Mrs. Arthur VonSegger, Dorothy, Elsie and Margaret, and two brothers, John and Alfred. Henry O. Awiszus of Winside, is a grandfather of the deceased. All relatives were present at the funeral.

Girls To Attend Wayne Play-Day

Winside Faculty Members Make Preliminary Plans For Exhibit Day.

Sixteen members of the Girls' Athletic association of Winside school plan to attend annual play-day at Wayne State Teachers college Saturday, accompanied by their sponsor, Miss Ruth Schindler. Two members, Alta Sweigard and Shirley Bess Missetfeldt, will probably present a tap-dance as Winside's contribution to the program.

Seniors are busy practicing for their play to be given some time in April.

Winside faculty met Monday evening to discuss annual spring exhibit planned for first week in May, at which time school work of the year will be displayed for patrons. The part teachers will have in the superintendent's annual report to school board and taxpayers was also discussed.

Norfolk's invitational boxing tournament has been postponed until April 15 and 16.

In Grammar Room.

Dorothea Nielsen's side won the spelling relay race held in grammar room last week. Seventh grade has been writing friendly and business letters, and each member mailed out the former, while two mailed the business letters. Seventh and eighth grades made carnations out of construction paper for art work. Hygiene class has begun work on athletic badges. Berwyn Prince, Marvin Juracek, Victor Koplun, Dean Granquist and Donald Jugel each has earned his first badge.

Among Smaller Flocks.

Grade school children are busy rehearsing for their operetta, "Peter Rabbit," which will be given April 6.

Miss Theola Nuss was absent from school the last three days of last week, due to an accident.

Fourth graders are taking up study of letter-writing and learning the parts of a letter. Last week each wrote three letters, one to a friend telling about recess period, an invitation to visit on Saturday, and a letter telling about the coming operetta. Both third and fourth graders had perfect spelling lesson one day last week.

Gates' "Friendly Reader" has been finished by second graders and they are looking forward to a new reader. First grade had game drills in arithmetic combinations last week which proved much fun. A perfect spelling lesson was scored by second grade on Wednesday last week.

We were pleased with the attendance last Sunday. The morning was splendid—"family day" seemed to bring out more than usual. The O. R. Selders family was awarded six months' subscription to the Christian Advocate for having the largest number present of any family represented. The evening service, conducted by men of the church, brought the case of Winside Methodist church vs. Mrs. E. Z. Going, with a definite message of responsibility and opportunity of church membership.

Next Sunday will be "neighbors' day." Every one of you is asked to invite your neighbor who does not attend another church, to attend with you. Let us not leave a vacant seat next Sunday morning. In the evening the W. F. M. S. will present their annual founders' day.

Drama, comedy, beauty! That's what Gay theatre pictures offer movie goers the coming week. P. L. March has arranged "Massacre" for March 23 and 24, "Six of a Kind" for March 25 and 26, and "Let's Fall in Love" for March 28 and 29. You can surely find the picture you'll like in this group. In fact, they are so different you will want to see the three.

"Massacre." March 23 and 24. Richard Barthelmess takes the lead in "Massacre" and that guarantees the picture. It's different. He's dynamic. Men and boys will like the red-blooded action of the film. Women will enjoy the heart throbs. One girl's terrible secret stinging his soul—another girl's fierce kiss burning his lips—a civilized red man goes on the warpath to save his people from the savage passion of the modern world—thundering the savage battle-cry of America's forgotten million.

"Six of a Kind." March 25, 26 and 27. Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, W. C. Fields, Allison Skipworth, George Burns, Gracie Allen—isn't that "Six of a Kind"? No wonder it's packed full of fun.

"Let's Fall in Love." March 28 and 29. Kenneth Lane is directing a film for the Premier studios when the star quits and walks out. The producer and Lane are at a loss as to where to obtain a star to replace her. The film requires a beautiful Swedish girl who can sing and her English must have a Swedish accent. Lane tests hundreds of Swedish girls and can't discover the right one. And then—See for yourself what happens.

The film stars Edmund Lowe, Ann Sothern, Miriam Jordan and Gregory Ratoff.
